WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS-Cold War Flames Into Hot War On Korea Front; U.N. Condemns Invasion by Communist Forces

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newsmanner Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) War Scene

KOREA:

A Hot War

The cold war, which has caused one crisis after another in recent months, had flamed into a hot war on one front. Soviet sponsored armies of North Korea invaded South Korea, established by the United Nations with the blessing and aid of the United States.

First reports of the attack were confused. It was known, however, that the invaders advanced as much as 12 miles into South Korea by using ground forces totaling as many as 40,000 men, plus 90 tanks. An additional 10,000 men were believed ready to reinforce the invaders.

Some reports indicated the invaders had penetrated within 12 miles of Seoul, capital of South Korea, while others said the northerners had been checked almost immediately. There were reports also of amphibious landing on the east coast of South Korea.

The main attack was directed along the Uijongbu valley, for cen-turies the path of invaders. Maj. Gen Choi Byung Kud, chief of staff of the South Korea army, reported. Sihn Sung Mo, acting Premier and defense minister, said he had evidence that of northern tanks captured in the first attack, half of the crews were Russian. Minister Kim Yong Ju was in Tokyo when the attack was launched.

Meanwhile, the United States began the evacuation of 600 Americans from the Seoul area. They were leaving Korea by sea with U.S. air protection. The evacuation plan was completed only a week before the sneak attack.

According to American military men who have been directing the training of the South Korea army, the defenders have 95,000 men to battle the invaders. They will be handicapped, however, by the lack of an air force and tanks.

North Korea is reported to have 106 military planes, including 70 Russian Yaks and 25 Stormoviks.

FARM SUPPORTS:

Senate Approves

After a hot floor debate, the senate completed congressional action and sent to President Truman a bill to give the Commodity Credit Corporation an additional $2,000,-000,000 to finance its federal farmprice-support programs. The President was expected to sign the measure.

The debate developed over a provision in the bill which would shut the door on imported foreign farm crops if they threatened to upset the domestic farm-support program.

The provision was included in

UNITED NATIONS: North Korea Guilty

The United Nations, in an emergency session shortly after the attack by Communist domsneak inated North Korea on South Korea, branded the north the aggressor and ordered an immediate cease-fire throughout Korea. The Soviet Union was conspicuous by the absence of its delegates from the emergency session. Acting swiftly and bluntly, the U.N. termed the assault an "unprovoked attack" and a "clear threat to international peace and security The resolution called for imme-liate cease-fire and implicated that the U.N. would move to take stronger measures if North Korea flouted the council.

Meanwhile, reaction in the United States was immediate and to the point. President Truman cut short visit to Missouri and returned to Washington. A conference was called between top diplomatic and defense chiefs.

The problem they faced was a critical one. The situation demanded a clear and strong reaction since too much was at stake in terms of American prestige in the Far East As a result, a "critical amount" of arms aid was said to have been started to Korea immediately. It was also reported General Mac-Arthur had been authorized to draw on stocks of equipment available in Japan rather than let Korea wait for shipments to be put together in the United States. Many American observers saw the attack on South Korea as a Soviet test of U.S. reaction toward aggression. They did not believe, however, that the Communists are constitutional vote to break a 35-35 ready for any military aggression on a broad international scale. It was recalled by many that World War II started with acts of aggression against minor powers and not from declarations of war. With this view in mind, the question arose whether the North Korea attack is an early test of physical and moral strength of the democrat-

It has been a number of years since the press of this country has raised a united howl on any one subject. A new note was evident, however, shortly after the invasion of South Korea by Communist sponsored North Korea.

The day following the attack every leading newspaper in the United States carried editorials on the subject. It seemed a spontaneous and combined effort of the editors to focus public attention on the seriousness of the Korean situation and its possible repercus-

In general the editors seem to agree that the United States and the United Nations must act on Korea. A few of the opinions:

New York Times: War in Korea will, in the immediate future, force upon the United States the necessity for a decisive and unequivocal policy in respect to Asia. Portland, Ore., Journal: America has no other choice than to move necessary force to save South Korea from the rape of the Communists. Denver Post: If this aggression is not stopped, the U.N. has but one choice. It must authorize its mem ber nations to supply a strong force of men and arms, and must step in to stop the Korean war. If it does not do this, if it fails to respond to this desperate situation, then the U.N. is doomed to go the way of the League of Nations. If the Russians are not made to back down in this instance, we must arm to the teeth.

RELIGION: Once in 2,000 Years

In a ceremony without precedent in the nearly 2,000 years of Catholic history, a mother witnessed the canonization of her child.

Maria Goretti, who died at 11 defending her virtue, was raised to sainthood before half a million Roman Catholic faithful.

The ceremony was unusual in many respects. Never before had there been an open-air sanctification ceremony in Rome. In a place of special honor near the Pope's throne sat the saint's 86year-old mother. With her were two sons and two daughters. One of the sons, Angelo, lives in New Village, N. J.

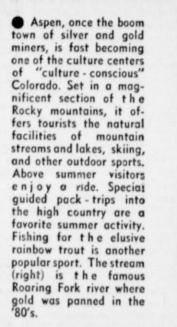

The country youth who stabbed the child to death in 1902 when she would not submit to him, now 68 years old, lives in a monastery, aunted by visions of his victim. He was not at the ceremony, but was reported "in prayer more in-tense than ever." The ceremony was one of the highlights of holy year. Thousands have flocked to Rome in recent months in observance of the religious celebration

STOCK MARKET: War Jitters

Evidently suffering a case of war jitters, the New York stock exchange experienced one of its worst slumps in a number of years shortly after the opening of the present rean conf Trading involved 3,910,000 shares, the largest volume in 10 years. Some $4,000,000,000 was cut from the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange. The trading was a clear indication of Wall street thinking. Tin and rubber, the principle Far East commodities, advanced in the spot market. The buyers also flocked to the commodity pits, sending most grains, foodstuffs and raw materials soaring.

PLANE CRASH: Worst in History

The worst commercial airline ragedy in the nation's history took place in Lake Michigan of St. loseph, Mich., when a Northwest Airlines plane plunged into the lake during a severe thunderstorm with 55 passengers and three crew members aboard.

Two days after the giant craft disappeared, parts of the plane, a section of an airplane log book, and parts of two bodies were dragged rom the lake.

The plane, filled to capacity, vanshed on a flight from New York to Seattle by way of Minneapolis. St. Joseph is about 110 miles southeast of Milwaukee on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan.

Teachers

The nationwide shortage of teachers and classrooms is going to get worse unless something "drastic" is done. Willard E. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education association reports.

In his annual report, Givens estimated school population in the next decade will increase almost 7.500,-000, from 26,635,000 to 34,091,000. He said 750,000 more teachers will be needed.

The association's report said the crease in national birthrate-from 17 babies for each 1,000 population in 1933 to 27 per 1,000 in 1947-is only partially to blame for the overized classes and part time school sessions in many schools.

Other important factors include population shifts, lengthened school terms, the increased holding power of schools, abolition of child labor, and the enforcement of compulsory attendance.

One present need is higher salaries for teachers, the report said.

Bonds followed stock in the plunge, rails taking the sharpest fall in more than 21/2 years in one of the largest volumes traded this year.

The last big break in the market was the day after Labor Day, 1946, when approximately $4,700,000,000 was whittled from the listed market value of stocks on the exchange.

LIVING COSTS: Take Big Jump

The cost of living is still below year ago, but led by meat prices, the consumer's price index took an increase of eight-tenths of 1 per cent between April 15 and May 15. It was the highest jump of any month in almost two years.

Food prices went up 1.9 per cent between April and May, and were responsible for the sudden rise in the cost of living index throughout the nation.

The index was 26.5 per cent higher than in June, 1946, when OPA controls were abandoned, and 71 per cent above the level of August, 1939 the month before war broke out in Europe.

There were small increases in rents and miscellaneous goods and services. Electricity and refriger ation prices dropped, as did house furnishings and apparel prices. Food prices advanced from 3 to 3.6 per cent in Chicago, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Cedar Rapids, Omahr and Springfield, Ill.

Because Uncle Sam is spending several billion dollars more each year than he collects through his various tax pyramids, out money supply inflates still further on borrowed dollars, and the value of all our dollars is gradually thinning down.

Point of No Return

But Uncle Sam finds it hard to stop this destructive inflation habit in the fact of growing demands for him to spend even more. These demands come largely from so-called "pressure groups," ' who want for their members still larger "contributions," which are sooner or later collected from the general public on the bottom layer of each tax pyramid, or sucked out of the value of everybody's savings by inflation.

But before any citizen complains about pressure group activities, let him ask himself whether he, too, has not been guilty.

As long as there is some reserve of vitality left in its victim, the drug addict's hypodermic needle can continue to stimulate. As long as there is any considerable reserve of value left in the people's savings and in the dollar itself, inflation can continue to create new greenbacks and new government checkbook dollars that look like new "purchasing power." As they are spent they give another buy in 1939.

Politicians Push Pork Barrel Projects

Why are so-called "pork barrel" spending projects pushed so earnestly by so many politicians? Because for each such project there is a group of good, respectable people back home who want it, wasteful or not. When government pours the public's tax contributions into any community through a government project, it makes more jobs, and more pay envelopes to be spent there, with more "prosperity" for the whole community-sitting at the top of its present doing the exact opposite of all three steps in the cure:

We are ignoring inflationary government spending, or actually demanding still more. We are steadily increasing our government debt. We are permitting the production of needed goods to be discouraged or handicapped in many ways, or halted outright. Meanwhile, inflation blurs the dangerous realities with happy dreampictures of more paper dollars for everybody.

a risk they must run. Our inflation can still be halted. But it will only be halted if enough people realize, in time, what inflation is doing to us all.

In conclusion it is well for Americans to remember the reason why the dollar has shrunk to 57 cents worth of purchasing power. Since 1939 the total number of dollars in circulation in the United States has more than trebled, from 33 billion to nearly 109 billion, while our industrial production of goods to buy has less than doubled.

takes Naomi's family for her own. That illustrates another beautiful feature of living in a family. You learn to live with all kinds of people. Even in so small a group, no two are alike. And the thing that holds a family together almost better than anything else is not similar tastes in breakfast foods, or identical educations, or equality of age or temperament: it is common ideals, it is agreement about the important things in life.

What do you, for example, think the greatest thing in the world? Do your family agree with you? If they do (or you with them) then you have a basis for a happy fami-. . .

HIGH ideals, held by all in common, are almost the best family cement; but better and best is religion. When you read the story of Ruth you are struck not only by their high ideals but by their natural, heart-felt, everyday religious faith. It comes out in the remarks of Boaz. American's Right to Vote Often Abused, Corrupted, Neglected

This is the second of a series of 10 articles from the booklet "Good Citizen" published by The Ameri-can Heritage Foundation concern-ing the rights and duties of an Ameri-can. . . .

Of the nine promises of a good citizen the first is: I will vote at all elections. I will inform myself on candidates and issues and will use my greatest influence to see that honest and capable officials are elected. I will accept public office when I can serve my community or my country thereby.

The right to vote - to vote in secret and to have your votes counted-is a great right

It is grounded in the faith that the average judgment of all of us together in the long run will be right -that "you can't fool all the people all the time." It has many flaws. It has been corrupted, abused and neglected, but by means of it the American people over more than a century and a half have done pretty well for themselves.

Through agents chosen by you and others like you all laws are made. No man, regardless of his station in life, wields more power than you in the voting booth.

You can also vote by not voting, for by staying away from the polls you can help a self-seeking minority make the wrong decision.

Don't be afraid to "lose your vote." The vote that doesn't elect a man still influences what he does.

BETTY HUTTON, bright star of "Annie Get Your Gun" and "Let's Dance," has worked hard for every bit of her success, but the career closest to her heart is being the mother of her two little girls-and she could give lessons to a lot of mothers! "They're going to grow up knowing everybody doesn't have a house and back yard like theirs," she told me. "They're going to know that some people don't have enough to eat, as I didn't when I was little." In this atom-splitting age you are voting on the gravest issues in the history of mankind.

WHEN YOU REACH voting age you become a member of the "ruling class"-the one and only ruling class of this country. Use this power to vote.

Vote during the big year elections of course-and at state elections.

Vote on policies and officers of your union.

Vote as a stockholder of any company you have invested in. Vote on civic improvements and bond issues Vote on officers of your club, your lodge, your grange. In general, all citizens over 21 years of age have the right to vote, but the various states have different laws as to how long you must live in the same place, when to register, etc. In certain states literacy tests or poll taxes are required. In no state is property ownership a reuirement. But don't consider you have done our duty merely by voting in national elections every four years. There are also congressional elections, state elections, city elections, and local elections of various kinds.

THERE ARE three ways to vote. You can vote for (1) party, (2) issues, (3) people.

If the total party program, as expressed in its platform, appeals to you as being best for the country, it is sound to vote a straight ticket for the people pledged to put that program into effect.

If a single issue seems to you more important than anything else, it is sound to vote for persons who support your view of that issue, regardless of party.

If the ability of an individual to judge each issue fairly and to keep the interests of the people uppermost appeals to you, it is sound to vote for that individual, regardless of party or any particular issue.

But even if you spent your life at it, you couldn't be fully informed on all the candidates and issues.

The answer is to do the best you can. It is better to vote on the basis of party allegiance and your own "sense of things" than not to vote at all. Your own knowledge and concombined with the knowledge and Impact-wise, what would such a shindig actually accomplish? Not much, Sir, if it were just a run-ofthe-Flushing-meadows type of fair.
