

Lakes Five Downs Waupun, Hartford

Table with 2 columns: Location, Score. Rows include Kewaskum, West Bend, Horicon, Hartford, Waupun, Rosendale, Mayville, Oakfield, Campbellsport.

The Kewaskum Chevrolets, after being idle in league play almost three weeks due to the weather and all-star event, moved back into undisputed first place in the northern Lakes after a busy week end. Saturday night they got past a tough one in defeating Waupun in the prison city, 46-33, and the next night, Sunday, the team downed another tough opponent, Hartford, on the home court, 53-49.

Waupun than expected as that team has been pretty hard to take on their home floor. The Chevrolets gained a lead over the opposition in the first half and held onto it through the tilt. The half-time score stood at 23-15. The winners increased this margin in the second half. Two of Kewaskum's Tassar brothers, Johnny and Wayland, led their team to victory with 12 points each, while big "Fritz" Engel was right at their heels with 11. Incidentally this is the lowest number of points Johnny Tassar scored in any game this season. Forward Krebsbach, who is close behind Johnny at the top of the Lakes scoring, fell one short of Tassar in the contest, making 11.

Sunday's win over Hartford was Kewaskum's 19th in 11 games. Early in the season the Chevrolets beat Hartford there by eight points but had a slightly easier time of it here Sunday, although the visitors came dangerously close at times. The final score of 53-49 does not indicate the difference between the teams. The Chevys had a lead of 35-45 with only seconds left and then Hartford dropped in a couple of quickies. Also Kewaskum used substitutes frequently to give the first five a rest after Saturday night's tilt at Waupun. The winners were on top at the intermission, 36-29, and led all the way. Kewaskum's John Tassar and Engel had another close game of it for scoring honors. John collected 17 and Engel 16. Guard Aschacker of Hartford tied Tassar for high honors with 17.

However, there were only four old timers, the rest of them being on the young side.

MAYVILLE TEAMS HERE SUNDAY

The Lakes team will be out to gain sweet revenge here Sunday night when Mayville comes to town. Mayville, you know, is the only team that has beaten Kewaskum this season. Playing very rough ball, Mayville caught the Chevrolets on an off day there some weeks ago and upset them by one point in a game that had a couple of near fist fights. Kewaskum don't intend to let this happen again Sunday. In the preliminary the Rivers team also plays Mayville. These two also played a close one at Mayville which Kewaskum won. Next Tuesday night the Rivers' tilt is scheduled to play at Orafton.

March of Dimes Drive Extended to Feb. 15

Despite a successful porch light campaign conducted in the West Bend-Barton area last Thursday evening, Feb. 1, Atty. L. J. Goring, general chairman of the 1951 March of Dimes drive for the eastern sector of Washington county, reluctantly announced late Tuesday his decision to extend the campaign to Thursday, Feb. 15.

The chairman stated that the meager returns received thus far from outlying districts of the county indicated that the hoped for goal of $10,000 was still very far from becoming a reality. He was convinced, he said, that the inclement weather which has prevailed throughout the greater part of the township and village chairmen from completing their contacts. For that reason, he continued, an extension of the campaign was justified.

On Dec. 30, Francis J. Kougl, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kougl, R. 1, Kewaskum, married Rose Amisaca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Amisaca, 2647-A Rizal Ave. Ext. Manila, P. I.

The ceremony was performed by Capt. H. Bondreau, U. S. Army Catholic Chaplain attached to the 29th Topo Engineers, Cavite, P. I.

The bride's sister was maid of honor and Bernard Lindholm the best man. The bride and her sister were in white. The groom and best man wore tuxedos.

Rose was born in Carigara, Leyte, and her family evacuated to the mountains during the Japanese occupation. After their liberation they moved to Manila where Rose graduated from Arrelano High school and attended the Philippine College of Commerce and Business Administration.

Francis enlisted in the U. S. Navy for four years. On Jan. 17, 1951 he received a certificate of honorable discharge. The same day he enlisted for four more years.

The couple made plans to be married in the chapel. The reception was to be held in the officers club. Due to a severe typhoon with winds about 65 knots hitting the island, they were unable to use the buildings. The chaplain fixed an altar on a table in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanna, Quarters Q14, U. S. Naval Station, Sangley Point. They waited for the storm to pass and since it didn't they were married at 2 p. m. The couple had to stay as the guests of the Hannas, and postpone their honeymoon.

At the present time Francis has a 30-day leave and they are spending this time on their honeymoon. He attended Kewaskum High school.

Breakfast was served at the bride's home and a luncheon at the Bauer hotel in Campbellsport and a reception for 250 was held at Forest Lake lodge.

DAY OF PRAYER

Thousands of Small Communities To Join in Annual Day of Prayer

BY INEZ GERHARD

FRANCES LANGFORD, in the years when she was trouping about the country with Bob Hope's radio show, became known far and wide as a sultry-voiced singer. Her overseas tours to entertain our service men resulted in her widely circulated "Purple Heart Diary," based on experiences in entertaining men in veterans' hospitals. Now she has been signed to make a picture based on this background. And that resulted from her appearing in dramatic sketches on the video show titled "Star Time."

Irene Beasley, who originated her popular CBS show, "Grand Slam," hopes that other communities will follow the example of Cincinnati, O., where a reproduction of the game was played in connection with the city's drive for the Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. Irene gladly gave permission to use the program's name and format, and sent a prize for the best entry.

Producer Milton Sperling thinks the day of the tough-looking gangster is passing from the screen. For "The Enforcer," though the star is Humphrey Bogart, he chose assorted characters who looked as un-criminal as possible.

Abbott and Costello journeyed to New York to star on the NBC "Comedy Hour" telecast and picked up a star for their first film production venture. She is Shaye Cogan, featured singer on the Vaughn Monroe TV series. She will be granted a four-week leave of absence to make her film debut in their picture. She is little and blonde—and excited.

Pierre Cresson has been signed by Paramount to a long-term contract; he is being considered as a successor to Charles Boyer, now that Boyer won't wear a toupee or play romantic roles any more? He is said to be the idol of French film fans, has appeared in 10 French pictures, and is one of six current favorites of the Paris press, which predicts stardom.

Jack Smith, singing star of CBS' "Jack Smith-Dinah Shore-Margaret Whiting Show," went on a diet consisting mainly of Swiss cheese, to lose 20 pounds in 22 days for his first dramatic role, in Warner's "Moonlight Bay."

Thousands of small communities throughout the United States will join in the observance of the 64th annual World Day of Prayer this Friday. The yearly observance in this country is sponsored by Protestant women of over 80 denominations.

Overseas, women of 91 countries will join in prayer for lasting peace and strengthening of the bonds of Christian unity. The theme of this year's prayer was chosen by church women in Germany from I John 4:18, "Perfect love casts out fear."

The theme is chosen each year by a different national group, according to Mrs. Welthy Honsinger Fisher, of New York city, chairman of the World Day of Prayer committee.

Commending this year's choice, Mrs. Fisher said, "The people of the world today are fearful of each other, and their distrust can bring about the destruction that they fear. It is time all of us were reminded of One who said love can bring courage and peace."

OBSERVED on the first Friday in Lent, World Day of Prayer is marked by the ringing of church bells and the closing of many business establishments for special services in many communities. Services at hospital and in prisons, and special programs for children, are also part of the observance in many towns.

In some communities theaters project the prayer on the movie screen. Proclamations by mayors and governors and broadcasts over major networks urge support of the program.

The traditional offerings, which exceeded 255,000 last year, are divided between home and foreign missions. The home missions use the money to provide child care and other social and religious services for agricultural migrants, religious education and social services for American Indians and improvement of the Negro ministry in sharecropper areas of the south.

Funds allotted to the foreign missions are used in this country to aid foreign students and abroad to help support Christian women's colleges in the far east and India and the production and distribution of Christian literature.

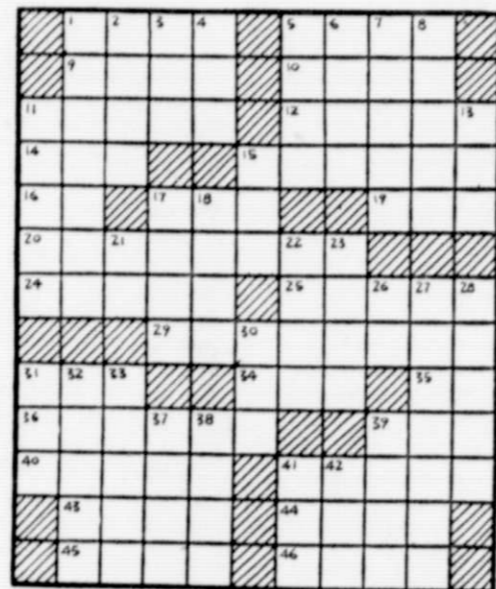

This year's service asks that the offering "given out of thankful hearts . . . may bless multitudes, whom, having not seen, we love."

Social Security Act Covers Farm Workers Half-Million Eligible For Insurance Benefits

As of January 1, about 500,000 regularly employed workers on farms and in farm households became eligible for social security.

This means they became eligible for the first time for old-age-insurance benefits—pensions—and for benefits paid to survivors if a wage earner dies.

Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security administration said the new program covers anyone who does planting, cultivating, or harvesting of crops; raises or tends livestock, bees, or fur-bearing animals; prepares, processes, or delivers crops or livestock to market or storage; cooks or does other household work on farms, or does their general farm work. However, each worker must "qualify" first.

A total of 500,000 farm workers became eligible for social security benefits with the extension of the Social Security Act of January 1.

Farm owners or operators are not covered. Wages paid by an employer to his children under 21 do not count, nor do other payments within a family.

Altmeyer said employers of farm workers covered by the extension of the law should get instructions from their local collectors of internal revenue concerning when payments should be made and methods for keeping records.

Disaster Relief Program For Farmers Expanding

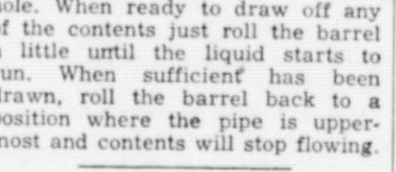

The government announced recently that the simple relief measure started in 1949 to aid snow-bound ranchers in the west has mushroomed into a tremendous business. It has grown into a $33,000,000 business and covers parts of 37 states and Puerto Rico.

The farmers home administration, in charge of the program, reports more than 26,000 loans have been made to farmers. They average about $1,192 each, although there is no limit on the amount a farmer may borrow if he qualifies as a "disaster victim" and can put up sufficient collateral. The largest loan approved to date was $400,000 to a Mississippi farmer.

One of the most recent disaster areas was the cotton crop was damaged by bad weather and weevils.

"The end isn't in sight," one official said, "It looks like the program is here to stay—unless the government starts taking losses like it did in the feed-and-seed-loan program of the depression era."

Oil Barrel Rig

Men on farms and ranches have many heavy barrels containing oil, sheep dip, kerosene, etc., to empty and at times a faucet may not be at hand. Here is an easy way to overcome that difficulty. Secure a piece of 3/4 inch pipe with one end threaded, eight to 12 inches long. Place a chunk under one end of the barrel so contents will fall away from the upper portion of the head near the chime. Then bore a hole through the head with a 1/2 inch bit. Thread portion of the pipe into this hole. When ready to draw off any of the contents just roll the barrel a little until the liquid starts to run. When sufficient has been drawn, roll the barrel back to a position where the pipe is uppermost and contents will stop flowing.

Dehydrated Cheese Is Put On Sale in Netherlands

Cheese in powdered and tablet form is being marketed in the Netherlands, according to the U.S. department of agriculture. The new dehydrated cheese product is made from Gouda and Edam cheeses under a process which is said to reduce the volume of the cheese by one half. The report says that a variety of flavors can be obtained depending upon the age of the cheese used for dehydrating.

New Beef Grades Became Effective in December

New federal beef grades—a revision adopted by the U.S. department of agriculture—became effective December 29. Under the new system, the old "choice" grade becomes "prime," "good" becomes "choice" and the younger "commercials" become "good." The grade revision is explained as an upgrading of the old federal meat grades. Only the best steers and heifers qualify for the top grade.

THE FAITHFUL SERVANT

By Maud McCurdy Welch

TIMES WERE HARD in the little town of Centerville and Sam Meadows, the town's only druggist was finding it hard to meet his bills. The shoe factory was shut down, one of the lumber mills had moved away and the other one was running half time.

Sam was a widower and lived economically in two rooms in the back of his store. He'd cut down on a few other things, but things kept getting worse.

Bill Bowen, one of Sam's good friends, came in one day to talk the situation over. "The trouble with you," he told Sam, "is that you're not business-like. How can you expect to run a business successfully if you don't collect?"

"When people are sick, they have to have medicine whether they can pay for it or not," Sam said reasonably.

"But, Sam, you can't carry the whole town on your shoulders. If you go on extending credit, you'll probably find yourself in a bad spot."

Bill went to the door, turned back with a word of warning. "Better think it over, Sam."

Sam sighed. He looked up at the small neon sign over the entrance doors of which he'd always been so proud.

"Meadows Drug Store Twenty-five years of service," Bill Bowen was right. After all a druggist has to take a stand somewhere. He has to protect himself. Sam's next customer was Mary

"The trouble with you," Bill told Sam, "is that you're not business-like. How can you expect to run a business successfully if you don't collect?"

Neely, a tired looking little woman. Sam knew what she wanted, a prescription re-filled for her brother's neuritis. "It's botherin' him awful today," she said.

Mary's husband had had a good job in the shoe factory, but it had been some time since he'd had a steady job.

But Sam had made up his mind. He drew a painful breath. "Mary, you already owe me thirty-five dollars. If you could pay for this prescription maybe . . ." but Sam's voice trailed off unhappily.

Mary's eyes were dazed with surprise. "I haven't any money, but . . ." she broke off. "You mean you . . . you won't let me have the medicine?"

Sam walked to the back of the store, unable to answer. Then suddenly he whirled around. Mary was gone. He hurried after her.

BILL WAS wrong. A man had to have faith. A man has to accept his responsibilities. The health of the people in this town had been entrusted to him. He couldn't fail them, whether they could pay or not.

Sam overlooked Mary and said, "Come back. I'll fill the prescription. I'll also put up some Vitamin B for your brother."

"You're a good man, Sam," Mary said tearfully.

After that when people needed credit, they got it. Sam was as usual on call day or night.

Bill Bowen came to see him again. This time Sam told him that a druggist's responsibilities to his customers was as great as that of a doctor to his patients. Bill tried to argue with him, but Sam shook his head with a smile.

Bill went out and almost collided with Tom Shaver, the young cashier in the bank. Sam was filling a prescription for a shabby young man in overalls. He charged it and as the young man started to leave, Sam gave him a doll for his little girl.

Then Sam said, "Well, Tom, what's on your mind?"

Tom Shaver grinned. "Just wanted you to know the old town's waking up. Shoe factory opens next week, a furniture factory coming in and the mill's going to run full time. There'll be jobs for everybody and the people won't forget you, Sam." Tom went to the door, stopped under the neon sign. "I think I'm going to change that to read, 'Twenty-five years of Faithful Service.'"

Sam smiled at him. He was remembering a favorite Bible text: "For we walk by faith, not by sight."

Demonstration of U. S. Air Power Will Ease Unrest

By Wright A. Patterson

COULD ALL THE PEOPLE of this country have the privilege I had, that of seeing one of the nation's great air fields on which are based America's mighty bombing planes and of meeting many of the personnel of that field, it would remove from their minds, as it did from mine, much of the fear of the Red army.

Not only was it my privilege to see the number and size of the nation's great war birds, but I also had the opportunity of meeting and knowing, in an intimate way, many of the young men who composed their crews, the personnel that can and will provide protection for the American people from any attack a Red enemy may make.

It was the personnel of those crews that constituted the basis of my confidence in our safety, that removed the fear of any attack on the part of Stalin and his Red forces. What that acquaintance did for me it would do for the vast majority of the American people, could they have the same opportunity I had. It was an inspiring experience.

It was not that I was told in facts and figures of the ability and competence of those young pilots, co-pilots, navigators, bombardiers, radar and radio officers, and gunners, for they told me nothing of that. There was in their conversations nothing of brag.

My guess would be that any tendency to brag on the part of any one of them would have meant a quick drop from the rolls of the strategic air command. Nor did their conversations provide me with any "forbidden" information as to what they were doing or as to where they had been through the day or night. I knew nothing of such details, or was told nothing. Of such things they're supposed not to talk, and no member of any crew with whom I was in contact did talk. It was only the "big brass," of whom I saw none, who are permitted to talk.

In fact it was the silence on the part of these young officers, on whom we depend for our safety, that added materially to the confidence I acquired in the ability to protect all America from any onslaughts of the Red forces. Today I am confident of their ability to do that job. Such are the men the "big brass" are depending upon for results, and their silence, on subjects on which silence were commanded, gave me added confidence in their ability to protect me, and all America.

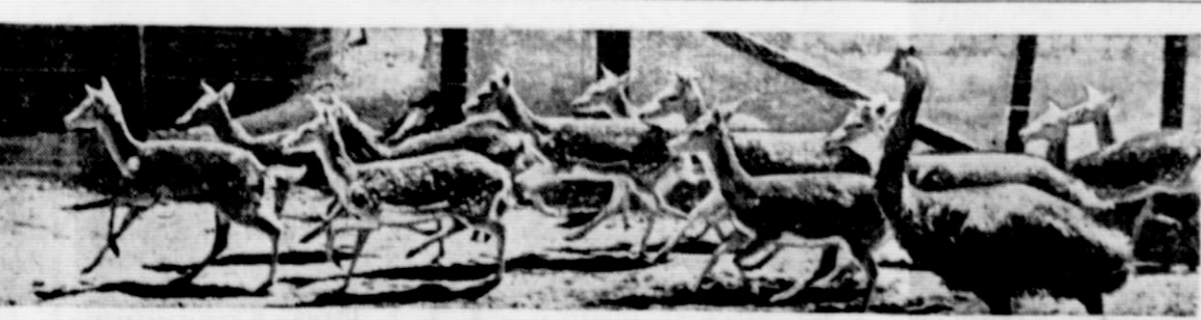

The personnel of those crews were careful, thoughtful young men. I saw none I would consider a dare devil who would take chances of an air stunter at a county fair, or attempt a speed needed to win a hotly contested air race. Their job is to get the utmost from the mammoth machines they man, to make every gallon of gasoline count on the long flights called for to reach a target, to force their great and expensive machines—costing more than a million dollars each—to the highest possible altitude from which to drop their death laden bombs, out of reach of the fighter planes of the enemy.

Those things and the pin point dropping of their bombs on enemy targets are what they are taught, but the how of such teachings are forbidden subjects of which they did not talk, but I imbibed from mixing with them the strong impression that they had mastered their lessons, and had to do so if they were to hold their coveted places on the roster of the air command.

When the day comes the greater number of them will reach the targets to which they are assigned, and most of those who go will come back again, after dropping their bombs on that Red enemy. They are not just trained to fly, but to fly for a definite purpose, and I am confident of their ability to achieve that purpose.

The young men I met, and knew, at that great air base, and the many hundreds of others like them stationed at the many bases of the strategic air command, represents the force that lies between the American people and that Red enemy they have so greatly feared. It is a force that is fully worthy of our confidence. We can confidently count upon the protection we so ardently seek. As I met and mixed with them, my fears disappeared, as would yours could you have the same privilege.

AROUND THE HOUSE

For marble objects, whip up a strong solution of sal soda and combine that with fuller's earth. Coat the marble with this paste, and let it stay at least twenty-four hours before removing it.

Paste moleskin on the bottom or heavy ornaments and flower pots to prevent scratches on table tops. Old felt hats can be cut up, and the pieces used for the same purpose.

Ivory objects, all in one piece can be safely cleaned with soap and water. If several pieces are glued together, though, better take a piece of raw lemon, dip it in salt and rub the surface with it. Let the juice dry on the ivory before you wipe it off with a damp cloth.

To prevent mattresses from picking up rust marks from the springs, give the springs a coat of paint when the original paint shows signs of wearing thin.

When a mirror breaks, you may have seven years' bad luck; but you can also have several attractive things to put under vases and bowls if you get a glazier to cut the unbroken portions of the mirror into squares and bevel the edges.

DATE VETERAN DIES HAS NO BEARING ON ELIGIBILITY OF WIDOW FOR GI LOAN, VA RULES

The date a serviceman dies has no bearing on the eligibility of his widow for a GI loan under the Housing Act of 1950, the Veterans' Administration ruled last week, according to George Roun, veteran service officer.

The act entitled unmarried widows of those who died either in or after service, from service-connected causes, to the GI loan benefits for which their husbands would have been eligible had they lived.

There had been some doubt as to the eligibility of a widow whose serviceman husband died after July 25, 1947, the end of World War II for GI bill purposes. Today's ruling, Administrator's Decision No. 64, dispelled that doubt.

In effect, it means that a widow of a serviceman who has had the required World War II service and who is killed in Korea may be entitled to a GI loan.

Also, a widow would be entitled if her husband died from service-connected causes at any time in the future—so long as she applied before the end of the GI loan program on July 25, 1967.

In its ruling, the VA stated that "it was the intention of the Congress in enacting (the 1950 Housing Act) to substitute the veteran's unremarried widow for the veteran himself" in the case of GI loan benefits.

The veteran, however, still had to meet the service requirements: active duty at any time between Sept. 16, 1940, and July 25, 1947, on other-than-dishonorable discharge, and at least 90 days' total service, unless discharged before 90 days for line-of-duty disabilities.

To justify this view, VA referred to the specific words of the law.

The act extends the benefits to "the unremarried widow of any person who met the service requirements for benefits under this title and who died either in service or after separation from service under conditions other than dishonorable, as a result of injury or disease incurred in or aggravated by such service in line of duty."

"Service requirements" clearly refer to World War II service, VA said, but if the lawmakers had meant to limit the death or disability to that service, the sentence grammatically should have read, "...who died, either in such service or after separation therefrom..."

Further, the VA bases its interpretation on two grounds:

First, "accepted rules of statutory construction require that effect be given to every word of a statute unless inconsistent with general intent thereof."

And second, the statute is "beneficial legislation," and it is commonly accepted that all such legislation be "liberally construed."

Finally, the VA pointed out that debates in Congress and committee reports affirm its position that the veteran's disability or death need not have occurred during World War II.

MILK HOUSE BUILDING SCHOOL FEB. 21 IN ELECTRIC CO. HALL

The Wisconsin new dairy regulations require that all farms producing milk must have an approved milk house by the fall of next year. Thus less than two years remain for the building of the milk house if one need be built.

While it is true that a good usable milk house now exists on most of the farms in Washington county, there are still many farms that need to build one or do some remodeling on the milk house they now have. To help these farmers plan an approved milk house building program, a one-day school will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 21, in the Wisconsin Electric Power Company hall, 337 North Main street, West Bend. Speakers will include Carl Neitzke, electrical engineer, College of Agriculture; Wm. Roper, representative of the Portland Cement company, and a staff member of the Wisconsin Electric Power company.

This will be a practical milk house construction and equipment meeting. It will be of interest to all contractors and builders, lumbermen, dairy fieldmen, and dairy farmers who intend to build or remodel in the near future. The meeting will begin at 10:00 a. m. and close at about 2:00 o'clock. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

SOIL LOSSES REDUCING SIZE OF COUNTY FARMS

Soil losses are reducing the size of Washington county farms.

Yield trials conducted this past summer by the NCS field personnel and vocational agricultural instructors in Washington county showed that for each inch of topsoil removed there is a 5-bushel per acre reduction in oat yields. These results indicate that a 100-acre farm with 2 to 3 inches of topsoil will produce only as much as an 80-acre farm with 3 inches or more of topsoil remaining. When this 100-acre farm has less than 2 inches of topsoil its producing capacity is that of a 50-acre farm.

These soil losses can be reduced and yields increased by following a good conservation program. To obtain more information about this program fill out one of the post cards which every FMA committee member will have with him when he contacts you, or write to the soil conservation service, 213 N. Main street, West Bend.

Nearly 60 million miles of highway are traveled every year if being milk from Wisconsin farms to the state's dairy plants.

Farm windbreaks will help warm up the house these icy mornings. And they'll keep drifting snow out of the yard.

Plan Enrolling of All Nurses in State Mar. 1

All nurses in the state of Wisconsin—whether professional, practical, nurses' aides, or attendants—are asked to enroll on Thursday, March 1, as a civilian defense measure.

Governor Walter Kohler has issued a proclamation designating that date as "Nurses' Enrollment Day." Erna Kowalke, Madison, is chairman of the State Planning Committee on Nursing for Civil Defense, co-operating with Dr. Carl N. Newport, director of health services in civil defense.

The entire program is a part of the Wisconsin Civil Defense program headed by Major General Ralph J. Olson.

The Wisconsin State Nurses association will have charge of the enrollment. On Miss Kowalke's committee are Ruth Coe, Madison, the organization's president; Adele Stahl, Madison, director of the school of nursing, University of Wisconsin; Edith M. Partridge, Milwaukee, executive secretary of the WSNM; Janet Jennings, Madison, director of the Bureau of Public Health Nursing, who will be in charge of the enrollment program; and Gertrude Mulaney, director of the nursing department of the city of Milwaukee, and responsible for nurse enrollment in that city.

"A complete roster of all types of nurses, including active and inactive, has long been a goal of the Wisconsin State Nurses' association, and the civil defense program has made it a must," Miss Kowalke said this week. The members of her committee met in Madison on Jan. 31 to make plans for the program.

Following are the objectives:

1. To determine the total resources of nursing in Wisconsin.

2. To determine the need for refresher courses.

3. To protect the public from "nurses" who have had neither training nor experience.

Nurses are asked to watch their newspapers and listen for radio announcements regarding the location of enrollment stations. In most cases the program will be the responsibility of the county nurse.

The annual meeting of the American Dairy association will be held at the Loraine Hotel, Madison, on Wednesday, Feb. 31.

With competition for the consumer dollar becoming keener each year, leading dairymen from all parts of the state will meet to discuss an expanded advertising and public relations program. Outstanding speakers and a panel discussion on dairy advertising and retail marketing problems will highlight the meeting.

Wisconsin has 1,801 local health boards. The program of local health committees was started here in 1932 to control spread of epidemic diseases.

Communists Offer Vague Proposal For Negotiations in Korean War; Army Plans 24 Divisions by July

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

PEACE:

Price Is Too High

Communist China's ambiguous proposal for a truce in Korea fanned the hopes for peace among the American people and created a dangerous division among the free nations.

The Chinese proposal said, in part, if the withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea was being put into effect, Peiping would advise the Chinese volunteers to return to China. The statement did not guarantee that Chinese troops would be withdrawn, nor did it say anything about North Korean forces. The statement was too ambiguous in the opinion of most American observers.

Withdrawal of the U.S. fleet from Formosa and a seat in the United Nations for Communist China also appeared in vague terms in the proposal for a truce.

The kindest thing that could be said about the Chinese statement was that perhaps there was a desire for peace in China. But from the American view that price was too high.

From the more practical viewpoint, however, the note put the United States in a bad situation politically. If it agrees to consider Peiping's renewed overtures for a negotiated peace, it is bound to incur wide criticism at home. It is thus these overtures, the accusations of the Soviet Union may fall on more fertile ground.

The Chinese move was seen by some observers as an attempt to block the American proposal in the U.N. of branding China the aggressor in Korea. If that was its purpose, it succeeded, at least temporarily.

Other observers questioned the status of the statement. It was not addressed to the United Nations. It was little more than a postal card to India in reply to questions of policy.

ARMY:

24 Divisions

Army strength by July will be equivalent to 24 combat divisions, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, reported recently.

The build-up of combat strength by July will include 18 divisions and 12 regimental combat teams with supporting units, together with numerous independent tank battalions, field-artillery battalions and similar combat units.

Collins indicated, however, he did not believe the nation's current goal of 3,463,205 men in the armed forces will be enough and the total boosted.

And while army officer and government officials talked of manpower problems on the home front, a new Korean's casualty list was announced by the department of defense.

An additional 2,424 casualties reported by the department, bring the Korean war total to 45,137.

The department said 6,509 were killed outright, 772 had died of wounds, and 22 men originally listed as missing in action have been determined to be dead. Thus the death toll stood at 7,303.

Wounded totaled 29,951, including the 772 who later died. The missing total of 8,677 included 822 men who since have been returned to American control and 108 known prisoners of war.

New Contract

John L. Lewis, (right), president of the UMW, puts on the nearest thing to a smite he can manage after he and Harry M. Moses (left), president of the northern coal operators group, signed a new wage contract under which the miners received a $1.60-a-day pay boost. The increase became effective February 1.

A NEW TREND

Iowa Factories Outproduce Farms in '50

The trend toward expansion of manufacturing in the midwest gained national attention with a report that for the first time in 11 years Iowa factories outproduced farms.

The report is remarkable because the average acre in Iowa returns a greater farm income than in any other section of the nation. It gives also a general picture of the increase and importance of manufacturing in the Midwest.

The report estimated that Iowa factories turned out 2 1/2 billion dollars' worth of food products, machinery, chemicals, drugs, printed matter and other goods in 1950. Sale of farm products for the year was not expected to add up to more than 2 billion dollars according to most predictions.

After World War II, the output of both farms and factories kept on climbing as new factories grew alongside the state's cornfields. In 1947 both farm receipts and the value of manufactured goods hit the $2 billion mark, with farm products ahead by some $300,000,000.

Housing

Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley told the senate banking committee that the federal government may soon have to help communities build waterlines, roads, schools and other facilities to meet the needs of defense workers.

PRICE FREEZE:

Needed for Long Time

By the time this appears in print, the administration should have acted on the price-wage controls so long needed to stabilize the nation's economy in its all-out mobilization effort.

During the early weeks of 1951 the need of price controls became a pressing matter as wholesale prices hit an all-time high. The cost of the average family's food was the highest in the nation's history.

Critics of the administration had demanded a price-wage freeze for some time. Government officials, however, protested any freeze would be meaningless unless adequate machinery to enforce price controls was available.

It was also apparent that there was considerable difference of opinion between Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilization chief, Allen Valentine, economic stabilization chief, and others in charge of the administration's efforts to set up a wage-price control organization.

President Truman entered the fray by firing Valentine and appointing Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Association of America, to take his place. Johnston will settle any disputes between the OPS and WSB.

Administration critics demands for price-wage controls included a roll-back of price to January 1. As for wages, a temporary freeze was the most popular demand—but only temporary until some kind of wage control formula could be worked out.

LIVING COST:

Hits an All-Time High

The cost of living in the United States hit an all-time high early in 1951, with the dollar worth less than 60 cents of its 1939 buying power.

The latest estimates placed the cost of living at 68.1 per cent higher than in January, 1939, although food alone went up almost 118 per cent in the last 11 years. The jump was even greater in some individual foods. For example, the bread and butter the average factory worker could buy in 1939 for 39 cents now cost him approximately $1.15.

An analysis of the figures revealed that a man who made $3,000 three years ago now needs $5,440 to match his buying power. The equivalent of a $5,000-a-year income then is now $9,356.

The average factory worker earned approximately $1,390 a year in 1939 and about $3,000 last year, an increase of 115 per cent.

BONDS:

Treasury Plans Extension

The treasury plans to offer holders of Series E savings bonds an opportunity to keep their bonds another 10 years at 2.9 per cent interest and to retain the government interest rate on long-term treasury bonds at 2.5 per cent, it was reported recently.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said holders may cast their bonds, continue to hold the present bonds with an automatic interest-bearing extension which would amount to 2.9 per cent compounded at the end of 10 years, or exchange the bonds for current-income savings bonds of series G, which bear interest every six months.

Congress must pass the 10-year extension, however, before it will become effective.

Of the $58,000,000,000 of total outstanding savings bonds, nearly $35,000,000,000 is in the series E.

TAFT:

A Shift in Policy

Observers of American political activity always keep an eye on the party not in power as an indication of the trend of thought in the nation. For this reason, Sen. Robert Taft was back in the limelight, causing considerable speculation on his sudden shift in policy toward sending U.S. troops to Europe.

Only a week before, Taft, who is undoubtedly the most influential Republican in congress, blasted away at the administration and President Truman, in particular, for promising to send troops to Europe.

Then, one week later, he shifted his position and said he would favor sending a limited number to the continent. What does it mean, the average American wanted to know?

It would seem that Senator Taft had suddenly become impressed with the fact that our safety is tied with that of western Europe. It would also indicate that he has removed the steam from the all-out opposition in congress to send troops to Europe.

When Taft first announced his opposition to participation of U.S. troops in the defense of Europe, he found himself confronted by a difference of opinion from other influential members of his party. A number of them expressed the opinion that a decision against sending additional troops to Europe would be fatal to any program of mutual defense.

Taft's shift caused considerable comment on the American scene for two reasons. He has often been called an isolationist. And he is a man who seldom changes his policy once he has stated it publicly.

It is generally concluded that the majority of the American people do not sanction isolationism. Taft's shift could have been made because he recognized that fact. This does not mean, however, that the shift is so extreme that the senator from Ohio can be called an internationalist.

Appointment

HOUSE:

Brands China Aggressor

The house of representatives, in the opinion of many, blundered into the field of foreign affairs with a heavy step by demanding that the United Nations should immediately act and declare the Chinese Communists an aggressor in Korea.

The United States had been working for this in behind the scene maneuvers at the United Nations for some time. For a while there were reports that the majority of western nations was in favor of the action.

Shortly after the house resolution was passed, however, opposition to the move appeared, especially among the nations in the middle east. Some nations adopted the attitude that branding China the aggressor would completely cut off any chances for a negotiated peace and agitate the international crisis.

The house action can be said to reflect the growing determination of the American people against the wave of appeasement that was evident in many quarters of the nations not so many weeks ago.

Draft Director

In the hot debate in congress over the drafting of 18-year-olds, Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, testified before the senate armed services subcommittee urging extension of the selective service law indefinitely and the drafting of younger men.

RUSSIA:

Delighted With Debate

The Soviet Union expressed its delight over the current foreign affairs debate in congress by releasing every criticism of President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The Russian government tells the people that the debate reflects deep American dissatisfaction with present foreign policy and a growing desire for a change in what it calls the "bankrupt policy of force."

The Kremlin also says it reveals a major split between the U.S. and its allies.

In general, the Soviet press interprets the American debate as a rather favorable development so far as the prospects of maintaining peace and avoiding world war are concerned. It emphasizes that the dangers of war arising from American political stresses continue, but that the prospects of war actually breaking out have been reduced by splits which have occurred in the U.S., where the chief threat to world peace originates.

The Deaf Baby

Amazement is registered by the child above as he hears his own voice with the aid of earphones. Mrs. Tracy (right) encourages one of the children at the clinic as she washes her face. The clinic, located on the campus of the University of Southern California, is to increase better educational opportunities and methods for the deaf.

The child at right models her hearing aid. As soon as a child accepts the wearing of an aid, she is fitted with the device. Although she may not hear with it, the child may get a sense of vibrations that may develop in time.

Among the many methods to make the children appreciate sound is a light box that lights up when any sound enters into the speaker. The child at left is shown working the device. With patience and hard work the little girl will learn to speak normally and to have a happy life.

The two children (left) show their enthusiasms for the sweet dessert they had with their lunch. The clinic has been in operation ten years and is the only school of its kind in the world. Through Mrs. Tracy's work, hundreds of children have been given the opportunity to live normal and useful lives.

Rest Is Important, Says Housewife

It has been said that there are lots and lots of ways for people to try to get some sleep at night. Some folks paint their windows black, others use ear plugs to shut out noises, while others count sheep.

Some of these are good and they do help some folks get their rest, but Mrs. Frank Jones, 1220 Bell, Montgomery, Alabama, has the best way to get a fine night's rest. Mrs. Jones, who didn't rest well at night before she took HADACOL, is able to say, after taking HADACOL, "I rest wonderfully now." Mrs. Jones found that HADACOL supplied Vitamins B, B₁₂, Nicotin and Iron in which her system was deficient.

Here is Mrs. Jones' own statement: "For a long time I had been bothered with indigestion and sour stomach. Food didn't seem to agree with me. I always had that uneasy fullness after I ate. I got to where I didn't want to eat. I had no energy. Felt like I couldn't make it during the day. I also was very nervous. I didn't rest well at night. A friend of mine told me about HADACOL. After the fourth bottle I felt wonderful. My food agreed with me—no more indigestion or sour stomach. My appetite is terrific. I now have lots of energy and my nervousness has gone. I rest wonderfully now. In fact, I feel good all the way round. I recommend HADACOL to everybody—it's wonderful." If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.75 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.

Tasty Chicken Dishes Enhanced by Proper Use of Seasonings

A FREQUENT meat appearing on menus is chicken because it's versatile and delicate flavor...

HERE'S A NEW portrait of a tried and true favorite that you can easily duplicate with this simple recipe:

Chicken Pot Pie (Serves 6) 1 four pound fricassee chicken 1/2 pound salt pork Water or stock Salt and pepper Dumplings

1 1/2 cups flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 teaspoons all-phosphate baking powder About 3/4 cup milk

Barbecued Chicken (Serves 2-4) 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pound young chicken (broiler) Barbecue Sauce:

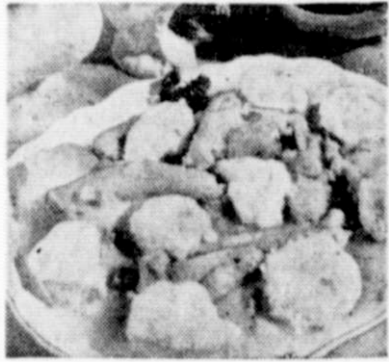

1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1 tablespoon paprika 1 tablespoon sugar 1 medium onion, chopped fine 1 cup tomato puree or catsup 1/2 cup fat 1/2 cup hot water 1/2 cup lemon juice 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Chicken, mushrooms and peas go into these ramekins with a rich cream sauce. Then they're topped with triangles of rich cheese pastry and baked until golden brown...

LYNN SAYS: Try Kitchen-Tested Ideas For Meal Appeal Cabbage, cut fine, and cooked with sour apples and caraway seed...

Good garnish for fish dinners uses grapefruit sections dipped in flour and sugar in equal proportions.

Try adding raisins to your hot apple sauce a few minutes before it finishes cooking. They'll be plump and flavorful, then serve over toast triangles.

Fluffy dumplings and chicken fricassee provide a heart-warming, appetite filling meal for moderate cost.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU *Barbecued Chicken Shoestring Potatoes Sliced Green Beans Tossed Green Salad Whole Wheat Buns Lemon Meringue Pie Beverage *Recipe Given

Baked Chicken Goulash (Serves 8-10) 2 3/4 pound young chickens Flour 1 1/2 teaspoons paprika 2 teaspoons salt 1/4 cup fat or salad oil 4 cups sliced onion 1/2 cup hot water

Wash chicken; dry; disjoint. Mix 1/2 cup flour, paprika and salt. Dredge chicken with flour mixture. Brown chicken in fat or salad oil. Remove chicken; brown onion in same pan.

Chicken with Mushrooms (Serves 6) 1/2 cup canned green peas 1/2 cup mushrooms 2 cups cooked chicken, diced 2 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons flour 2 tablespoons blanched almonds 1/2 cup milk or cream 1/2 cup chicken broth or water Salt, pepper Dash of ginger

Rich Cheese Biscuits 2 cups sifted enriched flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup butter 1 cup grated American cheese Sift flour, measure and sift again with salt and baking powder.

Chicken Creole (Serves 6) 3 1/2 pound chicken Salt, pepper, paprika 1/4 cup chicken fat or shortening 1 onion, sliced 1 cup uncooked rice 1 can (No. 2 1/2) tomatoes 1 green pepper, seeds removed Dress, clean and cut chicken into serving pieces.

Quick and easy is this jellied salad: to one package of lemon-flavored gelatin add one cup of hot grape juice, then 1 cup ginger ale. Heat canned corn, then break eggs, slightly beaten, over the vegetable. Cook gently until eggs are set.

Fry ham slices first in a skillet, then top each slice with one egg. Add just a bit of water, cover and cook gently. Using a slotted spoon, slide the ham and egg slices onto toast.

Blanc mange made with a bit of coconut, then poured into small molds to chill makes a pretty dessert when unmolded and served with raspberry sauce and thin butter cookies.

Chocolate mint frosting is just as easily made for cakes or cookies. Melt 8 large chocolate covered peppermints in the double boiler and add 1 tablespoon of cream.

THE WEEK In Religion RESPONSIBILITY

AN EDITORIAL

THE SENSIBILITY of man to trifles and his insensitivity to great things," Pascal once wrote, "are the marks of a strange inversion."

Such people would resent being accused of extreme self-centeredness. It is nevertheless true that their attitude denotes a complete absence of social responsibility.

In his recent proclamation announcing a state of national emergency, President Truman wrote: I summon every person and every community to make, with a spirit of neighborliness, whatever sacrifices are necessary for the welfare of the nation.

Acceptance of such responsibility is not merely a matter of civic obligation. It is one enjoined by moral and spiritual laws as well.

Cop Settles Dispute Over Boston Preacher BOSTON — An on-the-spot poll conducted by a city police sergeant decided which of two disputing clergymen would officiate at a service in Holy Trinity Albanian church, South Boston.

Atheist Protests Pageants PULTNEYVILLE, N.Y. — Arthur G. Cromwell, self-styled local atheist, sent a formal brief of protest to the state department of education against the presentation of religious Christmas pageants in public schools.

ORTHODOX HEAD . . . Archbishop Leonty Turkovich, Chicago and Indianapolis, was elected primate of the Russian Orthodox Church of North America recently. The church has severed ties with Moscow.

Judicial Procedure Urged to Bolster Family Bulwarks

ST. PAUL, Minn.—A "cooling off" period before a divorce action may be started was urged by Minnesota's governor, Luther W. Youngdahl, in an address to the legislature as he started his third term as the state's chief executive.

The governor also called for establishment of "judicial procedures to provide specialized treatment to strengthen family ties before they are broken by divorce."

In putting the "family life" recommendations first in his long list of proposals, Governor Youngdahl said "the home is the foundation of the social order."

"There are signs that this foundation is cracking and crumbling," he said. "The divorce rate has increased sharply. Divorces mean broken homes. Broken homes mean children who are innocent victims."

Crime Committee Probe Faces Louisiana Vice BATON ROUGE, La. — The Kefauver senate crime investigation committee has been asked by the leader of a Louisiana church-sponsored civic organization to probe vice conditions in the Bayou state.

Former Congressman Criticizes Poll Habits OXFORD, O. — Church members are too inclined to leave their religious convictions behind when they enter the polls and vote like Democrats and Republicans, according to Jerry Voorhis, former Democratic congressman from California.

Chinese Scientist Develops Process Although it may not change any of the process of photography, for the first time an atomic ray pictorial photograph has been made by a nuclear physicist.

Dr. Kuan-Han Sun, Chinese-born nuclear physicist, recently displayed the unique photograph he made by bombarding film with neutrons from the University of Pittsburgh cyclotron thus making the film radio-active.

When held in contact with unexposed photographic paper, a replica of the picture on the film was produced on the paper.

HONOR COUNTY 4-H CLUBS FOR OUTSTANDING HEALTH RECORD

The Victory Center and Hilltoppers 4-H clubs of Washington county have been selected by state 4-H club officials as two of the 24 clubs in the state which have made outstanding health records in 1950.

As a special recognition, the Washington County Medical Society, through its representative, Dr. A. H. Heidner, president-elect of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin, will present the clubs with certificates citing their outstanding health record this past year. Leaders of the 4-H clubs are Mrs. George Arnold, Victory Center, and Clarence Jang of Hilltoppers.

The award is part of the program of the committee on rural health of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin. The committee sponsors health awards, summer camp scholarships and national 4-H Congress trips for outstanding 4-H youths throughout the state.

Clubs which have made excellent health records through home and dairy sanitation, rodent and insect control, first aid in life saving courses, nutrition studies and accident prevention are selected for the award. Emphasis is placed on club and community effort as well as individual health achievement.

Salt, that's used to cover icy spots on the sidewalk, can drain off the walk and kill shrubbery or grass. G. W. Longenecker, landscape architect at the University of Wisconsin, suggests sand as a better ice-stopper.

It now takes a dollar to buy the goods and services that could be bought for 60 cents in 1940, say farm economists at the University of Wisconsin.

U. W. Tribute to Abe Lincoln

This February as never before, students and state take inspiration from this motto chiseled on the famous Lincoln statue on the University of Wisconsin campus: "Let us have faith that right makes might." The Wisconsin statue is the only replica of the Weiman original which marks the spot in Hodgenville, Kentucky, where Abraham Lincoln was born February 12, 1809. Sitting atop Bascom Hill, the bronze figure was presented to Wisconsin in 1909 by Thomas E. Brittingham and has become virtually the "trademark" of the University.

DOES YOUR HOUSE HAVE SYMPTOMS OF ANAEMIC WIRING?

... THEN CONSIDER THE

"Strange Case of Patient No. 1201"

Actually it's not strange at all. This house was "born" back in 1917 just before we declared war on Germany. It was built of sturdy materials and the wiring system consisted of two circuits of No. 14 wire, plenty good enough to supply electricity for an electric light in each room—a flat iron and a toaster.

But things began to change! By 1927, the year Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic and Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs, the patient had added an electric fan, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, electric clock, waffle maker and a few lamps. By 1937, when Joe Louis won his title, the patient began to complain of "pains" in the wiring system as lights began to blink, fuses began to blow, the toast took longer to toast. The patient admitted adding a food mixer, coffeemaker, sewing machine, radios, roaster and a refrigerator.

By 1950, the 1917 style wiring system was far too skimpy to handle the long list of electrical helpers which had been added. Patient now speaks wistfully of adding an electric sink, electric dryer and television set.

Yes—Patient No. 1201 has ANAEMIC WIRING! But it can be cured by a modern rewiring job—more outlets—more circuits—large wires—which will put new life into the old boy and enable his family to enjoy electrical living—1951 style!

This is a good time to get your electrician to take care of home wiring improvements. The weather is often bad and construction activities are limited. Why not call him TODAY for a wiring prescription?
