MRS. CHARLES BRANDT

An equally beloved and well known village resident was called in death on Monday, Dec. 26, when Mrs. Charles Brandt, 65, nee Hannah Menger, passed away at 8:40 p. m. at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac. She was born Feb. 29, 1884 in Shawano county near Bonduel, Wis., and the date of her birthday occurred only every four years. The deceased was married to Charles Brandt on Aug. 3, 1905 by Rev. Farm Housing Program is Launched Locally

The farm housing program, authorized by recent act of Congress, has been launched. Applications for loans to build or repair farm houses and other farm buildings are being received at the Farmers Home Administration county office at Jefferson, according to Wendell A. Smith, county supervisor serving Dodge, Jefferson, Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Washington and Waukesha counties.

Loans may run for a maximum of 32 years, at 4 percent interest, and can be made to farm owners who cannot obtain farm housing loans from their banks or other sources. Owners who qualify can also get loans for improving housing for their tenants. All loans are subject to approval by the local three-member FHA county committee. The housing act provides for a four-year period of loan making. The appropriation for the current year is $27,000,000 for the entire country, which will mean about five loans per agricultural county at an estimated average of $2,500 per loan. The authorized congressional appropriation for the four years is $275,000,000. Veterans will receive preference.

Smith predicted that most loans will go to farmers with farm earnings and other income enough to repay the loan plus interest without further help from the government. He expects most loans will be for repairs and remodeling rather than for new construction.

A loan may also be made to a farm owner whose income is not now considered adequate to repay the loan on schedule, if his income can be made sufficient by enlarging or developing his farm and by improving his farm enterprises. If the owner follows a previously agreed upon plan for making needed revisions, the government will help him on his payments if necessary during the first five years.

The appropriation includes $2,000,000 a portion of which is for grants in hardship cases to eliminate hazards to a family's health and safety, and loans for farm enlargement and development.

ROSENHEIMER MILL AWARDED CERTIFICATE BY PURINA CO.

A certificate of mixing accuracy has been issued to L. Rosenheimer feed dealer, by the Raiston Purina company, St. Louis, following analysis of samples taken from a regular mix prepared for customers of their mill. Proper mixing of ingredients has been recognized as an increasingly important factor in the efficient feeding of livestock and poultry. Before the appointment of Rosenheimer as an approved Purina custom mixing station using Purina formulas and concentrates, laboratory tests were required to determine the accuracy and uniformity of the custom mixing service rendered.

Samples taken from a regular mix passed the Purina requirement that all samples must not vary more than one-half of one per cent in protein content to qualify for the certificate which is now on display at the mill.

Installation of Kiwanis Officers; Blind Boy Guest

Installation of 1950 officers of the club highlighted Tuesday evening's Kiwanis program, but the appearance of a little blind boy as a guest of the club stole the "show."

The little fellow played several piano selections for the club. He's a member of an underprivileged family which the local Kiwanis club assisted at Christmas time. Food and other gifts were given the family to make their Christmas more enjoyable.

In the installation ceremony, Henry Schwalter, lieutenant governor of the eastern Kiwanis division, gave the new officers of the club a send-off into the new year as he officially installed Walter J. Stenman, president, and the other officers under Walt's direction.

Guests of the club at this meeting included George Carbon, Bob Barber, and Bob Lauson of West Bend, and Donald Koerble of Kewaskum.

Purchasers of Christmas Seals Thanked by Manager

Thanking the residents of Kewaskum for their contribution to the 1949 seal sale campaign, Mrs. Harry E. Koch, seal sale manager, stated that tuberculosis is a year-round problem, and the generous support of the people of this community will help to make possible a full 1950 program of tuberculosis control.

"Reports from the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association show that the clinic department is already heavily scheduled with case-finding clinics for 1950," said Mrs. Koch. "These include 700mm x-ray, fluoroscopy, and tuberculin testing. Clinics and other services of the WATA are financed almost wholly by the sale of Christmas seals."

Mrs. Koch stated that seal sale returns are still coming in, and it is hoped that those who have forgotten to answer their seal letter will do so at an early date.

The research department of the WATA has estimated that there are between 5,000 and 7,000 Wisconsin people infected with tuberculosis. Many of these daily express "thanks" to WATA workers for the work being done by the penny Christmas seal.

Veterans Hospitalization Law Confusion Corrected

Much confusion has been caused by the wrong interpretation of the law governing hospitalization of veterans in veterans administration hospitals. County Service Officer George Kolb wishes to correct this confusion by quoting from a memorandum recently released.

A veteran seeking hospitalization for non-service connected disability is eligible to such treatment only if he meets certain requirements. He must have the required service. He must be in need of hospital care. He must be reasonably unable to pay for such treatment. And, of course, there must be a hospital bed available for him.

Right now there are many veterans waiting for hospital care at Minneapolis, Wood, and Tomah. SERVICE CONNECTED CASES come first! In other words, if there were a sufficient number of service connected cases to fill all beds, not one NON-SERVICE CONNECTED case would be admitted.

When a veteran is on the waiting list he can only be moved up when someone ahead of him is hospitalized, unless he becomes an emergency. An emergency is pretty hard to define. It would mean, however, that the veteran must have a disability where immediate hospitalization is necessary to save a life. If he is presently in a hospital he is not an emergency. The fact that a veteran is bedfast does not make him an emergency case. We do not anticipate any change in the situation until early next summer. Attention is, however, called to the fact that a veteran may be hospitalized at the Wisconsin General hospital, Madison, at one-half the regular cost, or $5.00 per diem. This includes all treatment, x-rays, etc.

Hospital beds will be at a greater premium as years go on, and perhaps the average veteran should think about some type of protective insurance.

Miss Schultz Becomes Bride of Royal Stream

The Rev. Wilbert Gawrisch of Fond du Lac officiated at a service in Campbellsport Saturday, Dec. 17, which united in marriage Miss Dorothy Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schultz of Campbellsport, and Royal Stream, son of Earl Stream of Campbellsport. The service was read at 1:30 p. m. in the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin with lace inserts ending in a fan-shaped train. Her fingertip veil was fastened to a beaded crown of pearls. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and white pom poms.

Serving as matron of honor, Mrs. Melvin Schultz of Fond du Lac, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a gown of rose satin. Accessories were of the same color. Rose colored carnations and pom poms were in her bouquet. Miss Shirley M. Narges and Miss Joyce Ludwig served as bridesmaids in matching gowns of blue satin. Yellow carnations and pom poms formed their bouquets.

Carrying a colonial bouquet of mixed blooms, little Sandra Stream, cousin of the groom, served as flower girl. Gene Pieper, cousin of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Melvin Schultz, brother of the bride, was the best man and Francis Schultz and Myron Pieper were the groomsmen. Ushers were Harold Schultz and Lester Mielke.

Thirty-five guests were served dinner and 125 attended a reception at the Kewaskum Opera House.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Supreme Court Decision Declares 'Home Rule' Rent Controls Valid; Five Million Receiving Public Aid

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

RENT CURBS: Home Rule Okayed

The 'home rule' rent control law—which allows states and cities to decontrol their own areas—was upheld by the U. S. supreme court in almost record time. The court's ruling came in less than a week after oral arguments were heard.

THE LAW was enacted last summer by congress and is due to expire June 30, 1950. It had lost in its first federal court test when a U. S. district judge declared it unconstitutional because it delegated powers of congress to the states and local governing bodies.

Tight Wood and the justice department by-passed intermediate courts and appealed the finding directly to the high court.

While there had been no general statements to the effect, there was a widespread impression that many states and local areas had withheld decontrol action because of the pending suit.

IN ONE INSTANCE, a Kentucky county area had restored rent curbs after lifting them had resulted in what was termed "unreasonable" rent increases.

However short private building had fallen of its goals, there was no argument that the housing shortage had eased somewhat and it appeared that congress might find it relatively easy to abandon all rent curbs when the present "home rule" act expires.

But in view of what had happened in some isolated areas in rental charges, congress might leave the way open for restoration of controls wherever landlords displayed a tendency to gouge tenants.

PUBLIC AID: Cost Enormous

In a country as powerful and prosperous as the United States it seemed an ironical paradox, but the record showed it to be true—more than five million Americans were receiving public assistance of some form or other, and at a cost of two billion dollars a year to the taxpayers.

JOHN L. THURSTON, acting security administrator, cited those figures at the opening of a 10-day congressional inquiry into the problems of the nation's low-income families. Thurston explained that the federal government provides about half of the two billion dollar annual outlay for public aid, with the other half coming from state and local community funds.

Thurston, himself, saw the contradiction in the situation as he indicated when he said:

"This seems to some people an astonishing phenomenon, considering the fact that we have had full, or practically full, employment for the past seven or eight years."

HE SOUGHT to clarify the situation, however, when he added:

"It is not at all astonishing, however, in relation to the large number of families with no earner, or a low-income earner, and in view of inadequacies of our social insurance program."

Then Thurston used the occasion to get in a few licks for President Truman's "Fair Deal" program, contending that its enactment would help provide "better living" for low-income families.

WAR VETS: More Benefits

Slated for delivery after January 1 were increases in benefits for disabled U. S. war veterans, dependents and widows. The veterans administration reported that checks of some two million recipients were about to be increased.

THE LARGEST GROUPS to receive increases, the V. A. said, included nearly two million veterans with service-connected disabilities from 10 to 100 per cent.

This group includes World War I and II veterans disabled in service and other veterans disabled in peacetime service since July 15, 1903.

The old rates of payment range from $13.80 to $138 a month for war service, and from $11.04 to $110.40 for peacetime service.

THE NEW RATES are 87 per cent higher—respectively, $15 to $150 and $12 to $120.

About 58,000 widows receiving compensation because of the service-connected death of a veteran and who have one or more children also will get increases.

JOBLESS BENEFITS

Security Payments Continue to Increase

Officials in the federal labor department's bureau of employment security were expressing concern over the increase in the number of U. S. citizens exhausting their jobless benefit rights.

According to latest figures in the department, more than a half-million ran out of their rights to further employment compensation payments during the July-September quarterly period. There were persons who still didn't have jobs after running through all the unemployment insurance payments to which they were entitled. The number of benefit weeks varies from state to state.

The puzzling factor was that these exhaustions came at a time of high employment, and give an idea of future problems.

It could be expected that there would be two schools of thought on the reason for the apparent paradox. There would be many who would claim that exhaustions had reached the alarming stage because of widespread fraud in many states on the part of claimants of unemployment benefits, particularly in the larger cities. Others would claim seasonal employment, as a cause.

Unemployment in November was estimated by the census bureau to be approximately 3.5 million, as compared with 1.9 million in 1948.

Off to Prison

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, sentenced to 6 to 18 months in prison and fined $10,000 for salary kick-backs in his congressional office, is shown as he started for the Danbury, Conn., federal prison to begin serving sentence.

ECONOMY: Over a Barrel

More than 500 national leaders, talking of the need of economy in operation of the federal government, may have felt themselves more over the barrel than around it when they met for a "cracker barrel" discussion of the problem.

It was a real cracker barrel, bearing the legend "citizens' committee for the Hoover report," set up amid the handsome appointments of Washington's Shoreham hotel.

DELEGATES HEARD Herbert Hoover, chairman of the committee appointed to study means of streamlining the government, praise the accomplishments of his commission and of the committee now seeking to get the commission's proposals adopted.

After pointing out the federal expenditure of more than 43 billion dollars and a deficit of more than five billion have been announced for the current fiscal year, he declared:

"I believe it may be much greater in the next fiscal year. We may be turning two Frankensteins loose in the land. Their terrifying names are 'higher taxes' and 'inflation.'"

HOOPER POINTED OUT that six months have passed since the commission he headed finished its reports on congress, and on economics and improvements in the executive branch, and, in the meantime, the "recommendations have had a magnificent support by the press and public."

All of which was true. The rub seemed to be in getting congress and the President to go all the way suggested by the Hoover commission in effecting more government economy and efficiency.

LABORITES: Ousted by Aussies

For the second time within 11 days proponents of socialism in the British commonwealth had been ousted by the voters. Advocates of free enterprise threw out Australia's Labor government, an action which paralleled the election verdict in New Zealand.

WERE THESE IMPORTANT portents or did they signify nothing? If one chose to place the events alongside the current difficulties experienced by the British Labor government, and attempt to evaluate them correctly, the answer would be that socialism appeared to be on its way out in the British commonwealth.

On the other hand, the foes of the free enterprise system everywhere, would doggedly stand on Labor's claimed progress over the years, and attempt to take the stand that those voting out were doing so simply because they did not know what was best for themselves.

ROBERT GORDON MENZIES, Australian Liberal leader who will now be restored to the prime ministry he held from 1939 to 1941, called the turn in an earlier comment on the Australian situation:

"The Socialists were brought to power in New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain in that order. The dramatic (New Zealand) result seems a happy omen that they will go out in the same order."

BUDGET: How Much?

While President Truman sunned himself at Key West, Fla., posing for newsmen, busying himself with affairs of state even though on vacation, American taxpayers were particularly interested in the visit paid him by John Snyder, secretary of the treasury.

THE REASON, of course, was the forthcoming budget message which the President was preparing to deliver to congress. Until that time, no U. S. taxpayer would know just what the administration had in mind concerning taxes.

Everyone knew that the President had publicly stated he would need some 12 billion dollars more in revenue if the budget were to be balanced, but everyone knew, but such a course was probable, and representatives who would not go along with any such proposal.

It could also be regarded as significant or not that there had been no recent declaration from the President concerning taxation or any need for tax increase.

WHETHER THAT MEANT the President was prepared to recede from his original tax proposals was purely a matter of speculation, but such a course was probable, inasmuch as some of the President's cabinet members had been saying publicly that a reduction in taxes, or holding them at the present federal level would be good for U. S. business and the nation's economy.

And, as a rule, cabinet members don't comment on such controversial subjects until their remarks have been cleared previously with the White House. Henry Wallace didn't follow that procedure and now he's an ex-cabinet member.

INJUSTICE: Charged to Census

Twenty-three Republican congressmen wouldn't be alone in their attack on that phase of the 1950 census which will require every fifth person over 14 years of age to disclose all the facts about his income.

The Republicans banded together in a blast of criticism at the census bureau's planned procedure in an action following attacks earlier by Representative Brown of Ohio and Hinchaw of California upon the bureau's 1950 questionnaire.

THAT CRITICISM charged that the "Truman administration is perpetrating an outrageous discrimination against small-income people . . ."

Brown had demanded of Philip M. Hauser, acting director of the census, that he cite "legal authority" for the income questions. He charged that such inquiries are unlawful.

In the meantime, a spokesman for the census bureau told newsmen that "only a few" of the citizens asked the income question are expected to object to it. He explained that those who decline to give the enumerator the information personally would be permitted to mail it to the bureau in Washington.

The Republican critics' view was:

"IF A PERSON earns more than $10,000, all he has to do is say so, without giving the amount, and the census taker is satisfied. But for all people earning under $10,000, the questionnaire stands as written . . . This is a raw injustice."

As an added basis for its position, the census bureau stated the figures about income will be confidential, not even open to tax collectors or the FBI. That being the case, what good will the figures do anyone and why does the census bureau insist on having them?

Ax Man

Mayor-elect Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, of Newburyport, Mass., sharpened up the ax which he said will fall on the necks of a lot of job-holders after he takes over again at city hall. He landed back in office in a surprise victory.

BRITISH DOCTOR: Change of Heart

Dr. E. F. St. John Lyburn had made no bones about how put out he was about England's socialized health program. The first British doctor to announce publicly he would operate it, he was also the first to announce he was going to quit it.

But the doctor changed his mind. He's returning to the program. But, he said, there was a reason. His patients asked him.

The doctor said his patients had pleaded with him to rejoin the program so they wouldn't "be forced from my modern diagnostic clinic into mob surgeries."

The doctor is a severe critic of diagnostic standards in Britain and has advocated setting up adequately-manned national clinics. He has protested also against what he calls bureaucratic controls.

Shortly after he had rebelled against the health service, Dr. Lyburn announced he had been invited to speak at two places in the United States.

Under the teaser headline: "Watch for the political scoop of the decade!" The Eastwood News, of East Syracuse, N. Y., launched one of the most interesting promotional programs ever conducted in that area. It turned out to be an election to determine the winner in a contest to name a baby "mayor," with the "Babycrats" versus the "Cribicans" in the balloting. Shown at right is Syracuse Mayor Frank J. Costello conferring with the winner, "Mayor" Elaine Potts of Eastwood.

Toddler's Election

Freddy Ellis, 2, at right is the "president" of the common council in the municipal "cabinet" of "Mayor" Potts. Freddy, who looks like a good mixer, received 1,234 votes.

The ladies are going to do all right in Eastwood. Here, at left, is Nanette Michaud, 20 months old, who is "commissioner of public works" in "Mayor" Potts' regime. She holds her "office" by virtue of running third in the election.

Now, here is a hard loser if there ever was one. He's Ricky Sharp, (right), who is the "coroner" in the infant election contest and he doesn't seem to appreciate it at all. Despite his animal buddies, who seem to be trying to get his mind off his troubles, Ricky makes no secret of the job he wanted. The poster shows what his goal was and Ricky's face shows what he thought about not getting it. No one could expect any congratulatory messages from Ricky when the votes were counted.

And here (left) is "Her Honor," herself, "Mayor" Potts in a post-election pose that depicts a willingness to tackle any municipal problem, no matter how tough it may be. "Mayor" Potts, who is 17 months old, received 1,636 votes to van all the contestants.

Butterflies, Beetles, Cyanide Make a 'Surprise' Vengeance

By BILLY ROSE

When Martin Quint, 71, married Ellie Reynolds, 34, their friends in Nyack didn't give the union much chance of success.

On their fifth anniversary, Martin sent Ellie to New York on an errand, filled the parlor with gifts and paper curlicues, and invited a dozen neighbors in for a surprise party.

The plan was for a lookout at the railroad depot to phone when he saw Ellie get off the train, and then they would turn out the lights and hide.

Billy Rose

Well, what happened was a surprise, all right, but there was no yelling. As the front door opened, Quint and his guests heard Ellie whisper, "Sssh! He might be awake."

"I don't like this sneaking around," said the voice of a man. "Why don't you ask him for a divorce?"

"Think I'm crazy? He doesn't figure to live much longer, and I'm pretty sure to get the savings and insurance. Thanks for taking me home. See you Tuesday at the regular time."

Then Ellie closed the door and switched on the lights. . . .

AFTER THE embarrassed guests had left, she said to her husband, "I suppose you want me to pack."

"Why should I?" said Martin. "It's only human nature for you to take up with someone nearer your own age."

"Don't you want a divorce?" "Not unless you insist on it. All I ask is that you stop seeing the young man as long as I'm alive. If you'll agree and put it in writing, I'll fix it so you'll get every cent I've got."

And that's how it was arranged. An agreement was signed and locked in the wall safe, and the couple went on living together.

Of course, the neighbors gossiped a lot, particularly when it was whispered around that Ellie was still seeing the young man, but their talk seemed to make no impression on Martin. Instead, he busied himself with a new hobby—the study of insects—and spent most of his waking hours in a spare room over the garage, mounting butterflies and beetles on small exhibit boards.

"I wouldn't mention this around," he told his wife. "As it is, people think I'm not quite all there."

One evening, just after Ellie had brought him the usual glass of warm milk, Martin began to have convulsions. Ellie phoned the doctor that her husband was having a heart attack, but by the time he arrived the old man was dead. The doctor examined the body, then called the coroner, and an hour later the corpse, together with the empty milk glass, was taken away.

EARLY THE following morning, a detective rang Ellie's doorbell. "I have a warrant for your arrest," he said. "According to the coroner, your husband died of cyanide poisoning, and the drug store in town reports that you bought a bottle of the stuff two weeks ago."

"That's right," said Ellie. "Martin used the cyanide to kill the insects he was studying. There are hundreds of specimens in the laboratory over the garage."

"I never heard of his being interested in bugs," said the detective. "Can I see this laboratory?"

Ellie led the way up the garage stairs and opened the door. There was nothing in the room but a few bits of junk and an old bicycle.

"I'm sorry, but you'll have to come along," said the detective. "You're the only person who figured to profit by Mr. Quint's death."

"I swear I didn't do it," said Ellie. "Both Martin and I knew he wouldn't live long, and we signed an agreement which explains everything. It's in his study."

She ran into the house, opened the wall safe and took out a brown envelope, but when she tore it open there was nothing inside but a piece of blank paper.

Blank, that is, except for one word penciled in a childish scrawl—"Surprise!"

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Let Salads Add Color to Meals (See Recipe Below)

Accent on Salads

JUST ABOUT THIS TIME of year, many homemakers get into a rut about their salads. Their excuse is that there aren't enough ingredients to give them any salad inspiration.

To prove they're wrong, and, too, that salads can be colorful and attractive in winter as in summer, here are some excellent recipes that not only are tops in taste appeal but also in appearance.

Now's the time to bring out those interesting molds to see what magical qualities they can yield to mealtime. Now, too, is the time to raid the canning cupboard to see what you can do with summer canning efforts to make menus interesting.

HERE ARE TWO RED salads with frosty white trimmings which will glorify the table and stimulate jaded appetites as well as giving the family their vitamins and minerals the easy way:

Molded Tomato Salad (Serves 6-8)

- 2 cups tomato juice
2 small bay leaves
2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup diced cucumber
1/2 cup sliced, stuffed olives
2 cups cole slaw

Simmer tomato juice with bay leaves for 15 minutes. Remove bay leaves, add seasoning and lemon juice. Add gelatin which has been softened in cold water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill mixture until it begins to set, then add cucumber and olives. Fill ring mold and let chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce leaves and fill center with cole slaw.

Snow Cap Vegetable Salad (Serves 4)

- 1 3-ounce package cream cheese
3 tablespoons light cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 envelope plain gelatin
1 12-ounce can mixed vegetable juices
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion

Combine cheese and cream well, mix in parsley. Put in one large or four small greased salad molds. Place in refrigerator to chill. Soak gelatin in 1/2 cup vegetable juices. Add pepper and onion to remaining vegetable juices and bring to a boil. Add gelatin; cool. Pour vegetable juice mixture in mold on top of cheese. Chill in refrigerator four hours or until firm.

Molded Cranberry Salad (Serves 6)

- 1 package lemon flavored gelatin dessert
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 cups cranberries
1/2 orange
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup fruit juice (drained from ground fruit)

Dissolve gelatin dessert in boiling water. Add fruit juice and cranberries. Chill in refrigerator until firm.

Fruited Gelatin (Serves 6)

- 1 tablespoon gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 oranges, diced
2 bananas, sliced
1 cup seedless grapes
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Soak together for five minutes the gelatin and cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Then add lemon juice, sugar and salt. Chill gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken. Then add oranges, bananas, and grapes. Rinse mold with cold water. Pour salad into mold and continue to chill until firmly set. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Folks who like kidneys will like them placed on skewers alternated with whole mushroom caps and squares of bacon. Grill and serve with shoe-string potatoes.

If you add some leftover black coffee to your next baked bean dishes you'll have folks wondering whatever gave the beans such a good flavor!

You won't find this on a reducing diet, but it's good: mix some coconut with vanilla ice and serve scoops of it with a rich chocolate sauce.

Shrimp, fresh or canned, responds nicely to a squirt of lime juice and a dressing of mayonnaise mixed with cocktail sauce.

Use that dab of soured milk when you make your next batch of muffins if you want extra tender texture.

Dust candied sweet potatoes with some cinnamon for extra flavor while they cook in their brown sugar and butter mixture.

A few diced carrots seem to do miracles in a fish chowder. Not only do they add flavor, but give the whiteness a touch of color, too.

ing water. Cool. Grind cranberries and orange, including rind, using fine knife of food chopper. Drain off juice. Add sugar and salt to cranberry mixture. Combine all ingredients and pour into individual molds. Chill in refrigerator until firm.

Combine diced veal and ham. Rinse macaroni with cold water, drain thoroughly and add to meat. Add all other ingredients, mixing lemon juice with mayonnaise before adding. Mix well but lightly. Chill and serve in individual lettuce cups. Garnish with pimiento cut in strips.

Molded Winter Salad (Serves 6)

- 1 cup seedless raisins
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
2 cups hot water
2 tablespoons finely cut green chili pepper
1/2 cup finely sliced celery
3 slices canned pineapple
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Rinse and drain raisins. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Stir in raisins and chill until thick, but not firm. Fold in chili pepper, celery and cubed pineapple. Pour into six individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise.

Soak together for five minutes the gelatin and cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Then add lemon juice, sugar and salt. Chill gelatin mixture until it begins to thicken. Then add oranges, bananas, and grapes. Rinse mold with cold water. Pour salad into mold and continue to chill until firmly set. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Revenue Agents Escape Arrest as Mixup Unfolds

LAWRENCE, MASS.—A U. S. internal revenue agent, with four fellow agents, went into a fur shop, looked at some fur to match a child's coat, and then the five crossed the street to a restaurant.

A crime-conscious fur shop clerk was suspicious. He reported "five suspicious men" to the police. Police rushed to the scene as spectators crowded the busy corner. But it all ended quietly.

The Fiction * BENNY WISES UP * Richard H. Wilkinson

BENNY got a big kick out of eavesdropping on the sheriff. It smacked of adventure and the wild life he loved. He got a bigger kick when he heard Sheriff Conrad mention Slick Dearborn.

Slick Dearborn was the smartest outlaw with whom Conrad had ever had a hard time to contend.

He was a Benny's idol, for he represented the dangerous freedom of which the boy had always dreamed. One day three weeks ago Benny had seen Slick in the Faraway Saloon, and something about the worshipful look in the youngster's eyes had attracted the outlaw's attention.

Benny had been almost speechless with gratitude when the outlaw spoke to him. They had a long conversation, and when it was over Benny knew a sense of importance that was almost the fulfillment of his dreams.

Ear glued to the side of the building, Benny held his breath while Sheriff Conrad and his deputy, Joe Hicks, carried on their low-voiced conversation.

At 4 o'clock that afternoon Benny drew rein in the secret canyon where Slick was hiding. He gave the secret whistle that he and the outlaw had agreed upon, then waited breathlessly.

Minutes passed and nothing happened. Benny moved down the canyon a ways and whistled again. Suddenly two men emerged from behind a boulder. One of them was Slick Dearborn. Benny shouted at them.

"Slick, I just heard the sheriff and his deputy talkin'. They found out it was you who held up the bank last week, an' they know you're hidin' up here an' they're comin' to get you."

"You come with us," said Slick shortly.

"Nemmine keepin' guard." Slick called, and the other outlaw slid back to the ground.

"We gotta get out of here and git fast. Kid, did anyone see you leave town?"

"Nemmine keepin' guard." Slick called, and the other outlaw slid back to the ground.

"No, sir. Not a soul. I done just like you told me."

"Good. You're comin' with us." The second outlaw came from behind a screen of bushes riding one horse and leading another. Slick swung aboard the extra animal.

There came the sound of a shot. The second outlaw uttered a scream, clutched at his breast and plunged from the saddle. A second shot followed, and Slick's mount went to its knees.

SLICK SWORE VIOLENTLY as Benny whistled up beside him. "You damned little rat! Thought you said nobody followed you out of town?"

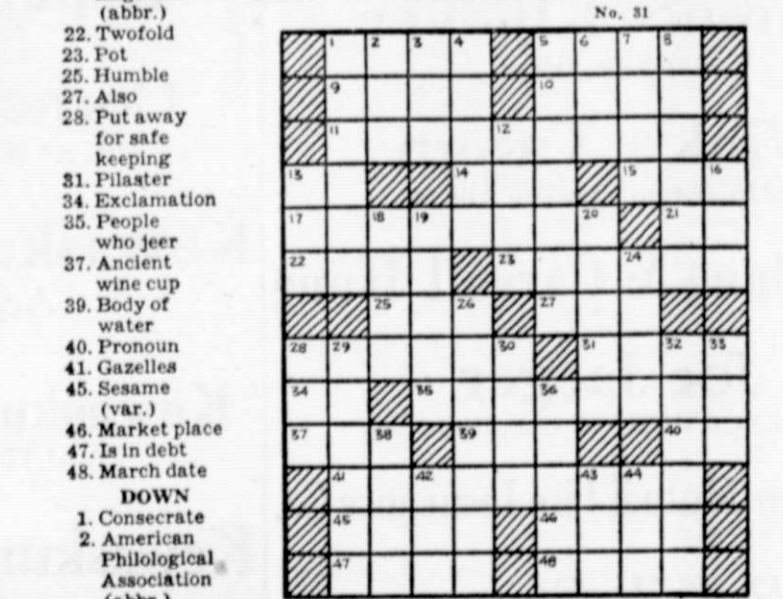

"Honest Slick—" "Shut up!" Suddenly Slick seized him around the middle and leaped out of plain view of the two coming up the canyon. The pair reined in, holding their fire as the outlaw, using Benny as a shield, began shooting rapidly.

Sheriff Conrad and Joe Hicks, sensing the bandit's purpose, flung themselves from the saddle and scurried for shelter. Benny suddenly understood the

FARM BOOKKEEPING NECESSITY
 The year 1949 has come to a close. The year's receipts and expenditures of the farm should be computed. All who have a gross income of $500.00 or more will need make a federal income tax report. The accuracy and completeness of this report will depend largely upon how carefully farm incomes and expenditures have been kept. Good simple farm account books are available from many sources. One that is extensively used throughout Wisconsin is put out by the College of Agriculture. It is sold at cost to farmers and can be obtained through the county extension office.

It is important that all farmers keep a careful account of their receipts and expenditures. Sales records should be recorded in an account book and the original invoices filed for future reference. Such records carefully recorded and kept will enable any farmer to verify his year's business and greatly simplify the filing of any tax or other reports.

POULTRY RAISERS LEARN MODERN METHODS AT MEET
 Many interested poultry raisers attended a meeting sponsored by the Hartford Hatchery last Thursday evening to discuss poultry and egg problems with J. B. Hayes, extension specialist in poultry husbandry. Of special interest were the demonstrations presented. These included pulletroom blood testing by O. J. Schindelholtz of the Hartford Hatchery, debanking the flock to prevent cannibalism by J. B. Hayes, and the place and use of the colony nest by E. E. Skalski, county agricultural agent. Del Wanless of the SCS spoke on soil conservation.

Attendance prizes were won by Donald Bachman, Rubicon; Robert Stretzel, Hartford; Erwin Heuer, Woodland, and Ray Pamperin, R. 3, West Bend.

FARMERS URGED TO ORDER THEIR SEED GRAINS EARLY
 Farmers who expect to purchase seed grains, either certified or good uncertified seed, should do so as early as possible. Washington county is producing several thousand bushels of certified barley and oats. This seed is available through local dealers and growers. It is top quality seed having passed rigid state inspection and is free of weed seeds and other grain mixtures. Because of the strict seed certification requirements in this state, Wisconsin certified seed is to be preferred over that shipped in from other states. Locally grown seed also is to be preferred as it is adapted to local soil conditions.

The new variety of Moore barley which will be available for general planting for the first time this coming year is in big demand. This barley was developed at the Wisconsin Experiment Station and has excellent malting qualities.

The Clinton, Bonds, and Mingo oat varieties have been good yielders for the past few years. They are recommended as good varieties for Wisconsin. Many out of state developed varieties of oats and other small grains are being offered for sale locally. Most of these are no better and in many instances, much inferior to the varieties mentioned above.

WHITEWASHING BARN MAKES QUALITY MILK PRODUCTION
 Whitewashing the dairy barn is one of the good practices followed by quality-minded dairymen.

In suggesting that the whitewashing job should be done before cold weather arrives, I want to point out that the new milk production standards require the interior of all dairy barns to be whitewashed or painted as often as may be necessary to keep them in a sanitary condition.

Before the whitewash is applied, the entire interior of the barn should be gone over. All cobwebs and accumulated dust should be removed and loose particles of old whitewash brushed off.

Whitewashing will help to increase the amount of light in the barn. After the whitewash has been applied all windows should be checked and repaired. Replace any broken panes and wash all windows in order that they may provide the largest possible amount of light.

A clean, well-lighted barn is a help in keeping the dairy herd healthy during the cold winter season. It also makes the work of producing quality milk much easier.

RANGER ALFALFA SEED PRODUCTION
 A limited amount of foundation seed of Ranger alfalfa for the production of certified seed is being distributed by the College of Agriculture for 1950 plantings. Application for such foundation seed stock may be made with the agricultural extension office, West Bend.

All foundation seed stock is supplied by the College of Agriculture. The price is $66.00 per bushel plus freight from Madison. The allotment per grower will be from one to five bushels.

To be eligible for certification all foundation Ranger alfalfa seed must be planted on ground which has not been seeded to alfalfa for a period of two years and which is free from volunteer plants. It must also be isolated from other alfalfa fields and at least ten feet from other clover or hay fields. All fields will be inspected during the year seed is produced.

FARMING IS IMPORTANT
 Two-thirds of the world's people depend upon agriculture for their living. Most of these live on small subsistent farms. The remaining one-third look to agriculture for something to eat.

Farming also is the biggest of all businesses. There is more mechanical power on the farms of America than in all the factories of this nation. About 60% of all manufacturing plants of this country get their principal raw products from the soil. Superior training is needed to operate the big business of farming. The short course of the College of Agriculture is an excellent place for a farm boy to get much good training for this business of farming. These courses are only 15 weeks long. Every farm boy not enrolled in a local school should plan to attend.

There are several scholarships available in each county to farm boys who are in need of additional funds for attending the farm short course. Many of these carry a value up to $75.

Further details regarding the farm short course may be obtained from the extension office, post office building, West Bend.

E. E. SKALSKI, COUNTY AGENT

The cost of wrapping a pound of butter varies from less than one to more than three cents in Wisconsin creameries. University of Wisconsin workers have found. The difference depends mostly on whether the butter is wrapped in quarter or full pounds, and whether it is put in a carton.

Holiday Fetes Basically Same

Food, Visits Common Mark of New Year

While New Year celebrations in all countries are basically similar, there are many interesting variations and special features. For example, the King's honor list provides great interest and excitement in England.

In France and Germany, the holiday is marked by festivities resembling those in the United States, and the great cities, such as Paris, take on a carnival atmosphere on New Year's Eve.

Poland, Lithuania, and Czechoslovakia observe New Year with a round of calls by the people, and with official receptions. In these countries, tables are piled high with food and drink and vast quantities of both are consumed on the eve of the new year as well as on New Year's Day. Gifts, too, are exchanged.

A gold coin is baked in a cake by New Year's celebrants in Greece. On New Year's morning the cake is cut into as many slices as there are members of the family, and the one receiving the coin is considered to have much good luck in store for him.

Huge bonfires are built by peasants of Bulgaria as a New Year's greeting to their friends in near-by villages. It is on this day also that Bulgarians announce army promotions. Carol singing is an important feature of the Bulgarian celebrations.

In Sweden, one form of observance is that of high officials inscribing their names in a huge book at the palace of the king. This appears to be in lieu of an official reception. In this northern land it is the custom also to drive to church in sleighs early on New Year's morning. Torches are carried to light the way.

Scotch Unrestrained In New Year's Joy

The Scotch, who react with restrained enthusiasm to Christmas, welcome the New Year with all the joy and merry-making possible to their usually taciturn nature.

On New Year's Eve the wassail bowl goes round and round, filled with savory liquid, nostalgically fragrant.

Apples floating atop the wassail bowl stir memories of the "apple-howling" when boys switched the trunks of fruit trees, petitioning a "good howling crop."

Somehow the "lamb's wool," as the decoration of the wassail bowl often is called, seems reminiscent of young folks rushing to the nearest spring at the stroke of 12 to drink the "cream of the well" because the first to do so could expect good luck for the ensuing year.

Handsel Monday—the Monday after New Year's Day—is traditionally the "big day" for Scotch boys and girls.

CLOCK WATCHER... This is a typical Hollywood conception of what the New Year is like, but it probably won't make much difference to you in your celebration. And if you can't think of anything good about 1949, just remember that without it we wouldn't be having 1950.

Feasting Holds Important Place in Holiday Rites

Since both at home and abroad feasting is so much a part of the New Year observance, it is interesting to know something of the gastronomic trail of the seasonal dinners. For instance, the American in England on New Year's Day would find the chief dish a reminder of home, for it would be turkey, duck or goose. The chief difference would be the plum pudding.

In France or Spain, the traveler again would encounter the turkey, but there he would find the capon and the pheasant sharing its popularity. In these Latin countries the "trimmings" would be different since truffles, chestnuts and olives are important ingredients in the holiday feast.

In France, too, snails might be numbered among these items, and in Spain the meal would start with almond soup. Pickled chrysanthemum petals would add to the exotic dishes one would find at a Japanese New Year's Day meal.

The Way it Happened...

IN NEWPORT, KY. ... Police Chief George Gugel called off the whole election on a pension fund question when the 45-member department's votes totaled 51 in the ballot box.

IN NORTH LITTLE ROCK, ARK. ... A husband finding another man's wallet in his car, drove to the address shown on an identification card, administered a sound thrashing to the man who came to the door only to learn that the owner of the billfold had moved from the address on the card.

Philosopher

A love-smitten youth asked an old-married man for advice on marriage. The old man summed it up this way:

'Love is the star men look up to as they walk along and marriage is the coal-hole they suddenly find themselves floundering in.'

Mrs. Givens — "Darling, you looked so happy with the Count. Why didn't you marry him?"

Miss Take — "Oh, he was just a fortune-hunter, going around widow-shopping."
