Statesman to Publish New Crop of Children's Pictures; Prize Given

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world, our nation, and community will rest upon the shoulders of the children of today. Since this is true, the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "world builders."

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures—they must all be of uniform size and quality—we have again invited the Wolz studios of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known children's photographers, to take these special pictures for us.

The Statesman has dealt with Wolz Studios on several previous occasions and has found them to be completely trustworthy and reliable.

An expert child photographer from the studio will be here Tuesday, June 19. The special studio will be set up at the Modern Woodman hall and will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. There is no age limit. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Those who want additional prints may obtain them by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them!

To add to the interest and fun one $10 hand painted portrait in a gold frame will be given by the studio to the child selected as "cutest" from the community.

The Statesman simply wants pictures of all the youngsters. The success of this feature depends upon your co-operation. You will be mighty glad, afterwards, if you did, and very sorry if you failed to allow your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have much fun, and both Mother and Dad—and Grandpa and Grandma too—will be very proud to see their pictures in print later. So be sure to bring your children to the Modern Woodman hall on Tuesday, June 19, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 6 p. m.

THE PRESIDENT'S NEW PIANO

THE piano industry gave a piano to President Truman the other day, making him the first President in history with a spare. Harry smiled and seemed happy, but we can't think of anything that he really needed less in the present harassing moment. If the idea was that it would soothe the President and settle his nerves it came a little late and should obviously have arrived before the MacArthur recall. Still it must be some satisfaction for him to know that he has the piano makers of America behind him in the present situation. Probably helps him sleep.

Perhaps, after all, the gift of a piano to President Truman may not be a minor matter, a mere expression of good will. It could be of profound importance to the fate of the world. History may show that it played a part in saving America in a critical hour. Harry has been under a great strain and is clearly taut, hair-triggered and impulsive in a day that calls for poise and coolness. This new and super piano may give him greatly needed relaxation. Music hath charms to soothe the savage pen, as the saying goes.

Let's take an average day with Harry and see how a few appropriate tunes on the piano could help: 7 a.m.—He wakes up, calls for the morning paper and reads a stinging editorial by an opposition newspaper. He goes to the piano and plays "You're Driving Me Crazy," "You Gotta Stop Kickin' My Dawg Around," "Stormy Weather" and "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had."

7:30—Observes newspaper criticisms of failure to drop Ambassador O'Dwyer, and renders "Just Plain Bill." 7:45—Studies testimony of Generals Marshall, Bradley and others before senate probes: "Doin' What Comes Natchurally," "I'll Be True To You In My Fashion," "Ask Me No Questions," and the "Douglass Boogie."

8:30—Gets news that General MacArthur is to go on a speaking tour: "Blow the Man Down," "I'll See You In My Dreams," "Stop! Stop! You're Breakin' My Heart," "The Trouble With Me Is You," and "Don't Blame Me." 9 a.m.—Hears that Mike DiSalle has issued another order causing wide criticism: "He's Too Fat For Me."

9:30—Looks at schedule and sees another review of the general tax situation is necessary: "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," "I Can't Do That Sum," "Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl," and "Moanin' Low." 10 a.m.—Hears Republicans are planning another blast at Acheson: "Button Up Your Overcoat, You Belong To Me," "People Will Say We're in Love."

10:30—Reads prediction by GOP leaders that he can't possibly win another term: "I'll Get By," "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," "I Want What I Want When I Want It," and "Across The Wide Missouri." 11 a.m.—Press Conference: "I Need Sympathy," "Don't Fence Me In," "Ain't Misbehavin'." Noon—Has talk with United Nations delegates: "Dancing Queen to Cheek," "I Don't Want To Set The World on Fire," "Brother Can You Spare A Dime?"

2 p.m.—Gets early afternoon paper and reads speeches by Stassen and Taft on needs of the day: "I Can Do Anything Better Than You Can," "Thinks over next election: "There's Yes, Yes in Your Eyes." 2:30—Dean Acheson calls in a mood of depression over continuing attacks: "Button Up Your Overcoat," "Because You're You," "Among My Souvenirs," and "Am I Wastin' My Time On You?" 3:30—Ghost writers arrive to discuss a speech: "Me and My Shadow."

3:45—Reads another Gromyko attack: "Who's Afraid of The Big Bad Wolf?" 4 p.m.—Hears chairman of GOP has predicted Republican landslide in 1952: "The Gentleman is a Dope," and "It Ain't Necessarily So." 4:15—Secretary advises a nap: "Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day." 4:30—Takes a nap. Somebody sneaks in from the MacArthur camp and plays "I Love a Parade," and "Old Soldiers Never Die," waking him up violently and spilling day.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS "Let's walk; it's only a couple of miles." "His salary is enough to live comfortably on without worrying." "May I come over and give you a demonstration of the new auto?" "Here's a nickel; get yourself an ice-cream soda." The British government has abandoned the idea of a state-operated chicken project into which it has poured plenty. One egg laid. B.T.K. writes in to suggest that possibly the gift of a piano to Mr. Truman was due to a misinterpretation of his recent views that in the present crisis we must all "keep hammering away."

The Way it Happened... IN SEATTLE... Angered by a trolley motorman who forgot to call out her stop, a woman passenger 1) beat him with her umbrella, 2) followed him to a telephone and yanked it off the wall when he tried to summon help, 3) pelted him with canned goods from her shopping bag, 4) smashed the window of another trolley when its motorman refused to let her board it. IN BARBADOS... A housing conference failed to discuss the problem of a million and a half homeless West Indians was indefinitely postponed, due to lack of housing accommodations for the delegates.

Sift together 4 1/2 cups sifted Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup granulated sugar and mix until well blended. Place in warm place (85° to 90° F.) until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Roll out on floured board to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into strips 2 inches wide. Brush with melted butter. Stack five strips together and cut into 1-inch pieces. Place each stack on a greased muffin cup, cut-side down. Brush with melted butter. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 10 minutes. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 minutes. If you use Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour, omit salt. If desired, dough may be refrigerated up to two days. If compressed yeast is used, dissolve in lukewarm water.

Small Business Casualty of Defense; Meat Price Rules Confuse Consumer

THE FOUNDATION THREATENED—According to several national economic surveys made public in the last week or so, small business is becoming a casualty of defense. This is a serious and frightening fact for thousands of small towns, because about 3,670,000 small businesses form the foundation of the American economic pyramid, many of them located in the home towns of the nation.

In the first two years of World War II, 16 per cent of the small businesses of the country were forced to close down. There are reports that many observers believe the fatality rate in the present defense mobilization program may be even higher than in those years.

A Washington report revealed that congressional small business committees are receiving an average of 500 letters a day appealing for information and help from small businessmen.

Several reasons are given for the present difficulties. The most important are shortages of materials—allocation of steel, aluminum, etc., from civilian consumption to defense projects; the inability of small business to qualify for defense contracts; and the expansion of big business to avoid subcontracting, formerly a profitable source for small business.

UP A TREE—Mild mannered, popular Gen. Omar Bradley, remembered by thousands of World War II veterans in the home towns of America as the "GI's general," put the combined senate armed services and foreign relations committees up a tree during his testimony on the removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Pacific commands.

To begin with, General Bradley caused a stir among the Republican members of the committees by upholding the administration's actions with the sweeping statement that General MacArthur's Korean plans "would involve us in the wrong war, at the wrong place, at the wrong time, with the wrong enemy."

But when he flatly refused to tell the senators about his private talks with the President on the recall of MacArthur, he chased the committees up a tree.

For a day committee members argued among themselves whether they should take some kind of contempt action against the general. They voted 18 to 6, however, against such action expressing the view that it might set a dangerous precedent.

To the home town veteran, however, it seemed more likely the senators remembered Gen. Bradley's popularity with the men that make up a big part of today's Main Street population.

NEW DRAFT LAW—Senate and house conferees, attempting to reach a compromise on the two bills previously passed by the groups, finally reached a settlement calling for extension of the draft until July 1, 1955, with men of 18½ eligible for induction for 24 months of service.

The old draft bill expires July 1. The new one will require all men to register on becoming 18. They would be examined and classified before they were 18½ and would be eligible for induction thereafter, providing the pool of men from 19 to 26 in their individual draft districts had been exhausted by the local boards.

The bill will put a five million person ceiling on the combined army, navy, air forces and marines. It also requires that all draftees, volunteers, and reserves have at least four months' basic training before being assigned outside the United States.

UP TO OLD TRICKS—After rejecting American plans for a peace treaty with Japan, the Russians reverted to their old tricks in proposing their version of a treaty. The Soviet plan, which was rejected by the United States, would bar foreign forces from Japan after the occupation ends and thereby block an arrangement for American troops to help provide Japanese security.

It was the same type of thing the Russians so successfully carried out in Korea and which led to the present situation in Asia. No one can believe the Russians thought the United States would accept their plan, but one has to give them credit for having the nerve to suggest it.

There is little possibility now of Russia joining in the American peace treaty which is nearing conclusion.

BEWILDERED HOUSEWIVES—Home town housewives entered their Main Street stores and meat markets on Monday, May 14, without their usual dread of visiting a meat counter. The government had just ordered a cut in meat prices.

After one quick look she became a startled and confused housewife. For the next 10 days she became more bewildered. Meat prices were not down according to her figures—but up!

What the home town housewife saw was porterhouse steak up 7 cents a pound and sirloin up 9 cents. Round steak was down 2 cents—not enough to mention, and short ribs of beef down 8 cents—as she had expected of other cuts.

According to the government, however, the up and down price juggling of beef actually produced an over-all savings to the housewife of one-half of 1 per cent.

This she couldn't understand. One-half of 1 per cent didn't do a thing for her meat budget.

FAIR TRADE RULING—By a vote of 6-to-3, the supreme court ruled that merchants who did not sign fair-trade agreements are free to charge cut-rate prices if they wish.

Under the laws of 45 states, distributors of trade-mark or brand goods may enter into agreements with retail dealers to sell their products at filed minimum prices. Under the new court ruling, however, the home town merchant who did not sign such a contract or agreement can sell the product at whatever price he desires.

The only states not having fair-trade laws are Vermont, Texas and Missouri.

The ruling will have little effect on most classes of merchandise as long as business is good, most Main Street businessmen believe. This would not hold true, however, if business went into a slump.

LAND BOOM OF 1950

Farm Mortgage Debt Up 8 Per Cent

The agriculture department reported recently the land boom of 1950 boosted the farm real-estate debt 8 per cent, totaling $5,800,000,000 at the end of the year. Likewise, the rising demand and increased prices for farm commodities led farmers to add to their non-real-estate debt. They borrowed heavily to buy additional equipment and machinery.

Global Embargo Voted On Shipments to Reds

What could be called the laugh of the month occurred in the United Nations general assembly when the Russian bloc called the embargo on shipments to China "shameful." It was obvious that the Russians will ignore the embargo. In fact, there have been reports of a campaign behind the iron curtain to get Russia's allies to pool their resources and thus step up shipments to Red China.

The department said the real-estate-mortgage debt, however, was only 54 per cent of the record reached in 1923. Twelve states have a higher mortgage debt than in the peak year of 1923. These are New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Last year the farm-real-estate market was marked by an increased demand for land, both by farmers wishing to expand operations in light of the higher commodity prices and by investors hedging against inflation. The department estimated that about 60 percent of these farms were credit-financed. Heavy repayment of existing mortgage debt kept the total from increasing more than it did. Farmers' non-real-estate debts were estimated at $6,000,000,000, up nearly $800,000,000 from a year earlier. The trend is expected to continue for some time.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Fun For Awhile

"I AM in a very serious dilemma," writes Ethel Wiley, from Roanoke. "Time, which you so often say heals all wounds, may solve this for me, but meanwhile I would be glad of your opinion."

"Would you ever advise a woman to divorce her husband for no particular reason, and marry another man? I don't think you would. But let me explain the rather unusual circumstances. My social and club circle is large, but I can't consult anyone here."

"I am 29. Ten years ago I married a man 12 years my senior. I liked him, I loved my new name and my house, and we really had some good times. Then my two children were born, and things quieted down. Hart had a small salary; my father died and that source of hospitality ended, and I began to feel that life was a pretty steady drudge. Hart began to travel a good deal three years ago, and then my days were duller than ever, even though there was more money."

World Upside Down

"Then I met Roger. Just a quiet fine man at a card party, at first. Then—fireworks. Neither one of us had ever really been in love before and it turned the whole world upside down. During Hart's absences, when my mother was with the children, I was free to come and go, and in the first radiant happiness of our finding each other we were both deeply, truly heart-satisfied. Roger and his wife had meant nothing to each other for years! his only daughter was away at school. No one was hurt, and everyone at home happier for the change in me, for I seemed suddenly alive after so many years of slipping deeper and deeper into a rut.

"... affair with Roger ..."

"But six weeks ago Roger's wife died. It was only two days after her funeral that in a talk with him I realized that he expects me to divorce Hart and marry him. He takes the situation for granted and wants to talk to Hart about it."

"Now the absolute truth is that I never stopped loving my husband, and I adore my children. My affair with Roger may have been foolish, but I cannot see that it was wrong. Nobody was hurt by it, for no hint of it ever reached Hart, his mother, my mother, or the children. It would be simply impossible, no matter how much I wanted to do so, to tear my life apart now, and go with Roger to another town, for he has just changed his job. Hart and I have been doing over my father's old home, arranging rooms for the children and changing things about, and all our friends are looking forward to a housewarming there. It would completely disrupt five lives, not counting my own, to have me agree to Roger's proposals."

He Is Insistent

"At the same time, he is insistent, he takes it all as settled, he feels, as he says, that it will 'justify' our love affair. I am worried, almost distracted, by it. In fact, I can't eat or sleep for nervousness. Roger wants my immediate consent, and talks as if our love were still in the stage it was two years ago. I don't mean it isn't, exactly, but these things do grow less, and one does not see them in the beginning as one does later on. I have argued that my love for my children, my home responsibilities, and my position in the community are all against my making any such change, but Roger regards all this as only one more evidence of my selfishness and perfection, and sweeps it away as nonsense."

"I am quite confident that there will be no real trouble about this," Ethel's letter concludes, "but I would be glad of your opinion."

If Ethel is really confident that there is no real trouble here I can only marvel at her obtuseness. If ever there was real trouble in store for a woman who quite obviously wants to hold on to home and husband and children, this is it. Between the lines I can read a certain uneasiness; Ethel may begin dimly to suspect that home, husband, children, position, and very likely material comfort have all been jeopardized by her sin.

Sin. Yes, that's what it was, the sin of adultery. Ethel will probably read that word with incredulous horror. In our San Francisco jails today there is a woman who is reading the word "murder" in connection with herself, with the same horrified disbelief. "My children—" she stammers. "And Joe—why, I never hated Joe. It can't be that I did it. It's a bad dream."

Ethel may find herself in a divorce court one of these days, stammering the same words. She didn't mean to hurt anybody.

Pearl Strike!

Pearls are found in oysters each season. But it was unusual to find 25 pearls in one oyster shell as happened to George Davies of Muskegon, Mich. Two were the size of a pea with the others much smaller.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Berries are Ripe Now for Jellies (See Recipes Below)

Jam 'N Jelly Time

THIS IS THE TIME when fruit trees are plump with their produce, and bushes are colorful with berries. If you plan to have some delightful jam and jelly spreads on the table for fall and winter, it's time to get busy!

Breads, sandwiches and rolls which are daily fare take on new interest when they're served with different spreads. Many of them can be used to enhance meat, fruits and desserts, too! Have a variety on hand, and meals will always sparkle with interest.

Take a choice of one or two of six berries and combine with rhubarb to make a delightful and colorful jelly as your starting project. It might even be wise to use one which you've not tried before if you want a flavor surprise:

Berry-Rhubarb Jelly (Makes 7 6-ounce glasses)

Use one of following combinations:

- Blackberry-Rhubarb
- Boysenberry-Rhubarb
- Dewberry-Rhubarb
- Loganberry-Rhubarb
- Raspberry-Rhubarb
- Youngberry-Rhubarb

- 3 cups juice
- 4 cups sugar
- 1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about one quart of fully ripe berries. Cut in 1-inch pieces (do not peel) about one pound rhubarb and put through food chopper. Place fruits in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar into a dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure juice into 3 or 4 quart saucepan and place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. Pour in sugar at once, stirring constantly. Continue stirring, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard for 30 seconds. Remove from fire, skim and pour quickly into sterilized glasses. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

Currant-Gooseberry Jam (Makes 12 6-ounce glasses)

- 5 cups prepared fruit
- 7 cups sugar
- 1 box powdered fruit pectin

Stem about one quart of currants and crush thoroughly. Grind one quart fully ripe gooseberries. Combine fruits and measure 5 cups into a very large saucepan. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Stir in sugar at once.

Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for one minute. Remove from heat, skim and ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Cherry Jam

- 1 quart cherries
- 4 cups sugar
- ½ cup lemon juice

Wash, drain and pit cherries; then measure. Place in layers in a large kettle with the sugar. Let stand 4 hours. Cook, bringing to a full rolling boil and boil for 20 minutes. Add

LYNN SAYS: Serve Pancakes For Easy Meals

Ham pancakes make a delightful supper when served with raisin sauce. Fold 1 cup chopped, leftover ham into your pancake batter just before baking. Serve warm.

Plan to roll-up pancakes when you're serving them with a cottage cheese mixture made by heating 2 cups of cottage cheese in the top part of the double boiler with ¼ cup each of green pepper and celery, chopped.

If you have corn on the cob left over from the evening before, cut it off the cob and fold 1 cup into your pancake batter, preferably the buckwheat type. Serve hot with sausage gravy.

One cup of chopped leftover chicken is a good addition to pancake batter. Serve with leftover chicken gravy, heated bubbling hot and warm cranberry sauce.

Flaked tuna fish or salmon may be folded into pancake batter before baking. Mushroom sauce is the ideal accompaniment to either of these pancakes.

lemon juice and bring to a boil again; boil 5 minutes longer. Let stand until cool. Turn into hot sterile glasses or jars and cover with paraffin and lid.

*Currant Jelly

- 1 quart currants
- ¼ cup water
- Sugar

Wash and pick over currants, but do not remove stems. Mash a few of the currants in a preserving kettle, using a potato masher and continue until all berries are mashed. Add water, cover and heat slowly. When fruit juice is thoroughly heated, put into jelly bag and let juice drain. Measure 4 cups of juice, add 3 cups of sugar and boil 3 minutes or until jelly sheets off spoon. Pour into sterile glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Apple-Raspberry Jam (Makes 4 pints)

- 6 cups chopped, sour apples, pared and cored
- 3 cups raspberries
- 9 cups sugar
- 2 cups water

Boil sugar and water until it spins a thread. Add apples. Boil 2 minutes. Add raspberries and boil 10 minutes. Cook, fill glasses, seal with paraffin and label.

Sunshine Strawberries

Wash and hull perfect strawberries. Arrange in layers in preserving kettle with an equal amount of sugar. Let stand for ½ hour, then bring to the boiling point and cook 20 minutes. Arrange in shallow enameled pans or platters, cover with glass and set in the sun for several days or until the syrup is thick. Stir several times every day. Pour into glasses and paraffin at once.

SUNSHINE CHERRIES: Use the above method with sour red cherries. Cook until they are just tender but still firm. These cherries are especially delicious when served with ice cream.

Three Fruit Preserves

- 1 orange, cut in thin wedges
- 2 oranges with rind of one
- 3 quarts strawberries
- 4 pounds sugar

Peel pineapple, then slice and cut in thin wedges. Grind the oranges, peeling one and discarding the rind, and using the rind of the other. Wash, hull and pick over the strawberries. Place all fruits and sugar in preserving kettle and stir until sugar is dissolved. Cook for one hour. Pour into sterilized jars and seal with paraffin.

Yellow Pear Tomato-Orange Jam

- 4 quarts yellow pear tomatoes
- 5 oranges
- 5 pounds sugar

Grind tomato and whole oranges. Mix with sugar and boil, stirring often to prevent scorching until thick and clear. Fill sterile glasses, let cool, then seal with paraffin.

For a lovely meat accompaniment, place slices of pineapple on the griddle and then pour ¼ cup of pancake batter around each pineapple slice, being careful not to fill center or top of pineapple. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

Instead of serving broiled bacon strips with pancake, crumble bacon to measure ¼ cup and fold into the batter. Serve with butter and spiced honey made by heating together 1 cup of honey with 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Top your buckwheat cakes with poached eggs for added nourishment if you're serving them for any of the three meals.

Add a variety note to your pancakes by serving them with creamed eggs, tuna or salmon. Chopped pimiento and green pepper may be added for color, if desired, to the creamed foods.

Pancakes make a lovely dessert when you make four large ones, using ½ cup of batter for each cake. Stack with fresh or quick-frozen strawberries between each cake and serve top with whipped cream.

A DREAM COMES TRUE Unique Village Is Constructed On Plains South of Chicago

A dream is coming true for two men of vision on what, a little more than three years ago, was nothing but 2,400 acres of cornfields and grasslands 27 miles south of Chicago. Their dream is taking shape in the form of one of America's most unusual communities which already has a population of 13,000.

The community—now an incorporated village—is the first ever built in America (and, perhaps, in all the world) from a master plan which describes, situates and integrates not only houses and apartments, but also schools, hospital, churches, shopping center, recreation areas and industrial site.

It is called Park Forest, Illinois. It is expected to have about 30,000 population, the majority of them children—for it is a place where children are wanted—in two to three more years when the building program is completed.

One of the most remarkable advances in the building industry and in community planning, Park Forest was basically the idea of Philip M. Klutzick, an Omaha attorney who was commissioner of public housing during World War II, and Nathan Manlow, the biggest private builder of homes in the Chicago area.

These two, with other associates who joined them in the idea later, formed American Community Builders, Inc. for the purpose of putting up a super-modern American city which would serve the needs of young families in the middle-income range and which would fill not only their housing requirements, but also their intellectual, spiritual and recreational wants.

Backed by money put up by three insurance companies, Klutzick and Manlow have gone far beyond the usual "subdivision" conception of building which normally provides only for housing and lets the other necessities of living and community integration take care of themselves.

Park Forest today contains 3,010 rental apartments in groups of two, four, six and eight residences per unit. Each apartment has its own private entrance, lawn and community "tot-yard" in the rear. These are now fully occupied by most of the 13,000 village residents.

OVER AND ABOVE the rental units are the first of what will be 5,000 to 5,500 houses-for-sale—largely two- and three-bedroom ranch houses, each on a lot of at least 60 feet of frontage. These houses are selling for from $500 to $2,500 less than comparable houses anywhere in the Chicago metropolitan area because of cost reductions made possible by mass purchase and construction of materials.

There are now 25 stores and shops in the shopping center of the village, and there is room for 75 more. The center, situated around a grassy "mall," has wide sidewalks shielded by permanent, all-weather canopies to protect the shopper from the elements.

The first of eight schools and eight churches are now nearing completion, and a hospital and a segregated industrial area are next to be developed.

Heated exclusively by natural gas, the village is smoke-free. Even the industrial area will use gas.

Curvilinear streets, a $1,000,000 water-softening system, complete sewerage and drainage facilities, and huge public recreational areas are among the other attributes of the new village.

Most of the heads-of-family are employed in Chicago, from which Park Forest is situated 45 minutes by commuter train. Average age of the adult population is strikingly low—a mere 29. Family income averages $5,800 a year.

Perhaps the progressive spirit of the community can best be typified in two of its buildings—the motion picture theater and the supermarket. The theater seats 1,100 and not only shows movies, but also features art shows, afternoon teas, free coffee and snacks and a sound-proof "cry room" for discontented small fry.

The supermarket is one of the world's largest. It has a unique, high speed telephone check-out system and conveyor belts which whisk the patron's groceries from check-out counter to the point where they are assembled for sacking or boxing. The customer is out of the store in an average of about 50 seconds from the time she wheels her grocery-laden cart to the check-out counter.

As might be expected, Klutzick, who is president, and Manlow, treasurer, of ACB, have already been asked to undertake the building of similar communities in several other areas in the country. To do so would require a gargantuan outlay of energy and capital—but they're thinking about it.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

THE ANNUAL POLL of Woman's Home Companion Readers has given movie producers something to think about—Clark Gable was voted the most popular male star. Last year he was fourth, he never has been higher than third. Bing Crosby, first for the last five years, came in second. Why the Gable popularity all of a sudden? It's not surprising that Bette Davis, June Allyson and Irene Dunne were rated in that order; they've all been seen in good pictures since a year ago, Bette and Irene in especially good roles. James Stewart came in third, Spencer Tracy fourth; John Wayne, the box office' darling, was fifth in the poll.

Lucille Ball, who receives so many nominations for her "Woman of the Week" spot on "Portia Faces Life," got one from a youngster suggesting her mother—"the best Mommie in the whole world." Lucille's accepted the suggestion.

GRASSROOTS

Re-Armament Costs Average Family Budget $2,000

SIXTY BILLION DOLLARS does not seem a great sum, if you say it quickly, as Truman says it when he asks congress to provide that amount for rearmament.

But those who must dig it up start to figure what it means to them and their families. They find it amounts to $2,000 each family must pay just to meet the President's rearmament figure. That is a lot of money for each family budget to supply.

The President is never sure of the figures he sends to congress. He is inclined to take the word of those in the armed services. They guess at the cost, take all they can get and make it do the job.

We, the families who actually must do the paying, live in hope that those we have sent to Washington will look after our interests and cut the costs to the lowest possible amount.

Our senators and representatives should not be allowed to forget that we depend upon them for some careful figuring. They should not accept as accurate the guesses of some cabinet officer or department head with exaggerated ideas of costs.

We want a reduction, not a continued increase, in the bureaucratic army. We will pay for what is necessary, but we won't provide for many special home front projects we can do without while Joe Stalin is staring us in the face.

Old Fashioned Transportation Doesn't Make Man the Same

CARTHAGE, N. Y.—Farmer Bill Dailey believes in keeping up with the times. When he comes to town in his horse-drawn carriage, he angles up to a parking meter, ties the horse and deposits a coin. Village officials say there is no provision in the parking meter law pertaining to the parking of animals or horse-drawn carriages, but Dailey, "an independent sort" thinks he should pay just the same—and does.

We will pay the $2,000 per family directly and indirectly—from the family wallet in taxes or in the form of increased taxes on commodities.

Our senators and representatives will tell us they are charging most of the bill to corporations. But the corporations will pass that added cost to the consumers.

We pay. We know we pay. We shouldn't let Washington get away with the idea it is fooling us. We will pay what is needed to defeat the Communists, but we do not want to pay an excess on guesses made by the heads of our government.

The President has given us economy talk, but no action. We now turn to congress to turn off the faucets of excessive spending. Congress can do the job by stopping appropriations—if it will. Not appropriations for armament, but for home projects we can do without and for those thousands of bureaucrats, whose only value lies in their votes. If congress won't give us the relief we seek, there will be an "or else," and we will send to Washington those who say they will do what we ask.

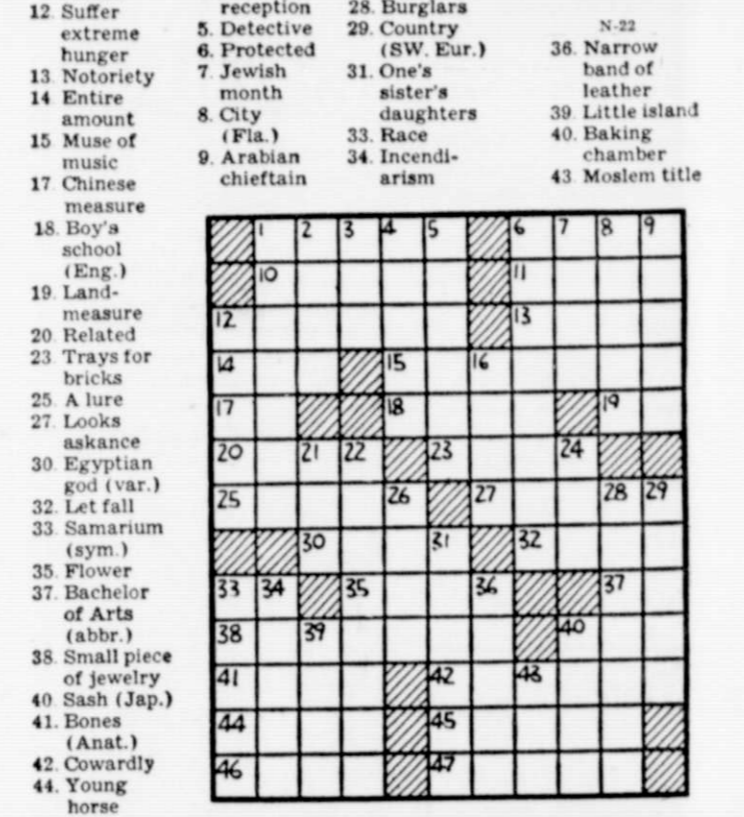

In his testimony before the senate investigating committee Gen. MacArthur, an old soldier, was responsible for his dismissal. He did not say who, but indicated it was the President. If that be the case Harry S. Truman has but a few

THE FICTION CORNER HARD BOILED CHUCK

By Richard H. Wilkinson

CHUCK WALLACE was a hard-boiled. Women didn't bother him much. Flying did. He owned his own plane and specialized in doing free-lance jobs for private interests, and performing rescues for reward money. He had quite a reputation. When, at the annual pilots' ball, he was presented to red-headed Alma Mallory he wasn't impressed at all.

Alma was. She had heard of Chuck. Alma was very modern, very sure of herself, used to getting what she wanted. She wanted Chuck.

Chuck wasn't quick to catch on. When finally he realized what she was up to he had almost fallen into her trap. He was glad when news came in that a young flyer had been lost in the north woods. It gave him a chance to get away. The fact that the young lost flyer was Don Mallory, Alma's brother, didn't bother him at all. This was business. Old Man Mallory, through his lawyers, had offered a fat reward.

Chuck Wallace loaded up and took off the next morning in his seaplane. That night he set down on a little wooded lake, 150 miles from the nearest habitation, and established a base. The next day he began systematically to comb the country.

In the afternoon he returned to his base, and received a shock. There was another plane riding on the surface of the lake. He saw a figure standing on the shore. It was Alma Mallory.

"What's the idea?" he asked.

Dean Acheson will be known to history as the world's greatest appeaser, second only to England's Chamberlain.

The President says we "must pay as we go." To do so he draws on the bank accounts of the people, when taxes do not come in fast enough.

If Stalin does not want to fight this year, we will again disarm and await his pleasure.

To let them forget, it will be well to keep the MacArthur evidence as far from the people as possible.

It will take much longer for Douglas MacArthur, an old soldier, to fade away into oblivion than will be true of the President who broke him.

Wonder who the Republicans can name with which to lose in 1952?

Chuck rode up close and clipped the gent so hard he fell out of the saddle. Then he grabbed hold of the girl and shook her roughly.

"What's the idea?" he barked. "I found your brother in a little lake 50 miles east of the base. He was looking for us. He said he didn't think it was so smart for his sister to give out that he was lost, when he really wasn't—just so she could send Chuck Wallace up into the country and then follow. What's the idea?"

Alma looked at him defiantly. "What do you think?" she said. "You big indifferent lummock! And why do you think I gave up and came home?"

Chuck blinked, but maintained his hold on her arm. For the first time when looking at the girl, he grinned. "Do you want me to tell you what I think?" he asked.

"Yes," said Alma.

Cattle in India

India has nearly 200 million cattle (cows, bullocks and buffaloes) which are generally kept in the villages.

Window Drapes

An appearance of height may be given a low window by the use of vertically striped material or by extending the draperies to the floor.

Lamp Shades

Wide flaring lamp shades give off more light than narrow ones with straight sides.

Farm Ownership

Individuals own about 87 per cent of all farm land in the United States. This leaves only 13 per cent owned by corporations, partnerships and public agencies. Acreage held by individuals totals some 994 million acres.

Ironing Hint

Starching will cut the ironing time in half. It means that dresses, skirts, shirts, and blouses stay cleaner longer, shed dirt and smooth more easily and keep that crisp look two days instead of one.

Turkeys Court Death

Turkey raisers report the birds would rather stand outside and drown during a rainstorm than take shelter in sheds provided for them. This foolishness, combined with insatiable curiosity, has prevented many a turkey from meeting a Thanksgiving date. One grower tells of finding six turkeys smothered to death in an empty barrel carelessly left in the turkey yard. All six had been on a tour of investigation and, once in the barrel, didn't have the sense to get out. Everything frightens a turkey, and when a flock is flying in panic it will crash into anything—barns, houses, fences—causing casualties by the hundreds.

Important Discovery

A new layer in the upper atmosphere has been discovered by Dr. Joseph Kaplan, physicist on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. It may be the link needed to fill out the puzzling chain of solar-terrestrial relationships, says the U. C. L. A. physicist. It also may pave the way for accurate long-range weather forecasting as more is found out about it, he adds. The layer is made up of a hitherto unknown form of oxygen molecules, which Dr. Kaplan calls "metastable" or "energetic" oxygen molecules. It lies in the lower part of the ionosphere, the region that reflects radio waves earthward, and is probably about 60 miles above the earth's surface just above the ozone layer.

The Magnitude of a Star

The magnitude of a star is a measure of a star's brightness. The method originated in 150 B.C. with the Greek astronomer Hipparchus, who classified the visible stars under six different magnitudes. The 20 brightest were called first magnitude and the faintest were placed in the sixth group, with others in between. In more recent years astronomers have made the system more exact, so that the average range of brightness between magnitudes is about 2.5, or 100 for a difference of five magnitudes. To take care of the other objects which get many times brighter than the first magnitude, astronomers go to magnitudes of minus one, minus two, etc., that of the sun, for example, being minus 26.7. At the other extreme are the faintest stars which can be observed with the largest telescopes, about magnitude 20.

Soybeans for Seed

Storing soybeans used for seed next spring requires extra care if you expect high germination. Soybean seed deteriorates rapidly under poor storage conditions. The beans to be used for seed should be cleaned as all cracked beans removed; then sacked and the sacks placed in cross brick. Soybeans are particularly easily injured in handling. Careless piling up on a tank or shed will result in a poor stand next spring.

Garden Yardstick

For the gardener who is always in the need of a yardstick or tape and never seems to have one handy, here is an idea that will save much time and trouble. Make your hoe handle a measuring stick by painting bright rings on it at foot and half foot distances from the end.

Electric Cowboy

Glass or porcelain insulators should be used on electric fences. Substitutes are poor economy and they don't look well or last long.

New Pasture Aids Control Of Worms in Poultry Flock

Poultry experts advise the farm wife who raises chickens to provide them with good pasture as a means to control worms. It is the most important reason why a new pasture should be provided each year for the growing flock, they report. Some of the better pasture grasses are a bromine-alfalfa mixture or ladino—if the soil and temperature are suited to ladino. Any poultry pasture should be clipped.

Mechanized Chick Feeder Available to Poultrymen

A completely mechanized poultry feeder is now on the market that makes it possible to feed many more chicks than can be done by hand. The feeder is electrically operated with a small electric motor. It delivers only as much feed as the birds will eat by means of a feed screw at the bottom of the large hopper. Farmers interested in the feeder can get further information from their county agents.

Young Iowa Trucker Wins Safety Contest

Hauls 7,000 Hogs, 3,000 Cattle a Year

Walter Sellnau, 27, of Charlotte, Iowa, was winner of the seventh-month Chicago livestock trucker safety program sponsored by the Chicago Stock Yards in its campaign to reduce the annual national loss of $33,000,000 in meat through safer livestock hauls to market.

Sellnau was awarded $1,000 worth of bonds and merchandise for his outstanding hauling record. Judged the best of 3,985 truckers from 19 states and Canada who participated in the program, Sellnau's seven trucks traveled 80,000 miles to and from Chicago, carrying 7,000 hogs and 3,000 cattle.

A newcomer in the trucker business, he has been hauling livestock to market for only a year and a half.

Sellnau uses care in his livestock hauls. He carries a portable loading chute under his truck for use in farm yards where there is no regular loading chute. He also uses an electric prodder on livestock instead of a whip or club, and places sand and limestone on the floor of his truck to lessen the chances of falling and bruising.

Farm Production May Set All-Time Record in 1951

American farmers can expect the demand for their farm products in 1951 to be stronger than in 1950. With normal weather conditions and favorable control of insects and diseases, the production of farm products should be greater than in 1950.

Consequently, with greater production and a stronger demand for farm products, the gross farm income should be higher in 1951, the agriculture department reports.

Farmers, however, will pay higher prices for practically all important items of production in 1951. Some of these items will probably be the highest on record. In this group will be such items as farm machinery and equipment, fuels for machinery, livestock purchases, building and fencing materials and wage rates.

Prices which farmers will pay for such commodities as feed, seed and fertilizer probably will be higher than in 1950.

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE —NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different! Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon—right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "spring" energy! Waste One FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

Soil Conservation Air Tour of County Planned

Arrangements are being made to provide an aeroplane tour over Washington county to view soil erosion problems and the practices being used by farmers to conserve soil and water.

The thought of having such a tour was suggested by farmers at farm institute meetings held during the past winter. A number of them expressed an interest in taking this air trip. It is planned to hold such plane flights over Washington county during the middle part of July when grain fields are beginning to ripen. The date suggested is Sunday, July 15. At this time of the year, due to the contrast in colors of farm crops, the earth's surface presents an attractive and interesting appearance. Also, the damage due to soil erosion can readily be seen from the air. Erosion on farms is much more visible from the air than when driving along the highways in a motor car.

Planes with experienced and licensed pilots for such trips will be provided by the Wisconsin Aeronautics commission. Such plane trips have been a regular part of the flying program sponsored by this commission. Many counties in the western part of Wisconsin have held similar tours during the past two years. The planes used will be 4-passenger planes and will be fully covered by insurance.

The plane ride will be about one-half hour in duration and will include an air view of most of the county. The cost of the tour will be $3.00 per passenger. The pilot will point out points of interest and explain what the farmer is attempting to do to conserve soil and water on erosion-subject farms.

To enable the county to qualify for this tour a minimum of 40 to 50 passengers must agree to take the flight. City people as well as farm people may make this trip.

Reservations for the plane ride may be made with E. E. Skalsky, county agricultural agent, P. O. building, West Bend, Telephone 592 before June 25. No remittance need be made at the time of making your reservation. An advance payment of the $3.00 fee, however, will be required if a sufficient number of passengers make reservations to assure holding the tour.

ful to all who assisted in any way. Rev. Zanow, pallbearers and honorary pallbearers, organist, donors of cars, for the memorial tributes and floral pieces, to the traffic officers, Miller's and all who showed respect by attending the funeral or calling at the funeral home.

The Surviving Children

In Wisconsin and the nation, we're eating more eggs and poultry meat. In 1935-1939 the average U. S. consumer ate 298 eggs. In 1945-1949 his annual consumption was 325—an increase of 84 eggs a year. In the 5 pre-World War II years, he consumed only 17.9 pounds of poultry meat a year. During the last 5 years consumption rose to 25.2 pounds—an increase of 7.3 pounds.
