Holy Trinity School Will Open Wednesday

Holy Trinity Parochial school will open on Wednesday morning, Sept. 6, for the 1950-51 term. A sizable increase in enrollment is expected. Last term about 120 pupils were enrolled and this year's attendance will reach about 150 students, the largest enrollment on record. Enrollment at the school has increased from 100 to 120 pupils in the last two years.

All children who will be six years of age by Dec. 1, 1950, will be accepted in school this fall. Those entering in first grade registered with the school sisters on Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Because the new school building now under construction will not be completed for the new term, and because of being overcrowded, children of the first and second grades will attend school only a half day as they did last year. The second graders will attend school in the morning only and the first graders will attend in the afternoon.

The staff of school sisters is the same as last term. Sr. M. Maurita will teach the 6th, 7th and 8th grades; Sr. M. Janet the 3rd, 4th and 5th grades, and Sr. Marie the 1st and 2nd grades. The domestic sister is Sr. Georgiana.

Chevs Split Twin Bill at Allenton

LAND O' RIVERS STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. West Bend 15 4, Allenton 12 6, Slinger 12 7, Barton 10 9, Kewaskum 8 11, Saukville 7 11, Jackson 6 13, Newburg 5 14.

Scores last Sunday—Kewaskum 5-0, Allenton 3-8 (first game 11 innings); West Bend 14, Jackson 2; Slinger 5, Saukville 4; Barton 5, Newburg 2.

Games this Sunday—Jackson at Kewaskum, West Bend at Barton, Slinger at Newburg, Allenton at Saukville (two games).

Games Labor day—Newburg at Kewaskum, West Bend at Allenton, Barton at Slinger, Saukville at Jackson. (Final games of season).

The Chevrolets played a doubleheader at Allenton Sunday, making up a postponed contest in one of the tilts, and split the twin bill. Kewaskum took the opener, 5-3, in 11 innings, and was whitewashed in the 7th inning nightcap, 8-0. The locals' victory in the first game shattered Allenton's title hopes, dropping them 2 1/2 games behind West Bend.

The heavy clubbing of Lloyd Petermann and Augie Bilgo and the fine clutch pitching of "Killy" Hencke won the opener. Petermann was the big gun with four bingles in six trips, while Bilgo collected three. Clem Schweitzer was the ace for Allenton with three safeties. The Chevys lashed out 13 hits off pitcher Schoenecker, who fanned six and walked three. Hencke was touched for 10 hits but was tough in the clinches. He struck out seven and walked only two. The Chevrolets had to come from behind to take the affair. Allenton was ahead, 2-0, up to the sixth but the "Kums scored one in the sixth and another in the 8th to knot the count and send the game into extra innings. Each team tallied a run in the 10th and the two went into the 11th inning. Here Bilgo and Dreher led off with hits and two infeld outs and an error accounted for the two winning runs.

Things were not so smooth in the brief, seven inning nightcap. Don Jonas pitched a great game in shutting out the Chevys, 8-0, on three hits. Jonas whiffed nine men and didn't give up a walk in his masterful seven inning performance. On the other hand Allenton pounded "Hefty" Backhaus for 12 hits in five and two-thirds innings. Petermann relieved him with two out in the 6th and gave up another safety before retiring the side and ending the tilt. Backhaus struck out three and walked one. The winners were in a clubbing mood as they banged out 12 hits in only six frames. They didn't need the last of the 7th. D. Roecker, with three for three, and B. Schoenecker, with three for four, were the powers with the bat. Kewaskum's skippy three hits were divided. The score was reasonable until the 6th when Allenton pushed over four markers.

Camera and Birdie Await Kewaskum Area Kiddies

Tuesday, Sept. 5, is the big day for the picture taking of your youngsters! The Statesman is having pictures taken of all children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Woodman hall between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. absolutely free of charge. The Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known children's photographers, will be in charge of the photography. The Statesman wants a picture of your child to print in its forthcoming feature "Citizens of Tomorrow," a series of photographic studies of local children. The more we get the better the feature will be, so the cooperation of mothers and fathers is urged.

It often seems to parents that children are little one minute and are grown up the next, so fast does a child's growing stage pass. Here is a splendid opportunity to catch a likeness of your child or children at this present stage for the pleasure you will get out of it in future years and for the pleasure you will enjoy in seeing it in print. You will want to clip it from this, your home town newspaper, and preserve it for the youngster when he or she grows up.

There is absolutely no charge or obligation for taking the pictures. Parents don't even have to be a subscriber to the Statesman, nor even a reader. You do not have to purchase pictures either, though you may obtain a limited number of additional prints by arranging direct with the studio if you want them. That is entirely up to you! There is no age limit.

That children are looking forward to the fun, since our previous announcement of this coming event, is shown in numerous instances.

New Radio Studio to Be Located in County

Formation of a new broadcasting organization in Washington county was announced Tuesday by Sherman Carr, Hartford, president and chief of the organization which will be known as the Kettle Moraine Broadcasting company. This is the second radio studio to locate in the county.

The new broadcasting company will have studios in West Bend and Hartford, according to Carr, with the transmitter to be located on the Walter Zastrow farm about two miles south of Hartford, one-half mile west of Highway 83.

Besides Carr, president and chief engineer, people involved in the corporation are Leo Durnall, Hartford, vice-president and program director, and Zastrow, secretary-treasurer and commercial manager.

Building of the transmitter at the Zastrow farm site and setting up of the tower for broadcasting is expected to get under way in about 10 days. The engineering staff of the radio station will build their own equipment from standard stock items. The control desk and transmitter will be custom built. The company has been organized for some time but formal announcement of the opening of the station was withheld until it was definitely ascertained that the work would get under way.

A 309 foot Blawn-Knox self-supporting steel tower has been purchased and will be erected at the transmitter location. The station will have 500 watts power and will operate on a frequency of 1540 kilocycles, Carr stated. The station will probably serve an area of 3,100 square miles with a service radius of approximately 40 odd miles.

The station will operate from 5 a. m. daily until local sunset. Call letters have not been issued as yet. It is hoped to get the station on the air by Jan. 1. Authority to go ahead with the station was received by the owners on Aug. 24 from the Federal Communications Commission at Washington, D. C.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Showdown Battle Looms in Korea; Jacob Malik Stops U. N. Action; House Votes Home-Front Controls

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

KOREA:

Showdown Near

On the fifth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japan, Communist and United Nations troops were involved in a series of maneuvers and probing thrusts that indicated a showdown battle was near.

In the north the Communists made their most important gains with the capture of Pohang and forcing U.S. troops to evacuate an important airfield. American and South Korean forces were in action against a Red unit west of that city.

In the west, the Communists had crossed the Nakdong river at two points, north and south of Taegu. At one point 12,000 Red troops had crossed the river and counter-attacking Americans attempted to throw them back with some success.

The Communists were reported to have 60,000 men massed in that area for the all-out drive to push United Nations forces from Korea.

In the south, U.S. marines consolidated their positions just four miles outside Chinju and continued to mop up isolated Red groups cut off by the American drive.

Military observers reported the Communist time-table had been upset by the stubborn defense of U.S. and South Korean forces. The Reds had set August 15 as the date for final victory and their so-called "liberation" of South Korea. A final and desperate attempt to gain that victory seemed but a matter of hours.

Meanwhile, American jet fighters and bombers continued raids on North Korean installations and ground positions. One striking force dropped 625 tons of bombs in a raid on an oil refinery.

The Navy announced the first combat use of a new rocket-type missile, the Tiny Tim, a 11.75-inch armor-piercing rocket. The rocket was credited with knocking out 13 Communist locomotives and destroying a bridge.

HOME-FRONT:

Truman Gets Power

The house voted, 383 to 12, a broad home-front mobilization bill that gave the President power to control prices and wages, ration consumer goods and impose industrial curbs to speed up the war effort. The senate also had a similar bill under consideration.

Some kind of control bill had been expected for some time, but there were several surprising aspects to the one the house voted. In the first place, the vote of 383 to 12 was startling. But even more startling was the fact the house, which usually jealously guards its authority and power, left it entirely up to the President when to invoke the price-wage-rationing and other control powers contained in the bill.

Mr. Truman insisted he was not ready for severe restrictions upon civilian economy. And although the bill gives him that power, it is not believed that such broad scale mobilization will be invoked. However, the reported anxious to use some of the industrial controls, particularly the power to allocate scarce materials to war industries.

If and when the President invokes controls, the bill stipulates he must peg wages at the May 24-June 25 level. For prices he would have to give only "due consideration" to the period as a base.

The bill would:

- (1) Give the President authority to impose wage and price controls and rationing at any time he deems necessary.
- (2) Make it a criminal offense, punishable by a $10,000 fine and a year in jail, to hoard food, clothing, automobile tires and other "necessaries."
- (3) Authorize the President to exercise consumer credit controls similar to those used during World War II.
- (4) Authorize the President to requisition materials and factories necessary to the defense effort.
- (5) Let the President set up a system of priorities and allocations for getting strategic and critical materials to defense plants.
- (6) Authorize the government to make or guarantee loans for defense purpose. The total of loans outstanding at any one time could not exceed $2 billion.

ESPIONAGE:

Suspect No. 7

Mrs. Ethel Greenglass Rosenberg, 34, mother of two children, was arrested by the F.B.I. as suspect No. 7 in the Harry Gold-Dr. Klaus Fuchs atom spy case. She was held under $100,000 bail.

Her 32-year-old husband also is under $100,000 bond. The F.B.I. said when he was arrested July 17 that he belonged to a spy ring financed by Anatoli Yakovlev, former Soviet vice consul in New York.

Mrs. Rosenberg was accused of conspiring with her husband, Julius, and others to recruit her brother, David Greenglass, into gathering "classified information concerning the atomic bomb for the Soviet Union."

Miles J. Lane, chief assistant U. S. attorney told the U. S. commissioner: "If the crime with which she is charged had not occurred perhaps we would not have had the present situation in Korea."

Presumably he meant possession of stolen A-bomb secrets gave the Communists confidence.

American Armor

A sight to cheer the GI's who fought the first holding actions against the North Korean Communists was the line of medium tanks, shown as they moved up the front lines to add their weight to the battle. Such tanks are often dug in and used as pillboxes.

UNITED NATIONS:

Anger and Frustration

Delegates to the U. N. security council watched with disgust as Russia's Jacob A. Malik blocked every move of the Organization to continue with its business after two weeks under his chairmanship.

Non-Communist delegates were angered and frustrated by his tactics, but were resigned to waiting it out until his chairmanship ended today, August 31 and Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain takes over.

Malik's strategy had been designed to stall any action of the organization on the Korean situation and to create as much propaganda as possible for the Communist cause. Some quarters believed that Malik scored some success along that line.

He continued to drum the theme that South Korea started the war and accused the United States of using "inhuman and barbarous methods of waging war in Korea." The western delegates hit back much more forcefully than ever before. U.S. delegate Warren Austin pinned the responsibility for the North Korean invasion on the Russians—as the men behind the men behind the guns. Sir Gladwyn made biting attacks on the entire philosophy under which the Kremlin operates.

The western attack seemed to hit home. Malik seemed a little harassed at times and talked much faster and gestured more often. Malik stated during one of the rounds that the only Russian arms possessed by the North Koreans were those "we sold to them when Soviet forces withdrew from Korea." It was the first time Malik or any other Soviet leader had admitted that North Koreans were using Soviet weapons.

The statements exposed Malik as a liar before the world because late model weapons have been captured from the Communists that were not even developed at the time the Russians were supposed to have withdrawn from North Korea. One such weapon was a late model mortar shell.

POLITICS:

An Issue Found

Four important Republican senators, members of the foreign relations committee, issued an indictment of Democratic diplomatic failures, charging the administration's policy invited Russia "to grab whatever it could in China, Korea, and Formosa."

Senators Wiley of Wisconsin, Smith of New Jersey, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Lodge of Massachusetts signed the statement that demanded the United States take immediate steps to "regain the initiative and the power for the organization and preservation of lasting peace, which it threw away in 1945."

The senators charged that the administration was responsible for "the disintegration of our armed forces in 1945," evidently forgetting that Republicans and Democrats both answered the screams of mothers and fathers throughout the nation to let their boys come home.

Republican leaders said they will discuss this issue in the congressional campaigns and expect their national committee soon to lay down a documentary "white paper" to support their position.

In other words, the Republicans believed they had found an issue for the coming political campaigns.

Income Up

The national production of goods and services boomed up to an annual rate of nearly 270 billion dollars in the second quarter of 1950, the commerce department announced. It is the highest quarter on record.

The 270-billion mark represented a sharp climb from the annual rate of 254 billion in the last quarter of 1949, and 263 billion in the first quarter of 1950.

National production in the second quarter did not reflect the Korean fighting, which began June 25, only a few days before the end of the period, the department reported.

The President's council of economic advisers said last week the country could and should raise its production to 350 billion by 1955.

The previous high was 267 billion, in the last quarter of 1948. Investments increased more than 5 billion during the period. Observers have predicted a continued boom in national production of goods and services.

WALLACE:

Makes Up His Mind

Henry A. Wallace resigned from the Progressive party. In a short (only two paragraphs) letter to his former political aide, C. B. Baldwin, he wrote:

"In view of actions recently taken by the national committee of the Progressive party and the various state committees, I am convinced I can more effectively serve the cause of peace by resigning from the national committee and the executive committee of the Progressive party."

"You will, therefore, take this letter as my formal resignation from the party."

It was the third time that Wallace has broken off political affiliations, and, some observers pointed out, a confession on his part that the Progressive party is too left wing for even his tastes.

He started his political career as an Iowa Republican. When the New Deal came into power in 1933, Mr. Wallace became a Democrat, first as secretary of agriculture and then Vice-President of the United States in Franklin D. Roosevelt's third term. In 1946 he quit the Democratic party and his cabinet post. In 1948 he was the Progressive party's candidate for president. His candidacy, polling 500,000 votes in New York, cost Mr. Truman the empire state but not the election.

In recent days, the question has been whether Wallace would accept the Progressive's foreign policy line, obviously dictated by Communists in the party.

TAXATION:

Cost Will Be High

The senate finance committee served notice that the cost of war in Korea would be higher with its unanimous approval of increased individual income taxes amounting to about $3 billion.

The senate and house were expected to approve the legislation.

Main points of the bill: 1. Dig deeper into the pockets of more than 50,000,000 individual taxpayers October 1. Withholding of wages and salaries, after personal exemption, will jump from the present 15 per cent to 18 per cent.

2. The actual increase in taxes will be around 20 per cent for millions of persons in the lower income brackets. For 1950, the present tax would apply on three-fourths of income, and the higher rates on one-fourth. In 1951 and thereafter the higher rates would apply on all income.

3. GI's fighting in Korea would pay no tax at all, and their officers would get reductions in their taxes, too. The tax exemption would not apply to servicemen and service women outside the war zones.

PROPAGANDA:

Straight to Cemetery

Russian propaganda at times has been ridiculous. The newest blast was directed against American football.

Radio Moscow said recently: "Football players at the University of Michigan are often carried from the football field to the hospital or even straight to the cemetery."

Moscow pictured American athletes driven to slaughter by greedy promoters. In fact, Moscow cried that it all was inspired by Wall Street to get the American public conditioned for war.

In retaliation, the Voice of America offered to buy a season pass for any accredited Russian correspondent who wants to see the University of Michigan football team play.

Said the U. S.: "The voice will gladly offer a season's pass to all games of the University of Michigan to an accredited U.S.S.R. correspondent to see for himself. We can assure him that he'll have no expense for flowers or wreaths."

All-Out Battle

Capture of Pohang (1) and U. S. last ditch defense of air strip highlight Korean war news. Reds mass tanks (2) for attack near Waegwan. A battle raged at the Puzong-ni (3) bridgehead. In the south (4) the three-pronged U. S. advance stopped at outskirts of Chinju.

CHURCHILL:

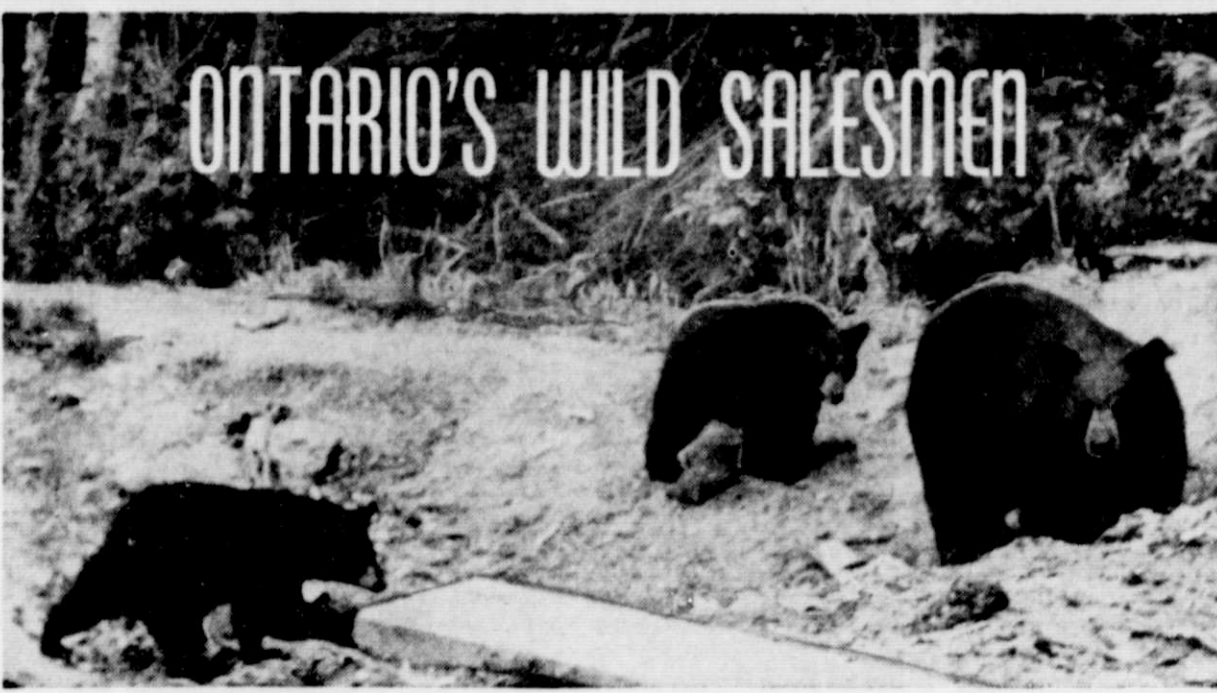

The Old War-Horse

Winston Churchill roared again in the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe, warning of Europe's weaknesses and stating flatly that America's shielded Europe from Communist aggression. He proposed a unified army for Europe and the council approved by a vote of 89 to 5.

A number of critics said the old war-horse had gone too far, but others considered it a major victory.

Churchill told the 15-nation assembly: "We in this assembly have no responsibility or executive power, but we are bound to give our warning and our counsel. There must be created, in the shortest possible time, a real defensive front in Europe. Great Britain and the United States must send large forces to the continent."

"The question which challenges us is: 'Shall we have the time?' No one can answer that question for certain. To assume that we were too late would be to give way to the very madness of despair."

Ontario's forests, almost twice the area of Texas, is a cageless menagerie that attracts thousands of tourists. Teddy (above), 400-pound black bear at Fort William, Ontario, being put through his antics by Dorsen Klanac, is Ontario's most photographed bear. It's all right for Dorsen to put him through his antics, but it is not suggested for the tourist.

A yearling moose (above) waits on lake-shore near Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, for anglers to leave his food supply of lily pods. Closed seasons on moose hunting for the last three years has greatly increased population of this majestic animal. Tourists would rather hunt for pictures like this than with a gun.

Next to its 400,000 square miles of lake-studded forests, Ontario's wild animals are the greatest producers of travel business, attracting some 20,000,000 Americans each year. The Ontario department of travel reports the great majority of Americans want to see and photograph wild animals like the bears in the above picture. Thousands of tourists visit Ontario to see such animal antics as a husky (left) mothering a weak old moose. The baby moose, someday it will weigh 1500 pounds, was brought from the bush after its mother died in foaling.

Gerry White (above) feeds a fawn as the two meet near a swimming hole in Algonquin Park, Ontario's 3000-square-mile game preserve. Ontario officials believe "wild salesmen" like this deer is the most important part of their program of selling Americans to visit in Canada. Deer in the park graze by the roadsides without fear of tourists.

Since the beginning of time it has been the foot soldier that has been the backbone of every army. Above American tanks and infantry are shown moving up to their defense line. These are the men who fight and die and win wars.

MEN AT WAR

Time-Honored Foot Soldier Still Backbone of Every Nation's Army

A South Korean army band stood on the dock playing marches as the U.S. troopship pulled along side. A marine, leaning against the rail, cracked:

"Well, beat me around the ears and call me stupid! The Koreans are playing trombones. What you know about that?" But the marine who stood beside him had a serious reply: "They got other Koreans that don't play trombones, jughead. Just see that you don't get them mixed up."

That is the American soldier—the strangest individual that ever made up an army. By all standards he should be the poorest fighting machine in the world for all of his training and equipment. Surprisingly he is good. Sometimes he is extremely brave, and as often as not scared about half to death.

He is inclined to manufacture a language of his own, punctuated with profanity, and direct it at every conceivable object. He hates authority and regimentation, but he obeys orders.

Backbone of an Army

At home, parents and sisters and sweethearts and wife are inclined to wrap him in a cloak of righteousness that is an illusion. On the battle front he is tough.

Since the time of ancient Egypt when that nation spread across the eastern shores of the Mediterranean and conquered all of the known world, it has been the foot soldier that has been the backbone of every army. And even today, with atomic bombs and planes and great fleets, it is still the time-honored foot soldier who fights and dies and wins wars.

During World War I American soldiers stood in the trenches that stretched across France and won the conflict. When it was over the experts said the use of the foot soldier was a thing of the past. But it took millions to win World War II.

Today it is the foot-sore GI, dirty and unshaven and weary, with the pain and reality of death reflected in sunken eyes, who is shuffling across the rice-paddies of Korea. Again they must win a war no matter how much help they get from jet fighters and great bombers.

GI Tells His View

But the story of the war in Korea and just what today's GI is like can often be told in the words of the Smiths and Jones and Ebensteins and McClellans who are getting shot at and trying to kill as many Communists as possible.

Like the answer a marine received when he observed the terrain looked rugged from where he stood on a transport's deck: "Yeah, and you are gonna get a nice close look at that rugged terrain pretty soon and you had better damn well gather up some bunches of it, for these Joes' feet have been backing up long enough," his buddy replied.

Some of them are not men yet. Like the youngsters who solemnly assured a war correspondent, "Yes, sir, I have to shave twice a week." He was the youth that watched 10 of his buddies stripped of their clothing and made to run over sharp stones until they dropped and were slaughtered.

How did he feel about it? "I don't know," he said, "but I was very sad and I vomited." Then there is the cocky, confident Jones and Smiths and Johnsons. He is the kind who says, "We think we can kick the hell out of the Communists."

And there is the more serious one, who sees a little beyond the present. "This is one time that we ain't just braggin'. If we don't stop the Communists here we'll be trying to stop them some day on our home ground. We don't want to have to do that. That's why we're here."

What the private and corporal says is often reflected by his officers who march and fight with him. This is what one had to say about the Korean fighting:

"I don't know where to start on this. These last three weeks have been pretty rough. We're getting help here now. That's something we sure didn't have when we started. What makes it so difficult here is that you can't tell the damn North Koreans from the South Koreans. That caused a lot of slaughter."

"We had a narrow escape here about two or three days ago. Lost a lot of good men. Hope we never get into a scrape like that again. Present time we're trying to regroup."

Reasons Become Clearer

"There's no question how this will come out. We'll come out on top. It's going to take a lot more—a lot more than we have over here. This affair is more than a police action. It's something—gigantic. I know it is. Been through the Pacific and part of the European campaign, but I never ran into anything like this before."

There is the funny side of every situation and some of the instances shed light upon the Korean war and the men fighting it.

A jittery engineer command post behind the U.S. lines fought a five-hour battle one night but the cold light of dawn revealed that the only casualties were several dogs of unknown nationality.

"Never saw so much fire for so little," said one sleepish Major. "If we had hit a North Korean with every shot fired the war would be over."

The post had been raided the night before. That night the men fired at every moving bush. "I suppose it's funny when you look back on it, but it wasn't funny last night," one soldier said the next day.

These are the Smiths and Jones and Ebensteins and McClellans fighting in Korea, the men and boys who will be the seasoned troops of the U.S. army of tomorrow. Their own words give a picture of themselves and the Korean war.

In their words are many truths: the fear and courage and sadness and confusion of men fighting for their lives. And there is a spark of idealism that can be found only in a democracy and among free people.

It was much the same in the last war. Then, perhaps, the reasons for the killing were more clearly drawn than at the present time, but the reasons are becoming clearer each day. The men on the battle front seem to realize it quicker than those at home and it is from them the Jones and Smiths and Ebensteins and McClellans on the home front draw their courage. It has always been so; it will continue to be.

New GI Has No Illusion About War

The average teen aged GI is going off to war with no illusions about liking it—just a grim resolve to get it over with. From a shipping out point, comes this report:

"Their general attitude seems to be that of one who is about to get a bitter dose of medicine—might as well get it over with because it's going to happen anyway. They are definitely sobered. They feel that the vacation is ended and they have a job to do. The general opinion is, 'This had to come.'"

AT HOME . . . The GI is wrapped in a cloak of righteousness.

MIRROR Of Your MIND Can Sisters Be Mutual Friends? By Lawrence Gould

Are two sisters often real friends?

Answer: Not if they are of nearly the same age. If they are far enough apart so that the older can take a maternal attitude toward the younger, deep affection may grow up between them. But if they are close together, they will usually be so jealous of each other that their mutual feelings are unconsciously or openly hostile. The same principle applies to brothers except that because they're more apt to have friends and interests away from home, they are thrown into less active competition for prestige or their parents' favor.

children to answer such queries as "Did you know that you are adopted?" or "Who are your 'real' father and mother?" For unless the children know the facts and have been told what to say, their playmates will make life miserable for them.

May high living standards breed neuroses?

Should adopted children have 'ready-made answers'?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Arthur L. Rautman of Carleton College, Minnesota. Obsolete but still surviving prejudices will expose such children—and their foster parents—to rude questions from people who know no better, and the parents should not only anticipate this but prepare the where there is no choice, real or imagined, there can be no conflict. A man who has no alternative to working sixteen hours a day if he wants to survive will adjust himself to endless drudgery almost automatically—or else give up and die. But the man who knows he will be taken care of somehow if he is unable to work may be driven against his conscious will into a physical or mental illness by his childish (and unconscious) desire to be rid of his responsibilities and do nothing but "enjoy life."

LOOKING AT RELIGION

A LARGE FAMILY OF CHILDREN WAS CONSIDERED A GREAT BLESSING IN BIBLE TIMES. THEY WERE SUBJECT TO THE FATHER IN ALL THINGS, AND WERE LIABLE TO BE SOLD INTO BONDAGE FOR HIS DEBTS. THE FIRST-BORN SON RECEIVED A DOUBLE PORTION OF HIS FATHER'S ESTATE, THE DAUGHTERS NOTHING.

Medical Treatment of Severe Goiter

By Dr. James W. Barton

I HAVE WRITTEN before of a physician friend who walked from his home to my office, a distance of four blocks, sat down for a couple of minutes, then asked me to take his pulse rate. The pulse rate was 72 which is normal. He then informed me that he had undergone surgical removal of the serious type of goiter, exophthalmic goiter, just three weeks before. His pulse rate before operation was 110 and his basal metabolism rate 25 above normal.

It is because of this rapid recovery after surgical removal of the thyroid gland that operation is the favorite treatment for serious goiter (rapid heart beat, trembling, bulging eyes).

However, there are cases in which surgical operation is not advisable and so other methods of treating exophthalmic goiter must be considered. For this reason some cases are treated by X-ray or radium and others by medical treatment.

In Annals of Clinical Medicine, Buenos Aires, Dr. E. S. Mazzei

states that propylthiouracil is the most reliable drug in the treatment of serious goiter. The necessary or therapeutic dose is smaller than that of thiouracil and is well tolerated. The beginning dosage is 150 mg. divided into three or four fractional or divided doses given at regular intervals.

The daily dose can be reduced to 25 or 50 mg. at a later date and is maintained for six months or longer provided no reactions occur. To make sure that too much propylthiouracil is not given, the basal metabolism test is made to prevent the opposite effect of goiter—slowness of heart beat and excess fat—occurring.

This drug, propylthiouracil, is recommended in (1) cases of moderate goiter with goiter of moderate size and without pressure on the windpipe (trachea), (2) when surgical operation might be dangerous, (3) in teen-age boys and girls, (4) the elderly, and in patients with heart disease, and (4) when a patient refuses operation.

HEALTH NOTES

Myxedema, the condition in which the thyroid gland is not manufacturing enough thyroid juice, is one of the commonest causes of mental illness.

Less surgery will be necessary in eye, ear, nose and throat afflictions in the future because of penicillin and other germ-killing methods.

World War II taught physicians and surgeons some new methods of treatment.

Nervousness, in addition to causing bloating, upsets the various organs of digestion.

Undernourishment in certain localities may be because of poor soil in those localities.

You can increase the size or capacity of your chest by walking more.

Some signs of melancholia are: slowness in walking, talking and answering questions, staring expression with glassy eyes, loss of appetite and weight, nervousness, insomnia.

A small proportion of any group of individuals has a high proportion of the accidents which occur to the entire group.

Proper carriage gives the lungs more room to expand, enabling them to draw in sufficient pure air and breathe out impure air.

Benadryl is helping many cases of hay fever in patients who have had several series of injections of ragweed pollen.

Too many white cells in the blood cause a condition called Leukemia.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Keep Vegetable Interest High (See Recipes Below)

Vary Your Vegetables VEGETABLES appear on the menu so often, homemakers often find themselves at a loss as to how variety may be introduced in their service.

If you're doing some baking, why not bake the vegetable, too? If your menu plans include a meal prepared on top of the range, why not pan-fry the vegetables, or make a sauce to add sparkle to them?

Sauces do excellent things to vegetables which you've been used to serving in the same, old, boiled way with just salt and pepper as seasonings.

Then, too, there are combinations of vegetables that can be pleasing, like lima beans with corn, carrots and parsnips, green pepper and onions with limas and zucchini squash with tomatoes.

Vegetables can be varied simply by their treatment: carrots in timbales, potatoes in pancakes, molded asparagus.

IF YOU'RE serving two vegetables, pick them for flavor and color contrasts, like this combination of potatoes and green beans: *Green Beans, Butter Herb Sauce (Serves 6)

- 1 1/2 pounds beans
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup finely minced onion
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/2 teaspoon thyme
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Cook beans in boiling salted water until tender. Fry onions in melted butter until tender but not brown, about 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and pour over hot, cooked beans.

Cheesed Potatoes (Serves 6)
8 medium new potatoes
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup minced chives
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Cook potatoes in jackets; drain and return to low heat, for 2 to 3 minutes, shaking gently until they are hot and mealy. Turn into a hot serving dish. Meanwhile, melt butter, add minced chives, seasonings and cheese. Pour hot cheese mixture over potatoes. Sprinkle with extra chives and a dash of paprika.

Baked Succotash (Serves 8)
2 cups dried lima beans
4 cups water
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup dark molasses
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 1/2 cups cooked (12-ounce can) whole kernel corn
4 strips bacon
Soak beans in water overnight. Add 1 teaspoon salt; bring to boiling point; simmer but do not boil about 45 minutes. Drain; save water and measure; add water from corn to make 3/4 cup liquid. Mix liquid, molasses, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, onion, and remaining 1 1/2 teaspoons salt. Combine beans and corn. Pour into a 2-quart bean pot. Arrange strips of bacon over top. Cover and bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F.) 1 hour. Uncover and bake 30 minutes.

Lima Bean Casserole (Serves 6)
1 pound large lima beans
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup fat
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 can tomato soup
1/2 cup water
Soak clean beans several hours or overnight in water to cover. Simmer slowly until tender. Brown chopped peppers and onions in the fat and add the light corn syrup, tomato soup and half cup of water. Place drained limas in greased casserole and pour other mixture over them. Bake two hours in moderate oven.

Potato Pancakes (Serves 4-6)
6 medium-sized raw potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons melted fat
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon grated onion
4 tablespoons fat
Pare potatoes. Grate. Add flour, eggs, salt, 2 teaspoons melted fat, milk and onion and mix well. Heat remaining fat in heavy frying pan. Drop tablespoons of potato mixture into it. Fry, turning to brown on both sides.

Carrot Timbales (Serves 6)
2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
5 large carrots, cut in pieces
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups soft bread cubes (1/4-inch size)
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Melt shortening in a small saucepan. Blend in flour and salt. Add milk and cook until thick. Clean and scrape carrots. Cut carrots in pieces and cook them in small amount of water until tender. Drain off remaining liquid. Add butter to carrots and mash them together. Combine mashed carrots and butter with bread cubes, beaten eggs, onion, parsley, nutmeg, salt and white sauce. Place mixture in 6 well-greased individual custard cups. Place cups in a shallow baking dish, partially filled with hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 35 minutes. Unmold and serve with sauce.

To freshen vegetables and remove insects, soak bud, head and fruit group vegetables in cold water to which salt has been added. Yellow vegetables are among the most stable as to color and vitamin content. Use them often to get Vitamin A which will help you resist infections.

Cream sauce, either plain or with cheese added, will glorify many a vegetable when it's served as a leftover. Use this idea, too, when combining two small amounts of leftover vegetables.

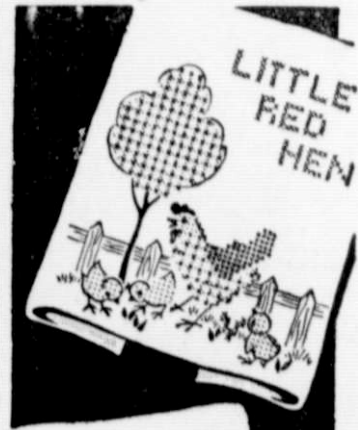

Many leftover vegetables can be pureed to use in a cream soup. These include peas, carrots, green beans, broccoli, spinach, potatoes and lima beans.

To make drawn butter sauce for vegetables like artichokes and asparagus, melt butter and let the salt settle. Pour over the clear oil and serve.

Water changes the oils of white vegetables and turns them yellow or brown. Add 1 teaspoon of lemon juice to cooking water for cabbage, cauliflower and onions to help prevent this.

GOOD CITIZEN

People Acting Together Make Strong Community and Nation

This is the ninth of a series of ten articles from the booklet "Good Citizens" published by The American Heritage Foundation...

The eighth promise of a good citizen: I will try to make my community a better place in which to live.

From other countries came groups which settled together at a "good bend in the creek."

Neighbors built cabins near each other, leaned on each other, worked with each other, protected each other.

Man has always liked someone to talk to; someone else to walk with, to learn with, to worship with, to run races against...

found that by their joint efforts they could achieve something far greater than they could hope to accomplish singly.

The more things that people working together in a community can do without depending upon the federal or state government, the more our individual rights will be preserved, the stronger our nation will be.

YOU HAVE cast your vote and paid your taxes. Don't stop there. There is also an intangible obligation to make a community a little better for the time you have lived in it.

You don't have to be a professional do-gooder to be a good citizen. No matter how busy he is, in addition to church and school, nearly everybody can find time for at least one community activity.

The spirit which motivates these groups is what makes one community so much better to live in than another town the same size which doesn't have the spirit.

"IN THE MAKING OF A TOWN," William Allen White said of Emporia: "... the material—the brick and stone and mortar and lumber that make up this town, are but a small part of it."

with a on a desert island; she is frank, intelligent, and has a sense of humor second to none.

Gloria Swanson is likely to be known as the Iron Woman if she continues her current routine.

Ruth Roman, while working in "Three Secrets", paused long enough to order a swimming pool.

Show Business Offers Heart Break to Stage-Struck Girl

As everyone and his Aunt Esmerelda knows, there's no business like show business for the fortunate few who make the grade.

A few months later, thanks to a stage manager who took a shine to her, she got her first part—a three-line role in a two-act play that lasted four performances.

For a solid and sobering year after that, Judy made the rounds, eating the usual health salads and waiting on tables to pay for her furnished (after a fashion) room.

THE DAY AFTER the play opened out of town, Judy wired her folks they wouldn't have to help her any more, and when George mer stock company. He asked her to come on the part of Judy Linden—a typical farm girl whose accent was pure Midwest, and whose face and figure were more sile than sex.

THE ADDITION WENT off without a hitch or hesitation, and Judy was in the heaven above seventh when the director complimented her on how well she read her lines.

Last April, after three grim years of scratch-as-scratch-acting, Judy was handed the script of Keith Winters' old hit, "The Shining Hour," by the director of a sum-

THE FICTION CORNER

"DOING BETTER" By Richard H. Wilkinson

Laurie, Sam Edgewater's pretty daughter, brought in the news. "There's a nester squatting in our lower range," she said.

Sam Edgewater took one look into his daughter's angry eyes and sent for Tex Tremont and Chuck Wellington.

Sam explained briefly what Laurie had said, and added: "We'll ride down and warn him off. No violence this first trip. But we'll make it clear he ain't going to be allowed to stay."

"Howdy gents," he said. "Climb down and squat awhile."

"Never mind the formalities, mister, I'm Sam Edgewater and I own this property. We don't tolerate nesters."

"This town is the child of many prayers. This town is the ideal real-ized only after those who dreamed the ideal, laid them down to rest with the dream still a dream. His town is the fruit of a great aspiration, and we who live here now, have a debt to posterity that we can pay only by still achieving, still pursuing; we must learn to labor and to wait, even as they learned it who built here on this townsite when it was raw upland prairie..."

The redhead grinned. "Well, if you got papers to prove it's yours, I suppose I'll have to get off. Otherwise, I'm staying."

Sam's face grew purple. He turned to Chuck and Tex. "Boys, you forget what I said about warnin' this jigger. We're gonna have a show-down right now. Kick him out!"

None of them saw the redhead move, but suddenly he had a gun in his hand. It exploded and Tex was staring down at his shattered wrist.

The redhead wasn't grinning. He looked at Chuck. "Well, mister, I guess you're Edgewater's hired gunman too. How about it, want to try earnin' your pay?"

Chuck looked mad but helpless. He wasn't a fool. Sam recovered after a moment from the shock of what had happened. He ordered his men back on their horses. "O. K.," he said. "You win this play, Red, but we'll be back."

"Yeah," jeered the redhead. "Next time bring a dozen with you."

EIGHT DAYS later Sam rode down to the lower range at the head of seven grim-faced punchers.

"Son," said Sam Edgewater, "we don't want to hurt you none, but we aim to kick you off this land. You must have sense enough to realize you ain't got a chance, playing a lone hand."

The redhead grinned. "The government," he said, "allowed I could have this here land. However, you look to me like a square shooter, so I'll make you a square proposition. I'll take on any three of your heroes single handed—and agree not to marry your daughter if they beat me."

The redhead wasn't grinning. None of them saw him move but suddenly he had a gun in his hand.

INSPIRATION Casting out Fear AN EDITORIAL

ON MANY OCCASIONS, Christ counselled against fear. He knew there were many fears that could take hold of a man until they worked destruction—fear of himself, fear of others, fear of suffering and of poverty, fear of failure and of death.

Christ's admonitions against fear were not the encouragement of a mere optimist. He recognized that there are things men ought to fear. But He stressed that there are other things which we ought not to fear at all.

Irrational fears bespeak a want of faith in God. Whoever believes firmly in God's wise and beneficent providence is untouched by fear. He knows that the Kingdom of God is possible even on earth; that love is stronger than hate; that the truth is mightier than any lie.

Korean War Increases Church Attendance In Some Areas of U.S.

NEW YORK—Reports from various sections of the country disclose that in some areas there has been a marked increase in church attendance as a result of the Korean war.

Clergymen in Dallas, Texas, said they hadn't seen such large summer crowds since the troubled days of World Wars I and II.

One Dallas minister said the crowds made it appear it was Easter instead of a time when church attendance ordinarily slumps because many members are on vacation.

Nearly all Dallas ministers agreed that it was a fear of another global war and a hunt for the security of religion that prompted such crowds.

A poll of clergymen in Atlanta, Ga., showed attendance was up in almost every church in the city. The clergymen attributed the upsurge to a spiritual craving sharpened by the Korean situation.

Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church and former head of the Southern Baptist convention, summed up the consensus of Atlanta ministers when he stated:

"I don't know to what extent increased church attendance is reflecting the Korean crisis, but certainly church-goers are considerably sobered."

Philip Merivale was making his first movie for Hollywood. The studio executives did their best to make him feel at home, but his director was a little apprehensive on the first day of shooting. "I know it must be hard for you, Mr. Merivale," he said, "working without an audience."

"Not at all," answered Mr. Merivale. "I've just been acting Shakespeare in New York."

A New Jersey man, who is one of those auto cowboys, crashed through a red light at a busy intersection in New York City. The officer on duty waved the driver to a stop, stepped up to the car and handed him his revolver. "Hey, Bud," he said, "use this. It's quicker."

Obliging Carrier Finally Gets Mad

Bill Nelson, Salt Lake City, mail carrier, was stopped one morning as he set out by a woman who lives on one end of his route who asked for her mail.

Cheerfully Bill put down his mail sack, unstrapped several packs of letters, rifled through them and finally came up with one letter for the woman.

She moaned that the letter was only an advertisement and handed it back to Bill with instructions to leave it at her house.

So Bill, still cheerful, put down his mail sack, unstrapped several packs of letters, etc., to replace the letter at the bottom of the heap.

That was all right. But the next day Bill had a COD package for 35c for the same woman. She refused to part with a 50c piece in her purse and asked Bill to change a $100 bill.

Although she still has her 50c piece, Bill also has her package, and says as far as he is concerned, things can stay that way.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If you have trouble getting the shell to separate from hard-boiled eggs, run cold water over the eggs as soon as you take them out of the boiling water.

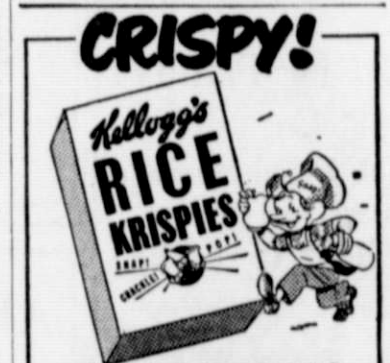

To improve the flavor of roast lamb and get rid of that "sheepish" taste, pour molasses over the meat while it's roasting.

Vinegar in the water used to boil or poach eggs will keep the eggs firm. Also, in the case of an aluminum pot, the vinegar will help to prevent the pot from turning color.

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. ## County Youths Win Blue Ribbons at State Fair

—H and PFA youth of Washington county entered a total of 50 dairy and beef animals at the state fair Aug. 19-22. According to Everett Olsen, county 4-H club agent, 17 of the 22 dairy animals came home with blue ribbons. Of the 18 beef animals, six blue ribbons were brought back to the county. This was the largest junior fair exhibit on record, hence, competition was very keen. In the dairy classes the animals were judged according to the Danish system. In this way more than one animal in a class may receive a blue or first place ribbon if the animal merits such a placing. In the beef classes the animals were judged with the conventional method of placing. This explains the lower rating for these classes. Following is a list of Washington county exhibitors and placings:
