Fierce Wind Storm Causes Much Damage

Unabating winds which reached gale proportions of 60 miles an hour with gusts up to 75 miles an hour left a trail of property damage throughout this area Friday and Saturday. The "blow" was the worst in a number of years. Everywhere one went after the wind up let up Saturday afternoon, destruction was noted. Damage ran into many thousands of dollars.

Damage for the most part was limited to blown in windows, broken telephone and power line poles, blown down fences, outdoor advertising signs, radio and television antennae, trees and branches. Severe damage to roofs was reported from all sections. A number of roofs were blown in and off and shingles were torn off, loosened or struck up on very many roofs.

The wind was of such high velocity that walking in it was difficult. Sand, dirt and larger objects were hurled into people's faces making it hard to see, and against windows and buildings. Large cardboard cartons and metal containers were thrown through the air. Sand and dirt blew into cracks in windows and doors, causing a dirty mess inside. The wind cluttered yards with rubbish. Huge waves and white caps could be seen on the river here.

The Wisconsin Gas and Electric Co. at West Bend reported the most damaging storm results in more than ten years. An estimated 200 poles were snapped in the Washington and Ozaukee county area. A total of 75 transformers were put out of commission and close to 50 workers were on duty almost continuously from Friday morning through Sunday night. Street lights were out in most communities over the week end. In Kewaskum most of them were out four nights. The electric company had an estimated 2,000 service calls, including many live wires down.

The telephone company also reported heavy damage with many phones put out of service. Service here, however, was not affected much. Temporary repairs were made by the company and all service was restored by Sunday morning. Throughout the state 1984 telephone poles were broken, 508 toll circuits went out, and 2,850 telephones were out of service.

Chevrolets Win in Rivers Opener in Ten Innings

Results last Sunday—Kewaskum 6, Slinger 5 (10 innings); West Bend 4, Saukville 2; Newburg 10, Allenton 7; Jackson 12, Barton 7.

Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at Saukville, Newburg at West Bend, Jackson at Slinger, Allenton at Barton.

The Honeck Chevrolets got off to the right start in the Land of Rivers season opener Sunday but were forced to go 10 innings before squeezing out a 6-5 victory at Slinger.

After trailing throughout the contest, Kewaskum pulled the game out of the fire at the end, behind 4-1 going into the ninth the team rallied for three big markers to knot the count, and send the game into extra innings. The boys came through again in the tenth with two runs to take a 6-4 advantage and it looked like the win was sewed up. But Slinger also got one run across the plate in the tenth and came very close to winning. They had two men on base when Backhaus got Melius to pop out to end the thriller.

The Chev's connected for nine hits off Held and Wadewitz. Stahl, Bilgo and Honeck leading the way with two apiece. One of Stahl's blows was a homer and the other a double. Slinger touched Backhaus for eight hits and A. Melius was the only man with two safeties off of him. Backhaus whiffed seven and walked three. Held fanned 11 and walked one, while Wadewitz struck out one and issued two walks.

Utensils Lose Lakes Opener to Granville

In frigid weather that had most fans watching the game from cars or shivering in overcoats, the Kewaskum Utensils opened the Land of Lakes baseball season here Sunday. Not only the weather, the game also was bad for the home team. The visiting Granville team came through with a 5-run attack in the 7th inning to squeeze out a 5-4 victory.

Up to the 7th, Kewaskum was ahead, 4-0, and it seemed like Johnny Tessar had a shutout in the making. Then things began to happen, Tessar walked two men, followed by two errors, a long home run by P. Rooney, two singles and another walk. When the dust cleared Granville had five runs across the plate. The Utensils tallied all their runs in the first four innings.

Tessar pitched a 5-hitter but was wild, giving up 12 walks. This could be expected in the cold weather which has also kept the team from getting much practice. Batzier of the visitors was nipped for nine safeties, two each by the Stautz brothers and J. Tessar. Batzier walked only four and this made the difference. Both pitchers struck out five, and Marx, who relieved Tessar in the disastrous 7th, whiffed three more.

The Utensils will play another home game this Sunday when the always strong Mequon nine comes here. Game time is 2:15.

TVA Fraud, Speaker Tells Kiwanis Club

Giving a verbal and pictorial report of his observations during 40 days he spent in the Tennessee Valley last summer, Verne P. Kaub, Madison, told Kewaskum Kiwanians Monday night that he came away more than ever convinced that no greater fraud than Tennessee Valley Authority ever was imposed upon the people of an area and of a nation.

Kaub, a Wisconsin newspaperman since 1915, spent the last 14 years of his active business life in the public relations department of the Wisconsin Power and Light company at Madison. He was retired as of July 31, 1949, and spent two weeks of his terminal vacation in July and all the month of August on his trip to the Southland.

He was appalled by the misery and desolation which has resulted from the "development" of the Tennessee river valley by TVA. Kaub declared. Farmers were "left stuck with as little as 1 1/2 acres of land surrounding their homes which now overlook swamp areas." He showed slides of several small villages which have been reduced to deserted railroad stations, warehouses and church buildings surrounded by muddy water, while the larger towns are now protected by dikes.

"Development" of the Kentucky lake area consisted of destroying the finest farm lands of Tennessee and Kentucky. When the lake was created, more than 230,000 acres of farm land was permanently flooded, making an annual farm loss in production computed at $11,500,000.

Although It May Not Be Love at First Sight Television and the Movies Must Get Married

By BILLY ROSE

You might not think it to look at them, but the two big branches of show business are in heavy trouble — movies and television broadcasting.

The movies, a business with plenty of product, is up against a rapidly shrinking audience, and though some of the companies are still in the black, it's a cinch they won't be when there are 10 million TV sets in 10 million parlors.

The television business, on the other hand, has a rapidly expanding audience but darned little product worth looking at.

are siphoning out of their box offices. Second, on a give-and-take basis, the film companies will be able to run off their trailers in millions of living rooms, and the few tests of this type of advertising indicate that it's plenty potent.

What can Hollywood do for Television? Plenty. A sufficient amount of the right kind of film will solve better than half of its programming problems—and I'm, of course, not referring to the grade-Z vintage stuff which certain stations now run as a last and ludicrous resort.

Is there a solution? Of course, and like all good solutions it's a simple one: Television must marry the movies, or vice versa—and if there are laws on the books which get in the way of these nuptials, then in the public interest the laws will have to be changed.

The advantage of this alliance are many and obvious. First, through the sale or rental to telecasters of film expressly made for the foot-square TV screen, the movies can start recouping some of the money that the home sets

For instance, the best of the short stories of De Maupassant, O. Henry, Ben Hecht, Damon Runyon and Somerset Maugham; ditto, a series of symphonic standbys with Toscanini and Stokowski conducting; double ditto, the inspired antics of Jimmy Durante, Maurice Chevalier and a hundred others in the rhinestoned hodgepodge that makes up show business.

Access to such a stock pile of film classics would, among other things, take the bone-crushing pressure off the TV programmers and allow them to concentrate on a few really good live shows.

And before long, if they use the same that God gave geese, the blending of the real and the real would add up to entertainment which one could watch without raising for the rail. The overall consequence would be that two businesses which give employment to tens of thousands would once and for all climb out of the red and into the pink.

Paramount Pictures, which paid $500,000 for an interest in DuMont some years ago, is angling to sell its holdings for $12,000,000. That would be a nice capital gain, of course, but I wonder if it wouldn't be smarter for Paramount to hold on to this stock and invest a few extra bucks in a film library to make DuMont the first TV network worth a second look.

Who knows—it might be a handy hedge against the time when there are 20 million television sets, and DuMont is considering the purchase of Paramount for $500,000.

EAGER . . . "Sweet time come soon" is theme of thought with this little Ojibway Indian and his squaw, waiting for the season's first tourists at colorful trading post on Lake Temagami, Ontario. Indian children compete with tame bear cubs for tourists' candy.

By William R. Nelson

EVERY column inch of every copy of every issue of this newspaper costs so many cents to produce, regardless of whether it is occupied by editorial matter or advertising.

Strange as it may appear, such is not the case. All recognized newspapers set quotas or percentages for productive and non-productive material, and seldom violate them. It is not uncommon for a newspaper to omit advertising in order to get in more news.

It may sound altruistic to sacrifice revenue and disappoint an advertiser to allow more space for non-productive news matter. It isn't. Although the paper owns all of its space and can use it as it sees fit, it has obligations it will not avoid, for several very sound reasons.

When this newspaper accepts subscriptions it is entering into a contract with readers. An unwritten clause of that contract assures that the issues readers will receive will contain an established amount of news, editorials, features and advertising.

There is another side, too, that the publisher keeps in mind. It is that of costs. To maintain qualified staffs, in both news and advertising departments, is expensive. It is increasingly so if the space each fills each issue fluctuates wildly.

Both "sides", as they are called in most newspaper offices, can occasionally turn out additional pages, by working longer hours. But they cannot do so at frequent intervals. It is to the self-interest of the paper, therefore, to maintain a staff keyed to fairly rigid quotas of news and advertising. Any other merely increases the cost-per-column inch.

Those who submit news, particularly publicity chairmen, should understand and remember this cost-per-inch fact.

And when your club or group can profitably do so, isn't it not only good business but also neighborly to reciprocate the newspaper's numerous gifts of space by placing advertising in it?

LETTERS FOR SPECIAL DELIVERY

Mr. Garry Davis, Citizen of the World Dear Davis:

One-man battler for a warless planet, you are back in America after a hectic crusade in Europe. You are getting jeers and ridicule. But with me you rate something better. As an ex-bombardier who didn't drop anything, hurry back to the old routines and adopt a "What's the use?" attitude you are a stand-out. I don't string with you in renouncing your American citizenship, but even in that step you were motivated by a conviction you could sell your global idea better if you were a citizen of the world. You are a one-man U.N. In your way you are an economy-size East river peace flesh-and-blood skyscraper.

Son of a famous orchestra leader, you could have been a fancy tooter in a world of music and dancing, but you heard different music, saw a different scene, and threatening. There was no singer in your act; just the sobs of mothers, the shrieks of the shell-torn, and the sound of hammers on the posts of wooden crosses. Basically, you are a guy who can't forget, a vet who heard a distant bugle summoning you to a tough task.

You have answered it, not caring if you looked silly. Why the jeering? You flew many bombing missions. You saw the bloodshed and havoc close-up—and it got you. You couldn't wash up and let nature take its usual course. You had to go and get idealism. You not only hitched your discharge papers to a cause, but tied your "for the duration" pledges to the moon and began listening to reveille calls from the rainbow. Is that bad? Not when a guy is so sincere he will pass up a career, a soft life, a cozy home and the old "as-you-were" routines.

You were chased, pummeled and pinched all over France as you sounded off for one world in brotherhood and sanity. It was no fun, and no movie stunt. Not even the newest shots were good. I wrote a book "Private Purkey's Peace" the year the war ended. In it Pfc. Oscar Purkey crashed the peace missions with his buddies, talked turkey to the diplomats and drew up his own blueprint for world peace. In it he demanded:

- 1.—A realization the world cannot exist half man and half rat.
2.—An approach to all problems in the spirit of David and not of Mickey Mouse.
3.—The creation of a world organization that never mistakes a double chin for muscle.

I think Purkey had a swell idea, and not as nutty as some folks think (Hollywood decided the idea was too far-fetched!!!) In my book, Oscar and his pals stirred public imagination and New York gave 'em one of those Broadway parades and everything. I guess I went too far, eh? Anyhow, good luck to a guy who is willing to get crucified for an idea.

Sincerely, H.I.F.

Jamaica, Jamaica, to play a poor hunch; Home again, home again, apples for lunch!

Bushman, Chicago's gorilla, is 22 years old. He is gentle up to the point where somebody looks at him and says, "He is almost human." Gorillas are touchy about these days.

The case of Dolly, the circus elephant executed for one vicious act after years of gentleness, deserves study. Could it be that during the winter she had seen some television crime programs?

Dablyn Crymes, the detective, thinks that mystery submarine off the Pacific coast is easily explained. "Some Hollywood movie producer making sure he wouldn't have to view his own releases," he says.

The federal trade commission charges that several big cigarette makers are making false claims. The commission insists that no one cigarette can keep step in a television parade better than another.

The government is developing a new potato packed with vitamin C. It thinks that with enough vitamins it will be able to destroy a crop faster for the same money.

A Harvard professor, taking the File fellowship chair there, says the department store of tomorrow will take the form of a self-service supermarket, with the customers helping themselves. Detectives in many stores report the trend has gone further than you think.

The U.S. federal trade commission has sued a company for "making the false claim that hair can be grown on a bald head." Does this mean that the Democratic administration has at last found something that can't be done?

Moscow now claims it invented printing 100 years before the Chinese and 400 years before Gutenberg. Inquiry will show that its first printed words were "No," "Warmonger," and "Capitalistic brute."

Will Reimburse Friends if HADACOL Doesn't Help! HADACOL HELPS SUFFERERS OF B VITAMINS AND IRON DEFICIENCIES

Mrs. Belle Wallace, 449 Form-walk St., S. W., Atlanta, Ga., was so nervous that "she could not even thread a needle. At night she could hardly eat anything as she became bloated and her stomach filled with gas."

"I have a good appetite and my stomach does not bloat and fill with gas. I sleep like a log. I have recommended HADACOL to a number of friends and have told them that if it didn't help them, too, I'd pay for it, but I didn't have to pay for any so far. HADACOL has done me more good than anything I have ever taken." So, it matters not who you are . . . it matters not where you live . . . if you have tried all the medicines under the sun. If you suffer a deficiency of B Vitamins and Iron, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered for many years are able to live happy, comfortable lives again. Be fair to yourself and quickly if HADACOL can help you. It has helped others suffering with B Vitamins and Iron deficiencies. Sold on a money-back guarantee. Demand the genuine HADACOL. Accept no substitutes.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

JOHN DEREK rose to Hollywood prominence in "Knock on Any Door," hit the jackpot again in "All the King's Men," and now Columbia thinks his first Technicolor picture, "Rogues of Sherwood Forest," will top both of them. Next comes "The Gaiety Circus." But Derek's rise to stardom was not so sudden as it sounds. A native of Hollywood, son of parents who are actors, he was under contract to both David O. Selznick and 20th Century-Fox before he got his big break when Humphrey Bogart picked him to play the killer in "Knock on Any Door." In 1948 he married Patti Behrs, a film starlet. He is quiet-spoken, serious, works hard at his career.

JOHN DEREK

Broderick Crawford is now busy sending Glenn Ford to jail in "Convicted"; he's a district attorney, later a jail warden. Next he goes into the role of every male in Hollywood wanted, the lead in "Born Yesterday."

"Crime Report" (KMOX, St. Louis) is called by experts the hottest show in the Midwest. Hal Stuart discusses the crime news of his day each night at 10:15; his tough voice and colorful reporting make it a crackling roundup of what's new in the underworld. "I am not a retired police desk sergeant!" says Stuart, but admits having been a private detective.

If you liked "A Letter to Three Wives" wait till you see "Three Husbands." A millionaire bachelor, played by Evelyn Williams, dies leaving letters to three of his best friends—Howard Da Silva, Shepperd Strudwick and Robert Karnes—saying that he's been carrying on romantic liaisons with their wives, who are Eve Arden, Vanessa Brown and Billie Burke.

"Daytime Drama" dresses, named for eight popular radio shows and two heroines, were launched at a Stork club luncheon recently; similar fashion shows will be held across the country. "Right to Happiness" is a crisp plaid sundress. "Anne Malone" a dark rayon sheer. "Big Sister," "The Guiding Light" and "Ma Perkins" were all represented.

John Broderick, "Broadway's one-man riot squad," served as bodyguard for everybody from Jack Dempsey and Queen Marie to President Roosevelt when he was a New York policeman. RKO will show his career in "The Life of John Broderick."

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Warren Hull, CBS "Strike It Rich" emcee, owns a $3,250,000 (Chinese money) necktie, sent him by a contestant; it's worth $10 in our money . . . Gene Autry, Columbia's famous actor-businessman, has not been in Hollywood for more than 30 consecutive days in four years . . . Margaret Sullivan accepted the role of a cancer victim in "No Sad Songs for Me" after several top-line stars turned down the part; she really likes tough assignments.

THE FICTION CORNER AN ANNUAL AFFAIR

By Richard H. Wilkinson

LAST YEAR WE appointed Barney Bridges chairman of our annual fair in Burncrest. Old Jake Fletcher had been chairman for 15 years, and there were those who disapproved of ousting him in favor of young Barney.

Cyrus Gill, the town's leading and richest citizen, voiced the sentiments of the majority. "Jake ran a good enough fair, but Jake's getting old and his ways are out of date. We gotta keep up with the times. Here in Burncrest like everywhere else, Barney Bridges is young and has modern ideas."

This was true enough. Barney promised to zip up the fair. The first thing he planned to do was modernize the horse racing event. Heretofore we'd just had races that were run for the honor of the thing, trotters, with folks making side bets. Barney's idea was to import some famous promoter and make the betting open.

"It's a heck of a lot worse to have a lot of undercover betting going on with no system to it than it will be to have open betting with everyone being given a chance to throw in his dime's worth."

Every one but Jake Fletcher agreed. "The only trouble with that is," he allowed, "this professional promoter jigger you're going to import ain't known to none of us. If he's a slicker, look out!" "Bahaw!" declared Barney tolerantly. "The man I have in mind has been in the business for years. He wouldn't dare try nothin' funny." "Dunno about that," said Jake. "You got to figure that every last man of us is endowed with crim-

I sat in the grandstand and watched the sulks line up. They made a pretty sight. The band was playing, the sun shining and everybody was happy.

Then the race started. Around the track they went, zig of them, Burnside's best, stretching out their necks, in perfect stride. Homing Pigeon led up to the half, then Jasper Bush's horse came abreast of him, then Hector Dryson came abreast of them, then Fergus Cross came abreast of them.

It looked like a neck and neck affair, which struck me as being strange. Then suddenly I stopped yelling and just stared. Coming down the stretch the four lead horses had slowed down . . . and by cripes, 15 yards from the finish tape, they all stopped!

It wasn't until late that night that I got all the details. Dana Easton had bribed Charlie Colewell and Jasper Bush to pull their horses so Hector Dryson could win. Hector was a long shot and would have paid plenty.

But it didn't work that way. Why? Because Jake Fletcher had figured what Dana Easton was up to and had secretly and individually bribed the other four racers to hold in their horses.

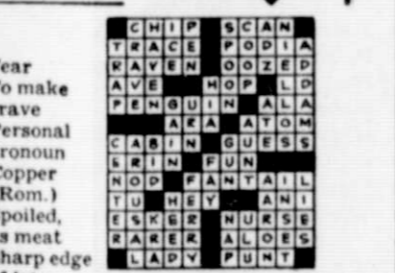

With all six drivers bribed the race simply came to a standstill and nobody finished.

"Which," Jake Fletcher pointed out, "just proves my contention that every man's a crook if he thinks he can get away with it."

nal instincts. Oh, we're honest enough on the surface. That's because we're smart. But you give us a chance to pull a fast one and we'll jump at it—if we're sure we can get away with it."

ANYWAY, Barney imported this chap Dana Easton. Dana Easton had promoted everything from prize fights to steamboat races. When he put the proposition up to him he said he'd sure be glad to promote the horse racing angle of our fair.

The day of the fair arrived and it seemed that most of the money was bet on a mare named Homing Pigeon, driven by Charley Colewell. Charlie had won plenty of races in past years and it looked like he was going to win again.

Controlled Storage Keeps Apples Prime

Regulated Atmosphere System Is Recommended

The answer to whether apples will taste as good in May as they do in September is "yes"—if they are apples from specially constructed controlled-atmosphere storage. That is the opinion of Prof. R.M. Smock, of Cornell university's agricultural experiment station.

More than 100,000 bushels of apples are in 15 such storages in New York state, the first of their kind in the country. "When they come out in April or May or June," Smock says, "the apples are expected to be of prime quality."

It sort of puts the apple to sleep and it never wakens until brought out into store temperature.

Results of 10 years of experiments show that controlled-atmosphere storage will double the ordinary storage life of McIntosh, provided the rooms are properly constructed and operated. Good results also were obtained with Delicious and Northern Spy when the varieties were stored separately.

Sweet Potatoes Make Valuable Farm Crop

Many North Carolina farmers who have never planted sweet potatoes for market should be able to increase their farm income this year through the cultivation and sale of this root crop, according to H. M. Covington, extension horticulture specialist for the state college extension service.

The U.S. department of agriculture has requested farmers to increase their production of sweet potatoes by 12 per cent. Even if such an increase is planted, production would still be about 10 per cent under the 1937-46 annual average.

Farmers who plan to increase their sweet potato acreage this year to have some for sale, should consider market outlets before planting, Covington states.

Automatic Defroster

A household device which automatically defrosts the refrigerator and is a fine electric clock has been put on the market.

The defroster, the company stated, eliminates the housewife's periodic, usually messy defrosting chores which are so often put off until she finds time and a thick, insulating coat of frost has accumulated on the freezing unit.

Automatically, the defroster turns the refrigerator off at 1 a.m. each day, and then, again automatically, switches it back on after the thin skin of frost is removed from the unit.

During the shut-off periods, moisture created by the melting film is circulated through the box.

With the defroster, which is a precision timing instrument, any electric refrigerator, old or new, easily can be made self-defrosting.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Chiang Loses Half of Nationalist China With Fall of Hainan Island; Editors Urged to Join Truth Drive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

NATIONALISTS: Half Remains

Any hope the western world may have had that the march of communism in the Far East had been checked vanished as Chiang Kai-shek ordered the evacuation of Hainan island. Thus, one half of Nationalist China became Communist territory, and the West listened for the first rumors of the invasion of Formosa.

It was an embarrassing defeat for the Nationalists, who, having previously boasted of victories over the invaders, found it necessary to report in the next breath complete defeat.

Observers said the Nationalists simply "counted their chickens" before they hatched, and, that the Hainan command deliberately put out false news to prevent panic and enable prominent leaders to flee the island.

Whatever the cause, General Chiang found himself minus five armies, totaling some 125,000 men, 13,500 square miles of territory, and rich deposits of iron ore, coal and petroleum.

MOST surprising angle in the Nationalist's defeat, in the eyes of western military men, was the comparatively small number of Communist invaders, estimated at 10,000 to 15,000 men. Chiang's armies outnumbered them almost 10 to 1.

Speculation was a immediately rampant on possible exaggerated Formosa defenses. Further, in some quarters, the fall of Hainan was called the beginning of the end of Nationalist China.

EDITORS: Truth Campaign

Editors of the nation—little and big—have been asked to join the greatest campaign in the world today—"campaign of truth."

President Truman, speaking before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said we must make ourselves known as we really are—not as Communist propaganda pictures us. We must pool our efforts with those of the other free peoples in a sustained, intensified program to promote the cause of freedom against the propaganda of slavery.

Then the President told the editors something they already knew, but no doubt liked to hear: "There is too much nonsense about striped trousers in foreign affairs. Far more influence is exerted by the baggy pants of the managing editor."

The editors, in general, were inclined to agree. Although the individual policy of their newspapers might or might not be pro-administration, it was high time the United States counteracted Communist propaganda with truth.

In a nutshell the President argued Soviet propaganda constantly reviles the United States. The big problem is to tell the peoples of the world exactly what Americans are like.

At home the editors are the all-important bridge between the American people and world affairs by informing them "well and completely." The President added.

HOSPITALS: 16,000 Beds

The house of representatives voted $279,000,000 for veterans' hospitals and a $1,000,000 coast guard reserve training project.

The vote was startling in two respects: (1) The house passed the bill with a record vote; and (2) the congressional "economy drive" which has prevailed in Washington during the past year got a sudden jolt which was not unexpected.

As passed by the house, the bill directs the Veterans' administration to proceed with construction of 16,000 additional hospital beds for war veterans.

With veterans of two world wars demanding and needing increasing hospital aid, congressmen agreed to the need, but shook their heads at the idea of tying a knot in the economy trend becoming more popular as a presidential election year nears.

It took no longer, incidentally, to pass the million dollars for the coast guard than it did to enact the hospital bill. That, some observers point out, would indicate that perhaps the congressmen have not entirely forgotten their economy drive.

HOUSING: Urge Rent Control

Undoubtedly the most unpopular move of the administration since World War II has been the continuation of rent controls. Now, several officials have urged extension of rent controls beyond their scheduled end June 30.

For all their yelping, and, although President Truman has called for a year's extension, there is a general feeling that this time the congress will let the law lapse.

Testifying before a senate banking committee, Chester A. Bowles, former O.P.A. administrator said: "It will be a very real disaster if rent controls come off at this time." He added, it would be "dangerous to the stability of our entire economy."

Added to Bowles, Housing Expediter Tighe E. Wood told the committee that extension of rent control was necessary because "in the face of our present acute housing shortage there would be an intolerable rise in rents if controls were removed June 30."

Secret Witness

Louis F. Budenz, admitted ex-Communist and sometimes called Sen. Joseph McCarthy's secret witness, testified before senate loyalists that Owen Lattimore, Far East expert, was a member of a "Communist cell" in the Institute of Pacific Relations. Next move is up to Mr. Lattimore.

BOMBS AWAY: Russia Watches

The United States air force display of air power, punctuated with the explosion of heavy demolition bombs, jet planes, rockets and flaming oil bombs, was a big success for the 1,500 spectators, including prominent business and civic leaders and Harry S. Truman.

It was being watched in other quarters, too, and the administration made no secret of its hope that those quarters would be duly impressed. In fact, the government hoped the explosions at Fort Benning, Ga., would be heard across the Atlantic at the moment when Russian and American relations were at their lowest point.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Acheson, who recently has ceased pulling his punches, along with other high government officials, hoped the display would warn the Soviet Union that the United States was prepared.

To demonstrate his hope, he said a few days later: "... the country must be strong, with defenses organized wisely and prudently, and with all possible resources, for protecting the area in which this freedom abounds."

Of the bursting bombs and mighty guns Mr. Truman said nothing when asked what impressed him most.

DECORATIONS: War or Peace

From action of the United States senate some wondered if this country was at war or peace as that high body decorated 10 airmen who lost their lives in the Baltic, presumably shot down by Russian fighters.

To spectators who gazed down upon the senate floor it was obvious the senators were in no mood to dally, but filled with a fury that had not been experienced since a declaration of war against Japan.

With such denunciations as "criminal" and "barbarous" and demands that steps be taken to prevent another such occurrence, the senators voted praise and decorations for the airmen.

Numerous foreign affairs experts took special note of the state department's protest to Russia, which said in part:

"The cause of peace is not furthered when the U.S.S.R. ostentatiously decorates Soviet airmen in a manner calculated to give the impression that they are being rewarded for shooting down a defenseless American plane."

AIR FORCE: Chief Retires

The first Secretary of Air under President Truman's unification policy, W. Stuart Symington, has retired. And, as he departed, he said the Air Force fighting value has been cut.

He declared the Air Force combat effectiveness had declined in the last six months because of a reduction in number but its efficiency had increased.

"There is a tendency to mix up those two words—effectiveness and efficiency—and some misunderstanding has resulted," he added.

He had another view to express, also. He was convinced that a seventy-group Air Force was necessary. One could not overlook, however, the importance of economy "since the nation can be defeated by economic disaster."

For that reason he had supported President Truman's forty-eight group program.

He had one parting observation on economy: He did not see how a balanced budget could be achieved with world conditions in the state they were now.

WATER: New York Dry

New York city, fighting a water famine for some months, is not encouraged in its fight. The city's reservoirs increased in the number of gallons, but consumption has climbed alarmingly for some time.

City water department officials said there was little likelihood that the up-state reservoirs would reach 100 per cent capacity before June 1.

POLITICS: Truman Tour

President Truman isn't giving his rivals a chance to cut down the Democratic majorities in both houses, most observers believed, as he planned what he called a "nonpolitical" swing through the West.

The "nonpolitical" tag that has been hung on the Truman tour has no one fooled. It is, no doubt, the official campaign and will have a great bearing on the 1952 presidential election.

Observers are inclined to agree that five key objectives are in the back of the Democratic strategy:

1. In 1948 the Democrats swept to unexpected victory because of Truman's popularity. They don't want that popularity slowed down.
2. Visit and talk to the mid-Western farmers and thus extend the party's hold upon them.
3. Find candidates who, if elected, will back the Truman administration. This is felt necessary to offset the revolting Southerners.
4. Rescue and revenge enter into the tour in that an attempt will be made to save some party faithfuls and to punish a few enemies.
5. To bring about some discipline within the party itself in an effort to put on a united front.

PALESTINE: Arabs Unite

Where there had once been strife among the Arabs of Palestine, now there is unity with the announcement that Arab Palestine and Trans-Jordan have united into a single kingdom.

The unity creates the Kingdom of Hashemite Jordan at whose head reigns King Abdullah Ibn El Hussein on a basis of constitutional representative government, the announcement stated.

The unification notice was sent to the Arab states and was received in Israel without too much comment since Israel had an armistice agreement with the new kingdom.

However, Israel was not prepared to accept the annexation. Observers agreed that the move might prejudice future talks when all points concerning the ultimate peace are discussed.

GREAT WRITINGS: Bible Not Included

Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago announced the collection of the greatest writing of Western civilization in a 34-volume, $1,750,000 work, but the Bible was not included.

At first readers were shocked that the greatest work of literature in the history of man was not included, but were quickly relieved by Hutchins' reason.

The Bible, he explained, was not included because it already is universally available and almost universally owned.

The collection includes 443 works by 74 authors and was said to include the works acclaimed "indispensable to the liberal education of a free man in the 20th Century."

The first limited printing of 1,000 sets had been scheduled for that many patrons at $500 each.

COINS: 7 Billion

On October 9, 1792, with an audience that read like the social register, the first coins in the United States Mint were struck.

Present at that historical moment were George and Martha Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, and Thomas Jefferson. Since then seven billion have been minted.

Since that day 157 years ago, 31,141,346,843 pieces of money have been struck off, with a total value of $7,131,813,414.41.

Shorn Beauty

You wouldn't know it at first glance, but this is lovely Rosalie Bruce wearing the "lend-lease" head of hair provided by a Hollywood make-up artist. Rosalie's jealous husband, Edward L. Bruce, shaved off her waist-length tresses to keep other men from admiring her. She's a redhead.

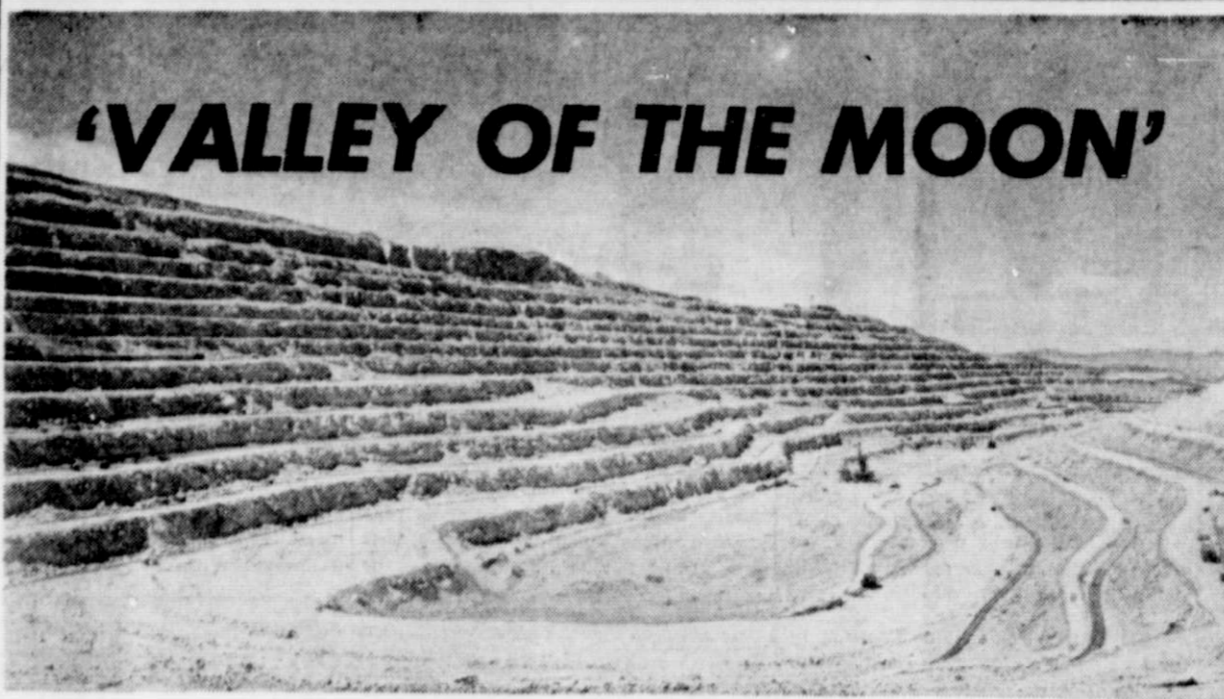

Unworthy

Catholic circles continue to buzz with speculation caused by the sensation of Monsignor Franz Jachym refusing in front of the altar at Vienna's famous St. Stephen's church to be ordained as a Roman Catholic bishop.

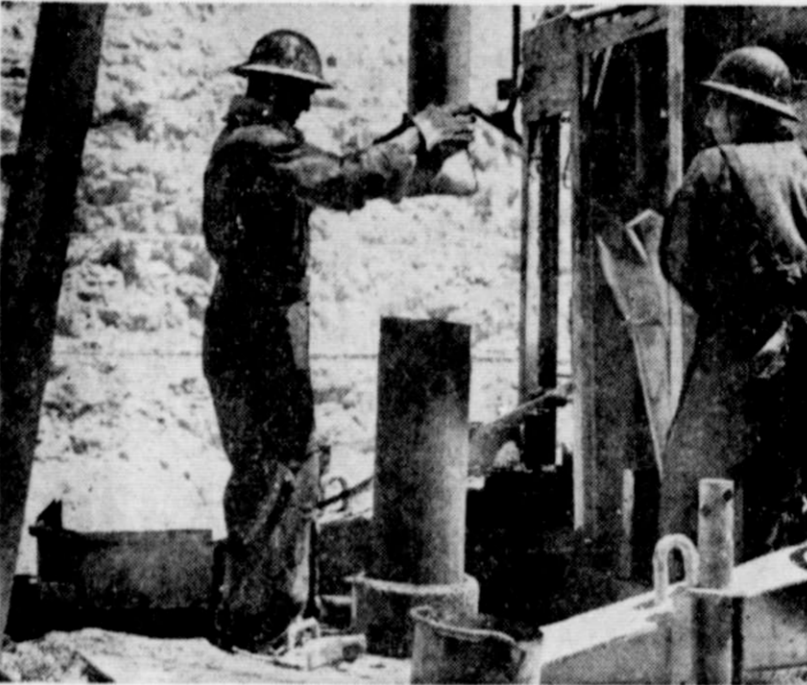

He abruptly declined saying he felt himself "unworthy" of the office. Such a thing had never happened before in the history of the Catholic church.

As thousands of church officials and spectators watched the ceremony, Monsignor Jachym was led to the altar, already dressed in a bishop's robe. Abruptly he declined the oath, rejecting the ordination at the last moment.

Theodor Cardinal Inzinger said he was at "an absolute loss for an explanation." Other church officials attributed it to an over-wrought condition. Dr. Jachym left the cathedral by automobile and went into seclusion at the convent of the Barmherzigen Brothers in Vienna.

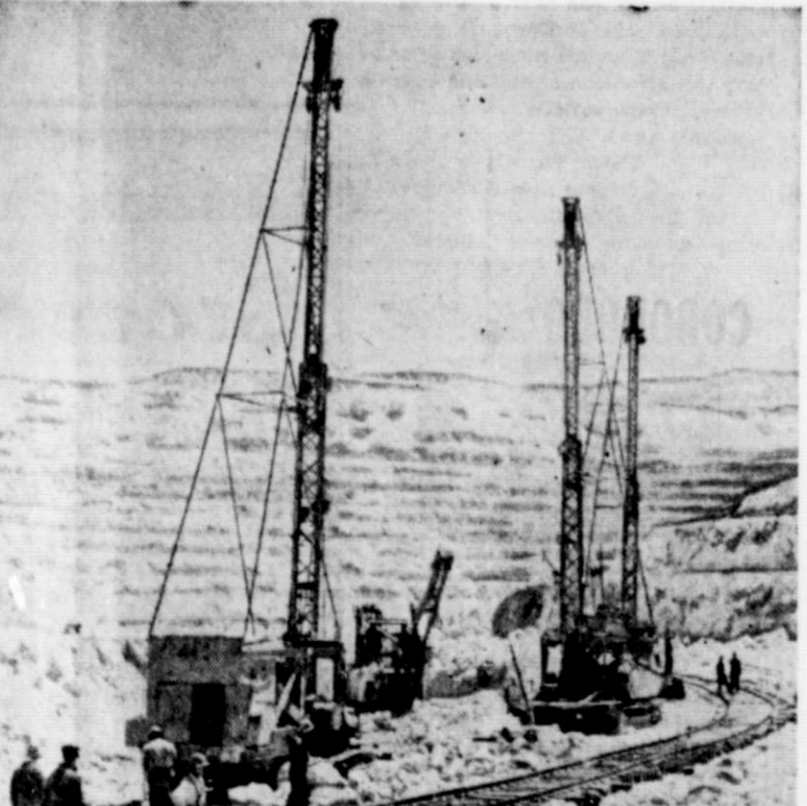

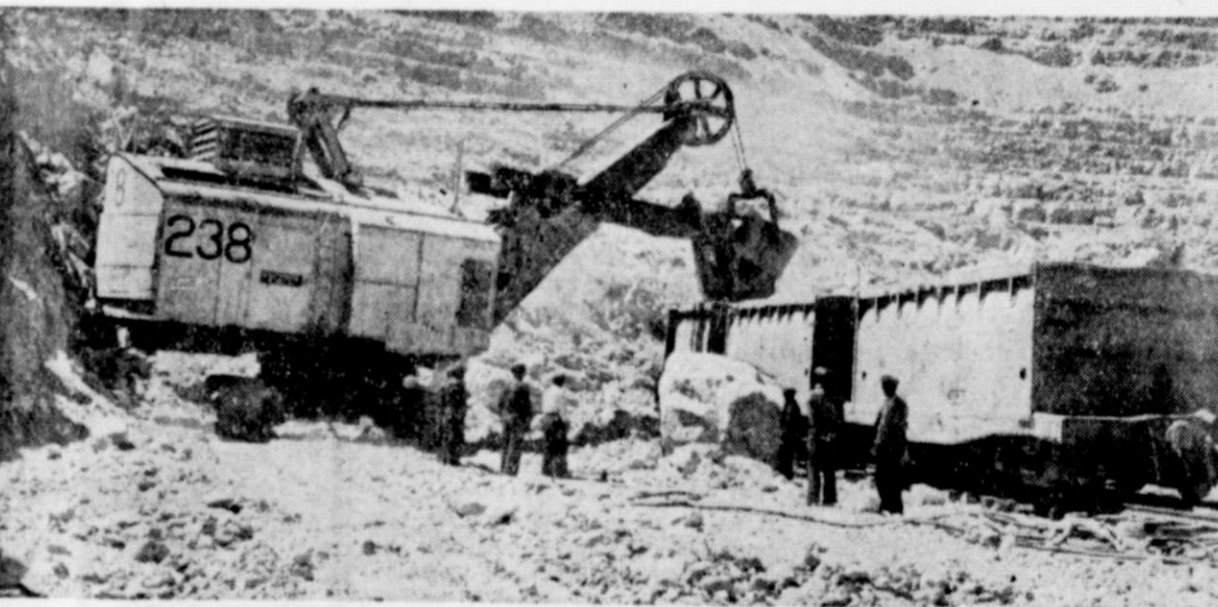

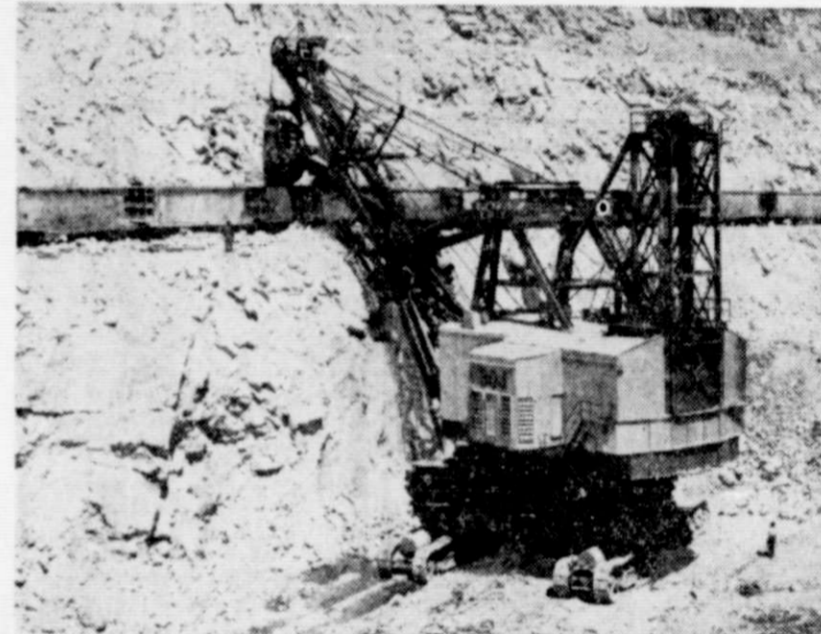

'VALLEY OF THE MOON'

Here are first pictures of Chile's "Valley of the Moon"—amazing mineral frontier containing the world's richest reserves of copper, iron, sulphate, nitrate and other treasures. The enormous potential of this area will open new opportunities under President Truman's "Point Four" program. Copper is Chile's number one business, a 100-million-dollar-a-year industry. Here (above) is a general view of the Chuquibambuta copper mine, containing the world's largest known deposit of copper ore. A worker (left) directs the head of a churn drill into the shaft to continue drilling for blasting holes.

weekly Picture story

At the bottom of the mine, 750 feet down, this huge electrically operated shovel (right) loads tons of ore on a higher bench level. Note size of man in foreground for comparison. Huge shovels (below) move into a blasted area and begin to load the copper ore cars. Chile gets 70 per cent of its U.S. dollar income from the copper industry.

Three-churn drills (left) make blasting holes to bring down the copper ore. Portable rail tracks are held for ore car loading. In 35 years of working this mine, an entire mountain was cut away, and a hole 1 1/2 miles long by 1/2 mile wide by 750 feet deep is the result. It's an open pit copper mine, and over 80 miles of railroad track run along its terraces to the bottom of the pit. About 18,000 men were used to cut down the mountain, and, at peak production, 7,500 workers are now employed. From 550 million tons of earth removed, copper ore has averaged 1.86 per cent. Exploration has covered less than 3 per cent of the area where the "Valley of the Moon" is located—and the world of industry awaits what further exploration will reveal.

Inside the shipping department (right), stockpiles of copper refinery shapes, in bars and billets, are stored for shipment to refineries all over the world. The copper industry claims that its economic effect on Chile prevents that nation's becoming a fertile breeding ground for communism.

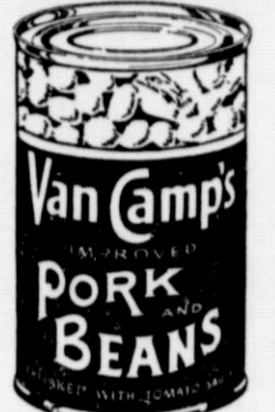

Gems of Thought

Wouldn't it have been nice if nature had arranged for human beings to be tadpoles for the first four years of life so they wouldn't be forever pestering their parents for a drink of water during those years?

No one ever forgets a kind act when he performs it himself.

'Nearness' Is Factor in Love

Does a chronic liar try to deceive himself?

Answer: On the whole, yes, reports Dr. John S. Ellsworth, Jr., in the American Sociological Review. Study of the marriage licenses in a small town and in a medium-sized and a large city showed that the nearer a young man and woman live to each other, the greater the chance that they will fall in love and marry.

fast-moving civilization." We can't solve our children's problems in advance by teaching them a few simple rules, as Grandma did, because we cannot foresee what the problems will be. Children must be trained to independence and adaptability to fit them for an unknown future.

Are there people who should never drink?

Answer: There are people for whom drinking is particularly dangerous, and one way to tell whether you are one of them is by how much "change of personality" liquor produces in you. The greater the mass of repressed feelings which you can release only when you've had a few drinks, the more probable it is that drinking so as to be able to release them will develop into a compulsion which you cannot control.

Did grandma know how to raise children?

Answer: She did her best, says Dr. Leona Baumgartner of the United States Children's Bureau, but "What our grandparents learned about child-rearing on a trial-and-error basis and passed on to today's parents is almost obsolete in this highly mechanized,

CHILDREN AT WORK

Teen-Agers Preparing for Work Must Consider Child Labor Laws

By Wm. R. McComb, Administrator

Wage and Hour and Public Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor

First of Two Articles

With the closing of the nation's schools, thousands of teen-age youngsters will soon look forward to taking home pay checks instead of report cards.

Many of them will be seeking vacation jobs to help out with the grocery bills at home, many will be working for spending money, and some will be earning money for a college education.

Because of their enthusiasm and because of their desire to "grow up," John and Bill and Mary and Jane are often careless in selecting the jobs they take and in performing on these jobs once they are on the pay roll. These are two of the reasons that the congress of the United States and many state legislatures have enacted laws for the protection of these future citizens.

Although experience shows the need for protective statutes for working children, these laws, of course, do not prevent youngsters from taking many kinds of jobs. They do, however, provide necessary safeguards by setting age standards for certain types of work.

States Have Own Laws Since I am charged with the enforcement of two federal laws which set standards for the employment of children, I shall discuss these laws in some detail. But first I should like to emphasize that every state has its own child labor laws, and that in any given state the statute—state or federal—which sets the higher standard prevails.

The two federal laws which it is my duty to enforce are the Fair Labor Standards act and the Public Contracts act, which applies to federal government supply contracts, prohibits the employment of boys under 16 and girls under 18 in the performance of any contract subject to its provision. This law has been in effect since 1936.

The Fair Labor Standards act, which is much broader in scope, was enacted in 1938. This act—better known as the Federal Wage and Hour law—was further strengthened by the 81st congress through amendments which went into effect on January 25 of this year.

Before these amendments became effective, the child-labor provisions of this law merely prohibited the shipment or delivery for shipment in interstate commerce of goods produced in an establishment in or about which "oppressive child labor" was employed within 30 days before removal of the goods. In other words, before January 25, an employer could have escaped application of the child-labor provisions by holding the goods in his establishment for 30 days after he had stopped employing oppressive child labor.

The 81st congress took another step along the road to full protection of the nation's children by directly prohibiting the employment of oppressive child labor in the production of goods for commerce, and it went even further by making it illegal to employ oppressive child labor in interstate commerce itself, such as in the communication and transportation industries.

'Oppressive' Child Labor

Now, what do we mean by "oppressive child labor"? It is the employment of boys and girls under the minimum ages set for various kinds of jobs. For example, under the Fair Labor Standards act the minimum age for most jobs in interstate commerce itself in the production of goods for commerce is 16. For occupations declared by the secretary of labor to be hazardous, the minimum age is 18. Fourteen- and 15-year-olds may be employed in a few jobs but only when certain rigid conditions are met. Children under 14 may not be employed in any work which is within the coverage of the law and not specifically exempt.

Sixteen years is the minimum age for any of the following occupations (except where they are hazardous):

- 1. Manufacturing, mining or processing occupations;
2. Public messenger service;
3. Operation or tending of any power-driven machinery other than office machines;
4. Occupations (except office and sales work) in connection with:
(a) Transportation of persons or property by rail, highway, air, water, pipe line, or other means;
(b) Warehousing or storage;
(c) Communications and public utilities;
(d) Construction (including demolition and repair).

(Permissible office and sales work must not be performed on trains or any other media of transportation or at the actual site of construction operations.)

For some of these jobs the minimum age of 16 applied before January 25, but many of them were brought under the act by the amendments which became effective January 25.

Need Is Apparent

Department of labor files show action. There is the story of a 15-year-old boy who was employed on a highway construction job. It was his duty to fill lanterns. He became a flaming torch and suffered third-degree burns when he upset a kerosene can.

Another 15-year-old lost his life when he fell overboard as he worked as a deck hand on a river boat.

Another, only 14, employed as a helper by a trucking and transfer company, was crushed to death in an elevator accident.

Still another, only 15 years old, employed as a loader by a company transporting slate and slate products, severely cut his hand and broke the cord in a finger, when a pile of flagging fell on him.

Under the amended act and its regulations, it is now illegal for youngsters of these ages to be employed in such jobs as I have just described. Many state child-labor laws, complementing and supplementing federal laws, already prohibited such employment. It should be remembered also that state labor laws deal with aspects of regulations which differ from that under federal laws (do not control), such as the prohibition of night work for minors 16 and 17 years old.

Under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 14- and 15-year-olds may not, as a general rule, be employed in the jobs I have mentioned above.

In the first place, 14- and 15-year-old children may be employed only outside of school hours and then only under the following specified conditions of work:

Frank Schoen, 18, feeds a circular saw in the University of South Dakota shops. Duane Johnson, 17, assists. Under the Fair Labor Standards act, both boys are engaged in occupations declared to be hazardous for young workers. Thus, Schoen would be legally employed but Johnson would not, since the minimum age for such employment is 18 years.

transportation or at the actual site of construction operations.)

For some of these jobs the minimum age of 16 applied before January 25, but many of them were brought under the act by the amendments which became effective January 25.

(2) Maximum of 18 hours in any week during any part of which school is in session, and 40 hours in other weeks.
(3) All work must be performed between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m.

There is one part of the regulations applying to those 14- and 15-year-olds who are covered by the law and not exempt which I should like to emphasize. That is the provision of the regulations which forbids a 14- or 15-year-old to work in a manufacturing or processing workshop or workplace at any time, even after all activity for the day has ceased.

There are some exemptions from the child-labor provisions. Most of them were included in the original act. Some have been added or changed by the amendment effective January 25.

The child-labor provisions of the act do not apply to the employment of children in agriculture outside of school hours for the school district where such employees are living while they are employed.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Meat and Cheese Provide Many Substantial Entrees For Those Special Meals

"WHEN I WANT to serve something substantial but not too heavy for luncheon, I run out of ideas," says a homemaker who likes to do a lot of entertaining. There are many such dishes as this busy hostess requests. They may not be substantial enough to serve a hard working husband, but they are just the ideal entree or main dish for a special luncheon. They are all designed to look pretty on a platter, especially when you add a small serving of vegetable to make the main part of the menu complete.

SERVINGS should be kept average rather than large since these recipes contain meat or cheese and are really quite substantial for a luncheon. With them, plan to have a light salad or a combination fruit salad and dessert.

Sweetbreads a la King (Serves 6-8)

- 1 pound sweetbreads
1 quart water
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/2 cup diced celery
2 chopped green peppers
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 slices toast

Wash sweetbreads and simmer 20 minutes in water, to which vinegar and salt have been added. Drain and separate into small pieces. Make a white sauce by melting butter, stirring in flour, adding milk and cooking until thickened. Add celery, green peppers, onion, pimiento, salt and pepper. Add pieces of sweetbreads and heat thoroughly. Serve on toast.

Liver Rolls with Sausage Stuffing (Serves 6)

- 6 large slices liver
6 to 8 links cooked pork sausage
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 small onion, grated
1/2 cup hot water
Salt
Pepper
6 slices bacon

Pour hot water over the liver slices. Sausage left over from breakfast may be cut into pieces for sausage stuffing. If no cooked sausage is on hand, brown and partially cook the sausage first. Combine with bread crumbs. Season with grated onion, salt and pepper and moisten with hot water. Place 1 teaspoonful of bread dressing on each of the scalded liver slices. Roll and wrap a slice of bacon around the outside. Fasten the ends with toothpicks. Place in a baking dish. Add one-half cup hot water, cover and cook slowly in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Remove the cover during the last 15 minutes in order to brown the bacon.

Potted Beef Steaks (Serves 6)

- 6 steaks cut from round or chuck
Flour for dredging
Fat for browning
1 large onion, sliced

Put steaks in a refrigerator pan, line the pan with waxed paper. When firm, the mouse may be removed simply by lifting out the paper. To restore sweetness to old vegetables, sprinkle a little sugar into the water in which they are cooked. Vegetable stains can often be removed from the hands by rubbing a slice of lemon over them. To avoid wrinkled skins on baked apples, slit the apple in a few places before baking. Limes are highly perishable and too many should not be purchased at one time. Keep those you have in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator. Don't burn your hands when removing pans from the oven. Use a pair of tongs for lighter pans, or a pair of padded mittens for heavy pans like roasters. Remove odors from jars and bottles by pouring in a solution of water and dry mustard. Let stand for several hours, then rinse in hot water and dry thoroughly.

Roll out 3/4 of dough into rectangle 8 x 12 inches and 1/4 inch thick. Spread with butter. Combine eggs, spinach, salt and pepper. Spread evenly over dough. Roll like jelly roll and place in greased loaf pan, 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 inches. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°) 25 to 30 minutes. Roll out remaining dough 1/4 inch thick. Cut into strips five inches long and one inch wide. Twist. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderately hot oven (400°) 10 to 12 minutes.

These Kitchen Hints Save Time and Tempers

To keep bacon from curling while it is cooking, snip the edges with shears. Curling can also be prevented if the bacon is broiled between racks. To keep the bones on a crown roast from burning, place the roast in a pan with the bones down, or spear their ends with pieces of fat. To make fish firm and white, add a dash of lemon juice to the water in which it's boiled. To prepare a quick French dressing, heat one cup of vinegar with one peeled crushed clove of garlic. Strain, and add salt, pepper and dry mustard. Refrigerate and use as needed. If you use a quantity of white sauce, make a quart at a time and store it in a glass jar in the refrigerator. Use as needed. To prevent foat from becoming soggy, when used as a base for poached eggs, use a slotted pancake turner for removing egg from water, and let water drain from egg before placing on toast.

When freezing a parfait or a Lousse mixture in a refrigerator pan, line the pan with waxed paper. When firm, the mouse may be removed simply by lifting out the paper. To restore sweetness to old vegetables, sprinkle a little sugar into the water in which they are cooked. Vegetable stains can often be removed from the hands by rubbing a slice of lemon over them. To avoid wrinkled skins on baked apples, slit the apple in a few places before baking. Limes are highly perishable and too many should not be purchased at one time. Keep those you have in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator. Don't burn your hands when removing pans from the oven. More About Back Pain and Sciatica

By Dr. James W. Barton

THERE ARE MANY thousands of men and women suffering with severe low back pain who could be relieved of pain and disability by use of a supporting brace, and in severe cases by operation.

While most cases of low back pain and sciatica are caused by infection and can be relieved by removal of this infection, there are a great number of people, who have hurt their back by a fall, misstep, or a heavy lift.

It is in these cases, caused by injury, that physicians and surgeons are finding the cause to be a "herniated" or crushed disk, the cushion between the bones of the spinal column.

I write about this crushed disk often, because so many are suffering from this low back pain and intense sciatica, taking treatment for rheumatism when the removal of this crushed disk could give immediate relief from pain, and enable the patient to recover his strength of nerves and muscles. In the "Journal of Surgery," Stockholm, Dr. S. Lindgren reports 500 cases of ruptured intervertebral disks, in all except six of which he performed the operation of removing the disk. He states that the usual or typical case begins with lower back pain, often with sciatica.

In an effort to "lift or remove the pressure of the ruptured disk pressing on nerves or region," the patient unconsciously "straightens" or lifts his back which straightens out the curve in small of back. In practically all cases it is the disks (fourth and fifth lumbar) at the lower end of the spinal column that have been crushed.

There was usually a prompt disappearance of the symptoms after operation, and nearly 90 per cent of the patients could be discharged from hospital within three weeks. "Eighty-one per cent of the patients regarded the operation as beneficial and an additional 16 per cent as somewhat beneficial."

HEALTH NOTES

By use of adrenal extract and the new wonder drug, cortisone, obtained from adrenal glands, good results in treating alcoholism have been obtained by research workers.

Eating nourishing but light meals and resting a few minutes after eating is an important part of treating heart disease.

Despite removal of tonsils and adenoids, some children still suffer with head colds, pain in ears, head noises and different degrees of loss of hearing.

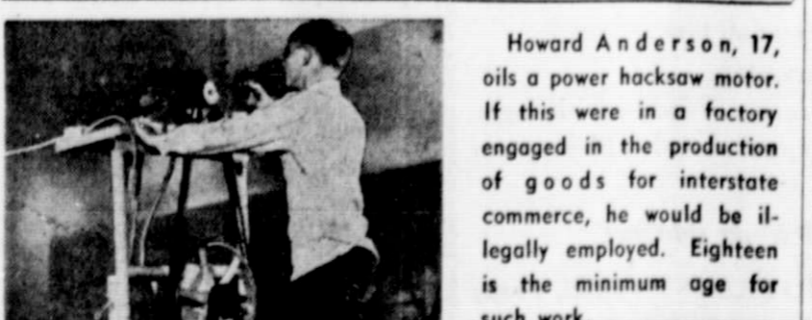

Rheumatic diseases have been divided into rheumatic fever, arthritis and forms of rheumatism not connected with the joints.

While the ideal method of reducing weight is exercise, there is always the fact that exercise increases appetite.

Youthful Curiosity Leads to Tragedy

Young workers, intrigued by interesting-looking gadgets and complicated machines, have a natural curiosity to learn what makes such gadgets and machines work. They tend to experiment, often with tragic consequences.

It is important for parents, employers and their prospective young workers to know that a 14- or 15-year-old child may not be employed to sweep out a manufacturing workshop or to go through it at any time in performing the duties of his occupation, whether or not there is any activity going on in that room.

Howard Anderson, 17, oils a power hacksaw motor. If this were in a factory engaged in the production of goods for interstate commerce, he would be illegally employed. Eighteen is the minimum age for such work.

WOW! WHAT A WIND

Hi folks! I'm back on the job and mighty sorry if some of you were kept waiting for service. The weather man really played us dirt and knocked out some of the electric lines. However, the gang of the electric company worked mighty hard through trying weather conditions to make the repairs necessary for me to get back on the job.

The lines are all set again and I'm "Reddy" to go. Thanks for waiting.
