

Former Kewaskum Infantryman Wins Highest Hero Award

Corp. Einar H. Ingman Awarded Congressional Medal of Honor for Heroism in Korea

An infantryman, who formerly resided at Kewaskum is Wisconsin's third winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in Korea. Award of the nation's highest decoration to Corp. Einar H. Ingman, 21, of Rt. 2, Tomahawk, was announced Monday by the army. Presentation was made Thursday in Washington. Ingman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Einar T. Ingman, attended with him. The Ingman family formerly resided near St. Michaels on Rt. 1, Kewaskum, moving to Tomahawk from here about two years ago.

Corp. Ingman has been a patient at Percy Jones Army hospital, Battle Creek, Mich., since May 1. He stormed two enemy machine gun emplacements alone on Feb. 26 and killed the crews with grenades and rifle fire. His action caused more than 100 Communists to flee.

Ingman took command of his squad and the squad next to him when both squad leaders became casualties, said one of the soldiers with him, Corp. Henry G. Vecchione of Youngstown, Ohio. Machine gun fire from the two emplacements pinned the two squads to the ground, as the attack started. But Ingman ran ahead alone, charging the first machine gun nest and "miraculously escaping harm until he was close enough to throw a grenade into the position," Vecchione related.

Halfway to the next position, Ingman was wounded by a grenade, then a machine gun burst caught him in the neck and head. He was knocked down, but he sprang once again to his feet, charged the position and killed the crew with his rifle, then fell unconscious on the emplacement.

Born in South Milwaukee, young Ingman attended schools in the Milwaukee area before moving to Kewaskum with the family. His parents now operate a tavern at Tomahawk. Ingman has three younger brothers at home. He was in Tomahawk Saturday to attend the wedding of his sister, Mrs. Burdette Schreffler.

Ingman joined the army Nov. 1, 1948, while the family still resided on Rt. 1, Kewaskum. He was stationed in Japan 18 months before going to Korea. On his first day of battle action last Sept. 15, Ingman suffered a knee wound at Inchon.

This is the 27th Medal of Honor to be presented to army men in the Korean war, Wisconsin's other Medal of Honor winners for valor in Korea were Corp. Mitchell Red Cloud Jr., 26, of Black River Falls, and Sgt. Melvin O. Handrich, 31, of Manawa. Both were killed in action. Their medals were awarded posthumously.

Many People Enjoy Grand Fireworks Display on the 3rd

Although rain during the day threatened to cause cancellation of the fireworks display sponsored by the Kewaskum Fire Department and village board in the local park Tuesday night, the skies cleared in the evening and the fireworks were held as scheduled. The weather turned out better than expected. The night was warm and humid and an ideal one for being in the park.

The display was attended by the usual large crowd of people who lined the big hill in the park to see the grand array of fireworks which were more colorful and louder than ever. With more favorable weather during the day surely many more folks would have been on hand.

After the fireworks, hamburgers and ham sandwiches, soda, beer, popcorn and other refreshments were served in the park concession stands. Music was provided and free entertainment by Kusty and Erv, comedy musicians, highlighted the evening. The nice weather and entertainment held people in the park until well after midnight and made a fine success of the event.

NEW PARK AT ALLENTON TO OPEN WITH PICNIC JULY 14-15

The new Veterans Memorial Park will be officially opened at a picnic sponsored by the Allenton Fire Dept. and the American Legion, Fohl-Martin Post No. 483 on Saturday and Sunday, July 14-15.

This project consisting of six and one-half acres was started in June, 1947, with the outlining of a baseball diamond and has been in use by two baseball teams since last summer. Trees have been planted and permanent buildings erected.

The location is ideal in providing an excellent view of the village and outlying territory.

The Allenton Aces Homemakers club in their project will provide playground equipment expected to be in use before the end of the summer season. The Golden Agers Homemakers club has provided picnic benches for the park. Picnic tables have been provided for the use of the public.

Edward Gutjahr, a past post commander of the Allenton Legion and member on the park board is to be credited for his untiring efforts on the project. Charles Endlich, secretary of the Allenton Fire Department and Charles Al Val Herman, members of the fire department, have spent much of their time and efforts on the project.

COUNTY POTATO GROWERS TO VOTE ON MARKETING ORDER

Potato growers in Washington county will receive ballots this week from the county PMA committee, to use in voting "Yes" or "No" on the question of continuing Federal Marketing Order 69, which regulates the marketing of potatoes in six north central states. "Price support has nothing to do with this referendum," A. John Cleary, chairman of the county PMA committee, states. "Price support on potatoes was stopped by order of Congress at the end of the 1950 marketing season. The only question for potato growers to decide is whether they want a means of working with other growers to hold bids and small potatoes off the market, to help keep supply in balance with demand and to give the consumer a better quality potato as a way of getting a better price."

The ballots, being mailed to every grower who produced potatoes for market in 1950, are to be filled out and mailed during this week of July 9-13. A self-addressed envelope is provided with each ballot, addressed to R. E. Keller, Chicago, the Department of Agriculture official in charge of the referendum.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Looking Abroad

WORDSWORTH wrote four lines, in his poem to the daffodils, that go like this: "For oft when on my couch I lie, in idle or pensive mood, they flash upon that inward eye that is the bliss of solitude, and then my heart with rapture fills and dances with the daffodils."

That inward eye that is the bliss of solitude is a source of rare comfort to us all, when this year's Fourth of July brings us so much that is anxious, doubtful, depressed. We are living in a strange time of change and discomfort, and on all sides insoluble problems beset us. War, juvenile delinquency, broken homes, high taxes, high prices, high angry words in high places—there's just too much of it all. And it has become too easy and too common to get the report on healthy, wealthy, popular young persons: "Patsy's gone off her rocker again, you know, back in the psychopathic ward," or "Johnny's acting so queerly that they've sent him away."

And as these clouds lower, and it takes real faith and strength of spirit to disperse them, I like to think back across the easier years, and take out memories to review and reconsider.

China Visit

China, for example. Rural China, not Europeanized Shanghai and Peiping. Swarming country China, level rice fields between sluggish canals. Muddy dwellings framing muddy compounds, swarms of ivory-skinned men and women in mud-colored robes, jealously guarding the rice that shifts about in a little basket. To one respectable old amah in China I gave a square of dark green felt.

It was hot summer weather, but when Amah next appeared she had felt sewed in neat squares over her quilted thick garments, on knees, elbows, and between her shoulders. Amah, working hard all her 60 years, had no room of her own, no bureau, no small privacy anywhere to store that treasure against the bitter winter. She put it where she could keep it. And she is typical of 300 million.

India. More swarming half-naked people, snatching bits of food from the curb, hanging about the hotel doors. Hungry, dirty, impoverished in the midst of fabulous wealth. India, where a hundred shouting and whining mendicants may be knocked down in the scramble for a few thrown pennies.

Russia. So much work to do, such hard work, such poor pay. Everyone hurrying, a faint scowl the national expression. And the old woman upon whom I called sharing two rooms with a boy and a young man, and exultingly showing me matches that lit when scratched, and a gas stove we would consider as dated about 1902.

Europes People

Italy, with the children herding geese for all-day hours, and macaroni hanging in fringes over the dark doorways of basement hovels on Naples Hill. France, with everything for the tourist, and pinched courage and gaiety for the Paris throngs. France, where the very children look sharp and anxious. Germany, Austria, Poland, Belgium—no need to talk of them! And mighty England standing in long queues for not-too-appetizing food.

And then the inward eye comes back to another land, where the streets blaze with colored lights at night, and the motor cars nudge one another going to the ball games, and children troop to school in blazing socks showing under their jeans, and popcorn and chocolate bars are on every corner, and poverty rises to prosperity, and prosperity reigns in thousands and thousands of homes, wide-spread between the great clean oceans.

And it comes to the figure of a mud-spattered, weary old soldier in a buff-and-blue greatcoat, it turns to Washington, fighting against hopeless odds, enduring unspeakable hardships, believing in his dream of a free people in a free land, and bequeathing to us the reality of that dream.

And the figure of another Titan, gaunt, lonely, heart-sick, but holding us together; Lincoln, giving the vigils of long night hours that the nation might survive, and in the end giving his life for America.

Yes, it is good to get home in one's musings, good to get back under one's own flag, and realize for just what miracles the Fourth of July stands. There is no nation in the whole world that can give its people what we have, or one-half of it. There is no nation whose constitution permits the independence of thought and action.

No nation except ours that can boast—and let us boast a little today!—so many garages and telephones, motor cars and electric washers, gas stoves and bicycles, videos, high schools, clinics and libraries, tennis and courts and movies, school clubs and school theatricals, ice-cream cones and department stores, good teachers and good nurses, ball games and radio games.

Well, you could go on indefinitely. And it all adds up, three cheers for the red, white and blue. May God bless America.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Korean Conflict Is One Year Old; World War May Have Been Averted

SOON, IF AT ALL—A few days ago—June 25—the Korean war was one year old. Today, after a year of fighting Communism in battle, the questions uppermost in the minds of most Americans is what are the chances for world peace? Is World War III nearer or more remote?

A great many unknown factors and "ifs" arise with such questions. But there is a growing belief in the world today that a general war is more remote than a year ago. This reasoning is based mainly upon two points: (1) The free nations of the world are growing stronger every day; (2) the free world has demonstrated in deeds as well as words it will resist aggression.

There is one fact that none of the free nations of the world is overlooking. There is the possibility, in the face of the west's growing strength, that the Soviet Union realizes it must act soon, if at all. To wait would only give the west time to grow so strong that victory for Communism would be an impossibility.

The Korean war seems to have accomplished several things. It brought to life the west's lagging plans to marshal military, political and economic resources to meet future aggression. And these moves may have served as a deterrent to ambitious aggressors.

TEXAS TOUR—Gen. Douglas MacArthur flew to Texas for a number of official receptions and speeches. For three days he preached his doctrine of a realistic approach to far east problems. He went so far in a Dallas speech as to say "it is fantastically unrealistic to refuse to accept the fact that we are at war—a bitter, savage and costly war."

But the colorful general who has caused more controversy in a few months than many prominent figures do in a lifetime, departed from his main theme to take a slap at the domestic policies of the Truman administration.

"There are those who seek to make the burden of taxation so great and the progressive increases so alarming that the spirit of adventure, tireless energy, and masterful initiative which built the material strength of the nation shall become stultified and inert," he said. "There are those who seek to make all men servants of the state."

The departure from the main theme of his speeches since he returned to the United States increased speculation that the general may be planning a political career despite his assertion he is not interested in entering politics. The Texas visit has been called a test for future political moves.

GRAIN FOR INDIA—The long delayed grain for India bill, lending India $190,000,000 on easy terms to buy 2,000,000 tons of U. S. wheat and other basic foodstuffs, was signed into law by President Truman.

The bill was subject to months of heated debate in congress before it was finally passed. Critics argued that India's opposition to some U. S. policies in Korea made her an ill deserving beneficiary. Backers said it had a humanitarian purpose and, besides, it would help line up India with the western world as opposed to the Communist bloc.

In the months of debate many forgot the fact that the food purchased by the loan will prevent famine in India. It was the only humane thing this nation could do.

PRICE CONTROLS—By the time this reaches print the defense production act which gives the government the power to control prices, wages and rents may or may not have been extended. In all probability it will have, but it will not contain the broader powers as asked by President Truman.

Special interests—the cattle industry, landlords, the building industry and others—have used every trick at their command to get amendments tacked to the act that would be to their advantage.

As a result, the house banking committee voted tentatively to knock out two future price rollbacks on live cattle planned by the office of price stabilization. Also, the senate banking committee voted to renew and expand the government's rent-control program. But the senate committee at the same time recommended a raise in some of the rent ceilings.

The committee felt that a 20 per cent increase should be allowed in some areas. Many of these areas already had from 10 to 30 per cent increases above 1942 levels.

As for the house vote on beef rollbacks, it was a direct slap at the administration's beef policies. The vote was in the form of an amendment that would limit future price rollbacks on all agricultural commodities to 90 per cent of prices on May 19, 1951.

Whatever its form, the new defense production act will be far from what President Truman asked.

MACARTHUR HEARINGS—Any day now the MacArthur hearings will close. It would be interesting to know what historians will make of the incident and read into the millions of words of testimony.

No hear or debate in American history ever caused so much comment in the big towns and the home towns of the nation. And possibly no incident in modern history, excepting World War II and the Korean war, received such coverage in the nation's press. It made good reading in dailies and small town newspapers alike.

The debate may have been good for the nation, and certainly, was carried out in the best American tradition of free speech and thought. But there was one regrettable aspect of the hearing. Our potential enemies now know the inner thoughts and reasoning of American foreign policy. Our policies are an open book to the entire world.

RESERVISTS TO GO HOME—Home town enlisted reservists — not members of organized reserve or national guard units—are going to be released by the army. Approximately 100,000 will be released in the next six months.

There will be no "point system" or other inflexible standards to determine the order in which the reservists are released. Each unit will set up its own standards, giving "primary consideration" to maintaining maximum effectiveness.

But veterans who served 90 days or more during World War II are to be let out first under the general standards set up by the army. Reservists who have had previous military service other than World War II are to get second priority.

AMERICAN DOCUMENTS

Constitution to be Preserved in Glass

America's most precious documents—the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution—will be preserved permanently in glass, it was announced recently in Washington.

Work on finding a suitable way of preserving the parchments began a decade ago, but was interrupted by World War II. Since the revival of the project, officials of the Library of Congress, scientists of the National Bureau of Standards and Thermopane technicians of Libbey-Owen-Ford glass company have spent nearly four years perfecting special bronze and glass enclosures for the job.

When the two historical symbols of democracy are once safely stored in glass they will be available for the inspection by the public.

Because of the great significance of the Declaration and the Constitution to the American people, it was essential that all reasonable doubt be removed of future preservation of the documents. In addition, the Library of Congress felt it extremely important to have the manuscripts encased so they could be displayed to the public in future years.

It was only after exhaustive tests that glass enclosures, similar to the factory-sealed double paned units used in homes and in factories, was decided upon.

Farm Labor Has Declined Half Million Since 1950

People working on the nation's farms totaled half a million less in May than a year ago and about 1,500,000 less than the postwar peak in 1946 and 1947, the United States Department of Agriculture reported recently.

During the past year, demands for man power by the armed forces and industrial plants have been felt on the farm, the agricultural department said.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round BY DREW PEARSON

Consumer's View

PRESIDENT Truman has always felt that he made a mistake in yielding to cabinet advisers in October 1948 when he modified price controls on meat. This is one reason why he has become literally a personal crusader against the meat packers and for the consumer in the current battle over price controls.

Conferring privately with his congressional leaders last week, the President really let loose at the big meat packers.

"They are worried about losing some of their big profits," he declared. "But they have brought it on themselves by inflating prices and squeezing the consumer."

He added that certain vocal elements among the cattlemen do not speak for the livestock industry.

"I have some close friends in the business out in my area, which is the biggest cattle market in the world," Truman continued, "and they tell me that they are not at all disturbed by the government's controls on beef."

"These men came to Washington and talked it over with Mike DiSalle. They want to make money like everybody else, but they are putting the national interest above selfish interests."

If the anti-price control lobby had its way and all price controls were abolished, the American consumer wouldn't be the only victim, the President emphasized. Many dairy and poultry farmers would be hard hit, he explained, since wealthy cattle interests could outbid them for feed grains, which are in short supply.

The same feed is required for chickens and dairy cattle as for beef cattle, Truman said, and beef producers would be willing to pay almost any price to fatten up their cattle for market, knowing they could pass the extra cost on to consumers if there were no controls.

"The trouble is we in congress are not hearing from the consumers on this," remarked Rep. Paul Brown of Georgia. "We are hearing a lot from the other side which is against controls, but the consumer isn't saying very much."

"Oh, yes, he is," responded Truman. "I'm the representative of the consumer."

Marshall vs. MacArthur

Real fact about Secretary of Defense Marshall's trip to Tokyo was that he wanted to be in Korea at this particular time—the rainy season—because he is interested in the morale of the men.

The secrecy surrounding his trip was partly a test and had little to do with the enemy. Marshall has been miffed over the leak of important secrets from the Pentagon, and wanted to see whether plans for his trip would also leak. He made the plans more than three weeks ago, but told only two or three people. They didn't leak.

It's significant that Marshall visited Tokyo almost immediately after General MacArthur left. It's no secret that the two men never got along well. Marshall having been a strong Pershing man and the young captain on Pershing's staff who worked out the strategy for the transfer of the American expeditionary force from St. Mihiel to the Meuse-Argonne front without the enemy knowing it. Military experts pronounced this an amazing job.

While Marshall was an unobtrusive 36-year-old captain with Pershing, MacArthur was a spectacular 37-year-old brigadier general with the Rainbow division. After the war, MacArthur kept in the limelight, first as commander of West Point, later as a brigadier general in the Philippines, then as chief of staff. Marshall meanwhile was only a colonel—despite the fact that he had Pershing's potent backing.

However, Pershing and MacArthur weren't getting along well, and MacArthur, not Pershing, was on the upgrade in the army. Both were rivals at one time for the hand of Louise Cromwell, daughter of the J. P. Morgan partner, Edward T. Stotesbury. In the end, she turned down the widower Pershing, married the younger man—MacArthur. Meanwhile, with MacArthur in the saddle, Marshall remained a lowly colonel. It was not until 1938, after MacArthur had been transferred to the Philippines more or less permanently, that Roosevelt recognized Marshall's ability.

Aussie Friend of U.S.

Sir Keith Murdoch, who owns most of the newspapers in Australia and is a potent friend of the United States, visited Washington the other day on one of his annual trips between London and "down under."

Sir Keith's observations on the U.S.A. are worth noting. He found us: 1. The best-informed nation in the world; and 2. the nation with the freest discussion of problems in the world.

Washington Pipeline

Gordon Gray, former secretary of the army, now president of the University of North Carolina, is being urged to come back to government. So also is Barryingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal, who helped build up the Marshall plan in Europe. The Justice department can't make up its mind whether to crack down on Joe Rosenbaum, who figured in the RFC scandals. Rosenbaum had RFC directors "in his pocket."

Main Street Reaps Big Profits From Millions of U.S. Tourists

If Main Street happens to be on a national highway it will mean big business for the home town during the remainder of July and August. Millions of Americans will take to the highways to see the country. And they will spend millions in the home towns for lodging, gasoline, oil, food, soft drinks, souvenirs, and gadgets.

The home town that has a national park or historic shrine nearby, or is located in a beautiful scenic area, will reap the biggest dividend during the weeks that Americans live on wheels. But this opportunity to further home town economy is often neglected by merchants, civic clubs, and the publishers of local newspapers because they fail to tell the world about their assets. It's not too late for many home towns to do something about it.

The home town who plans to take off on a trip across the country is urged to give careful consideration to the widespread deterioration that has taken place along some of the country's main highways. It is wise to study routes before departure to avoid delays and inconveniences.

Over-all postwar highway construction has not been able to keep pace with the ever-increasing volume of motor traffic. In addition, one of the heaviest snowfalls in the history of the country covered many northern states last winter and resulted in widespread damage to road surfaces. Home towns located on highways in good repair will find traffic through town greatly increased during the next two or three months.

Motorists in the United States has come a long way since 1922 when a national magazine declared "anybody can drive across the country now in fifty days." However, the magazine warned that "anyone undertaking to drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific in thirty days has thrown the scenery of the journey away for the questionable privilege of watching chucks and rucks."

Today the motorist thinks nothing of allowing three or four days for a 1,500 mile journey, and maybe seven or eight for a coast to coast trip.

But due to the weather during the past winter and deterioration during the war years, this schedule should be revised slightly upward this year. Most states have labored to improve their road networks, but the motorist must expect to find many inadequate stretches of highways.

For the home town who has not yet decided where he will spend his vacation this year, here are a few figures on costs and events in the south, east and west.

Florida, nationally known as the winter playground of the nation, is making a big bid for summer vacationers this year. Many cities and towns, in cooperation with hotel and apartment house associations and merchants, are offering special vacation package deals for as little as $3.30 a day per person.

In many towns apartments are available for as little as $40 a week. Hotels are offering rooms at $5 and $6 a day that rent in winter for $22. Efficiency apartments, renting in the winter season for $10 a week, drop to $25 for the summer months. The average cost for motels will be about $2 a person during the summer months.

Motorists in the west will find prices very favorable when compared with the nation as a whole. One of the big attractions in the west as vacationers start rolling down national highways are rodeos. Here are a few dates and places of rodeos in the next few weeks:

- Arizona: St. Johns, July 23-24; Benson, Sept. 1-3; Williams, Sept. 3.
- Arkansas: Magnolia, Aug. 7-11; Russellville, Sept. 19-22; Hope, Sept. 27-29.
- California: Fortuna, July 28-29; Roseville, Aug. 9-12; Quincy, Aug. 9-12; Cedarville, Sept. 7-9.
- Colorado: Woodland Park, July 21-22; Monte Vista, Aug. 1-3; Akron, Aug. 14-15; Longmont, Aug. 16-18; Pueblo, Aug. 21-24.
- Idaho: Nampa, July 17-21; Caldwell, Aug. 7-11; Coalinga, Aug. 16-18; Burley, Aug. 23-25; Jerome, Sept. 6-8.
- Iowa: Sidney, Aug. 14-18; Fort Madison, Sept. 15-16.
- Kansas: Topeka, July 13-15; Phillipsburg, Aug. 2-5; Pretty Prairie, Aug. 7-9; Lakin, Aug. 17-19.
- Massachusetts: Tuna Tournament, Provincetown, July 14 Oct. 14. Impressive list of prizes for this third annual event. Dance Fete, Amherst, July 20. Expert callers, dancers demonstrate their techniques. Hundreds participate.
- Rhode Island: Gay Ninety Party, Newport, Sept. 1-3. Dancing on the green, parade of old-style vehicles.
- Connecticut: Farm, Home Day, Storrs, Aug. 8. Atomic energy exhibits, 4-H dress revue, dance festival. Motorboat Races, Branford, Sept. 9. State championship race for more than a hundred power boats on the Connecticut river.
- New Jersey: Regatta, Red Bank, Aug. 11, 12. Topping inboard and outboard drivers participate. One of country's three big boat events. Miss America, Atlantic City, Sept. 4-8.
- Virginia: Pony Round-up, Chincoteague, July 25-26. Annual auction of ponies caught on islands just off mainland. Carnival.
- North Carolina: Drama, Cherokee, June 23-Sept. 3. Indian drama, "Unto These Hills," performed at the Mountain-side Theatre. Folk Festival, Asheville, Aug. 2-4. About 700 ballad singers, folk dancers, musicians take part.
- Maryland: Riding Tournament, Cordova, Aug. 1. Horse show, coronation, dancing.

63 Million to Take Motor Vacations

According to the American Automobile Association some 63,000,000 persons will take recreation motor trips before the year ends, despite highway shortcomings caused by heavy snows and freezing during the past winter.

This prediction is made after government sources indicate there will be no shortage of spare parts and gasoline, and that tires will be available in nearly every part of the country.

Best by test from chick to nest. Here's why Purina Research made 1,028 feeding tests to discover Purina's RIGHT combination of APF, Vitamine B 12 Supplement, Antibiotic Supplement, and Growth Vitamins. This "Formula 1028" is added to Purina starting and growing Poultry Chows.

STARTENA--TO FIVE WEEKS

The 1951 Purina Chick Startena, with "Formula 1028" added, is the finest Purina has ever made! That means even faster growth—the biggest chicks at 5 weeks ever raised on Startena. Economical, too. Takes only 2 pounds to raise a chick to about 5 weeks. Start 'em right on Startena, then feed . . .

GROWENA . . . TO THE NEST

Purina Growena with "Formula 1028" added, is built to grow big, fully-developed pullets that are ready to lay at 20 weeks. MAIN STREET IN ACTION

Advertising Done by Local Merchants Is a Three-Way Street to Prosperity

Take the average citizen living in a small town like this—what stake does he have in the advertising that our local merchants do? What interest does he have in it?

First and obvious, of course, is the use this average person makes of advertisements when he is acting or preparing to act in his vital role as a consumer. If he has it in his mind to purchase a particular piece of goods he reads the ads selectively in order to determine the brands he wants, the price he will pay, and to which store he must go to make his purchase.

Even where a consumer is not consciously attempting to plan his shopping on the basis of what he sees in the ads, advertising continues to function as a stimulus that helps him to recognize and fulfill material needs and wants, of which he might otherwise be partially or totally unaware.

That, by the way, is how advertising operates as a vitally basic and dynamic force in the maintenance and growth of our capitalistic system. It not only strongly stimulates business itself, but in so doing continues to improve our general standard of living by encouraging us to strive for a greater degree of ownership of goods and properties.

The advertising done by our local merchants in this paper is part of that broad concept of advertising in general. The one important difference is that our local advertising tells us what's going on along our own Main street.

In that sense, an ad run in the paper by one of our merchants is much the same as a news story of some happening in town. A grocer buys space to list some of the "specials" that will be available in his store on Saturday. On the front page is a story recounting the plans being made to give the town a swimming pool. Both items are "news" to the reader, in whom they evoke roughly the same degree of interest.

And in this case, both items are interesting to the reader because they represent something that is happening close to him—something that he can "get to." We can make the generalization, then, about any given ad—or story—that the closer it is in space and time to the reader, the greater is the interest and response it will elicit.

It is in whatever happens to the people whom he knows, or in the localities with which he is familiar, that the reader-meaning all of us—is most directly concerned.

The same principle holds true for a good advertisement. It must contain some kind of "news story" if it is to grip our attention; and more than that, it must be a local news story.

Here is at once the reason why local merchants find the paper in their own town the best and most profitable advertising medium, and why the consumers in the town would rather read these advertisements than any others.

Still another facet of the local advertising picture is the relationship that exists between the merchant-advertiser and the newspaper itself. It is, by the way, a relationship which is as important to the subscriber and reader of the paper as it is to the publisher.

This bond is similar to that which functions between a merchant and his customer. In this case, the publisher is the merchant and the advertiser is the customer. The advertiser purchases space in the newspaper because he has a story to tell his readers. He uses advertising as a legitimate means of drawing customers into his store.

Other things being equal, as long as the newspaper continues to provide the service required and the merchant receives an adequate return on his investment, he continues to advertise. When he feels that he no longer is getting that service and value, he ceases or curtails his advertising program. You, as consumers, react in the same way if you receive inferior merchandise in a store; you stop trading there.

This three-way relationship between the consumer, the merchant, and the newspaper is an intensely valuable and necessary one, to ourselves and to our community. You can keep it healthy and prosperous by patronizing the merchants who are represented in the ad columns of this paper.

A. T. Stewart started life with a dollar and fifty cents. This merchant prince began by calling at the doors of houses in order to sell needles, thread and buttons. He soon found the people did not want them. Then he said wisely, "I'll not buy any more of these goods, but I'll go and ask people what they want." Thereafter he studied the needs and desires of people, found out just what they most wanted, endeavored to meet those wants, and became the greatest business man of his time.

—Grenville Kleiser

YMCA Charts Five-Part Program To Cover Rural Areas of Nation

(The second of two articles.)
One hundred years ago the Young Men's Christian Association, known familiarly to four generations of Americans as the "Y," was founded in the U. EVERYBODY but Columbia Pictures has plans for Rita Hayworth; her home studio is just waiting for her to report for work. With a large part of the American public agog to see her because of her much publicized romance, they could put her into a dramatization of the alphabet and make millions. Virginia Van Upp has completed two stories for Rita, and it is rumored that Metro wants to borrow her for "The Merry Widow." What would really make the customers storm the box offices would be a remake of "The Shiek," co-starring her with Tony Dexter, of "Valentino" fame. Or would that come dangerously close to being autobiographical?

Gertrude Astor begins her 37th year in pictures by playing the role of the landlady in "The Dark Page." She says she must have appeared in 1400 films, beginning in 1914 when she went to California to work in "Under Two Flags."

Jackie Kerk, "Homer" of "The Aldrich Family," has just received an offer of more than $5,000 for his extensive postage stamp collection; it was made by Louis Ramvuela, who owns cattle ranches in Argentina. Kerk hates to sell it.

Meredith Willson's "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," written as a theme song for "The Big Show" and introduced six months ago, has been recorded by top artists, become a standard item on programs of Ezio Pinza, Gracie Fields and Jan Peerce, is used for assembly closing in schools, colleges and churches, and is the song most popular with GI's in Korea.

Joan Fontaine got very little publicity when she courted Madam Peron, did somewhat better when she did Paris with Prince Ali Khan, whose marriage to Rita reaped headlines for her.

GOP Again Faced With Lack of Positive Platform

By Wright A. Patterson

THE REPUBLICANS have named their time and place, July 7, 1952, at Chicago. The especially important part of the next presidential campaign remains. I believe the most important is the party program, the stating in clear and definite terms what the party proposes to the American voters. In many ways, it is of more importance at this time than the selection of candidates.

That program must be of a positive nature. No longer can the party appeal successfully to the voters by merely "viewing with alarm" the policies and actions of the opposition. What the voters want to know is what the Republicans will do if they are returned to power. They want the assurance that there will be a definite turn to the right; that our free enterprise system will be preserved; that the continuous growth in the bureaucratic army will stop, and the numbers of that army be diminished.

They want to be assured that we will continue our war preparations, but will discontinue, for a time at least, the unnecessary home projects that we can get along without, and by so doing, relieve the taxpayer of a considerable portion of the load he has been carrying. Such are some of the definite pronouncements the voters are looking for. They will not be satisfied with only condemnation for the present, or any past, administration.

Dwarf Apple Trees Solve Small Backyard Problem

MOSCOW, Idaho — Dwarf apple trees which bear excellent fruit but grow no bigger than eight feet may be the answer to the small backyard.

The University of Idaho Extension Service says the Dwarf trees have the advantage of taking up small space and eliminating difficult pruning, spraying and harvesting. Dwarfies are available in nearly all varieties.

The YMCA began aiding servicemen during the Civil War when Y workers, called "Christians" by the soldiers, followed both armies to serve decently cooked hot meals, help tend the wounded and insist on the humane treatment of prisoners of war. In the Spanish American War, they introduced doughnuts and coffee to soldiers. At one battle they arrived with their rations some three hours ahead of the troops! During World War I, the Y, according to General Pershing, performed 90 per cent of the welfare work for soldiers overseas and during the recent conflict, as now, the YMCA comprised one-third of the soldier-service organization known as the U.S.O.

The best of the Y's hundred years of experience will go into the new five-part program designed to cover non-urban areas. The organization will work this way:

- 1. The Small City Association, to operate as independent units in cities under 25,000 population.
2. The Town and Country Association, covering both farms and small towns in a single county or group of counties.
3. The County Branch, covering a rural area centered about a large city.
4. The Outreach Program, extending from a thriving city YMCA to cover small neighboring communities.
5. The District Program, all rural, directed by the state YMCA organization but sponsored socially and financially by the area served.

FINANCIAL PROBLEMS, of course, will play a large part in the Y's scheduled rural drive. YMCA officials emphasize that the Y cannot and will not begin at the outset to construct large, streamlined buildings, with hotel space, gymnasium, meeting rooms and swimming pools in order to lure members. A YMCA, they explain, must first establish a firm spiritual foundation and a record for concrete service to the community before it can begin to think in terms of permanent headquarters.

Instead, the organization burden will fall largely on the rural secretary, a YMCA career man who has been given special training for his job and, more likely than not, been educated at one of the Y's twenty-five degree-granting colleges. He will begin, like the founders of the first YMCA in Boston in December of 1851, by interesting social-minded members of the community in the Y movement. He may work through churches of all denominations or through the public schools. Depending upon how long he has been in the area he will spend three months to a year observing local conditions and then report lengthily to his superiors on how, in his opinion, the YMCA can best improve its foothold in your community and extend its services to the people who live there.

The stated purpose of the Y, which is to develop Christian leadership among the nation's youth, has already helped to mould the character of such YMCA alumni as President Truman, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Douglas, Gene Tunney, Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and thousands of other figures of national importance. Its fondest hope for the future is that it can help to build similar qualities in the young men and women who must see the nation safely through its next hundred years.

ANOTHER GOOD CROP

By James B. Holm

FARM FOLKS are always asking a squire for information and advice on law. Dave Tidwell was no exception.

Dave was a leathery faced man in his sixties. I was attracted by a peach tree on his place, then in full bearing. He gave me a few peaches.

Dave's place didn't look any too prosperous. He spoke of his dilapidated old car near the barn.

"I guess I'll never have money enough to buy a new one," he said. "Can't make anything on this place now."

I could see he had something else on his mind. Pretty soon he started to ask questions.

"Squire, who does money belong to if it's found hidden in a man's barn?"

"Why, I suppose it would belong to him, unless someone else could prove direct ownership," I told him.

More questions were asked, rather cautiously. At length he said: "I used to have a hired man named Obie Hart. Don't know if you ever heard of him or not. He's dead now. He was a good fellow."

"When he was a young man, he and his brother Sid lived around here. Obie got engaged to a girl but she threw him over for Sid. Obie always hated Sid for that and left home. Never spoke to Sid again. He came to work for me nearly forty years ago and stayed until last year when he died. I didn't pay him much but he saved his money. He didn't trust banks, either, and he never married."

"Now here a couple of weeks ago I was working in the barn and came across a wad of ten-dollar bills stuck away in a mortise slot. Wasn't a great deal. I don't know who put it there. Who does the money belong to?"

"Dave," I said, "I can't advise you, but if it had been me that found it, I wouldn't do any hunting for an owner. It's your barn, isn't it?"

We looked at each other with the light of understanding between us. "I don't know if there's any more there or not," said Dave. "As I said, I don't know what Obie did with his money. He must have accumulated quite a little in forty years. He may have done something with it I don't know about, or anyone. Anyway, he liked to be alone around the barn a great deal."

"Dave," I said, "what people don't know won't hurt them. If I found any money in my barn I would regard it as another good crop. If anyone thought different, it would be up to him to prove his claim."

Dave looked satisfied. "I guess I can trust you, can't I, squire?" I forgot all about the matter until a year later. Then Dave Tidwell came to my office carrying a half bushel basket of peaches.

"These are some of the peaches you liked so well, squire," he said. "I had another nice crop this year. Matter of fact, all crops were good this year. No charge. My regards."

The look he gave me was a peculiar, knowing one and confidential like.

I looked out my window and saw Dave drive away. He was driving a nice new automobile. It was a make that must have cost twenty-five hundred dollars or more.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Serve Protein-Rich Foods for Summer Meals To Repair Tissues

"SHE SETS A GOOD TABLE," in days gone by was the very last word in compliments for good homemakers. Cold or hot weather, this meant foods which had that important sticky-the-ribs quality, a m e l l y, meat, fish, poultry or cheese, rich in protein.

Though salads and cooling desserts are much in demand for hot weather, no smart homemaker forgets that her family is active in work and particularly in play. This means they need to re-build and repair body tissue and muscle, and nutritionally speaking, protein foods must find a place in the diet.

A "good table" is still as essential as it was in grandmother's day, and is possible when food wisdom, beauty and imagination are used for its preparation.

Cheese Pegs are a good example of a nice choice for supper. Protein-rich cheese is combined with mashed potatoes, butter and eggs, then fried to a golden brown. Serve them with garden vegetables for a well-balanced meal: cauliflower flowerets, plum tomatoes, cucumber wedges and whole green beans, dipping the vegetables in sour cream dressing to enhance their appeal.

Cheese Pegs, Vegetable Platter (Serves 6)
2 cups mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup shredded Old English cheese, processed type
1 egg
1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
Dash of nutmeg
Salt, pepper

1 cup soured cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 1/2 tablespoons horseradish
Salt, cayenne, paprika

1 cauliflower
Plum tomatoes
Cucumber wedges
Cooked, whole green beans
Combine hot mashed potatoes, butter, cheese, beaten egg, 1/4 cup cracker crumbs and seasonings to taste; mix well.

Press on bread board, sprinkled with remaining crumbs. Roll into cylinders 1/2-inch thick. Cut into 2-inch lengths and fry in deep fat heated to 400° F. Drain well.

Combine the soured cream, mayonnaise, lemon juice, mustard, horseradish, salt, cayenne and paprika to taste. Chill well.

Separate cauliflower into flowerets and chill thoroughly after washing. Place in center of platter and surround with tomatoes, cucumbers and whole green beans. Serve with soured cream dressing and hot cheese pegs as an accompaniment.

HOT POTATO SALAD is a popular meal, especially when served with a budget meat, frankfurters. Both potatoes and frankfurters are rich in proteins.

"Pan-Fried Franks" (Serves 4-5)
Heat 2 tablespoons fat in a heavy skillet and brown in 8-10 frankfurters whole. Broiled moderately fast on all sides, cooking until heated through. Serve immediately.

Well-seasoned hot potato salad is a welcome treat when served with pan-fried frankfurters. Neither the salad nor the frankfurters takes much cooking, and will help keep your kitchen cool when the temperature's soaring.

Recipe Given

"Hot Potato Salad" (Serves 6)
8 boiling potatoes
6 slices bacon
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped or thinly sliced onion
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 teaspoon sugar

Scrub potatoes but do not peel. Cook until just tender in boiling, salted water. Meanwhile, pan broil bacon until crisp; remove from drippings and crumble. Lightly brown green peppers and onion in bacon drippings; remove from pan. To fat remaining in pan, add flour and blend well. Add water gradually, then vinegar. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Add salt and sugar. Peel and dice hot potatoes, add green pepper and onion to them. Pour on hot dressing. Mix lightly and serve hot.

A GOOD VEGETABLE to serve with an otherwise cold dinner of sliced meat and cheese is this one made with cabbage and green pepper:
Pennsylvania Dutch Pepper Cabbage (Serves 6)
1 small head cabbage (2 pounds)
1 teaspoon salt
1 medium onion, grated
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1 green or red pepper, chopped
Chop cabbage fine. Add salt, onion and sugar. Let stand one hour. Blend cream and vinegar. Pour over cabbage. Add pepper and mix thoroughly.

A TANGY PIE which includes protein-rich eggs is an excellent dessert choice for hot weather meals. This one goes well with a hearty meal because it's light and airy with a refreshing flavor of lemon:
Lemon Velvet Chiffon Pie
1/2 cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup boiling water
2 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup light cream

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Add boiling water, and while stirring, cook until thick and smooth. Remove from heat and mix in beaten egg yolks and butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add lemon juice and peel. Stir in gelatin that has been dissolved in cold water. Blend in cream. Let set until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into baked 9-inch pie shell and let stand in a cool place until thick. If desired, served with a topping of whipped cream.

Stuffed peppers with ham or chicken are something of a novelty. Fill the parboiled green peppers with a mixture of ham or chicken mixed with cooked rice and seasonings including basil and onion with cheese and bake. Serve with heated tomato soup, as a sauce.

Tender green beans, fresh out of the garden, do proudly as your vegetable for company dinners. Cook them with a bit of sugar, then drain and season with a dusting of salt, pepper and melted butter in some hot cream.

If you have several kinds of melon refrigerated, make balls of two or three kinds, watermelon, honeydew and cantaloupe, for example. Mix with halved and seeded dark sweet cherries and avocado slices. Serve with lettuce and avocado slices and French dressing.

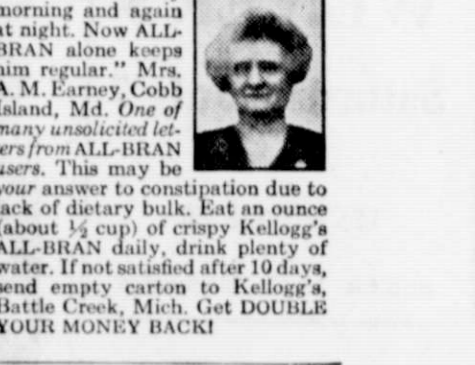

Cold meats and potato salad can be turned into a company supper just by molding the salad into the center of a platter, then making cornucopias of the meat by rolling and placing around the salad. Garnish with black, chilled olives and ripe tomato slices.
