From Our Readers...

Kewaskum, Wis. Jan. 15, 1951

Dear Friends:

I would like to have you publish the following as so often I have been asked if I would ever return to the hospital. My reply was when my mother no longer needs me.

Alma Huss returned to the Bethesda Hospital and Methodist Deaconess association, with which institution she has been connected since 1902 at Cincinnati, O., after a leave of absence of almost 8 years.

I feel led to write a brief tribute of my departed mother, last thing I can do for her.

Very grateful that we deaconesses are privileged to take care of our parents in their declining years. It was mother who folded my little hands in prayer, and taught me how to pray, and also explained conversion during a revival meeting in our German Methodist church at the age of eight.

Then when the call came for me to enter deaconess work it was hard for her to see me leave home. Not knowing what the dear Lord had in mind for me, she consented as she did not want to stand in my way. When she visited me on two occasions she was very happy and satisfied. Also have blessed memories of the family altar in our home (a good old custom in our Methodist church). Father would read a portion from the Bible right after breakfast, and we would all kneel by our chairs while father offered prayer and again before retiring at night. Would there were a family altar in every home, conditions in our country would not be as they are today.

Mother was very tired of late and walking was rather hard on her so we led her when she wanted to go up to bed. 21. When on Christmas p. m., 2:15, all of a sudden her spirit took flight to that beautiful home above, where the pearls gates swung open wide for her and to think she got in on the Christmas festivities in Heaven, and the joy to be reunited with my dear father and brothers.

The death of a Christian is beautiful. Just a going "home" to God to the real home which Jesus has prepared for us. Why not serve Him with all that is in us? "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord."

Mother had the easiest death I ever saw, just a few breaths, and it was over. God surely was good to her, no pain or struggle of any kind. May she rest in peace.

Thanking you for past favors, "God bless you"

Hincerely,
Alma Huss

Lakes All-Stars Lose to Harnies; Tessar Has 14

Big George Mikan, rated as the best basketball player in the world today, poured in 27 points to break the individual scoring record in Milwaukee's new arena Saturday night as he led the Minneapolis Lakers to an 89-70 victory over the Fort Wayne Zollners in a National Pro league contest.

In the preliminary, the Land o' Lakes all-stars lost to the Harniesch team of the Milwaukee Industrial league, 79-55. The Harniesch, with several former Marquette university stars on their roster, were too much to handle for the all-star quint which had never played a game together before. The all-stars were picked from the northern, eastern and southern divisions of the Lakes circuit.

John Tessar of Kewaskum, leading scorer in all three divisions of the loop with 209 points, also topped top honors against the Harniesch with 14 points. And he played only part of the tilt, but during this time he showed the Harniesch and thousands of spectators why he is the head man in the Lakes. Next highest scorers for the stars, Luko, Johns and Rauen, had but six points. R. Krsnick paced the Harnieschgers with 29 buttons. The other Kewaskum player in the game was Fred Engel, also among the top scorers in the northern division. He made a free throw in the short time he was in the game.

County Youths Win State 4-H Honors

Seven Washington county 4-H'ers have been named honor members for outstanding work in 4-H projects for 1950 according to Everett Olsen, county club agent.

These members are being honored on the state level on the basis of their individual records according to the Wisconsin 4-H headquarters. The book submitted to the state were those which showed excellence over the books submitted to the county. To be listed as a state honor is indeed an accomplishment. No more than 10 awards were made in the state for each project.

Washington county winners and the state enrollment for the project in which they competed are as follows: AUDREY PETERS, Badger Boosters 4-H club, was honored for her work in junior leadership. Audrey did a lot of work for the younger members since there was no adult woman leader in her club. ARLENE CYPHER, Good Luck 4-H club, was honored for her work in the forestry project. There were 1899 enrolled in the forestry project throughout the state. HAROLD SCHMIDT, Badger Boosters, received his recognition in the beef project. The state enrollment in beef was 1179. CONRAD SCHLAEPFER and ELLHOY PETERS of the Oak Grove and Welcome 4-H clubs respectively, were chosen state winners in the tractor maintenance project. The state enrollment in this project was 1646. From 4-H club was selected for his work in field crops. ARLIN FRAEDERICH, Victory Center 4-H club, who is now serving in the armed forces, was chosen from a field of 978 project members for his work in wild life management.

These members are to be congratulated. They will receive an honor achievement pin for their work. However, much of the credit for these accomplishments must be shared with their local leaders who help guide and direct the club activities in their individual clubs.

Mrs. Metz, Son Have Narrow Escape When Train Demolishes Car

Mrs. Peter Metz, 48, of Route 3, Kewaskum, and her son Leroy, 17, escaped with minor injuries when their car, a 1950 Ford driven by the son, was demolished by a Chicago and North Western train at about 5 p. m. Wednesday. The crash occurred two miles north of Kewaskum at the crossing on the William Kohn farm, just west of County Trunk Highway V.

The car skidded broadside into the train, a freight which was being pulled by a Diesel locomotive. The train was traveling north. Mrs. Metz and son were on their way home. The Metz farm is located a short distance west of the crossing. The southbound North Western passenger train due here at 4:52 p. m. was late Wednesday and passed the crossing after the accident had occurred. Fortunately the Metz auto was tossed clear of the tracks into a snowbank or it might have been struck again by the passenger train.

Mrs. Metz suffered head and other injuries. Her son escaped being injured but both were badly shaken up. They were brought to a local physician's office and then removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, to be treated for shock. Mrs. Metz was still confined at the hospital Friday. The car was a complete wreck and Mrs. Metz and son miraculously escaped serious injury and possible death.

The crash occurred at the same crossing that Mr. Metz was injured in a similar accident on Dec. 12, 1947. The crossing is a very dangerous one with visibility being poor because of high banks along both sides of the tracks.

Local People Involved in 5-Vehicle Crash; 44 Hurt

Forty-four persons were injured Saturday afternoon in Dodge county in a five-vehicle collision which involved two Greyhound busses. The injured were two drivers and passengers of the busses which were westbound on Hwy. 33, about two miles west of Horton, while a snow storm was raging. All vehicles involved were proceeding in the same direction.

Harold Shapiro, Milwaukee, stopped his car to clear the windshield which had become covered with snow and ice. The car behind him, driven by George F. Braun, Mayville, stopped. But the rear of the Braun auto was struck by a car driven by Kenneth Tappendorf, Marquette, who was unable to stop in time. Following Tappendorf was an auto operated by Clyde Phillips, Illinois. Jack Flynn, Campbellsport, stopped his car behind Phillips when the first of the two busses which were traveling together rammed Flynn's machine, pushing it ahead into Phillips' car and starting a chain reaction, each car hitting the vehicle in front. It is reported that Flynn's parents, who reside in this village, were passengers in his car and his father sustained a knee injury.

The bus swung partly around by the impact and Flynn's 1947 model auto burst into flames and was completely destroyed. The second bus crashed into the first bus, turning it completely around on the road. A Janesville physician treated the bus drivers and their 42 passengers in a nearby farmhouse. None was seriously hurt.

County Legion Campaign to Obtain Fracture Beds

Edgar Van Beek of Allenton, commander of the Washington County Council, The American Legion, announced the past week that their organization is again sponsoring its annual magazine subscription campaign throughout Washington county. The campaign began Monday, Jan. 15, and it will be concluded in about six weeks.

This is the seventh annual campaign sponsored by the county organization. Through the previous campaigns the Legion obtained and placed at the residents' disposal a fracture bed, a resuscitator and various pieces of polo equipment. The resuscitator was placed with the sheriff's office for use in emergency calls. The other equipment is housed with the county nurse's office, available for loaning them out into the homes without charge.

From this year's campaign the county council will obtain funds to carry on its county-wide service program, including the purchase of a portable hospital bed together with fracture frames. The already obtained fracture bed is in constant use and the waiting list clearly indicated the need for at least one more bed.

Mr. Van Beek also stated that no donations will be sought or accepted. Representatives, like in previous years, will be registered at the sheriff's office and will carry letter of authorization from the county council. This letter is signed by Mr. Van Beek and Art Peters of Hartford, adjutant of the county council. Representatives are required to display their credentials and the residents are warned to see this letter before dealing with the field men. The Legion feels that these arrangements are made principally for the protection of the residents, supplying them with a safe and ethical annual subscription service and at the same time making possible the continuance of their worthwhile service work throughout Washington county.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

President Truman Asks for Unity As Nation Builds Up Armed Might; U. N. Forces Continue to Pull Back

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

With food prices near the all-time high of July, 1948, which was nearly 217.3 per cent of the 1935-39 average, the government drafted a 30-day moratorium on all prices increased. The chart above traces the food price spiral. The moratorium was delayed by disagreement within the government's economic-control organization.

TRUMAN: Drops Fair Deal

President Truman opened his "State of the Union" message to congress with the words "our country is in a healthy condition." From that point he stressed strength and unity in the face of Communist aggression throughout the world. One of the remarkable points of the President's message was his apparent willingness to drop his much debated Fair Deal program—for the time being—in order to get on with the business of building up the free world's ability to wage "a full-scale war against Russia," if such conflict becomes necessary. Mr. Truman's plea for unity was impressive and undoubtedly won him some new friends in a hostile congress. "I ask the congress for unity . . . I do not ask, or expect, unanimity . . . Let us debate the issues, but let every man among us weigh his words and deeds," he said.

Many legislators called the President's speech conciliatory. And despite certain routine political sharpshooting which some Republicans indulged in after his address, it was obvious that the opposition party was affected favorably by his effort to find unity of purpose. It seems likely that an era of greater co-operation and political peace is in store for the 82nd congress that could have been hoped for a few months ago. The people along the main streets of America may at least see swift and vital decisions made to meet the crisis. It was also evident from one point he would not give an inch. He stood unyielding on the issue of military co-operation with western Europe.

The Program

- President Truman outlined a 10-point legislative program in his "State of the Union" message to congress:
1. Appropriations for the armed forces build-up.
  2. Extension and revision of the draft law, presumably to induct 18-year-olds and extend the draft term from 21 to 27 or 30 months.
  3. Military and economic aid to the rest of the free world.
  4. Revision and extension of his authority to expand production and control wages, prices, and rents.
  5. Improvement of the agricultural laws to help "obtain the kinds of farm products we need for the defense effort." This might include a direct subsidy to farmers to keep from setting farm price ceilings at less than parity.
  6. Improvement of labor laws to "help provide stable labor-management relations" and assure "steady" production.
  7. Housing and training of defense workers and "the full use of all our man-power resources."
  8. Legislation to increase the supply of doctors, nurses, and other medical personnel.
  9. Federal aid to the States for elementary and secondary education.
  10. A "major increase" in taxes.

UNITED NATIONS

U. S. Seeks to Brand China Aggressor

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb told the United Nations his country was not yet ready for a final decision on American demands for U. N. condemnation of Red China as an aggressor. He held the U. N. that to "look well before you leap is a wise maxim in foreign affairs. If we do leap, we should all leap together."

FORMOSA: Receiving Arms

Reports were current in Washington that the U. S. is again sending arms and ammunition to Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa. The shipments began before the end of 1950, it was reported unofficially, when the government decided the Communist intervention in Korea was not a limited operation but part of a larger strategy for Asiatic conquest. Details were not known, however.

A-Bomb

Atomic energy commission chairman, Gordon Dean (above), reported recently the Russians do have the atomic bomb. He made the announcement during a news conference in which he told newsmen that the government will have to cut down its development of atomic energy for peacetime uses because of the international situation.

KOREA: Pattern Repeated

The pattern of the Korean conflict continued to repeat itself. Following the January 1 attack by Chinese and North Korean Communist on United Nations forces south of the 38th parallel, a general retreat to the south and the old Pusan beachhead continued. The retreat was along the old "Heartbreak Highway" down which Americans and South Koreans first retreated before the North Korean invaders last July.

Although Communist casualties were reported heavy, the Reds continued to attack and push southward. It seemed unlikely that United Nations forces would be able to establish a line short of the Pusan beachhead. What would happen after that is anyone's guess. Some military leaders believe U. N. troops will be able to stand off Communist thrusts with the aid of U. S. fleet guns. It seemed unlikely, however, that a counter-offensive could be launched for months. It was obvious to every observer that the position of U. N. troops in Korea was steadily growing worse. And there was no indication that their position would get better.

FARMING: Some Curbs Lifted

The government removed all restrictions on production of wheat and corn for 1951 in an effort to maintain safe reserves of these vital bread and livestock feed grains under the national emergency. The only crops still under production controls are some types of tobacco, peanuts and rice. It is possible that restrictions may be eased on peanuts and rice. The action came too late for additional planting of winter wheat but is expected to increase spring wheat planting which makes up 30 per cent of the nation's crop. Farm experts predicted that the unlimited corn acreage would increase the nation's meat supply by at least three pounds per person this year. There was enough meat available in 1950 to supply each person with 145 pounds.

TAFT: Constructive Criticism

In a speech which he called "constructive criticism" of the administration, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio served notice that the Republican party pledged itself to securing a greater voice in policy making.

The senator based his criticisms on what he called the President's legal right to send American troops to Europe. He added that he "had better commit no American troops to the European continent at this time."

Mr. Taft expressed a tide of thought that has been growing throughout the United States since the reverses in Korea, namely, that the defense of Europe was primarily western Europe's responsibility, not ours. Undoubtedly the most powerful Republican in the senate, Taft seemed to be serving notice on the administration that congress intended to cut in on the President's power to formulate foreign policy. If the Republicans are willing to push the question it could lead to a state of confusion in congress never before seen in a time of crisis.

One of the most startling statements of the senator's speech was the one when he said the U. S. ought to go along, for the time being, in the U. N. for its value as a world forum, but that the instrumentality was mortally weak in having been founded, not upon "justice" but upon the power of its leading members. To the people in the home towns of the country who had placed their faith in the United Nations it was like a blow below the belt.

Was it possible that some of the nation's leading legislators believed that the United Nations was as dead as the League of Nations? Was it possible that some of our prominent leaders favored U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations? Taft's speech put those questions into the minds of many.

Two days after his "policy" speech, Senator Taft announced he was in favor of pulling U. S. troops out of Korea and setting up a new Pacific defense line based on Formosa and Japan. For these he would fight, he said. He then warned that if Russia attacks western Europe "it means war."

CONTROLS: A Matter of Time

Wage and price controls appeared certain for the nation as it moved toward full mobilization. To the average housewife the need for price controls on food was becoming desperate.

A disagreement within the government's economic-control organization blocked action on a planned 30-day wage-price freeze. The action was a temporary measure to hold the line until enforcement machinery could be set up about March 1.

Price controller Michael V. DiSalle reportedly will need 30,000 workers for a nationwide staff, of whom more than half would be charged with tracking down black marketeers, hoarders, price gougers and other control chiselers.

Some temporary plan to stop the price spiral was considered necessary by most people. At the present rate of increase, food prices would be at an all-time high by March 1 and would bring hardship for fixed income groups. Millions of workers have contracts which grant pay increases as the price index climbs and this group would not suffer. The people on pensions and white collar workers are hardest hit by any price spiral.

Eisenhower

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower (above) is surrounded by lenses as he speaks for newsreel and television cameras in the Pentagon during his first press conference after being named commander-in-chief for European armies. He left for a tour of European capitals shortly afterwards, declaring that the defense of western Europe cannot be carried out successfully unless sacrifices of other Atlantic pact nations equal those of the U. S.

DRAFT: For All 18-Year-Olds

Any day now the defense department will ask congress for a blanket draft of all physically fit 18-year-olds to serve 27 to 30 months in uniform.

There is a question, however, whether or not congress will approve immediately. A number of legislators were reported splitting hairs over the request. Many felt that 18½ was young enough and 24 months long enough.

The request was seen by many as a drastic move to achieve President Truman's goal of putting 3½ million men under arms "as soon as possible." Defense officials had hoped that the program could be in operation by July 1 at the very latest.

Congress will also be asked to tighten draft deferments and exemptions for the 19 through 25-year-old group, it was reported. The legislative request will ask that their service be lengthened from the present 21 months, a defense spokesman said.

THE WEEK In Religion

INSPIRATION Pray Always

AN EDITORIAL

PRAYER IS SUCH an instinctive human impulse that it is hard to conceive of a person who does not at some time or another bend his knee to God.

The story is told of a French officer at the time of the Crusades who was captured and made a slave by a Moslem chief. The Mohammedan treated the officer with such contempt and indignity that the latter finally protested: "I am your slave, but I am also a man, just as you are. Why do you treat me this way?"

"You a man?" the Moslem replied. "No! You have been my prisoner for six months and I have not yet seen you pray."

If one man may despise another who does not pray, how does the non-prayer stand in the sight of God? When Christ was on earth He never ceased to exhort His followers to pray. "Pray always," He said. He Himself gave man the most perfect of all prayers. The Lord's Prayer is a sublime salutation of adoration and submission. It is a powerful petition for all that is necessary for salvation.

Prayer is not something to be offered only in church on Sunday. The true practice of prayer calls for a constant lifting up of the mind and soul to God. Prayer is man's way of conversing with God; of getting to know Him more and more; of overcoming the evil in himself and acquiring merit in God's sight. Diligence in prayer is the way to sanctity.

Prayer that comes hard gives additional pleasure to God. One may be sure that God, on His part, will confer on the suppliant comfort and consolation beyond expectation.

On many occasions when his difficulties seemed insurmountable Abraham Lincoln turned humbly to God for strength and guidance. Once he was quoted as saying, "I have been driven to my knees many times by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go."

Phoenix Liquor Folders Raise Church Rumpus

PHOENIX, Ariz.—A proposal for mass picketing of Phoenix liquor dealers by church people was abandoned by the Rev. Charles Kendall, pastor of Central Methodist church here.

Mr. Kendall had threatened to organize the picket line after more than 1,000 folders containing recipes for hooch drinks were left in the cars of church-goers by the liquor dealers.

Terminating the "last straw in poor advertising" the minister had intended to present his picketing plan to a meeting of the Arizona Council of Churches here.

But a telegram of apology from Ellis D. Slater, president of Frankfort Distilling Company, New York, disclaimed responsibility and expressed regret over the incident. Local liquor dealers also disclaimed responsibility saying they had not authorized distribution of the folders. "I can keep my sense of humor," Mr. Kendall said.

Conference Opposes Religion in Schools Supported by Public

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A resolution opposing religious instruction in public schools was adopted by the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth here. Prolonged and at times bitter debate on the issue marked the closing day of the conference. The debate was joined when a section on religion recommended a program of spiritual values in public education. The program called for community-wide religious education "in keeping with the laws of the state and the desires of the parents."

Among the projects suggested were the released-time program of religious instruction; the preparation of public school textbooks treating religion "as a social phenomenon," and explained the tenets of each religious group; accredited religion courses by denominational institutions near college campuses; and attention in the general educational program to non-sectarian aspects of spiritual values.

Ohio Bishop Deplores 'Hoarding Children'

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American parents were warned here by a Methodist bishop against "hoarding" their children in an effort to shield them from anything disturbing or exacting. Bishop Hazen G. Werner of Ohio issued the warning in an address to the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth. "Many parents," he said, "are trying to hang a 'no embarrassment' sign on the universe as far as their children are concerned. No maturity is to be achieved aside from the child's consistent meeting on successive levels of life his own problems and struggles. "Out of each successful struggle and achievement comes growth and a feeling of adequacy for the child. Our homes need to be places where children learn how to meet what is difficult or adverse by spiritual help and with emotional courage." Dealing with the role of religion in developing the essentials of happiness and responsible conduct, Bishop Werner said that "the spiritual life is particularly a matter of conditioning. Children can grow up to have a faith in God so that in and out of any kind of weather, in times of elation or disaster, they know a way, the way of faith."

Baptist Laymen Hit Gambling in Schools

DRAKE, N. D.—Opposition to "gambling which is being sponsored in our public schools and PTA carnivals" was expressed to the state attorney general by the North Dakota Council of Baptist Men.

The council took the anti-gambling stand at its fall retreat here. "Our children are being sent to public schools," the council resolution said, "to be taught respect for the laws of our state and country to the end that they become useful and law-abiding citizens. By example, in these carnivals, they are being taught that evasion of the law is permissible and that in matters of finance the end justifies the means. "We further resolve that we shall support our state and country officials in the enforcement of our existing laws regarding gambling, lotteries, and games of chance, and that we shall call upon other Christian laymen in our state to rally in opposition to this existing violation." Attorney General Wallace E. Warner forwarded copies of the resolution without comment to all of North Dakota's 53 county state attorneys.

Ministers File Suit

SPOKANE, Wash.—A suit to test the legality of slot machines has been filed in the state supreme court by three Spokane residents, two of them ministers. The suit asks that the prosecuting attorney of Spokane County file information against the Brotherhood of Friends lodge, a private club using the slot machines in the boundaries of Spokane and the county of Spokane.

Attorney Frederick A. Clanton, filed the suit in behalf of the Rev. Noel C. LeRoque, pastor of Central Methodist church, the Rev. John Finney, Jr., pastor of Centenary Methodist church, and Joe Wilkening. The three claim that the BOF club has allowed slot machines to be operated since January 1, 1949, purportedly under authority of a 1937 law governing the operation of such machines. They contend that the 1937 law is unconstitutional and want the situation remedied at once.

S.O.S. to Germany

I HAVE A FAVORITE PIPE. It was given to me by a friend, who secured it from the factory in London, where it was made. Should anything irreparable happen to that pipe, I could not replace it because the factory and all of its seasoned briar, accumulated over more than 100 years, was destroyed by a German bomb during World War II. That piece of wanton destruction constitutes my pet peeve against Hitler and his German hordes.

I am sure my affection for that pipe aids in my understanding of the attitude of the French people toward the creation of a new, German army. Other nations, including ourselves, look to Germany as a protection against the possible attack of the Russian hordes on Western Europe. It is early for the French people to dim their memories of destroyed homes, ravaged farms, the death of loved ones, for which the German army was responsible. But hard as it may be, the French people and the French government must think of the immediate future, and what an invasion by Stalin and his Russian hordes would mean to them and to all free peoples of the world. The free world needs and must have a German army if the overrun of Western Europe is to be prevented.

That there is danger for France in the recreation of the German army cannot be denied. That nation has suffered the agonies of invasion by Germany three times in a little more than half a century. Quite naturally they do not want another, but an invasion by the hordes of Russia would be even worse, and it is a choice between these two that France is being called upon to make. The free world, including ourselves, that is seeking protection against Stalin and his Red army, should be able to offer France ample assurance against another attack from Germany, as the price we must pay for French consent to the rearming of Germany. With that insurance, we are in a position to insist.

This nation, and others of the North Atlantic pact, have been patient for an all too long a time, when we consider what is at stake. France has not listened to the arguments of diplomacy. It is high time that she hear the voice of a soldier, the voice of a respected and capable commander who has but recently rescued France from an aggressor, a man garbed in a uniform and speaking the language of a soldier, rather than the voice of diplomacy garbed in the frock coat, striped pants and high hat of the state department.

If the free world is to have a chance of stopping the Russians before they overrun all of Western Europe, including France, and reach the shores of the Atlantic, we must have that German army. The interests of the free world are greater than those of France alone. Time is running out, there is no more left for further argument. The state department has failed. It is high time to try something else. Let us try a soldier as a spokesman, a sympathetic soldier to be sure, a uniform, rather than a frock coat that has failed.

European nations, including Russia, have always understood the language of the respected soldier better than that of a non-toe-well qualified, and largely repudiated diplomat.

It is high time we had a change if the free world, including France, is to convince Stalin that aggression in Western Europe might be decidedly unprofitable. Just as it is high time that I stop sighing about what may happen to a favorite pipe, and concentrate on the more serious problems of the period. It may be a hard thing to do, but the French must forget their pet peeve and concentrate on what may be coming tomorrow. Presentation of that subject to anyone for whom they regard and respect would quite probably be helpful to them in seeing and choosing the road ahead.

A new contract the Chrysler corporation has signed with its 105,000 employees means an annual wage increase for the company to pay of over $2,000,000, and more if the cost of living increases. That is one item in the inflation spiral.

The freezing of wages is not popular with the labor bosses.

Governor Dewey of New York made a speech on the evening of Thursday, Dec. 14, that President Truman should have liked to have made on Friday evening, Dec. 15 in Washington, except had he have done so, it might have called for explanation as to how the nation arrived at the condition described during the President's administration.

It was General Sherman who said: "War is hell," but we will find the preparation for war is also hell.

The President says we must cut out every unnecessary government expense, but the bureaucratic payrolls are not coming down.

It is a long way to Moscow, but our big bombers can go there and come back, and Stalin knows that is true.

Gilt frames never need any thing more than dusting as long as people understand they're supposed to be antiques. If you want to clean them up and forget the antique gag, it can be done by coating the frame with petroleum jelly. Let the jelly stay on about ten minutes before you rub it off with a clean cloth. Or boil a few onions and douse the frame with a cloth dipped in the water the onions were boiled in. Then rinse it off with a cloth dipped in clear water.

Or, have the area covered with a large piece of plate glass. Attach it with "corner brackets" or hang it like a mirror.

A shoe bag that's not being used for that purpose can be put to work in the kitchen. Hang it behind the kitchen door as a container for paper bags, wrapping paper, string, and the like.

If your breadbox gets rusty inside, clean it up by rubbing gently with emery cloth. To keep it clean use a coat of lard.

Discarded window shades make good, durable shelf papers.

Before you discard a zinc washboard, use the piece of zinc in it to clean your fireplace chimney. Just throw it on the hot coals, and let the rising fumes do the trick. Or, toss a handful of salt on the fire.

When painted kitchen walls get soiled and dull looking and a new paint job isn't forthcoming, wash them with soap and water, rinse with clear water, and wipe them dry with a soft cloth. Then you can restore a new look to the paint by going over it with the white, creamy type of furniture polish.

Spattered grease on the wallpaper behind your stove can be removed easily if you paint the paper, while it's new, with a coat of colorless shellac. To be more elaborate, you can hang an oilcloth wall rug behind the stove.

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron Which Her System Lacked.

According to Sara Loraine Beck, Box 253, Coker, Alabama, when a person is only 15 years old and feels terrible, can't eat or sleep the way they should, it's mighty bad. That is the way Loraine says she used to feel, but that was, of course, before she started taking HADACOL. Loraine found that taking HADACOL helped her system overcome deficiencies in Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Loraine Beck's own statement: "I was run-down, sick and skinny, and weighed only 90 pounds before I used HADACOL. I would not eat because I had no appetite. Now I weigh 123 pounds and have an appetite. I feel a lot better. I have been taking HADACOL 10 months and am still taking it. I am 15 years old. HADACOL has done me lots of good."

Gingerbread Castle

● The Gingerbread Castle (left), located at Hamburg, N. J., is a fairyland tale come true. Designed by Joseph Urban and erected by F. H. Bennett, New York businessman, at a cost of $250,000, it brings to life scores of beloved characters from Grimm's treasured volumes. Inside stalk dwarfs, gnomes, brownies, the big black cat, the witch herself and numerous other folks from fairyland.

● Bennett built the fabulous Gingerbread Castle back in 1928 after he had seen a stage production of Humperdinck's immortal opera, "Hansel and Gretel." In the years since it was built, thousands of children have marvelled at the wonders it holds. It is estimated that the castle has played host to more than one million children and adults. In the picture at right Shirley Nebauer comes popping out of the fabulous shoe on the palace grounds to tell the story to small visitors at the castle. Guides who show the castle are always dressed as Hansel and Gretel.

● A pause in their tour of the fabulous castle for the youngsters to catch up on the reading. Guide Shirley Nebauer (above) is holding her audience of two spellbound by the treasured story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. A group of small fry wide-eyed visitors (left) near the top of the Hansel and Gretel staircase as they view the witch flying away on a broomstick.

● The eerie glow of a blazing fire draws young visitors (right) irresistibly to where the castle guide stirs a mysterious witch's brew. Bennett's one object in building the castle was to provide a wonderland for children. He succeeded beyond his greatest hopes.

Black Bean Soup Starts a Fine Dinner (See Recipes Below)

Savory Soups
NOTHING IS SO delightful and cozy on a blustery day than the soup pot simmering merrily on the range. It's a sight to warm the heart and tantalize the appetite. Those appetites which have every appearance of never being satisfied can be appeased nicely with a first course of soup, hot, hearty and well-seasoned.

On a busy day when you're almost too rushed to prepare a big meal, serve a chowder with a crisp salad and fruit from the canning cupboard.

FOR DINNERS at which you entertain, it's easy to give a party-like atmosphere with easily made-in-advance soup, such as this black bean soup served with a slice of lemon:

- 1 cup dried black beans
  - 1 quart cold water
  - 1/2 small onion, sliced
  - 1 stalk celery broken in pieces or 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - Few grains pepper
  - Few grains mustard
  - Few grains cayenne
  - 1 tablespoon butter
  - 1 teaspoon flour
  - Juice 1 lemon
  - 1/2 lemon thinly sliced
- Soak beans overnight. Drain and add cold water. Cook onion 5 minutes with half the butter and add to beans. Add celery, simmer 3 or 4 hours or until beans are soft, adding more water as water boils away. Rub through sieve. Reheat to boiling point. Add lemon juice and well-mixed seasonings. Bind with remaining butter and flour cooked together. Garnish with lemon.

Oyster Bisque (Serves 4 to 5)
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely minced celery
2 tablespoons flour
1 pint cream
1 pint stewing oysters
Salt, paprika
Chopped parsley

Clean oysters, chop very fine. Reserve oyster liquor. Simmer celery and butter in double boiler until tender. Blend in flour. Add cream and seasonings, stirring well. When ready to serve, add oysters, oyster liquor, and parsley. Heat thoroughly, do not cook.

Navy Bean Soup (Serves 8 to 10)
2 cups navy beans
3 quarts cold water
1 ham bone
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 large onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, chopped

Soak navy beans overnight in cold water. Then add ham bone, sugar, onion and celery. Simmer 4 to 5 hours until beans are soft. Dilute with water or milk and season. (Put whole beans through sieve and thicken slightly with flour and water, if desired.) Serve hot.

Spiced Tomato Bouillon (Serves 10 to 12)
LYNN SAYS:

Scalloped corn will make a meal if you add chopped or ground leftover beef or ham to the mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Leftover ground ham, crumbled sausage or bacon are excellent to add to cornbread batter. Serve the cornbread with cream gravy and a crisp vegetable salad for a hearty, satisfying luncheon.

Savory Fish Soup (Serves 6 to 8)
1 1/2 pounds white fish
1 quart water
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup canned tomatoes
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
6 cloves
1 bay leaf
Pinch of saffron
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 cup heavy cream
Salt to taste

Cut up the fish and cook in quart of boiling water for 10 minutes. Saute the chopped onion and garlic in the butter to a light brown, then add the fish. Next add the tomatoes, bay leaf, saffron and pepper. Cook over a slow fire for 30 minutes. Strain in soup. Season with salt, slowly add heavy cream, simmer for 10 minutes more, and serve with parsley flakes and slices of toasted bread.

Clam Chowder with Tomatoes (Serves 8)
1 quart clams
3-inch cube fat salt pork
1 sliced onion
1/2 cup cold water
4 cups potatoes, cut in 1/4-inch cubes
2 cups boiling water
1 cup stewed and strained tomatoes
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 cup scalded milk
1 cup scalded cream
2 tablespoons butter
8 soda crackers
Salt and pepper

Cook pork with onion and cold water 10 minutes; drain and reserve liquor. Wash clams and reserve liquor. Parboil potatoes 5 minutes and drain. To potatoes add reserved liquors, hard part of clams, finely chopped, and boiling water. When potatoes are nearly done, add tomatoes, soda, soft part of clams, milk, and butter. Season with salt cream, and pepper. Split crackers, soak in cold milk to moisten, and reheat in chowder.

Here's a new trick of meat loaf on the second or third day: slice loaf thin and spread with seasoned, mashed potatoes. Bake in moderate oven until meat and potatoes are heated through.

Chopped leftover meat can be added to plain fritter batter. Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot lard (350°) and fry until golden brown. Never discard small bits of chopped ham, crumbled sausage or bacon. Add them to beaten eggs before scrambling or to souffles for appetizing meat flavor.

Lamb roast makes wonderful sandwiches for luncheon. Spread a slice of bread with mint jelly, top with slices of lamb and season with salt and pepper. Top with a buttered slice of bread.

You'll like this quick barbecue with leftover roasts: slice meat thin and brown in hot fat. Pour barbecue sauce over meat and bake in a slow oven for 30 minutes.

Outside cabbage leaves, cooked in boiling, salted water for two minutes, are excellent for wrapping around pieces of meat loaf. Place in a casserole and cover with tomato soup. Bake for 20 minutes.

Grind the shreds of a roast and blend with gravy or medium cream sauce. Place a tablespoonful on a medium-sized pancake, then fold. Serve with remaining gravy.

In the Matter of the Estate of Margaret Kudek, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that at a term of said Court to be held on Tuesday, the 6th day of February, 1951, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the Courthouse in the City of West Bend, in said County, there will be heard and considered:

change of general fields of study merely by applying for it, will not be in effect after the cut-off date, Kolb said.

Special consideration will be given to four categories of veteran-trainees who, for reasons beyond their control, either may not be able to resume their training by July 25, 1951, or may be in a position to remain in continuous training afterwards.

The categories are (1) veterans who have started GI Bill studies and interrupted them to go back into active services; (2) veterans who completed pre-medical and pre-dental GI Bill schooling and can't get into a medical or dental school by deadline time; (3) teachers who spend their summers taking training leading to a degree, and (4) those who complete GI Bill under-graduate courses and intend to go ahead with graduate training which would start after the deadline date.

Those who had to stop training in order to return to active duty will be permitted to resume their training within a "reasonable period" following their release from service, even though they get out after the deadline date.

GI BILL EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAM WILL EXPIRE SOON, VA WARNS

Veterans of World War II planning GI Bill education and training were reminded by George A. Kolb, veteran service officer, this week that the July 25, 1951, cut-off date for starting courses is less than six months away.

This coming spring school term will be the final such term most veterans may enter or re-enter before the deadline, so if they plan to enroll it's not too early to start making arrangements now.

The 1951 deadline applies to most World War II veterans—those discharged from service before July 25, 1947. Those discharged after that date have four years from their discharge date in which to begin.

Veterans actually must have commenced their training by the cut-off date if they want to continue afterwards, the VA said. A veteran must be in training on that date unless he has temporarily interrupted his course for summer vacation or for other reasons beyond his control.

Once he completes or discontinues his course of GI Bill training after the deadline, he may start another course. Also, he must meet the following two post-deadline requirements:

He will be expected to pursue his training "continuously until completion, except for conditions which normally would cause interruption by any student."

And he may change his educational objective "only while in training and then for reasons satisfactory to the administrator." Public Law 610, which permits a veteran to make a first

BOLTONVILLE BUSY BEAVERS 4-H CLUB NEWS

The regular monthly meeting was called to order by Elmer Belger on Wednesday evening, Jan. 10, at the Modern Woodmen lodge room.

After the club sang "America the Beautiful," accompanied by Caroline Brabender, the sergeant-at-arms, Roger Zettler, led the club in the pledge of allegiance and the 4-H pledge.

Before the birthday of Russell Rodenkirch was recognized, the secretary, Marilyn Laatsch read the minutes, took roll call, and dues were accepted by the treasurer, Rose Mary Staehler.

Awards for the best record books were made by the Boltonville Modern Woodmen to Evelyn Staehler who received a 4-H head scarf and Walter Dahnno a 4-H tie. All members who achieved were given a 4-H pencil. Evelyn Staehler then responded by telling how Dorothy Fritch won state honors in her health project.

The need for a bulletin was discussed and Elmer Belger, Roger Zettler and Marilyn Laatsch volunteered to have one prepared for the next meeting.

Enrollment cards were collected; four members volunteered to attend the recreation clinic at Jackson Jan. 13, and it was suggested that conservation and safety talks for the county contest be ready for the April meeting.

ORDER WINDBREAK OR EVERGREEN TREES NOW

Any property owner wishing to purchase evergreen seedlings or transplants from the Wisconsin Conservation Department should place his order for them now. Blank forms for purchasing such trees may be obtained from the agricultural extension office, post office building, West Bend.

Already some of the more desirable varieties of transplants (4 year old stock) are sold out.

Varieties still available are black locust, American elm, jack pine, white pine, Norway pine and white cedar. A small amount of 3-year Norway spruce is still available.

For National 4-H Week March 4-11 the following committee was appointed to make plans for a window display: Kathleen Degner, Rose Mary Staehler, Walter Dahnno, Marilyn Laatsch, and Elmer Belger, ex officio.

Each club member is to submit an idea to the committee for the display. A very special treat was given the club when Miss May Nell Trupke, home service representative, Taylor Electric Co., Milwaukee, assisted by her sister, Jean, and Warren Baeyer showed an interesting film and gave an excellent demonstration on how 4-H boys and girls can iron the Iron-rite way. The club members and their mothers were delighted to have Miss Trupke give them an opportunity to operate the ironer which was arranged by Miss Esther Koch, demonstration agent, through the courtesy of the O'Meara Sales, West Bend.

Each member was also happy to receive the illustrated children's cook book, "Sugar and Spice and All Things Nice," a pencil, and a calendar showing 12 modern kitchens and laundries from O'Meara Sales.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, Feb. 15, at 8:00 o'clock in the MWA lodge rooms. Refreshments will be served by Mary Degner, Kenneth and May Ann Stahl. Before adjournment popcorn and apples were served by the leaders.

"ONE HAPPY FAMILY" TO BE FEATURE PICTURE ON JOHN DEERE DAY

Farmers and their families to be entertained by local John Deere Dealer on Jan. 30

A full length feature picture, "One Happy Family," starring Don DeFore and Marjorie Reynolds, will highlight the parade of entertainment to be staged for farmers and their families who attend the annual John Deere Day show as guests of L. Rosenheimer on Tuesday, Jan. 30, at the Kewaskum theatre.

"One Happy Family" tells the story of the Lynns, who compose a typical, happy, small-town household until they are awarded the title of "Family of the Year" in a contest conducted by a national magazine. The new title and the $10,000 in prize money they win contrive to toss all the Lynns into a whirlpool of comedy and excitement. As entertainment, the picture rates a blue ribbon and will provide the guests with a rollicking time.

Five other new pictures are included in the fast-moving program, according to Mr. Rosenheimer. One of the films, "His Father's Choice," features the likable Tom Gordon, head of the memorable Gordon clan who taught valuable lessons trimmed with humor in previous John Deere pictures. Another of the films, "Oddities in Farming," offers something new and different in its presentation of unusual machines performing unusual farming operations. "What's New for 1951" will acquaint those in attendance with new John Deere implements, and is sure to prove of interest to every farmer and his family. "Mike on the Move" and "The All-American Team," the two movies that complete the program, deal with subjects close to the heart of every farmer.

Admission will be by ticket and farmers who have not yet received theirs may obtain them by calling in person at the Rosenheimer store at Kewaskum. Farmers are urged by Mr. Rosenheimer to get their tickets early. The show starts at 1 p. m.

FRUIT TREES DAMAGED BY MICE AND RABBITS

Because of the deep snow many farm orchards are being damaged by mice and rabbits. Much harm can come to an orchard because of such damage. Trees partly girdled by mice or rabbits produce small, inferior and less fruit than a normal tree. If the girdling extends entirely around the tree, it will die the year following the girdling unless it is bridge grafted, which is difficult and technical to do. Much of this damage to orchards can be prevented with a little care and effort on the part of the orchard owner. Trampling the snow every few days around each tree will help prevent mouse injury. The more solid the snow is trampled around the tree the less chance for mice to get to the tree trunk and do injury. Cutting off young green branches from time to time and leaving them lie on top of the snow will provide accessible feed for rabbits. Annual sucker wood is best for this purpose. Cut only such green twigs as should be removed by pruning. If this fails to prevent rabbit injury, try trapping the rabbits with wooden boxtraps. Plans for the building of such traps may be obtained from the agricultural extension office, post office building, West Bend.

If the amount of mouse injury is extensive, the orchard owner should look for mice runways and put some poison oats into these runways. Such oats may be purchased from the South eastern Wisconsin Fruit Growers Cooperative, Waukesha, Wis. Another effective poison to control mice in orchards is zinc sulphide with either some cracked corn, or freshly sliced apples or carrots. Such bait should always be put out in small low tin cans or paper cups. Care should be used that children do not have access to such poison bait. The bait will be most effective if put out during the forenoon and on sunny days.

Value per acre of crops raised on Wisconsin farms last year averaged from a low of $13.70 for timothy seed production to a high of $53 for strawberries.

RURAL HEALTH

Small Town Ingenuity Improving Health Condition in Farm Areas

More than 18,000 accidental deaths per year occur among farming people in the United States. Farming is the most dangerous occupation a man can enter, even more dangerous than mining, lumbering or construction.

Charlie Learns the Hard Way by Meeting a Six-Year-Old

By BILLY ROSE

Last night, in the mood for conversation and kartoffelklase, I went calling on my Aunt Frieda and my Uncle Charlie.

"Your uncle, he ain't home," said Frieda. "I walked into their Allen Street flat. He is having a nervous break-up, and Dr. Gittleston is sending him to Mr. Fettebaum's place in Lakewood-Cathedral in the Pines."

"What brought it on?" I asked. "Well, it's like this," said Frieda. "A couple weeks before Groundhog Day—you should pardon the expression—is coming home your uncle and announcing he is becoming a baby sitter. Every Monday night, he says, the Lerner's on Rivington Street is going to the theatre uptown, and Mrs. Lerner is offering him a dollar a hour and free television if he will sit with their little six-year-old boy, Wilbur."

Billy Rose

"Well, when Charlie is coming home the first Monday night, I am naturally asking him for the five dollars, but he is telling me he ain't got it. He and Wilbur, he says, is watching the wrestling on the television and betting a dollar who will win, and the little boy in winning five times consecutive."

"NEXT MONDAY, Charlie is again losing the five dollars. This time is baseball. He is betting on the Brooklyn's, and the dumbhead, he is not knowing what Wilbur is knowing—that Jackie Robinson is not playing on account of because he has a busted hand."

THE FICTION CORNER

THE LAST STRAW

By Lula W. Kellams

IN THEIR EARLIER married years Flora and Ralph Wilson were an ideal couple. Both were handsome and jolly, with identical tastes and friends.

3 Minute Fiction

"Funnest thing happened," Ralph said. "When I took off my hat my toupee came off, too."

"It's not honest," Flo contended. "Everyone recognizes middle age when he sees it. Anyone can recognize a toupee."

One morning she said, "I—I don't feel like going to the store, dear. I'm sure Miss Gray can manage alone. There is housecleaning and things to do here."

"Fear stabbed Flo. Why did he agree so hastily? Why didn't he ask her what was wrong? She had an impulse to change her mind and go. But tears and self-pity were aching in her eyes and throat.

To conceal her feelings, she said briskly, "Wear this old hat, dear. I want to send that one to the cleaner's."

Stubbly Flo held out the old straw hat until he donned it reluctantly, leaving his soft gray felt on a chair. She refused to watch him swagger off, whistling like their son Danny when he was a college freshman.

Tears blurred her vision while she picked up things and cleaned and swept. Wasn't there something that would save their marriage, something like taking reducing exercises, or turning kittenish?

The idea was revolting. She had no heart to compete with their three young daughters. If—if she had just begun years ago trying to remain glamorous instead of turning into a mother, maybe things would have worked out better.

BY NOON, she felt less frustrated. She even hummed while she whipped up Ralph's favorite cake and cooked potroast. If she had an especially appetizing supper, and the children were in jubilant mood, maybe Ralph would see how well off he was. Maybe, just once, he would forget his diet.

At 5:05 the children called saying they had to stay for play practice. Flo's spirit drooped. Would Ralph call, too, pretending that business detained him, leaving her alone in the dark, silent house?

She waited with apprehension. At 6:15 sharp she heard the car stop, then Ralph's step on the porch. "Supper ready, Mom?" he called.

Dread gripped Flo. He'd called her mom instead of baby, or dear. Just one day's staying home made her seem old-fashioned to him!

He strode into the living-room. "Mom, you're looking at a successful man! Today I landed that fat Atkinson account. Mr. Kimley, their new buyer, said I looked like a settled, respectable business man."

He chuckled at Flo's astonished face. "Funnest thing happened. Remember how tight that old straw hat was? Well, the minute I took it off in front of that flippy Miss Gray and the office force, they all started giggling. My toupee came off too, so I glared — like I meant to look fifty, instead of thirty. It's a wonderful feeling of relief. What's for supper, Mom?"

"Potroast and your favorite cake, Dad!" As they marched in to supper, arm in arm, Flo just knew that there never had been such a lovely bald head as her husband's.

AMERICA FACES UP

THIS, UNLESS PEACE COMES, can be it, mister! The ultimate test, the battle on the home grounds, the crucible of faith and fortitude!

Already the pledge, the command and the tone of defiance rise above the small talk, the night-club banter, the cocktail lounge laughter, the juke-box melodies, the radio jingles and the hysterical screams of studio audiences on jackpot programs.

John Q. Citizen rises to a stern call to duty instead of an appeal to get vitamin-enriched biscuits, the right cereal and the super hair tonic.

Dawn comes with a clear summons instead of a crooner, a radio breakfast couple's program, a disc jockey's hour and a commercial for noodle soup.

Night falls to a summons to high courage and not to a thousand Video gags, radio stunts.

Eat More Bananas Week, the coarse laughter of the racketeer, the leer of the five-percenter, the mad urge to get something for nothing all do a fadeout as horse sense and the hour of decision take over.

The America of jackpots, jazz, giggles, gags, joy rides, playboys, box top slogans, fouring circuses and marathon walks bows to the America of consecration, sacrifice and heroic endeavor.

"Come out fighting!" drowns out "Shall we dance?" and "You, too, can make million dollars."

"What can I do to help?" rings across the plains and mountains completely effacing the routine "In conference," "Sorry, but I'm too busy to bother now" and "Let's get together at lunch some time next month."

The jackpot is Freedom. The $50 question is, "You and who else, Joe?" The top tunes of the Hit Parades are "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America, I Love You."

U.N. is moving rapidly from Lake Success into its new skyscraper home on East River, New York. On a clear day you can see peace from the top floors if you have a telescope, a powerful light and a little opium.

Chicago is trying out a 90-day test of video-by-telephone. By paying $1 a day 300 families are getting two full-length Hollywood movies. As we understand it the picture is sent out all scrambled up and the pieces come together for the dollar charge. It is going to seem mighty strange to be getting only half a horse or two thirds of a cowboy on your set while the man next door sees the complete movie. "Hello, central, give me 'Gone With The Wind!'"

A razor blade company has paid six million dollars for the broadcasting rights to the next six world series and all-star baseball games. It had the edge on other bidders, obviously.

It is now reported by Washington that one family in every 10 has $25,000. We never realized before that so many Americans were winners on those radio jackpot programs.

Ima Dodo says she won't mind the 16-cent phone booth call as it's more fun getting a dime back anyhow.

Joe Stalin had his 71st birthday recently. We hope he got a birthday cake all lit up with 71 vetoes on it. Reports say he wasn't in the happiest of birthday moods. Probably got a singing telegram from Wall Street.

Under the new 10-cent phone booth rate a lot of girls are going to be dated "collect."

In the present hour of danger a line keeps coming back to us from Max Anderson's "Valley Forge" of some 15 years ago: "Men will appreciate this freedom some day when they have to fight to preserve it."

Ima Dodo has just got around to analyzing Herbert Hoover's speech, and she says, "As I understand it Herbert is every man for himself or the grass will grow in the streets just around the corner."

VANISHING AMERICANISMS—"When I make a resolution I keep it." "They'll never get me into one of those paper hats." "I never take more than three or four drinks." "Let's invite only a few people we like."

"Washington.—Senate committees estimate that the government is saving $6,000,000 a year as a result of approved managerial practices required by new laws."—News Item. Wanna bet?
