prettiness, a n salads, the will do mor than add vita mins and miner als to the diet They will actual ly make this one course everyone anticipates. Canned and fresh fruits may be combined to an advantage both from economy and texture. . . .

WHEN FRUIT SALADS are large as well as beautifully put to gether, or when the fruits are combined with such foods as cream salad dressings, gelatin or cheese, they may frequently be served as a combination salad and dessert course

Cheese Delight Salad (Serves 6)

1/2 cup heavy cream 1 3-ounce package cream

- cheese
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise teaspoon salt
- 4 cup finely chopped celery
- cup grated raw carrots 2 tablespoons chopped green
- pepper 1 cup drained, crushed pine-
- apple

Pour whipping cream into a mixing bowl and chill. Cream the cheese in a bowl until soft and add mayonnaise, stirring until well blended. Whip the cream with a rotary beater and beat it into the cheese-mayonnaise mixture. Continue beating until mixture is stiff and shiny (about one to two minutes). Stir in salt. Have vegetables and pineapple ready and fold them into the whipped mixture until evenly distributed. Chill in a square dish or pan 51/4x51/4x13/4 inches for two to three hours and serve on prepared salad greens.

Pity the Consumer

THE OLD ADAGE, "A penny saved is a penny earned," applies to government as well as to individuals. President Truman has demanded new taxes that will produce at least another billion dollars of government revenue.

Congress hesitates, as well it may, but congress also hesitates bout saving from two to four bilon dollars for our money by adoptng the Hoover commission recomendations that would cut out om two to four billion dollars of sedless government expenditures Such reduction in cost would not reduce the functions the government performs for the people, but would enable such performance to be made at much less cost and with far less confusion. It would simply cut out the doubled. tripled and nore costs of doing the same thing.

Most of us, myself included. cannot visualize a billion dollars, to say nothing of multiples of that vast sum. It is so large that we cannot imagine ourselves having any part in it. We refuse to consider it as our problem. Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Pathfinder, has reduced that saving congress can so easily make to a level each of us can understand. He says it means a saving, on the average, of $86 for every American family. Instead of increasing the tax on produc tive corporations, as the President has asked, a tax all consumer families would pay in the form of an increased price for the commodities we buy, to produce another billion dol lars, congress can save four times that amount, and at the same time simplify the present tangled operations of government.

- cheese
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup finely chopped celery
- 1/4 cup grated raw carrots 2 tablespoons chopped green
- pepper
- 1 cup drained, crushed pineapple

Pour whipping cream into a mixing bowl and chill. Cream the cheese in a bowl until soft and add mayonnaise, stirring until well blended. Whip the cream with a rotary beater and beat it into the cheese-mayonnaise mixture, Continue beating until mixture is stiff and shiny (about one to two minutes). Stir in salt. Have vegetables and pineapple ready and fold them into the whipped mixture until evenly distributed. PIT MEN:

A New Angle

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech wrote a new angle into the continuing fight between the United Mine Workers and the coal operators. The judge cited the miners themselves for criminal contempt on grounds that the 370,000 UMW members had "willfully and wrongignored his back-to-work fully" order

THE NEW ANGLE was that this time the UMW's boss, John L. Lewis was not even mentioned in the citation. Observers pointed out that the citation could lead to heavy fines against the union. On two previous occasions, Lewis was named defendant when strike issues came into federal court.

There was some speculation that ommission of Lewis' name from the contempt citation might mean that the government felt that Lewis had been really sincere when he or dered his miners back to work-but no government official would comment on the subject.

Judge Keech's action came as the east was gripped with bitter cold, with many housewives' coal sins nearly empty.

In the meantime, violence flared in the eastern Kentucky coal field as roving mobs wrecked equipment at several mines and beat up at least 11 miners. Ten men were beaten in Knox county and one was attacked in Harlan county.

SIXTEEN AUTOMOBILES loaded with six men each visited a number of mines, Kentucky state police reported. Twenty-eight bullets were fired into a mine mancar hauling miners up an incline, and two automobiles belonging to miners were overturned.

As for the hope of the contempt citation to end the mine walkout, no one would say how effective it would be. It was recalled that there is no limit on the penalty a federal court may impose for contempt, but the Constitution forbids "un-usual and excessive" punishment, and the supreme court in 1947 reduced the UMW's contempt fine from three million dollars to $710,000.

BULGARIA: U.S. Cuts Off

Uncle Sam finally "got his dander up" and began to get tough with the Communist - dominated Balkan countries. In one of the toughest U.S., foreign policy actions since World War II, this nation broke off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria and ordered home American Minister Donald R. SHARING: 'One Great Hour'

This Sunday March 12, there will occur one of the most unique events in the history of spiritual elevation and man's efforts to help his fellow man. For, on that day some 100,000 churches with approx-imately 25 million members will join in a coordinated appeal for the support of overseas relief and reonstruction projects.

THE APPEAL will be conducted under the slogan: "One Great Hour of Sharing," and will be made simultaneously in all cooperating churches as part of the regular vorship of the day. Church World Service, which is onducting the campaign, is the verseas relief agency of 23 cooprating Protestant and Eastern Orthodox church bodies. In addiion to the denominations affiliated with it, it is supported by the folowing interdenominational agen-

With the nation proceeding spasmodically from the throes of one coal controversy to another during recent years, public interest in miners, what they do and how and where they work has been heightened Hence, the tapping of a mountain of coal - about 100 million short tons of it - in North Carolina recently was big news. The coal is on the right side of a mountain at Sanford, N. C., and from 50 to 60 tons of it come to the surface during a normal production day at the Cumnock mine of the Raleigh mining corporation. At the same time, the state department demanded the recall of Dr. Peter Voutov and his smaller Bulgarian staff in washington.

DEVELOPMENTS in the same vein included a ban on American travel in Hungary and the ordering from Communist China of all American consuls.

The U.S. action was seen as a climax to what the state department called a "long series of intolerances and indignities" against the U.S. legation in Sofia.

In that, the state department was on solid ground because since legation was established in 1947, Bulgarian officials and the controlled Bulgarian press, the department said, had been "constantly denouncing and insulting the United States." The department charged the Sofia government had carried on an "unprincipled campaign of prosecution' against Bulgarian employees of the legation

THE DIRECT CAUSE of the break was said to be Bulgaria's demand of January 19 that Heath be recalled for "interference" in Bulgarian internal affairs. Charges of spying also had been made against Americans in the legation.

The break was significant because it indicated a stronger attitude by President Truman and state secretary Acheson toward Moscow satellites with which the U.S. has been waging postwar disoutes

However, there was no cause for alarm as to military repercussions. For, as Winston Churchill put it, diplomatic recognition of one nation by another does not mean espousal of that nation's policies or attitudes-it is an act to secure certain conveniences. Conversely, when diplomatic relations are broken off, it means chiefly that those conveniences are at an end, but not necessarily military action

MEN'S CLOTHES:

Going Up

Early in 1950, there was much newspaper space devoted to feature articles in which a happy era of low-cost men's clothing was about to descend upon the American male. Indeed, the old standby-the $35 suit-was pitcured as coming into its own again and a man could cheerfully anticipate clothes buying. But apparently it was all a dream, for clothing costs are up.

The president of one of the country's largest shirt manufacturers had nothing but bad news when he announced that prices would rise.

However, he attempted to inject a note of cheer in his report when he indicated that spring prices would be "attractive," whatever that might mean. By fall, however, the impact of spiralling prices will be with the men's suit buyers again.

SEARCH No Sharp Guide

would wipe out:

The inviolability of a man's home against search without due course of law-meaning a properly executed warrant-is now in question as the result of a recent supreme court decision The court, in a 5 to 3 ruling, held that when police legally arrest a man, they also may search a limited area under his immediate control for evidence of a crime. But the court didn't say exactly how far the police may go. Justice Felix Frankfurter protested vigorously. Dissenting from the opinion, he declared that the decision makes mockery of the ourth amendment to the constituion which bans unreasonable earch and seizure.

He added that the court by its ction had overturned a long series f decisions and argued that the ribunal should "show respect to: ontinuity in the law."

The majority opinion was writen by one of the new justices, Sherman Minton, who said, "What s reasonable search is not to be determined by any fixed formula. The recurring questions of the reasonableness of searches must find resolution in the facts and circumstances of each case.'

The decision came in the case of Albert J. Rabinowitz, who was charged with the sale of four altered postage stamps. When he was arrested, officers searched his office and found 573 more stamps. These were made the basis of a new charge that he possessed and concealed altered stamps.

Defense Move

Ever since World War II there has been considerable discussion of a proposal to scatter U.S. agencies and industrial manufacturing centers so that in the event of another war the nation would not face the threat of complete paralysis from bombing attacks.

Now, the proposal had the support of the head of the office of civilian defense, Dr. Paul J. Lara dash to make in the event of an atomic bombing.

Giving a serious answer to Rankin's proposal, John Oehlschlaeger, president of the Paducah chamber of commerce, said:

"REPRESENTATIVE RANKIN'S plans poses such a gigantic problem it would be silly for me to comment on it at this time. But I might ask this question. Can you conceive of the sudden shifting of the capital of 150 million people from a metropolitan center to a town of 45,000 population? Think of the problems of housing, providing adequate building space, and traffic, to mention only a few, that the town would face."

It would be a big problem, indeed, and one likely to be so immense that Representative Rankin's proposal will probably never get out of its original stage.

In all the hysteria over Soviet spying in connection with the A-bomb and the H-bomb, there was a general tendency to hurl charges and let the result attempt to justify the action.

TABLETS have been dug up in Iraq showing that the Sumer-ians who lived 1,700 years B.C. had knowledge equal or ahead of what we have in 1950. But there is no evidence they used it exclusively on quiz programs.

Archeologists are still exploring, but every indication so far is that, despite all they knew, these ancient people didn't link super knowledge with super jackpots. (They painted their houses inside and out at their own expense.)

Quality of Mercy Was Strained When Mantell Played 'Richard' - By BILLY ROSE -

A few years back, I got the nobby notion of reviving "Henry VIII," by one W. Shakespeare, and the day after the first three-line announcement appeared on the drama pages my office was cramjammed with well known actors who were willing to work for what ordinarily would have been their agents' commissions.

Subsequently, for reasons that have nothing to do with this piece, I pigeon-holed my plans for doing "Henry," but I sure learned a lot about show folks during the month I was buddying up to the Bard.

"I'm not going to brood about that," I said. "The play is by Shakespeare, and if it gets over, I doubt whether Hollywood will see her again until both she and the scenery fall apart."

Church Leadership Lesson for March 12, 1950.

"WHAT'S in a name?" Different churches have many different names for the persons who hold office in them. But whatever quarrels the churches have had, few of them are about these names. The thing more important than the name. All of us agree that churches do need organization 📾 Some people would have us go back to the New Testament for our pattern of organization. We cannot quite do this, for one important reason. Where in the New Testament would you dig in? Dr. Foreman

Would you take the letters to Timothy and Titus as your guide? There you find bishops (overseers, superintendents) mentioned, also elders and deacons, but you do not find their duties laid down. Go back into the story of Acts and you will find a place where elders are first mentioned in the Christian church (11:30); go still farther back and you come to the first election of deacons (Acts 6). In your first Utopian Church, will you model it after the three-officer plan, or two, or one, or (going back before Acts 6) none at all? (Apostles, of course, are not now available.

Scholars in most churches today are pretty well agreed that what Theatre Guild offered to let me we have in the New Testament is not a rigid pattern of organization, but rather certain principles on which any successful church must be built. Let us see what some of these are. . . .

> The Job and the Man A LL CHURCHES are agreed on one point: A church must have leadership. What is everybody's business is nobody's business. Some one must draw up plans, think ahead. No organization in the world is self-starting and self-operating, not even the church of Christ. The early church knew this. But they elected officers only as the need for them arose. In Jerusalem there was not a deacon in the place until that emergency came up in the matter of relief.

In St. Paul's first missionary church (Acts 13, 14) he did not get the elders first, and then find churches for them. On the contrary, he founded the churches first and then appointed elders for them.

It would be a good idea for a

Paul pointed out) is a poor candidate for any executive post in the church. A man who can't keep from quarreling in everyday life is no man to entrust with responsibility in the church.

A man of good character can, and will want to, learn the skills his job calls for; but a man of sleazy character just does not care. Be careful of the sort of man you elect to office, in church or out; for the rank and file are not going to rise above their leaders.
