Donkeys Winners in Sottball Game Here

Ashford and Kewaskum teams tangled in an airtight donkey sottball game on the high school athletic field Wednesday night. The affair was sponsored by the Kewaskum Sportsmen's club and attracted a surprisingly large crowd of spectators considering the weather. About a half hour before game time a downpour drenched the field and it looked like the contest would be cancelled. However, the rain stopped and the tilt was played although delayed.

Getting to the game it was a ding-dong battle. With spectators holding their sides from laughter as a result of the antics of the bucking, bull-headed donkeys and falls of the would-be riders, the game was tied at 3-all in the final inning. The contest ended abruptly when one of the Ashford riders, instead of mounting the animal, picked up the littiest donkey and carried it around the bags for the winning run.

"Inky" Keller pitched well for Kewaskum but it was a different story when it came to riding. Like the others he did most of his riding lying flat on the ground. Lenny Raubunas, the "Hopalong Cassidy" of Forest lake, and "Bud" Korth were near heroes. They both tried to ride "Bob Hope" at the same time and score two runs. But they couldn't get together with the donkey. The best cowboy was Clayton Stautz, who used his head right along with his donkey and they both ended up with their heads on the ground. Vic and "Daisy" Backhaus, "Lammy" Boegel, "Ivy" Buss, Johnny Tessar, Augie Bilgo, and "Roy Rogers" Haack all played their pants off but had as little success with the donkeys as the Republicans.

DREHERS HAVE BAPTISM

Rosenheimer in at Finish of Outboard Marathon Race

Only 51 of the 200 starters finished the rough lake and river course in the third annual Lake Winnebago outboard marathon Sunday. Among those who finished the 92-mile course was Kewaskum's entry in the race, Henry Rosenheimer. Although Rosenheimer didn't place in the race, it was quite an accomplishment to be one of the small percentage to complete the grind. This was "Hank's" second try in the marathon.

Dick Gallagher of Detroit won the feature Class D event but a 14-year-old girl from Dayton, Ohio, turned in the most amazing performance. Marilyn Donaldson outclassed the field in the "A" event and won her section taking 4 hours, 11 minutes and 21 seconds to tour the wave-chopped course from Neenah through Lake Winnebago, the Fox and Wolf rivers, and Lakes Attete des Morts and Winneconne. She was the only girl in the starting field of more than 200 drivers from 18 states.

Gallagher's time was 2 hours, 26 minutes, 55 seconds. His average speed was 37.5 miles an hour. Howard Belknap, East Lansing, Mich., won Class B; Dick Hansel, Menasha, took Class C; Reed Snyder, Horicon, won in Class E for the third straight year, and Earl Granrath, Milwaukee, took top place in Class F.

A crowd estimated at 70,000 watched as strong westerly winds with gusts up to 40 miles an hour made the going treacherous, dumping many drivers into Lake Winnebago and the rivers. Those who managed to finish were soaking wet, blue from cold and bruised from the pounding.

Saukville Defeated 7-3; Tessar Fans 16

Table showing baseball game results: Slinger 7-0, Mequon 7-1, West Bend 9-2, Kewaskum 4-3, Graton 4-3, Germantown 2-3, Newburg 2-5, Barton 1-6, Saukville 1-6, Cedarburg 0-6.

Scores last Sunday—Kewaskum 7, Saukville 2; Slinger 12, Barton 5; Mequon 6, Graton 5; West Bend 5, Newburg 2.

Game July 4th—Kewaskum at Graton (make-up of postponed game). The Chevrolet won their 4th game in 7 starts Sunday at Saukville, defeating that team, 7-3, behind the 5-hit pitching of John Tessar, who whiffed 16 batters. Leading Slinger won another contest to keep their clean record intact. However, first place will be at stake this Sunday when Slinger and Mequon meet.

Saukville got in Tessar for 2 runs in the initial inning on four walks, an error and base hit. A walk to lead on the 3rd frame developed into another Saukville run but this was the end of the scoring for the losers. Tessar hurled shutout ball the last 6 innings. In the meantime Kewaskum came from behind (3-1) to score 2 markers 1 each of the 4th, 7th and 9th frames.

The Chevrolet were hitting for once Sunday, unleashing a total of 14 safe blows off A. Dickman. Heading the barrage were Stautz, Held, Tessar, Bilko, Prost and Kempf, all of whom connected safely twice. Tessar's wound were both doubles, helping win his own game. Dickman didn't give up a base on balls and fanned 4. Tessar was tough for the bawks to solve, whiffing his 5-hitter proves. Although doing a nifty job in striking out 16 he also walked 7. The 5 bingles were divided among 5 batters.

The locals play at home against Newburg Sunday and make up a postponed tilt at Graton on the 4th. These will be the last two games for pitcher Tessar, who is going away next week to work for Uncle Sam for a hitch of at least 21 months.

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

Waldoboro, Maine, Cooperates to Put Up A New Municipal Building for Half Price

The force and drive a community is able to exert when its ambitious citizens combine their efforts on a job can assume proportions that might be astonishing to those of little faith who don't think that their own town is capable of putting over anything big.

If the work to be done is clearly defined beforehand, if the need has been brought into the open and is felt strongly enough by enough citizens, and if enough of the people get together with a strong determination to do the job, results soon will start to pile up.

A MAIN
FEATURE

And that, simply stated, is as good a formula as you will find for getting things done in a small community.

For a case in point, let's go to Waldoboro, Maine, where they are deep in the satisfying task of putting up a new municipal building that is going to be a whopping big improvement over the old town hall.

The new structure is going to be completely modern, from the roof right on down. It will have more than 6,300 square feet of floor space—large enough to house the city's administrative offices, the school superintendent's office, a council meeting room, a public meeting hall, and the local fire station. And finally, the basement will be big enough to hold the town's highway equipment.

This is the municipal building that the people of Waldoboro are putting up. And the total cost of this project is going to be just about $20,000. Twenty thousand dollars. Think you could build a comparable structure for that amount—or even for twice that much?

The whole thing began on an inauspicious day earlier this year when the Maine insurance commissioner condemned the present town hall structure as being generally unfit and unsafe for use. Gloom hung so thickly about the brows of the town officials that you could have stuffed a mattress with it. Because it was estimated at that time that at least $40,000 would be needed to replace the old building. And $40,000 simply was not available in Waldoboro.

Looking back on the situation, there was this break: The annual town meeting was scheduled to be held in about three weeks, and quite a few persons started to think about the municipal building problem in the context of public action and responsibility as represented by idea of the town meeting.

It sounds like something out of a storybook, but the problem was actually put on the road to solution at that meeting. Not only that, the people of Waldoboro worked out a way to get the building for only half the estimated average cost of the type and size structure required.

All they did, really, was pledge themselves to cooperate on the job and to throw their joint energies and efforts into the completion of it. As we all know, that's a thing which is easy to say but a sight harder to do.

Through the generous help and cooperation of a local man, a lot in the middle of the town was purchased for $1,000 as the site for the building. Then, to eliminate the usual contractors' fees, the town's highway foreman took over as building foreman. Supervising a picked crew of workers, he has moved ahead rapidly with the construction.

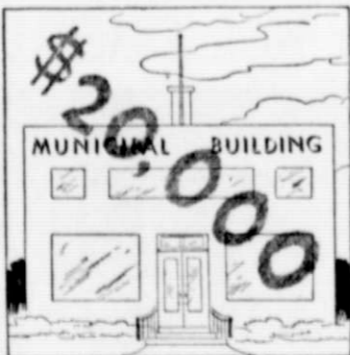

Acting in the same spirit of cooperation, local merchants and lumber dealers have furnished such materials as are available locally, very often selling them to the town at cost.

And that is how Waldoboro, Maine, a small American town of 2,500 population, is getting itself a new municipal building. It is doing nothing unusual or miraculous. It is simply doing a difficult job correctly and well, and it is able to do so because the right persons are cooperating in the right way.

Cooperation—an easy word to say but a tough concept to put into practice on the community level. It means "working together," of course. But more than that, it is compounded of an understanding of the values involved in a particular job, of self-sacrifice and sometimes profit-sacrifice, of patience and perseverance, and of a genuine desire to work for the mutual good.

I am glad I am an optimist. The pessimist is half-licked before he starts. The optimist has won half the battle, the most important half that applies to himself, when he begins his approach to a subject with the proper mental attitude. The optimist may not understand, or if he understands he may not agree with, prevailing ideas; but he believes, yes, knows, that in the long run and in due course there will prevail whatever is right and best.

Household Hints

The dog's habit of sleeping on the furniture is easily cured. Before going to bed, set a number of small spring mousetraps on the dog's favorite resting places. They won't hurt him, unless he happens to get his tail in one and even that isn't usually fatal, but the snapping traps will scare the daylight out of him and impress him with the advisability of sleeping elsewhere.

Scrubbing brushes, like brooms, should never be rested on their bristles nor on their handles, since this lets the water soak into the wood at the base of the bristles and loosen them up. Keep your scrubbing brush on its edge when it's not in use.

When bare spots show up on the back of a mirror they can be repaired by covering them with tin-foil. Secure the tin-foil to the glass with shellac, dark paint, or glue.

If the man of the house works with metal and gets metal dust or filings on his clothes and in his hair, take steps to prevent the rust marks that will naturally result when his work clothes and pillowcases are laundered. In fact, one step will do it: soak the articles in a large vessel of cleaning fluid before washing so that the metal particles will come out of the cloth and settle to the bottom of the fluid.

When the broom finally is worn out, trim the bristles down to an even length, cover with old flannel or felt (a discarded felt hat will work), and you've got a handy floor polisher.

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon—right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy, energetic self!" Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

Cattlemen Withhold Beef in Protest Of Government's Rollback Program

EMPTY MEAT CASES—Empty meat cases were beginning to show up across the nation as cattlemen continued to hold beef off the market in protest to the government's price rollback program of 8-to-10 cents a pound by October 1.

President Truman and Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle continued to stick by their rollback decisions. DiSalle told reporters retreat now might wreck the whole stabilization program.

Empty meat cases and full corrals described the meat situation in the nation last week.

The present situation is somewhat similar to the 1946 beef battle when cattlemen withheld beef in their successful attempt to kill the government's price control program.

FAR EAST SPECULATION—The unexpected and unannounced visit of George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, to Korea raised considerable amount of speculation in the home towns of the nation.

Repeatedly, Marshall told reporters he did not expect any Chinese peace move soon and that his visit was strictly military.

Of this much the home towns can be reasonably sure. Aging and not too well Marshall did not make the long and tiresome trip to Korea as a mailman's holiday, so to speak.

MACARTHUR INVESTIGATION—The Armed services and foreign relations committees' investigation of the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur moved on its weary way with two new witnesses.

Acheson's testimony was remarkable in that during the eight days there was no show of temper on the part of the witness or the investigators.

Only on one point was his testimony different from that of other administration witnesses. He asserted that MacArthur approved the 1946 attempt to bring the Chinese Reds and Nationalists together for a "unified, democratic China."

WHEAT CROP MAKES COMEBACK—The agriculture department reported the nation's wheat crop is making a comeback from bad weather conditions and now promises the eighth successive harvest of more than a billion bushels.

The new forecast indicated a wheat crop of 1,654,000,000 bushels, about 25 million bushels more than last year's crop.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER, particularly drought in the southwest great plains, and insects in the same area, coupled with cool, wet spring weather, had put the crop prospects under a cloud a month ago.

THE SLOW ADVANCE—United Nations troops in Korea smashed the Communist "Iron Triangle" and continued their slow advance northward.

INFLATION BATTLE—June 30, expiration date of the present defense production act, is only a few days away and there are several indications that the administration is afraid new control laws won't be strong enough.

President Truman appeared worried and made three moves to get a strengthened law through congress. He issued a public warning that the nation may see "an unmanageable torrent of inflation" unless economic controls are extended.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnson, on radio and television shows, has tried to arouse the people to the dangers of inflation.

DAY OF DECISION

Local Boards Must Pass on Students

There is going to be a buzz of action around home town draft boards within a short time.

President Truman appeared worried and made three moves to get a strengthened law through congress.

Two Out of 96 Senators Give Blood to Red Cross

Given a chance to donate blood to the Red Cross, U. S. senators didn't break down the doors in a rush to contribute.

Only one senator had an excuse. Secretary for the unidentified senator called the mobile blood bank and reported her senator said he's been sweating blood for a week with Secretary Acheson and didn't have a drop left.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round BY DREW PEARSON

Peace Propaganda

SEN. BRIEN McMAHON of Connecticut bumped into Justice Felix Frankfurter, close friend of Secretary of State Acheson, at a cocktail party the other day and remarked:

"What's the matter with Dean? Why is he so cautious? Here the Russians are out promising the moon to the world, and we sit with our mouths shut like a bump on a log."

"It's the English," replied Frankfurter. "It's the English in Dean. He won't promise more than he can give."

Frankfurter referred to the fact that Acheson's mother belonged to the well-known Canadian Gooderham family.

What Senator McMahon referred to was the fact that American propaganda abroad has not been showing imagination and initiative, and that we have not pounded home the very real fact that the American people want peace.

Regardless of Acheson's English forebears, however, part of this failure is probably more due to the fact that the state department has been so hounded by senatorial critics that it is punch-drunk and timid.

General MacArthur's trip to Texas is much more than a visit to admiring friends. Actually, it is a carefully timed test of political popularity to see whether the general's backers should go any further in their latest plans to push him for the presidency.

One of the men behind the Texas trip is congressman Al "Doc" Miller of Nebraska, the same GOP leader who promoted MacArthur for president in 1948.

Both primary prizes are disappointing, and MacArthur felt that his Republican friends had let him down.

However, MacArthur headquarters during the 1948 convention proved to be the emptiest place in Philadelphia, and MacArthur felt that the party had taken him up on the high mountain.

Since the visit to Chicago was disappointing, in that the general failed to fill Soldiers' Field; and since the trip to Murfreesboro, Tenn., also failed to fill the local stadium, the Texas visit will be extremely important.

Eisenhower on Ethics

It has never been made public, but General Eisenhower has written "amen" to Senator Fulbright's plan for drawing up a moral code for government officials.

Washington Pipeline

Senators have turned down a request from Vice President Barkley for a new Cadillac limousine.

Midwest Uranium

It hasn't been announced yet, but precious uranium has now been discovered in certain low-grade coal found in the northern great plains.

Delayed Trip

The first state visit of a reigning British king to Stratford on Avon where William Shakespeare was born in 1564 did not occur until April of 1950.

THE READER'S DATE BOOK Evaluation of Responsibilities Important to Local Merchants

Independence Day affords our Main Street merchants little, if any, opportunity for merchandising. But it is a day which gives the home town businessman, in this or any community, time and inspiration to consider his responsibilities to the community.

One good way to point out the local merchant's importance to his community is to compare him with the city merchant. In fact, they are brothers in name only.

The city merchant may have thousands of customers, hundreds of employees and operate as a "big business". The head of the firm in all probability will direct the activities of his store from a private office with directives through department heads.

On the other hand, the local merchant is on intimate terms with his customers, knowing many of them as friends and others by name.

As for the community as a whole, the local merchant must realize that it is the community that keeps him in business, provides his living, his home and his social activities.

Generally, merchants in small towns agree their town is the best there is. If they didn't think that they wouldn't be there.

Recently in the midwest a small town businessman gave his community a public utility that cost thousands of dollars.

He explained that he had lived his entire life in the community and he made his money there.

Merchants in any community with this attitude, although they may not be financially able to give money, will give much to the home town that can not be valued in dollars and cents.

Research Forestry Aids Nation's Woodland Owners Grow Trees

To meet the increasing demand for timber, Uncle Sam's research foresters have come up with ways of producing stronger trees and making them grow faster.

During 1950 the United States consumed approximately 39 billion board feet of lumber.

The small corps of research foresters working in the forest service of the U. S. department of agriculture have spent long years making studies of the growth, harvesting and utilization of trees.

"My HUSBAND is insane," Ray Runyon opens her letter abruptly. "There is no other word for it. Outwardly, he is what he has been for the 13 years of our marriage, a quiet, devoted husband and father, a successful professional man, popular in business and club circles."

"But, actually, he is inflicting upon me and upon our children, Mimi, I, and Charles, 8, as cruel a persecution as any torturer of old could devise.

"He wants me to give him a divorce, accept a third of his income, which would not be $3,000 a year, keep the children, allowing them to come and stay with 'Daisy' whenever he deuces, and that I keep friendly with Daisy and never say anything that reflects on her."

two blue ribbons and the championship ribbons on his two entries. A blue ribbon was also awarded to Schraufnagel & Son.

Recently we had a "thank you" call from the father of a brand new bride. Unusual say? Not really. This typical, patient, long-suffering pop said he would have gone "nuts" trying to handle his so-called "light" end of the last-minute details without a telephone.

We're glad that our telephone bell helped to make the wedding bells ring more happily. It adds another example to our miles-long list of conveniences which low-cost telephone service brings.

Prepare Canning Vegetables Correctly (See Directions Below)

Processing Vegetables
IT'S EASY to bring the garden vegetables to the table, even in mid-winter, if you put them into jars now. Then, when you want them, they'll be at your beck and call, providing menu inspiration as well as nutritious food for the family.

Canning is no problem if you organize the work properly and avoid doing too much in a half day or a whole day. Lack of efficiency causes food to spoil before you get it properly processed and causes loss all along the way.

Do only as much as you can accomplish easily, and you'll cut down opportunity for spoilage. Then, too, you can do another batch of foods the following day without letting them over-mature in the garden.

Try to estimate the amount of time required to prepare and process the vegetable, as well as the amount of produce you'll have, so there's no trip necessary to the store to buy more jars while the vegetables wait, and probably spoil. There should be no time lost in the canning procedure, for spoilage may result, and certainly loss of food value, flavor and color.

It's smart not to plan any other big jobs for the day you can, as best results come from devoting yourself exclusively to this particular enterprise. Plan a simple dinner, and prepare in advance, if possible, so that nothing except the slightest and most unexpected interruptions can intervene.

How to Select, Prepare Vegetables
TENDER, YOUNG VEGETABLES give the best results when they are canned because they can be processed more readily, and their flavor is at peak. They should be washed very thoroughly in plenty of water to remove all dirt, as soil frequently contains bacteria which may cause spoilage.

For washing, use a sink which can be stoppered, as it holds plenty of water, or a large basin or kettle. If you can spray the vegetables with water, this helps to get them clean. Use several changes of water, until it runs clear.

If the vegetable is to be canned whole it's best to sort according to size, as this will give a better looking pack. It also helps during processing, as larger vegetables take slightly longer processing, and this would overcook the smaller vegetables if placed in the same jars.

Tomatoes, beets and carrots should be blanched by plunging into hot water, then dipped in cold water. This shrinks the skins and makes for easier peeling.

Hot pack is usually preferred for vegetable canning because it shrinks the vegetable before packing, and make more fit in the jar. To hot pack, cook the vegetable for a few minutes, according to the chart, before packing in the jars.

Peas, corn and lima beans should be packed in the jars somewhat loosely, and to within one inch of the top, as they will swell during the processing. Greens, such as spinach, kale and others, should also be packed somewhat loosely to allow the heat during processing to penetrate them properly. All other vegetables should be packed tightly so that the jar will be full, after processing time is over.

Use of Pressure Cooker
Helps Assure Safety
VEGETABLES BELONG to the non-acid group of foods, and this means that, to be canned with safety, they should be processed at high temperatures for a long period of time.

The pressure cooker should be fitted with a rack at the bottom, a tight cover that will hold in the steam, a petcock and a pressure gauge that will give accurate temperature for processing.

To use the cooker properly, place an inch or two of water in the bottom, and the filled jars on the rack. Prepare only enough jars to fill the cooker. Adjust the cover and fasten tightly. The petcock should be left open to release air in the cooker, for five to seven minutes. Then close the petcock and allow the temperature to come to the desired amount. Start counting processing time only after the desired temperature is reached.

When processing time is complete remove the cooker from the fire and let the pressure return to zero before removing the cover.

Remove jars from the cooker and set on several thickness of cloth or newspaper. If the self-sealing variety is used, the lids should not be tightened or adjusted. Let these cool in the upright position, away from a draft. Store in a cool, dark place.

Wash, Seal Jars Before Using
Before packing food into jars for canning, check the jars to make certain they do not have nicks or cracks in them. It's especially important to see that the rims of old jars are perfect, as a faulty rim will prevent perfect sealing.

Jars to be used for hot bath or pressure cooker should be washed in hot, soapy suds. Then they should be rinsed thoroughly to eliminate all soap. Scald the jars with boiling water and invert on a clean, folded cloth from which they are to be used.

Caps and lids are best prepared by placing in a shallow pan or bowl and by pouring boiling water over them. Leave them in the container until ready to use.

Note: All vegetables, except tomatoes which are acid, as well as all meat, poultry and fish, canned at home, should be boiled in an open vessel for at least 10 minutes before tasting or using.

If storage room is too hot, the seal on the jars may be destroyed by causing expansion of the contents of the jar. Freezing and consequent thawing injure the flavor and texture of canned products.

Beets should be precooked with about two inches of the top left on so they will not bleed too much and thus lose their red color.

If the jar is defective, the vegetable requires re-packing and this is scarcely profitable as the vegetable would not stand up to processing the regular length of time.

Flat, sour in vegetables is caused by using over-ripe produce, or allowing the pre-cooked food to stand in the jars for too long before they are processed.

Tomatoes are acid and may be canned easily by hot water bath, for this is hot enough to kill any bacteria which may be in them. Other vegetables are non-acid, and need high heat as their bacteria are heat-resisting.

Prevent cloudiness in canned peas by using distilled water if the tap water is hard and has too many minerals in it.

100 YEARS OF BROTHERHOOD

YMCA Plans to Expand Services In Small Towns and Rural Areas

(The first of two articles.)

One hundred years ago the Young Men's Christian Association, known for nearly a century as "the Y," was founded in the U.S. to fight vice, degradation and delinquency in the cities. Since then, its aims have broadened. Today, the Y teaches Christian ethics, through good fellowship, to the entire community. With 3,500,000 members, the Y has been successful in the cities. Now, in planning its next century, the YMCA is going to move into small towns and rural areas.

Always a self-searching organization, the Y is taking into account the somewhat humiliating fact that in this new campaign they are joining the tail-end of the parade. The 4-H clubs, the Epworth League, the Camp Fire Girls, the Future Farmers of America, the Girl Scouts, the Roman Catholic Rural Life Conference and even the youth program of the Mormon church are far ahead of the YMCA in respect to rural area activity.

Even their arch-rivals, the Young Women's Christian Assoc., is better organized outside of the cities than the Y. Some advisers at last year's Y conferences argued that other organizations held such a decisive edge in the farm country that competition would be a waste of time.

The social service program of the Y, however, is without parallel, offering as it does everything from recreation in the swimming pool or on the basketball court to a course in auto mechanics or professional advice in marital or parent-child relations. No organization which attempts to do similar work in any of its fields of activity is as well organized nationally or internationally or has such tremendous resources in manpower, equipment and experience.

In rural areas, however, the Y has a lot to learn. Fifty-four per cent of the YMCA's established in cities under 25,000 have died of inertia and disinterest in the last fifty years. For its failures in the past the Y freely blames itself. The organizations have failed to learn what people in small towns are like, what services they need and want and how they are best reached, Y officials recently declared.

In the cities, the Y has been particularly successful in handling restless, idle youngsters from all social and economic classes who, anxious for something to do, can just as easily be attracted by a stimulating hobby or a vigorous, healthy sport as by a pool hall or a low-class movie. The same need for legitimate outlets for aggressive energy does not exist in rural surroundings, Y researchers have discovered. Nor are they interested in the same skills or educational trends.

On the other hand, people in non-urban areas are likely to be anxious about health problems, and the Y will turn its attention to promoting good health in the country.

THE LACK OF PROPERLY trained teachers, the movement for consolidation of schools, the decline of the rural church, the absence of recreational programs for both children and grown-ups will be its other major concerns. It will attempt to introduce a new awareness of the importance of mental health and study, in conjunction with trained scientists, the emotional stresses and strains peculiar to country living.

The program sounds overly ambitious to those not acquainted with the Y's last century of progress, but the organization has proved its right to plan on a grandiose scale. Its influence on American life in the past century is almost without parallel.

Basketball, now called the country's most popular sport, was invented by a YMCA physical education instructor who was looking for something to replace the dreary up-down-up-down calisthenics of his day. A few years later another instructor introduced volleyball. The Y was the first to establish summer camps and to encourage the now multi-million dollar summer camping movement. They gave the Boy Scouts their start-off push. A quarter-century ago the Y first recognized the psychological dangers in the decline of father and son relationships and devised the Indian Guide program to bring fathers and sons back together. They were the first to declare a holiday to honor the nation's fathers, and they have taught millions of young Americans how to swim.

Ronald Colman and Benita have signed up for another year in "The Halls of Ivy", an encouraging sign to all radio producers who believe that there is a large and growing audience for adult entertainment on the air.

GRASSROOTS

Honest Harold Ickes 'Stole' Tide Lands Oil Wells

By Wright A. Patterson

WHEN I WAS A BOY in Washington county, Iowa, Long's Creek was one of the waterways of that county. It was not navigable even for a light canoe. It was just a creek, with water in spots in the summer, and those spots provided breeding places for bull heads and swimming pools for the boys of the neighborhood.

Because of the swimming holes, the boys claimed Long's Creek as their rightful property. Had the federal government of those days attempted to do what the federal government is doing today, it would have meant an insurrection on the part of those Washington county boys, that would have taken a corps of marines to suppress.

The counties of southern California have creeks similar to those in every county of every state. These California creeks serve the specially useful purpose of irrigation for the hundreds of foothill farms, without which they would not produce, and would be valueless. Those creeks have been the source of irrigation for those foothill farms, back to the Spanish mission days.

Now, without warning of any kind, the federal government notifies the farmers that they can no longer use the water of those creeks, as they are federal government property, and the rights to the water they carry belong to the federal government. Those water rights have been recognized as belonging to the farms they irrigate for more than 100 years.

That is seizure of property by the government, without adequate compensation to the owner, and it is specifically forbidden by the fifth amendment to the Constitution, but the federal government has refused to recognize the rights to compensation by the citizens.

What has happened in these California counties, could happen in Washington county, Iowa, or in any other county in any state, if California permits the central government to get away with such a steal.

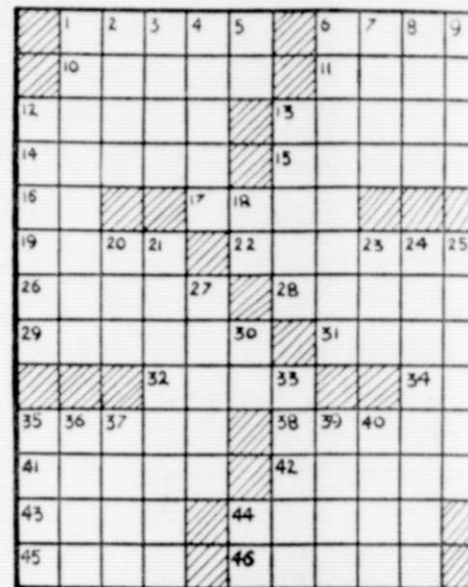

It will be tried in other states, and the citizen will soon have no rights the government at Washington will recognize. That bold move on the part of the attorney general's office is more far-reaching than the little community of Wallbrook in southern California. Should it get away with that steal, there is no limit to what it can take.

In the days when F.D.R. and the New Deal was operating with the regularity of well greased clock work, honest Harold Ickes, then secretary of the interior, was a recognized source of New Deal ideas. One that bobbed up in his always fertile brain was for the government to take over the tide lands oil and so gather in the royalties the operators were paying to the states for each barrel of oil they recovered from the ocean depths, and to secure which they

THE FICTION CORNER

OBADIAH

By Richard H. Wilkinson

OBADIAH Nelson was a man of unappreciated qualities. For two years he had worked as clerk in the scenario department of Magnificent Films, Inc., and had thought up ideas for pictures which scenario writers wrote into scripts and directors produced for a neat profit.

"Lady Luck," Magnificent's most recent success, had netted the house something over a million dollars. Noel Norbert, who wrote the script received $2000, and Obadiah, who thought up the idea, collected his $80 per week.

Ada Adams, who occupied a desk next to Obadiah's and who earned $50 a week reading stories, knew what was going on and told Obadiah in no uncertain terms what she thought of him.

"Barnum was right," she said. "How a man can be such a sucker and still live is beyond me."

Obadiah blushed to the roots of his hair.

"Why, shucks, I didn't do anything. It was just an idea I had that I mentioned to Mr. Norbert."

And Mr. Norbert collected $2000 for it.

A month later Magnificent began work on "Love's Appeal." Noel Norbert had turned in the script after taking Obadiah to lunch. A week after that Ada Adams came into the little restaurant on Sunset boulevard where Obadiah was eating lunch.

"Well, how's Magnificent's $60 a week sucker today?" she asked. "They tell me Mr. Norbert has turned in another box-office success that you thought up for him. He's asking $2500 for it."

Obadiah's face went white. Without knowing it Miss Adams had aggravated a wound that she had inflicted five weeks previous with her first scathing comment on Mr. Nelson's lack of what it takes to get ahead. She was, therefore, astonished when Obadiah suddenly rose without a word and left her.

Outside, his cheeks still rather pale, Obadiah was hastening toward the Magnificent studios.

"Mr. Maurice," began Obadiah firmly. "I want to know why it is that you pay $2000 to Noel Norbert for writing scenarios that I think up. No, don't answer. I know why. It's because you think I'm a sucker without enough backbone to stand up for my rights. Well, let me tell you something. I mean, you can drive a horse to water but you can't make him willing—I mean, drink. Or something. Anyway, I'm quitting. The Pacific studios have offered me a thousand a week to work for them."

Obadiah paused, breathing heavily, and mopped his brow. "Well," he said, "I guess that's all."

"Is that so?" said Mr. Maurice. "Well, young man, you're wrong. That ain't half of it." And he punched a bell button on his desk.

ADA ADAMS was eating dinner in the same little restaurant on Sunset that evening when Obadiah came in.

"Well," he said, "I've been raised from $60 a week to $1000."

"So I heard," said Ada. "Congratulations. I'll bet you could have got more, however, if you'd gone back to Pacific and told them that Maurice was meeting their price."

"I couldn't," said Obadiah, "because Pacific never offered anything in the first place."

Ada stared in open-mouth wonder. "Well, well, well," she said. "And likewise, well."

"Even if they had," said Obadiah, "I couldn't have thought up ideas for Pacific anyhow."

"Why?" asked Ada.

"Because you wouldn't have been there," said Obadiah. "All those ideas I thought up were about you and me. Just seeing you put them into my head. Without you I couldn't think of anything. In fact," he added, "sometimes I can't think of anything with you."

Ada swallowed a scallop whole. "For goodness sake!" she exclaimed. "Obadiah Nelson, I didn't think you had it in you to propose marriage."

"Propose?" said Obadiah. "Who's proposing? But it's not a bad idea at that."

New Dusting Methods Tested in Michigan

Charging Fungicides May Revolutionize Spraying

Fighting insects and plant diseases which damage farm crops may be revolutionized by charging dust particles in fungicides and insecticides with electricity, Michigan researchers reported recently.

Laboratory tests by Michigan State College researchers show charging of dust particles of normal dusting compounds gets five to ten times better coverage than through usual dusting processes.

A. W. Ferrall, head of the MSC

agricultural engineering department, says field tests will be made this summer to try the new process commercially.

Fine dust particles of the fungicides and insecticides are charged with from 12,000 to 20,000 volts as they emerge from the nozzle of a regular commercial dusting machine. This high charge is held for several seconds. With dusts blown at a velocity of a mile a minute, it permits them to travel a great distance before losing the electric charge.

Engineers estimate the cost of necessary electrical attachments for the ordinary four-row duster would run around $300.

Few Hours Spent Cleaning Farm Pays Big Dividends

Spring is clean-up time—time to clean out the hazards around the farm which can cause personal injury, loss of time, or loss by fire. And although many rural communities have already conducted clean-up campaigns, a few hours now and then spent in putting things ship-shape may save many days of time during the busy season later on. It is a well-known fact that orderly farms and homes have fewer accidents.

It will pay every farmer to take a few hours and remove accumulated papers, rags and rubbish from the home and farm buildings. Be sure that medicines, poisons and insecticides are out of the reach of children.

At this time of year many barns are still cluttered with an accumulation of things used during the winter. Clear them out of alley-ways or working areas so they can not cause accidents. A neat place is a safe place for either work or play.

Clean Paint Job

For the housewife who wants to paint her flower pots before resetting plants, here is an easy, clean way to get the job done. Invert the pot over a milk bottle and as you work, turn the bottle and you won't have to touch the painted pot at all. Leave it until it's thoroughly dry.

4-H Clubs in Minnesota To Stress Food Projects

Some 49,200 4-H club members in Minnesota will be emphasizing three major food-producing projects this year—field crops, garden and poultry. They are among nearly two million youths throughout the nation who will be doing their part in the mobilization program by participating in 4-H club activities.

In these projects 4-H boys and girls learn new agricultural techniques and farming practices.

Grass Waterways Best Means of Halting Erosion

Itchy soil can be nailed down and erosion damage halted by making gullies into grass waterways, reported the Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

Grass waterways will add to the farm's output, too. Hay crops of a ton or more per acre are reported on numerous midwest farms where well-fertilized soil on grassed waterways has had a chance to get well established.

MRS. MERRITT SAYS NAGGING ACHES AND PAINS LEFT HER AFTER TAKING HADACOL

HADACOL Relieves Nagging Aches and Pains When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Mrs. Louise Merritt of Earlring, West Virginia, suffered from nagging aches and pains, a poor appetite and a tired run-down feeling which can be caused by a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron and the pains bothered her so that she was unable to do much house work. But let Mrs. Merritt tell you her story in her own words:

"I am 27 years old, married, and I am a housewife. Before I started taking HADACOL, I didn't have any appetite. I felt tired all the time and I suffered from nagging aches and pains, and I was unable to do much house work. Now, I am on my 4th bottle of HADACOL and I am eating well and the nagging aches and pains and tired feelings have all left me. I was also underweight before taking HADACOL. Now I have gained a few pounds. I intend to continue taking HADACOL."

Yes, now Mrs. Merritt is able to enjoy life once again. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of those nagging aches and pains when due to the lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such painful distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product you have been waiting for. That's the kind you should buy and start taking at once.

And HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in special pleasant liquid form so they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once.

HADACOL IS SO EFFECTIVE Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body.

You may have tried other Vitamins preparations or other Vitamins and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. Try a bottle of HADACOL today. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee. You take no chances.

So be fair to yourself. Don't go through life suffering from nagging aches and pains when they are caused by lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES There is only one HADACOL. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee.

Sold at all drug stores. Trial size, $1.25, but buy the large family-size, only $3.50. If your dealer does not sell HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Cop Shows His Gratitude For Monthly Pay Check

SCOTT'S BLUFF, Neb.—Two local gentlemen were very busy here recently, and perhaps it is a good thing that each did not know what the other was about.

Inside the city hall Mayor Victor R. Blackledge was busy signing the pay roll voucher of Patrolman Tom Cowan. At the same time, Cowan was busy, too, putting a ticket on the mayor's overparked car.
