The morning session was devoted to reading of reports and this was followed by a dinner for chiefs, delegates and guests at Barth's restaurant. Capt. Schweitz of the Milwaukee fire department spoke on "Civilian Defense." Chief Hansen of Rhinelander was a special guest. All members were represented except the town of Milwaukee.

Tournament rules will remain the same as in past years with the exception that running teams participating in tournament races must wear shoes without cleats. Belles Beat Indians for Tri-County Title

The Kewaskum Indians made a strong bid but their best wasn't enough to upset the veteran Campbellsport Belles at the latter's homecoming last Friday and the Belles roared on to the Fox River Valley Tri-County league football crown. The score was 42-28. A victory would have given the Mitchelmen a tie for the title and the setback dropped them to third place in the final standings as Brandon laced Green Lake, 42-6, to move into second. In the other game Oakfield whitewashed Tall end Lomira, 34-0.

Campbellsport rolled to an early 27-0 lead and Kewaskum fought brilliantly in the second half to overcome the big advantage. But the gap was too large and the Indians fell short of catching up to the more experienced Belle six, who made it two championships in succession.

The Belles' Dick Steinacker tallied 11 points to cop the individual scoring crown. He wound up the season with 76 points. Brandon's Arnold Riese was second with 62 and Oakfield's Gordy Kaufmann third with 54. Kewaskum's highest scorer was Ronnie Vorpahl who ended up sixth with 36 points. Edgar Loomis and Sylvester Hawig of the Indians tied for seventh with 30 points each.

Campbellsport scored early on a Dale Tomlinson to Jerry Burgert pass which covered 65 yards. Burgert later scored another TD. Other Belles to cross into Indian country were Eugene Weber, Dave Wondra, Tomlinson and Steinacker, who also converted on four kicks for eight points. Kewaskum's scoring, all in the second half, was done by Wally Cudnoski, Ronnie Vorpahl, Hawig and Elie Ramthun. Loomis added four points on two successful place-kicks. An estimated 600 fans watched the title clash.

During the season Kewaskum scored 186 points to the opponents' 107.

Emily Risse Bride of Edwin Hammen

White and yellow chrysanthemums together with tall candles formed a background in St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church at Silver Creek Saturday evening, Oct. 28, for the 6:30 p. m. candlelight double ring ceremony read by the Rev. Melvin E. Schroer in which Miss Emily Risse of Silver Creek became the bride of Edwin F. Hammen of Campbellsport.

Carl Wussow, vocal soloist, offered "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Merlin Risse at the organ. Norton Risse escorted his sister to the sanctuary. They are son and daughter of Mrs. Charles Risse and the late Mr. Risse. Wearing a gown of white slipper satin and lace, the bridee fashioned with a jewel necklace and long tapering sleeves, the simplicity of the gown highlighted by applique of matching lace which extended into a moderate train, the bride carried Amazon lilies with showers of bouvardia on her white prayerbook. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a headpiece of braided satin.

Miss Doris Liermann of Milwaukee, friend of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Luedtke of Beechwood, Mrs. Norton Risse of Random Lake, and Miss Gloria Moths of Silver Creek acted as bridesmaids. The young women attendants wore satin gowns of gold, styled with a sheer tulle yoke, short sleeves, and wide cuff of satin detailing an off the shoulder effect with fitted bodice. The full skirt was fashioned with insets at the hip-line of the same satin. Matching gauntlets were worn. The maid of honor carried a cascade bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow pom poms tied with a moss green satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids bouquets were the same as above only with bronze pom poms. All attendants wore clusters of pom poms in their hair.

Joseph Schmidt, a friend of the groom, acted as best man. Lee Risse, brother of the bride, and Robert Luedtke, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as ushers.

A reception for friends and relatives was held at Old Fort Silver, Silver Creek, following the ceremony.

The Hawaiian girls in the school such as Lehua, played by Eileen Schommer; Karnland, Joan Miller; Lilinoe, Ruth Edwards, and Maili, Elaine Kluever, believe in accompanying every act with a song, much to Dorothy's despair but to the audience's delight. Dorothy's boyfriend, Billy Wood, a lieutenant in the United States Navy, played by Floyd Stautz, comes to the island to see Dorothy, but he comes disguised as a pirate. Complications set in when this peaceful island is invaded by a band of real pirates led by a bold, fearless, poetry-spouting chief, played by Wally Cudnoski, and his lieutenant Scary, played by Curtis Link. The operetta would not be complete without the chorus of Hawaiian girls or the chorus of pirates.

Tickets are being sold by high school students and at the high school. Adult admissions are 50 cents and children 25 cents, tax included. For a pleasant evening of song and entertainment be sure to see "Love Pirates of Hawaii" Nov. 9 or 10. Curtain time is 8 o'clock, and no seats will be reserved.

KEWASKUM YOUNG MAN'S CAR STRIKES POLE, TURNS OVER

Harold W. Perkins,

THE WEEK
In Religion

INSPIRATION
Final Rewards

AN EDITORIAL

IT IS A COMMONPLACE that often men who lead evil and irreligious lives prosper, while good people find it difficult to eke out a bare livelihood. That many take scandal from this is apparent in the oft-heard complaint: "It doesn't pay to be good."

It is unfortunate that some people should display an apparent envy of the good times and prosperous years enjoyed by others who pay no attention to God or His commandments. Surely the first impulse should be to pity and pray for those who must pay off in eternity for the evil they have done in the world.

Christianity teaches that God punishes the wicked. It also teaches that He rewards the just. Thus, there should be no scandal over the apparent good fortune of the wicked. Instead there should be cause to reflect on the rewards destined for those who truly and humbly serve God, patiently enduring the burdens and hardships which He permits them to experience.

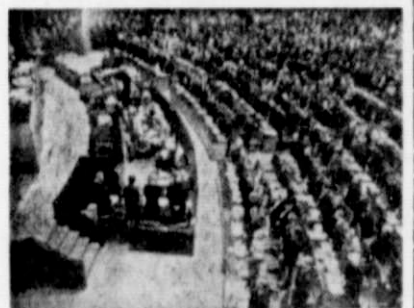

Faith teaches that those who are faithful to God will one day enjoy a reward so rich, so vast and unending as to overshadow the greatest prosperity and happiness that any man could conceivably enjoy on earth.

It is this certainty of one day seeing God and sharing in His eternal kingdom that gives strength to those whose lot on earth is hard and difficult. Furthermore, even in the very depths of sorrow and suffering, they know the joy of a good conscience—a boon which the wicked must crave in vain.

What Christian knowing his faith and convinced of the justice of God, would change places with the godless whose only reward must be a transient and doubtful happiness on earth?

It profits a man nothing if he gain the whole world and lose his soul. History is full of examples of men who were rich and powerful yet in the end went to God in the dreadful poverty of unworthiness. On the other hand, consider how many seemingly insignificant and unsuccessful men and women have passed from life with the surest passport to heaven—a tried and tested love for Him who was their hope and trust.

The above editorial and other material appearing in this column, was prepared by Religious News Service.

Authorities Arrest
Amish in School Fuss

LANCASTER, Pa. — In a move which may result in a show-down between Pennsylvania school authorities and members of the Amish religious sect on school age limits, state authorities have arrested 16 members of the sect here for refusal to send their children over 14 to school.

Under state law pupils must attend school until they are 17, the department of instruction said.

Twelve more parents, officials said, will be rounded up in the campaign to bring the 12-year-old dispute to a head.

Those arrested include three Amish mothers. They and 13 fathers entered $300 bail each pending hearings.

Meanwhile, in Mifflin County, Israel B. Zook, Jr., owner of a 150-acre farm, was sentenced to five days in jail by Justice of the Peace J. B. Peters, for refusing to send a daughter to school. Zook said the girl was needed to work at home.

Army Will Double
Chaplains Corps
By End of Year

DALLAS, Texas.—By the end of this year the U. S. Army chaplains corps will probably be doubled. Maj. Gen. Roy H. Parker, chief of chaplains, declared in an address here.

He said he could assure the mothers of America that "the chaplain will be on the job," giving spiritual care to members of the armed forces at home and overseas.

"He may not be of your particular faith, but he will be a man of God," he said. "If your son can't get what he wants from his chaplain, the chaplain will direct him to one who will give him what he wants."

He praised chaplains who had served in World War II, and mentioned especially those now serving in Korea.

"Once again American husbands, brothers and sweethearts have been called upon to fight for democracy and peace," Gen. Parker said, "and once again clergymen of all denominations are serving as chaplains wherever Americans are stationed."

"These soldiers of God have already contributed a glowing chapter of heroism and service in the Korean campaign. We have had chaplains killed in action and others wounded; we have had battlefield promotions and decorations for courageous acts in combat."

Reno Social Workers Hear Parents Attacked

RENO, Nev.—Apathy on the part of the modern parent was blamed for a breakdown of family life in America by the president of the Washoe County Ministerial association here.

Captain Del Baker of the Reno Salvation Army, newly-elected head of the local ministerial group, said that Reno and other cities of the nation are being "over-run by anti-social youths."

Speaking before members of the Council of Social Agencies, Captain Baker described the modern home as "a mere landing field—a spot where parents and children alight periodically to eat and sleep." As a result, he said, "we are raising a batch of heathens."

Charging that the nation's schools are not preparing children properly, Captain Baker leveled his main attack at the parents, however, asserting that they look upon children "as a curse rather than a God-given blessing."

77 Homeless Children Adopted by Pastor

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The Rev. John Vogel of Corbin, Ky., is taking a cue from Tommy Tucker to help support his 77 children.

They're his foster children, all young orphans or foundlings from the Kentucky mountain regions near Corbin that he and his wife have officially adopted as their own.

Mr. Vogel, his wife and daughter, brought eight of the girls up from Corbin to sing as a choir at churches in Grand Rapids, and incidentally, to obtain free will collections that will help support the family he acquired quite by accident.

It started 11 years ago while Mr. Vogel was preaching to his backwoods congregation. A postcard plea from a father asking the pastor to take care of his illegitimate son resulted in the Vogel's first foster child. The word spread through the hills and soon he had 11 youngsters in his tiny mountain cabin.

So he put a one-dollar down payment on a nine-acre tract of land, 14 miles by mule train in the mountains from Corbin, "prayed to God" and went to work.

Friendly mountaineers lent a helping hand to build cozy cabins to serve as dormitories, dining room, kitchen and classrooms. They were paid in used clothing.

Surplus Food to Church

DALLAS, Tex. — The way is being cleared to furnish a Dallas church women's organization with free powdered milk and eggs from surplus government stocks to send to an orphanage in Japan.

Rep. Ben H. Guill (Rep.) of Pam pa, Texas, set the machinery rolling after reading an editorial in the Dallas News. The editorial suggested that the orphanage should be furnished with surplus milk.

Rep. Guill has been informed by the agriculture department that surplus food now can be made available to the women's auxiliary of All Saints Episcopal church for shipment to Japan. The auxiliary is aiding the Elizabeth Saunders Home at Oiso, near Tokyo, an orphanage that cares for illegitimate children of American soldiers by Japanese mothers.

Rep. Guill said he understood that there are large stocks of dried milk and eggs at West Coast ports, and he is waiting for the agriculture department to give him details

Make Versatile Meals with Cranberries
(See Recipes Below)

Colorful Cranberries

WHEN YOU WANT to add color to fall and winter meals, try cranberries. They can be used in many versatile ways, with vegetables, as a sauce or relish, with meats and fowl and as desserts.

You'll enjoy the tartness which cranberries give to many foods, especially the bland and mild-flavored ones like fowl, ham and sweet potatoes. Their bright red color is a delight in other foods such as muffins or French dressing.

Mix cranberries, sugar and water (or juice). Cut edges of fat on ham in gashes. Place one slice of ham in baking dish and cover with cranberry sugar-mixture. Top with second ham slice and cover with remaining cranberry mixture. Stick whole cloves around edges of ham slices. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven until tender, about 1½ hours, basting occasionally with liquid in dish.

*Cranberry Ham Slices
(Serves 6)
3 cups cranberries
1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup water or apple juice
2 slices ham (¾ to 1" thick)
2 tablespoons whole cloves

Cranberry French Dressing
(Makes 1 cup)
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup chopped cranberries
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Grated rind of ½ orange
Grated rind of ½ lemon

Combine ingredients in covered jar. Shake well before using.

Cranberry Muffins
(Makes 9-12)
2 cups bran cereal
½ cup dark molasses
½ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped cranberries

Combine bran, molasses and milk, let stand 20 minutes. Stir in beaten egg. Sift together dry ingredients and sift into bran mixture. Fold in cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins about ¾ full and bake in a moderately hot (400°) oven for 20 minutes or until done.

Cranberry Yam Puffs
(Serves 4-6)
4 medium-sized yams or sweet potatoes
1 cup cranberries, chopped
½ cup drained, crushed pineapple
½ cup chopped, salted peanuts
4 tablespoons butter
Salt, pepper, nutmeg to taste

Boil yams until tender; peel and mash with a fork. Add chopped cranberries, drained pineapple, nuts and butter; mix thoroughly and season to taste. If mixture seems too dry, beat in 1 egg or ¼ cup cream or evaporated milk. Divide mixture into 4 to 6 well greased custard cups and dot top with butter. Bake in a moderately hot (400°) oven for 45 minutes or until set. Loosen with spatula and turn out around roast.

BOTH BROWN and white sugar go into this old-fashioned version of cranberry sauce. Thinly sliced lemon rings among the plump red cranberries give you a flavorful accompaniment to roast turkey or chicken on your festive board.

Cranberry Sauce
(Makes 1 quart)
1½ cup water
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
4 cups cranberries
Half lemon, thinly sliced

Add some berries to your canned apple sauce for a colorful touch and serve as a relish or dessert with cookies.

A fluffy nest of mashed potatoes is nice to serve with creamed salmon or dried beef to which a few leftover green peas have been added for color.

Corn pudding and scalloped potatoes make an excellent supper dish. If you add bits of leftover ham, smoked butt or Canadian bacon to the vegetable in the casserole before baking.

Extend the chicken or turkey bits with oysters simmered in milk, then thicken mixture with blended butter and flour. Top with a flaky crust and bake until pastry is done.

Blend diced cooked potatoes and diced roast pork, in equal proportions and season with barbecue sauce. Heat in a skillet and serve.

Fry pork sausage until brown, then mix with canned pork and beans. Top apple slices with the mixture and pour tomato sauce or canned tomato soup, undiluted over all. Bake for 30 minutes for a delicious supper.

Egg Production Upped
By Ultraviolet Rays

Experiment Indicates
19 Per Cent Increase

Hens exposed to ultraviolet light lay 10 to 19 per cent more eggs, the department of agriculture reports. The report was issued after five years of tests in a specially built underground poultry house at the agricultural research center at Beltsville, Md.

Department scientists said the tests were started in 1945 as a result of a chance discovery that the very short rays of invisible light increased the egg output of hens. The department reported it "demonstrated conclusively that neither the number of bacteria in the poultry house nor the vitamin-D content of the light rays was involved in the beneficial effects."

The properties of the light that caused the boost in egg production have not been identified.

New Rabbit Repellent Is Highly Effective

A new rabbit repellent that has proved highly effective in discouraging cottontails from nibbling at beans, lettuce, radishes, collard greens, carrots and corn, as well as flowers, has been developed.

The formulation can be dusted on young vegetable plants and flowers, or can be mixed with water and used as a spray.

In one series of tests made by a chemical company, lettuce patches that had been treated with the rabbit repellent were not touched by the hungry rodents while 80 to 100 per cent of the untreated plants in other patches were nibbled and damaged.

The company's research scientists discovered that rabbits did not show as much interest in carrots as they did in other foods.

Home-Made Ladder

A light ladder is a great convenience about the farm as it can be used in the fruit trees, repairing the telephone line, or for any of many jobs. To make the ladder shown above use a straight pole, six or seven inches in diameter. Fasten a wire or ring around it about eight feet from the large end. Then split the pole and spread the two parts. Make a hole in each half for the bottom rung. After it is in put a wire under the bottom rung and twist it tight. Cut notches for the rungs above and nail them in place. This will be found a most serviceable ladder.

Consumption of Canned Milk Increases in U. S.

Annual consumption of canned evaporated and condensed milk averages around 20½ pounds per person, a recent survey revealed.

The heat treatment given in sterilizing evaporated milk makes it more easily digested, and therefore, ideal baby food. This use, plus use in tea and coffee, accounts for a large portion of the evaporated milk sales in the United States, the survey concluded.

Price of Domestic Shorn
Wool Highest Since 1918

The bureau of agriculture economics reported the average price received by domestic growers for shorn wool was $7.1 cents per pound, grease basis, highest since October of 1918.

The bureau said wool prices probably will continue high for some time since world consumption continues to exceed production. Domestic production remains about the same as last year's low record.

IN DENVER . . . The housing authority finally got a court order evicting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fraques and their 10 children from a public housing project after pointing out that the family had been delinquent in rent 38 times since July 1946, had broken 29 windows on 17 occasions, had rained two lawns, five screen doors, seven window blinds, had required some 40 other repair jobs.

We Ask You to Read This IN ALL FAIRNESS To Yourself and Your Family

Whether you're a Republican, or a Democrat, or an independent in politics, you've got a sense of decency and fair-play. You've got pride in your state and your country.

But things have been happening in this great state of ours during the past 60 days which have led many of our leading citizens and newspapers to cry out in shame and disgust.

We're referring to the sordid campaign conducted by the tight little group of Madison and Milwaukee millionaires who manipulate the machine of the Republican Party of Wisconsin. We don't ask you to take our word. We ask you to read what the Milwaukee Journal, Wisconsin's largest independent daily, and Leonard Schmitt of Merrill, an outstanding Republican who ran for governor in the GOP primary, have to say:

→ Milwaukee Journal

"In a careful campaign, long and deliberately planned, and well-financed, the Republicans of Wisconsin are tampering with the security of their country. They are discrediting our bipartisan foreign policy.

"They are distorting our national aims. They are misleading and dividing our people. They are undermining national morale.

"They are trying to ride to victory on a vicious campaign that could do more damage to the nation than the Communist Party has been able to do.

"It is doubtful whether, in the 102 years of Wisconsin history, any political campaign has been conducted on so low a level as that of the Republicans this year."

← Republican Schmitt

"My decision not to support Mr. Wiley, Mr. Kohler, and Mr. (Vernon) Thomson can be found, in part, in the low character of the campaign these men are permitting the unscrupulous Republican voluntary committee to conduct for them.

"From the cesspool of its headquarters have come the most revolting and repulsive press releases and campaign literature ever to appear in a Wisconsin political campaign.

"They accept and peddle these scurrilous handouts designed to seek votes from the emotions and sacrifices arising from the unfortunate Korean war.

"These little men have forfeited the right to the respect of all thinking citizens, regardless of party."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman-MacArthur Discuss Korea Reconstruction at Wake Meeting; Dewey Says He Won't Run in 1952

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

WAKE ISLAND:

Talks Lock Something

On the hot, lonely little island of Wake in mid-Pacific, President Harry S. Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, two men who have had much to do with world destiny in the last few years, had a talk.

After it was over a statement was issued which said the two discussed a number of subjects vital to world problems. According to the press release they talked about reconstruction of Korea, the possibility of a Japanese peace treaty, and the general agreement to strive toward peace in unity with other U.N. nations.

The meeting was of great interest to the American public from another angle. MacArthur and Mr. Truman had never met and their conflicting views on a number of subjects had been reported in the press during recent months.

Reports of the meeting indicated that MacArthur had only a general idea of the topics to be discussed when he was asked to meet the President. It was also reported that Truman conducted the talks from an agenda scribbled on a pad.

Observers believed these reports gave an indication of the how and why of the meeting. The President had a number of topics to discuss with the U.N. commander and he limited the talks to that agenda. It was also suggestive, some observers believed, that Mr. Truman was acting in his capacity as President and commander-in-chief and not as a man seeking advice.

On the surface the meeting was cordial. In farewell, MacArthur said: "Good-by, sir. Happy landing. It has been a real honor to talk with you."

But the other MacArthur seemed revealed when he said good-by to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff: "Good-by, Omar. Don't let them get you down up there."
To the observer not so close to hand, the MacArthur-Truman meeting seemed to lack something, although no one has been able to say definitely just what.

DEWEY:

A Bombshell

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tossed a political bombshell upon the national scene by saying flatly he would not run for President in 1952 and would back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

The governor had no more than made his statement when other liberal Republicans, including Harold Stassen, backed the move. "Under no circumstances that I can conceive," Dewey said, "will I accept the nomination for President in 1952, and I doubt if there is any possibility the situation would arise thereafter."

The Democrats had nothing to say about Dewey's announcement. President Truman when informed of it was reported to have murmured "that's fine" and continued his swim in the Pacific.

A number of political figures, however, recalled that the governor said shortly before he announced for the third term as governor of New York, he would not be a candidate for that office again.

The last time Eisenhower mentioned politics he said he did not want to identify himself with any one political party. He added that "I have no political connections, no political ambitions, and don't want any connections with politics."

HARD TO BELIEVE

Nine Firms Announce Price Cuts

In these days when the public seems to be fair game for all kinds of price boosts, it's hard to believe that nine companies announced price cuts. The cuts were on bagged coffee, airplane parts and asphalt tile.

The A & P company and Grand Union company, retail grocery chains, announced reductions on the price of their various brands of bag coffee by two cents a pound.

Boeing Airplane of Seattle announced it was reducing by 10 per cent the price on all stratosphere spare parts. The cut was retroactive to September 1.

Armstrong Cork company put price reductions of about 5 per cent in effect on standard asphalt tile.

Coffee prices had been on the upswing for many months.

Meanwhile, Manhattan Shirt company raised prices on its spring lines of dress shirts by 7 1/2 to 13 per cent, on sport shirts by 14 per cent and pajamas 15 per cent.

Botany Mills, New York, announced increases of approximately 10 per cent in the wholesale prices of its men's robes and suggested a similar retail boost.

In Milwaukee, three major breweries disclosed a nine-cent-percentage price boost to distributors outside Wisconsin. State retailers were not effected by the boost in beer prices.

Headliners

"Firm action in Korea must not lull us into a sense of false security. What happened in Korea has set world peace on stronger foundations. There may be time to build up a European army with strong aid from Britain, the United States and Canada," Winston Churchill told a cheering mass rally of the Conservative party.

"As for myself, my convictions as to the place and methods through which I can best contribute something to the cause of freedom have been often expressed. They have not changed. Here at Columbia University I have a task that would excite the pride and challenge the qualifications and strength of any man. I still believe that it offers to such an individual as myself rich opportunities for serving," General Eisenhower said in answer to Thomas Dewey's suggestion he become the Republican candidate for president in 1952.

THE DRAFT:

Fathers in Line

National Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, worried about where the men are coming from for the draft, announced he might ask the President to erase almost all draft dependency deferments except for fathers. Later he said he even favored taking some men with children.

Hershey said it might be necessary to take some fathers if the goal of three million men in the armed forces by next June was to be met.

Meanwhile 19,000 young physicians, dentists and veterinarians registered for a possible 21 months' military service. Of the total, 1,522 face induction by January 15 unless they volunteer first.

If there are too few volunteers the army will begin an induction program November 15 by taking 300 physicians, 300 dentists and 50 veterinarians. Another 322 doctors, 200 dentists and 50 veterinarians will be called by January 15.

All doctors through age 50 eventually must register, but the first group includes only those deferred during World War II to train at their own or government expense and saw less than 21 months service.

Investigators

Sen. Estes Kefauver, chairman of the U.S. senate crime investigating committee, confers with chief counsel Rudolph Halley and his assistant, Alfred Klein. Kefauver's committee has revealed major crime syndicates in a number of U. S. cities.

ELECTION:

Duty to Vote

As the date of the national election nears, the American Heritage Foundation, the non-profit citizens' group that sponsored the Freedom Train, stepped up its campaign of turning out a large vote.

The foundation is sponsor of the contest in which prizes of historical papers are being awarded to communities, counties, and civic organizations doing the best job in turning out the vote.

The campaign was designed to combat widespread voter lethargy which in the presidential election of 1948 saw more than 45,000,000 of America's voting population fail to go to the polls.

Two years ago, only 52 per cent of the voters took the trouble to cast their ballots, a poor record when contrasted with other countries. In the last national elections held in Sweden, 82 per cent of the voting population went to the polls. The turnout in France and Italy exceeded 80 per cent. In Great Britain it was 76 per cent and in Canada, 74 per cent.

Thomas D'Arcy Brophy, foundation president, said in launching the contest: "In this year of crisis it is more necessary than ever before that every citizen of voting age vote. A large turnout at the polls is the most effective answer free citizens can hurl at those who would enslave them."

Soon after election day a three-man board of judges will start reviewing the efforts of various communities and organizations in raising the voting levels in their regions. The judges are Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, director of the central intelligence agency; Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric company, and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

In 1948, Utah had the best voting record with 74.6 per cent going to the polls.

SECURITY ACT:

Confusion in Europe

The new U. S. internal security act threw Europe into a state of confusion that bordered on the fantastic. Hundreds of businessmen, artists, and tourists scheduled to sail for America suddenly found themselves without permits to enter this country as a result of the state department's order that all visas be canceled.

The order required all visas be reevaluated and hundreds of travelers, thousands of miles from home, were told they would have to return to their native lands to secure new permits.

The state department's action was taken under that section of the security law which says no visas will be issued to persons who are now, or ever have been, members of the Communist, Nazi or Fascist parties, or affiliated with any of their organizations or subdivisions.

There was further confusion in that there was no ruling on the problem of eligibility for visitors or immigrants from Spain or Argentina, both of which have been mentioned as governments to which the anti-totalitarian ban might be applied.

Businessmen and manufacturers complained that the ban injured U.S.-German trade by keeping out businessmen already checked by allied authorities. About 90 per cent of all Germans are believed to have been members of Nazi organizations either by choice or compulsion.

The standing joke of Europe, seen in newspapers and on posters, read: "Visit America and see Ellis Island."

MOBILIZATION:

A Fight for Survival

A new cry for an all-out effort in the fight for survival was made by W. Stuart Symington, economic mobilizer. He called for higher taxes, stiffer curbs on credit and longer working hours.

He reported his agency is now getting organized for such price and wage action as may be needed, but hastened to add he believed it might be possible to avoid general price-wage controls in the immediate future "if we could get over the psychology of scarce buying."

Many observers believed that Symington was making a desperate appeal in an effort to head off further curbs.

Symington said: "We must have strong credit controls to cut down civilian buying. . . We must have much higher taxes, on a 'pay-as-you-go' basis, to keep purchasing power down to a level of available civilian goods."

To cope with Russia's superiority in man power, he suggested:

1. A "great step-up" in American production.
2. Return of older workers and women into the labor force.
3. Restoration of work hours, "at least part way" to the levels that prevailed during World War II.

PARCEL-POST:

Rate Increase Asked

Invoking a little-used statute, Postmaster-General Donaldson has asked the interstate commerce commission for an increase in parcel-post rates amounting to $103,000,000 a year.

The proposed increase would up mailing charges for the first pound from four to nine cents, depending on postal zone. Additional poundage would be increased up to three cents a pound.

Donaldson also asked increases of 2 1/2 cents a pound for local delivery on catalogues, and three cents a pound on the first pound for all out-of-town zones. The proposed jump on additional poundage would range from half a cent to five cents a pound.

He also proposed a special surcharge for parcel-post packages of such size and weight as to make it necessary to handle them outside mailbags. He asked for a 30-cent surcharge on parcels over 50 pounds and a 25-cent charge on parcels under 50 pounds.

World Without Women

● A beardless monk and his donkey (above) stroll through a street of Karyes, capital of the monastic republic. Autonomy was granted to the monks by the Emperors of Byzantium. It has been respected by all Greek rulers to this day. Visitors are welcome to Karyes as long as they are male. Not even a female animal is permitted within the boundaries of the republic.

● A hermit (above) of Athos takes over the wash-day chores in this world without women. The men of the republic have a choice between entering the monastery or becoming hermits. Monks of right prepare their nets for shallow-water fishing. The life of peace and tranquility on Athos is clearly perceived in the view below of the harbor of Lavra monastery. In the rowboat, two monks are setting out on an early morning fishing party.

● The bearded hermit (above) is a member of St. Andrew's settlement near Karyes. He came to Athos early this century and doesn't know what an automobile looks like, but he has seen those "huge steel monsters called airplanes" which sometimes fly over Athos.

● A little world in itself — a strange world where there is no room for the female of any species — is Holy Mount Athos, a narrow peninsula 28 miles long that sticks out like a pointing finger into the blue waters of the Aegean sea. Time marches on here as it does in the rest of the universe. But progress stood still nearly a thousand years ago. Today some 2,000 monks of the Greek Orthodox Church follow the same way of life that was followed by their predecessors in 972. The black-robed monk above is the monastery doctor. The Lavra monastery, oldest in Athos, is in the background.

Since the outbreak of the war in Korea, enrollments have rocketed to a new all-time peak in the Civil Air Patrol, the volunteer civilian pilots' organization which helped fight German submarines off our coasts with frail "puddle-jumper" landplanes in the early years of World War II, and also gave basic school training to many thousands of high schoolers who later became military pilots.

Motion picture theatre patrons who can identify sons, husbands or sweethearts in Paramount News clips of military training camps or battle areas can obtain these clips free of charge, with instructions for having them enlarged. Thousands of clips were sent out during the last war.

Sterling Hayden has returned to Paramount, the studio which took him off a sailing ship and booted him to overnight stardom. He made two pictures with Madeleine Carroll, married her, then got into the war and made a brilliant record as captain on secret O. S. S. duty under the name of John Hamilton. Recently a free-lance, he has signed a long-term contract.

Humphrey Bogart refused to play a scene in a sound stage subway for "The Enforcer", persuaded Director Windust to rewrite the scene with a bus background. His shamed explanation—that riding subways makes him sick!

Gary Cooper plans on making one more picture after "Dallas" and then going to Africa again for some big game hunting. This time he will also take a camera, hoping to get enough good shots for a short subject at least.

Today the flying "minute men" of the CAP are giving basic training directly to over 22,000 cadet members, aged 15 to 18; besides this their ground school program is installed as an accredited course in hundreds of public high schools; they are in training themselves and are training new members for civilian defense problems, participation in air-search rescue work and anti-sabotage patrol. Their "service pay" consists of the privilege of buying their own uniforms and of contributing dues to cover their regular operating expenses.

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP of CAP has topped the 175,000 mark and is still climbing. There is a rapid shift of inactive senior members to active status again.

The CAP radio communications network available for either civilian or military emergencies, has expanded from 538 stations thinly covering some two-thirds of the area of continental United States in 1949, to approximately 6,500 stations blanketing the United States and extending to Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. The network is equipped with government surplus radio telephone material, serviced and operated by CAP instructors and their cadet radio communications students.

SOME 6,000 CAP cadets attended summer encampments at 32 air force bases for intensive study of jet engine operation and maintenance, radar detection work, and other ground school training subjects. The cadets were ferried in air force transport planes from their home states to their encampment location, and back again.

In the so-called peacetime years since VJ day, CAP volunteer pilots have done a large share of the air-search rescue flying, to locate lost planes and crash victims; they have logged hundreds of hours of forest fire patrol; have participated in "haylift" operations after western blizzards; have flown medicines into flooded areas. In a number of such emergencies the CAP radio communications network has been the only means of outside contact with flooded or stormstruck areas.

In 1948 congress gave CAP permanent status as an auxiliary of the air force, which provides an AF-CAP liaison headquarters with a compact air force staff in each state to coordinate activities of the civilian volunteer organization with those of the military men.

THE TRICKY DARLINGS

THE FICTION CORNER

By Richard H. Wilkinson

JOHN Carlton would never go so far as to say his daughter, Jane, was stubborn. He chose to call it an independent spirit, a desire to lead her own life, make her own way in the world.

Actually Jane was a duplicate of old John in character and disposition. Old John recognized the resemblance.

Knowing Jane as he did, and loving her as he did, old John decided to employ what he wanted her to do something.

Jane was beautiful. She attracted men, lots of them.

Old John frowned on Jane's reckless regard for love. He frowned on the young men who paid her court. All but one, it seemed to him, were worthless.

The one, Phil Scot, by name, a son of Old John's closest friend, appeared to possess the requisites of a good husband. In the first place he had a job. Secondly, he worked hard and had ambition to do big things. Thirdly, his attentions toward Jane were honorable and sincere.

Old John was too wise to suggest to Jane that she consider Phil Scot as a possible husband. Despite the fact that he knew that Jane did not regard Phil with disfavor, he knew, also, that the moment she became aware of her father's prejudice poor Phil wouldn't stand a chance.

"Look here, Jane," he said one day, "I notice you've been seeing that young Scot fellow a good deal lately. I absolutely wouldn't stand for his type as a son-in-law."

Jane was beautiful. She attracted men, lots of them. She was, in fact, a bit reckless about it all, and refused flatly to take the matter seriously.

Jane's surprise gave way to anger. "Phil Scot," she said defiantly, "is a darling. Of all the boys I know Phil stands head and shoulders above the rest. And," she added, "you'd better like it because he's the man I'm going to marry."

Old John scowled. "He'll never be a son-in-law of mine. So you'd better begin forgetting him now."

AN hour later Albert J. Scot, young Phil's father, completed a telephone conversation with his oldest and closest friend, John Carlton, and summoned his son.

"Phil," he began, frowning deeply, "it seems to me you've been paying a good deal of attention to that Carlton girl lately. I want it stopped! Understand! She's nothing but a flirt and a social butterfly!"

Phil was aghast. "But, Dad, she's the daughter of your oldest friend! I thought . . . that is . . . well, you see I like Jane a lot. I was in hopes . . ."

"Well, cease hoping," Scot senior cut in.

A WEEK LATER Old John and Albert Scot were sipping drinks and exchanging congenialities on the veranda of the former's home. A car stopped out front and two young people came up the walk. The two young people stopped and smiled pleasantly.

Jane Carlton said: "I'm sorry to disappoint you, father, but John and I are married. We love each other, and, despite the fact that neither you nor Mr. Scot approves of the match, we're going to live our lives as we see fit."

"And," said Phil Scot defiantly, "if you don't like it, you can lump it."

Old John and Albert T. Scot exchanged glances. They laughed. They slapped each other on the back and roared with delight.

Jane and Phil looked on in bewilderment. After awhile Old John wiped his eyes and explained the conspiracy the pair had concocted.

Jane looked at Phil and Phil looked at Jane and Jane said: "How clever. You won't mind, then, when we tell you we've been married for two months? We've kept it secret till Phil got a raise in pay. He got it today and tomorrow we're leaving on our honeymoon. You two can sit here and think up ways and means of running our lives when we get back."

Cuban Solomon Solves Lovers' Problem With Justice

By BILLY ROSE

Last night at Lindy's a bunch of us were making small talk between big mouthfuls, and as per usual the conversation ran the full gamut—from girls to girls.

A little before closing time we got around to a well-known Power's model who had been going steady with a press agent pal of ours, and who was recently lured away from him by the financial blandishments of a well-heeled heel.

"All lady-stealers ought to be buried up to their necks in sand and the ants tramped loose," said Mark Barron who covers the theatre for A.P.

"In Cuba," said Charlie Moses, the film distributor, "they have even more interesting punishments than that for dame-nappers. As a matter of fact, there's one particular story they've been telling for years down here where which illustrates how they let the punishment fit the crime."

"Spare us the puns," I said, "and let's have the story in a few easy paragraphs . . ."

According to Charlie, it all happened a hundred and something years ago when Cuba was under Spanish rule.

ONE DAY AT A fiesta, a scrumptious señorita named Josefina was having herself a time with her boy friend, a prepossessing but peso-less caballero named Roberto, when she caught the lecherous eye of Jose de Cordoba, an old burn of a count who had a large estate outside Havana. The titled bum found out where she lived and made the usual underhanded overtures, but when the señorita informed him that his presence and presents were equally obnoxious, he had her kidnapped and taken to his hacienda.

Roberto had a pretty good idea who was responsible for the snatch but he needed proof, so he disguised himself as a mendicant friar and fast-talked his way into the Count's house. There he struck up an acquaintance with the cook, and when he found that his lady friend was being held under lock and key in a second floor room, he hotfooted it back to Havana.

The Spanish governor-general at the time was one Miguel Tacón, a tough-minded hombre who believed in an eye for an eye and a whole upper plate for a tooth. And when Roberto told him what had happened he ordered his soldiers to arrest the Count and bring him and Josefina to the governmental palace.

AN HOUR LATER, the pretty one and her abductor were brought before him, and after bawling the be-jabbers out of the Count he decreed the punishment: The pair were to be married immediately and he, himself, would perform the ceremony. Which he did, while poor Roberto looked on—plenty bothered and bewildered. Getting hitched to Josefina was not his idea of punishment.

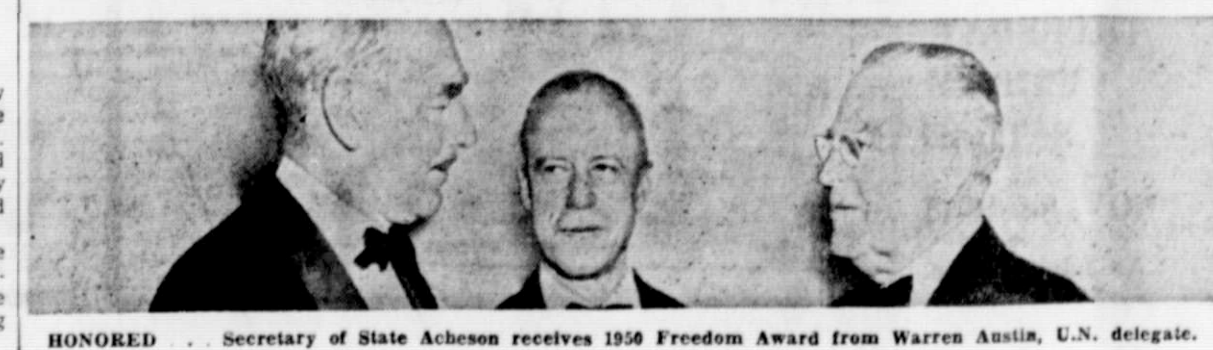

After the nuptials, the Governor-General told the Count he was free to take his bride back to his hacienda. A few minutes out of town, however, a detachment of soldiers, acting on Tacón's orders, ambushed the newlyweds, shot the bridegroom in hot blood and escorted Josefina back to the palace.

"You were legally married to the Count," the governor told her in his best Solomon manner, "and are therefore his legitimate widow. As such, you are heir to all his worldly goods and possessions, which I understand are considerable. You are also free to marry anyone you wish, and if Roberto still appeals to you I'd be delighted to do the honors."

Burglars Use Chloroform To Make a $1,000 Haul

LAWTON, Okla.—Burglars blew chloroform under the door of the room where Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Raines were sleeping so they would not disturb the victims while they removed a screen door and robbed the couple of $1,000.

When the Raines awoke late the next morning, they found the burglars had removed a wallet from the pocket of Raines' trousers hanging at the foot of the bed.

Dangerous Investigation

SENATOR Kefauver's determination to investigate the Mafia requires a lot more courage than appears on the surface. Not only is it dangerous from the point of view of personal safety, but it is dangerous politically. For the Mafia has friends and protectors in very high places.

President Truman had no idea what was happening and probably his naive military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, did not suspect it, but the Mafia was making a play for White House pull through the late William Helis, close friend and partner of Frankie Costello. The senate expenditures committee was in the throes of unearthing real dynamite in regard to this during the Maragon-Vaughan investigation, when Senator Hoey considerably hushed the hearings up.

How the Mafia pulls wires in high places is illustrated by Sylvester Carolla, New Orleans hatchet man for Louisiana's Mafia chief, Marcello, who helps operate Costello's gambling joints in and around New Orleans. Carolla's son, Anthony, is married to Marcello's niece, Maria Zaniatta, who came to the United States from Italy on a visitor's permit in 1947, but strangely has been allowed to remain here ever since. Obviously she could not have done so without political pull.

Carolla was convicted in 1921 for bootlegging, and spent a year and a day in Atlanta; was sentenced again in 1931 to 24 months for violating the narcotics laws; and in 1933 was sentenced to 8 to 15 years at hard labor for attempted murder. However, the Mafia has pull. And, one year after the attempted murder, Carolla was given a full pardon by the governor of Louisiana.

Two years later, in January, 1936, Carolla was shipped into Atlanta on a five-year sentence for a narcotics violation, and this time the federal government finally decided that he was not a useful citizen and ordered him deported. Whereupon Congressman James Morrison of Louisiana came to his rescue, introducing a series of private bills to keep him in this country. However, Carolla's record was too black even for political pull, and on April 30, 1947, he was deported from Boston by plane.

Two years later, he turned up in Mexico, operating out of Acapulco, having been ordered there by Lucky Luciano personally. And on July 4, 1950, Carolla was picked up in New Orleans, right back in his old stamping ground.

Secret Mafia Roll Call

Here is the hitherto unpublished roll call on more of the Mafia leaders, the most powerful rulers of crime in the United States:

FRANK CAPPOLA, alias "Three-Fingered Frank"—Cappola was prominent in the New Orleans Mafia, then showed up in Kansas City, where he was linked with the late Charlie Binaggio. In fact, Binaggio aided Cappola to resist deportation in 1930 but failed. Cappola was deported but came back again, in May, 1949, with Binaggio on his $2,000 deportation bond.

Cappola set up headquarters in Tijuana, Mexico, and in 1949 Binaggio made an interesting trip to Mexico, stopping off to visit Cappola in Tijuana and Carolla in Acapulco. One of the Tijuana chief of police, Francisco Kraus, raided Cappola's headquarters in a Tijuana motel, and found with him Frank Bompensiero, a San Diego tavern owner and business associate of Jack Dragna, boss of the California Mafia.

Texas Gambling Lords

SAM MACEO of Galveston—Before 1920, Maceo was a humble Galveston barber. But he broke into the bootlegging racket, graduated to dope smuggling, then muscled into the gambling rackets, and now owns Galveston night clubs, bars and two hotels. Maceo is also a power in Texas politics. Born in Italy in 1894, his criminal record shows no convictions, only an acquittal on a New York narcotics rap Oct. 24, 1942.

BIAGGLIO ANGELICA of Houston—Is Maceo's subordinate in the Mafia, has been linked with Maceo in narcotics smuggling. Was sentenced to 10 years and fined $2,000 on a narcotics rap at Houston, Oct. 20, 1938; was sentenced to another eight years' imprisonment at Galveston Jan. 10, 1940, and still another two years at New York city Oct. 10, 1942, both on narcotics violations.

Missouri Mobsters

JOE DI GIOVANNI, alias Joe Church, Kansas City—is Mafia chief in the Kansas City area, coming there from Brooklyn. Di Giovanni has been the big boss over such better-known bosses as Joe De Luca and the late Charles Binaggio. Di Giovanni's front is the Di Giovanni wholesale liquor company which incidentally has employed Paul Cantanzaro, a murder suspect, as night watchman. Di Giovanni's criminal history goes back to 1915.

TONY LOPPARO, St. Louis—Chief of the St. Louis Mafia, but tied closely with the Kansas City crowd. Lopparro slipped across the Mexican border to visit Frank Cappola and Sylvester Carolla, the New Orleans Mafia members who were kicked out of the country, then sent back to Mexico by Lucky Luciano. An associate of Lopparro's, Thomas Buffa, testified for the state on a minor matter in connection with the De Luca trial. After Buffa returned to St. Louis an attempt was made to kill him. He fled to California and was killed.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When you have two or three worn-out blankets on your hands, cut off the bindings, stitch the blankets together—that is, on top of each other—and cover them with printed cotton. All of which produces a nice warm comforter with a useful life expectancy of several years.

A blanket that's too short for the bed, or the occupant therein, can be made usable. Sew a fifteen-inch piece of flannel or flannelette to the bottom of the blanket. No one will notice it if you tuck under that part. The rest of the blanket will then be long enough.

One of the handiest ways to clean white satin shoes is to rub them with a soft art-gum eraser. If they're too soiled to respond to that, try rubbing them with a soft cloth dipped in vinegar and then with a cloth dipped in cleaning fluid. Or, put a few drops of lemon juice in some uncolored alcohol and apply that with a cloth.

These Things the Democrat Candidates Want You to Forget!

Their Communist Friends

They have not cleaned up Communism in Washington:

There was the case of Alger Hiss,—and Mr. Acheson would not turn his back on him even after his conviction.

Judy Coplon was convicted.

Atom Bomb Secrets were lost to Russia.

The Amcrasia traitors were whitewashed.

President Truman vetoed the law to control Communism.

The plain truth is that the Democrats never have and never will clear government departments of communists and traitors.

Vice and Fraud

The top men in the Democratic organization come from the notorious Pendergast gang.

William Boyle, ex-captain of that Kansas City machine, is credited with directing the Democratic campaign in Wisconsin. Do the Democrats ever mention the Kansas City vote frauds, the Binaggio murder, the Capone gangsters parole, the 5% scandal, the imprisonment of their leader, Congressman May, for war frauds? A congressional committee forced by Republicans is right now uncovering alliances between vice and gambling and Democratic political administrations all over America.

Tax Trickery

Last year the Democrat national administration took $818,083,000.00 of your Wisconsin money to Washington in direct taxes. Less than one dollar out of eight dollars was returned to us in so-called federal aids — $700,000,000 stayed in Washington for spending and wasting by Democrat bureaus. But, what about the hidden taxes that you cannot even estimate?

On a loaf of bread—151 hidden taxes.

On a woman's hat—150 hidden taxes.

On a gallon of gasoline—201 different taxes.

On a small home—600 taxes.

And hundreds more on all of the necessities of life.

Blunders Cost Blood

You paid 98 billions of dollars in taxes for defense since the last war. Where did that money go?

The Democrat candidates don't ever mention that with all this money there were only 6 Pershing tanks, only 30 tactical combat planes, only one aircraft carrier, and not a single combat marine in the Japanese area when we entered Korea.

Waste

The reckless and wasteful spending by the Democrat Federal Government is cheapening the dollar, robbing the wage earner and the farmer and destroying the savings, insurance and investments of the people.

The Democrats don't want you to remember the sworn testimony that one government department had a supply of the following articles:

Light Bulbs for 93 years.

Ruled Paper for 168 years.

Looseleaf Binders for 247 years.

Tracing Cloth for 9 years.

Brannan

Jail for farmers? The Democratic candidate here in Wisconsin stumped for the Brannan farm plan, but they want it forgotten until the votes are cast. Then they will try to give you these delightful features:

It has 15 pages of penalties including jail sentences that apply to farmers.

It calls for fines up to $500 for farmers that do not keep records as required by the Secretary of Agriculture.

It was not draw up by a farmer, or a farm organization, but by a Denver lawyer—Mr. Brannan.
