

Rev. Romuald Simon to Read First Mass at St. Kilian Sunday

The Rev. Romuald Simon, son of Mrs. Margaret Simon and the late Frank Simon of St. Kilian, R. 3, Campbellsport, was among five young men to be ordained priests of the Capuchin Order by Bishop John P. Treacy of La Crosse at 8 a. m. Wednesday in St. Mary's church, Marathon. Father Romuald will celebrate his first solemn mass Sunday, Aug. 27, at 10 a. m. in St. Kilian's church, St. Kilian.

Assisting priest at the first mass will be the Rev. John B. Reichel, pastor. The Rev. Giles Soyka, O. F. M. Cap., Milwaukee, will act as deacon and the Rev. Linus J. Eisenbacher, Elwood, Iowa, a cousin of the new priest, will be sub-deacon. The Rev. Ephrem Hertel, O. F. M. Cap., pastor of Holy Cross church, Mt. Calvary, will give the sermon.

Servers for the mass will be Joseph and Harold Studer of Elwood, Iowa, students for the priesthood; Harold Ries, Brownsville, student at St. Francis Major seminary, Milwaukee; Denis Patrick Schrauth, Campbellsport, cousins of the new priest, and Carol Straub and James Schmitt of St. Kilian, both students at St. Lawrence Minor Capuchin seminary, Mt. Calvary.

Dinner will be served in the parish hall after the first mass and will be followed by a reception. Benediction will be at 4:30 p. m.

Father Romuald attended the parish school at St. Kilian as a boy. He took his first studies for the priesthood at St. Lawrence, Mt. Calvary, then went on to St. Felix monastery at Huntington, Ind., and completed his studies for the order at Garrison, N. Y.

Three sisters of Father Romuald are members of the St. Agnes sisterhood. They are Sisters Mary Alphonsus who will teach this fall at St. Joseph's school, Fond du Lac; M. Angelica who is stationed at the Holy Boyle Catholic Home for the Aged, Fond du Lac, and M. Ambrose, stationed at Two Rivers.

Henry Miller, Step-Father of Mrs. Paul Hoffman Dies

Henry O. Miller, 69, of 140 Fifth st., Fond du Lac, died at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 16, at St. Agnes hospital in that city.

Born March 30, 1881, in Neshkoro, Mr. Miller was married to Amelia Baumhardt on Sept. 6, 1935 in Fond du Lac, where the couple established their home. Mr. Miller worked for the Sanitary Refrigerator company until his retirement.

Surviving are his widow; two stepsons, Edward Baumhardt, Campbellsport, and Francis Baumhardt, town of Eden; two step-daughters, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, Kewaskum, and Mrs. Louis Hoffman, R. 2, Fond du Lac; two brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services were held at the Catholic chapel, Fond du Lac, at 2 p. m. Friday with the Rev. H. E. Krug officiating. Burial was in the Neshkoro cemetery.

LOUIS E. KLEIN Louis E. Klein, town of Scott, Sheboygan county, died Thursday, Aug. 17, at his home. He was the brother of Mrs. Wm. Bloede, Fond du Lac, and of Mrs. Fred Berg, Cascade.

Born 79 years ago that day in the township of Scott, he was a lifelong resident of that area. Mrs. Klein preceded him in death about 10 years ago. Six children, in addition to sisters, survive.

Funeral services were held at the Witkopf Funeral home at Plymouth Saturday.

Marilyn Bastian and Marvin Wiesner Wed

In a 2 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. W. P. Sauer in St. John's Lutheran church, West Bend, Saturday afternoon, wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Marilyn Bastian, R. 5, West Bend, and Marvin Wiesner, R. 1, Kewaskum. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bastian and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Wiesner are the parents of the couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white embroidered mouseline de soie over taffeta. The bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was detailed with a peplum and ended in a four yard train. Her chantly lace edged veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli, stephanotis, and white asters tied with satin streamers.

Miss Gloria Bastian, sister of the bride, and the honor attendant, wore a gown of blue embroidered mouseline de soie over taffeta. The skirt was styled with a peplum. Matching gauntlets and an open crowned hat completed her ensemble. She carried a basket of white gladioli and white asters.

Miss Donna Lou Bastian, Mrs. Curthe Bastian, Miss Charlene Bastian and Miss Mary Wiesner were the bridesmaids. They wore yellow, green, pink and orchid gowns styled like the honor attendant's. All of the young ladies carried baskets of mixed gladioli and asters. Karen Lee Wilson was the flower girl for her cousin.

The groom, who assists his father in operating a farm on Route 1, Kewaskum, was attended by Harold Krueger as best man. Groomsman were Kenneth and Curtis Bastian, Delmar Sauer and Delmar Gatzke. Ushers were Harvey Bastian, Jr. and Willard Degnitz, Erwin Wilke was ring bearer.

The Bastian home was the scene for the afternoon reception at which 130 guests were entertained. In the evening a wedding dance and reception were held at West Park ballroom, West Bend. The newlyweds are spending their honeymoon at an undisclosed destination. When they return they will be at home with the groom's parents.

WOLF-KUDEK Robert Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wolf, West Bend, and Florence Kuddek, daughter of Mrs. Clara Ohrmund, West Bend, formerly of Kewaskum, were married at 4 p. m. Saturday in St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church, Kewaskum, by the Rev. Gerhard Kaniess. A wedding dinner at the Republican Hotel here preceded an evening reception at the Moose hall, West Bend. The couple will reside at R. 5, West Bend.

NORMAN JOHNSON REPORTED MISSING IN KOREAN ACTION The war department announced on Tuesday that a Campbellsport soldier is missing in action in Korea. Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Johnson of that village received word that their son, Cpl. Norman H. Johnson, 29, was missing in action but no date was given.

Cpl. Johnson enlisted in service two years ago and had been stationed in Japan about a year. He was serving in the 24th Engineer Battalion on the Korean front when last heard from. Cpl. Johnson informed his parents in his last letter, written Aug. 7 and received Aug. 16, that he was the driver of his battalion commander's jeep.

SOFTBALL TEAM LOSES TO ASHFORD IN FINAL GAME The Kewaskum softball team brought its season to a close in the Cross Country league Sunday by playing a postponed game at Ashford. The local nine was defeated, 5-2, and with the setback went the chance of tying for the second half title. Kewaskum won the first half championship and a loop meeting will be held to decide whether a playoff will be held between the winners of the two halves for the grand championship.

ORDAINED AS CAPUCHIN Bishop John P. Treacy of La Crosse ordained five members of the Capuchin Order on Aug. 25 at St. Mary's church, Marathon. Among members of the Capuchin Order who received the major order of deacon was Friar Austin Schaefer of Campbellsport.

JAECKELS BUILDING HOME Excavation and foundation work has been completed for a new home in the Roseland Heights addition, being constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jaeckels of Kewaskum. The home is situated on the corner lot south of the Kilian Honeck Jr. house.

SOCIAL AT ST. BRIDGETS A social sponsored by St. Bridget's congregation will be held on the parish grounds at St. Bridget's on Sunday afternoon and evening, Aug. 27. There will be fun for all, young and old. Come and have a good time meeting old and new friends.

MARRIAGE LICENSE Byron Bunkelman, Kewaskum, and Lois E. Klukas, R. 1, Kewaskum. Wedding Saturday, Sept. 2.

Utensils Trounced at Granville, 10-3

LAND OF LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division) Won Lost Lannon 12 5 Waukesha Dales 10 6 Granville 10 7 Waukesha CYO 8 9 Mequon 7 11 Kewaskum 4 13

Scores last Sunday—Granville 10, Kewaskum 3; Lannon 3, Waukesha CYO 2 (10 innings); Waukesha Dales 5, Mequon 0.

Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at Waukesha CYO, Mequon at Lannon, Waukesha Dales at Granville.

A 10-2 setback was administered by Granville to the Utensils Sunday in a game played at the latter place. One big inning, the fourth, in which Granville scored seven runs cooked Kewaskum's goose. The winners netted their seven runs on only two hits but four walks, two errors and a hit batter accounted for the many markers.

John Tessar was the starter for the losers and toiled until the fourth when he was replaced by Marx after a wild inning. Tessar gave up five hits, passed four and fanned two in three and two thirds innings. Marx allowed two safeties and two runs the rest of the way, striking out three and walking one. Granville scored 10 runs on only seven hits. Batzler held the Utensils to five bingles. He whiffed four and did not give up a single base on balls. Kewaskum was guilty of six errors.

The losers five hits were divided among five batters. Justman's double was the only extra base. J. Schmitt was the big power in Granville's win, getting two hits and scoring three runs.

CUBBERS HOLD TRAINING COURSE HERE, WEST BEND Cubbers (adult cub leaders) of Pack 21 of West Bend and Pack 44 of Kewaskum met at West Bend last week to discuss their second annual cubbers' training course which will be held in three sessions.

The first session took place at the Wisconsin Electric company demonstration room in West Bend Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 7:30 p. m., with Cub Master Frank Ferguson in charge. Jack Hopper, Fond du Lac, field executive, is in charge of the training. The purpose of cubbing, the organization of a cub pack and den and how they operate were discussed at this meeting.

The second session will be held at the Paul Landmann home, Kewaskum, on Aug. 29. Mr. Landmann, activities chairman of the Hadger council, will direct the training. The third session Sept. 6 at the Electric company hall in West Bend will be a cubbers' pot luck dinner. The sessions are for all present and potential den mothers and any other scouts who would like to be den chiefs.

JACOB J. STAEBLER DIES Jacob J. Staehler, 81, lifelong resident of the town of Scott, died Friday morning, Aug. 25. The body will be in state at Miller's Funeral home, Kewaskum, after 7 p. m. Saturday. Funeral services will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Michael's church, St. Michaels. An obituary will be published next week.

DELEGATE TO CONVENTION Mr. and Mrs. Tom Green of this village returned home this week from the national convention of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Green served as a state delegate to the convention. He is grand knight of the West Bend council.

Public Schools Open Sept. 5; 17 Teachers Engaged, 6 New Ones

Kindergarten, Grade Pupils to Be Housed Temporarily Until New Building is Completed; Freshmen Registration Sept. 1

Kewaskum public schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 5, at nine o'clock. Due to the fact that the present school building has been converted for high school use only and because the new grade school is not ready for occupancy, the kindergarten and the first four grades will meet temporarily in the following places:

Grades 1 and 2—Peace church basement. Grades 3 and 4—Lutheran school. Grades 5 and 6, 7 and 8 will be housed in the high school building.

High school registration for all freshmen and new students will take place on Friday, Sept. 1, at 9 a. m. at which time tests will be given and programs planned.

The following teaching staff has been employed by the board of education for the coming year: Clifford M. Rose—Principal. Ernest Mitchell—Science, athletic director. Leland M. Rose—Industrial arts, mathematics. William Reynolds—History, social science. John L. Beadie—English, social science. Daniel Scheid—Vocational agriculture. Elmer Schabo—Music. Walter Bade—Physical education. Margaret E. Browne—Commercial. Jean Schipper—English, Latin, library. Mary Stathas—English, science. Ava Marie Reuter—Vocational home making. Gertrude Baker—Kindergarten. Winifred Gerner—Grades one and two. LaVerne Hron—Grades three and four. Betty Jane Petri—Grades five and six. Howard Hess—Grades seven and eight.

Daniel Scheid, Walter Bade, Gertrude Baker, Betty Jane Petri, Ava Marie Reuter, and Howard Hess are all new teachers in the school's system.

Mr. Scheid, the vocational agriculture instructor, who has been on duty since July 1, previously taught at Wrightstown. Miss Reuter, the vocational home making instructor who has been on duty since Aug. 15, previously taught in the high school at Lone Rock, Miss Petri and Howard Hess, both of whom have had several years of successful teaching experience, replace Beiva Becker and Jeanne Back, respectively. Miss Baker, a graduate of the Oshkosh Teachers college, will open the new kindergarten department in our school. Mr. Bade, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, will have charge of the supervision of the physical education program in the grades and himself personally teach the physical education in the high school.

THREE NEW DEPARTMENTS Vocational agriculture, so long needed in our school, has become a reality only because of the erection of the new school addition. Farm boys in the school, young and older farmers of the community should benefit materially from the instruction offered by Mr. Scheid.

A greater service to the youth of this community will be offered the four and five year olds in the new kindergarten department. Miss Baker will meet with the four year olds in the mornings and the five year olds in the afternoons. Children whose birthdays fall prior to the 1st of December will be admitted to the four year kindergarten, five year kindergarten, and the first grade (parents please provide evidence of the date of birth).

Physical education was introduced at the request of the State Department of Public Instruction which classifies schools on the basis of BASIC and INTEGRATED systems. Aids from the state vary greatly with the integrated system receiving materially more in aids than those not so classified. In addition to being given the better rating as a school our children will benefit materially by the instruction in physical education.

In addition to the academic offerings in the fields of English, Latin, mathematics, science, history, and social science vocational courses in commercial subjects, home making, industrial arts, and agriculture are available to the boys and girls in each of the four years of high school.

Not all of the benefits derived from high school attendance come from the classroom. All around development of the child comes from participation in some extra-curricular activity such as music, dramatics, forensics, or athletics or perhaps a combination of these.

Elsie Bruhn Buys Floral, Gift Shop

Miss Elsie Bruhn, who managed the Republican Hotel until the time it changed hands recently, on Thursday of this week purchased the Kewaskum Floral and Gift Shoppe business from its owner, Mrs. Merlin Matter of Randon Lake, who was Miss Lois Zanow of Kewaskum before her recent marriage to Mr. Matter. Mrs. Matter has retired from business. The floral and gift shoppe is located in the Elvira Ramthun building between the Martin Cafe and Endlich Jewelry store.

Miss Bruhn will open for business on or about Oct. 1. She will attend a florist school in Chicago for several weeks before taking over the shop. The exact date of opening will be announced by Miss Bruhn after she returns from Chicago.

Kiwanians to Send Three Delegates to Convention

The Kiwanis club of Kewaskum will be represented at the 1950 convention of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis district to be held Sept. 3 to 6 at Green Lake, Wis., Club President W. J. Stenman announced this week.

Eighty-five clubs in the district, which comprises a membership of more than 5,300 business and professional leaders, are expected to send delegates to the three-day meeting, Stenman said.

The speaking program will feature the appearance of Al R. Cox, prominent Canton, O., business executive and trustee of Kiwanis International.

Presiding will be Frank J. Horak, Oconto, Wis., secretary of the National Association of Postmasters and governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis district. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers will highlight the meeting.

Mr. Cox, who will serve as the official representative of Kiwanis International at the convention, is a certified public accountant and business counselor. During the war, he was arbitrator in negotiations between labor-management groups. He plays an active part in the civic affairs of Canton.

Delegates who will represent the Kiwanis club of Kewaskum at the convention will include Louis Bath, Elwyn Romaine and President Stenman.

CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE ON TOWN OF AUBURN ROAD

Mrs. Alban L. Nigh, Campbellsport, R. 2, received a cut lip when an auto driven by her husband collided with a West Bend Ready-Mix Concrete company truck at the intersection of County Trunk G and a town of Auburn road at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Nigh told authorities that he had been blinded by the sun as he started to turn from a town road onto G. He cut the corner too short, he said, and the accident ensued. Mrs. Nigh was treated by a Campbellsport physician. Neither nigh, his daughter, Catherine, 18 months, nor the truck driver, Albert W. Pietschman, Fredonia, suffered injuries.

STATE BARLEY WINNER

In the Wisconsin state fair barley contest, Ewald Rauch, West Bend, R. 2, son of William Rauch of this village, was among eight winners of honorary awards. Rauch was the state champion last year.

Motion made by C. Sparks, seconded by G. Hansen that the bid received from Mr. Nic Heil in the amount of $1,599.00 for decorating the new Kewaskum municipal building to be completed by October 1, 1950, be accepted and that the president and clerk be authorized to enter into a contract with Mr. Heil. Motion carried.

Motion made and seconded that the village board adjourn. Motion carried. NICHOLAS S. PUEHLING, Village Clerk.

36 Men of County Undergo Draft Exams in Milwaukee

Thirty-six men from Washington county left Hartford early last Wednesday morning for Milwaukee, where they were scheduled to undergo physical examinations for draft call-up to service in the armed forces. According to Mrs. Rose Mary Schmitt, Hartford, draft board clerk, five county men will leave Hartford on or about Sept. 29 for the armed services. They will comprise this county's first contingent of men to enter the services under the new draft laws written since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

The county draft board is now operating at full strength. Mrs. Schmitt revealed. Its offices are located in Room 5 at 19 S. Main st., Hartford, and are open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays of each week. The telephone number is 160. Board members include Tom Manning, Hartford, chairman; Ed Campbell, R. 2, Kewaskum; Harvey Dettman, R. 1, Randon Lake; Robert Laubenheimer, and Harold Emmer, Hartford.

No new orders regarding the number of men to be called from this county during the remainder of this year has been received at Hartford from state selective service headquarters, Mrs. Schmitt said.

BIRTHS

FELLEENZ—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Felleenz, Milwaukee, at St. Joseph's hospital in that city Sunday, Aug. 20. Mr. Felleenz formerly resided in Kewaskum. Mrs. Felleenz is the former Marcella Waranus of Dundee.

LISKO—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lisko, R. 3, Kewaskum, Monday, Aug. 21.

ROSENHEIMER APPOINTED

At the monthly meeting of the Washington county board on Monday two appointments by E. M. Romaine, Kewaskum, board chairman, were approved. Emil Gauger was appointed to the board of adjustment for a period of three years and Lehman Rosenheimer, Kewaskum, was appointed to the park commission for a period of seven years.

CHILDREN'S PICTURES TO BE TAKEN FREE AND PUBLISHED IN STATESMAN

"The best investment is in children," says Win. J. Cameron. "You had better take a good look at them as they pass you on the street, for they are the ones who are going to make a new world for you, and you can catch some glimmer of the dawn in their fresh young faces."

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. There is no age limit. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may later obtain a limited number by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

Kiwanis Club Will Sponsor 2-Day Home Show at High School

More than 26 Kewaskum business people are planning their displays for the two big days of Kewaskum's first home show which will be held in the high school building on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 25 and 29, under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum.

There will be two shows each day. In the afternoon the doors will open at 2 o'clock and the show will continue until 5 p. m. and the evening show will be from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. each day. The admission fee is only 25 cents.

The producer of the show will offer special entertainment on the stage at each show. Free awards will be made during the shows.

While the home show idea is new in Kewaskum, similar shows have been presented year after year in many other communities. In accepting the show, the Kiwanis club was assured the wholehearted support of the businessmen. This was evidenced by the speed with which every inch of available display space was contracted for when the producer called on the local business people.

Kewaskum exhibitors are receiving the aid of manufacturers and suppliers in planning interesting displays. Exhibit space was allotted only to local business people because of the limited amount of floor space available in the public school buildings.

Watch the Statesman in future issues for further announcements concerning the home show, also for the list of exhibitors and entertainment program.

Barton Noses Out Rivers Nine in 11 Innings, 4-3

LAND OF RIVERS STANDINGS (Northern Division) Won Lost West Bend 14 4 Allenton 11 5 Slinger 11 7 Barton 9 9 Saukville 7 9 Kewaskum 7 10 Jackson 6 12 Newburg 4 13

Scores last Sunday—Barton 4, Kewaskum 3 (11 innings); Slinger 6, West Bend 3; Allenton 4, Jackson 1. Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at Allenton (two games), West Bend at Jackson, Barton at Newburg, Saukville at Slinger.

The Chevrolets and Barton battled it out for 11 innings here Sunday before the visitors finally squeezed out a 4-3 win over Kewaskum in a close one and a tough one for the Chev's to drop. The defeat dropped the team into sixth place in the standings. West Bend's lead was cut to two games when Slinger upset them.

"Killy" Honeck and Al Duenkel hooked in the long, tight duel in which the Chev's outbit Barton, 8 to 5, but couldn't produce enough runs. Kewaskum committed five errors and the winning run in the 11th came as a result of miscues. Honeck fanned nine and walked only one while his opponent struck out seven and passed four.

Barton went to work on Honeck with two buttons in the first frame but the Chev's tied it up in their half of the second. Kewaskum went ahead with a marker in the 7th only to have the visitors knot it again at 3-all in the 8th. No more runs crossed the plate until Barton tallied the winning one in the 11th on two errors and a fielder's choice.

Decker's three hits paced the winners and he was the only Barton hitter with more than one safety. Kempf and Honeck did their best to create a Kewaskum win with two hits apiece.

GOOD CITIZEN

Free Schools Can Safeguard Democracy by Teaching Truth

This is the eighth of a series of 10 articles from the book "Good Citizen" published by The American Heritage Foundation concerning the rights and duties of an American.

The seventh promise of a good citizen: I will support our system of free public education by doing everything I can to improve the schools in my own community.

Many "isms" and ideologies are being peddled and sold around the world today. Most of them dismiss, ignore and brush lightly aside the inalienable rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

Isn't it fortunate that we have at hand a system of education which can give to our boys and girls the knowledge and ability to separate the true from the half true — to look "isms" straight in the eye.

The coming generation, with minds and hearts reinforced with such knowledge, is more powerful than an army.

Our public school, our private schools and our schools conducted under religious auspices all must provide the climate and the soil for the roots and the fruits of freedom.

So, good citizen, keep our system of education strong.

THE SCHOOLS are yours. You pay for them. There is much that you can do to improve them, and the need is urgent.

Teachers enjoy—or ought to enjoy—freedom from social and political pressures; freedom to seek the eternal truths and to present these truths in a way that will stimulate young minds to look for truth and be able to recognize it when they find it.

Teachers should be proud of their profession. They deserve the friendliness, sociability and respect accorded to doctors, lawyers and members of other professions.

Members should be able to live their private lives as any other self-respecting citizen lives his—neither playing "Mrs. Grundy" to the community nor being dictated to by the social arbiters of the community, whoever they may be.

Help to make your schools a force for national unity by protecting our children from bigotry and prejudice.

It has been said, "America fears no enemy but ignorance."

The generation which did not fight the war is trying to understand what happened, why it happened, and what can be done to straighten out the world.

Help it to find out through even better, stronger, freer schools which bring to it the distilled truth wrested from the experience of all recorded time; which encourage the search for truth; and which foster the undeveloped talents which are America's greatest source of wealth.

MARK TWAIN, referring to a foreign dispatch, once said . . . "the vast expense of maintaining the army has made it necessary to retrench, and so the government had decided that to support the army it would be necessary to withdraw the appropriation from the public schools . . ."

It is curious to reflect how history repeats itself the world over. Why, I remember the same thing was done when I was a boy on the Mississippi river. There was a proposition in a township there to discontinue public schools because they were too expensive. An old farmer spoke up and said if they stopped the schools they would not save anything, because every time a school was closed a jail had to be built.

"It's like feeding a dog on his own tail. He'll never get fat. I believe it is better to support schools than jails . . ."

This article is Chapter 7 of the book "Good Citizen" produced by The American Heritage Foundation, sponsors of the freedom train. A taken book may be obtained by sending 25 cents to The American Heritage Foundation, 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Beggar Has New Angle—Can You Spare a Teddy Bear?

By BILLY ROSE

There's a beggar in New York with a new sales approach: "Can you please, Mister, spare the price of a teddy bear for my sick little daughter?"

It so happens that this panhandler hasn't got a sick little daughter, but that doesn't mean you have to tarry him down if you meet up with him. His story is hearts-and-flowers stuff, and I'll tell it to you as it was told to me the other night by Charlie Washburn, the Broadway press agent . . .

"A few days before Easter," said Charlie, "I was standing in front of a toy shop on Fifth Avenue when a seedy-looking guy tapped me on the arm and asked if I could spare the price of a teddy bear. When I told him to quit his kidding, he explained he wanted it for his sick little girl, and that if I didn't think he was on the up-and-up he'd write his name and address on a piece of paper and I could have it delivered.

Billy Rose

"Well, filled with the old Easter spirit I walked into the shop and picked out a five-dollar bear, but when I handed the slip to the girl who waited on me she gave me a funny look and said I was the third person that afternoon who'd ordered one sent to that address.

"IT SMELLED LIKE a good human interest yarn, and so I had her wrap up the toy and set out to deliver it myself. It was a flat in a walk-up tenement in the 50's near Tenth Avenue, and the door was opened by a woman who looked as if she could use a little sleep.

"What you got there," she said, "another teddy bear?"

"How'd you know?" I asked.

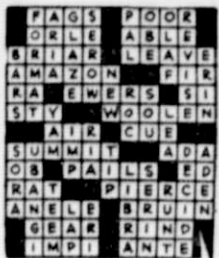

"I've been getting two or three every afternoon for the last month," she said "Where'd you run into Tim?"

"Tim, it turned out, was her husband and he had been missing for several weeks. Things hadn't been going well with them for quite some time, and when his unemployment insurance ran out last March the going got real tough. Then, to make things still worse, their three-year-old daughter, Peggy, had taken sick and the doctors at the clinic couldn't seem to do much for her.

"THE TEDDY BEAR angle had come about this way: Shortly after Peggy became ill, she asked for a teddy bear and kept talking about it all the time. Tim said he thought

THE FICTION CORNER

DETECTIVE PETERS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

ORION DIDN'T look like a detective. He realized this for a fact when the girl with the chestnut brown hair came up and spoke to him.

"You're Orion Peters, aren't you? Mrs. Keith told me. I'm June Ingalls. It's going to be a gorgeous wedding, don't you think? Have you seen the swimming pool yet?"

Orion knew at once because of her easy informality she had mistaken him for one of the guests. And suddenly he decided to go on with the game.

"Hello," he said cheerfully. "It's nice to see you again. No, I haven't seen the pool. Is it new? Shall we go look at it together?"

They went and looked at it. In fact they swam in it.

They stayed near the pool for almost two hours. At the end of that time Orion came to two decisions. First, he decided that the girl was the loveliest, most beautiful creature he'd ever known. Second, he decided he was a fool. At first this business of pretending to be a guest smacked of a lark. Now it was different. He was falling in love.

He went back to his room and changed into his tux. He'd have to go down and keep his eyes on things and avoid June Ingalls, if he could. He took up a station within observation distance of the table where the gifts were placed and acted as much like a guest as he knew how. June was not among the crowd that milled around the living room. He was convincing himself that he was glad of this, when a feminine voice behind him said: "Why, Mr. Peters, you're standing here like a statue. I mean, shouldn't we dance, or something?"

"I'm dreadfully sorry," he said. "I hurt my ankle in the pool this afternoon. I'm afraid dancing's out, for me."

"Oh, how wretched! Is there anything I can do? I mean, oughtn't you to see a doctor, or something?"

JUST THEN Orion's desperate glance fell on the table where lay the gifts. There was a man standing at one end talking to a woman. The woman had a fan, which she maneuvered skillfully. Behind its ruffled folds the man to whom she was talking suddenly darted out a hand, scooped up something on the table, and thrust it beneath the tails of his coat.

Orion came back to earth with a jolt. He started toward the man, who was moving toward the crowd toward the terrace door. He caught up with the fellow just as they got outside and fell into step beside him.

"All right," said Orion when they reached the end of the terrace. "Take it easy and you won't get hurt. You're under arrest."

The man looked at him quickly. Orion didn't have time to lift his arms in defense. Something struck him a terrible blow on the head. He swayed, caught himself, glimpsed the thief racing down the steps.

Orion anticipated the direction of the man he was chasing by leaning the fish pond and making a flying tackle at the fellow's legs. They went down in a heap.

When he opened his eyes there was a crowd of people around. He heard snatches of conversation and guessed that the thief had been captured and everybody thought that he, Orion, was quite a hero. Then he knew that his head was pillowed on something soft. He saw a face bending over him.

"Well, that settles it, I guess," he grinned. "Now you know. But I'm not really a detective. I go to law school nights and detect days and week-ends."

"It doesn't make a particle of difference," June told him. "I'm Mrs. Keith's secretary. She asked me to see that you were looked out for. Can I help it if you thought I was a guest? And now that you know the truth, I suppose you don't like me any more?"

"Suppose," said Orion, "you let me ask a question."

She agreed and he asked it and she blushed as she said, "yes."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Stale cake or leftover sweet cookies can be made into a good "quickie" dessert. Crumble up the cake, boil one cup of milk for each cup of cake crumbs; then mix them together and beat the mixture with an egg beater. Let it cool and you've got something good that's even better if you toss in a few raisins.

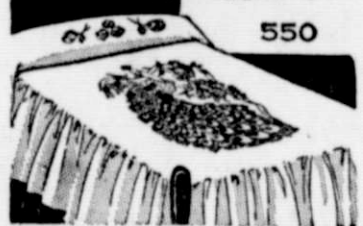

When light cream has a mind of its own and refuses to be whipped, it's time to assert yourself. Toss the white of an egg into it, and beat some more. It'll get stiff in short order, and nobody but your mother-in-law will suspect that it's been "doctored."

If you make your own fruit cake, here's a super way to do it. Slice the top off an orange and extract the fruit so that the shell is left in one piece. Candy the shell, let it drain dry; then fill it with the fruit cake batter. Steam the whole business for two hours before you bake; and you end up with fruit cake in an attractive, edible container.

Fruit cake can be kept indefinitely if you wrap it in a damp towel. The towel can be dampened with plain water, but it's better with wine.

Any time you're stuck with stale, dried-up cheeses such as American, store, Swiss and Gruyere, shove it in the meat grinder along with a couple of chunks of raw onion, turn the crank, and what comes out the other end is a moist, spreadable mixture that's just right for crackers for snacks and hors d'oeuvres. It has a delicious tang—provided you like onions.

Soft Water Ration Ups Milk Production

Fifty Percent Increase Shown From Experiments

The effects of soft water on milk production of cows was reported at a recent meeting of the Sheboygan County Holstein Breeders association meeting at Plymouth, Wis.

Milk production of two test cows increased up to 50 percent when cows were switched from hard water to a soft water ration.

One animal, a high production Holstein-Friesian, had never exceeded an 80-pound daily production until fed soft water. The animal, Sethe Della Forber (Reg. No. 2,356-827) increased milk flow to 121 pounds, 50 percent greater than her previous high.

Previous records show that this same cow produced an average of 55.8 pounds of milk per day for three months following the birth of her first calf in 1946. After the second calf the following year her average was 68.6 pounds, and then the average was 55.7 and 72.1 pounds after the birth of succeeding calves. Thirty days before this cow was to have her fifth calf she was given aerated soft water to drink in place of the 19 grain hard water previously supplied. Her average production jumped to 102.7 pounds for the 90-day period following the calving.

The experiment was conducted by E. J. Culligan of Northbrook, Ill.

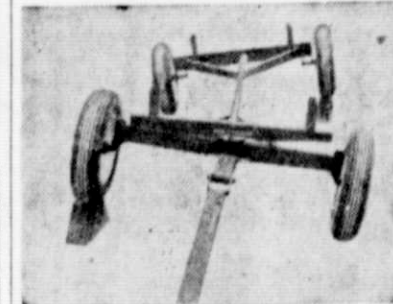

Marketing Quotas Will Not Be Imposed on Wheat

The announcement of Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan that no marketing quotas will be proclaimed for the 1951 wheat crop is the result of compliance among most wheat growers throughout the wheat area with their 1950 acreage allotments, many wheat growers believe.

In making the announcement of no 1951 marketing quotas, Brannan said, "If wheat growers in general plant within their 1951 crop acreage allotments, as they did for the 1950 crop, it may be possible to continue to avoid marketing quotas in the future."

The estimated total supply of wheat for the 1950-51 marketing year is 1,395 million bushels, or about 18 percent more than the normal supply of 1,179 million bushels.

Ultra High Sound Waves Knock Off Borer Moth

Scientists at the U.S. department of agriculture research center at Beltsville, Md., have found that ultra high frequency sound waves, which can't be heard by humans, will knock off the corn borer moth. They also work on mosquitoes, and some bacteria in milk can be destroyed by sound waves.

Now scientists are busy bombarding hybrid seed corn to see if they speed up germination.

Minnesota 4-H Club Enrollment at Peak

Minnesota 4-H club enrollment has reached an all-time record high of 50,421, it has been reported. The 1950 membership represents about 28 percent of all farm youths in the 10 to 20 age group.

This year, more than 50,000 members can choose 4-H activities from more than 30 major projects in home economics, livestock and crops, farm mechanics, soil conservation, and safety and health.

Teachers Institute at West Bend Opens Monday

Rural and grade school teachers of Washington county will convene Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 28-29, at the court house in West Bend for the annual rural and grade teachers' institute. The program for the two days is as follows:

- MONDAY
- 8:45—Welcome Address, H. D. Sheakel, county superintendent of schools. (Miss Gladys Salter, Chairman)
 - 9:00—"The Role of the Teacher and the Dental Health Program," Miss Betty Krippinger, state health hygienist.
 - 10:00—"Nutrition Problems—What Can We Do About Them in Our Schools," Lucille Billington, state senior nutritionist.
 - 11:00—"The Value of the Health Exams," doctor in charge of fluoroscope service.
 - 11:15-1:00—Noon luncheon, health exams. (Mrs. Sheakel, Chairman)
 - 1:00—"Our State Historical Society,"

Mary Tuohy Ryan, supt. school service, 1:45—"Improvement of Reading," Miss Hallie Bethel, reading specialist, Row, Peterson Co.

2:15—Fluoroscope service. TUESDAY (Mr. Splitsek, Chairman)

- 9:00—"Moving Ahead with Music," Mr. Schultz, music supervisor, dept. of public instruction.
- 10:15—"The Place of Physical Education in the School Curriculum," Mr. Miller, health coordinator, dept. of public instruction.
- 11:30-1:00—Noon luncheon (fluoroscopic service).
- 1:15—"Association Comments," Miss Baertschy, county teachers association chairman.
- 1:30—"Improving the Teaching of Arithmetic," Dr. Storm, arithmetic specialist, Ginn and Company.
- 2:00—Fluoroscope service continued for those who could not be taken at other times.

The world is moving so fast these days that the man who says it can't be done is generally interrupted by someone doing it.

(Mrs. Sheakel, Chairman)

Teachers of County Will Be Fluoroscoped by WATA

Rural and state graded school teachers from Washington county will be fluoroscoped for tuberculosis Aug. 28 and 29 when they convene in West Bend for an institute on new teaching methods. The work will be done in a mobile unit by a physician and nurses from the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

The clinic is being arranged by Gladys Salter, R. N., Washington county public health nurse, along with Harry Sheakel, county superintendent of schools.

Sheakel pointed out that the teachers are required to have complete physical examinations. He indicated it is desirable that tuberculosis check-ups be included. A fluoroscopic examination, he said, will cost the same as an X-ray picture.

"If we want a good sound health program, we must start with the teacher. Not only must she be informed on health practices, but she should exemplify health personally, too," he said, adding that he "had contact with the WATA when I was principal of Slinger High school" and considers the service of the WATA "very excellent."

The clinic, financed by the county, will be held at the courthouse both days from 11:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. The unusual hours were set up to accommodate teachers between institute sessions. The unit will be able to fluoroscope about 40 each day.

The institute, according to Sheakel, will give teachers new approaches in teaching methods.

Better Barley Show at Fair Grounds Aug. 30

About 200 Washington county farmers are expected to exhibit their best bushel sample of barley of the 1950 crop at the county barley show to be held at the county fair grounds on Wednesday, Aug. 30.

The 1950 barley crop appears to be the best in several years. Local buyers are reporting tests of 46 to 50 and many farmers are reporting crop yields up to seventy bushels per acre. The moist harvest weather prevailing is not the best for storing grain and farmers are cautioned to watch for bin heating. Spreading the grain on a drying floor may prove to be a practical safeguard.

against spoilage. Exhibitors are asked to observe the following suggestion in preparing their show samples:

Bring your sample to the fair grounds before 10 o'clock on Wednesday, Aug. 30. Each bushel should be well cleaned, graded and weigh 50 lbs. Only one sample per farm of the 1950 crop is eligible for competition. Bring samples in white muslin bag with your name and address and variety of barley attached.

All samples will be purchased by the county barley committee for $2.00. However, you may take your sample home if you wish.

$25.00 in prizes will be as follows: 1st, 2nd and 3rd—$20.00; 4th and 5th—$10.00; 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th—$5.00; 10th to 15th inc.—$4.00; 16th to 25th inc.—$3.00; 26th to 35th inc.—$2.00;

40th to 50th inc.—$1.00. There will be refreshments during the day and sandwiches at noon. A short speaking program will be presented at about 11:00 a. m.

The county barley show is easily the largest in the state and is made possible through the courtesy of the Washington County Barley committee consisting of Kewaskum Malt & Grain company, West Bend Luthia company, West Bend Malt & Grain company, Thiel's Mill, Slinger.

SKELETON UNEARTHED BY ROAD WORKERS IN COUNTY

Crews working on the relocation of Highway 41 in Washington county on Monday received a bit of a scare. A bulldozer unearthed a human skeleton while clearing land about a mile east of Richfield. A hurried call was made to the sheriff's department for assistance. Sheriff Sylvester Naumann, Dr. Richard Driessel, coroner, Deputy Sheriff George Brugger of West Bend, and Traffic Officer Forrest Brown and Chief of Police Edmund Maack of Kewaskum went to the scene.

The road crews thought they had found the skeleton of a Milwaukee woman who had been missing about two years. Dr. Driessel inspected the skeleton, then allayed the crews' fears. The bones indicated that the human had died between 75 and 100 years ago.

Man (to psychiatrist): "My wife has developed an inferiority complex. What can I do to keep her that way?"

Republican Candidates to Tour County Sept. 1

Sept. 1 will be an eventful date for the Republicans of Washington county. On that day the citizens of our county will have the opportunity to meet and hear Walter Kohler and all of the other Republican candidates for state, congressional, legislative and county offices.

The candidates will have luncheon at West Bend, after which they will be anxious to meet the voters near Knipfel's barber shop at about 1:30. From here they will travel to the village of Barton where a brief stop will be made at A. H. Otten's store about 2:00. The next stop will be at Kewaskum at the Republican Hotel corner at about 2:30. Jackson will be the next stop at the village hall at about 3:30; Germantown at Gierach's garage at 4:00; and Richfield at Laubenhimer's garage at 4:30. The next stop will be Roth's corner at 5:30 and the city of Hartford at 6:30 where the group will have supper, after which they will meet with the citizens on Main street.

The climax of the day's activity will be a big Republican rally at Hess' hall in Allenton at 8:00 o'clock in the evening to which all the people in the county are most cordially invited. All of the candidates will be present and will be introduced to the citizens of Washington county.

BRIDAL SHOWER GIVEN IN HONOR OF ADELINE KUTZ

Mrs. Lawrence Detman entertained many relatives and friends at her home on Sunday, Aug. 13, at a bridal shower in honor of her daughter, Miss Adeline Kutz, who will become the bride of Harold Bath on Saturday, Aug. 26.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lepp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lohse and family, Mrs. Melvin Klein, Mrs. Otto Ebert, Mrs. Vilas Ebert, Mrs. Herbert Kutz, Mrs. Minnie Giese, Mrs. Louise Hamthun, Mrs. Arnold Bier, Mrs. Herman Bier, Mrs. Wm. Becker, Mrs. Wm. Heiler, Mrs. Walter Kurth, Mrs. Howard Buteloff, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Schiltz, Mrs. Wilmer Falk, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neimann, Mrs. Emma Holder, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Heider and family, Mrs. Stanley Brodzeller and family, Mrs. Frank Teimen and family, Mrs. Alex Peach and family and Miss Mary Ann Bath.

The bride-to-be received many lovely flowers and gifts.

GASOLINE IS STOLEN

Frank Burnett, Waucausta, reported to Fond du Lac county authorities Saturday the theft of approximately 60 gallons of gasoline from a container at his home. He filled a 100-gallon tank on Aug. 8, he said. He has used about 40 gallons. Saturday when he went to obtain some fuel, the tank was dry.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Rejects Soviet Union Move To Seat China in United Nations; Marines Start Offensive in Korea

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

SECURITY COUNCIL: No Communist Deals

"So long as men are dying on the battlefield in defense of the United Nations this council will not wish to cheapen their suffering or sully their heroism by seeming to engage in the consideration of deals."

With these words, Warren Austin, the American chief delegate to the United Nations, rejected the Russian move to link the question of Red China's entrance in the U. N. with the Korean war.

It was a bitter exchange of words between Austin and Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik, who became president of the security council Aug. 1.

Malik wanted the question of admitting Red China to the U. N. the first order of business on the agenda, with the Korean situation second. The Russians were defeated by a vote of eight to one.

No one believed the Russians had any formula for peace that was acceptable to the western powers when they ended their boycott of the security council. It soon became evident the Russians were interested in seating Red China and nothing else.

Some believed Malik's maneuvers were only delaying tactics in the belief the North Koreans would quickly shove United Nations troops off Korea and thus open the way for any demands the Soviet Union desired to make.

That belief became widespread when the Russians demanded American troops be withdrawn from Korea, under threat of use of the veto, and seat the North Koreans in security council deliberations.

On the other hand, it was just as evident that the United States would not agree to such a situation. The only outcome could be a deadlock, with the Russians resorting to the veto to kill any action the majority might sanction.

TRANSPORTATION: Truck Fleets Increase

A fire fleet of 1,000,000 trucks—part of the 3,000,000 which roll America's highways—is available for transport of military supplies in case of a grave national emergency, the American Trucking association has estimated.

The figure was the chief finding of an industry-wide survey conducted by the transportation organization as the first step in preparing for a possible all-out mobilization. The for hire vehicles would be the first to be mobilized and would, the association said, carry the brunt of the military ton-mile load.

But an additional 450,000 privately operated trucks, 2,200,000 farm trucks and 335,000 trucks under public ownership, could ultimately be made available.

Taken as a whole, the association's survey revealed the trucking industry could provide 171,369,000 inter-city ton-miles of transport facilities during the next 12 months. In 1941—the year before Pearl Harbor—the industry clocked up 57,123,000 ton miles.

That difference—114,246,000 ton-miles per year—represents the increased load of guns, food, ammunition or other military supplies which American civilian trucking firms are able and ready to handle without relying on any other form of transportation and with the full advantage of point-to-point shipment without rehandling.

EUROPE: Steps Up Defense

The democratic nations of Europe with Communist aggression in Asia uppermost in mind formed plans for increased defense measures against invasion by Russia.

The United States and its North Atlantic allies mapped a three-year $20 billion campaign of defense.

Britain offered to adopt a three-year $24 billion defense budget, a heavy load for the already hard pressed British government, if the U. S. foots part of the bill.

Other members of the group agreed to recommend that all member governments take immediate steps to increase effective military forces for common defense.

France meanwhile asked that more American and British troops be sent to Europe and pledged to start a $5.7 billion three-year rearmament program. The new program would be in addition to the 1950 military budget of $1.2 billion.

H-BOMB: Work Continues

The United States has stepped up its work toward production of the hydrogen bomb. The government has assigned a major segment of the job to the du Pont company, already experts in making the plutonium which goes into the present atomic weapons.

The A. E. C. appointed the du Pont company to design, construct, and operate some new plants of advanced design.

These new plants would be for the production of materials "which can be used either for weapons or for fuels potentially useful for power purposes."

A site for the du Pont atom plant is yet to be selected, but the A. E. C. said it may take as much as 200,000 acres.

The company wants the government to pay all expenses, receive all patents growing from the work and pay du Pont a fee of $1. A formal contract is yet to be worked out.

Rebuke

The pent-up indignation felt by all who had heard Jacob Malik's scathing attack on the United States in the U. N. security council is registered and voiced by chief U. S. Delegate Warren Austin. Austin's usual cool, collected temperament has been put by the boards as he replied to Malik's statements. This closeup shows Austin fiercely rebuking the Russian delegate.

KOREA: A Limited Offensive

The Korean military picture appeared a little brighter for United Nations forces. A powerful American attack, the largest launched by the U. S. since the Korean war began, rolled slowly forward on the southern front.

The North Korean troops, evidently completely aware that an attack was coming, took advantage of every spot of cover and battled S. marines for every foot of ground.

In the central sector the Communists established one bridgehead across the Nakdong river behind which United Nations forces had established new defense positions. Military authorities reported immediate danger points were in the south and center sectors. In the center the Reds had three divisions and four of their finest in the south.

While U. N. forces attacked in the south, U. S. B-29's pounded military targets in North Korea, dropping as many as 540 tons of bombs in one day. One mass flight dropped 460 tons on railroad yards at Pong-yang, North Korea capital, with "excellent results."

Air groups from two 27,000-ton U. S. carriers bombed scattered targets over southwestern Korea and gave close support to attacking troops in the southern sector.

Military authorities warned that the southern action was a "limited offensive" and not a "general offensive." It evidently was designed to block the Communist strategy of:

(1) Drive down the southern coastal plain, capture Pusan, seal off the U. N. port of entry and the only escape hatch; (2) smash through to Taegu in the Nakdong valley, encircle the defenders and cut them up.

Whether or not the Communists can execute this strategy hinges on the question: Have we the men and the materials to stop them? Until recently the outlook was grim.

BRIDGES: Jailed at Last

Harry Bridges, turbulent longshore labor leader, had gone to jail at last.

Federal Judge George B. Harris revoked the $25,000 bail under which Bridges had been at liberty since his conviction last April on charges of perjury and conspiracy in connection with his 1945 naturalization, and ordered him jailed.

In delivering his opinion, Judge Harris assailed the C. I. O. labor leader as "an agent dedicated to the execution of the Communist program nationally and internationally," and a menace to United States security.

"This is not the time for divided loyalty," Judge Harris said. "This is not the time for Communist double talk."

The move to revoke Bridges' bail was started by F. Joseph Donohue, special assistant to the U. S. attorney general. Donohue argued that remarks by the labor leader at union meetings, to the effect that he opposed resolutions supporting American intervention in the Korean war, were against the best interest of the country.

ROBESON: Passport Voided

Paul Robeson, native-born Negro singer and a leader in left-wing movements, was asked by the state department to surrender his passport. He refused and the government voided the passport and ordered officials to stop him if he tried to leave the country.

The state department said any trip abroad that Robeson would make would not be in the interest of the United States.

State department and immigration officials would not comment further on why his passport had been revoked. However, observers pointed out that Robeson's activities in left-wing movements and his outspoken criticism of this country's international dealings evidently had much to do with the revocation.

Government officials said it was an uncommon practice to "pick up" a passport, particularly if issued to a native born person. The government said it would take steps to gain physical possession.

There was an interval—some say 10 minutes, some say 20—between the crash and the fire. This enabled residents of the air force trailer camp to flee.

FORMOSA: The Big Question

In the minds of many international observers, Formosa had become the big question in the battle against communism. And it presented the first split in policy among the western powers.

With the President's order to the U. S. seventh fleet to defend the island from Communist invasion, the split in policy first appeared. The split, or Russian trap as some are inclined to believe, became serious with the visit of General MacArthur to the island and the arrival of jet planes immediately after he returned to Japan.

Many observers point out that U. S. policy is now clear: defend Formosa and the Nationalist government. This, they believe, may involve the United States in a conflict with Red China, a fight which would almost be impossible for America to win.

At the same time, the British government has already recognized the Communist government of China. Several other western powers have been reported on the verge of recognition. This leaves the U. S. out on a limb and could involve the nation in a full fledged Asiatic war.

That, students of the present world situation say, is exactly what the Soviet Union desires. If such a thing should happen, Russia would, of course, materially aid the Chinese.

It has been pointed out that the American decision to defend Formosa is a direct act of aggression against Red China. It is a perfect excuse for the Reds to rush several divisions to the aid of the Koreans. Some observers believe such a move is already underway.

Within hours after MacArthur returned to Japan, American jets landed on Formosa—vanguard of air units assigned to defend the island.

A comment heard frequently after they landed was: "MacArthur certainly works fast."

That may be, observers pointed out, but it could also mean that MacArthur has fallen into the Russian trap. It was a serious situation that the United States now had to face.

ECONOMY: Control Bill Likely

The senate banking committee approved a home-front mobilization bill which would give full discretion to invoke wage-price-rationing controls to President Truman.

Last month President Truman asked for limited economic controls. The bill approved by the committee, however, goes much further than Mr. Truman asked.

Those less-sweeping curbs included authority to:

1. Allocate scarce industrial materials.

2. Assign priorities to put defense production work at the head of any factory job sheet.

3. Let the government take over privately owned plants, if necessary.

4. Surt consumer credit and real-estate construction credit.

5. Grant $2,000,000,000 in government loans and loan guarantees to spur defense production.

The measure gives the President the right to invoke general price control and rationing anytime he decided such a step was warranted. He could invoke general wage controls at the same time.

The only apparent restriction is a provision saying the resident would be compelled to put wage curbs in effect if price ceilings previously had been established "on materials, services, and property comprising a substantial part of all sales at retail and materially affecting the cost of living."

The house was expected to agree on some bill patterned principally after the senate committee's measure.

The Draft

Plane Crash

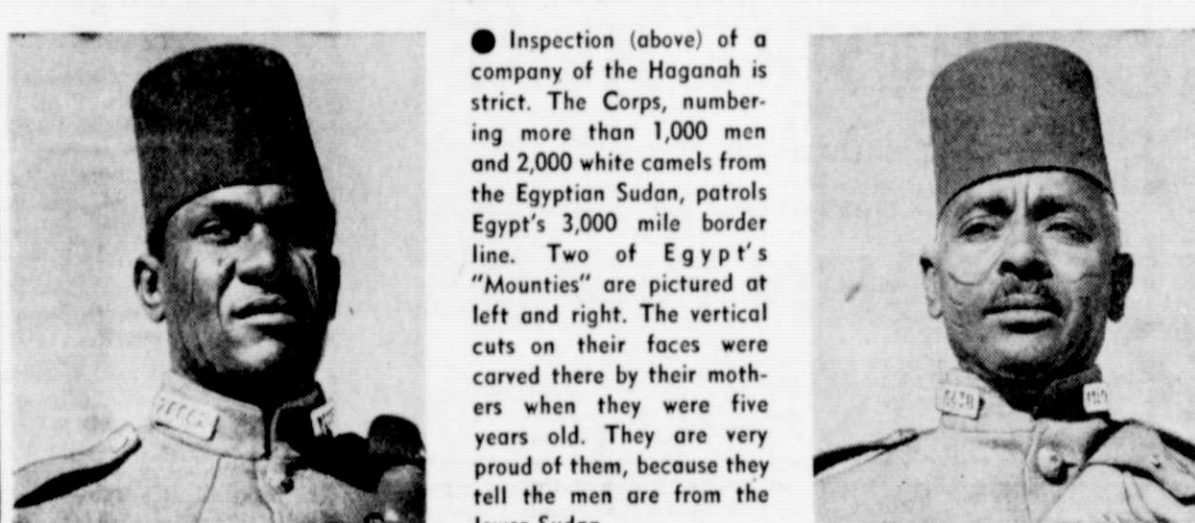

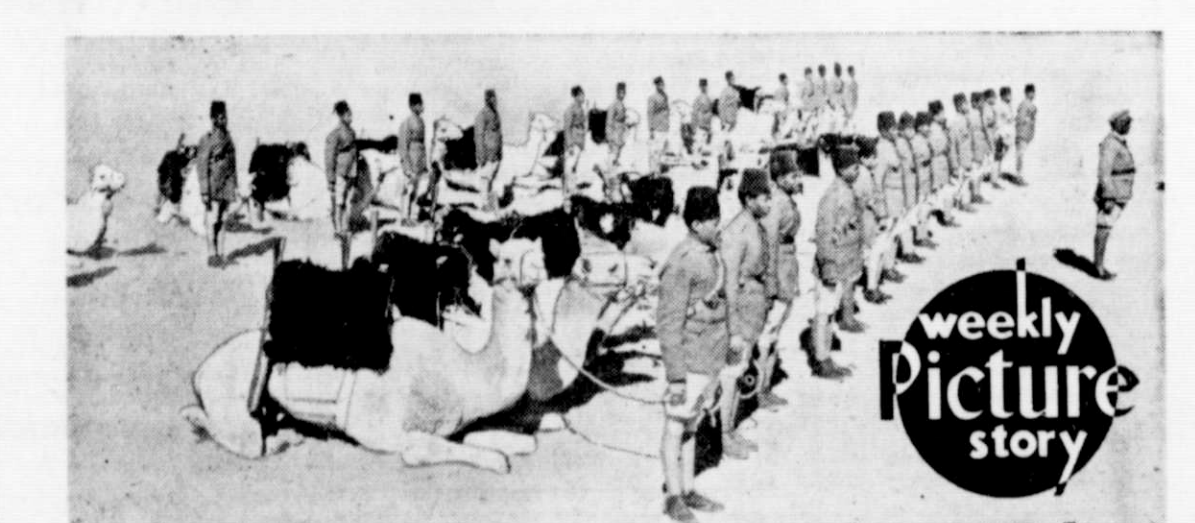

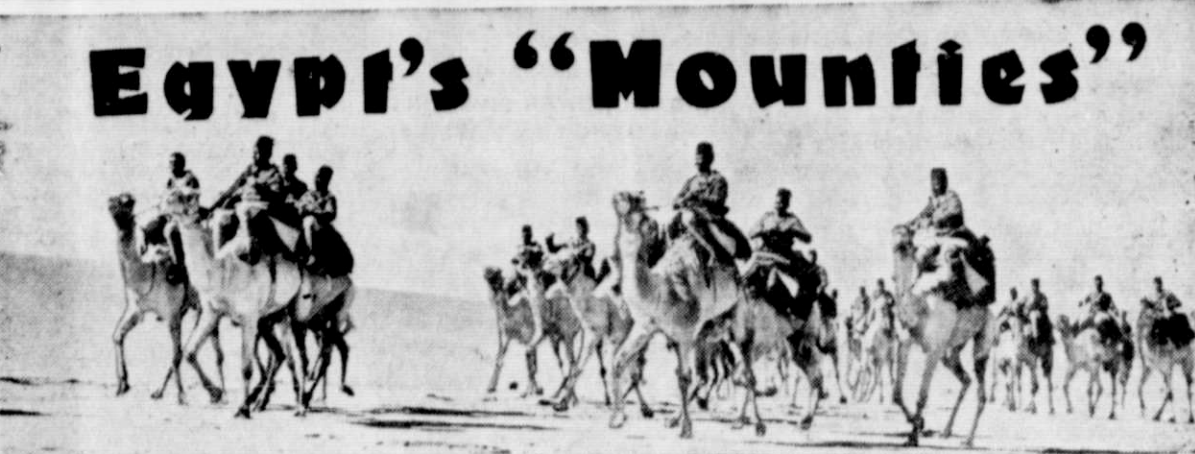

Nineteen persons were killed and 60 injured when a bomb laden B-29 crashed, burned and exploded near the Fairfield-Suisun air base in California.

The plane crashed near a trailer camp where 200 service families slept. The flaming explosion of the 10 or 12 500-pound demolition bombs the plane carried shattered more than half of 60 automobiles and trailers parked in the area.

Among the dead was the famed flier, Brig. Gen. Robert F. Travis, commander of the Fairfield-Suisun base and the Ninth Heavy Bomber Wing.

The bomber had just left the 8,000-foot runway when the pilot told the control tower two of his four engines were running wild and he couldn't return his landing gear.

He tried to turn back to the field. There was an interval—some say 10 minutes, some say 20—between the crash and the fire. This enabled residents of the air force trailer camp to flee.

Egypt's "Mounties"

● Egypt's famous Camel Corps, the hard riding Haganah, are called the "Mounties" of North Africa. The group (above) moves on the double. They are the greatest camel riders in the world and their mounts the fastest things in the desert. Every animal must be healthy and strong and every member of the Haganah is responsible for his mount. At left the commander inspects a camel.

● Inspection (above) of a company of the Haganah is strict. The Corps, numbering more than 1,000 men and 2,000 white camels from the Egyptian Sudan, patrols Egypt's 3,000 mile border line. Two of Egypt's "Mounties" are pictured at left and right. The vertical cuts on their faces were carved there by their mothers when they were five years old. They are very proud of them, because they tell the men are from the lower Sudan.

● In the almost impassable wastes of the Sahara, where soft sands make automobiles useless, the camel is still king of transportation. Mohammed, greatest tracker of the Haganah, (right) gives new recruits a demonstration in tracking down a smuggler. One of the Corps' main jobs is tracking down thieves.

● With their commander, (left) the recruits follow the trail and trot up a hill near the pyramids. These men are trained to cross the toughest desert wastes with a four gallon supply of water that must last a minimum of five days. It often lasts ten. An average daily patrol covers 65 miles of Sahara sands.

● With the training exercise finished, this is the way to escort a desert suspect, says the Haganah. A man on each side and one to follow. This is the end of the typical day for recruits, a lesson gained from experience. The most amazing faculty of the Corps is their ability to follow any given camel track, picking it out among hundreds of others.

Frosty Cold Foods Help Cheer Family During Hot Spell

"MOM, WHAT do you have that's really cold to eat..." is the question that keeps Mother hopping during spells of hot weather.

Well, then, what do you have that's really cold? What about a chilling beverage as it does eye and appetite appeal?

Smart mothers will keep the fixings for cooling beverages right at hand where the family can reach them.

When you want something deliciously different in beverages, try some of these nourishing, chilled drinks. Several contain milk in one form or another, just in case the milk is difficult to get into the young folk in its pure form.

Orange Cooler (Makes 5-6 glasses) 2 cups orange juice 1/2 cup lemon juice 1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice 1 cup ginger ale 2 tablespoons honey 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Chocolate Mint Shake (Makes 1 1/2 quarts) 1/2 cup cocoa malt 1 cup hot milk 3 cups cold milk 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon vanilla 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream

Pink Lemonade (Makes 4-5 glasses) 3/4 cup lemon juice 1/4 cup sugar 4 cups water 1/4 cup berries, crushed, or 2 tablespoons cherry juice 8-10 ice cubes

Chocolate Banana Milk Shake (Serves 6-8) 4 large, ripe bananas 1 quart milk 1/2 to 3/4 cup chocolate syrup

Ginger Lime Rickey (Serves 6) 1 1/2 cups lime juice 1/2 cup sugar

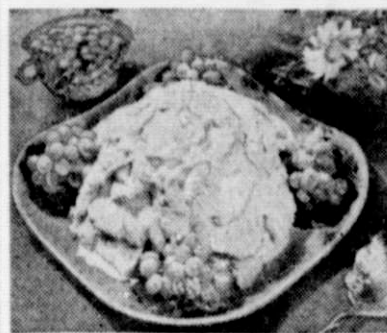

Peach Refrigerator Cake (Serves 6-8) 1 cup canned eling peach halves 2 teaspoons plain gelatin 2 tablespoons cold water 1/4 cup hot water 1 cup whipping cream 1/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar

Nothing's cooler or easier to make when the temperature's soaring than a refreshing lime beverage. You may like a simple limeade of sugar, water and juice, with lime wedges and ice cubes, or you may prefer ginger ale with limeade for something different.

LYNN SAYS: Try These Flavor Catching Ways With Your Foods For biscuits that are a quick treat, make a drop biscuit dough, and stir in 2 teaspoons sugar and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Use your favorite butter cookie recipe, and shape the dough into small balls. Roll the balls in a mixture of 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts mixed with 2 teaspoons cinnamon and place on baking sheet.

If you've never cared for the cloying taste of ice cream with cantaloupe, try some sherbert in pineapple or lemon flavor. One of these will give the melon just right tartness.

Simple but pretty is this ice cream dessert that has a flavor-some grape sauce to go with it. The ice cream is scooped on a large platter and garnished with frosted grapes set on galax leaves.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU Molded Salmon Salad Sliced Tomato-Cucumber Garnish Sour Cream Dressing Bran Muffins Butter Beverage *Lime Chiffon Pie *Recipe Given

1 quart ginger ale Lime Wedges Ice Combine sugar and lime juice. Shake with ice until very cold and frosty. Add ginger ale and mix well. Serve with floating lime wedges.

*Lime Chiffon Pie (Makes 1 9-inch pie) Crust: 5 tablespoons melted butter 1 1/4 cup graham cracker crumbs (about 12 crackers)

Filling: 1 package lime-flavored gelatin 1 cup boiling water 1/2 cup sugar Grated rind of 2 limes Juice of 2 limes plus water to make 1/2 cup 1 tall can evaporated milk Mix butter and crumbs thoroughly. Press evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate to form crumb shell. Chill.

To make filling, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add sugar, grated rind and lime juice. Chill gelatin mixture until it has the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip chilled milk until stiff. Fold whipped milk into gelatin mixture quickly but thoroughly. Pour into crumb shell and chill until set, about 2 or 3 hours.

Ice Cream with Grape Sauce (Serves 6) 1 cup sugar 1/4 cup water 1 tablespoon lemon juice 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind 2 cups white seedless grapes 1 quart vanilla ice cream

Make a syrup of sugar and water, cooking until mixture spins a thread, about 5 minutes. Add lemon juice, grated rind and stemmed grapes which have been washed and dried. Cook together over low heat until grapes are tender. Remove grapes and cook until 5 minutes longer. Add grapes and cool. Pile ice cream on plate and pass with sauce.

Peach Refrigerator Cake (Serves 6-8) 1 cup canned eling peach halves 2 teaspoons plain gelatin 2 tablespoons cold water 1/4 cup hot water 1 cup whipping cream 1/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar

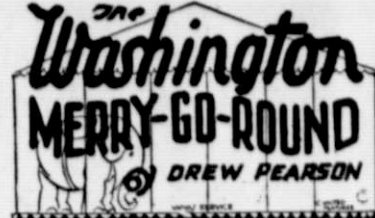

1 teaspoon vanilla extract 1 8-inch loaf cake 1 pint vanilla ice cream Peaches and maraschino cherries for garnish Drain peaches and press through sieve. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot water. Stir into peaches. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream; add sugar and vanilla. Fold in peach mixture. Cut cake into 2 layers and put together with ice cream. Spear top and sides with whipped peach mixture. Place in freezing compartment until frosting has set. Garnish with quartered peaches and cherries.

Here's a half an hour casserole for quick dinners: layer sliced, canned tongue in a casserole with thinly sliced potatoes. Pour a can of onion soup over all and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Make these interesting stirrers for iced tea: use canned or fresh pineapple spears, and skewer a maraschino cherry on top of each with a toothpick. It's not only pretty, but it gives the tea a lovely flavor.

Here's a dessert that's fit to go to a party: fill delicate meringue shells with a pink peppermint ice cream and sprinkle with shaved chocolate, or pass with chocolate fudge sauce.

Fill ice cube trays with 1/2 of the water. Into each compartment place a twist of lemon peel with a maraschino cherry. Freeze, then fill with water and finish freezing. Cubed ham or pork added to cheese sauce makes a delicious filling when served between halves of tender hot biscuits right out of the oven.

Secret ECA Session

AS CONGRESSIONAL leaders gathered in his office to discuss the President's request for an additional $4-billion to arm our allies, Mr. Truman opened the meeting by urging everyone to "speak freely and give me your opinions." He got his wish.

There were two verbal explosions at the secret session, one from Democratic Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, who demanded that some of the $4-billion be diverted from ECA spending; another from GOP congressman Dewey Short of Missouri, who objected to bypassing congressional committees.

"Are all these millions for economic (ECA) aid necessary at a time like this?" demanded Connally, pointing out that if the U.S. must lighten its belt economically for war, our European friends should expect less economic help from us. "Why can't some of it be used for military aid?" the Texas senator asked.

"We can't cut off food to those unfortunate people," explained Secretary of State Acheson, who attended the meeting. "Hush," Connally, pointing out that sending arms—certainly more important in keeping the friendship of western Europe.

"Yes, but we don't have to feed them for five years," boomed the acid-tongued Texan. "Some of our own people need feeding. Besides, not all this ECA money goes for food. Some of it is spent on such things as hydroelectric projects in Europe."

Acheson agreed, but reminded Connally that western Europeans need electric power not only for peace, but to manufacture arms for use against aggressors.

"It takes two or three years to build a dam and the other facilities needed to produce electric power," short back Texas Tom, in no mood to be argued down. "We are dealing with a current emergency—the problem of providing military aid now. If an amendment is offered to use some of this ECA money for arms, I'll vote for it."

Missourians Differ

Congressman Short, the only house Republican from Truman's home state—therefore an object of special disdain at the White House—complained about the strategy of bypassing the foreign affairs and armed services committees by sending the $4-billion measure directly to the senate and house appropriations committees.

The time you will save will not be worth the bad feeling you will create in congress," protested Short. "If you went through the regular procedure of getting authorizations from the foreign affairs and armed services committees, you could still get this bill to the floor in a day."

"A lot of my colleagues will want to know what type of weapons we are sending to Europe—what countries are getting how much—and if the shipments can be made without weakening ourselves. But this information will be denied us."

"As one humble and insignificant member of congress," the Missourian continued, "I can't say that we should give unanimous approval to this unconstitutional procedure."

"Oh, you're trying to make an issue out of nothing," snapped the President. "No, I'm not," retorted his fellow Missourian. "There's a proper and an improper way to handle these matters."

Finally, house GOP leader Joe Martin intervened in favor of the president.

Wiretapping Probe

Betting odds on Capitol Hill are that the federal grand jury now probing police-state methods and the wiretapping inspired by Senator Brewster of Maine will end in a whitewash.

Despite the efforts on congressional committees, chief of the justice department, alibis are arranged to get Senator Brewster and his friends, Pan American Airways, off the hot spot.

In the first place, the justice department held the wiretapping report for almost a year and only fished it out of the files after the facts had been exposed in the press. As a result, the statute of limitations is about to expire, and but one scant week remains—seven days from today—in which the grand jury can act.

Feared for His Life

Meanwhile Senator Brewster's story is that his life was in danger and he called in the Washington police. While they may have tapped some wires in protecting him, he had no knowledge of what they were doing and received no information from them.

For the benefit of "panic buyers" as a result of the Korean war, the U. S. government released the above photograph of a warehouse in the New York area. The barrels contain powdered eggs and milk.

HOARDING HYSTERIA

U. S. Has Greatest Food Supply Of Any Country in World Today

A Michigan farmer drove up to his grocery store with 250 pounds of sugar in the back seat of his automobile. He told the merchant he had purchased the sugar before World War II and wanted to exchange it for a fresh supply. The merchant told him, not too politely, where to go.

That, perhaps, was an unusual incident, but throughout the nation the greedy have been rushing to purchase large supplies of sugar, nylon, cigarettes, liquor, sheets and even automobiles and household appliances. In some instances the scare buying has reached almost hysterical proportions.

The average citizen, who remembers the shortage of World War II, is not entirely to blame. Inclined to believe the hints and rumors that always prevail in time of national emergencies, the consumer has been listening and following the nudging of many retailers and manufacturers that there will be future shortages.

In one southern town, for instance, a shoe store called its regular customers and told them to come in and buy two or three pairs of shoes before leather became scarce.

Warehouses Overflowing One customer replied he had need for only one pair of shoes, a steel-toe pair with that plant a swift kick to the merchant's posterior.

For every one of those persons who are hoarding, however, there are hundreds who listen to the voice of the government proclaiming there will be no shortages. And for every merchant that urges scare buying, there are hundreds who have advertised in newspapers telling consumers their stocks are adequate.

Some stores are offering large sacks with the word "hoarder" in large letters to their customers who they suspect of buying more than their immediate needs. Many others are refusing to sell in large quantities.

All this excess buying and shortage hysteria is about the silliest thing that has overtaken the American public since the wave of gold-fish gulping by college boys a number of years ago.

Food, for instance, is overflowing government warehouses. The department of agriculture has a so much wheat, corn, eggs, milk, butter, and other farm commodities on hand it would like to give them away. The government actually doesn't have room to store all of its surplus stocks. On top of this, farm crops are expected to be near record peaks this year and meat production will top last year.

While the scare buying and hoarding appears ridiculous, it has a serious and almost tragic angle, too. American's are undermining their own economy, forcing prices upward, and thus presenting the possibility of defeat from within.

Americans are remembering 1942 and trying to put the same coat of circumstances on 1950. It will not fit, however.

In 1942 this country took upon itself to feed most of the world, while today we have only ourselves to feed. Barring the kind of buying that brings on controls there will be enough of everything for every American.

In 1942 the United States had to build war plants. Today they are waiting to be reopened and retooled. During the last war our supply lines reached in every direction, extending thousands of miles over the oceans of the world. Today they stretch across the Pacific ocean where there are no submarines to hinder shipment.

This country has stockpiles of

KATHLEEN NORRIS Fading Adonis

"EARL has always been the handsomest man in town," writes Arlene McRobbins from Charleston. "I don't get your article, but I see them now and then, and I've been wondering what you would advise me to do. My husband is so vain that it's perfectly disgusting!"

"Earl began to be admired when he was less than ten," her letter goes on. "All of us, at our kid parties, admired him. Later, in thin silk tennis shirts and white shorts, tossing his heavy mop of gold hair back, sunburned, magnificently built, always acting as if he was completely unconscious of watching eyes—though I know now that he wasn't—he was simply irresistible. His family had money, his home was one of the handsome old show places of our little town, all the girls in town were mad about him, and although it was expected that he would marry me I was the person who never dreamed it could come true.

An Only Child "It was expected because our house was another old show place—I was also an only child—and my father was partner of Earl's in a law firm. But I am not pretty, I was slow to grow up, keeping up clumsiness and shyness long after most girls do. We both were 26 when we married; I was really delirious with happiness in possessing the man I love, and Earl happy, too, I think, in my adoration. His appetite for admiration, flattery, compliments, and talk about himself generally is the most astonishing thing I have ever known. It seems incredible to me, even after 12 years, that any sensible human being can be so self-absorbed.

"... unconscious of watching eyes..."

"Earl cherishes his beauty as if he were a screen star. He diets, he exercises, he rubs in suntan creams and brushes his eyebrows, and he wears an arrangement of whalebone and canvas that is a lot more like a corset than anything I ever wore.

Hot Love Affairs "I've listened to other women's praises of Earl's looks, and I've given him all the adulation I honestly could, and more, and I've ignored some pretty hot love affairs, partly because I know that he simply has to have adulation and takes it anywhere and everywhere. But of late things are worrying him into a nervous breakdown, and he's passing the breakdown on to me.

"One is thinning hair. Most of his friends have bald spots now, and a bottle of tonic and two treatments a week and assiduous massaging by me can't hide Earl's any longer.

The other thing is that he has a bridge with three teeth on it; a minor car accident knocked out three front teeth a year ago. His smile has completely changed, he is so afraid someone will notice the denture, and his hand goes continually to the crown of his head, pushing his hair about. I've never been pretty, but I've got my hair and teeth, and a good figure, and Earl actually seems to resent it and that our three girls, 10, 9, and 8 years old, are all pretty. He turns over old albums of pictures that are mostly of himself, and will ask callers if he has changed much since the 20-year-old college photographs.

"If I have to go on living with this professional beauty—" Arlene's letter ends on a long wall of protest. She doesn't say what she will do, but if she is a sensible woman she will put up with what is really a time suffering in Earl's life.

Like that of all beauties his reign is coming to an end, and he knows it. Arlene is going to mature into the first beauty she ever has known, a beauty enhanced by a cluster of daughters; Earl is going to watch every hair, every wrinkle, every half-pound until even the handsomeness he might have carried into middle age and old age will disappear.

If Arlene has any real rancor left for the years of enduring his tiresomeness, she will have a quiet revenge in watching him face one of the most painful experiences of life: the decline of the professional beauty.

Whether in man or woman it is a pitiful sight, the loss of the evanescent thing upon which he or she has based all his complacency in life. Old ladies who once were beauties go on with the crimps and the laces and cameo pins and velvet bands and the shimmering glances, trying to convince themselves that youth isn't all over.

But when the beauty is a man somehow the tragedy takes on an amusing and ridiculous element, and I suspect that part of Arlene's problem is that she really liked Earl's beauty, too.

Use Dental Floss The dental expense and pain this entails should be enough to prevent women from indulging in this dangerous habit. But dentists report the habit is growing more prevalent each year.

THIS NEWSPAPER To Publish Pictures of LOCAL CHILDREN

• Pictures of the children of this community are to be published in this newspaper as a special tribute to our Young Citizens of Tomorrow. Soon the responsibility for world destiny will rest heavily upon their shoulders. As Americans, they will meet those responsibilities without faltering. Among them, in the years to come will be many with fame and fortune. But, just as they are right now . . . with the dawn of a greater tomorrow in their fresh young faces . . . this newspaper wants a picture of these future professional men and women, and, who knows, perhaps a future president of our country. These pictures will be published in a forthcoming special feature. So, Mother and Dad, your cooperation will be needed to help make this event a colorful and inspiring exhibit!

• Arrangements have been made with The Woltz Studios, nationally known children's photographers for newspapers, to take the pictures at the time and place given below. All you have to do is bring your children to the photographer. There is no charge or obligation. Children must be accompanied by one parent or other guardian.

• You do not have to be a subscriber to this newspaper and you do not need to purchase photographs, although you may do so if you wish. Just bring your children down and have the pictures taken. Later you will be shown proofs from which you select the pose you prefer having printed in the paper. It is as simple as that!

• You can clip these pictures from the paper, thus obtaining a memento of childhood which will become a treasured keepsake and memory record for both you and your children.

Below is the time and place to have your pictures taken without cost!

Broken Arrow

1870 was a year of crisis in our Western lifeline. Desperately the Apache nation fought on, for its life and vanishing land. Until one man, a white man, discovered that an Apache chieftain held a vision greater than their times... and that the lips of an Indian girl are soft in love.

It took 80
