TRUMAN:

Armament for Peace

President Truman, speaking before the United Nations general as-sembly on United Nations' day, told members of the world organization that the United States would prefer universal disarmament, but that this nation is committed to rearming because it is the only way to stop aggression. The President used Korea as an example of what united effort by U.N. members can accomplish in stopping aggression. He termed the invasion of South Korea by Com-munist forces a direct challenge to the world organization.

As for disarmament and the solu tion to world problems, Mr. Truman said the U.S. was willing to enter negotiation, but only if all nations proved their good intentions. Such negotiation could only be carried on if there was concrete evidence of good intention and the open and free exchange of ideas between nations.

The chief executive said few acts in our time have met with such universal approval as the inter-vention of the United Nations in the Korea conflict.

It was significant that the President did not mention Russia at all plot the next Communist move since during his speech as the chief threat to world peace. It was clear, however, to what world power he referred when he said the freedom loving nations of the world will conother choice.

LIVING COSTS: Nears Record High

The latest government consumer price index reported the cost of living continued to move upward. The gain was ½ per cent from the pre-vious month. The index stood 173.9, meaning 73.8 per cent above the 1935-39 average.

The government, however, was only putting into figures what the American housewife has known for some time. Low and fixed income families felt the pinch shortly after the Korean war began. The latest index figure was only .4 of a per cent short of the 174.5 high reached in August and September, 1948.

Even with the publication of these figures there seemed little possibility that the government planned any cost of living. In the average American city the housewife now pays $21.70 for a food basket costing $10 at the outbreak of World War II.

During August and September of 3.5 per cent more for meats, poultry, and fish, including 10.6 per cent

Leon H. Keyserling, chairman of President Truman's council of economic advisers, speaking on the country economic problems, said: "We do not need as many or as tough controls as in 1944 because the transition of military activity is not nearly so rapid or so great." Stuart Symington, eco lization coordinator, also had something to say on the same question "It begins to look as if everybody wants controls so long as the controls don't affect them."

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, speaking on the Founder's Day program at Carnegie Institute said "Possibly my hatred of war blinds me so that I cannot comprehend the arguments they advance. But in my opinion there is no such thing as a preventive war."

PRAGUE:

Scene of New Plot

The foreign minister of Russia and the representatives of seven satellite states met in Prague to the gamble in Korea must be written off as to a complete loss. From that meeting came four de mands to the western powers, but the free nations were more intertinue to build up their armed ested in what the Communists did strength, because they have no not say than in the new demands. This is what the Communist asked: (1) That the governments of the United States, Britain, France and Russia should publish a declaration saying they will not allow the remilitarization of Germany, they will not allow Germany to become involved in any plans of aggres sion," and will try to carry out the Potsdam agreement to "build a lemocratic, peace-loving Germany.

(2) That all restrictions hinder ng the development of Germany's "peace economy" be removed while a revival of German war potential should not be allowed.

(3) That there should be conluded "without delay" a treaty of peace with Germany which would renew the unity of the German state in harmony with the Potsdam agreement; that all occupation forces of the great powers be withdrawn from Germany within one immediate action to stop the rising year after a peace treaty is concluded

(4) That on a basis of parity, representatives from east and west Germany should form a "Constituent Council" for all of Germany to this year housewives were paying prepare "the formation of a democratic sovereign government" for all Germany.

KOREA: Now Rehabilitation

Except for isolated guerrilla action, the war in Korea was over. The end was hastened by spectacu-lar parachute drops of U. S. troops between Pyongyang and the Man-churian border to block escape of North Korea troops. As the end came, however, the world was horrified by reports of new atrocities against U. N. troops n Communist hands. Red leaders had long since escaped into Man-churia, most of them fleeing when U. N. troops crossed the 38th paral-

Now the United Nations is faced with the rehabilitation of Korea, estimated by a U. S. survey at $200,000,000. The figure was described as a rough estimate and many observers believed comparable sums would have to be furnished annually for at least two or three years to put Korea back on its feet. The rehabilitation of Korea was ne of the big issues discussed by President Truman and General Mac-Arthur during their recent meeting at Wake island.

An indication of the job ahead was given when Reginald H. R. Parminter, special adviser to the U. N. on Korean affairs, told the assembly committee working on re-habilitation that over $36 million in relief supplies already had been reeived.

Members of the U. N. have offered supplies and cash totaling from $12,-000,000 to $13,000,000. Another $5,-000,000 was expected.

U.S. EMPLOYEES Total at New High

Salaries of government employees will cost the average U. S. family about $402 for the year 1950, com-pared to $155 in 1929, the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life reports.

Because the grand total of fedral, state and local government vilian employees has approximatedoubled in the 21 years since 1929, while the U. S. population has increased by only about a fourth, each average American family must now pay one government worker's salary for eight weeks out of each

 There is a fourth "R" in the education of children, Lissa Bengtson who operates a child guidance school at Sherman Oaks, Calif., believes. She believes that physical and mental rhythm are vital in the development of children. With this thought in mind children between the ages of two and 12 get the "sound mind in sound body" treatment at her school. Above four of the school's 100 students go through their rhythmic exercises under supervision of Miss Bengtson.

After mastering the balance bar (above), the children go over the same route tossing balls into the air and catching them. Every lesson at the Bengtson school is woven into a game for the youngsters. Gen Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university, is shown with Dean Philip Young of Columbia, as they announced the establishment of the "American Assembly" at the university, a convocation of representatives of business, labor, the professions, government and the university, to work out answer to critical problems facing the country. Ike repeated his "no" about running for President.

The West was not naive enough to believe that any agreement could be reached on Germany. Plans for rebuilding a strong western Germany and an European army continued in full force. Western diplomats were asking themselves what new acts of aggression did Russia and her satel-lites cook up?

STASSEN:

Pravda Calls Him Silly

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, created a lot of interest with his letter to Joseph Stalin asking for a face to face meeting of Americans and Russians in an effort to "stop the drift toward war."

Stassen did not receive a reply from Stalin, but the official voice of Communist propaganda, Pravda, ing renewed trouble with disconpublished an article calling him silly, crude, and ridiculous, among jects. other things.

The article was, in fact, a flat rejection of the Stassen proposal. The writer made it plain that the Soviet government does not consider Stassen's letter worth a formal answer.

The article said in part: "Stassen lemands no more, no less than a change by the Soviet Union of its oolicy. It is not difficult to see that Stassen is not only crude but also demand which excludes all possibility of a serious view of any degree of 'document' worked out by the president of Pennsylvania university in cooperation with veteran warmongers Eisenhower and Dulles."

The former aspirant for the Re publican presidential nomination had little to say about the article. He indicated he would wait for a direct reply from Stalin.

year, compared with five and a half weeks' salary borne by each family in 1929

Salaries of federal state and local civilian employees totalled $4,650,-000,000 for 1929, were approximate-ly $16,000,000,000 for 1949, and are estimated at about $16,500,000,000 for 1950.

The number of persons on public payrolls fluctuates from month to month, but the roster of civilian government workers will average in the neighborhood of 6,050,000 for the 12 months of 1950.

Nothing in the nature of mass uprisings had been reported. Rumored incidents in the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia and Romania appeared to be on an isolated scale. Nevertheless, the reported incidents, if true, indicate increasing bold resistance to Communist domination behind the iron curtain.

One report told of widespread riots and sabotage in Slovakia where the Communists have experienced trouridiculous in advancing this wild ble since they seized control of Czechoslovakia in the spring of 1948. Other reports told of renewed resistance to the Communist regime in the Ukraine. Some 2,000 persons were reported arrested in the Kiev area.

Reports persist that the overwhelming majority of the people in the satellite states remain opposed Soviet domination. This certainly would seem wishful thinking upon the part of western diplomats.

One of the brightest indications of progress in securing more doctors and better health facilities for rural areas in this country is the recent announcement by the American Medical Association that community health councils in the nation have increased from 82 to nearly 300 in the last two years.

These figures are based on a survey of the association's council on medical service in which county medical societies were queried, Thomas A. Hendricks of Chicago secretary of the council, reported. Local achievement of the comnunity health councils in the last five years include construction of nospitals with the aid of the hospital survey and construction act (Hill-Burton act); increasing avail-able hospital beds; developing clincs; securing more doctors, dentists, nurses and other needed personnel; development of fulltime lo cal public health services; health examination of children of school and pre-school age and correction of their remediable health defects; promotion of voluntary prepayment medical care and hospitalization provision of medical care for the aged and chronically ill, and meeting costs of medical service to families unable to pay for hospitalization and doctors bills, according to Hendricks. In some instances community ouncils have been extremely helpful in cooperating with the national mental health program. Councils have matched government funds to pay mental health clinic personnel and conducted educational campaigns to acquaint communities with the value and manner of operation of the clinics. And although health councils have been organized in urban as well as in rural areas, they have been especially important in bringing better medical care to the people in rural communities, Hendricks said. . . .

THE A.M.A.'s efforts to promote organization of community health councils to improve medical care for long neglected rural communities date back to the organization of the association's committee on rural health five years ago. Since that time it has been actively engaged in coordinating the efforts of farm groups and state and local medical societies in rural health.

The committee is set up so that ts representatives can be reached locally in any area. Doctors selected by state medical societies serve as directors in nine regions and as state rural health chairmen in 45 states. Any organization wanting information on setting up a local health council or solving rural health problems may contact one of these representatives or write directly to the A.M.A. rural health committee in Chicago.

Taxes Pay for Honeymoon

THE TAXPAYERS don't know it, but they are paying for the honeymoon of a congressman's daughter. She is Mrs. Jules de Porre, daughter of Democrat congressman Louis Rabaut of Grosse Pointe Park, Mich.

Carolyn was the last in a line of daughters who worked as Congressman Rabaut's secretary. But she quit to get married shortly after Easter, and became Mrs. Jules de Porre on July 8. Despite this, she has continued to draw $643.33 a month

While the congressman's daughter draws her salary, her job is taken by Marion B. Lacey, who is paid $331.71 per month by the house ap-propriations committee. Very conveniently, the committee "loaned" her to Rabaut to handle "committee business." She is not on his regular pay roll. When queried by this column, Rabaut explained that his daughter never quit working for him, but just shifted to his Detroit office. Actually, this explanation doesn't hold up, For the congressman didn't open an office in Detroit until congress recessed the last week of September. Furthermore, when the congressman takes a trip to Detroit, his office help in Washington complain that he scribbles letters in longhand and sends them back to Washington to be typed, thus making a mystery as to what his newly married daughter is supposed to be doing for him in his Detroit office. A further check by this column in De-troit indicates that Mrs. de Porre hasn't been working for her father as his congressional secretary at

Mrs. de Porre also told this column that she returned to work here between Easter and her July 8 wedding day, but a check at the house office building revealed this was not true.

The real truth is that Congressman Rabaut gave his daughter a $643.33-per-month wedding gift-at the taxpayers' expense.

Admirals' Propaganda Snyder's reaction was a dead

The Admirals' propaganda outfit, "Operation 23," was supposed to have been abolished after the B-36 feud of last fall. It was the cause of a bitter battle between the air force and the navy, with the result that forthright Secretary of the Navy Matthews dispersed the naval officers in charge.

However, it now develops that the ghost of "Operation 23" is still haunting the air force. The same old anti-air force stories are being leaked to the press. In fact, navy propagandists, believe it or not, are spreading the same identical stories as the Communists about the air force; namely, that U.S. airplanes have been killing North Korean women and children.

> Actually, B-29 raids in Korea have been so accurate that they demolished the Woosang armament plants without even touching the rows of workers' houses alongside.

out into the open with the same views that got them into trouble over unification. Rear Adm. Stuart Ingersoll, for instance, harangued a recent conference of American mayors on the navy's success in Korea, as if the air force did not exist.

INSPIRATION Knowing God

AN EDITORIAL

NO HUMAN BEING can love an-other whom he has never known. Love grows through intimate contact. What is true between human beings is true also between human beings and God. The more truly we know God, the more deeply is love for Him embedded in our hearts.

To know God is not mere privi lege; it is a duty enjoined by religious faith. God expects men to approach Him without fear or hesita tion. It is only through knowledge of God and the cultivation of His friendship that men can be moved to practice those virtues that make them pleasing in His sight. Only familiarity with God can prompt the unselfish service which genuine love demands.

Some may ask: How is it possible to know God? We discover and know God through religious indoctrination, through the study of the Scriptures, through the guidance and inspiration of spiritual leaders. Not only that: all around us are nature's endless manifestations of the glory, wisdom and power of the infinite Being.

Knowing God we must of necessity serve Him, and in so doing merit the eternal reward for which we were created. But again a question may be asked: What is meant by serving God?

The answer is simple enough Service to God means, first of all. loyalty to His commandments. It means recognizing God in our neigh-bors. We please God by our prayers, our firm dedication to His laws. But most of all we honor Him by doing good to others, without reservation or discrimination.

Men look for God in the Heavens; but He is also in every human heart. That is one of the profoundest truths of religion. Every word of kindness, every deed of unselfish charity, every gesture of encouragement to another is an offering laid at the feet of the Creator Himself. To recognize and live by this truth is to walk by His side all through our lives.

The above editorial and other ma-terial appearing in this column, was prepared by Religious News Service.

Indiscriminate Use Of Communist Tag Draws Protests

WASHINGTON, D. C. - A warning to Christians against labelling as Communists all people in China, the Balkans and even Russia was voiced here in a resolution adopted by the Baptist joint committee on public affairs.

The resolution stressed that many of these people "are themselves the victims of Communist tyranny."

"We remember that many of them are our brothers in Christ," the resolution said. "As Christians, we will avoid the Communist trick of condemning whole nations. While condemning the leaders of Communist tyranny, we will maintain a sympathy and compassion for the mmon people, avoid such spurious labels as 'Communist China' or

'Communist Poland.' " In a further pronouncement on the world tension between Christianity and Communism, the committee declared, "We are chagrined and embarrassed that in the days when Christian European nations ruled their colonial empires, they did so little to change the basic economic and social structure by which the masses of colonial people were condemned to starvation levels of existence.

"As for the work of Christian missionaries, and native Christians, we are not surprised that in the face of an age-long ruthless culture they have not been able to effect Christian changes in the social and economic life of the countries where they serve."

Archbishop Repudiates Assumption Dogma

LONDON - The Church of England has always honored the Blessed Virgin as the mother of Jesus Christ but cannot accept the dogma of her bodily assumption into heaven shortly after her death, Dr. Cyril Forster Garbett, Archbishop of York, declared in a presidential address to the Convocation of York.

Dr. Garbett's repudiation of the Assumption dogma came after he claimed it hurt understanding.

he added, "could never have evolved the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. There is not one solitary fundamental principle of our democratic polity that did not stem directly from the basic moral con-cepts as embodied in the decalogand the ethics of Jesus."

Woman Has Fifteen Ministers in Family

PHENIX CITY, Ala. - Mrs. R. K. Jones of this city claims the record for close relationship to the greatest number of ministers in any one family.

She is the wife of the Rev. R. K. Jones, pastor of Phenix City Methodist church, the daughter of a minister, the mother of five ministers, the sister of three ministers, the aunt of three ministers, and the sister-in-law of two ministers. All he clergymen are Methodists.

Mrs. Jones, who is currently reigning as Alabama's "Mother Of The Year," was the former Leila Tate, daughter of the Rev. John Benjamin Tate, who preached in the Alabama Methodist Conferences for over half a century.

She married Mr. Jones, another minister in the Alabama Methodist Conference, and became the mother of 13 children, all of whom were given Bible names.
