Four Local Teams Bowl in Holy Name, KCTournaments

Three bowling teams composed of members of the Holy Name society of Holy Trinity parish bowled in the Holy Name tournament at Cudahy on Sunday in team, doubles and singles events. Unfortunately the only bowlers to hit anything worthwhile were Arnie Zeimet and Ralph Remmel, who teamed up in the doubles. This pair hit a series well over 1100, which places them fourth highest to date. However, the tourney will continue all through March yet and many will have an opportunity to better this total.

Bowlers who rolled on the three teams included A. G. Hron, Sr., Lloyd Hron, Ralph Remmel, Arnold Zeimet, Cy Wietor, Rev. F. C. La Buwi, Louis Bath, Jr., Albert Hron, Jr., Carl La Buwi, Harold Marx, William Martin, John Van Blarcom, John Stelplflug, Bill Peter and Bill Harbeck.

Another local team of bowlers who are members of the West Bend Knights of Columbus council, spent the week end at Merrill where they bowled in the 34th annual state Knights of Columbus bowling tournament. The team was sponsored by the Kewaskum U-tensil Co. Seven other teams from the West Bend area competed. The local team was composed of Jim Miller, Arnold Martin, Clarence Bingen, Ray Zeimet and Wm. Lettow.

New Truck Purchased by Fire Department

At a special meeting held in the fire house last Thursday evening, the Kewaskum fire department purchased a new Ford F7 2½-ton truck chassis. New fire equipment for the chassis will be purchased later, specifications for which are now being drawn up with the village board.

The new truck and equipment are being purchased to provide additional facilities for the fire department and further protection for residents of Kewaskum and surrounding vicinity. The two fire trucks now in operation by the department will be kept in use. With three vehicles in operation the firemen will have one available for use at rural fires at all times and still have two ready if they are needed in the village or at any other fire. The new Kewaskum municipal building now under construction will provide ample space for all three pieces of equipment.

Bids were let out for the new truck chassis some time ago and were opened at a recent meeting of the department. At last Thursday's meeting, the members of the department voted on and accepted the bid on the Ford chassis. Further information on this new equipment, which will give Kewaskum one of the best equipped departments in this area, will be published at a later date after the equipment for the chassis is purchased.

WARNING TO DOG OWNERS
Numerous complaints have been coming in that our dog owners are getting careless again and allowing their animals to run around loose. These dogs are destroying property, causing other damage, and are a general nuisance. Dogs running loose are violating the law. This must be stopped or they will be done away with as the law permits. In the future dogs must be tied up or kept on a leash. Otherwise you know what may happen to them.

Sunday night there will be two home games with the Lakes five meeting Lomira and the Standards tackling Cedarburg at 7:30. Next Wednesday night the Rivers cagers go to Waubesa and the same evening the Lakers have a mighty important game at Plymouth. The Chevroleters have beaten Plymouth twice this season in close ones and if they can win this one they will be in for the championship because a victory will give them a two-game lead over Plymouth. A defeat will tie the two.

FIREMEN HAVE THEIR TWO CALLS AGAIN THIS WEEK
The fire department, which has been kept going so far in 1950, had its two calls a week and none on Sunday again, making a total of six in the past three weeks. At 5:15 p. m. Wednesday the firemen were called to a chimney fire at the Charles Krueger farm home in the town of Auburn, near New Fane. The blaze was a stubborn one and the "chimney cleaners" had to work some time before getting the fire completely out. No damage resulted.

At 6:30 p. m. Thursday the department was summoned to the new Kewaskum municipal building now under construction, which will be the future home of the department. To protect the brick, mortar and other building materials, an oil burning fire was kept going during the night. Canvas and straw packed around the brick to keep the frost out caught fire from the burner and the firemen were called to extinguish the blaze and prevent it from spreading and causing further damage. The only damage was to the canvas and straw.

RED CROSS DRIVE WILL OPEN MAR. 1; WORKERS READY; QUOTA $5,348
Plans for launching the 1950 campaign for funds for the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross were completed this week, and a corps of volunteers are reported to be in readiness for the official opening date on the drive next Wednesday, Mar. 1. The drive is scheduled to extend on through Mar. 31, unless the chapter tops its quota prior to that date. This year's campaign slogan is "All May Help."

Atty. Michael J. Goring, Jr., campaign chairman, who announced Wednesday that all plans for the drive have been completed, expressed the hope on the eve of the campaign that the people in the chapter area would respond generously to the appeal for funds.

"Our quota for 1950 is $5,348, and the co-operation of every person in the community is urgently needed," Goring stated.

Goring stated that the actual needs of the chapter call for a budget of $8,735. Of this, $2,113 will go to the national Red Cross as the local chapter's share of the funds needed. The balance of $6,622, supplemented by $5,500 taken from reserves, will be retained by the local chapter.

The $5,348 quota has been divided among the townships, villages, and the city of West Bend as follows:
Townships—Barton, $165; Farmington, $295; Jackson, $295; Kewaskum, $165; Trenton, $295; Wayne, $215, and West Bend, $295.

Villages—Barton, $500; Jackson, $195, and Kewaskum, $225.
City of West Bend—$2,500.

Commenting on the fact that the village of Kewaskum was first to exceed its goal last year, Goring said that he anticipates considerable rivalry this year to see which precinct will be the first one to "go over the top."

This year's goal is larger by $129 than that of last year. The difference is being met by raising town goals 46, village goals 111, and the city of West Bend's goal 454. The 1950 goal is higher throughout the nation because there is available $10 million less reserve funds to apply on the budget.

The demands of the program of essential service to servicemen and their families and the expanding national blood program were listed as two additional reasons why quotas have been increased. Moreover, there has been no perceptible change in the limited buying power of the American dollar.

Joining Goring in announcing the opening of the drive, Fred R. Hoff, chapter chairman, reviewed the accomplishments of the Red Cross in this area during the past year and stressed the importance of continuing these services. According to Hoff, the 1950-51 budget calls for the expenditure of the following sums for the services offered by the local chapter:

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET
Attack of Amnesia Transforms
Milquetoast Into Roost Ruler

By BILLY ROSE

The other day I picked up the telephone to call Eleanor, and it was almost half a minute before I could remember my number at home.

At the time, this memory lapse didn't seem worth brooding about, but last night I happened to meet up with a well-known psychiatrist at the Stork Club, and over a jigger of ginger-beer I told him what had happened.

"It was probably a mild attack of amnesia," he said. "As a rule, the victims are folks who, consciously or unconsciously, want to escape from their routine chores, and every now and then their minds blank out as a protest against doing the same old things the same old way."

"What kind of pills should I take?"

"Fun pills," said the mind-medic. "Buy yourself a sailboat, take up skeet-shooting, or get a set of water colors and learn how to paint."

"And supposing I don't?"

"Chances are nothing will happen except that you'll forget a few more phone numbers. On the other hand, there's always the possibility that the spells may get longer and more frequent. That's what happened not long ago to a good friend of yours."

Billy Rose

JERRY—and I'm sure you know the Jerry I mean—used to be one of Broadway's leading juveniles and stay-up lates. Five years ago, as you know, he put away his hair-oil and got a job producing radio shows.

And not long after, he married the daughter of a network executive, bought a home in Scarsdale and decided to settle down.

"Well, as often happens when a girl has too much dosery, his wife did him the setting for him. She made him exchange his friends for hers, his fun for hers and his life for hers. And within a year, the man who used to be a gay old dog became all dog—Washburner version of Caspar Milquetoast.

"After two years of being yammered at by his missus, Jerry came in to see me one day and said that he was having trouble with his memory—that it was blacking out on him now and then. I asked him some questions about his home life, and when he told me what it was like I advised him to stand up to his wife, and if necessary, slap her down occasionally. He told me, quite seriously, she wouldn't stand for such a thing.

"One morning several months later, he came to my office, and told me quite a tale. It seems that on his way home the night before he had had an attack of amnesia, and when he came to 15 hours later he was in a New York hotel room, with no idea of what had happened in between.

"I phoned his wife, and from her story, managed to put the pieces together. Jerry's memory had snapped as he got to the door of his house in Scarsdale—perhaps in protest against the stuffy people his wife had invited to dinner and all he knew was that he was standing on a strange stoop.

"AFRAID TO RING the bell, he sneaked into the back yard, found

To One In Sorrow

LET me come in where you are weeping, friend, And let me take your hand.

I, who have known a sorrow such as yours, Can understand.

Let me come in—I would be very still Beside you in your grief;

I would not bid you cease your weeping, friend, Tears bring relief.

Let me come in—I would only breathe a prayer, And hold your hand,

For I have known a sorrow such as yours, And understand.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

an open window, hoisted himself through, then recognizing nothing, stopped to puzzle out the situation. Who was he? What sort of man would climb through the window of a strange house? Only a burglar, of course. Ergo, he must be a burglar. And so he tiptoed upstairs, entered his wife's bedroom and began stuffing her jewelry into his pockets.

"At this point, his missus walked in, told him to stop playing cops and robbers, and began badgering him at the top of her over-sized lungs. But Jerry, the burglar, instead of melting into the carpet, bolted her one right in the teeth.

"That's all there was to it. Somehow, he got back to New York, checked in at a hotel, and when he woke up his amnesia was gone."

"Did you tell his wife that her husband wasn't himself when he clipped her on the chin?" I asked. The psychiatrist smiled. "Of course not, and what's more, I advised my patient to keep mum. Jerry went home to a big reconciliation scene—the old 'worm-turns' story—and ever since, the more spine he has shown the more supine his wife has become.

"I went out to his house for a poker session recently, and the only time she came in the room was when she brought in the drinks. To date, there have been no recurrences of amnesia, and it's my belief that if Jerry doesn't take any more nonsense from his wife, there won't be."

"Are you suggesting I go home and bang a shin on Eleanor's eye?" I asked.

"In your case," said the psychiatrist, "I doubt if it's necessary. However, if you have any more trouble remembering telephone numbers, I'd suggest you invest a few dollars in a water-color set."

The Fiction NARROW ESCAPE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

JUD'S ONLY going to be here a couple of weeks," Connie said. "And after all, he's my brother Tom's guest and it's up to me to help entertain him. You understand, don't you, Marc?"

"Sure," said Marc, not looking at her, "sure, I understand. You go ahead and be nice to him, Connie. I understand all right."

Which was true, bitterly true. Marc had begun to understand two days after Jud Morrison had landed at the Norberts' for a fortnight's visit.

Jud was big and handsome and had a way with him. In college he had been quite a rage. Tom Norbert, his roommate, had raved about him before he arrived, but even Connie hadn't expected such a splendid specimen of manhood as Jud proved to be.

A roadster stopped before the house and Jud came bounding up the walk. "Hi, Connie," he grinned. "All set for our round of golf?" Then he saw Marc standing on the porch beside Connie. "Hello there, Marc. How about joining us?"

Marc smiled and shook his head. "Thanks," he said. "I've got a tennis date. See you two tonight."

If, he reflected, he could only get Jud out of his element perhaps the college hero wouldn't show up so well.

Several nights later at the country club dance Marc got Connie alone and suggested a fishing trip for the next day. "We can take Jud along," he explained. "It'll be something new in his experience and probably he'll get a bang out of it."

Connie, who liked fishing herself, thought it was a grand idea. And so the three of them drove up to Beaver Lake the next day.

Connie elected to show Jud how to rig his line and cast, and watching them Marc knew a feeling of frustration. He had planned to somehow get Jud to follow him into the rapids where the going was treacherous and where only one experienced in such things could navigate without losing his foot.

"And, besides, I'm satisfied with the man I have—a man who's big enough to be kind to a man like Jud Morrison."

In the afternoon they put on their waders and fished.

hold. He had a vague idea of rescuing Jud from the swirling torrents, thereby establishing Jud's weakness in Connie's mind and his own prowess.

SUDDENLY HE KNEW that he was helpless. There was nothing he could do about the thing that was happening between Jud and Connie. The feeling that he had toward Jud was not one of condemnation, but envy. If Jud were trying to steal Connie away, he was doing so unwittingly. Any one but a fool could tell he wasn't aware of any understanding existing between the girl and Marc.

And so Marc abandoned his scheme for revenge.

They returned home the next day, and the day after that Marc made a business trip to Belknap. When he got back, Judson Morrison was gone. Marc didn't call Connie. Tomorrow or the day after he was leaving on a month's journey upstate. He didn't want to see Connie before he left. It would hurt too much.

But he did see her. Connie came over that night and found him sitting alone on the porch.

"Hello," she said, "where in the world have you been?"

"Away on business. Unexpected."

"Well, I should think so." She came close to him and sat down. "Jud left this morning. He asked me to say goodbye to you."

"Jud's a good egg," Marc said. "Too good," said Connie. "Goodness, I'd hate to be married to a man like that."

"You wouldn't?" said Marc, astonished. "Why?"

"Why? Why, because—I would He's too self-sufficient." She laughed. "And besides, I'm satisfied with the man I have—a man who's big enough to be kind to a man like Jud Morrison."

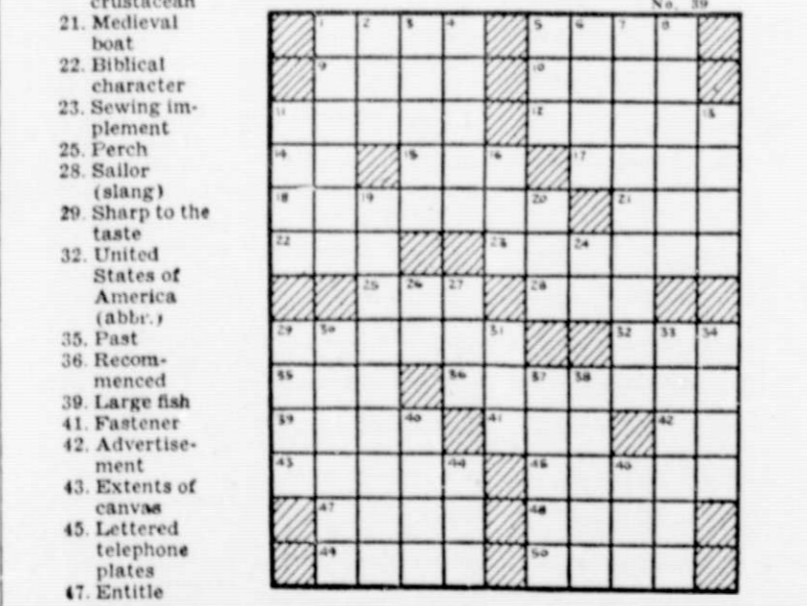

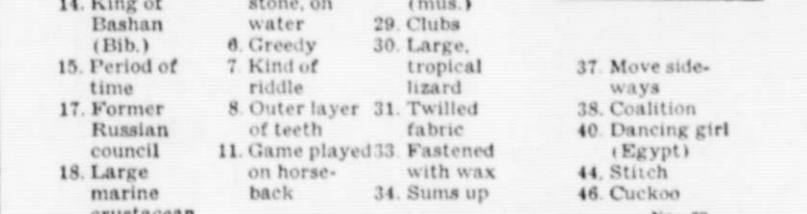

Abruptly he laughed, and when, puzzled, she asked him what was funny, he shook his head.

"There's nothing really funny," he said. "I was just thinking about a close call I once had—how near I came to making a fool of myself—and what a relief it is to know I escaped."

Musk-Ox Steaks Predicted As Next U.S. Tables

HUBBARDTOWN, VT. — Americans may be eating musk-ox steaks raised in Vermont soon if plans of the Vermont animal research corporation come true.

The group, headed by the famed Arctic explorer, Dr. Viljalmar Steffansson, claims that the shaggy, bison-like animals could live easily on sub-marginal farmland and would require no barns or artificial feeding in winter.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO BY INEZ GERHARD

THE SUCCESS of "Halls of Ivy" (NBC Friday evenings), proves that radio sponsors who for years have been heckling Ronald Colman and his wife to do a radio program were right. For 10 years, during which he had made but one firm year, Mr. Colman had held off, and Benita backed him up.

Then Jack Benny talked them into doing a guest shot on his program, and other such appearances followed. Finally along came Don Quinn, whose years ago had brought Fibber McGee and Molly to the air. He had written the perfect show for the Colmans—for Colman as a college professor, Benita as an ex-actress, his wife, Result. "The Halls of Ivy" a hit from the start.

VAULT ROBBERY RECONSTRUCTED

THIS DEPARTMENT'S super sleuth, Dablyn Crymes, has been going into that recent $1,500,000 Boston vault robbery. Despite all that has happened since, he still thinks radio jackpot programs were behind it. "The real bandits were airwave jackpot fanatics," he declares. "And the conduct of the vault custodians and guards indicates they, too, were under the radio influence."

"There is this one difference," continued the great sleuth, "it is harder to get into a radio jackpot show than it was to get into that vault." He reconstructed the crime this way:

1.—The bandits, hearing there was a couple of million dollars there, assumed it must be a radio program, if only a minor one.

2.—This conclusion was supported by the fact the attendants apparently were almost as careless with that much money as a radio master of ceremonies.

3.—The intruders, seeing so much dough, instinctively yelled, "Stop the music! The mystery melody is either 'Asleep in the Deep,' or 'Rudie, the Red-Eyed Doorman.'"

4.—The guards knew they were not on a "Stop the Music" program, but, as the robbers had on curious costumes with a Halloween decor, they thought maybe it was a Ralph Edwards hour.

5.—The outer doorman said, "Something funny is going on here. No other vault can make that statement." This was mistaken for a commercial. Now everybody was all mixed up.

6.—The intruders (or guests) were now through the first door and an attendant said, "You are now through the outer portal. Do you wanna try for Number Two?"

7.—The visitors replied, "Yes," and got the answer, "Correct. That brings you to gate three."

8.—This went on until they were through gate four and were asked, "You are now at the gateway to the jackpot. No prompting."

9.—The visitors said they were perfectly willing to go on, and presto!—the jackpot was theirs!

"But how do you explain the rope?" we asked. "Some of these jackpot contests are close. Contestants carry a rope in case of a tie," said Dablyn Crymes.

"But the adhesive tape?" "I think this merely an expression of a growing conviction that jackpot masters of ceremonies talk too much," was the reply.

"And the Halloween masks?" "Wasn't the whole thing within a few hours of a Milton Berle program?" demanded the super sleuth. "But why the sailor jackets?" we asked.

"There's a navy yard in Brooklyn," snapped the detective. "They had to come from Brooklyn."

Smile Awhile Charter Member It was decided by the members of a humane society to rent a store window and put in an exhibit of wild furred animals to aid them in their campaign against the ruthless killing of the creatures. It was a grand exhibit and was spoiled only by a man who insisted upon getting in amongst the stuffed animals. "I belong in there," he insisted. At first they thought he was intoxicated but when he pointed out his argument they admitted he had some cause for his actions. His reason for wanting to join the exhibit was a large sign the society had had printed and placed in the window. It read, "We were skinned to provide furs for fashionable women."

Hadacol is Helpful to Folks of All Age Groups Countless thousands have proved that HADACOL is beneficial to folks of all ages. For instance, Miss Ethel Guidry, 822 Montgomery St., Port Neches, Texas, only 17 years old, was feeling nervous, had little appetite, her face was pale and drawn and she suffered from gas on the stomach. Miss Guidry says she could not eat the kind and type of food she wanted without feeling terrible afterwards. Miss Guidry, who recently graduated from high school, is already working in a bank. She said that after taking several bottles of HADACOL she is now "feeling wonderful," and has "lots of pep and energy." Most folks take HADACOL because it has worked such wonders for relatives or friends. Miss Guidry took HADACOL because her mother had taken 12 bottles with excellent results. In nearby Port Arthur, Texas, Mrs. M. Thompson took HADACOL because it had done her husband so much good. That is the reason so many purchase the large economy size bottle so all the family can benefit from nature's Vitamins and Minerals in HADACOL. Mrs. Thompson's normal weight is 135 pounds, but she was down to 110 pounds before taking HADACOL, and after taking a few bottles of HADACOL she regained her normal weight. "I was bothered with stomach trouble, gastric disturbances, I had lost my appetite and was bloated," said Mrs. Thompson. She had tried several preparations before taking her husband's advice on HADACOL and now she enthusiastically recommends HADACOL to her friends. She, too, like Miss Guidry and the others, was suffering from the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals in her system which HADACOL contains. A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances... Your food will not agree with you... You will have an upset stomach... You will suffer from heart burn, gas, indigestion, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals contained in HADACOL. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no medicine, drug or treatment that will cure you except the administration of the Vitamins and Minerals which your system lacks. HADACOL contains not only one, but five of the B Vitamins. HADACOL contains not only one, but four of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away. You cannot be satisfied with the ordinary relief, HADACOL attacks and cures the source of such deficiency diseases. It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by the restorative tonic, HADACOL. Accept no substitute—insist on the genuine HADACOL. So, it matters not who you are... it matters not how old you are... or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. We are so firm in our belief that HADACOL will help you that we sell HADACOL on a money-back guarantee. If you don't feel perfectly satisfied after using HADACOL, as directed, just return the empty carton and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Nothing could be fairer. Sold at all the leading drug stores. Trial size only $1.25, but save money—buy the large family and hospital size—only $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny postcard. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or the $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS British Laborites Face Major Test; Lewis, Miners Clash With Old Foe; U.S. to Continue Egg-Price Support

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

BRITAIN: Warning Sounded

The pledge of Anthony Eden, British deputy Conservative leader, who, with Winston Churchill and other party big-wigs in today's election, is hoping to overthrow the Labor party, that the Conservatives will work with all nations for peace, might have meant more than it indicated.

EDEN, being the astute world diplomat that he is, must know that there are elements in many places, particularly the United States, who feel that there must be no further support of power for the Labor party in England.

With the Laborites' position often regarded as the fostering of socialism, the more conservative people everywhere fear it. It has been an amazing thing to most students of world history how the British, traditionally jealous of their liberties, ever permitted the imposition of this kind of government upon them. A reduction of the answer to fundamentals might explain that it came about only through the economic distress of the once proud and mighty empire.

IT IS APPARENTLY assured that whatever the outcome, the Labor party faces its severest test in today's election.

Eden warned, in the first broadcast of a Conservative speech in the just-ended campaign, that the "United Nations is at its lowest ebb, the democracies are forced to pay dearly for armaments, and the nightmare of communism stalks through Asia." He made a telling point in recalling that the Labor party in 1945 declared that if it were returned to power, it could get along with the Russians because of its Socialist ideology—and how the world situation had gone from bad to worse since then.

OPPOSITION SPEAKER Laborite Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell, had told an audience at Leeds that the cost of socialism was high in Britain, and would remain high, but declared the cost worthwhile because under the Labor government acute poverty has really been abolished.

That was a debatable point about which the argument continued while Britain voted.

EGG PRICES: No Humpty Dumpty

The American egg situation had no chance to rival the nursery Humpty Dumpty story, inasmuch as federal price supports were fixed so that no such fall as occurred to the nursery-rhyme egg could happen to this modern counterpart.

THE GOVERNMENT, which already owns some 100 million dollars worth of eggs intended to keep on buying them through March of this year. The idea was to support the price at an average of 25 cents a dozen on the farm.

The government's policy was quaintly stated by one federal official who summed it up with: "The hens are laying their fool heads off."

The farm price of 25 cents a dozen was about 75 per cent of parity, a level calculated to be equally fair to producers and consumers. Producers of dried eggs, the statement said, would continue to get about 95 cents a pound.

Most of the eggs the government buys are dried. In the past two years it has accumulated about 73 million pounds of these eggs, most at a price of $1.26 a pound. Some are stored in a cool cave near Atchinson, Kansas. The rest are in warehouses in other sections of the country.

THE QUESTION of what to do with them has become the major problem. The law permits the department of agriculture to give them away if they are kept out of commercial, competitive channels. This restricts them to welfare purposes and similar uses.

TAXATION: Get 'Em All

The treasury of the United States wants to put the tax bite on a lot of organizations which are not now paying any income tax on the operation of unrelated businesses.

The treasury made a request to congress that this be done, asserting that some labor unions, business leagues, social clubs and charitable and educational organizations were getting away with non-payment of tax that the treasury insists should be paid.

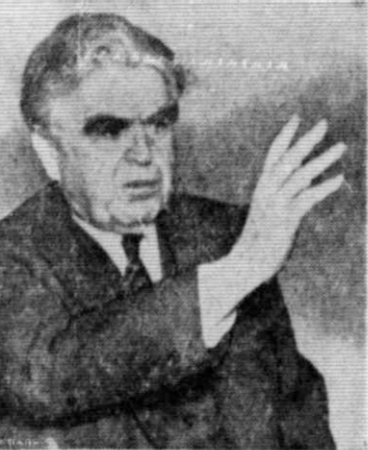

Vance N. Kirby, the treasury's tax-legislative counsel, made it clear, however, that the administration tax program did not contemplate such tax treatment of religious bodies, except as they might be affected in the operation of educational institutions.

He said the proposals would apply to labor unions, business leagues and social clubs. He also emphasized that the tax recommendation was concerned only with "business income which is not incident or related to the exempt purpose."

"For example," he pointed out, "a university bookstore may continue to sell textbooks to students, an agricultural college may run a wheat farm in connection with its educational program and a social club may sell food to its members without affecting its tax-exempt status. Only the unrelated business would be taxed—the spark-plug or chinaware factory run by a university."

The treasury seemed to demonstrate a current and continuing determination on the part of government to stop its tax-receipt leaks.

Thundering Again

Like a stuck Victrola record or an old movie constantly re-showing, John L. Lewis, mine union czar, was in the news again, this time with another coal strike on the boards. Lewis gestures as he appears before the conference table during contract renewal talks which broke down.

PIT MEN: An Old Foe

An old and hated enemy was again at grips with John L. Lewis and his United Mine workers. After a delay which brought him sharp criticism, President Harry Truman had turned to the device he declares he hates in order to bring order out of the coal strike chaos.

THERE WERE MANY who had begun to wonder if Mr. Truman—known for the stubbornness he employs when balked—ever would resort to the T-H law to resolve the mine deadlock. Now that he has, it would cause much delight in the ranks of the political opposition.

The T-H law, however regarded, has been used several times in national emergencies with an effect that gives it a real cause for being, whether anyone likes it or not.

The miners, however, showed defiance. They still chanted the old traditional refrain: "No contract—no work." And it looked like a contract agreement was far off as the President named a three-member board of inquiry who would attempt to restore peace in the troubled situation.

TO THE BOARD, President Truman named David L. Cole, Patterson, N. J., attorney who headed a similar board in 1948 that settled a bitter contract row between Lewis and the operators: John Dunlop, Harvard university business school, and a veteran in labor management relations; and W. Willard Wirtz, Northwestern university law professor and former chairman of the wage stabilization board.

Theirs would be the difficult job, because John L. Lewis was a difficult man to deal with. He might be even more difficult since his three-day work week had reduced the nation's coal stockpile to a two-week supply at the time of the strike.

RED H-BOMB: Terrific Echo

There was a sudden and dramatic interruption in all the talk about the hydrogen—or H-bomb. Just as everyone was pondering the fate of a world on which the monstrous weapon might be loosed, along came a report that the Russians already had it.

The reporter was an Englishman, a Mr. de Courcy, who claimed that he had secret sources inside the iron curtain which told him whatever was going on.

THE CLAIM was a bit rugged for the average American to accept, inasmuch as there was still no actual proof the Reds ever had the atomic bomb. Still, it was a nice, frightening topic of talk, and discussion was rather widespread.

Naturally, the first impulse was a great rushing to revamp all Atlantic defense plans and, perhaps more naturally, to talk of greater U. S. outlay of arms for herself and the pact nations.

Amid all the excitement ran an undercurrent of spy thrills and national menace with the disclosure that a German physicist, who had worked with the British in developing the A-bomb, had given secret information concerning that weapon to the Russians.

Good Omen?

As jitters mounted over reported leaks and treasonable acts concerning the secrets of the hydrogen bomb, apprehensive officials and citizens were further disturbed by reports that a former clerk in the French consulate at Stettin, Poland, had confessed he had led an espionage network that obtained information on British military movements. He was identified as Andre Simon Robineau.

The accused said that Great Britain was the "unnamed Atlantic pact country" cited in the Polish government's indictment against two Frenchmen and four Poles. It was believed that Robineau's testimony, which took four hours, was only the beginning of Britain's involvement in the case.

POLITICS: Sound & Fury

The sound and fury of the upcoming congressional elections was increasing in volume. If the Republicans could make it stick, they had found their issue: "Liberty against Socialism."

HOWEVER, it appeared the GOP was running into the same old trouble—inability to get along. The "too" element, while pretending, or appearing, to have changed its collective minds, was nevertheless chomping at the bit when called upon to embrace a more liberal attitude.

In an 11-day closed meeting, members of the Republican national committee and house and senate Republicans attempted to iron out their differences. They had hoped that a proposed statement of "principles and objectives" would serve to unify the party and serve as a basic platform for the campaign electioneering.

Out of the welter of discord came these arguments within the party:

Vigorous opposition to most of Mr. Truman's Fair Deal policy. A middle-ground on U. S. foreign policy, and the continued continuance of the bi-partisan policy, but sharply criticizing the administration of it.

Particular condemnation of "secret agreements" at Yalta and Potsdam.

Opposition to the spread of communism. Denunciation of any socialized health program, wage and price control, the Brannan plan.

RETURN to a balanced budget and repeal of wartime excise taxes. A fair price for the farmers' products. That was the scaffolding for the platform which the committee hoped would satisfy all the Republicans. First results indicated it will not. All of which would bring smiles to Democratic hopefuls, inasmuch as there is little hope for victory at all by Republicans who are divided. It would be tough enough if they were all united.

FOREIGN AID: Bottomless Pit?

The question of whether the United States ever would be freed of the burden of supplying economic aid to Europe was beginning to occupy the minds of many U. S. citizens.

With more than eight billion dollars already spent on efforts toward European recovery—that's on the basis of released figures—and western European nations now asking for another four or five billion for the next two years, the astronomical figures were becoming more astronomical.

The apparent situation indicated that all the ERP supporters had to do in order to get more funds for European aid was to report "amazing progress" by the foreign nations on the road to recovery, and immediately temper that with a "but"—the "but" being that more and more money would have to be spent "if" recovery were to be permanent.

The Marshall plan is supposed to end in 1952, but the follower of U. S. foreign policy as it affects aid to needy nations would say the "customary eight-to-five" that the plan will not end in 1952.

By that time, with crisis mounting on crisis because of the imminent arrival of the H-bomb and word that Russia already has it, it logically may be expected that there will be found multiple reasons for continuation of aid to Europe to an extent whereof no man can see the end.

Claims Rare Power

Gertrud Voleynk, (right above) shocked Berliners by claiming the power to raise the dead and heal the sick. She drifted in from eastern German territory and issued an appeal to parents of recently deceased children to bring them to her for revival. There were no takers. The "healer" is shown here attempting to cure a paralyzed woman who said she "felt much better" after treatment.

EUTHANASIA: Case in Point

Advocates of euthanasia—"mercy killing"—would find support for their views in the action of a Bridgeport, Conn., jury in acquitting blond Carol Ann Paight of the slaying of her cancer-ridden father.

A jury, made up of all parents found the 21-year-old college girl not guilty of slaying her father. Carol Ann had fired a bullet through her father's head after it was learned he had only weeks to live.

HOWEVER, there was a technical point on which euthanasia opponents might find a place to stand. The jury did not actually acquit Carol Ann because the shooting of her father was an "act of mercy." Instead, the jury accepted the defense contention that the girl was temporarily insane when she killed police sergeant Carl Paight in the name of mercy.

A wave of applause swept the courtroom when the jury's verdict was announced. Said Carol Ann: "I am very happy. I am grateful to the jury."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Here are Easily Made Appetizers! (See Recipes Below)

Appetizing Tricks

WHAT'S MORE FUN before a dinner party than an attractive tray of appetizers to help the conversation to a smooth start? Some hostesses like to prepare these tidbits before guests arrive so they'll have a few minutes before dinner begins to spend the time with their company; others have the fixings handy so folks can make their own.

No matter how simple these tidbits are, they can be most attractive, and easily made if you keep a well stocked canned foods shelf. Serve with them some heated or chilled tomato juice or ice cold pineapple juice, and you'll be giving your friends a really royal welcome.

Many of the items pictured on the tray above can be made ahead of time and kept chilled until a few moments before guests arrive. Some will require broiling just before serving, so allow a few minutes for this.

Olives: Spear tiny cubes of sharp cheese with toothpicks and top with stuffed olives. Place these into a large grapefruit as a centerpiece for your tray, if desired.

Here are other ways with olives: wrap stuffed olives in half slices of bacon and broil until bacon is crisp. Or, spread olives with deviled ham, roll in minced parsley and pierce each with a toothpick. Serve with a bowl of ripe olives, just as they are, with other appetizers.

TOAST IS THE BASIS for many delicious canapes that are to be served hot. These may be prepared in advance, then popped into the oven a few minutes before serving.

Toasted Ham Canapes (Makes 15-20) 1 cup ground boiled ham 1/2 cup grated cheese 1/2 teaspoon horseradish 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard 1/2 cup condensed tomato soup 5 slices bread, toasted

Mix first five ingredients together. Toast bread, trim off crusts and cut each slice into three or four strips. Spread with ham mixture, then toast under broiler until browned.

IF YOU PLAN to wait an hour or so before serving dinner, choose somewhat larger canapes to fill your guests. For such an occasion, rolls, tiny but of course somewhat larger than toast pieces, are ideal:

Crisp Roll-Ups (Serves 8) 4 long crisp rolls 1 cup minced, cooked chicken 6 tablespoons India relish 4 drops Worcestershire sauce 2 tablespoons salad dressing 1/2 teaspoon grated onion 1/2 teaspoon salt 8 stuffed olives, sliced

Cut off ends two inches long from the rolls. Remove soft center from ends and fill hollow with mixture of remaining ingredients. Slice the stuffed olive and place on each cup. Serve with toothpicks. These rolls may also be filled with egg salad.

LYNN SAYS: Leftover Fruits, Juices Have Many Uses

To get a beautiful glaze for fruit tarts such as cherry and strawberry, use leftover apricot juice. Boil down 1 cup of the juice with 1/4 cups of sugar until thick. Spoon over tarts while still warm.

Combinations of several fruit juices may be used successfully for glazing and flavoring baked ham. Use any of the following: cherry, cranberry, peach apricot, pineapple, pear or apple.

Fruit juices may be used to replace part of the water in making gelatin salads and desserts for additional flavor and vitamin content.

You'll like a combination of the following juices as an appetizer for luncheon: grape, lemon and pineapple juice. Stewed rhubarb and pineapple juice make a colorful and delicious before dinner beverage.

- LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU (Serves 8) Chilled Tomato Juice *Assorted Appetizers Broiled Chicken Parsleyed Potatoes Peas in Cream Biscuits with Honey Butter Perfection Salad Fudge Sundae Butter Cookies Beverage *Recipe Given

- Hamburger Pinwheels (Serves 8) 1 small onion, minced 2 tablespoons fat 1 pound ground beef 1/2 pound pork sausage 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce 1 recipe baking powder biscuits Cook onion in fat until tender but not brown. Add meat and cook until browned. Season with remaining ingredients. Roll out biscuit dough into a rectangle 1/4 inch thick. Spread meat mixture on dough and roll like a jelly roll. Cut into slices 1 1/2 inches thick. Place cut side up on greased baking sheet and bake in a hot (400°) oven about 15 minutes.

- IF YOU'RE HAVING a large crowd and don't think you can keep the appetizer trays filled well enough, then serve a bowl of these cheese snacks on the table while you are filling trays: Cheese Snacks 6 cups puffed rice 1/2 cup melted butter or substitute 6 drops tabasco sauce 1/2 teaspoon paprika 1/2 cup grated American cheese Measure rice into a shallow pan and heat in moderate (350°) oven for 10 minutes. Place in a large bowl. Melt butter, cool and add tabasco sauce, paprika and grated cheese. Slowly pour over rice, mixing well so that all kernels are coated. Serve at once.

- ANOTHER EASY IDEA to use is to prepare several well seasoned butters and to place these in bowls to spread as they are eaten: Shrimp Butter 1 cup butter or substitute 1 cup minced, cooked shrimp 1/2 teaspoon salt Dash of paprika 1 tablespoon lemon juice Cream together butter with shrimp. Add seasonings and blend. Ham Butter 1/2 cup butter 1 pound cooked ham, ground fine 2 hard-boiled eggs, ground fine Dash of pepper 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard Cream butter and add remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly.

- 1/2 cup butter 2 tablespoons chopped olives 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice Cream butter until fluffy and mix olives and lemon juice to blend.

Leftover peaches and pears may be combined and placed in a baking dish. Dot with brown sugar and butter and bake for 10 minutes in a hot oven. Serve as a sweet relish with a meat course.

Leftover halves of cooked fruit may be brushed with oil and broiled to garnish meat loaf or roast.

Combine leftover canned fruits and serve with whipped cream over freshly baked gingerbread or as topping for sponge cake. This makes a delicious dessert!

Save cores and peeling from three pounds of tart red apples. Cook with 1 1/4 cups of water for 20 minutes. Add 1/4 cup of sugar and cook down to a syrup. Cool and pour over the top of an open hot apple pie.

Any leftover fruit juices may be combined and added to lemonade for color and flavor.

What to do with leftover apple sauce? Add honey to sweeten and pour into small baked pastry shells. Top with whipped cream swirls and serve at a fancy, but simple, dessert.

Ain't It So "A man should select his house with as much care as he chooses his wife," reads a real estate ad. Someone should tell that ad writer that a man doesn't choose a wife, and if he's married, he has mighty little to say about selecting a house.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Leaky Porch Floor QUESTION: My cellar goes under the front porch and the porch floor leaks. The cellar also is cold at that spot. What would be the best way to seal the wood porch floor and to insulate under the floor? I was thinking about using a gypsum board as insulation. Would that insulate against cold?

ANSWER: To make the wood porch floor leakproof, cover it with a roofing canvas, then paint it with a good-quality floor paint. If insulation is desired, place a blanket or batt type of insulation between the floor joists on the underside of the porch floor.

Antihistamines Break Cold Early

By Dr. James W. Barton

ONE OF THE GREAT problems in industry is the great loss of time caused by the common cold.

symptoms, and in 48 of 55 patients treated within two hours of the onset.

A course of treatment which may be of great help in breaking up the common cold early is reported in "Industrial Medicine..."

One hundred and sixteen of 156 patients who received treatment within 12 hours of the onset, were also cured.

Two or three doses of the antihistaminic drugs at four-hour intervals are enough to stop the symptoms in 90 per cent of the cases.

A cold was considered to have been broken up or cured when all signs and symptoms disappeared within 24 hours of the beginning of the treatment.

Dr. Brewster believes that the number of colds will be reduced when the antihistaminic drugs get rid of the sneezing, coughing and profuse discharge from the nose...

HEALTH NOTES

In testing the gall bladder, a dye is taken by mouth, or injected into a vessel, which within a certain time, reveals the shape, size and presence of gallstones.

The length of the time which the liver should remove foreign substance from the blood shows the extent of damage or interference present in liver cells.

When an individual feels sluggish, has dragging pains in the upper right abdomen, with jaundice, something is interfering with the work of his liver.

Physicians today know more about what cancer is and what it is not than ever before, and this knowledge saves thousands of lives and millions of dollars yearly.

Because vitamins and gland extracts so closely resemble each other, it is possible that Meniere's disease—which is helped by vitamins and gland extracts—will soon be found to be a chemical problem with food the important factor.

Once the heart stops working, life is over, whereas the liver or gall bladder can become sluggish, perhaps stop working for minutes at a time, and life (though not good health) remains.

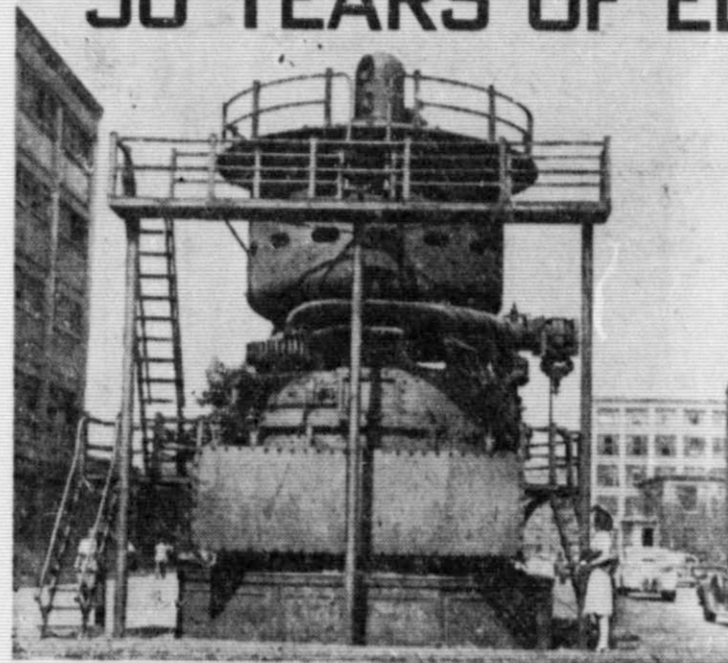

Proper coordination and accommodation of the eyes is the ability to make the two eyes work together like a team of horses.

The imbecile knows enough to avoid danger and has the mentality of a child three to eight years old.

Allergy is not common to slender individuals.

In 1900 only about 25 per cent of tuberculosis deaths occurred after 45. Today, 50 per cent of these deaths occur after 45.

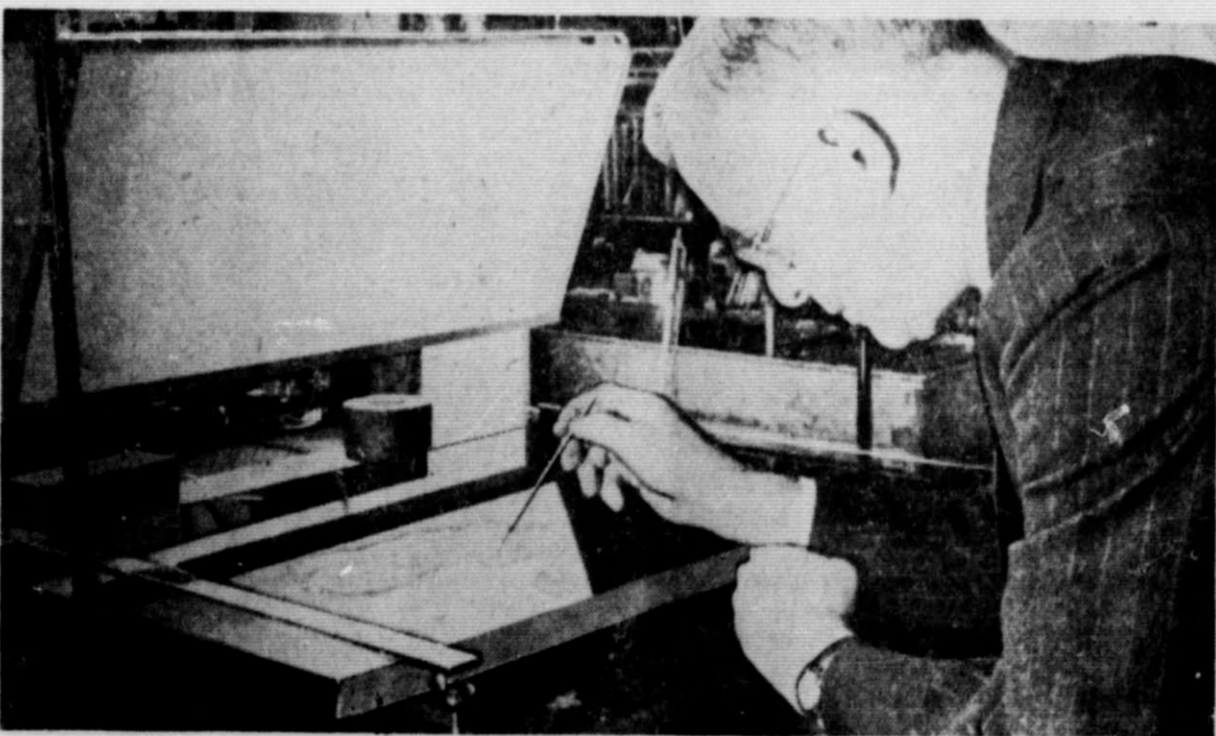

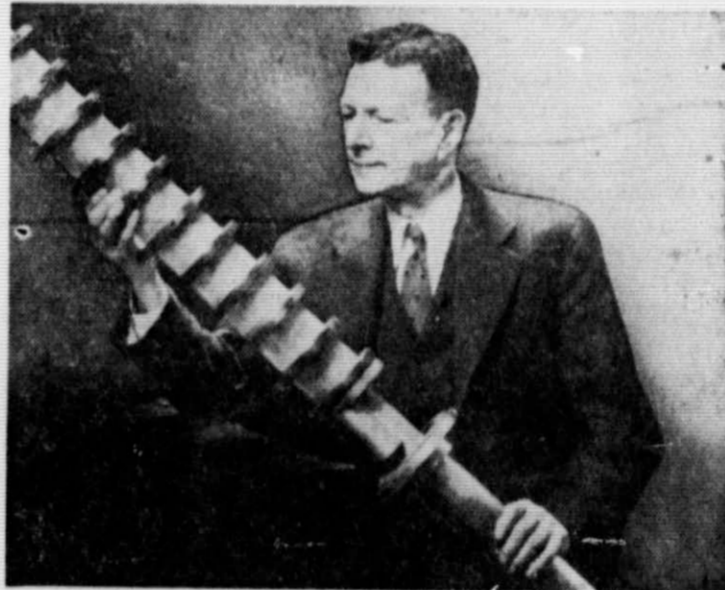

50 YEARS OF ELECTRICITY

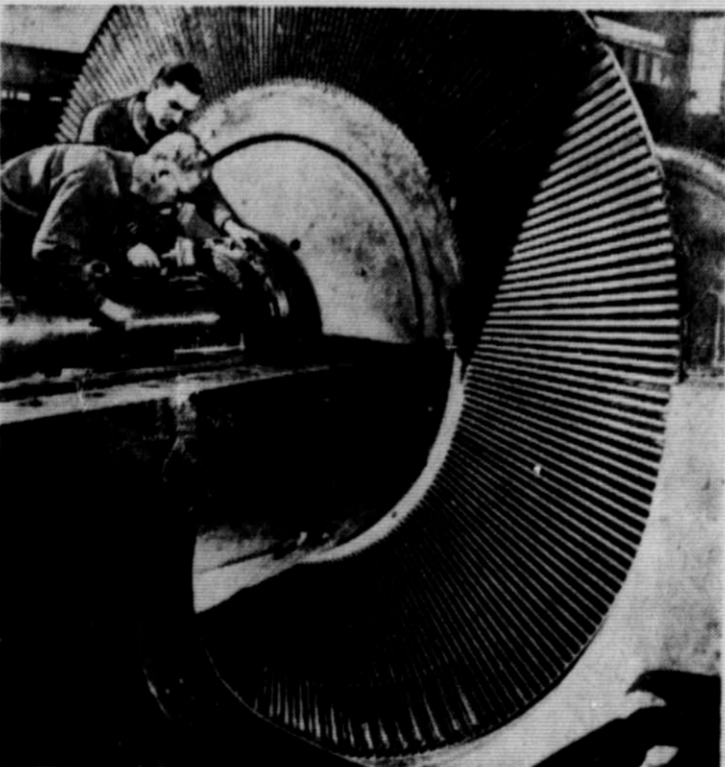

Reaching into all phases of human life, the accomplishments of scientists and engineers in the past half-century add up to some of the most amazing stories of all time.

Ripping through the air like a spear of fire (above), a 15-million-volt bolt of lightning, most powerful produced by man, leaps between two impulse generators in the General Electric company's Pittsfield, Mass., high voltage laboratory.

Experimentation with oil films on water, conducted by Dr. Irving Langmuir (above), uncovered a new branch of chemistry known as two-dimensional or surface chemistry and won for him the Nobel prize.

The most powerful jet engine now being produced in this country powers the air force's radically-designed Martin XB-51 (right) as it roars upward on take-off.

Truman for Strauss

AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT has taken place inside the atomic energy commission, wherein President Truman is seriously considering a Republican to be the new chairman, replacing David Lilienthal.

The Republican is Adm. Lewis Strauss, onetime secretary to Herbert Hoover and a member of the Wall Street firm of Kuhn, Loeb. It was Strauss who vigorously opposed Lilienthal inside the commission regarding the hydrogen bomb—Strauss being for the new bomb, Lilienthal being against it.

Feeling between the two men has been strained, and the President—instead of siding with his old Democratic friend, Lilienthal—has backed up Republican Strauss regarding the H-bomb, and now is even considering him for chairman.

Strauss, however, believes the chairman should be a Democrat; also says he expects to resign from government. This means that Truman will have three atomic vacancies to fill—Lilienthal's, Strauss's, and Sumner Pike's, also a Republican.

One reason for Truman's sudden coolness toward Lilienthal has been the fear that his negative ideas on the hydrogen bomb would be picked up by Moscow and used as a phony peace offensive. That was why Truman was so opposed to Lilienthal's idea of going to Moscow to try to make a deal with the Russians.

Truman feels, as the result of many attempted agreements with Moscow that any conference of this kind would be as profitable as a Missouri hound dog baying at the moon.

Already, the White House has noted, the Russians have started a new and phony peace offensive. On January 20, at the very same time Moscow had initiated a new blockade in Germany, Prof. Eursalimsky put out the following peace overtures on the Moscow radio:

"Comrade Stalin pointed out that peaceful cooperation between the capitalist world and the Soviet Union remains in force and the possibility of peace cooperation does not only not diminish, but can even increase. The proposal to conclude a pact of peace between the U.S.S.R. and the United States, as well as the proposal of a pact of the five great powers for the strengthening of peace are fresh and convincing evidence of the peace-loving foreign policy of the U.S.S.R."

"In its international policy the U.S.S.R. is guided by the principle of the possibility of the lasting co-existence of two opposite systems—the socialist and capitalist systems. The whole of the foreign policy of the U.S.S.R. bears testimony to the fact that the U.S.S.R. is unwaveringly acting as the partisan of peaceful relations with all those countries which in their turn desire to cooperate for the best of the world."

'Oleo' Oscar

The day after he was unanimously confirmed by the senate, Oscar Chapman, the popular new secretary of the interior, got some good-natured ribbing at the cabinet meeting.

Asked President Truman quizzically: "How does it happen you got through so easily? I understand even Republicans made speeches praising you."

Replied Chapman: "A very simple explanation, Mr. President. The senate passed the oleo bill just before it took up my nomination. Oleo greased the way."

Formosa Row Fizzles

Three extra Republicans, looking for fresh ammunition to attack Truman's policy on Formosa, showed up at the closed-door session of the senate foreign relations committee. However, they went away empty-handed. The GOP battle cry to save Formosa petered out like a hoarse Hallowe'en horn.

As the senators settled in their chairs for the meeting with Secretary of Defense Johnson and Chief of Staff Bradley, Wisconsin's jovial Sen. Alex Wiley tried to relieve the tension by pointing to a badge on his lapel with the initials "T.T.P."

"Do you know what those initials mean?" he asked the secretary of defense.

Johnson shook his head, so Wiley boomed hilariously: "They stand for tired tax payer, and I sure am one."

Johnson then read a 10-minute opening statement, after which the senators began machine-gunning. Most of the quizzing was done by three Republicans—Alex Smith of New Jersey, Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. The three extra Republicans, non-members of the committee, were Bill Knowland of California, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Ed Thye of Minnesota. They asked no questions, except for Knowland who scribbled queries for Hickenlooper to ask Johnson and Bradley.

MacArthur's Spokesman

Bradley admitted that Formosa had "strategic significance," but he made it clear the island was not worth the price of American blood.

"If we lost Formosa," demanded Hickenlooper, "would the West coast be in danger?" Bradley shook his head. Weightiest questions came from Senator Smith, the ex-Princeton professor, who recently got a pep talk from MacArthur on Formosa and who read off three pages of complicated written queries.
