Voice of Our Readers

"Hello, Folks! Pat and Franny Fries continuing with a brief description of their recent tour.

"We left Tucson, Arizona, on the morning of Dec 14 after a full week there, of real warm sunny weather.

"We visited an old prison which is now abandoned, but was an interesting place to pass thru'.

"In California we saw many huge fields of lettuce, carrots, broccoli, and other vegetables.

"California has 21 missions, of which we only saw a few. Some others were San Miguel, established 1757; San Rafael, 1817; Santa Clara, 1777.

"In San Francisco we visited Chinatown, the museum, zoo, Twin Peaks mountains, Seal Rock Cliff, Fisherman's Wharf, also saw the Alcatraz prison from the Golden Gate bridge.

"There are quite a number of lunch rooms here, where you can go and order different cocktails. Also drove on top of Twin Peaks (you think you're going right straight up, so steep this climb is).

1950 March of Dimes Campaign Under Way; Chairmen Announced

Already underway in many parts of Washington county, the most intensive period of the 1950 March of Dimes campaign is scheduled to begin next Monday, Jan. 16.

In inaugurating the 1950 appeal for funds, Rice revealed that funds of the local chapter are exhausted and unless they can be replenished during the current drive, the county is faced with the disheartening prospect of entering this year's polo season without sufficient funds on hand to cope with its own cases, should they arise.

The chairman stressed the fact that the emergency drive conducted by the national foundation during the month of September, 1949, should not be confused with the present campaign.

"I am sure that the vigorous support given to the annual March of Dimes campaign in the past will again characterize the 1950 drive, and that the generosity with which the people of Washington county have contributed to the campaign in previous years will again be demonstrated this year," he said.

Appointed by Rice to assist him in conducting the March of Dimes campaign for 1950 are the following county chairmen:

Lawrence Hauser, city of Hartford; Francis Ackerman, village of Jackson; Lehman Rosenheimer, village of Kewaskum; Herbert Matenaar, village of Barton; Ed. Helm, village of Germantown; Mrs. Louis Reich, village of Steelberg.

"From here we headed into Iowa, stayed over at Tama, sort of a tough town. Quite a number of Indians settled here, in fact, there is an Indian reservation there.

IN MEMORIAM

Written by Louella E. Schnurr and submitted in memoriam of our beloved parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Schnurr. Mrs. Schnurr departed this life on Jan. 6, 1946 and Mr. Schnurr on June 14, 1946.

Peaceful in the placid keeping, Where no pilgrim doth return, Lie our beloved ones in eternal sleep. God has called them from us. Out of earthly deeds and strife To a better homeland than ours And a more superior life.

Many years like centuries seem, Since our dear ones left our homely door. Oft secluded and calm recollections Haunt our steadfast memories. Supposed visions of a kindred face. We always cherish as in days of yore. When our home life numbered more.

Whether in beautiful springtime When the flowers do bloom, Or in winter when the glistening snow Doth blow into heaps and cover the surling stone.

Yet ne'er are our dear ones forgotten In our daily thoughts of grace. Like Bedouins in a foreign hemisphere Who travel to seek the oasis of the desert. Just so like pilgrims in shepherdly keeping We plot on with God's command. Until He too summons us homeward. Let us be ever ready to obey his command.

Like our loved ones, who have gone onward, May the joy be theirs untold. (Copyrighted) Sadly missed by Louella E. Schnurr, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Belger and Russell.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET
Pierre, Great Hunter, Found
Something He Could Not Kill

By BILLY ROSE

From the province of Manitoba in Canada comes the strange tale of Pierre Montevlain, the hunter. Your acceptance or rejection of it will depend on the kind of pixies under your hat...

When he was forty, he married Emilie d'Arbesine, a girl of good family from the Winnipegosis district, and when she presented him with a son a year later he toasted his heir in Hudson Bay rum and predicted that he, too, would some day be a great hunter.

Billy Rose

A FEW MONTHS before the boy's ninth birthday, his father found a new-born fawn in the forest and presented it to his son. The lad named it Francois, bottle-fed it until the shakiness went out of its legs, and trained it until it followed him around like a puppy.

On his birthday a few weeks later, Pierre gave his son another present, a specially constructed rifle, small enough for a boy to carry but in all other respects an efficient instrument of destruction.

"Tomorrow," he said, "we will go hunting." The youngster said nothing, but later asked his mother what he should do. "You must go with your father," said Emilie. "You told me that when people die their souls go into animals," said the boy. "Wouldn't it be like killing a person?" "Your father thinks differently," said the lad. "I won't shoot to hit anything," said Pierre, who had been drinking on the porch, overheard the conversation. Addressing himself to his son, he said, "There will be no more women's talk. You will become a man and a hunter like your father. Tomorrow we go to the woods, but your first lesson will be tonight. Take your rifle and shoot the fawn."

The Presence
WHERE two or three are gathered together, Lord, We have your promise that you will be there, We cling to it your dear unbroken word, We bring our burdens that we cannot bear, We bring our heart's deep gratitude and praise And all the supplications of our days.

he tore the talisman from the carcass. Next day the boy was buried with the medallion of St. Francis again around his neck, and after the funeral Emilie went back to her own village.

The Fiction CASE OF FORGERY

Corner By Richard H. Wilkinson

"THERE'S A CURIOUS TWIST to this case, inspector," George Jackson, president of the Medville National Bank was saying. "Anthony Page, who deposited $25,000 with us on Monday, decided to use his right name at the last moment."

As Clifford finished speaking, Simons, a tall spare man, appeared in the doorway, stopped and looked about in bewilderment. "I'm Inspector Clifford of police headquarters," the officer said, stepping forward. "Simons, I arrest you for forging Edward Thurston's name to a check for $5,000."

"I have questioned Thurston. He says he left for Chicago directly after depositing the money, and swears he told no one about his decision to use his real name. He had signed no checks against his account!"

"You say that Thurston made his deposit early on Monday morning?" "As far as I can find out," the president offered, "there were only two men in the bank while Thurston was here."

Inspector Clifford studied the names. "Now tell me what your clerks were up to." "Nothing unusual. Getting things ready to start the day. Making sure deposit blanks, pens, blotters, ink, etc., were on the lobby counters. Arranging their cash..."

Sweat Down Costs

Sweat down your production costs if you want to maintain profits in these days of declining farm prices. One way to sweat down those costs is to increase your crop yields per acre. More bushels of corn and grain per acre, more pounds of meat, milk, dairy products and poultry mean lower production costs per unit.

SKALISKEY TALKS AT STATE MEETING OF FAIR BOARDS

On Thursday of last week E. E. Skaliskey, secretary of the Washington county fair, spoke at a meeting of Wisconsin fair officials at their annual convention held at the Schroeder Hotel, Milwaukee. The subject of his talk was "The Place of the Junior Department in a County Fair Program." He pointed out that a county fair should be an educational institution, not merely a show window for agriculture. County fairs must provide for a fuller, healthier rural life. The exhibits young people put on should be of a demonstrational nature with an educational message. Youth, too, can be used to play a big role in providing the entertainment programs at a fair, he said.

PORK PRODUCTION AND MEAT USE MEETING AT HARTFORD

A record high hog production for 1950 is indicated by the December pig crop report.

A six percent or greater pig crop is expected in the spring of 1950 as compared to 1949.

This increased hog production calls for a fuller knowledge of swine growing methods of feeding, management, parasite and disease problems. Also it presents meat use problems as pork is now the most common meat on the American menu.

To bring this information to swine raisers and the meat use problems to the homemakers of Washington county, an all-day meeting will be held in the Hartford city hall on Friday, Jan. 20, beginning at 10:00 a. m.

James Lacy, livestock specialist of the College of Agriculture, will be the speaker on pork and veal production. He will be assisted by one or more representatives of the livestock and packing industry. Also a number of meat displays will be on exhibition and meat cutting and packaging demonstrated.

I. F. Hall, farm management specialist of the College of Agriculture, will be present to speak on the agricultural outlook for 1950.

This meeting will bring to our farm folks a top notch program. Any farm family in the county is invited.

EGG, DAIRY SUPPORT PRICES ANNOUNCED BY GOVERNMENT

The department of agriculture last week announced 1950 support prices for eggs and for dairy products.

Eggs will be supported at 27 cents per dozen. This is at the rate of 75¢ of parity, and is a reduction of 8 cents per dozen of the 1949 support price.

Dairy products will be supported at 90 percent of parity which is about the same as for 1949.

Support prices mean that the government will make purchases when prices drop below support levels, thus holding prices at or near the support level.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Change Seen for Health Measure; Frenzied Reds Acclaim Stalin at 70; Hungary Off-Limits for Americans

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.

HEALTH BILL: Changes Planned

There was little likelihood that it would amount to anything in the long run—since the bill seems foredoomed to failure—but Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, let it be known he will recommend some changes in the administration's medical insurance bill now before congress.

EWING'S conviction that the measure as drawn could stand some revision came after he obtained a personal insight into the socialized health program as practiced in England and other European countries.

Ewing said his recommendations were not completely formulated, but indicated there would be a provision in the bill to reduce the opportunity for collusion between patients and doctors to augment medical fees.

The approach under consideration by the U.S. survey group is to require the patient to pay a part of the cost of the medical service—not to a doctor, but to an insurance fund.

AS THE U.S. BILL is now drafted, doctors would be compensated in any or all of three ways—a per capita payment irrespective of service, a straight salary, or a fee basis.

However, it might very well be much ado about nothing, as it seemed apparent neither the people of the U.S., the medical profession, or a sufficient number of congressmen are in the mood for installation of socialized medicine in the United States.

HUNGARY: Off-Limits

The United States, irked and with patience worn thin, placed Communist-controlled Hungary off limits for Americans traveling abroad.

The action was taken because the Hungarian government has paid no attention to U.S. demands that Robert A. Vogeler, an official of the International Telephone & Telegraph corporation had not been released after his arrest on November 18. At that time, several other Americans were taken into custody by the Hungarians.

The American note placing the travel ban on Americans to Hungary again demanded Vogeler's release and reserved the right to claim damages for any injuries he may have suffered.

Although the U.S. protest was directed only to the Vogeler case, a state department spokesman said that it also applied to the arrest of Isaac Jacobson, head of the American joint distribution committee's Hungarian office.

It was a strong note and indicated the temper of the U. S. state department, but its effect could be determined only in the release or further detention of Vogeler and his imprisoned fellow-Americans.

CUPID: Busy Fellow

Cupid was a very busy fellow indeed as the holiday season came and went. And most of his activity was centered in the upper brackets of U.S. celebrities.

Hardly had he sat down to rest after bringing Vice-President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Hadley together at the altar, when he was up and off again, this time to bring about the union of New York Mayor O'Dwyer and fashion stylist Elizabeth Sloan Simpson. This romance culminated with a wedding in Florida.

BUT the little fellow with the wings and the bow and arrows wasn't having any rest. With the ink barely dry on the press announcements of Mayor O'Dwyer's wedding, headlines carrying a really romantic wallop were screaming again.

And this time, Cupid had hit where it hurt. Thousands of movie-struck females across the nation, with a goodly number of them being Hollywood's own fair and famous, were shocked, then grieved as they learned that longtime movie idol Clark Gable had wed.

HANDSOME, he-man Gable had taken to wife the widow of the late Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. She was the former Lady Ashley. Gable gave his age as 48, his bride said she was 39. The marriage was the fourth for each.

SOUTHPAWS: Break at Last

In Syracuse, New York, left-handed check writers were to get a better break—as a result of a Christmas present from a local bank.

The bank announced that henceforth it will distribute specially-designed left-handed checkbooks to its estimated 500 left-handed customers.

The checkbooks open from the left and have the stub on the right.

Labor Honored

This is a photograph of the new three-cent U.S. postage stamp which will be issued to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Samuel Gompers, great American labor leader. It will be printed in purple and will go on sale in Washington on January 27.

STALIN: Big Birthday

The Soviet-dominated world went into a frenzy as each nation and satellite strove to outdo the others in paying tribute to Russia's Joseph Stalin on his 70th birthday anniversary.

THE RUSSIANS were in their usual rare form, using the occasion to hurl a thunderous demand for peace at the world. In order to achieve it, they would set up, they said, annual awards for those doing the most to preserve peace and to confound the "war mongers."

That category included, of course, all nations and governments out of sympathy with the Soviet aim of expansion.

Almost fantastic was the extent to which the Stalin-worshippers went in adulation of Stalin. Thousands of parcels and crates, trainloads of merchandise, whole exhibition halls of trinkets and pictures, factories and socks, books, and horses, wines and toys, delicacies and cars were funneled toward Moscow from the Elbe to China, from the Arctic to the Black sea.

NO ONE MAN could ever use all the gifts, or read all the honors. No one man could ever distribute them. What it was all worth was anyone's guess, but certainly millions of dollars.

Eastern Germany alone collected 70 freight cars of gifts—one for each year—as a sort of whimsical reparations.

The western world paid little heed to the Soviet chest-beating over a desire for peace and, so far as the press recorded, England was the only nation among the North Atlantic pact signatories to send congratulations to Stalin on his birthday.

But for the Russians, themselves, to most of whom Stalin is more legendary than real, the thrilling, dramatic high spot of the anniversary celebration came in Moscow, where Stalin, himself, walked out on a stage to let the people see him.

INDONESIA: Uneasy Freedom

The United States of Indonesia was an established fact. It had become formally free after 300 years of Dutch rule.

But the birth of freedom was no routine, casual affair. Just like the case with most republics, the birthday was grim and turbulent. Even as freedom was declared, the new nation deployed troops and maintained a state of siege in wide areas to prevent anticipated disturbances.

IT WAS EXPECTED that Communists and some die-hards would attempt to make trouble for the new republic and to embarrass it by creating disorders.

Hundreds of troops patrolled the streets of Batavia and machine-gun posts were set up at intersections. Dutch troops throughout the country were confined to barracks for two days to prevent clashes.

A UNITED NATIONS commission set a truce in the islands which ended the bloody fighting between the Indonesians and Dutch, and also supported a Dutch-Indonesian roundtable conference at the Hague last fall which led to the granting of Indonesian independence.

EINSTEIN: One Great Law?

Most schoolboys would react with surprise if told that gravity is still one of the most puzzling of natural forces. They would declare that Sir Isaac Newton had settled all that when, after watching the falling apple, he stated a theory that may be over-simplified by explaining it as a fact that "everything that goes up must come down."

However, Albert Einstein, frizzled-haired, unpretentious scientist, wasn't content to leave it at that.

EINSTEIN, after a lifetime of work, had made a great discovery—a discovery he believes will explain the mystery of gravitation. One of the greatest of the scientific enigmas, gravitation keeps humans from floating off the earth, keeps the earth and other planets spinning around in the same path around the sun.

According to the new Einstein theory, which was announced by the Princeton university press, all the basic physical laws would be explained in terms of gravitation. It is an attempt to describe in one law everything that goes on everywhere—from the inside of one atom to the limits of the universe. Einstein has been trying to do that for 30 years.

If Einstein is right, he may hold the key that will unlock all the secrets of the universe.

LIKE RELATIVITY, the new theory is expressed in mathematics. The heart of the explanation of gravity is four equations, given in letters or symbols, not numerals.

There was no explanation of what the symbols mean, but no physicists were ready yet to try to talk publicly about the new theory. It still had to be tested to see whether it covers all the known laws or observations about the way matter and energy and gravitation behave.

TAXATION: A Warning

It would be charged to politics and an effort to smear the "Fair Deal" program, but house GOP leader Joseph W. Martin struck a logical note when he warned that a tax increase in 1950 might throw the nation into an economic "tailspin" and cost millions of workers their jobs.

MARTIN took a jibe at President Truman's indication that some excise taxes might be lowered by declaring:

"It appears Mr. Truman is about to fly a 600-million-dollar kite with a multi-billion-dollar tail on it."

That referred to previous statements by administration leaders that they knew of no way to avoid a deficit without higher taxes.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSAL was referred to as a "package deal" which Martin said congress would reject. The plan would suggest lopping 600 million dollars off the excise levies, but would call for a multi-billion dollar increase in income taxes.

THE REPUBLICAN LEADER was on good tactical ground for the simple reason that 1950 is a congressional election year and many Democrats would feel compelled to go along with the GOP in an anti-tax hike fight.

Has Everything

This "queen" has everything—beauty, brains and great wealth. She is Senorita Maria Alvarez Calderon, 20, Peruvian brunette visiting New York who holds the title of "beauty queen of the Americas." She is heirress to a 32-million dollar fortune.

BERLIN: Just in Case

Although an announcement made it clear that no emergency was expected, the German army ordered riot-control training for all American troops in Berlin.

"Riot control, or street fighting, is what troops in Berlin presumably would have to face if anything would develop," said Col. Julian Ewell. He added that trouble might come from the eastern (German) police, or anywhere.

A unit of 400 military police started the maneuvers, with the theoretical seizure of the U.S. food commissary by 2,000 rioters as their tactical problem. The military police, fully uniformed and in battle dress, rushed the commissary buildings in small groups under simulated protective fire. The umpires decided the rioters had been dispersed successfully.

Although Communists have held small rallies in west Berlin, bargaining for a united Germany under the Soviet-zone government, there had been no incidents.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

A Dilatory Male

"WHAT WOULD YOU DO with a daughter like mine?" writes Georgianna White from a small Oklahoma town. "June will be 24 in January, she is an intelligent girl, took a fine job after two years in business college, is handsome, tall, popular, plays tennis and is a well-trained housekeeper and cook—this last through chance rather than any plan of mine."

"When she was 18, June met a quiet, decent, slow boy I will call Bill. Her brother first brought Bill to the house and June soon began going 'steady' with him—both of them then in business college. Bill flunked out and has since held jobs briefly as car salesman, oil-station attendant, soda-fountain clerk, hotel night-desk man. He and June have been constantly in each other's company for nearly six years."

"During this time my good husband died, and I resumed my wartime job as schoolteacher. This gave June an excuse for giving up her own good job and taking over housekeeping for myself and her brother."

Completely Infatuated "My boy is a doctor with his office right in the home. June and he lunch together, we all dine together, and I must say that she maintains a perfect home for us. But Bill, who has no job now, actually is at the house nearly every day or telephoning her every hour. She appears as completely infatuated as she was at 18.

"Her brother and I are satisfied that there is nothing wrong in this relationship, partly because Bill is so cool an admirer. He takes her affection for granted, borrows small sums from her—she has saved some bonds—goes to movies with her, meets friends at the drugstore counter, and often takes her to church. His mother infuriates me by telling me occasionally that June is such a 'safe' friend for her adored Bill."

"June has, of course, lost all her other friends, the distressed mother continues. 'In every other way sweet, amusing and natural, her mouth shuts tight when we mention Bill. We all dislike him, as spoiled, lazy and irresponsible at 27, but June sees in him only her first love."

Why Don't They Marry? "Why don't they marry? I wish they would. June's small savings would soon be gone, and probably both of them would be forced to be realistic. But if ever Bill does respond to her ardent hints about a home together someday, it is merely to say grandly 'Not until I can take care of my wife without appealing to her family or mine.'"

"Now what can we do?" this letter ends. "June is too old to be sent away. My son has twice told Bill pretty plainly, in the past year, that we don't like the situation. Bill explains amiably enough that he has a good job in mind, and June angrily resents interference. Can you advise us?"

No, my dear Georgianna, I can't. A girl's infatuation for a man of this negative, seemingly undeveloped type is always a mystery. If Bill were a gallant decorated hero there would be some understanding of it, but such a man would sweep her off her feet into marriage in a matter of weeks.

Bill, sensing instinctively that once removed from his protecting mother, easy pocket money and generally profitless existence, he would be exposed for the weakling he is, calmly declines a matrimonial entanglement. June's eyes would be opened to her own foolishness before the honeymoon was over, but even that situation would seem to me preferable to this. It might make a woman of her, whether or not it made a man of him.

Some women marry these weaklings by sheer force of superior will. One case that came to my notice some years ago in my own town, found the bride triumphant at the church, at the wedding hour and the groom in tears.

This particular bride is now the head of a busy Hollywood shop; her husband, still handsome, still idle, has arranged that she deposit his pocket money at the bank.

Child wives used to be popular in fiction a century ago. David Copperfield's soft little helpless Dora, and Miss Carey's "Wee Wifie"; the dear little helpless creatures were always raising tear-laden blue eyes in appeals for help, to big strong men. Nowadays it is amazing how often the situation is reversed and the gray mare is the better horse.

Perhaps if you, Georgianna, and her brother can hurry June into this marriage by congratulating them on their engagement, however prematurely, giving it to the social column, talking wedding plans, finding rooms for the first home—or better yet, moving them right in on Bill and his mother—you will wake June up. Such arrangements have worked, and more than once.

Meanwhile, what a pity to have her stubbornness and his weakness destroy these years of youth and friendships!

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Never Force Psychoanalysis

By Lawrence Gould

Should you urge a person to be psychoanalyzed?

Answer: Never! The urge you can do is to let him know what the treatment means and give him a chance to observe what it has done for others—preferably yourself. Urging someone to be analyzed will make analysis seem to him a way of compelling him to become the sort of person that you want him to be, and is likely for this reason to intensify his "resistance," both to the idea, and to the analyst. The purpose of psychoanalysis is to help the patient to become more truly himself, and he can't do this to please you.

is living a comparatively isolated life—that the whole world is conspiring against them and that they must trust nobody but each other. Double suicide may follow, although suicide is more often a symptom of neurosis than of insanity.

Can one person "drive" another insane?

Answer: Only if the other has psychic tendencies to start with. But we do see cases of "folie a deux" (double madness) in which for example, someone suffering from delusions of persecution succeeds in convincing his wife—or some other person with whom he

Is a flyer who breaks down "all washed up"?

Answer: Not necessarily, reports Dr. D. D. Reid of the psychiatric staff of the British Air Ministry. Study of the later histories of more than 200 men who were victims of psychological disorders showed that 82 per cent of them were able to return to flying duty, although only 70 per cent proved capable of "sticking it out." Men judged to have had a "predisposition to neurosis" were the poorest prospects for complete recovery, but those pilots who were able to make a real come-back had a casualty rate no higher than average.

KEEPING HEALTHY

Early Rising After Operation Helps

By Dr. James W. Barton

SOME OLD PHYSICIANS shake their heads when they see patients who have undergone surgical operation allowed up on their feet for a few minutes in the afternoon after a morning operation. Some physicians go as far as to say that as hospitals are overcrowded, getting the surgical patient on his feet and allowing him to go home in a week or 10 days is just a "scheme" to make more beds available for waiting patients.

It was in surgical treatment of hernia, rupture, and later removal of appendix, that early rising was first tried; the results have been so satisfactory that some surgeons allow their patients out of bed and out of hospital in half the time formerly allowed, even when the operation is more serious than hernia or simple appendicitis.

In "The Journal of the American Medical Association," Dr. Amos R. Koontz, Johns Hopkins university school of medicine, Baltimore, states that he is in favor of early rising after operation for hernia. The main argument against early rising is that it puts too much strain on the sutures, but if the suture line will not hold from the effort of standing on the feet, the hernia will return or break down anyway.

Dr. Koontz points out that straining coming out of anaesthetic and straining in using the bedpan, increases the pressure on the sutures as much as getting on the feet early on the day of operation. "With early ambulation (Walking about the room) the patient does better in every way and there are fewer complications. Healing probably takes place faster for two reasons.

"Ambulation (1) increases the blood supply to the wound and (2) tends to keep the patient in positive nitrogen balance—keeping a well person in bed causes a daily loss of nitrogen." Nitrogen is absolutely necessary to various body processes and forms the largest part of the air we breathe.

"Early ambulation does not mean that the patient should sit in a chair for hours at a time especially for first few days after operation. The patient should walk around or be lying flat."

HEALTH NOTES

The fact that the skin is an organ, and therefore a part of the body as a whole, means that the skin specialist of today treats the patient as a whole, besides prescribing the special treatment for the diseases of the skin.

Attacks of epilepsy may be greatly lessened or even prevented by more attention to diet.

A disease carrier, such as one carrying diphtheria organisms in his throat, is free of symptoms, but can infect those with whom he comes in contact. Thus it is necessary he be isolated just as those who have an active infection with symptoms present.

Shortly before and during World War I, a number of cases of painful neck, shoulder and arm were found to be caused by what we called an extra cervical (neck) rib.

There is nothing that will give quick energy as rapidly as sugar. It can be absorbed into the blood directly from the mouth within a minute or two without having to go all the way through the stomach and intestines.

A goiter may be of the simple type which is not dangerous, or it may be severe.

While barbitol drugs do harm in some cases of emotional disturbances, they are to be preferred to the opium-type drugs such as morphine, and if used only in emergencies or in small doses they relieve pain and tension.

GREEK RENAISSANCE

In a recent revival of the ancient Greek drama at the once-great Athenian theatre, Herod's Odeon, stage hands are shown (above) looking down on the half-ruined interior as they engage in erecting the stage and settings. In staging the revival, modern techniques were substituted for ancient methods, among the innovations being skillful lighting effects. At left, these "warriors" are warming up for their roles in the drama. Stars of the trilogy by Aeschylus were ably supported by a brilliant cast of Greek players.

The second play of the trilogy—"Cephalotes"—opens with this meeting (below) of Orestes and Electra, son and daughter of Agamemnon at the foot of their murdered father's tomb. Looking on are Electra's slaves. Seldom have the Greek revivals been presented on such a scale and with such success as the 1949 revival.

King Agamemnon enters (above) and with him is hapless Cassandra, a Trojan princess he has brought home as a trophy. Nimble hands of Greek maidens spend many busy hours weaving the heavy fabrics from which dresses were designed for the main characters in the drama.

SLOT-MACHINE WORLD

AN EXPOSITION the other day revealed all the answers to a slot-machine inventor's prayers. There were coin machines for hot soups, hamburgers, hotdogs, ice cream in five flavors, all kinds of soft drinks, nylon stockings, postage stamps and even one device that gave you an electric razor for a six-minute shave.

Nobody reported a machine into which you could drop in some loose change and get a four-minute egg, a lighted cigar or a haircut, but they must have been around the joint somewhere.

Already the coin-in-the-slot self-service gasoline pump is in service in many cities, but we are disappointed in not being able to find a machine into which we can put a nickel and get the battery charged, the spark plugs cleaned and the whitewall tires manicured.

The slot machine has had an amazing development in America, and today it is coming up in a new form every few hours. It all began with chewing gum or salted peanuts, passed through the phonograph, telephone, nickelodeon, weight machine and self-photographing stage into the hot chow, chicken pies, new stockings, juke box and shave-yourself sphere.

In the journey it penetrated the world of jackpots, raffle practice, cigarette smoking and fortune telling. It is only a matter of time before you will be able to get a hot bath through the right slot, get your pants pressed in a turnstile device and fool around a machine that offers you the choice of a jackpot, a complete fish dinner, a new hat, a set of skid-chains or either jaw fitted with a complete set of new teeth.

That is the trouble with the slot machines to date. Each model lacks versatility. We are at work on one that will take up very little room in a saloon or subway station, but give you a complete Metropolitan opera, an electrical massage, your choice of French pastry, a chance on a new sedan, the answer to Stop the Music's mystery tune and a shot at a live deer.

No deposit on a cup of hot coffee will be necessary. This machine will give it to you by electric ray, free, and throw in a buttered roll, your correct weight and a tip on a horse race.

We are still aiming at further perfection. What is holding us up at the moment is the problem of getting in another shot that will, upon the deposit of a dime, give you a complete psychoanalysis, shine your shoes, replace missing overcoat buttons and throw in a dry Martini.

Clunk! Clunk! Brr-r-r-r! "Hey, this thing is stuck again!"

HOPE FOR A DAY

Evening shall come with its warming fire
Chastening the sullied dream anew,
Earth shall upraise each moonlit spire
In praise of the thing which Midas slew.

Close your heart to the ego's clamor,
Bend to your task, let your lips be dumb,
Dusk shall dissolve the loveless glamor
Evening shall come.

—Henry Goddard Moser

WINTER FORECAST

The Old Farmer's Almanac of Dublin, New Hampshire, predicted a very cold spell early in January, with snow between the 5th and 8th. It sees snow and sleet in mid-February with zero weather and a blizzard somewhere around the 20th to the 23rd. The spring, it predicts, will be cold and late. On February 2 the weather will be so stinko that the groundhog won't come out all day, but, appearing at night, will see his shadow by moonlight and scuttle back buckety-buckety.

Feature Frankfurters, Sauerkraut for Economy (See Recipes Below)

Budget-Wise Meals
IF YOU'VE BEEN CASTING long and serious looks at the food budget and decided it's time to do something about it, here's first hand help for you in the way of economical main dishes.

It's easy matter to keep enough calories in the diet even when you're trimming the budget, but sometimes it's difficult to keep food values and appetizing appeal high. These recipes are guaranteed to please you on all counts because they're specially planned.

DON'T SKIP MEAT entirely; extend wisely with vegetables; fortify casseroles with low-priced cheese to add nutrients. These are tips to follow whether you use these recipes or convert your own for economy-priced diets.

Kraut and Frankfurter Dinner (Serves 4)

- 1 No. 2 1/2 size can sauerkraut
- 1/2 cup melted bacon fat
- 1 teaspoon caraway seeds
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup buttered small bread cubes, toasted
- 2 cups hot cooked peas
- 6 boiled or broiled frankfurters

Place sauerkraut in a saucepan and heat through. Remove from heat; add bacon fat, caraway seeds, salt, pepper and bread cubes and mix well. Turn out onto a chop plate. Arrange peas and frankfurters on top.

Chicken Shortcakes (Serves 9)

- 1/2 cup chicken fat (or part butter)
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- Dash of pepper, paprika
- 2 cups diced chicken (cooked or canned)
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- 2 table-spoons chopped pimiento

Melt fat in saucepan over high heat. Blend in flour, stir until smooth. Add milk. Add liquid slowly, stirring constantly. When mixture begins to steam, reduce heat to low. Continue cooking and stirring until thickened. Add seasonings. Add diced chicken, hard-cooked eggs and pimiento to sauce. Heat thoroughly. Split squares of corn bread, and serve the creamed chicken mixture in the middle.

Corn Bread (Serves 9)

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 3 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 table-spoons sugar
- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- 1 egg, beaten slightly
- 1/2 cup melted shortening
- 1/4 cup flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Add corn meal and mix thoroughly. Combine beaten egg, milk and shortening and add to flour mixture. Stir just enough to moisten dry ingredients; do not beat. Turn into greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch square pan. Bake in a

LYNN SAYS: Enhance Food Flavors With These Quickies

For a juicy raisin pie, boil the raisins a few minutes before making the pie. Add a handful of grated American cheese to the filling before the top crust goes on for superb flavor.

Spread biscuit dough with butter, then a coating of honey and grated orange rind. Roll as for jelly roll, cut into 1-inch pieces and bake as biscuits. These are different and delicious!

Mint and chocolate deserve to be served together. Next time you make chocolate pie, add finely chopped peppermint candy to the meringue topping.

Combine fresh cranberries and apples ground together with enough sugar to taste for an excellent relish with fowl or pork.

These "snow balls" are easy to make for dessert. Mix together whipped cream with some diced, candied fruit and put in the center of two peach halves. Frost with more whipped cream and sprinkle with shredded coconut.

- 1 1/2 cups cooked chicken, cut in pieces

1 cup cooked ham, cut in strips
Add salt to rapidly boiling water and gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered stirring occasionally, until tender; drain in colander. Line bottom and sides of greased baking dish with macaroni. Dot with butter and place in hot oven (450°) until slightly browned, if desired. Sauté onion and celery in butter or margarine until tender. Sprinkle in bouillon and continue to cook until thickened and smooth. Add chicken and part of the ham. Pour into center of baking dish and top with remaining strips of ham.

*Quick Baked Bean Casserole (Serves 6-8)

- 2 table-spoons fat
- 1 3-ounce can deviled ham
- 1 table-spoon prepared mustard
- 2 table-spoons molasses
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Spanish Rice with Tongue (Serves 6-8)

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 1/2 cups chopped celery
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 3 table-spoons fat
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can (3 1/2 cups) tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
- 1 to 2 table-spoons brown sugar
- 1 8 ounce package American cheese, diced
- 3 cups cubed smoked cooked tongue
- 1 3-ounce can broiled mushrooms, sliced

Cook onion, celery, and garlic in hot fat until golden. Add tomatoes and simmer over low heat until thickened, about one hour. Add seasonings and sugar. Add cheese; stir until melted. Add remaining ingredients. Bake in greased 2-quart casserole in slow oven (300°) about one hour. Top with ripe olives.

Here's a salad you'll like: mold canned cling peach slices into lemon flavored gelatin with sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives and crisp slivers of roasted almonds.

Try combining pear or apricot nectar in equal proportions with your orange juice for a good tasting morning eye opener.

Strips of dried fruits, dipped in granulated sugar make nice candies for the youngsters. Fruit strips prepared in this way may also be added to yeast or quick bread for extra flavor.

Use creamy cottage cheese as a base for this salad: shredded lettuce with grapefruit sections, slices of calavo dipped in lemon juice and a honey French dressing.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, starchy or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is what is needed. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
