

Doris Trott is Bride of Bernard Hatemann

Bouquets of gladioli and asters decorated the altar of Zion Evangelical Lutheran church in the town of Wayne for the wedding ceremony of Miss Doris Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trott, R. 3, West Bend, and Bernard Hatemann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hatemann of this village.

The nuptial rite was read by the Rev. Walter D. Norenson at 2 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 2.

During the service Mrs. La Salle Falk sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Martin Steinbach on the organ.

The bride wore a white satin gown having a round neckline, net yoke, fitted bodice, full bouffant skirt, and long train. Lace trimmed the skirt and the train.

Her flowers were an oval shaped shower bouquet of white gladioli and baby mums centered with an orchid.

Lace scalloped enhanced the skirt which was styled with a long, lace edged train. A bonnet trimmed with lace and seed pearls held her fingertip veil which was edged in lace. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of red roses, white mums and white carnations tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Stanley Brodzeller, a sister of the groom, was the matron of honor. In a gown of orchid net and satin. A net yoked edged with folds of satin topped the fitted bodice. The full skirt was fashioned of net. Yellow roses and orchid carnations were in her colonial bouquet.

Household Hints

The night before baking day, wrap your shortening in waxed paper and put it into the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. In the morning it'll be hard enough to shred on a metal grater. This makes mixing it with the flour and other ingredients much easier.

There's no need to color margarine for baking purposes. Add as much coloring as that amount of margarine requires right to the batter. The cake, or whatever you're making, will come out exactly the same color as it would have if you had colored the margarine itself.

The now famous note of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which President Truman personally ordered withdrawn, gave the people of the U.S. the most unparalleled spectacle of a President telling an American general to mind his own business and leave foreign policy to the White House.

In his note General MacArthur declared Formosa is vital to America's far east defenses and must remain in non-Communist hands. He went so far as to say that many did not understand "the pattern of oriental psychology to respect and follow aggressive, resolute, and dynamic leadership."

To pursue any other course than holding our Pacific positions would expose our friends in the Orient "to the lustful thrusts of those who stand for slavery against liberty, for atheism as against God."

In personally ordering the note withdrawn, the President set forth the official American policy—the United States has no designs on Formosa, we are guarding it to keep the war from spreading, and its future as a former Japanese territory is a subject for international settlement.

Republicans, however, quickly made political meat of the note and put it into the congressional record. Observers also were of the opinion Communist nations would use it as propaganda expounding U.S. 'imperialistic' designs upon Asia.

It is an unfortunate breach between the military and high civilian levels. Nothing like it has been spotlighted on the American scene since Lincoln's troubles with his generals and cabinet members.

POLITICS: What's The Issue? An unusual, almost unique, situation has developed on the American political scene. In the midst of war, with the highest number of employed in several years, with prosperity at a new peak, congress must adjourn soon so many of its members can campaign for reelection. But the question is: What will be the issues?

Four months ago there were a number of issues. Among them were such questions as reduced spending, slashing or increasing armed forces, and communism with the government. Many of those campaign issues have been cast aside and others must be found to take their place. Criticism of the conduct of the war seems the most likely.

The senators and representatives are faced with another question. Should they go home to campaign now, or wait until the international picture has cleared and the Korean war has reached a definite phase? They will be criticized whatever they do.

The political picture is further confused for a smashing pre-election victory in Korea could give the Democrats immediate needed support and would knock the Republicans' campaign of criticism of the war's conduct into the ash can.

It is one of the most unusual situations ever to face a congress.

CASUALTIES: Climb to 100,000 The Korean war is now in its third month. In this time the war has taken a toll of more than 100,000 killed, wounded or missing on both sides.

It is a rough estimate, observers reported, with nothing official from North Korean sources, and United States losses are not up to date.

The estimate was broken down as follows: North Korean losses — frontline, 50,000; killed and wounded by strafing and bombing front, 20,000; losses among guerrillas and in sea actions, 10,000; civilians killed or wounded by long-range bombing attacks as announced by North Korean radio at Pyongyang, 11,500.

UN losses — American casualties (non-officials and estimated by several sources which were not named), more than 500; South Korean battle losses, more than 20,000; South Korean civilians, but no possible estimate.

SOCIAL SECURITY: 10 Million Benefit President Truman signed into law a vast expansion of social security which brings 10 million more workers under the law and, in some instances, increases benefits as much as 100 per cent.

Air Strikes

As North Korean troops regrouped along the comparative front Wegwan-Tabu-Uisong (1) quiet, B-29 bombers and fighters continued strikes against rail marshalling yards, bridges and supply depots (bomb burst symbols). Communist attacks west of Mason (2) were countered and the South Koreans met a new drive on the east coast (3). Two main enemy headquarters are at Chonju (4) and Mungyong (5).

KOREA: British Troops Arrive Crack British troops—1,500 strong landed in Korea as U. N. forces continued to battle an increased Communist offensive from the north in the area of Pohang.

The British reinforcements were from Hong Kong and had been in training for mountain fighting for 16 months. They will operate under the command of Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of U. N. ground forces in Korea.

Meanwhile, bitter fighting on the east coast continued, in what military observers reported as a move by the invaders to cut in behind the vital communication center of Taegu. Frontal assaults on U. N. positions in that area repeatedly failed in recent weeks.

The Reds were reported using 40,000 troops along the jagged northern front, slipping strong patrols through the mountains to within 18 miles of Taegu.

In the air, United States planes continued to pound Red supply and manufacturing centers and give close support to ground forces.

The U. S. air force had flown 20,500 sorties since the beginning of the war and was credited with severely crippling the enemy. Confirmed destruction of 111 Red tanks was among the results listed, with no evaluated estimates on the number knocked out in more than 600 attacks on tanks, armored cars and half-tractor vehicles.

SOVIETS: A New Trend A new trend of thought has effused from the Korean war. It is based on the assumption that the struggle now has entered the critical stage and the battle lines are fairly well established, and that the men in the Kremlin now must know beyond question that North Korean forces are doomed to defeat.

The new thought is simply this: The Communists have decided what their next major move is to be and are getting set to make it.

Western diplomats believe the Soviets and their satellites have three courses open to them at this point.

First, they may occupy North Korea in an effort to prevent the U. S. U. N. forces from crossing the 38th parallel and moving in close to Manchuria and the Russian port of Vladivostok.

Second, being confronted with the prospect of a North Korean defeat, they may make an effort to settle the fighting in some manner acceptable both to Russia and the west.

Third, they may send armed forces into the fight on the side of the North Koreans in open defiance of the U. N.

Many United States officials believe the first of the three courses is the most likely one to be employed by the Soviets. These officials believe that Russia is still anxious to avoid moves which might lead to a general war.

RAILROADS: Strike Called Off

An unexpected strike threat, involving 131 major railroads and an estimated 1,700,000 rail workers, was called off by the unions after President Truman issued an executive order for federal seizure of the railroads.

Acting quickly to prevent a national emergency, the President ordered Secretary of the Army Frank Pace to take over the rail lines and operate them "in the name of the United States government."

Within an hour the unions issued a statement: "The men we represent will work for the government gladly under government operation of the railroads during this period of crisis until this dispute can be settled on its merits through mediation."

For the past 18 months rail unions and management have been deadlocked in a wage and hour dispute. The unions have demanded a 40-hour week and a 31-cent-an-hour wage boost for yard workers to keep their take-home pay the same as it has been for the present 48-hour week.

Observers pointed out it was the fifth time in 32 years that the government has stepped in to take control of the nation's rail system. And most members of congress gave quick approval of the President's order.

The unions considered the government seizure of the roads a victory for their side, but any jubilation was quickly dampened with the announcement by White House press secretary Charles G. Ross that "the government doesn't intend to conduct negotiations with the union." Such negotiations will continue between unions and railroads with a federal mediator available "if needed."

APPROPRIATIONS: Staggers Imagination

The house sent to the senate two appropriation bills that staggered the average American's imagination and caused many to ask: "Where's the money coming from?" One was an emergency bill of $18,771,383,379 to help rearm this country and its allies, passed by a roll call vote of 310 to 1, and the other, a general appropriation bill of $35,554,490,425.

The senate approved the general appropriation bill the following day and sent it to President Truman for his signature.

The emergency bill included the big appropriation to purchase 5,333 warplanes and boosts to more than $30 billion the military outlays set up for this year.

As an idea how the money will be spent, the bill included $260 million for work on the hydrogen bomb and the atom bomb, $598,537,370 to stockpile strategic materials—$4,335,400,000 for the air force; $2,643,029,000 for the navy and $3,063,547,000 for the army.

In addition, there was $62,655,850 to strengthen the state department's "Voice of America" program.

The general appropriations bill carried a proposed $62,500,000 loan to Spain. It was approved by a standing vote of 165 to 90. No administration leaders spoke against the measure, which was surprising since President Truman and the state department had strongly opposed it and it had never been approved by the congressional committees having charge of foreign policy.

Representative Smith of West Virginia made a bitter attack against the Spanish loan, pointing out that "we have here an almost ridiculous situation where an attempt is being made to write foreign policy in an appropriation bill on the floor" of the house.

Crime Probers

David Lubben, Hillsdale, N. J., candy maker, is shown chatting with Jack Elch, investigator for the senate crime committee. Lubben testified that "hoodlums" working for Frank Costello muscled him out of a business worth almost a million dollars a year. His testimony was taken in connection with a hearing into activities of New York gangsters accused of operating a $10 million black market in sugar.

COLLISION: 18 Persons Dead

The navy hospital ship Benevolence was rammed and sunk by the freighter Mary Luckenbach in a dense fog just outside of San Francisco's famous Golden Gate with a loss of 18 lives. The navy announced 489 persons were rescued.

The Benevolence sank on her side within 20 minutes after the collision as she returned to port from a trial run.

No patients were aboard the 577-foot hospital ship which was to be used to bring wounded soldiers, sailors and marines back from the Korean front. She could have carried as many as 3,000 patients, the navy reported.

Fifteen navy nurses were aboard at the time of the accident. One died as she was picked up by a rescue vessel. She was one of 11, roped to a raft by a ship's officer.

The navy and coast guard opened formal inquiries into the accident. Many of those aboard were along just for the cruise.

INSPIRATION Reading the Bible

AN EDITORIAL

IN HIS EPISTLE to the Colossians, St. Paul wrote: "Let the word of Christ dwell in you abundantly." To the Romans He said: "Whatever things are written were written for our instruction, that through patience and the comfort of the Scriptures we may have hope."

These words of the great apostle plainly recommend the constant reading of the Bible and sincere meditation upon the truth it contains. In a passage in Timothy there is the classical injunction that all Scripture inspired of God is "profitable to teach to correct, to instruct in justice."

There are many reasons why the Bible should be read. The most important is that it develops the love of God. Nothing is more calculated to deepen the spiritual life and the sense of union with God than familiarity with Holy Writ.

Compliance with the second great commandment—thou shalt love thy neighbor—is also encouraged and helped by reading the Bible. Man learns from the Bible not only how deeply and truly God is concerned about every human being, but how much He desires that men should look upon one another as spiritual brothers. The Bible reminds us that we shall be co-heirs in the Kingdom of Heaven provided we are faithful to Him who created us.

There is no doubt that reading the Scriptures creates an inner joy and peace of soul. The word "gospel" means "the glad tidings." Who has not wondered at the calm and serenity showing in the face of some old man or woman as he or she pores lovingly over the pages of a much-used Bible? Who has not seen the angelic rapture in a child's eyes as mother or father reads of the things Christ did and said while He was on earth?

Bible reading begets a freshness of mind, a cheerfulness of disposition, an exaltation of the soul. The Bible has a message for everyone—old or young, rich or poor.

The above editorial and other material appearing in this column, was prepared by Reuters News Service.

Religion Question Box

Q: Who were the Abecedarians? A: A small sect in the Anabaptists in Germany in the 16th century noted for their dislike of learning. They thought it best not even to learn to read, as a knowledge of the Scripture was all that was necessary and this was communicated by the Holy Spirit directly to the believer without the medium of the written word.

Q: When did the Jews begin to settle in France? A: During the Roman reign over the country about 1,800 years ago.

Q: What is the Divine Office? A: The official prayer of the Roman Catholic Church, recited daily by the clergy and by religious men and women. It is made up of several parts known as the canonical hours, viz., Matins, Lauds, Prime, Terce, Sext, None, Vespers and Compline.

Q: What were the Seven Last Words of Christ? A: The seven statements of Christ while He hung on the Cross.

Q: What are the Theological Virtues? A: Faith, Hope and Charity, so-called because they relate immediately to God.

Minister Gives Snappy Hymns to TV Audiences

INGLEWOOD, Cal. — The Rev. Ralph Carmichael, associate pastor of the Calvary Assembly of God church here, is the originator of a TV show, "The Campus Christian House," which gives televisioners a new kind of religious music.

The show features a 27-piece band which presents old religious hymns in a snappy new style. An accompanying choir sings hymns pleasing to the "bebopper."

All of the arrangements are made by Mr. Carmichael, who is a professor of music at Southern California Bible College.

"Our whole idea," he said, "is to put religious music on a basis so that anyone in a television audience will be interested in tuning it in. We feel that God's music doesn't necessarily need an organ to be religious—all it needs is the right interpretation."

The show's band is made up of non-professional young people of various Los Angeles churches, many of them studying to be ministers.

CHRIST AND HIS MOTHER . . . This sculptural work is part of a holy year exhibition in Rome of sacred art in Catholic missionary countries. This sculptural work was done by a native in French Africa. It shows how native artists have dedicated their talents to sacred art without sacrificing the original qualities of their work.

High Court Upholds Nuptial Agreement

DUBLIN—An important judgment dealing with the religious upbringing of the children of a Catholic-Protestant marriage has been delivered here by the president of the high court of Ireland, Justice Gavan Duffy.

Justice Duffy granted the application of Mrs. Mary Josephine Tilson, of Dublin, to have restored to her by her husband the three children of their marriage.

Evidence was presented at the hearing that the parties had been married in a Catholic church, and that the husband, who is a member of the Church of Ireland (Anglican), had agreed that all their children should be brought up in the Catholic religion.

Early this year the husband placed the children in a home. He denied that the agreement signed by him before the marriage was binding, and said he wished to bring up the children in the Church of Ireland faith.

In his ruling, Justice Duffy said the case would have to be settled in the light of the Constitution of Ireland.

He quoted the preamble to the Irish constitution stating that the initial invocation explicitly acknowledges the supremacy of the moral law founded on Christian doctrine. He then referred to the constitution's articles on the family, education and religion as "voicing the cherished convictions of a pious people who revere the Christian moral order."

Ancient Manuscript Of Bible Is Found

ALEXANDRIA — Egyptian and American scholars engaged in microfilming ancient documents in St. Catherine's Monastery on Mt. Sinai have discovered what is believed to be the oldest copy of the New Testament in Greek and Syriac.

Written on gazelle's hide, the manuscript dates from the fourth century and includes a translation of the Bible in Arabic, written over the Greek text and on the margins. The manuscript is also crammed with the story of early Christian saints.

According to Dr. Wendell Philipps of Philadelphia, president of the American Foundation for the Study of Man, the manuscript is worth a million dollars. The foundation undertook the expedition on behalf of the Library of Congress which ordered the microfilming of more than 500,000 pages of ancient manuscripts in what is believed to be the world's oldest Christian monastery.

Korean Armed Forces Will Get Scriptures

NEW YORK — Scriptures for members of the Korean armed forces are being shipped from this country at the request of the Korean Bible society, it was announced here by the American Bible Society.

The American group has printed a special edition of 50,000 books in Korean containing the four Gospels and the Book of Acts. Distribution of the Scriptures to the Korean Army, Navy and Air Force will probably be done by the chaplains corps.

Also to be sent from here are 100,000 copies of the Sermon on the Mount in Korean and English, the American society reported.

New York headquarters of the society have received no direct word from the Rev. Young Bin Im, secretary of the Korean Bible Society, since the outbreak of hostilities.

However, it had been agreed that he was to stay at the Bible society headquarters in Seoul.

Religious Team Wins

RAPID CITY, S. D. — A team which refused to compromise its religious principles has won the South Dakota class "B" junior American Legion baseball championship.

Corsica, S. D. (opp. 546), the new champions, were forced to play three games on Monday because religious beliefs of the majority of team members prohibit their playing baseball on Sunday.

American Legion officials shifted the schedule to provide for the Monday play.

All but one of the 16 team members belong to the Reformed Church, according to their coach, Donald Bacon.

WAR IS DIRTY

War is an unpleasant business. And like all such conflicts, the Korean war is dirty, bloody and often boring. In the picture above American troops rest during a pause in the fighting in the only available place—a ditch beside the road. If anyone still entertains the idea that war is glamorous, the picture at the right should dispel that illusion—two GI's sitting in the rain between firing missions against the enemy. There are many such periods of waiting and misery and boredom during the course of a war.

And there is death in war. The U. S. soldier (above) was killed with his hands tied after he was captured by North Koreans. The impersonal in war is represented by the tank (right) advancing into battle.

Many men in World War II received a new and greater understanding of religion in the midst of battle. The same is true in the Korean conflict. The U. S. army takes its chaplains into the field so men who are dying, or may die, can receive religious aid and comfort. In the above picture, Mass is being held near the battlefield with an improvised altar.

Above, a wounded soldier is helped to a first-aid station by a buddy. This is the enemy (left) shown as he is brought in by American soldiers. A guerrilla, he had a bag of hand grenades in his possession.

With one man busy on a field telephone, and the other two referring to a map, this is a front line command post in action in the mountains of South Korea. This scene will be repeated hundreds of times before the war in Korea is brought to a successful conclusion.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Hearty Soups Make Good Companions For Lunch, Supper

WITH THE FIRST crispness of autumn, hot and hearty soups establish themselves solidly into our menus. They're a good beginning for dinner and they're substantial enough dish for a hearty luncheon or supper.
When soups are the mainstay of the meal, you need little else because they're full of much nourishment. A sandwich or crisp vegetable salad, a fruit cobbler or pudding served along with soup is usually enough to satisfy a pretty good appetite.
A flair for combining flavors and unusual seasonings in the soup kettle pays dividends in compliments from family and guests alike. Everyone likes a really good soup, and many a smart cook can make herself a reputation in concocting delicious soups.

ECONOMICAL potatoes have long been a main ingredient of many soups. When combined with milk and a variety of seasonings, they can make some of the most satisfying and appetizing soups you've ever had the pleasure of tasting.

Appledorf Soup
4 cups diced, raw potatoes
1 cup diced celery
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup diced onion
2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 quart milk
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Cook potatoes and celery in boiling water until tender. Drain and puree vegetables, saving vegetable juice. Cook minced onion in butter over low heat until tender, about five minutes. Add seasonings, milk, 1/2 cup of the leftover vegetable juice, pureed vegetables and minced parsley. Heat thoroughly, stir in catsup, garnishing with a swirl on top of each bowl.

Parsley Soup (Serves 4)
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup diced onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 cups milk, scalded
1 1/2 cups finely diced, cooked potatoes
1/2 cup chopped parsley or 1 bunch fresh watercress
Paprika

Melt butter, add onions and cook over low heat, while stirring, until tender, about five minutes. Add flour, seasonings and blend. Gradually stir in hot milk and cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Add cooked potatoes and parsley or watercress. Heat thoroughly and serve in bowls with a sprig of parsley and a few sprinklings of paprika.

Tomato-Corn Chowder (Serves 6)
2 slices bacon, diced
1/4 cup grated onion
2 cups cubed raw carrots
1 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup drained, canned whole kernel corn
2 cups canned tomato juice
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk

Tomato-corn chowder is a hearty stick-to-the-ribs soup which you can make at any time the weather calls for a hearty soup because you're certain to have the main ingredients, canned tomato juice and whole kernel corn readily at hand.

LYNN SAYS:
Avoid These Common Errors in Cooking
If you omit cream of tartar or corn syrup from a boiled frosting, a dry, sugar crust will form on standing. These two ingredients aid in the prevention of crystal growth on standing.
When you brown flour for gravy, you'll have to use more of it than unbrowned flour or the gravy will be thin and watery. This happens because the starch in flour loses thickening power on browning.
Do not add all milk at once when making caramels or the mixture will curdle. Add milk when syrup is cooked to thick consistency, and add in small amounts.
Prevent tomato soup from curdling when milk is added by using cold milk and hot or cold tomato juice. Heat rapidly and serve at once.
If you cook pie filling too short a time after adding egg yolks, the filling becomes watery and standing. The mixture should be cooked after the egg yolks are added about two or three minutes to set them.

Nutritious Appledorf soup, made of milk and potato puree, is deftly seasoned with onions and spices. Serve it with saltines sprinkled with grated, American cheese and broiled just long enough to melt the cheese.

2 1/2 pounds soup bone
6 cups cold water
3 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons pepper
2 cups potatoes, diced
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced carrots
1 cup canned corn
2 medium-sized onions, diced
1 1/2 cups cabbage, shredded

What could be more delicious than this combination chicken, ham and vegetables in a soup, deftly seasoned with Creole magic? Here is a delightful soup recipe which you'll be certain to make often once you've tasted it.

Okra Gumbo, Creole (Serves 12 to 14)
1 frying chicken, cut
2 thick slices ham, diced
1 onion
1 tablespoon parsley
6 tomatoes, fresh or canned
20 pods, okra
1 pod red pepper
1 sprig thyme or 1 bayleaf
6 whole cloves
3 tablespoons butter or substitute
2 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper to taste
3 quarts boiling water
Rice, cooked

Chop onion and parsley. Skin tomatoes and chop, straining off juice. Slice okra thin. Remove seeds from red pepper. Place butter in soup kettle. When butter is hot, add chicken and ham. Cover closely and let simmer for about 10 minutes. Then add chopped onions, parsley, tomatoes and red pepper. When well browned, add juice of tomatoes. Add okra, and stir frequently to prevent okra from scorching. Add thyme or bayleaf and cloves, then pour in water. Let simmer very gently for about an hour, until flavors are well blended. Thicken just before serving with flour, mixed with 1/2 cup cold water to a smooth paste. Serve with boiled rice.

Meat cooked at high temperatures becomes tough and dry because heat causes protein in meat to toughen. Cook for a longer period but use low temperatures for juicy meat.

When equal amounts of cornstarch are substituted for flour in puddings and fillings, the product is too stiff because starch has twice the thickening power of flour. Use only one-half the amount of cornstarch.

Souffles over-baked at high temperatures shrink and collapse when removed from the oven because protein shrinks and forces air out. Set souffle in pan of hot water and cook only until set. This insures low and even temperature and prevents over-cooking.

Dry and rubbery scrambled eggs result when they're cooked too fast because the protein of the eggs shrinks and squeezes out the liquid and becomes tough. Cook at a very low temperature and stop cooking when eggs are just coagulated, soft and shiny.
Gelatin will not set if fresh pineapple is added to it because the enzyme bromelain is present in fresh pineapple and it causes hydrolysis of the gelatin and liquefies it. Cook pineapple first or use the canned product which is cooked to inactivate the enzyme.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
United States' Oldest Executive Department Began Duties 1789

By WALTER A. SHFAD

This is the first of a series of six articles on the department of state of the United States and its growth...

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The department of state of the United States of America is the official channel through which the American people conduct their relations with the other peoples and governments of the world...

DEAN GOODERHAM ACHESON
SECRETARY OF STATE
Born April 11, 1893, in Middletown, Conn....

Because of the fact that this nation was traditionally self-sufficient and isolated and aloof from the rest of the world until the advances of technology conquered time and distance...

However, since World War I the state department has been growing, not only in its dealings with the rest of the world, but in the impact of its actions and its policy upon the everyday life of every individual American citizen.

What the American people are concerned with now is just this: What about the department of state today? Who are the men and women who comprise its personnel roster of some 22,000 employees?

And above all, what is the foreign policy of this nation and how is this policy formed? This series of articles, of which this is the first, will attempt to deal objectively with this subject and answer some of these questions.

THERE ARE TWO main premises upon which to spotlight the state department. First, the department proper has about 8,000 employees, most of whom are stationed in Washington. These comprise the general management and functional and operational segments of the department.

And since World War II and the organization of the United Nations, duties of the department have tripled. For instance, during 1949 representatives of our state department took part in 8,000 international meetings and received 340,000 reports from its representatives from throughout the world...

Today, headed by Dean Acheson, the department of state occupies more than 20 separate buildings in Washington scattered about the city, with the beautiful new building at 320 21st Street N. W. as the hub of its activities.

Lloyd Bridges stopped in New York only a day on his way from Rome to Hollywood recently. In Rome he starred in "Three Steps North"; is now joining in promotion for "The Sound of Fury," made before he left.

Well Made Plans of Men Go Wrong - Without Murder

By BILLY ROSE

If you've nothing better to do for the next three minutes, let's play a game called "Answer Yes or No." Question: If a doctor were accused of allowing a mean old man to die who had only a week to live anyhow, and you were on the jury, would you find him guilty of murder?

A dopey question, you say, because it leaves you no choice? Well, let me brief you on the events leading up to the crime and then put the question to you again...

The mean old man—let's call him Andrew Horton—was a millionaire of the almost extinct rough-em-up Jay Gould school, and among the people he delighted in pushing around was his son, Andrew, Jr. To round out the picture, it must be admitted that the youngster pretty much rated this treatment: He was a weak-chinned and weak-willed society kid who in his teens had developed a cordial dislike for two things—(a) work, and (b) his father who insisted on it.

A few months after the boy's 21st birthday, the old man came down with a heart attack that all but did him in, and the specialist who was called in informed the son that his pop didn't figure to live more than a week or so.

THAT NIGHT, to celebrate his offices maintained by the United States in some 75 countries.

The next main subject to remember is that the conduct of the foreign affairs of a world power like the United States with a population of more than 150 million people requires a highly specialized organization, specially trained about political, social, cultural and economic aspects of the world.

These are further broken down into specialized subjects such as finance, aviation, human rights, labor, agriculture, commerce, tariffs, reconstruction, standards of living and other technical fields so that the department not only represents the people of this nation in other countries, but it acts as foreign representative of all other departments of government.

And since World War II and the organization of the United Nations, duties of the department have tripled. For instance, during 1949 representatives of our state department took part in 8,000 international meetings and received 340,000 reports from its representatives from throughout the world, all of which had to be analyzed and evaluated as a basis for policy decisions and correlated in each case with those of other interested government agencies.

Immediately under him is the Under-Secretary of State James E. Webb of North Carolina; Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup of New York; Deputy Under Secretary of State for Administration John E. Purifoy of South Carolina; and Deputy Under-Secretary Elbert G. Matthews.

coming of fortune, the young man went out and tied on quite a package, and on the way home drove his car through a plate-glass window on Madison avenue. He was arrested and promptly bailed out, but the story hit all the front pages.

When his father saw the papers the next morning, he almost had another stroke, and it didn't help when the boy faced up to him and blurted out that in a short time he'd be doing as he darn well pleased.

When his son left, the millionaire sent for his lawyer. "I'm going to teach that kid of mine a lesson," he told him. "Fix up a new will where he doesn't get a penny and bring it back this afternoon. The doctor can witness my signature."

"What beneficiary do you want to name?" asked the lawyer. "Make it out to one of those outfits for medical research," said the old man.

THAT AFTERNOON the will was

FRESH FISH

By Richard H. Wilkinson

On the eighth day Senor Jacinto stopped him on a deserted street. "This is an outrage! Ortega is not big enough for two fish dealers," he said.

remotest idea how to persuade Senor Jacinto to consent to his marriage to Dolores.

Suddenly Tommy leaped to his feet. He could not provide funds to help Dolores' father expand, but on the other hand...

NEWS of the oddly spread rapidly and before noon Tommy had sold out his supply. On the next day it was the same, and again on the day following.

A week passed and Tommy had worked up a nice business. Occasionally he saw Senor Jacinto, but the old man passed him by with never a word, but glowering looks.

On the eighth day Senor Jacinto stopped him on a deserted street. "This is an outrage! Ortega is not big enough for two fish dealers. One of us will have to go."

"What a pity you are planning to leave the land of your birth where you own a fine house and have many friends."

Senor Jacinto choked with rage. "It is you who will go. I was here first. I built up the fish business here. You will have to go!"

"Gladly," said Tommy. "The moment you consent to my marriage to Dolores, I am not a fish dealer by trade. I am a surveyor. I would like to continue to be a surveyor, but not alone."

"Never!" shouted the angry man. "Tommy shrugged and shook his head sadly. 'It is a pity.' 'Fish!' he called at the top of his voice. 'Fresh fish!'"

Senor Jacinto nearly burst a blood vessel. "Stop!" he shrieked. "The very sound of your voice is like a knife in my side. Take my daughter and the devil with you both! Only leave me in peace!"

Dolores was waiting in the patio when Tommy came for her. "You are a very good fish peddler," she said. "Will you always be a fish peddler?"

"Only," said Tommy, "if your father should change his mind about consenting to our marriage."

Twenty-Game Winners

BASEBALL DOPE is an odd mixture of many unknown quantities. This has been the year when the pitching in the two major leagues has been planned more extensively than ever before.

As a starter, Bob Lemon faced the 1950 campaign as the only pitcher who had known two 20-game seasons—1948 and 1949.

Last year we had Parnell, Kinder, Raschi, Lemon, Spahn, Pollet and Kellner in the 20-game (won) division.

There were five American leaguers and two National leaguers. They can break this mark in 1950. Those who still have at least a shot at the mark this season with some 50 games left are Lemon and Wynn of Cleveland; Lopat, Raschi and Byrne of the N. Y. Yankees; Houtteman and Hutchinson of Detroit; Roberts and Simmons (if he has the chance to keep pitching) of the Phillies; Sain, Spahn and Bickford of the Braves; Jansen of the Giants; Roe and possibly Newcombe of the Dodgers.

Those who won 20 or more games last year and probably won't repeat this season include Parnell and Kinder of the Red Sox, Pollet of the Cardinals and Kellner of the Athletics.

This leaves Lemon, Raschi and Spahn as the only repeaters, provided they can make the grade.

It must be admitted the pitching in both big leagues improved considerably since late June. Before that it was something unspeakable in the great majority of cases.

Certainly the Phillies and Giants have been getting excellent pitching while Yankees pitching has moved up from its earlier outlook.

Munger of the Cardinals, Heintzelman of the Phillies, Branca and Barney of the Dodgers, Pollet of the Cardinals, Moyer of the Phillies, Parnell and Kinder of the Red Sox and practically all of the Athletic pitchers have been disappointing.

But apparently the fading campaign will finish with a first-class cast, headed by Bob Lemon, contributing better than average seasons.

Last of the Sutherland Breed

Back in the days when Pitt was collecting a "dream backfield" and Fordham had "seven blocks of granite," the last guy off the ground in the many scoreless ties was Johnny Michelosen, an affable bloke who had just the right size and speed to fit into the Sutherland single-wing system as a blocking back.

Big John came to Pitt with a reputation. He was considered one of the greatest high-school prospects in many a season. He was a great runner and one of the best passers ever turned out in the soft-collar region. And, incidentally, he still holds the high-school punt record.

But at Pitt, John never ran, passed and, maybe, punted twice. The late, great Dr. John Bain, (Joek) Sutherland took one look at the big Ukrainian and he knew he had a great blocking prospect.

Joek didn't realize, however, that he had, at long last, found the heir apparent to his football dynasty...

... the fellow who was going to carry on with the single-wing system when most of his other students deserted to the T formation. Nor did Joek realize then that Michelosen would succeed the sole tutor of the single wing. If Big Mike should fail in the newly formed National League, then the Sutherland-Warner style of rock 'em, sock 'em may pass completely from the football score.

On the other hand, should Michelosen prove a success, well, then add a new name to the long list of famous coaches.

For the better part of his 34 years, John P. Michelosen has been a keen and active student of the game.

Football for 1950

Even with the two best pennant races in many years, football is moving up in a hurry. The All-Star game in Chicago has drawn its usual capacity crowd and the pros are now trying to find out just what they have by actual competition with one another.

One of the nicer notes, so far as the colleges are concerned, is the announcement that Frank Thomas is back on the job as graduate manager at Alabama.

"Here in our conference, the Southeastern," Thomas writes, "I would put the ratings in three groups:

"No. 1—Tennessee, L.S.U., Tulane, Georgia and Kentucky.

"No. 2—Alabama, Georgia Tech, Mississippi and Vanderbilt.

"No. 3—Auburn, Florida and Mississippi State. Of course, with the war situation as it is, many of the boys are in the national guard and different reserve corps. So many things can happen between now and kick-off time."

Iron Floats, Cork Sinks in Gas, Helium, at Minus 275 Degrees

WASHINGTON, D. C. — New trails in a weird corner of nature—a fourth state of matter in which the physical laws governing the rest of the universe appear to be suspended—are being blazed by United States bureau of standards physicists.

This is the world of the gas helium at and below minus 270.97 degrees centigrade—where iron floats and cork sinks in liquid which flows uphill.

It is on the edge of absolute zero, the point where all motion of molecules stops and matter becomes completely lifeless. In some of their most recent experiments, the bureau physicists have been able to reach 0.77 of 1 degree above this point.

At about four degrees above absolute zero helium changes into an extremely light, bubbling liquid, about a sixth the density of water.

A dramatic change comes suddenly at 2.19 degrees above absolute zero. The stuff still looks like a liquid but it doesn't act like one.

Boiling stops, although the stuff continues to effervesce from its surface. Its atoms, apparently, become entirely independent of each other.

VETERANS---TAX PAYERS

Your present STATE SENATOR has been in office since 1943—

Since 1943 the tax burden on homes has INCREASED 102 million dollars or nearly 100%.

Since 1943 the state executive budget has INCREASED more than 100 MILLION DOLLARS or more than 100%.

More than THIRTEEN MILLION DOLLARS has been collected for Veterans' Housing, yet less than TWO MILLION DOLLARS has been loaned to the Veterans for housing.

In 1942, while campaigning for election against me, our present state senator took a stand AGAINST repeal of the 60% surtax on income, on the ground that it was a millionaire tax program and would shift the tax burden to real estate, yet he voted FOR its repeal during the 1943 session. (See Capitol Times of Mar. 9, 1943)

If I am elected I promise the taxpayers and the Veterans that I will make every effort to correct these matters.

ATTORNEY HENRY F.

RENARD

Needs Your Vote Tuesday, Sept. 19

To Represent YOU in the

ASSEMBLY

Republican—Washington County

I spent hours at the 1949 Legislature. I took a special course in Legislation in law school. Son of Walter Renard, farmer and owner and factory worker. I was born and lived on a farm. Worked in a factory 3½ years. Graduate of West Bend High School.

Veteran World War II, 3 yrs. AAF, E. T. O. Prisoner of War. Stalag Luft I, Barth, Germany. Graduate of U. of Wis. Law School. Age 30 yrs., married, one daughter. Will soon open law office in West Bend.

THANK YOU!

Are you 21 or over and a citizen of the U. S.? If so, you can and should vote next Tuesday. Your vote is "government—by the people." Your vote is important. Your vote is needed to elect good, honest men who will be a government for all the people, men who will protect your interests. If you do not vote in the Primary, Sept. 19, for men you think will best represent you, you may not be able to elect them in November. You owe the dead and wounded of the past wars of your country. You owe sons, brothers and sweethearts in Korea. Make a payment on this debt; vote Tuesday, for men with courage to represent you and to protect what is yours. Use your right to vote wisely. To preserve your right; keep a "government of the people, by the people and for the people."
