PANCAKE DAY

Pre-Lenten Fete, With Ancient Tradition, Gains in Popularity

Pancake Day, which has gained in popularity in the United States in recent years, will be celebrated Feburary 6. Last year, Pancake Day was celebrated in England, many countries in Europe, Africa, South America, Canada, as well as this country.

Notable among the celebrations in the United States was the first International Pancake Race between the women of Liberal, Kansas, and Olney, England. This race was the subject of newspaper and radio stories which flashed, many times, around the world. The women of Olney won, but on February 6 the Kansas women are determined to emerge victorious in the second running of this now yearly event.

Pancake Day always is the day before Ash Wednesday, the begin- the other's dummy and burn it. ning of Lent. The holiday pancakes It is believed that the custom orighad their start as "shriving cakes." At the tolling of a bell, housewives in old England rushed to prepare ing. Hence, outlandish costumes, carried their the last day before Lent became pranks out all over the town. "Shrove Tuesday," then, as the religious significance dimmed, simply "Pancake Day."

As the religious emphasis on Pancake Day dwindled in England, the day took on the aspects of a merrymaking holiday. The day before Lent also became a fun-filled cele- wild beasts do run abroad in skins bration time in many other parts that divers be arrayed, and eke of the world. The word, "carnival," with loathsome shapes that dreadwhich means "farewell to meat," was applied to pre-lenten fetes in bears and wolves and lions fierce the Mediterranean area. "Mardi in sight, and raging bulls. Gras" (literally, "Fat Tuesday") is an annual event in parts of Europe as well as in New Orleans and Rio de Janeiro, where the current celebrations are quite boisterous. On "Fat Tuesday" in old France it was customary to butcher a fat ox for the annual feast before the Lenten fast.

A Household Sport

In frying their Pancake Day delicacies English housewives were taking advantage of an opportunity to use up their accumulated meat fats forbidden during Lent. Their flapjacks were customarily turned by flipping them into the air and catching them in a skillet. "Throwing the pancake" became a recognized household sport. It was this sport which soon led to the development of the 505-year-old Pancake Day race in Olney, England.

Football was played on Pancake Day in many parts of Scotland. The married men played the bachelors, and the married women ball, as compared to these old for sissies. The goal lines for this football game were often three miles apart-a distance which usually held the score down to a couple of goals per game. The game has been supplanted by other Pancake Day sports in England, and most of the English women now have traded the gridiron for the griddle.

Boys at Westminster school in London eagerly await Pancake Day each year. At 11:00 a.m., a verger of the abbey solemnly emerges from the college kitchen followed by a cook bearing a large pancake. In the school he throws it into the crowd of waiting boys, who fight for possession of the flapjack. The lad who emerges with the biggest chunk of the pancake gets a sum of money from the abbey.

The burning of "Holly" and "Ivy" was one of the major pastimes on Pancake Day as early as the fourteenth century. Boys from the ages of five to 18 constructed a lifelike effigy of holly, while girls of the same ages made a dummy of ivy. Both "Holly" and "Ivy" were hidden early on Pancake Day, and tional championship, back to the the goal of each group was to find United States.

An old writer testifies, "Some run about the streets attired like monks, and some like kings, accompanied with pomp and guard ful are to see; they counterfeit both

These festives in England and nany parts of Europe also led to a barrage of Pancake Day jingles. One of the most popular comes to us from Shropshire

"Shrove Tuesday, Shrove Tues-Poor Jack went to plow, His mother made pancakes,

She scarcely knew how: She tossed them, she turned them, She made them so black, With soot from the chimney

That poisoned poor Jack." And there is another fifteenth entury jingle that is often quoted today:

'Great 'A', little 'a' Today is Pancake Day! Toss the ball high, Throw the ball low Those that come after May sing high-ho!'

A Public Holiday

Elsewhere in the world, Pancake Day is a public holiday in Africa, many other countries of South America, French Guiana. Miqueon, and the South Seas.

Pancake Day celebrations in the United States and Canada are typified by pancake breakfasts, luncheons, and supper conducted by civic, social, and church groups.

Pancake Day is a traditional pre-Lenten celebration in many parts of the world today. The international race this year will receive a great deal of notice in English newspapers since the British government feels that in times like these, the race is an outstanding example of international goodwill and amity.

Mrs. Dale Warden, Liberal, Kansas, won the Pancake Day race last year, finishing well ahead of the field. However, her time the 415-yard course seven seconds off of the record set by Miss Florence Callow of Olney,

Marriage Income

TENNESSEE WOMAN, Alice Marble, writes me of her distress over her 18-year-old daughter's determination to marry. She says that a recent article of mine gave Gwen such encouragement hat she has become quite unman-

"You said that couples could be narried on an income as low as 100 a month," writes Mrs. Marble. You certainly can know very litof conditions today if you can advise young people to take any such risk. Gwen's fiance is just past 19; he gets $25 a week. The way rents are here now they uldn't rent more than a room for nat. Gwen's father and I are diorced; he cannot help, and my resent husband and I have two mall girls to care for, and an uncertain income. Gwen is very pretty, dainty about her clothes and the care of her room, but she has had no training in cooking or housework, and knows nothing of the value of money.

"We used all the arguments and pleading we can think of, but Gwen is determined to ruin her life and jump into marriage without the slightest idea of what she is doing. I would like to ask you how many youngsters of these ages you have known who did marry on such an income in these days of high prices? Do you know what you're talking about?

Daring Beginnings

For one answer to this reproach would like to show Alice Marble ome of the scores of letters that that article brought me. Not in years have I had such a rush of reolies. Most of them come from midile-aged couples who took the chance years ago, and enjoyed the adventure of working their way up from daring beginnings to success and plenty

And by success and plenty I don't mean the sensational toplin-

ers who accumulated great fortunes, I mean the hundreds and thousands—yes, millions among us who started with nothing and had all the fun and excitement of conquering poverty and uncertainty all the trials and disappointments and humiliations that rigid financial limits impose.

Yes, and all the fun, too. The two-room home high up long flights of stairs in a big city; the marketing at push carts with every tomato and half pound of lean beef precious; the museums and concerts and galleries, all free; the long walks, the happy associations over dinners of spaghetti in basement restaurants; the long walks along crowded piers and through bustling streets, or in the green shade of the parks.

And then the beginnings of success. The poem or the story sold; the understudy part secured, the humble job of correcting proof in a magazine office, the miracle of selling the radio serial.

"All at once," said a bushy-headed friend of ours years ago, "All leans and a similar celebration in at once Sara's got a backer for Argentina. A news item from Ar- her play and I've sold my patent pot for sixty grand."

"Sounds like the beginning of good times!" someone said, after we had all gasped awhile. Never Recovered Happiness unds like the end of them," he predicted firmly. And he was right. Sara couldn't stand success, and he couldn't stand wealth, and neither ever recovered happiness. They had had eleven joyous impecunious hard-working years together; perhaps that's as much felicity as any of us deserves.

To be sure, not all such couples achieve world fame or great riches. But gradually, energetic, ambitious men and women win their places. These places may be in kitchens making jam for the market, in lofts making aprons, in publishing houses reading manuscripts, in big firms directing advertising art; inconspicuous success is nevertheless success, and the fruits of it are sweet.

So the truth appears to be that there is no income upon which the right man and woman may not marry. Gwen's mother would do better to concern herself with regrets that she didn't build in Gwen a stronger character. She would do better to start now to teach her how to cook and let her run the family finances for a month or two. Gwen has been badly spoiled, and no matter how angelic a nature her 19-year-old husband can claim, can't possibly make a success of this marriage. Not with Gwen, very dainty about her personal appearance, but entirely ignorant of the method of making lambneck into a stew or using up sour milk.

Any casserole takes on an elegant look and flavor when you replace the humble buttered bread crumbs with cooked, drained noodles fried in a bit of butter or drippings until just crisp. Corn and canned tomatoes placed in pimientoe halves or green peppers are a choice, but budget-wise accompaniment to a steak dinner. Do something different with creamed salmon: used canned asparagus tips as the vegetable to add green to its rosy red, and serve on toasted English muffins.

Production Speed-Up Is Farmer's Biggest Problem

Our present farm surpluses will be less of a worry in the coming defense speed-up than will our shortages, Ken Gapen of the U.S. Gapen pointed out that getting increased farm production from now on is not expected to be as easy as it was at the start of World

Production was at a low level at the start of the last war and labor was plentiful, and less fertilizer was used. Also there were fewer tractors and other farm machinery. Now, however, we are at a high level of production and to push output still further above the high plateau we're on is going to be difficult. Gapen said farmers have one big advantage this time, however They've won recognition among high defense authorities that farm production is defense production, and government leaders are determined to try to keep farmers free of the last war's shortages of supplies and essential equipment and manpower.

Farm Home Safety Check Needed to Cut Accidents

Approximately 1,000,000 members of farm families will be injured in 1951 in their homes, and 6,000 to 7,000 will accidentally be killed there. More than $90,000,000 in damage-much of it to homes-will be done to farm property by fire, and 3,500 farm deaths will occur from that cause, the National Safety Council reports. These figures are ample proof of the need of a thorough safety check.

Wittwer stated: 'The inflation which is sweeping our national economy means that it costs $10,000 today to pay for property damage which would have cost only $5,000 ten years ago. As a result, Farmers Mutual is now giving $10,000 property damage liability insurance for the old cost of $5,000 protection, For comprehensive and colision insurance the coverage remains the same but the price has been reduced."

It is estimated that doubling the amount of property damage insurance and cutting rates for collision and omprehensive insurance will save the company's 250,000 policyholders over half million dollars this year.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS-

Brunt of New Tax Program Likely To Fall on Lower Licome Groups; Korean Evacuation Debate Rages

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Bitter battles raged in Korea as North Korean and Chinese Communist troops continued pressure all along the line. United Nations forces retreated slowly toward the Pusan beachhead (dotted line) and what seemed possible evacuation of that wartorn country.

TAXES: Era of Austerity

President Truman drew gasps from Wall street in his message to congress in which he asked an increase in taxes of "more" than $8 billion a year and outlined a defense program totaling $140 billion.

He also called for broader wageprice controls, one million more men and women in the armed forces within a few months, and four million more in defense production by the end of 1951.

But what made the little man want to crawl into a hole was the President's tax program. The brunt of that increase would fall on the middle-to-lower income taxpayer.

Some of Mr. Truman's critics said his program would mean an era of austerity for the American people. Some said they thought the President was "hysterical" and others said he had thrown the American standard of living out the window. Although the nation was shocked by the President's message, Americans in every walk of life were beginning to understand the scope of the program we have undertaken. Most people realized to carry out that program a great increase in taxes would be necessary-possibly the highest in United States history.

It became increasingly clear, too, that such items as automobiles, electric refrigerators, v a c uu m cleaners, television and radio sets will not be available in such abundance to the American public as in recent years. Production of these items may be cut by one-third to well over one-half before the year

By the end of 1951 the United lefense. At the peak of World War II about 45 per cent of the nation's output was for defense.

CIVIL DEFENSE:

Truman Signs Bill

President Truman signed the closing days of the last congress provides a defense program estimated to cost about $3,100,000,

The measure directs the federal to the states and communities in developing arrangements to protect civilian life and property in the country's 10 critical target areas against possible enemy attack by atomic bombs, biological or bacteriological warfare or any other technique

The bill requires states to match constructions. It was on this point that the bill received some criti-as its need. Civilian defense is the one phase of all-out war in which this country lags. Britain has added to bomb shelters built during World War II and has an extensive training program for rescue in the event of atomic attack.

Poster Boy

Twelve year-old Robert Lawrence "Larry" McKenzie, Jr., 1951 March of Dimes poster boy, proudly displays President Truman's autograph. The boy visited the chief executive on the opening day of the nationwide drive for funds to finance the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

The situation was described like this: Now it's a question of saving face or saving our nides - and we'd better save our hides. We'll need them in the future against the Communists.

President Truman proposed again message he said the government ments to farmers. He estimated culture and agricultural resources techniques in general. greatly increased this year.

The department of agriculture estimated American agriculture's total assets at the beginning of 1951 U.S. savings bonds, and investments in cooperatives. This was more than four times the total of such liquid of 1940.

Aggregate farm debt at the beginning of 1951 was estimated at $10 billion on January 1, 1940. All of this increase has been in the nonreal estate category.

These figures would indicate that American agriculture is in the strongest position financially and physically in its history.

POLITICS:

Matter of Tradition

Critics of President Truman's foreign policy, led by Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, charged the President 'violated the laws and the constitution of the United States" by sending troops to Korea and Europe without congressional approval.

In the last few weeks the thunder f debate on the subject has rolled through the halls of congress. It is not, however, a new theme.

The issue of the President's right send troops to carry out obligations of the country arose in the administrations of Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Tyler, Lincoln, Grant, McKinley, Taft, Wilson and the late Franklin Roosevelt.

And in every case the issue was settled in favor of the President, namely, that it is his sworn duty o carry out the obligations of the United States.

In this particular case, when the senate ratified the North Atlantic treaty it made the obligations of that treaty law, binding on the President of the United States no matter who he might be. Certain articles of the treaty bind the North Atlantic nations to united effort to maintain the security of the North Atlantic area, including the use of armed force if necessary.

It is these articles of the treaty that the President is upholding in sending troops to Europe. If the ongress should deny the President the right to use troops or arms abroad, then certain articles of the treaty become meaningless.

In the few cases where similar uestions have reached the Supreme Court, the President has been upheld in his action. It would seem that Senator Taft's attack, therefore, can not succeed in the face of

CROPS:

Prospects Not Bright

The agriculture department reorted 1951 crop prospects not so right as they might be for attainng the government's goal of a record harvest.

Shortages of soil moisture in important southwestern wheat areas, prospects of less irrigation water from snows, freeze damage to fallsown grain crops in the south, loss of farm labor to the armed servces and industry, and the prosects of shortages of repair parts or farm machinery were listed as naving an effect on production.

The farmers of the nation face a production quota greater than any ever demanded in this country. Increased grain production is needed to rebuild surpluses which have dwindled in the last two years. In addition to rebuilding surpluses, the United States must again assume the responsibility of feeding much of the world if open conflict breaks out between the east and

 During the first complete calendar year of operation, the Protestant Radio Commission produced and arranged for 2,128 radio and television programs of Bible stories for children. This total resulted in an average of 41 programs each week, many of them puppet shows of Bible stories. These puppets (pictured in this story) are the creations of a husband and wife team, Leslie and Mabel Beaton. Above, for instance, the Beaton-made TV actors are shown in a scene from "The Ten Talents."

Railroad men all over the country are known for their extreme diligence and their won-derful sense of observation. Mr. G. E. Moncus, who has had six-teen full years of fine service as ticed how much better his wife was beginning to feel, he decided he had better try the same thing and he, too, might feel better. Yes, Mr. Moncus started taking HADACOL and now he says, "I have lots of pep and energy and just feel good in every way." Mr. and Mrs. Moncus were suffering deficiencies of Vitamins B., B., Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mr. Moncus says: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADA-COL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite. I have lots of pep and energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

sing a song for safety while driving, Camp Fire Girls of the Central Valley Area Council in California launched a campaign in the communities of Stockton, Lodi, San Andreas, West Point and Oakdale. At meetings of women and men's service clubs, PTA's, church and other groups, the young members of the youth agency distributed cards for drivers to clip on windshield visors. The card pointed out the perils of speeding along the highways and byways at 65, 75 and 85 miles per hour. Not content with this effort. ### Resolutions

AN EDITORIAL

THE BEGINNING of a new year is always a time for making good resolutions. The most important resolves we can make are those which affect our spiritual lives. It is a rare individual who cannot find some moral or spiritual defect which needs to be remedied. One thought especially should be borne in mind in making good in-tentions: that humility should be an element in all our resolutions Spiritual progress is not made without the help of God. This be comes all too apparent when the time of testing comes. It is then we realize how deeply the weeds of self-indulgence have taken root in our souls, and how necessary it is that our resolutions be backed by something more than a mere wish to do better.

The first piece of practical advice to all who make good resolutions must be: make your enthusiasms as ardent as possible. No one will get far who is not buoyed up by the prospect of being a better individual when the next new year comes round. Nor should a man who has a serious fault to correct permit himself to backslide even once. To fall once often means to fall twice, and to fall twice is generally to lose the battle altogether.

One of the best pieces of advice that can be given to one who wants to make the New Year one of spiritual progress is not to impose upon himself too heavy a burden at one time. Take care of one bad habit at a time. As the will grows stronger and victory creates new confidence, it will be proper to concentrate on other faults. At all times it should be remembered that the secret of fighting bad habits is in learning to cultivate good ones.

Each individual knows the particular resolution or resolutions he or she needs to make. But there is one resolution which all without exception should seek to carry out: to add a little more to the happiness of those with whom we come into daily contact.

Jones Urges Admission Of Red China to U. N.

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Dr. E. Stanley Jones, noted missionary and author, said here that he believes the only thing the United States can do in the present Far Eastern situation is to agree to the admission of Communist China into the United Nations.

If the Communist government of Peiping accepts the obligations of membership, it will have to live up to them. 'The trouble is that we have looked upon membership in the United Nations as a gift, boon, or plum to be conferred," said the veteran missionary.

'Actually it is an obligation. All nations must be admitted under equal terms."

GROWING UP TOGETHER Children of all races learn tolerance and brotherhood on the nation's playgrounds.

Church Groups Fight Universal Service For Nation's Youth

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Religious bodies which in the past have opposed universal military training are preparing for a battle here against an alternative plan which the army will shortly bring forward. The plan will be called universal military service.

The new program will be unveiled soon to the senate armed services subcommittee on man resources headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D.-Tex.). It differs from the previous UMT plan in many respects and is more drastic and far-reaching than any proposal heretofore made by military leaders.

According to information available here, the UMS proposal will require 24 to 30 months compulsory service for all youths reaching the age of 18. This would be followed by seven years of service in the R.O.T.C., national guard, or organized reserve.

Those found physically disqualified for combat duty would be assigned to noncombatant units or given assignment to vital civilian training, of a nature as yet undisclosed. Only those boys suffering physical handicaps to the degree of being blind or crippled would be excused from service under the UMS plan. It is believed that a civilian public service camp organization will be suggested for religious ob-

Alcohol Problem Called 'Everybody's Business'

SAVANNAH, Ga. - America's beverage alcohol problem is "everybody's business," Methodists the southeastetrn jurisdiction heard at their mid-century convocation here.

A temperance report said the need for abstinence concerns the educator, the doctor, the life insurance agent, the economist, travelers on the highways, and many others. In the field of distribution and merchandising, according to the report, the costliness of beverage alcohol is easily noticed.

"Every merchant," it said, "is aware that 10 billion dollars spen each year on beverage alcohol in this country means many billions less spent on consumer goods." The liquor industry was described as one of the largest and most productive of American industries.

The report said that, while other sections of the nation were making great strides with temperance, the Washington, D.C. area had suffered a setback. "It is a tragic comment upon the life of our nation," it "that more intoxicating drinks per capita are sold in Washington and the District of Columbia than in any other comparable area in our country."

Christian Association Opposes Loyalty Oaths

OXFORD, O .- Opposition to loyalty oaths "and any other measures curtailing academic freedom" was voiced in a resolution adopted by delegates to the fourth national association movement here. In another resolution, the 1,306 delegates asked deferment from the draft of college students who have high academic standing and general ability. They also went on record as favoring the granting of federal scholarship aid to students and federal aid to education in general.

Earlier, the Rev. Alexander Miller, a New Zealander, told the students that "America's great function could be to prove to the world that both bread and freedom can be provided together.

"The people of eastern Europe, China and Korea," he said, "always take bread when it is a choice between freedom and bread. When people do not have their share, they begin to believe they can live by

C. O. Camps Revived

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Selective service headquarters is getting set to propose a plan of alternative service for religious objectors to the draft. At present, conscientious object tors to military service who receive the 4-E classification are being indefinitely deferred. This policy may be continued by draft officials or changed in the near future, depending on the situation. However, it was learned that selective service officials, contemplating the psychological effect of the drafting of nearly a quarter of a million men in the next 90 days, fear that their hand will be forced with respect to the objectors unless they act now.

Therefore, they have quietly re constituted their staff which handled with the civilian public service (CPS) camps in World War II war will go on and fighting con- new period of mobilization until the end of the present world crisis.
