100 Complete Auditions for County Amateur Show

Auditions of close to 100 aspiring contestants for the all county amateur show being sponsored by the West Bend Kiwanis club were completed in West Bend last week as the date for the show approached.

The Kiwanis committee which presided over the auditions reported extreme difficulty in selecting the acts which will appear on the show Saturday afternoon and evening, April 21. So varied was the talent displayed, and so exceptional were many of the acts, that the group was able to reach a conclusion as to which contestants would perform in the show only after lengthy deliberation.

The first show, a matinee intended principally for students, will be given at 2:30 p. m., April 21. The winning acts will not be selected at this performance, but an applause meter will be used and readings taken at the conclusion of each act. These readings will be considered along with the readings taken at the evening performance, at which time the winners will be announced.

The students' swing band from West Bend high school will provide musical entertainment prior to the beginning of the show, and the chorus from the West Bend-Barton chapter of SPEBSQSA will furnish intermission entertainment.

Tickets for each performance are now available at the high school for students, and from Kiwanis club members for the evening performance. Only 50¢ tickets will be sold for each performance.

Indians Lose Opener to West Bend, 6-1

The Kewaskum High school baseball team opened its 1951 season against strong competition Tuesday afternoon on the local field and lost to the West Bend Badgers of the Little Ten conference in a practice contest, 6-1. The game was scheduled for Monday at West Bend but was postponed because of wet grounds. It was played Tuesday in cold weather.

The Badgers used three pitchers, Don Gumm, Bill Wolf and Bob Theisen, and all of them did a stellar job, striking out 16 batters in the 7-inning tilt and allowing only one hit. The Indians lone safety was made by fielder Edgar Loomis. Theisen was the leading Badger clubber with a double and single in four trips as his team collected nine hits. Jerry Callen also pitched well for the losers and the team's fielding was satisfactory but they just couldn't hit.

West Bend tallied a run in each of the first two innings and the Indians made it 2-1 in the fourth, scoring their only run when Allen Kempf made it home as a result of two errors, a walk and hit batter. The Badgers led the victory with two runs in each of the sixth and seventh frames. Johnson of the winners smacked out a home run in the second inning.

Kewaskum opened its Tri-County conference season here Thursday afternoon against Campbellsport, last season's champions. The Indians tied for third last year. The team has eight returning lettermen on this season's squad which will play a 6-game league schedule and two games with West Bend.

Search for 1951 Alice in Dairyland in Full Swing

The search for the lucky Wisconsin girl who will become the 1951 Alice in Dairyland began Monday, April 16, and is now in full swing.

With several new features adding interest to the contest for 1951, committee members look for the largest number of entries since 1948 when the event was first used to draw attention to Wisconsin's fame as a dairy state.

The state has been divided into six districts and two girls from each of the districts will enter the final contest in July.

Kewaskum is in district number one which includes the following counties: Rock, Walworth, Racine, Kenosha, Jefferson, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Dodge, Washington and Ozaukee.

Any girl between 17-22, unmarried and a resident of the state is eligible to become a candidate. City residents as well as farm girls may enter and instead of a formal picture, just a snapshot will accompany the 1951 entry blank.

Entry blanks should be sent in before midnight on May 16, to your local newspaper, radio station or they may be sent directly to Alice in Dairyland headquarters, State Capitol, at Madison.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Truman Says He Knows 1952 Plans; Research Group Urges Higher Taxes

CONFIDENT HARRY—Harry S. Truman, appearing "fat and sassy," as the home town folks would put it, was back in Washington after his three-week vacation in Florida for a round of activities which included greeting President Vincent Auriol of France, and a speech before Latin-American foreign ministers, meeting in Washington to discuss topics concerning western hemisphere peace and security.

But it wasn't confident Harry's speech making and social whirl that made the biggest headlines in the nation's press. It was his statement that he knew whether or not he would seek re-election in 1952 that threw Main Street voters into a surge of speculation. Mr. Truman told them bluntly that he had made up his mind and he would tell "all in due time."

Confident Harry He'll tell all in due time.

The statement also caused considerable speculation among professional politicians throughout the country, with the majority believing he won't run again. Remembering that Truman is no amateur politician himself, average Main Street voters were about equally divided in their speculation.

One government official, however, backed his belief with a public statement. Michael J. Galvin, undersecretary of labor, said Truman will run and will be re-elected by 56 per cent of the popular vote.

CONSUMER SPENDING— If the Committee for Economic Development, a businessmen's private research group, had its way the people of the home towns of the nation would face a $10 billion tax increase next year.

The group recently proposed increasing federal taxes by that amount, including a federal sales tax. The program was frankly tailored to restraining consumer spending—by the sales tax and higher excise taxes, a surtax on individual incomes, tight restrictions on bank credits, and encouragement of private savings.

According to the C.E.D. the small town income group must pay because "it is these incomes that provide the largest part of consumption expenditures."

TWO YEARS OF DRIVE— Charles E. Wilson, top man of the administration's mobilization effort, in his first report said with two more years of drive and unity, the U. S. should be strong enough to give "reasonable safety against aggression" and a high-level civilian economy at the same time.

For the average American in the home towns of the nation, Wilson listed these necessary efforts: (1) Virtually every qualified young man, upon reaching a certain age, will have to serve in the armed forces; (2) everyone will have to pay more taxes; (3) people will have to wait for some of the things they want to buy—new housing and automobiles; (4) there will be dislocations in the economy and some production cut-backs and unemployment; (5) the technological and social progress of the nation will be slowed down.

Upon one point he was insistent: Inflation must be stopped and the economy controlled. In this category is farming on which the Main Street of America directly or indirectly depends. He said careful attention must be given to changing the farm-price provisions of the Defense Production Act "in such a way as to accomplish a greater degree of stability in food prices and at the same time treat farmers equitably in relation to the other elements of the economy."

As for present price controls, he said: "There is no doubt that, if price controls had not been put on, prices would have risen much further and faster since January than they actually have."

BRANNAN'S PLAN— The people of the great midwest farm belt where pondering the abrupt shake-up in the department of agriculture by Secretary Brannan. The speculation began when Brannan suddenly announced the replacement of Ralph S. Trigg and Frank K. Woolley in the powerful production and marketing administration.

The people of America's bread basket were wondering if the shake-up may mark the start of another campaign to sell the nation on the Brannan plan. The average midwest farmer has not been enthusiastic about the secretary's proposed program.

NEW SYSTEM— On April 30 grocery items comprising more than 60 per cent of the $32 billion spent annually for food in this country will go under rigid market controls at wholesale and retail levels.

Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, who announced the new controls, reported the immediate "impact of these regulations will be to reduce prices," but he warned the Main Street housewife not to expect big reductions.

Among the major foods, covered in the new regulation are butter, packaged cheese, baby foods, cocoa, breakfast cereals, coffee and tea, flour, flour mixes, canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, jams and jellies, lard, mayonnaise and salad dressings, shortenings, canned meats and canned fish.

Items not covered are fresh milk and cream, fresh meats, bread, fresh fruits and vegetables, sugar, ice cream, soft drinks and candy, along with many less important foods and "specialty" items.

JAPANESE TREATY— The 14 nations concerned with a peace treaty with Japan have received the American version worked out by Ambassador John Foster Dulles.

Generally regarded as a liberal document, the treaty appears in for considerable difficulties before being accepted by the 14 nations concerned. The Soviet Union has taken the position that it does not even want to discuss the matter.

Unexpected British opposition has already been encountered with Great Britain wanting a shipping limitation written into the treaty. The U.S. is opposed to any such clause.

As for the Soviet Union the U. S. has indicated it will negotiate a treaty whether the Russians participate or not.

CLAY RESIGNS— The resignation of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as special assistant to Charles E. Wilson, director of the office of defense mobilization, was viewed by many observers as another move on the government's part to bring organized labor back into the mobilization program.

The way is now open for Wilson to name a representative of labor to a post of equal importance with that of the general to act as liaison between the mobilization directors office and organized labor.

DISAPPOINTING FARM REPORT

1951 Crop Plantings Called Inadequate

A recent report by the agriculture department indicated that farmers were not planning to plant enough crops in 1951 to maintain present levels of food supplies. The report raised the question whether the country is not taking too much for granted about our food production and the possibility of future food shortages, particularly of meat.

On the whole farm prices are good enough to encourage larger crops. Government crop reporters who make the department survey came up with two explanations for reduced plantings: (1) A farm labor shortage and (2) a reluctance to plow up land which, at government urging, had been returned to grass.

The outlook carries the threat of rigid rationing by next year. According to the department's farm to farm survey a production of about 117½ million tons of feed for beef cattle, hogs, dairy cows and chickens is in prospect. Estimated needs are 142 million tons.

If feed plantings are not increased, the agriculture department believes that livestock, dairy and poultry farmers will be forced to reduce their operations perhaps 15 to 20 per cent within the next 18 months. That would mean a sharp reduction in supply of beef, pork, milk, butter, cheese, eggs and poultry at grocery stores.

THE WEEK

In Religion

INSPIRATION Word To Sinners

REMORSE and self-reproach are the inevitable aftermath of sin. The only ones not troubled by the memory of their wrong-doing are those whose consciences are dead. But remorse can be carried too far. Once the sinner has truly repented he should try to forget.

It is as unwise to dwell on the past as it is to worry about the future. We cannot undo what has been done. The future is to some extent beyond our control. Man's chief concern, therefore, is with the present, especially where God is concerned.

Those who tend to keep one eye on the past and the other on the future should keep foremost in their minds the reality of God's goodness.

The above editorial and other material appearing in this column were prepared by Religion News Service.

Anglican Dean Claims Communists Want Peace

WELLINGTON, New Zealand— Charges that the World Council for Peace is a Communist-dominated "wolf in sheep's clothing," were denied here by the Very Rev. Charles Walker Chandler, Anglican Dean of Hamilton.

Dean Chandler returned from a meeting of the Council held in East Berlin last month. Before sailing for the sessions he announced that upon his return he would give "a completely frank estimate of the Council's work."

"I am convinced," he said, "that the Council is a company of honest men of widely varied opinions, but united in one cause—for peace of the world. It is utterly untrue to say it is Stalin's outfit. Forty per cent of the members are Communists representing various degrees of Communism, but the rest are of all other shades of opinion."

"The whole 190 present at the East Berlin meeting," Dean Chandler added, "were obviously in search of peace."

"I think we in the West are under a misapprehension about the Russian bogey," he said. "I am completely convinced that we have less to fear from Russia and the East than we think. They are keen to have years of peace. There are features of both ideologies that are commendable, and it is quite possible for the two to exist in the one world."

Leader Calls Hunger Basic World Problem

CHICAGO—Today's basic world problem is hunger, delegates to the four-day conference of the Christian Rural Overseas Program here were told.

With representatives on hand from 17 states, the conference was addressed by John D. Metzler, representative of Church World Service on CROP's national board in Chicago.

Mr. Metzler warned the delegates that two out of every three human beings in the world are hungry. Americans, he said, belong generally to the third class of those who have enough to eat and live in abundance.

"I recognize in the world of today, so widespread beyond the borders of the United States, only one political philosophy, and that is pro-bread," he said. "People in want think of only one thing in life and that is to satisfy their hunger."

"Christ came into this world so that man might have life and have it more abundantly."

Protests Baby's Picture In Cigaret Advertising

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The Montgomery Baptist Ministers Conference said it would go before the Federal Trade Commission to protest the use of a baby's picture in cigarette advertising.

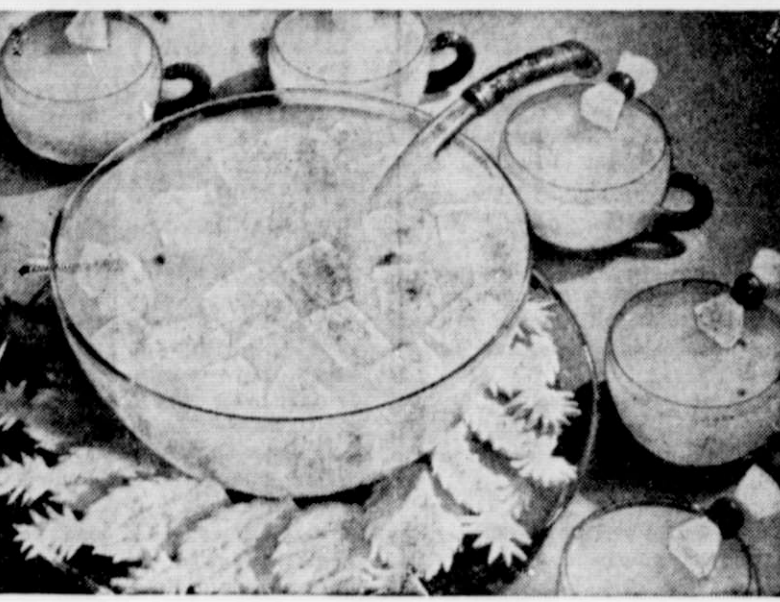

Blount E. Davidson, secretary, said the clergymen condemned the use of baby pictures in such advertising as "one of the most outrageous acts ever committed."

Phonograph Records Aid Sex Education

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.— Phonograph records which dramatize how parents can handle the sex education of their children are being used in local parent-educator study groups under the Roman Catholic Fraternity of Christian Doctrine.

The records, prepared by the Fraternities, are in keeping with the accepted Catholic principle that sex education of young people is an obligation of parents.

Pineapple Punch Pleases at Parties

(See Recipes Below)

Entertaining at Showers

HAVING A PARTY for a bride-to-be? Or, is there a baby shower on your calendar for a close friend? These occasions, which are really very simple affairs, often put a real test to the hostess: to the real test: she has to greet a number of people and make everyone at home; at the same time, she must serve foods nicely.

It isn't such a big order if you've planned your food well and prepared it all in advance. This frees you for that important job of hostessing, greeting at the door as well as mingling with your guests.

The food should be all ready to serve, except for bringing in on trays. The table can be set in advance, except for the food, since buffet style is a good casual way of doing this type of party. If you're serving a fruit punch, this can be all set, too, in a large bowl, chilling in ice.

SANDWICHES, cakes and cookies, all go well with the punch, and may be made in advance. Select a colorful punch with fruit flavors which will appeal to your guests:

"Spiced Pineapple Punch (Makes 2 quarts)"

1/2 cup sugar, 1 1/2 cups water, 4 sticks cinnamon, 12 whole cloves, 1 large (46-ounce) can pineapple juice, 1 1/2 cups orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice.

Simmer first four ingredients about 30 minutes. Strain and add to fruit juices. Chill. Pour over ice just before serving.

EXTRA interest can be added to the punch bowl, or to the glasses in which you place the punch if you do not have the bowl, by serving with pineapple cubes. Just fill the refrigerator ice cube tray with pineapple juice, or a combination of citrus juices with a maraschino cherry in each cube, and freeze until firm.

For a colorful punch cup garnish, spear two pineapple chunks on a toothpick with a maraschino cherry in-between. Cut a little slit in the cherry and fit it over the rim of the punch glass.

"Hawaiian Pastries" First make a cardboard pineapple pattern, then cut around it on rich pastry rolled about 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle the tops of the tiny pastries with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a very hot (450°) oven for about 10 minutes.

IF YOU LIKE to serve small cakes or cookies with the punch, here are two taste-tempting suggestions which are certain to agree with the taste of shower guests:

"Fudge Spritz (Makes 3 1/2 dozens)"

1 package semi-sweet chocolate, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup shortening, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons milk.

Melt chocolate over hot, not boiling, water; cool. Sift together flour and salt; set aside. Blend the shortening with the sugar. Add the egg, beat well. Add the milk alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Mix in the chocolate. Put through a cookie press onto an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (400°) oven for 8 to 10 minutes.

Chocolate Drop Cookies (Makes 3 dozens)"

1 package semi-sweet chocolate, 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup nutmeats, 1/4 cup salt, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Melt the semi-sweet chocolate over hot, not boiling, water. Add the milk and vanilla, and stir until thick. Add the nutmeats and salt. Blend well and drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

Buttercup Cupcakes (Makes 8 cakes)"

1/2 cup butter, 2 tablespoons grated orange peel, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups cake flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup orange juice.

Thoroughly cream butter, orange peel and sugar. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk and orange juice. Fill greased cupcake pans half full. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 15 minutes. When cool, frost with:

Orange Frosting" 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1-2 tablespoons grated orange peel, Yellow food coloring.

Blend together ingredients in order given. Add just enough yellow food coloring to give an attractive tint. Beat until mixture has a spreading consistency.

A feather-like cake with a delightful flavor and texture is this novel sponge cake that goes nicely with a party punch. It may be frosted with a boiled icing, cream cheese or butter frosting. Garnish with whole nutmeats.

Applesauce Sponge Cake (Makes 1 9-inch tube cake)"

3 eggs, 1/4 cup hot applesauce, 1 1/2 cups cake flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Beat eggs until light and thick. Add sugar gradually and beat until sugar is dissolved. Add applesauce and beat well. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted four times. Beat until smooth. Bake in an ungreased 9-inch tube pan in a slow (325°) oven for 55 minutes.

There are times when you need a first course, so split tiny creamy puffs and fill with lobster or crabmeat, shredded and mixed with mayonnaise.

Extend the chicken with oysters when you want to cream it. Serve on toast triangles or hot, flaky biscuits. If you like cornbread, try these in place of the biscuits.

With fruit salads, there's nothing better than this dressing: mix together 3 parts soured cream, 2 parts chili sauce and 1 part Worcestershire sauce. Chill thoroughly.

A sweet and tasty snack is buttered toast covered with hot applesauce, topped with crisp bacon. Grill for just a minute or so.

Tomatoes and eggplant are an appetizing combination, especially if you slice them and alternate layers in a buttered casserole. Pour over all some cheese sauce, and bake until tender. It's a good vegetable to serve with chicken, ham or turkey.

For breakfast or a substantial lunch, fry some canned corned beef hash in butter or drippings. Serve with a crown of scrambled eggs.

This One's in Bad Taste Mamie had been looking all night long—from bar to bar—for her wandering husband, Ogelthorpe. At two in the morning she finally found him, seated in front of a tall glass in a tavern. She sneaked up and sampled his drink.

"Brrr!" she spat, dropping it quickly. "That stuff is awful." Ogelthorpe eyed her sadly. "See that. And you thought I was out having a good time!"

Astonishing Progress Is Made in Devices to Aid Hard of Hearing

NEW YORK.—Most human beings—humanly enough—are loath to admit imperfection. And yet it is common knowledge that not one of us is perfect. The wearing of a hearing aid is an admission of a failing—in this case an aural one. It is also an indication that a sensible person has discarded a lot of false pride (not without pain) and gone a long way toward relieving a tough situation in a sensibly realistic way.

One of the big reasons why more people do not wear hearing aids is that they fear to be different. They don't want any fingers pointed in their direction—they don't relish being a "collector's item"—and they labor under the mistaken impression that their disability is comparatively rare. The latter is far from true. Statistics show that between 15 million and 20 million persons—young, old and middle-aged alike—suffer in this country today from some form of diminished hearing. Many of these people are being benefited by hearing instruments—but not as many as could be. Wartime advances in electronics have made possible astonishing improvements in this field. Hearing aids are getting smaller, they are more efficient and more attractive—but above all they are more unobtrusive.

THIRD ANNUAL SPORTS SHOW BEING HELD IN FOND DU LAC

Madison's top-rated clown tumbler, an all-star Milwaukee bait-casting team and the state of Wisconsin's wild life exhibit share interest at the third annual Fond du Lac sports show Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 20-21-22.

The acrobats, who have entertained television and Badger basketball crowds, are featured on an hour-long program of entertainment at each performance at the county garage building on Dixie street. In addition there is an exhibition of prized show dogs, a table tennis tournament, introduction of top sports personalities, a comedy singing act, casting exhibits and musical entertainment.

More than 50 wild animals, all natives of the state's woods and forests, are shown in a natural pine setting. There are 40 exhibits of hunting and fishing equipment, outdoor motors, clothing and novelties for the sportsman.

Of interest to the conservationist are out-of-doors movies in color. The animals and comedy acts will attract children to the Saturday and Sunday performances.

600,000 DISABLED VETS GIVEN CHANCE TO MAKE OWN WAY IN LIFE THROUGH PUBLIC LAW 16

Nearly 600,000 disabled World War II veterans—among them many who lost their sight or limbs in combat—are being given a chance to make their own way in life through a law that is eight years old, according to George Kolb, county service officer.

The law, signed by the President on March 24, 1943, during the height of the war, is Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation act. Through it, disabled veterans are enabled to train at government expense for jobs they can hold despite their handicaps.

Of all the veterans who have trained under Public Law 16 during the past eight years, nearly half, or 250,000, already have been rehabilitated to the point where they are now able to earn livings as trained workers.

The peak of the program was reached late in 1948, when 230,000 veterans were in training in schools, on the job and on the farm. Today, the number in training is about 100,000—less than half of the all-time high.

Of the veterans now in training, about 25 per cent are enrolled in colleges and universities; 15 per cent are taking classroom courses in other types of schools; 35 per cent are training on-the-job, and 25 per cent are enrolled in institutional on-farm programs that combine school sessions with actual experiences on the farm.

Types of jobs for which disabled veterans are training range from the highly skilled professions to assembly jobs in factories.

One veteran in Louisiana is successfully training to be an architect despite the loss of both hands in service. A pair of expertly-used hooks are helping him achieve his goal.

In Texas, a veteran who lost both legs, his sight and most of his hearing in combat, is rapidly becoming a skilled cabinetmaker. His training is being achieved by a delicate sense of touch and the patient voice of an instructor that he is barely able to hear.

And in California, a veteran paralyzed from the waist down is training under Public Law 16 to be a writer. Already he is at the stage where he writes sports stories for a local newspaper and edits a magazine for a local veterans' service organization.

So far, Public Law 16 has cost the government $1.3 billion. Veteran-trainees themselves received 30 per cent of the amount in the form of subsistence allowance payments. The remainder represented tuition, supplies and other costs in connection with training.

Public Law 16 still has more than five years to go, expiring for World War II veterans on July 25, 1956.

Late in 1950, the benefits of the law were extended to many veterans disabled since fighting started in Korea. The deadline for them is nine years from the end of the current emergency—a date yet to be set.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

How a Small Town Called Wagon Mound Came to Build Itself a Health Center

Wagon Mound, New Mexico, population about one thousand, took a hard blow when Dr. James Steele, its only doctor, died in 1947.

But the community rolled with the punch, came back fighting, and as a result not only has learned the effectiveness of planning, action and cooperation on the local level but is well on its way today to a greater degree of security and well-being than ever before.

It was an awesome thing for this small town suddenly to be deprived of its sole source of medical services. A trade center serving an area of 800 square miles, much of it isolated, Wagon Mound knew that it had no resources to fall back on other than its own after Dr. Steele died.

Something, obviously, had to be done, and done quickly.

The community neither was nor is possessed of any great wealth which might have been put to use in the emergency. Business-wise it consisted of a few large ranches, a few miles of railroad, a few small sawmills, two planing mills and a few stores on its Main Street. The bulk of Wagon Mound's population procured its income from small ranches and labor in the local industries. In 1947 the average annual salary probably wasn't much more than $1,000.

There was perhaps this one advantage: Both the problem and the community's capacity to meet it were clear and easily defined. It was apparent, too, that any practicable solution would have to be based on the financial status of the people of Wagon Mound and would require the utmost in cooperation from everyone in town.

Charles Wood, superintendent of the Wagon Mound public schools, writing in the Journal of the National Education Association, tells how the Kiwanis Club provided the initial spark for action that eventually led to the establishment of a local health center.

This health center, the club members agreed, should be staffed by a full-time nurse, doctors and a dentist. It should not only provide health and medical services, but also disseminate health education for the entire community and surrounding area.

With the course set, the next step was to sell the community on the idea, which wasn't too hard. Churches, lodges, women's clubs, veterans' organizations, the farm bureau joined in with vigor and appointed committees to help in the project.

The fund raising committee started by asking for cash donations. Then it solicited—and received—other kinds of material contributions: cattle, sheep, horses, chickens, beans, old clothes and other items. A community carnival held in the high school gymnasium brought in several hundred dollars. Receipts from a public auction went into the fund. More than 200 persons bought life memberships and were granted a vote each in the non-profit corporation formed later.

There was a suitable building in town but it was jointly occupied at the time by a woman's club and the public library. Diplomacy was applied and the club happily surrendered its part of the building. A new and equally desirable location was found for the library.

The building was remodeled to contain a nurse's office and clinic room, examination rooms, a dental room, waiting room, lavatories, and a furnished apartment for the nurse.

A nurse is on the job in Wagon Mound now, functioning as a combination public health nurse and school nurse. The town doesn't have a resident doctor or dentist for its health center yet, although a doctor does spend several hours a week there.

Wagon Mound is under no illusions that the task has been completed. All of the goals set in 1947 have not yet been reached. There is a good deal still to be done; but gratified and heartened by the fine results achieved so far, the people of the community are continuing to work on their problem. They're even thinking now about building a home for a doctor, if one should decide to sink his roots there.

And so Wagon Mound has its health center. It has a deeper sense of its own security against sickness and ill-health. It has the proud knowledge of its ability as a community to act and to achieve.

THIRSTY LAND California Canal Project Moves Water 500 Miles to Dry Farms

(This is the first of two articles on California's world-famous Central Valley project.)

A major milestone in civilized man's elemental urge to control and utilize the fresh waters of the earth will be observed in California from August 1 to 10 with the first full, integrated operation of the initial features of the vast Central Valley project.

This great federal reclamation project, first envisioned when the state still was largely wilderness, stores precious water at the northern tip of the state's central valley.

Water for farms, homes and industry is provided by the Contra Costa canal of the Central Valley project, which meanders through a 48-mile course of pleasant valleys and rolling hills along the south shore of Suisun Bay.

Mercedes McCambridge, whose leap from radio to the movies brought her an Academy Award in her first picture, "All the King's Men," eloped with Fletcher Markle while she was making "Lightning Strikes Twice" at Warners. That started a sentimental Mercedes McCambridge landslide. One of the other two stars, Ruth Roman, met Mortimer Hall soon afterward, and recently married him. The third, Richard Todd, brought his bride to Hollywood for a honeymoon while he appeared in the picture. Now the studio suggests that possibly the picture will have the same effect on audiences that it had on the players, but can't figure how to get statistics.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will make a rare radio appearance on April 20 on NBC (10:45, E.S.T.) when Henry Cassidy, the network's director of news and special events, interviews them on the "Pro and Con" program.

Berry Kroeger, of "Young Dr. Malone" and "The Road of Life," was enroute to Hollywood last spring, to appear in "The Count of Monte Cristo," when he was jailed as a wanted citizen in Zanesville, Ohio. A citizen recognized his face, but assumed that he had seen it in one of those "Wanted" notices in the Post Office—whereas he had really seen Berry on television.

Phil Baker, now back on NBC's "The $64 Question," says there is no way to rest but by working. He found that out last year. After three decades in show business he decided to take a year-long vacation and do what he had always wanted to—see the country from Walla Walla to Key West. He turned down lucrative offers in order to do it.

GRASSROOTS Government May Be Legally Right, Morally Wrong By Wright A. Patterson WHAT MAY BE MORALLY wrong may not necessarily be legally wrong. There was nothing illegal in a United States Senator's using his influence to secure a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan for a client of his attorney son, for which the son received a fee of $21,000, but the senator's action was definitely morally wrong.

$23,000 in One Dollar Bills Hoarded by Storekeeper KALAMAZOO, Mich.—The attorney checking the estate of the late Mrs. Vera Stima, Kalamazoo storekeeper, came across an old chest.

Water for farms, homes and industry is provided by the Contra Costa canal of the Central Valley project, which meanders through a 48-mile course of pleasant valleys and rolling hills along the south shore of Suisun Bay.

ONE OF THE FIRST men to advocate a concrete suggestion for the solution of the area's water problem was Col. Robert B. Marshall, chief geographer for the U.S. geological survey. In 1891, when he first toured the inland basin, Colonel Marshall envisioned a great system of dams, canals and other works.

Individual units of the project have been in partial operation since 1940, but to date the project's initial features have not been operated as an integrated system.

pline the boss. The R.F.C. and the sale of federal jobs in Mississippi are both sorry messes that call for a thorough house cleaning.

Secretary of State Acheson refused to turn his back on Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury and President Truman condoned Acheson's statement, as he has condoned the action of White House employees in the R.F.C. scandals, on the grounds they have committed no legal crime. Evidently immoralities have no place in his conception of wrong doing, and such a conception has no place in connection with the presidential job. Like the scandals of the Harding administration, it is a sorry mess.

Joe, Harry and Tom were all subject to the draft, and all three were asking for deferment for different reasons, which each thought was entirely legitimate. Congress has made no definite rule that will apply to those seeking deferment, but instead of doing so, it has passed that arduous duty to the President, thus again abdicating a job that is strictly up to the congress. Congress has abdicated in so many instances that now the President has more authority than has any President in history.

That is not unusual confidence on the part of congress in the present administrative branch of the government, but rather a desire to pass along to the President those subjects that call for careful consideration, or those that might af-

A CASE FOR THE KIDS

SAM BROMLEY replaced the telephone in its cradle with a slam and reached for his broad-brimmed felt.

"I'm going out on this case myself," he told the office girl. "That's the third call in an hour about these explosions and the deputies don't seem to be doing a thing. The pavement just blew up over a culvert and broke five windows in the Wright Hatcher near Sunville."

He had an uneasy feeling about these blasts and a very personal reason for investigating them himself. People in little towns all over the county had been calling for the last twenty-four hours. And his son, Tommy, was missing.

"I thought the Rooshians had bombed us," old Ben Grubbs in Claremont had said. "Busted the sidewalk over the crick like eggshells."

Sam drove to all the spots reported and inspected the damage. Sidewalks heaved up, windows shattered, but not a clue. At the Sunville Hatcher he met his deputies.

As of March 1, the Gallup poll shows only 26 per cent of the people are for President Truman. That is the same poll that predicted his defeat only three years ago, because of which prediction many ardent Republicans lost election bets. It was wrong then, and it might be now.

What do Republicans stand for in the matter of domestic and foreign policies? If the party leaders know, they do not take the public into their confidence in any definite detail, other than opposition to a continuance of the Truman regime. They do not even generally support the American free enterprise system or entirely oppose the Truman welfare state.

Farm Topics

Mulching Cuts Garden Labor by 75 Per Cent

Ideal Way to Conserve Moisture in Dry Soils In these hurried times farmers and gardeners are forever looking for quicker and easier methods of cultivation.

A mulch of straw is a good investment for home gardeners in parts of the country where summers are hot and dry. Mulch keeps the soil cool, helps it hold moisture and discourages weed growth.

And weeds that do push through the mulch come out with roots intact with an easy pull. Crab grass, that scourge of many gardeners, doesn't have a chance.

There are numerous materials that make a good mulch, including straw, pine needles and even sawdust, if very coarse.

Mulch is usually applied four or five inches in depth.

2,161 Million Bushels Of Corn in Farm Storage

The U.S. department of agriculture in a general crop report in January reported stocks of nearly 2,161 million bushels of corn remained on farms at the beginning of the year, and these were bolstered by relatively large stocks of other feed grains.

While these farm supplies of feed grains were larger than in all but three years on record, they were considerably smaller than on January 1 of the past two years, in total and particularly per animal unit to be fed, the report stated.

Hay stocks appeared ample in most areas. Farm stocks of wheat, however, were smaller than average but slightly larger than a year ago. Soybean stocks were much larger than on any other January 1, because of the record crop.

As for the wheat prospect, a relatively large acreage of winter wheat, a sixth more than average, was sown in the fall of 1950 under conditions mostly favorable to ideal for germination and early growth, the report said.

Canvas Storage

To keep that good tarpaulin from being damaged by rats and mice, suspend it from a barn rafter by using a barrel hoop as a holder. A metal hoop should be used. In case of a long tarpaulin, use two or more hoops several feet apart.

Lack of Soil Moisture Tops Production Problem

The department of agriculture listed a number of general farm situations that might affect production during 1951. Included were shortages of soil moisture in important southwestern wheat areas, prospects of less irrigation water from snows, freeze damage to fall-sown grain crops in the south, loss of farm labor to the armed services and shortages of repair parts for machinery.

Additions to Herd Should Be Isolated, Vets Warn

The American Veterinary Medical Association in a recent bulletin warned cattlemen who plan to add to their herds this spring to keep new cattle isolated from the home herd as a precaution against spreading disease. The association recommended an initial isolation period which may enable the producer to detect shipping fever or other dangerous disease in new animals.

Ordinary Bifocal Lenses

NO DIVIDING LINE
 Blended Bifocals
 Vision At All Distances

BLENDED BIFOCALS differ from ordinary bifocals in that the lens power increases gradually as the eye approaches the reading area of the lens. The bifocal dividing line, which most bifocal wearers dislike, has been eliminated.

Wearers of BLENDED BIFOCALS tend to obtain the type of vision they had before they became presbyopic, that is, they obtain a greater reading range than they obtain with ordinary bifocals.

Wearers of BLENDED BIFOCALS are in much less danger of having an accident, which the dividing line of ordinary bifocals so often causes.

These advantages can be fully demonstrated in a brief three minute demonstration.

1. A continuous unbroken focus from far to near.
2. No jump, jerk, shock or confusion to the eyes as the eyes move from one portion of the lens to another.
3. No confusion when walking, driving or climbing stairs.

BLENDED BIFOCALS are the easiest of all bifocals to become accustomed to and are the most comfortable to wear.
