Miss Lois Koch Elected to Bank Women's Association

Miss Lois Koch, assistant cashier and assistant trust officer of the Bank of Kewaskum, has been elected to membership in the Association of Bank Women. Miss Koch has been in banking service for 2 1/2 years, all with the above bank.

The Association of Bank Women is a national organization of women executives in the 48 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii. The positions these women hold rank from assistant cashiers to bank presidents and chairmen of boards of directors.

The purpose of the organization is to effect the mutual exchange of ideas and experiences in order that practical benefits may be derived, and to forward the interests of its members, and the interests of all women in the banking profession.

In the field of banking, considered still a rather technical one, women have come to play an increasingly prominent role. Many of the women have progressed to their official positions through faithfulness and satisfactorily performing many banking functions while educating themselves in the higher techniques of the banking profession. By making banking facilities more effective as they are applied to the daily living and working programs of citizens in their communities, these women have become influential in the growth of their various communities. The individual stories of many of these women, as to their preparation, experience and promotion are interesting chapters in the progressive acceptance of women in the executive field.

Plans for County Amateur Show Continue to Progress

Plans for the Washington county amateur show continued to progress this week as the West Bend Kiwanis club committee in charge of the event announced that a new innovation had been added to what already promised to be a star studded parade of talent. The committee revealed that, in addition to awarding a $50 U. S. savings bond to the first place act, that act would also be invited to make a personal appearance on a WTMJ-TV program. Arrangements for such an appearance were completed this week, it was disclosed by Atty. Clyde Schloemer, co-chairman of the committee.

With talent applying from all points of the compass within the county, auditions by appointment are now being arranged. All persons, or acts, who have indicated their intentions of taking part in the program will receive a notification prior to the date of the performance telling them at what time and where to appear for their audition. Co-chairman Elmer Esko announced.

The program will be presented to the public at the McLane school gym at 2:30 and 8 p. m. on Saturday, Apr. 21. Winning acts will be chosen at the evening performance. Acts are expected to be of 2 to 5 minutes duration; about 18 to 20 separate acts will be presented, and the program is expected to last about one and one-half to two hours. Receipts from the show will be used for furthering the boys and girls' activities sponsored by the club. The annual sponsorship of such a show is being considered by the West Bend Kiwanis group.

70 STUDENTS FROM COUNTY ATTEND STATE UNIVERSITY

Seventy students from Washington county are enrolled at the University of Wisconsin on its Madison campus this semester, the university announced Friday.

Total enrollment on the Madison campus this semester is 14,460, down only 1,306 from last semester. Because of enlistments in the armed forces, and the large number of midyear graduates—some 1,300—university officials had expected a larger drop-off.

This semester 3,965 advanced students enrolled in the graduate school as compared with 3,126 last fall. Undergraduates number 10,365 against 11,628 in September.

The number of veterans studying at Wisconsin continues to decline, following a trend begun a year ago. Ex-servicemen total 4,773 this semester, a 12 per cent drop from last fall's 5,438. The number of men is down to 10,487 from September's total of 11,540. Co-eds number 3,973 now, compared with 4,226 six months ago.

"Home" for each of these students is one of 71 Wisconsin counties, one of 47 of the 48 states; in the District of Columbia, Hawaii, or Puerto Rico; or one of 61 foreign countries. There are 11,512 students from Wisconsin, and only Nevada is not represented among the students from other states.

Kewaskum Goes Far Over Red Cross Quota

Louis Bath, Jr., village chairman for the 1951 Red Cross fund campaign in this area, reported this week that contributions to the fund by Kewaskum residents and businesses have reached just over $730.00. Bath pointed out that this is about 86 per cent above the village quota of $391.00.

When advised of the splendid response given by Kewaskum to the 1951 Red Cross appeal, general campaign Chairman Henry Renard of West Bend said he was deeply grateful both to the volunteer workers who carried on the drive and to the people whose contributions made it a success.

"The people of Kewaskum can be proud of their outstanding record in this united effort to assure a continuation of vital Red Cross services for another year. By their generosity they have helped to make it possible for our chapter to be the 7th in the state of Wisconsin to reach its quota," Renard said.

Generally, the drive was moving to a close throughout the area, with a one-week extension, which had applied in rural areas only, due to end Saturday, April 7. A final report for the city of West Bend showed contributions there rose to over $5,000 against a quota of $2,373.

In rural areas surrounding West Bend better weather and an improvement in road conditions made it possible for workers to speed up their schedule of calls.

Renard urged precinct chairmen in rural areas to complete their work and make all final reports not later than Saturday, April 7.

"We are anxious to render an accurate and complete report to the people on this campaign as soon as possible and we must have all precinct returns before we can do so," Renard said.

The one-week extension of the campaign in rural areas ends Saturday and it is expected that a complete, final report will be available shortly thereafter.

Instead of coming to a peak at the top the hill will be leveled off flat for a distance of close to a quarter of a mile.

Alfred C. "Doc" Johnson has purchased four acres of land from Christian Backhaus on the south side of the hill which runs into a gully. After the ground from the hill top is filled into this low land Johnson will begin erection of a new home on the site. Later he also intends to start a business on his land, the nature of which he was unable to disclose at this time.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

Small Business Is Constantly at Work In Our Town for Progress, Better Living

We're intensely interested in "small business." Are you?

Before you reply with a noncommittal shrug of the shoulders, take a mental look around the shopping section of our town. What you see is small business at work.

The grocery, the dress shop, the drug store, the man who runs a radio repair service, the one-woman beauty shop, the barber shop, the local trucking line, the restaurant, the appliance store—all this is small business as we live with it day by day.

Now think of these local enterprises as being over three million strong and existing in every town and city in America and you begin to get the national aspect of small business. For the record, 93 per cent of all the business units in the United States are small business—that is, operating with fewer than 50 employees. Breaking it down a little farther, three-fourths of all these small business units have only four employees or less.

That brings it right back home, to our own shops and stores. And these definitely interest us, for two reasons:

First, because by supplying goods, services and opportunities for employment, they represent the force that makes the town go. Without them there literally would not be a town here.

Second, these local small businesses of ours are the advertisers upon whom this newspaper depends. Selfish? Not at all. As a weekly newspaper, we are a small business too, and a necessary link for keeping our free standard of living up to and above par.

In addition to providing news and feature stories, our other principal service is that of making available space which our small businesses may use to call public attention to the goods they have to sell. Purpose of the advertising, of course, is to stimulate the demand among you, the consumer-readers of the paper, for the businessmen's goods and services.

You read the ad and make your purchases. You are better off for having something you have not had before; the businessman is better off for having made another sale. It is important to remember, too, that one of the most significant contributions you can make toward keeping this system working is to patronize the businessmen who do advertise in this paper.

That, briefly, is the basic function of small business in our town, as in every town like it in the country. But small business does more than just run, like a reciprocating motor. Day after day it is contributing to the growth and improvement of the town itself.

Small business produces men as well as goods. The small enterprise gives a man a chance to develop well-rounded business experience because it provides a diversity of work not open to an individual holding a specialized job in a large concern. In small business, more truly than in large, the more of himself, his talents and energy a man puts into a business, the more he gets out of it and the more able he becomes.

That is why our small businessmen, already recognized as the heart of our economic existence, are so often the dynamic force behind local civic and social advancement. Better than most of us, they are equipped, by training, experience and patterns of thinking, to prompt and carry out such constructive action.

Remember the next time you go shopping—the small local business has intimate knowledge of our home community and a personal stake in it.

We have faith in our local businessmen; and as long as you, their customers, believe in them and support them they will continue to contribute to our mutual prosperity.

The world has a way of giving what is demanded of it. If you are frightened and look for failure and poverty, you will get them, no matter how hard you may try to succeed. Lack of faith in yourself, in what life will do for you, cuts you off from the good things of the world. Expect victory and you make victory. Nowhere is this truer than in business life, where bravery and faith bring both material and spiritual rewards.

Household Hints

Breakfast prunes always please. There are a few tricks which make them better tasting than ever: Cook the prunes with a stick or two of cinnamon, slices of orange or lemon. You'll like the spark the spice or citrus fruit gives to the mild flavored prunes.

Combine 3 tablespoons of cocoa with the same amount of sugar, then add 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 1/2 cups water and stir in 1 1/2 cups rolled oats. Cook as usual.

Make this eggnog topping to serve over hot cereal: to beaten egg, add 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 cup rich milk and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Children will like butterscotch cereal for a change. Simply serve with brown in place of white sugar.

Before removing the hull, cut fresh pineapple into slices. It is then much easier to trim the hull from around each slice.

Sage is a good herb to use to season spareribs. Allow three-fourths pound of spareribs for each person and give them long, slow cooking.

Try adding raisins to your hot applesauce a few minutes before it finishes cooking. They'll be plump and flavorful, then serve over toast triangles.

U. N. Forces Near 38th Parallel; Johnston Wants New Parity Ruling

WHERE TO NOW?—Grim, pipe-smoking Douglas MacArthur took time out from directing a war in Korea and his duties as top man in Japan to tell newsmen U. N. forces were insufficient in numbers to hold a line at the 38th parallel. He pointed out that there are no natural defense features anywhere near its immediate proximity.

The general's statement brought to the front again the question of what happens now that the Chinese have abandoned their last great defense center below the parallel and have retreated into North Korea. Do U. N. forces advance beyond the line and continue their campaign? The British government has insisted for weeks, as a political matter, that the parallel was far as U. N. forces should pursue the Reds. This view was backed by a number of United Nations members.

In Washington the situation was put like this: If the U. N. succeeds in smashing the next expected Communist offensive and the Reds then continue retreating, how far north should the U. N. forces go? Prodding, hard-working Matthew Ridgway, commander in Korea, wanted a quick answer as his troops stood poised along the line. If his advance was stopped it meant a stalemate in the war and the dirty business of preparing a defense line on unfavorable terrain. If he was given the go-ahead signal it meant more of his slow but thorough tactics of "operation killer."

MEAT MAKERS—A big man in a pearl-gray ten-gallon hat stiffened, turned purple, and brought his polished boots from desk to floor with a crash: "This is the most outlandish thing those fools in Washington ever thought up," he exploded.

One of 2,500 ranchers attending a cattle raisers meeting in Dallas, he was expressing the view of fellow cattlemen who had just heard a government plan to roll back cattle prices 10 to 20 per cent.

That view of the government's attempt to hold down inflation and to regulate prices was not confined to his group. The automobile industry, labor, grain farmers, steel, and numerous others continued their screams. The cattlemen were just a little more colorful.

Cattlemen said a roll-back of prices would force curtailment of production and encourage black markets. Like farmers throughout the nation, they argued that production costs have advanced and that increased supply will regulate prices.

Said one rancher: "You can't control what the public is willing to pay for meat."

FOOD PRICES—Eric Johnston, the former fair-haired boy of the movie industry, lately turned economic stabilizer for the government, sent word to the White House he had found the way to hold down food prices.

Smiling Eric reported that the "parity extension" provision is the key to inability to keep food prices in line. So long as he and Michael DiSalle, the chubby price controller, cannot touch a food price until it gets above a "parity" that moves in a rapidly ascending spiral, they cannot control inflation.

This, Johnston said, is the heart of the problem. Unless food prices can be held and rolled back, there will be no holding wages. And if wages continue to go up, industrial prices and "parity" will keep on climbing and the economy will be torn apart.

Johnston has about as much chance of getting congress to repudiate parity as he would of getting Iowa to stop growing corn. Nevertheless, he recommended: (1) A change in the "parity exemption" provision of the present law; (2) authority to use subsidies to hold prices in line; (3) extended licensing powers; (4) adequate authority to handle labor disputes.

THE HOT SEAT—The hottest spot in the U. S. the past several weeks has been the witness chair at the senate crime investigating committee's hearing in New York. Occupying that seat has been gambling kingpin Frank Costello and handsome William O'Dwyer, former mayor of New York, now U. S. ambassador to Mexico.

The committee was trying to prove that Costello controls a gambling syndicate that reaches to the Main Streets of America. As for O'Dwyer, the committee wanted to know if there is any connection between gambling and big-time politicians in New York.

The hot seat really got hot when Senator Tobey, balding and acid-tongued member of the committee, asked O'Dwyer why such a "prominent man" as he should trot to the home of Costello to ask his advice and counsel.

O'Dwyer said he was carrying out an army assignment, adding, "They say there's a lot of it (bookmaking) in New Hampshire." "Well, we haven't a Costello in New Hampshire," Tobey roared.

"I wonder," O'Dwyer retorted, adding that Tobey had sent to New York for campaign funds.

"It's not true," Tobey shouted. "I'm under oath," O'Dwyer barked. "You're not."

To which Tobey roared, "I'm not a fourflusher."

All of which provided 15,000,000 television fans with a spectacular show, putting soap operas to shame. What it provided in the way of facts concerning gambling in the U. S. is anybody's guess.

POLITICS—The 1952 presidential campaign was again in the news with a published report that President Truman made a deal with General Eisenhower to make Ike available in 1952.

According to the story, widely published throughout the U. S., the President did like that one Harry Truman did not want to be accused of exiling a potential powerful contender for the honors of the White House. The general, in his usual blunt and straight-forward way, attempted to kill the story. His statement said "the President has never mentioned to me any political possibilities of 1952 whatsoever."

The story should have been that, but rumors persist that Eisenhower will be available in 1952 to one of the major parties. As things stand now it would appear he could win hands down.

RENT CONTROL—A 90-day extension of the rent control law was passed by the house after heated debate. The measure already has been enacted by the senate. It was sent to the White House where the President was expected to sign it without delay. It becomes effective April 1 and expires June 30.

House members pushing the measure argued decontrol would interfere with recruiting workers for defense production and lift limits in defense and military districts.

CROP PROSPECTS

1951 Production May Set New Record

With a break in the weather, American crop production in 1951 may set a record, but whether the peak output is the answer to spiraling food prices is the big question, even for the nation's farmers.

One favorable trend is the growing number of beef cattle and hogs, sources of a major item in the country's diet. Cattle numbers are now at 84,200,000 head, compared with a low of 78,000,000 in 1948.

Stocks of wheat and corn, raw material for meat and dairy products, are ample and without acreage restrictions. Winter wheat planting is up one-sixth over last year. Indications in the midwest corn belt point toward another bumper planting this spring, officials of the department of agriculture said in a recent report.

But the nation's farmers are concerned about another problem, a political one. Like labor, they feel they are being left out in the cold in the mobilization effort. That is the reason such farm "spokesmen" as the Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, and others want farmers to have representation at top levels in Washington councils—particularly in the office of defense mobilization, and other emergency federal offices, rather than being merely "wards" of the department of agriculture.

Serve Pork Roast for Savory Dinner (See Recipes Below)

Economical Pork Dinners

PORK HAS ALWAYS been a favorite meat on American tables. Among the meats available, it's also an economical one, whether for a special family dinner or a company affair.

Scientists in the field of nutrition now point out, too, that pork is a rich source of the important vitamin B1, as well as other nutrients.

In buying pork, thrifty homemakers will find that steaks cut from the shoulder offer a real bargain. These have a good proportion of fat and lean, and very little bone, and they are tender and delicious. They are cooked like pork chops, that is in moist heat, slowly and until well done.

Blade pork steaks are cut from the Boston butt, the upper part of the shoulder. Each steak contains a portion of the blade bone.

THERE IS A seemingly endless variety of delicious ways of preparing pork steaks, all following the one basic method. But variety can be given by the use of different flavors in the liquid, and of different vegetables or fruits used with the meat. Here are suggestions, to add to your repertory.

Pork Steaks and Sweet Potatoes (Serves 4)

2 pork shoulder steaks, cut thick
1 can crushed pineapple
3 medium-sized sweet potatoes
1/4 cup brown sugar
Salt and pepper

Place the pineapple in a baking dish. Cook sweet potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Peel and slice sweet potatoes and arrange in a baking dish over the pineapple. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Season pork steaks with salt and pepper and place on top of sweet potatoes. Cover and cook in a moderate oven (350°) for 45 minutes, then remove cover and cook for 15 minutes longer, or until the steaks are nicely browned.

Spanish Pork Shoulder Steaks (Serves 4)

2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard
1 small onion
1 cup tomatoes
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper

Dredge pork steaks in flour and brown in hot lard. Slice onions over them, add tomatoes and season with Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly until the steaks are done, about 45 minutes for medium

Stuffed Cushion-Style Pork Roast (Serves 6)

2 cups bread crumbs
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
Salt and pepper

Choose two pork tenderloins of the same size. Have the butcher split and flatten them out. Combine bread crumbs and celery. Season with salt and pepper. Add eggs to dressing, bacon drippings and hot water enough to make the dressing moist. Spread dressing over one tenderloin, lay the other on top and sew or skewer the edges together. Season outside with salt and pepper. Place on rack in opening roasting pan and roast in moderate oven (350°) for one hour. You may like to lay a few strips of bacon across the top to keep the meat from becoming too dry.

Broiled Spareribs (Serves 4 to 5)

3 pounds spareribs
3 cups water
1 cup vinegar
1/4 cup minced onion
1 clove garlic, peeled and minced
1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons salt
5 tablespoons fat
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf

Broil spareribs in broiler oven until golden brown on both sides. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients, and boil for 10 minutes in an uncovered saucepan. Place spareribs in an uncovered baking pan or roaster, and pour some of sauce over them. Bake in hot oven (450°) for one hour, basting every 10 minutes with rest of the sauce, which should be kept boiling hot.

Tender asparagus tips, the first of the season, are always good with such simple seasonings as melted butter, salt and freshly ground pepper. For a novel treatment, combine with freshly cooked green garden peas.

Bacon drippings and crumbled bacon offer a good seasoning for some of the early vegetables like peas, asparagus and green beans.

Add sparkle to fresh pineapple with a dash of lemon juice. Sugar it and wrap in coconut shreds for a cool salad treat.

Lovely pink rhubarb needs careful cooking so the color does not fade. If you like, pop in a few strawberries to make a delightful sauce combination with the rhubarb.

Whole, perfect strawberries served with sour cream give a tempting dessert when they're served with sour cream that's chilled to its coldest.

Strawberries crushed carefully with a fork, then sugared to taste, are a perfect team mate with ice cream. For a party, serve white cup cakes swirled in boiled icing and coconut.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Modesty Bows Out

WHEN I WAS A LITTLE GIRL there was a thing called modesty. It had its mawkish, prudish, even prurient side perhaps, but this wasn't the main side. The main side was reticence and—what shall I call it?—coverage. Girls kept their bosoms and their legs and their armpits and their ankles concealed from the public view.

They did not read notoriously unclean books or exchange notoriously filthy jokes. They did not use blasphemy, or refer flippantly to a rather large group of subjects termed "sacred."

References to physical conditions were confined to the ears of doctors, or to a comfortable family circle of mother, daughters, aunts, grandmothers. Pregnancy, though always a popular and exciting topic, was regarded as a matter of some delicacy; mixed groups of young men and women did not laughingly challenge each other to debate it. Such chatter as is heard today was unknown: "Jen says Tom's crazy for one; she won't. I think you're terrible not to have another, Connie. Fran says that as soon as they're home she's thinking of having one."

50 Years Ago

Young wives 50 years ago did not relate in detail to their intimates everything that went on in their own apartments. Young women and girls did not eagerly exchange books that plunge to the very roots and elaborate upon the most frightful abnormalities of human living. Every corner drugstore did not display among all the who-dun-its, the westerns, the dictionaries and Bibles, those sinister, filthy little volumes whose contents drip like an open sewer under our children's feet and poison the very air they breathe. And 50 years ago we had no movies with their everlasting displays of dull looking (beauties walking a raised runway) before the gluttonous eyes of rows of smoking newspapermen and judges; beauties who are nine-tenths naked, and casually negligent of any displacement of that remaining tenth of coverage.

During the more than 20 years that I have been writing these articles I have rarely taken the position of crusader. Long, long ago I wrote of the futility of war—all of wars. Encouraged by more than 7,000 letters about that I lectured many, many times on the subject of peace. I never was paid for a lecture, but I did receive unexpected eggs more than once, and some remarkable offerings by mail. A pistol, and poison tablets, and notice from one great magazine group that it was done with me, forever.

But that's beside the point. Now I am crusading, in a mild way, again. I want to ask the women who feel as I do to notify their favorite movie theatres, by postcard, that they don't want any more beauty contests on the screen. Burlesque shows aren't as popular as they were; they degenerated into mere displays of stupid fat girls so obviously motored that all excitement and beauty went out of the show. But there are "peep" shows beginning again, and if your town is threatened with one, do what you can to prevent its coming.

Lift A Protest

When you come across a coarse, salacious, immoral paper-covered book, speak to the druggist. When a movie shows, as one did lately, a mired in a small tub of suds, and looking as bewildered and bored as was every sensible woman who saw him, drop the manager a line. Wear strapless gowns if your figure is young and flawless—not otherwise. They may look all right in the shop, but when you force that roll of 35 or 40-year-old flesh up into a collar above their sitting, it's wrong. Wear a sensible bathing suit, of course. But don't squeeze falsies into the top of it and shorten the tights so that every time you move lumps and folds of your person threaten spontaneous combustion.

Modesty is a lovely thing. But like everything else worth while it is a slow and delicate growth. You can't be careless and coarse and enjoy whispered filthy jokes and shocking freedoms in your speech and your reading until you are old, and then turn around and drop all your associates and attempt to join any group of really fine women.

It seems to me our American mothers and grandmothers might do something about this, because indecency in these superficial ways does lead to permanent danger for the rising generation.

Send me a postcard if you feel as I do; all you need for address is my name and my post office, Saratoga, Calif., and we will see how many thousands of us can get together, and whether we are strong enough to make ourselves heard. I'll put all the names into a stout account book, and be immensely cheered by any reports you make on what you have done, however small, to show our men that far beneath the surface of today's excesses and ugliness, modesty does still live, after all.

Nominal Charge

An invitation to dinner had been sent to the new doctor. In reply the hostess received an absolutely illegible letter.

"I must know if he accepts or declines," she declared.

"If I were you," suggested her husband, "I should take it to the druggist. A pharmacist can always read doctors' letters, however badly written."

The pharmacist looked at the sheet of notepaper which she had handed him, and without waiting for her explanation went into his dispensary and returned a few minutes later with a bottle which he handed over the counter.

"There you are, madam," he said. "That will be 50 cents."

WORLD WAR I VETERANS TO GET INSURANCE DIVIDENDS
According to George A. Kolb, veterans service officer, World War I veterans will share in a $16 million insurance dividend this year.
The dividend will be paid on the anniversary date of the policies and will bring total insurance dividends paid to war I vets to $225 million.
H. W. Breining, VA insurance chief, said the forthcoming dividend will be paid on approximately 440,000 United States government life insurance policies. Some veterans hold more than one.
Breining said the dividends were paid because "we've had a favorable mortality experience"—a death rate lower than anticipated.
Dividends have been paid to war I vets holding USGLI policies each year since 1945, in addition to a special dividend in 1949.

CHILDREN AT WORSHIP

Children Learn Responsibility By Holding Own Church Services

The town of Milton, Mass., is the site of America's only children's church, run by and for children.

The doll-house-size "Children's Church" at Milton, Mass., is the first church in the country founded exclusively for children.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

SUSAN PETERS must be very tired of hearing that the way she has carried on since she was crippled in that hunting accident is wonderful; any actress could be proud of her career.

now has added a television serial, "Miss Susan", to her schedule. (on NBT-TV weekday afternoons).

Eddie Cantor is indulging again in his favorite occupation—raising money for a worthy cause.

Evelyn Varden, radio mother of "Young Dr. Malone", who was acclaimed for her performance as the southern aristocrat in "Pinky", is featured as the nurse in the production of "Romeo and Juliet" starring Olivia de Havilland.

"Behave Yourself" can hardly escape being a good picture. William Demarest and Lon Chaney have been added to the cast supporting Shelley Winters and Farley Granger, and the famous James Wong Howe is the cameraman.

GRASSROOTS

Our Posterity May Have To Repudiate Huge Debts

By Wright A. Patterson

THE PRESENT DECADE is destined to go down as the most profligate in our history. In Washington, the halls of congress and in the executive departments, there is talk only of economies, but it is all talk and no action.

The President talks an excellent line of economy. He tells congress to spend less on home projects, and then recommends new ways and places for appropriations.

For many years, through "pork" appropriations we have attempted what we have termed flood control without any perceptible approach to actual accomplishment, and we will have similar appropriations at the end of this session. The result will be increased, rather than less spending. But the people do not seem to be awakened to the fact that congress and the President are spending their money, that each new billion of appropriations calls for more taxes which the people must pay, more ways through which to collect.

We tax the people on the food they eat, in order that congress may provide higher prices for farm products, and so enter the farm vote without a thought of the retaliation that may come from the five urban votes to each one on the farms.

When that urban revolt comes, as it will, it will make a difference of a billion or more in government spending. One place where economy could be practiced, rather than only talked, is in the federal payrolls.

THE DIFFERENT LANGUAGE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

SHORTLY BEFORE noon on the day the Garrisons left Laredo for Mexico City, their motor went dead. Mrs. Garrison was greatly disturbed. "Of all places!" she said, "to have this happen. I declare, you should have had the car looked at in Laredo."

"I did," said Mr. Garrison. His voice was muffled because his head was beneath the hood. But Mrs. Garrison was paying no attention anyhow. She was gazing about the wild, rugged, treeless country in which they had stopped, as if expecting Pancho Villa and a horde of vicious looking henchmen to rise up from behind a rock.

"My father," she said in perfect English, "regrets that he does not speak your language."

The leader of the group doffed his hat and said something in Spanish that neither of the Garrisons understood. They regarded each other with fright.

Thus having set his wife's mind at rest, he preceded her into the car and sat behind the wheel. AN HOUR LATER they turned into a side road and presently the car stopped before a great rambling ranch house.

"Not bad for a kidnaper's hide-out," Mr. Garrison commented. "It will probably take every cent we have to pay the ransom. They think we're rich."

Some one knocked at their door and they both started. But it was the same wizened servant. He beckoned to them and they followed him out and along the corridor and into a dining room. The leader of the kidnappers was waiting for them.

The Garrisons were hungry and so they ate. By the time the meal was finished all hands felt pretty gay. Footsteps sounded on the porch, and a young girl entered. At sight of the Garrisons, she hesitated, but her host greeted her warmly, and beckoned her to him. There followed a jargon of speech between the man and girl. The girl's face suddenly lighted and she looked at the Garrisons.

"My father," she said in perfect English, "regrets that he does not speak your language. But he trusts you have been made comfortable and will stay with him a few days. He has many American friends and whenever the chance offers he likes to extend them the hospitality of his home. He tells me that your car has been repaired and is waiting."

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison looked at each other. Mrs. Garrison said: "Oh, my! Just imagine! Do let's stay, Henry!" And Henry said: "O.K." And for no accountable reason he grinned and felt tenderly of his ears.

THE WEEK In Religion

INSPIRATION Home Training

EXAMPLE is the best teacher. That is nowhere truer than in the home. The exemplification of love, courtesy and morality on the part of fathers and mothers will be found the best inspiration and pattern for America's families of the future.

The good home is characterized not only by respect for God but by the demonstration of courtesy and affection by the husband and wife, which always has an important influence on growing children.

Friendly smiles, pleasant words and happy comradeship are essential for a true family spirit. Discord, wrangling and selfishness are often as harmful to a child, morally and psychologically, as a drunken father or a careless, slovenly mother.

The above editorial and other material appearing in this column was prepared by Religious News Service.

UNUSUAL CHURCH... The new Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd in Clay County, Mo., is formed by a series of five arches of varying heights. Three of the arches are shown, the highest one topped by a cross and flanked with flat sections which provide space for nave and choir rooms. Two arches, not shown, descend to rear of structure.

Effort To Liberalize Divorce Laws Killed

ALBANY, N.Y.—A bill to set up a commission which would study the liberalizing of New York's divorce laws was unanimously dropped by the 20-member ways and means committee of the state assembly.

Religious groups strongly opposed the measure, as they have previous efforts to ease the present statutes, which recognize adultery as the only ground for divorce in the state. Introduced by Assemblywoman Janet Hill Gordon (R.) of Chenango county, the bill would have provided a 23-member board with $50,000 to study the feasibility of making the laws more lenient. The legislation was backed by the Bar of the City of New York, whose members contended that the current laws encourage perjury and connivance in the obtaining of divorces and annulments.

In 1949 the New York legislature also rejected efforts to establish a commission to study operation of the state divorce laws and to broaden the grounds for divorce. The committee vote on the current bill killed hopes of any action at this session, as backers of the measure were unable to find a senate sponsor for it.

Group Refuses To Pay 'War' Income Taxes

NEW YORK—Fifty-nine men and women, including four Protestant clergymen, in various parts of the country have refused to file federal income tax returns because they find it impossible to support the Korean or any other war.

This announcement was made here by the Tax Refusal Committee of Peacemakers, a national pacifist group, which released a statement by the 59 saying:

"We are particularly concerned at this time about the situation in Korea, where a civil struggle has been provoked and aggravated by two power-states to the point where it is already a major war — one which may be the spark that will set the world afire.

"We find it impossible to support policies and activities of this kind."

Atheist Begins Fight On Religion at School

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A self-styled "militant atheist" has begun a legal fight against the University of Minnesota here on the grounds that it is too friendly to organized religion. Frank C. Hughes, the atheist, and a 1903 alumnus of the university, says he will go to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary, to halt what he claims is "wholesale violation" of the Constitution.

Mr. Hughes has filed written complaint against the university with C. U. Landrum, United States District Attorney in St. Paul. A wealthy 62-year-old utilities engineer, Mr. Hughes is now studying law to pursue the case.

As precedent for his action, Mr. Hughes cited the U.S. Supreme Court decision in the McCollum case on what he defines as "separation of Church and State." He hopes to obtain a similar decision affecting higher education and establishing a stronger precedent.

Creep Feeding Calves Gains in Popularity Breeders Find it Pays In Time Saved, Money

Cattle breeders throughout the nation are paying more and more attention these days to their young calves to secure maximum return from their herds.

Gaining in popularity is creep feeding of calves which has been used by cattlemen from the Dakotas to Florida. Some producers contend that creep feeding will add 100 pounds to the weight of a calf by the time it is weaned.

Although all cattlemen are not agreed as to the kind and percentage of feed used in creeps, most of them use a mixture of oats and corn with added protein calf supplement. Creep feeding is usually started with oats and the corn is added gradually.

Some stockmen contend that creep feeding on pasture will save up to a month in getting beef calves on full feed after weaning.

Creep feeding, however, is only a part of the nation-wide trend of cattlemen of better feeding, better housing, and careful handling of calves.

Farmers Discover Average Flock Is Big Money Maker

The farm flock is coming into its own, sheep experts report.

Long known by the good shepherd to be a highly valuable piece of farm property, it is now being discovered by the experts to be the most profitable livestock on the farm, when judged on the solid basis of profit produced per $100 of feed.

The old values of the farm flock are there as always. The new values are in the relatively high prices of market lambs and wool, which prices spring from the supply and demand factors.

Sheep numbers in the United States are the lowest in 85 years. There were 52,000,000 head of stock sheep in 1940; there are 27,000,000 head now.

Also, the native flock of sheep is in better position than ever in competition with the western feeder lamb. For one thing, the cost of rail haul from the range to the midwest feed lot has sharply increased. For another, the demand from the west coast for lambs for slaughter has sharply increased with the rise of west coast human population.

And so it is that the flock of sheep on the home farm in the upper midwest is a more and more valuable property.

Keg Support

Many farmers who store small grain and feed in barrels have found the above keg support a time saver. The bracket is made of iron or steel rods bent to the shape shown. Besides supports, the brackets make good runners for moving barrels about.

154 Million Pounds Green Peas Frozen During 1950

Green peas are by far the most important single frozen vegetable, and the 1950 pack set a new high record of more than 154 million pounds, 10 per cent greater than the previous record in 1946, the U.S. department of agriculture reports. Cold storage holdings of frozen vegetables were at an all time peak at the end of October 1950 when 458 million pounds were in frozen storage.

Rotary Driers Convert Leafy Plants to Good Feed

Truck farmers and vegetable processors can convert leafy plants wastes to high-quality feedstuffs with rotary driers of the type commonly used for drying alfalfa, U.S. department of agriculture engineers report. Details of the operation and cost estimates are given in a new department bulletin AIC-286. It is obtainable at the Eastern Regional Research Laboratory, Philadelphia 18, Pa.

IN PROVIDENCE, R.I.... Harold Fitzpatrick, after a barroom celebration, explained how he happened to throw bricks through 16 panes of glass in a downtown business building: "I thought I was in Woonsocket."

Hidden Libe

Humpty Dumpty, in the famous nursery rhyme by that name, was represented by their parents to 13th century English children, as "an egg." The rhyme was intended as a jibe at King John who was compelled to sign the Magna Charta at Runnymede, June 15, 1215.
