The Kewaskum Chevrolts handed the West Bend Lithias their first setback of the season here Sunday night in convincing fashion, 74-61, to replace the Lithias as league leaders in the northern Lakes. A jam-packed crowd of roaring rooters of the teams saw the contest and more than 100 others had to be turned away for lack of room in the gym. West Bend had won six in a row before Kewaskum snapped their streak. Kewaskum has also lost a game but takes over first place as a result of having played more tilts. The defeat was by one point on an off day at Mayville.

Johnny Tassar, leader in Lakes loop scoring, sparked Kewaskum to a comfortable half-time lead. Hauen, Lithia center, who is third in scoring, was so busy trying to hold down Tassar that he was held to a mere three points in the opening half. The Chevrolts took an 18-11 advantage in the initial quarter and tallied 21 points in the second period while checking the Lithias with 13. This gave the home boys a 39-24 lead at the intermission.

The winners scored another 21 points in the third stanza and West Bend pushed in 18. The Chevros were on top by 18 points at the end of the third quarter, 69-42. With substitutes in the game, Kewaskum was outscored in the final period, 19 to 14, but they were too far ahead to make much difference. Pete Graff, West Bend's stellar guard, took over the task of guarding Johnny Tassar in the second half. He rode Johnny hard and held him to six points but Tassar still topped top scoring honors with 22 points. His running mate, Fritz Engel, who stands fifth in loop scoring, dropped them in right along with Tassar. He ended up with 16. Hauen paced the Lithias with 17 points, 14 of them scored in the second half. Graff was next with 14.

Kewaskum was very effective from the free throw line, sinking 16 out of 24. West Bend connected on 13 out of 24. No players were charged with five personal fouls although the play was hard and got pretty rough at times in the second half.

CEDARBURG SHADES HONECKS TO GRAB BACK LEAD AGAIN

The Kewaskum Honecks enjoyed holding first place in the Rivers loop for just three days then lost it again. Last Thursday the team knocked off then unbeaten Cedarburg on the latter's floor, 55-40, and replaced them in first place. Sunday Cedarburg returned the visit and bumped Kewaskum on their home floor to regain the lead. The visitors won by one point, 55-57, in a scorcher.

The contest was very close. Kewaskum was ahead 15-14 at the quarter but trailed 27-25 at halftime. The Honecks regained the lead in the third quarter, which ended 47-43 but a desperate spurge by Cedarburg in a final period enabled them to nose out a one point victory.

Center Kempf did his best to pull out a win for the home quint with 24 points. J. Hegnitz was the thorn in Kewaskum's skin with 16 points.

The Kewaskum Indians moved into second place in the Tri-County conference Friday night with a 65-62 victory over high-scoring Rosendale on the home floor.

With the score knotted at 62-all and 30 seconds remaining, Eltie Hanthun batted in a rebound to give Kewaskum a victory over the Dalers. Ron Schult, added a free throw with three seconds left to ice the three-point win. Schultz wound up with 13 points while Hilbert Justman had 15. Richter led Rosendale with 21 points while Klimek, leading scorer, was held to 8. The Dalers were on top at the intermission, 30-25, in the thriller.

On Tuesday night the Indians had an opportunity to tie the Campbellsport for first place but they blew the chance when the Belles handed them a surprisingly easy 51-31 beating. The Belles gave the Indians a going over, using a pressing defense that for some reason Kewaskum was unable to solve. With two or three players in Kewaskum's back court, the Belles continuously stole the ball and caused the locals to pass wildly.

Campbellsport started slowly but took charge in the second period and won going away over their nearest rivals. Dave Wondra and Eugene Weber sparked the leaders with 14 and 13 points respectively. Eltie Hanthun was high for the losers with 10. The Belles held a 24-12 halftime lead.

One of the workers was cleaning an air cleaner with gasoline when a spark ignited some distance away caused the gasoline to explode. Fire broke out in one corner of the garage where clothing and equipment burst into flames. Auburn German Mutual Holds Annual Meeting

The Auburn German Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of New Fane held its annual meeting at Kola's hall last Tuesday, Jan. 16.

President Lyle Bartelt delivered a talk on fire prevention, in which he pointed out that the seven most common causes of farm fires in their proper order were defective chimneys, combustible roofs, lightning, spontaneous ignition, misuse of electricity, matches and careless smoking, and carelessness in the use of kerosene and gasoline; that 95% of all fires are due to carelessness. He pointed out that the high rate on fire insurance is due largely through lack of self inspection, by the policyholders, of the fire hazards on their premises. Thus he encouraged that people should be more fire conscious and that prevention should be taught in the home to reduce the number of fires.

Policy holders decided to have the company inspect a number of the risks of the company in an effort to reduce these hazards.

The terms of President Lyle Bartelt, Treasurer Albert Kreif, and Director and Adjustor Henry Petermann had expired. All of these men were re-elected by a wide margin.

WINTER DRIVING HINTS

Average Passenger Car Does Not Need High-Priced Anti-Freeze

Every year about 100,000,000 gallons of anti-freeze are poured into 40 million or more automobile radiators in every section of the United States except Key West, Florida. Ninety-eight per cent of this anti-freeze is either the "low boiling" type, or the "high boiling" type—often erroneously called "permanent".

Both are made of chemicals belonging roughly to the alcohol family: the low boiling has ethyl (denatured) alcohol or methanol (wood alcohol) as a base, the high boiling has an ethylene glycol or propylene glycol base.

To the average motorist, however, the main difference is that the low boiling is standard-priced ($1.25 a gallon) while the high boiling is premium-priced ($3.50 a gallon).

Because of this difference, many motorists think they are giving their cars extra protection by buying premium-priced anti-freeze. Actually, most of them are wasting money—their cars don't need "extra protection." The National Bureau of Standards, which has been issuing authoritative circulars on anti-freeze for 25 years, states:

"For the average passenger car service, it is possible to use anti-freeze of either low boiling point or of high boiling point. For heavier

Since the temperature gauge on your dashboard is your warning signal if anything goes wrong, make sure it's working. A faulty gauge may show overheating or overcooling even though the cooling system is in perfect order. So play safe, have your serviceman check the gauge.

For the same reason, anti-freeze should not be saved and used again the following year, as many motorists do.

Contrary to popular belief, most anti-freeze losses in winter driving aren't due to evaporation. Leaks expansion at high temperatures "after-boil" and the surging of the liquid on sudden stopping are the chief causes. In fact, the Du Pont road tests showed that the average car loses less than one-pint of evaporated anti-freeze per thousand miles.

Check your radiator hose occasionally by feeling for spongy or swollen places and making sure clamps are tight. Particles of rubber from rotten hoses will clog the radiator. Loose connections will cause anti-freeze solution to leak.

duty, prolonged idling, or operation at high altitudes, a high-boiling anti-freeze is usually considered preferable, although low-boiling anti-freezes have been used successfully."

The Du Pont company, with 17 years experience in anti-freeze research, made road tests comparing its standard-priced anti-freeze with its premium-priced product. These tests were made with every make of car on the road today. The results not only checked with the findings of the Bureau of Standards, but helped define them in greater detail. The tests showed:

That a good standard-priced anti-freeze provides full protection for four out of five cars.

That the only cars requiring a premium-priced anti-freeze are those driven at high altitudes or in temperatures lower than 30 degrees

Your engine will overheat if it is forced to do unusually hard work for a long period, like spinning your wheels to get out of mud or snow. If sand or ashes aren't available, call a service station. A towing job costs less than a damaged engine.

below, or in which the standard thermostat has been replaced with a "high-opening" type to get more heat from the car heater.

In other words, if a motorist buys premium-priced anti-freeze when his car doesn't need it, he's throwing money away.

The term "permanent" anti-freeze is a misnomer. A certain amount of anti-freeze is bound to be lost for one reason or another during a season. Also, during use anti-freeze can become contaminated through leakage of exhaust gases and, if left in a car indefinitely, will cause serious damage. For this reason, the Bureau of Standards advises: "Drain the anti-freeze solution after one winter's use or earlier. Under no circumstance should it remain in the cooling system during the summer."

Farmer's Almanac forecasts weather. You might as well face it—next summer's national holidays will be wet ones. Memorial Day, Fourth of July, and Labor Day are all going to be rainy.

New Year's Day will be c-c-c-cold. January and February will have more than average snow, the white blanket lasting well into March. To begin the last week of the year just ahead, there will be a white Christmas.

Call all that one man's opinion or "guesstimate," if you wish, comments the National Geographic Society. But as part of the full year's weather forecast by Mr. Weatherwise in the Old Farmer's Almanac, it is typical of weather predictions in many farm almanacs that are gospel of a sort in many hundred thousand rural households.

Published at Dublin, N. H., the Old Farmer's for 1951 is the "159th continuous year of publication."

Only a few years its junior is the Hagerstown Town and Country Almanack of Hagerstown, Md. Many others have strong followings in various farm sectors.

In many farm households today, the two most important books are the Bible and the almanac. The same was true in Europe in Pilgrim times, and became the case in America during the 18th century.

William Bradford published the first American almanac in 1687, Benjamin Franklin's Poor Richard's Almanac, still much copied in style, appeared annually from 1732 to 1757.

A loose, slipping fan belt will cause your engine to overheat. The belt should always be adjusted to the right tension. A simple test is to press down on the belt with your thumb, half way between pulleys. It should "give" about an inch.

After a long, hard run, idle your engine rapidly for several minutes, allowing it to cool off gradually. If it is turned off immediately, the coolant may boil and some of it may be lost out of the overflow tube.

Most of Packers' Sale Dollar Goes to Farmer

Industry Expects Near Record Production in '51

The meat industry—from farmer to consumer—is an important part of this country's economy. Of every dollar exchanging hands in the industry, 78 cents goes to the country's farmers.

Profits in 1949, as reported by companies producing the bulk of the nation's meat supply, averaged 7/10 cents out of each dollar of sales, or about 1/3 of a cent per pound of meat sold.

As shown by the above chart, payrolls got next to the largest share of the packer's dollar—10.7 cents; other expenses totaled 9.6 cents and taxes got 1 cent of the dollar.

Of every packer's sales dollar, 78 cents goes to the country's farmers.

Profits included those made on the sale of meat and all other products, including by-products and non-meat items, such as soap, cleansers, medicinal glands, and dairy and poultry products.

The meat industry expects a near record production during 1951. Consumption will remain high due to defense buying and record employment, industry spokesmen believe.

Egg Production Depends On Well Balanced Ration

Poultry experts report it requires about one pound of balanced feed for every seven eggs produced. To make a well balanced ration, the vocational agricultural service of the University of Illinois advises:

Use at least three feeds from the cereal grains and by-products to make up 75 to 90 per cent of the ration.

Five to 10 per cent of the ration should comprise an animal-protein feed.

Use one or more plant-protein feeds, if available at reasonable cost. Not more than 15 per cent of the ration should come from this group.

Include at least one legume roughage, to make up 5 to 10 per cent. Some carrier of calcium should be included if the ration contains no meat scrap, fishmeal or tankage.

One pound of common salt should be added for each 100 pounds of total ration.

Hog House

Scientific hog raising for highest profits calls for warm, dry, inexpensive housing. The sunlit hog house above is simply constructed. Its dimensions are 7 feet by 6 feet, and 4 feet 10 inches high. Built on skids, it has a one inch rough floor laid on 2 by 4-inch slats. Studding of 2 by three inch lumber supports the masonry quarter-inch tempered hardboard used for siding and roof. This material is durable and weather-resistant. Four-inch light strap hinges are used for turning back the roof door. Plans are available by writing Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill. The plan number is AFB-196 and are free.

Plan Hog Pasture—Farmers planning next year's crops should include an alfalfa pasture for hogs to save grain and protein feeds.

U. S. Crop Production Up During Last Ten Years

Agriculture during the last decade has increased production from 10 to 14 per cent although its manpower has declined and the nation's population has increased, agriculture leaders point out.

The increase was due in great part to agricultural colleges with their branches of extension, research, and resident-teaching. Mechanization also played an important part in the increase.

Take Care of Feed Sacks, They're Worth Money

With feed sacks worth around 25 cents each, and with tight burlap and cotton supplies, it will pay you well to handle feed sacks carefully.

To make sacks last longer, hang them on a pipe hung by wires from a ceiling rafter. That will keep them away from rats and mice and out of your own way. Farm managers report small savings like this mount up.

Add Spices and Herbs To Vegetables For Extra Flavor, Color

SPICE THE VEGETABLE and keep it interesting. Your family's enjoyment of these vegetables will pay you dividends not only in their health and well-being even during winter months, but will also add luster to your reputation as a clever cook.

Though you may rely heavily on root and canned vegetables in the absence of produce from your own vegetable garden, there's no reason why vegetables should be dull eating. A dash of spice here, a sprinkling of herbs there lift them out of the ordinary eating class to a gourmet category.

A harvest ham dinner will be especially good when the vegetable served with it has green beans, cooked until tender but left a lovely green, then spiced with a grating of nutmeg.

Savory White Beans (Serves 6)
3 cups dried white pea beans
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon sweet basil
2 small bay leaves
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 finely diced green pepper
2 medium sized onions
3 large ripe tomatoes
1 1/2 tablespoons dried parsley flakes
3/4 teaspoon oregano, crumbled

Wash beans and soak overnight in cold water. Drain. Cover with water. Add salt, sweet basil, bay leaf and pepper. Simmer until tender. Drain. Melt 4 tablespoons of the butter in frying pan. Add green pepper and onion. Saute about 10 minutes or until tender but not browned. Add tomatoes cut into small pieces. Add oregano and parsley and simmer for about 6 to 8 minutes or until tomatoes are soft. Mash tomatoes some with back of spoon as they cook. Add beans and butter and stir gently to blend. Note: Beans may be placed in baking dish and topped with a little grated Parmesan cheese and baked in oven in covered dish for 10 to 15 minutes, if desired.

Peas and Corn with Marjoram (Serves 4-8)
1 package each frozen whole kernel corn and peas
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon powdered marjoram
2 tablespoons cream
Cook peas and corn until tender. Melt butter in small saucepan. Add marjoram and let steep 2 or 3 minutes in warm place. Pour over vegetables and toss gently to mix. Drizzle cream over vegetables.

Carrots Julienne with Sage (Serves 4-5)
1 bunch carrots cut Julienne style
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon powdered sage
Chopped parsley
Cook carrots until tender. Melt butter in small saucepan. Add sage and let stand in warm place for 2 or 3 minutes to steep. Pour over carrots and toss very gently to mix. Arrange in serving dish and garnish with sprinkle of parsley.

*String beans with Freshly Grated Nutmeg
FOR A GOURMET touch, add a sprinkle of freshly grated nutmeg to buttered string beans.

*Harvest Ham with Sweet Sauce
1/2 ham
1/2 cup currant jelly
1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon each ground cloves and cinnamon
Whole cloves
Bake ham according to directions on wrappings. Skin and score top into small squares or diamonds. Insert a clove in center of each square. Combine jelly, mustard, cinnamon and ground cloves. Spread over top of ham. Bake 30 to 40 minutes longer, basting several times with juices in pan. Slice ham and arrange slices on platter. Pour cherry sauce over ham slices, if desired. Platter may be garnished with sprigs of parsley.

Slivered potatoes and carrots can be cooked together to glamorize them. Season with butter, pepper and minced parsley.

Celery Leaves: Use in green salads, in bread stuffings, in stews and soups, with roasts and for garnish.

Cauliflower Leaves: Ask for untrimmed cauliflower. Save leaves nearest head. Trim off lower tough parts. Cook in boiling water to cover, 15 minutes. Drain. Season and butter. Or chop and add white sauce.

Crisp, refreshing vegetable salads catch the eye and tempt the appetite. Raw spinach, carrots, cucumbers, cabbage, green peppers, radishes, celery, cauliflower, lettuce, watercress, parsley, tomatoes, beets, onions, etc., may be broken or cut in various shapes or sizes and served in most any combination.

Hollow out the halves of egg plant. Stuff with cooked egg plant, mushrooms and onion in cream sauce. Cover with crumbs. Bake in casserole 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven (400°).

Shred cabbage fine and heat with enough salad dressing to mix through it. Thin with soured cream and add crumbled bacon just before serving.

Serve green beans or wax beans with chopped toasted almonds.

To 2 1/2 cups of cooked, julienne beets add 1/2 cup hot milk 2 1/2 tablespoons horseradish and 1 teaspoon salt. Heat thoroughly, tossing lightly before serving.

Outer Leaves of Lettuce: Use for Wilted Lettuce or in cooking peas.

Outer Stalks of Celery: Use for creamed or braised celery.

The Way it Happened...
IN PASADENA, CALIF. Clarence A. Bunnell, cited for speeding argued that he has "an intuitive sense of speed," persuaded Judge William E. Fox to go for a test ride, called his miles-per-hour as close to the speedometer that he was found not guilty.
IN CORVALLIS, Ore. Professor A. G. B. Bouquet, 147, of the Oregon State college's horticulture department, was succeeded by Professor Spencer B. Apple.
IN LAWTON, Okla. Judge Lem Foster fined Clayton Munger $20 for picking Daniel Clark's pocket, then fined Daniel Clark $20 for public drunkenness.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Attach an old powder puff to your wrist with a rubber band and use it as a handy pin and needle cushion while you're doing any sewing or fitting.

No sewing basket should be without a small magnet. Nothing like it for picking up stray pins and needles without getting pricked.

If you want to stretch a newly washed curtain, and you have no curtain stretcher, pin a large clean bedsheet to the living-room rug before retiring at night; and pin the curtain, stretched as you want it, to the sheet.

To sharpen a pair of sewing scissors (or any scissors, in fact), just use them to cut a piece of sandpaper into little bits.

Many stains on tablecloths should be given first-aid treatment as soon as they occur, instead of waiting until the cloth is laundered.

There are safe ways to keep your hands from freezing, though, when you have to hang clothes outdoors on a cold day. One of the best things is to rub your hands well with vinegar before you go out.

Empty pencil-lead boxes make handy containers for keeping pins and needles in your sewing basket.

A popular method of preventing wet clothes from freezing on the line in wintertime is to put salt in the rinse water. It'll work, all right, but it's not good practice because salt water—if it's not rinsed out—is harmful to many washable fabrics.

Now She Shops "Cash and Carry" Without Painful Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent awakenings may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 million of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Licenses, Training Urged For Sitters

State legislatures and city councils throughout the nation, have been petitioned to pass laws requiring the licensing of all baby sitters, private kindergartens, day care agencies, and nursery and play schools.

It is suggested that such licensing be regulatory in nature and not for revenue.

The present lack of standards for these persons and institutions is highly detrimental to the health, safety, and general welfare of infants and pre-school-age children, petitioners believe. While some of the more progressive cities and states have already begun to inquire into the matter of licensing pre-school centers, entirely too many have been lax and indifferent to this need, many parents contend. Little or nothing has been done, to date, by city and state governing bodies to require physical examinations of baby sitters.

Some parents think baby sitters should, in addition, be required to obtain the signatures of two persons in their community, testifying to their moral character and reliability. They believe that regular courses of study should be required of all baby sitters and directors and their assistants in day care agencies and nursery and play schools and suggest that as a temporary measure, these courses could be made available in the form of evening classes sponsored by local civic groups of governing bodies.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Reds Launch Offensive in Korea; U.S. Works on Japanese Treaty; Army Calls for 80,000 Draftees

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

North Korean and Chinese Communist troops concentrated for another blow on U. N. forces below the 38th parallel. Chief concentration points were at Yonchon (1) and northwest of Seoul (2). A Red attack (3) northeast of Kumchon, pushed back the South Koreans more than a mile. Red patrols were near Kaesong (4). South Korean troops fought a preliminary battle near Hyon (5). Reds were also massed north of Chunchon (6).

KOREA:

The Story Repeated

The story of the Korean battle seemed to repeat itself. Forced to withdraw from North Korea after pushing the Communists out of South Korea and almost to the Manchurian border, U. N. forces received the full force of Chinese and North Korean troops as they plunged south of the 38th parallel.

U. N. troops gave ground and further retreats appear in store for them. The main feature of the attack was the overwhelming numbers of Chinese and North Koreans rushing U. N. defense positions. At least 200,000 men were thrown into the first attack.

The Communist plan for the conquest of South Korea was to separate the eastern and western sections of the defense line, isolate them and destroy them at will.

Meanwhile, observers who recently returned from Korea report the morale of the soldier at the battlefield much better than that on the homefront.

Americans at home were pictured as frightened, frustrated, and swept with recurrent waves of defeatism and despair. The man in battle were pictured as neither frightened nor discouraged.

There was no criticism of American leadership in the war or criticism of the fighting ability of any nation's troops.

ARMY:

New Call Issued

The army called for 80,000 draftees in March, raising total draft quotas to 450,000 since the Korean outbreak. Eighty thousand had already been scheduled for January and February.

With the armed forces building toward a manpower total of some 3 1/2 million as rapidly as possible, the army anticipated a combat strength equivalent to 24 divisions when the current expansion goal is reached next July 1.

An infantry division numbers 18,000 men and is a self contained fighting unit with supporting weapons such as tanks and artillery. At the beginning of the Korean conflict the army had 10 divisions, only one at full war strength. It had 11 regular divisions, with four national guard divisions and two guard regimental combat teams (usually 5,000 men) as of January 1.

Selective Service officials reported 217,000 men had been delivered to the army up to January.

TAXES:

Higher in 1951

With the new congress in session, President Truman was expected to ask for more taxes at any moment to meet the mounting cost of the nation's defense.

Although the size of the new tax program was not disclosed, one administration official reported the President would try to put the government as nearly as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis. The program, however, will include higher personal and corporation levies.

It seems unlikely that a new tax program can bring expenditures and receipts into balance because spending for the fiscal year 1951 may reach $75,000,000,000. The present tax program, including the excess-profits tax, will yield revenues of only about $45,000,000,000.

MARCH OF DIMES

March of Dimes Fund Campaign

The 1951 March of Dimes campaign began Monday throughout the United States as a massive attack against the only epidemic disease known to man that is still on the increase—a disease that in the last three years has stricken more than 100,000 people and cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis an unprecedented $58,000,000 for patient-care alone.

TAX BILL:

President Signs

President Truman received and signed the $3,300 million excess profits tax bill which lays a 77 per cent tax on corporations' "excess profits". Such earnings were defined as those which exceed 85 per cent of a corporation's average earnings for its three best years from 1946 through 1949. This second installment of the heavier tax program affects only corporations netting $25,000 or more a year.

Generals Wait

Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, chief of staff, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur are shown keeping a somber vigil at Haneda airport for the arrival of the body of Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, late commanding officer of the 8th U. S. Army, who was killed in an accident in Korea. Walker's body was being sent to the U. S. for burial in Arlington cemetery.

JAPAN:

U.S. Plans Treaty

The United States made it clear, if in a round-about way, that Japan will get a peace treaty. The U. S. handed Russia a note that said in effect that this country was going to negotiate a treaty—without Russia if necessary.

The important item in the note from the American viewpoint was the paragraph that stated: The United States believes it is reasonable for Japan, upon conclusion of a peace treaty, to make arrangements for self-defense which could include provision for the stationing in Japan of troops of the United States and other nations.

In other words, the U. S. made it clear that Japan would be allowed to rearm and that this country has every intention of keeping Japan in the democratic column.

The note let fly with a haymaker by stating that rearming Japan was necessary because "irresponsible militarism has not been driven from the world."

The note told the Russians that the Formosa question must be settled in the light of the U. N. charter, "the obligation of which prevail over any other international agreement."

This appeared to be a diplomatic way of telling the Soviet that the U. S. does not consider itself bound to hand Formosa over to the Chinese Communists whose armies are fighting U. N. forces in Korea.

CASUALTIES:

Total at 38,325

As of January 1 the army had announced casualties in the Korean fighting totaling 38,325. That was an increase of almost 2,000 over the previous casualty list.

The number of dead mounted to 6,432, including 5,742 killed in action, 684 who died of wounds and six dead among those who had been reported missing.

There were 27,012 wounded, including the 684 who later died of their injuries. The number of missing were listed at 4,753.

Of the total, the army suffered 32,066 casualties, the marines 5,524, the navy 429 and the air force 306.

BIG FOUR:

Conference Plan

Some weeks ago the United States, Britain, and France proposed that another big four conference be held in an effort to settle the many pressing world problems. After long weeks of waiting, the Russians replied.

Officials would not reveal just what was in the Kremlin reply. It was evident, however, that the western powers were disappointed and that a big-four meeting was not closer than when it was first proposed.

It was believed that Russia was not prepared for any unqualified discussion of the many galling points of friction between the western democracies and the totalitarian Soviet system.

It was also rumored that Russia wanted the western powers to accept the Prague declaration which served notice that the Communist led nations of eastern Europe would not tolerate rearmament of western Germany.

Russia was also reported to have taken the stand that Communist China would be represented before any discussion of the explosive situation in the far east could be undertaken.

No one in his right mind could believe that the United States would accept any of the conditions. Thus the conclusion that a big four conference is not likely in the near future.

ACHESON:

Production and Faith

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, gave the United States a prescription for 1951—"production and faith."

Acheson, in a radio interview, said we have the power to retaliate against any aggressor who attacks us and our friends and that power cannot be overlooked.

"We expect to make ourselves respected and to deter aggression," he said.

"The prescription which we need today is the prescription which Mr. Churchill gave to England in 1940—blood and toil, sweat and tears—and may I add, faith—in our country, faith that the great task before us can be done and that it will be done."

Acheson's statement was remarkable in that he echoed a growing belief throughout the country. Americans who had been described as frightened and frustrated in 1950 seemed to be settling down quickly to a new year of sacrifice and determination.

The last few months have been called America's darkest hour, but they may be even darker before the United States is fully rearmed and ready to face its enemies.

TRAFFIC:

A War at Home

While American troops were being killed in Korea, Americans at home slaughtered themselves on the highways during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Complete tabulations were not complete for the New Year's holiday, but during Christmas there were 724 violent deaths in the United States, 545 of them in traffic mishaps.

The accident rate was more than 100 above the number of persons killed in traffic accidents during the 1949 Christmas holiday. The 1950 toll almost equaled the record of 555 set in 1936.

In the city of Los Angeles alone there were 11 traffic deaths, 900 injured, and a total of 1,084 accidents. It was significant to note that police in that city charged 352 persons with driving while intoxicated and another 1,222 were charged with drunkenness.

Only one state—South Dakota—escaped without a single reported fatality that could be attributed to the Christmas observance.

Witness

Mrs. Ann Moos Remington, ex-wife of former commerce official, William Remington, testified in federal court that seven years ago Remington turned over "top secret" explosives formulas to confessed spy Elizabeth Bentley for transmission to Russia. Remington is being tried for perjury.

MARSHALL:

Let's Go Easy

Secretary of Defense George Marshall warned the nation in the closing days of 1950 to go easy, that "a too rapid attempt at mobilization was apt to delay the ultimate speed" of rearmament.

Marshall said that there is "a tendency to feel that the more rapidly we appropriate billions and the more rapidly men are called into service, the safer we will be." That isn't true, he explained.

The defense secretary saw the situation in this light. "I do not think the solution is so simple. We must not become involved by impatience or ignorance in an ill-considered overnight expansion which would smother well-considered methods and leave us in a dilemma of confused results, half-baked and fatally unbalanced."

Marshall had warned before that military expansion must be made on a well-thought out plan without overtaxing facilities and manpower. He was also concerned over the economic results of mobilization.

An important part of the island's recovery program is shipbuilding. At left workmen are shown caulking the seams of a fishing vessel at Taguichi shipyard. The tremendous task of putting Okinawa on the road to recovery is assigned to Maj. Gen. Joseph R. Sheetz. The native rehabilitation program has put into operation such schools as the police academy (top right) of Anaha.

The Okinawans themselves are being brought into governing jobs as part of the over-all plan to put them on an independent basis. At Naha (above) are located the offices of the civilian administration. The office of the Chiji (native governor) and all departments of native government are located here. But despite wars and subsequent changes, Okinawa natives (right) cling to their time-honored traditions. They are typically costumed for symbolic Okinawan dance.

When the worst typhoon in 50 years struck Okinawa last July, it vented its fury on many shelters such as the one at the left, and destroyed almost every army and airforce building on the island. Part of the new building program is designed to make the 67-mile long island typhoon proof. The thatched roof on the building when properly applied resists moisture for several years.

The variety store on Okinawa (right) is unusually well-stocked with articles of Japanese and Chinese manufacture. They must be licensed before they can sell to Americans. In keeping with tradition, both proprietors and customers remove their sandals before entering the shop.

THE FICTION CORNER ROOMS FOR RENT

By Dorothy Boys Kilian

"HONEY, YOU DON'T really think you can rent these rooms for the summer, do you?" Dick Shipley, still in his greasy coveralls, frowned as he found his pretty young wife sitting on the wide-board floor in an upstairs bedroom, mending a faded blue rug.

Margaret stood up slowly and planted a kiss on his smudgy cheek. "We want to have a nice crib and other things for our first baby, don't we, darling? And that takes money—more than we've got to spend."

"Maybe I could take another job in the evenings, or something." "Why, Dick, you're exhausted when you come home from the garage; and lots of times you don't even get here until eight or nine."

"Yes, I know. Starting a new business means no money and no free time for a while." "Well, this house your mother left us has more rooms than we need for ourselves."

"But just look at the furniture!" Dick waved an arm at the room in general. "You sit in that wooden rocker for ten minutes and those slats make a prison bar pattern on your back. The bed's so high you need a Pullman ladder to climb into it, and that wash-stand—"

"I think it's all kind of quaint," Margaret said placidly. Dick snorted. "People on vacation want to be comfortable, not quaint. And besides, think where we're located; practically out in the country, the opposite end of town from the lake and all the amusements, rabbits. It's nice and quiet, though," Margaret insisted.

Dick shrugged. "I give up. But I hate to see you slaving away up here," hundred-dollar bills. "This makes fifteen hundred you owe me," he said. "Bet the five C's on No. 4 to win—I got a tip on him this morning."

No. 4 ran so fast it darn near caught up with the mechanical rabbit, and when the clerk cashed in his tickets he was handed $3,000—the odds had been five-to-one. "I'll take my fifteen hundred," said Al, "and let this be a lesson to you. Never bet the horses—if you gotta bet, bet the dogs."

Last Fall, after a guest broadcast in New York, Jolson was button-holed by a young man as he was leaving the studio. "I don't suppose you remember," he said to Al, "but several years ago you took my folks out to the Miami dog track and helped them win fifteen hundred dollars. That money made it possible for me to go to college."

"Sure, I remember," said Al, "and when you write your mom tell her she still owes me some dough." "I never heard about it," said the young man. "How much was it?" "A quarter," said Jolson. "She was playing a juke box and ran out of change."

Margaret stood up slowly, put her arms around his neck and planted a kiss on his smudgy cheek.

"Oh well, the doctor says I need plenty of exercise," Margaret said soothingly. "There's the doorbell, I'll get it." Dick, still looking troubled, started downstairs.

A portly, pink-cheeked old gentleman stood on the porch. "This is the Shipley residence?" "Why, yes," Dick looked goggle-eyed past him to the long shiny black car parked in front of the house.

"May I speak to Mrs. Shipley?" "I'm Mrs. Shipley," Margaret called from the top of the stairs. "I am Mr. Frost of Big Rapids. You have some rooms for rent?" "Yes. Please come up and I'll show them to you," Margaret answered.

DICK stayed downstairs and listened glumly to the footstep overhead. He winced as he heard the bathroom door squeak and imagined Mr. Frost's first view of the old tub standing high on its claw feet.

There was a lengthy murmur of voices in the upstairs hall. Then down came Mr. Frost, a hand on Margaret's elbow, and she accepting the little attention as the most natural thing in the world.

"Well, it's all settled then," Mr. Frost was saying. "We'll take the two rooms for the summer. 'Yes sir, this advertisement hit us in the right spot.' He fingered a little piece of newspaper. "Advertisement?" Dick stared at the paper.

"Your wife used a good psychological trick, didn't she?" Mr. Frost chuckled. "Playing down a thing so much that it excited your curiosity."

"Uh, yes," Dick laughed weakly. "Let's see that again," he said, trying not to look too astonished. "For rent," he read, "for the summer season, two rooms in ancient frame house, unfashionable part of resort village, very few modern conveniences, no recreational facilities nearby. Mrs. Richard Shipley, 1203 Stanley Road, Weehaven, Michigan."

"Yes," Mr. Frost said. "My wife saw that and said it made her think of a Currier and Ives print—" He handed Margaret some bills, put on his grey homburg, and stepped briskly out the door. Dick turned quickly toward Margaret. "Your greatest triumph, honey, is that you've managed not to look triumphant."

THE WEEK In Religion

INSPIRATION Two Creeds AN EDITORIAL

WISE MEN may sometimes learn from their enemies. The Christian world is disturbed over the fact that Communism now casts its shadow over half the globe. Confronted with this phenomenon, Christians may profitably be reminded of the results which can be achieved by wholehearted devotion to a cause.

There is no gainsaying the determination of Communist leadership or the zeal of the Communist rank and file. However deeply the Christian idealogy, he cannot but recognize how successfully it has worked to capture the imagination and loyalty of millions of supporters.

In the beginning, Christianity itself was looked upon as a revolutionary movement which had to be suppressed at all costs. But the spirit of the early Christians was too strong to be crushed. Neither martyrdom nor proscription could prevent Christianity's ultimate triumph over a hostile paganism.

Today Communists are showing the same tenacity and self-dedication in the hope that they, too, will achieve the goal of universal recognition and acceptance. Their leaders are encouraged by what they regard as the passivity and lassitude of great masses of professing Christians.

Every loyal Christian is opposed to Communism because it is evil both in aims and methods. Nevertheless Communism remains a persistent menace which is bound to keep growing unless it is met by forces that are greater and stronger than itself.

Recently a well-known clergyman declared: "The way to counteract the Kremlin's fellow-travelers is to have more church fellow-travelers."

BUILDS CHURCH... W. P. Kliesen, 82, Pueblo, Col., retired farmer, built this miniature church for his six-year-old grandson in 2 1/2 months. It is complete in every detail, from pews to collection box.

Religion Question Box

Q: What is the creed of the Unitarian Church? A: Unitarians have no creed. They hold that a fixed statement of belief is an obstruction to faith, and that as the life of God within the human spirit is a growing life, the consciousness of that life, which is faith, is to be allowed to grow continually. They believe in the existence of the one God, but He is not defined.

Q: What articles were kept in the Ark of the Covenant? A: Aaron's rod that budded, the golden pot that had manna, and the tables of the covenant. In the time of Solomon it appears that all of these relics had disappeared except "the two tables of stone which Moses put there at Horeb."

Q: What is a Ciborium? A: A vessel which contains the small hosts used for the Communion of the Roman Catholic faithful. It is similar to a chalice, but the bowl is usually larger and has a cover.

Q: What are the Penitential Psalms? A: They are the seven psalms so-called as being especially suitable for the repentant sinner—Psalms 6, 32, 39, 51, 102, 130 and 143.

Q: Do Buddhists have a "Bible"? A: They have a system of laws, rules and devices similar to the Christian Bible, incorporated in a volume of sacred writings known as the Tripitaka.

Launch TV Religious Quiz-Answer Programs

PHILADELPHIA—A Sunday series of televised religious "quiz" programs, in which teams of teenage youth participate, was launched here by the Philadelphia Council of Churches.

The council regarded it as a TV "first" locally if not nationally. It is to be carried indefinitely on Sundays at 2 p.m. by WCAU-TV (Philadelphia Bulletin and CBS station).

A "mystery hymn" will be played on each program to invite audience participation, and a prize in the form of a "Bible doll" will be awarded to the first person to send in the correct answer.

Unusual exhibits, borrowed from historical and art museums, and other sources, will be shown on the program. Those on the opening show included: A chain from the Presbytery of the Southern Baptist Convention that was used by colonial churches of the city between 1796-1826 to block off their streets during Sunday services.

CHOSEN MINISTER... Showing they have no prejudice against women ministers, the parishioners of Union Congregational church, Groton, Mass., chose the Rev. Margaret Blair Johnstone pastor over 29 men candidates.

Church Women Hit Privilege Abuse By Congressmen

CINCINNATI—Members of Congress who abuse "certain privileges granted to enhance the democratic process" were taken to task in a resolution adopted by the United Council of Church Women at its biennial assembly here.

Declaring that such abuse actually worked to thwart democratic processes, the council called upon congressmen to discipline themselves in the use of the privileges of congressional immunity and unlimited debate so that their intended useful purpose, rather than partisan politics, would be served.

The resolution further urged congress to discontinue the practice of granting admittance to the floor to ex-congressmen who are registered as lobbyists, because "failure to remedy these abuses will undoubtedly lead to a demand for legislation curtailing such privileges."

Warm applause was accorded the resolution by the 2,000 assembly delegates.

White Congregation Calls Negro Pastor

STAFFORDVILLE, Conn.—A Negro minister, resident of a neighboring town, has accepted a pastoral call for a white congregation, the Staffordville Congregational church here. He is the Rev. Roland T. Heacock, only colored inhabitant of Stafford Springs, a mile and a half south of here.

Mr. Heacock, a 56-year-old retired army chaplain, served as supply pastor of another white church, First Congregational of Stafford Springs, from January, 1948, to March, 1949. Before his military service, he was for 17 years pastor of St. John's church, Springfield, Mass., one of the principal Negro Congregational churches in New England.

The Staffordville congregation has about 75 members in a community of less than 1,000 population. Mr. Heacock described the community as "a typical small New England town, with some Yankees, some Czechs, Poles, and Italians."

Mr. Heacock retired from the chaplaincy service after three years because of approaching blindness. He later regained the sight of one eye by an operation. He was in retirement when he received the Staffordville appointment to succeed the Rev. Arthur W. Childs, who accepted a call to the Eastport (Conn.) Congregational church.

Protestant Leaders Back Acheson Plea

CLEVELAND—Leading Protestant churchmen of the nation gave their personal endorsement to the general statement of foreign policy laid down by Secretary of State Dean Acheson in an address on current developments in the Far Eastern crisis.

Mr. Acheson spoke to the entire country in a radio and television broadcast, but his speech was directed specifically to the constituent convention here of the National Council of Churches.

Due to the tense international situation, the Secretary of State was forced to cancel his scheduled personal appearance at the National Council's sessions.

Speaking instead from his office in Washington, Mr. Acheson called for help by the churches to mobilize the nation's best resources of wisdom and faith in meeting the new Korean situation.

Study Social Problems

DALLAS, Tex.—A group of Baptist preachers will make a study of what Christianity can do about such things as gambling, drinking, bad literature and indecent movies in Texas.

The executive board of the Baptist General Convention, at its annual meeting here, named a Christian Life Commission to conduct the project to undertake wiping out these four evils.

The preachers also will study the problem of broken homes and race relations. Their object will be to see what Christians as a whole, rather than just Baptists, can do to solve the problems.

The average butterfat production of all cows in DHIA work in Wisconsin is 349 Lbs. on a mature basis, according to the University of Wisconsin.

However, in a study made by the University on DHIA cows artificially sired by Wisconsin studs, the cows sired by E. C. B. A. C. (EAST CENTRAL BREEDERS ASS'N CO-OP) BULLS averaged 389 Lbs. butterfat . . . 40 Lbs. more than the DHIA average. These E.C.B.A.C. daughters represented 37% of the artificially-sired cows studied in this state.

Here is evidence from the University that the E.C.B.A.C. bulls have truly done a BETTER-THAN-AVERAGE JOB in Wisconsin DHIA herds under ACTUAL FARM CONDITIONS.
