Betty Jane Petri and Delores Fick Brides

Before a beautifully banked altar in the Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, Wayne, Miss Betty Jane Petri became the bride of Kenneth W. Koepke on Saturday, Aug. 11.

They repeated their vows before the Rev. Carl Fluackinger at the 7:00 o'clock candlelight service. Miss Joan Friedenburgh, Fond du Lac, sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "At Dawning" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, R. George Petri, approached the altar in a white marquisette bridal gown. Chantilly lace and seed pearls formed the Peter Pan collar of her dress designed with an illusion yoke and hoop skirt.

Merry Jane Petri, daughter of the George Petri, dressed in a ruffled pink tulle gown, carried a basket bouquet of rose buds and forget-me-nots as she preceded the bride down the aisle.

Melvin Koepke was best man for his brother. Their parents are the Charles J. Koepkes of Campbellsport, R. 3. George Dieckmeier and Adolph W. Ludwig, Jr., both of Milwaukee, accepted the wedding party as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 250 guests was held at the bride's home. After an extended honeymoon to the western states, the couple will return to Kewaskum, where a new home awaits them.

The bride is a teacher in the Kewaskum Public School and the groom is employed in the office of the Harley-Davidson Co., Milwaukee.

The Rev. Martin Mencke officiated at a nuptial service at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 11, in Gospel Lutheran church, Milwaukee, uniting in marriage Miss Delores Fick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fick of Kewaskum, and Lawrence Strelka, son of Michael Strelka, N. Buffum st., Milwaukee.

An afternoon reception was held at Villard Gardens following the ceremony. Later the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to northern Wisconsin. Upon their return the couple will reside on Bartlett ave. in Milwaukee.

The only attendants at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Schroer, Route 1, Random Lake.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown in ivory of imported chantilly lace over satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice detailed with lace bound straps. Her matching fitted jacket was styled with long sleeves, rolled collar and pocket like pleats, and she wore a Juliet cap to match.

The bride's attendant wore a green ballerina length dress of taffeta faille. It was trimmed with brocade, had a fitted bodice and scalloped neckline. The full skirt was styled with a pleated panel which was edged with brocade. She wore a silver Juliet hat and silver shoes.

The bride's bouquet consisted of butterfly orchids with an added garnish of Stephanotis. The attendant carried a bouquet of red rosette roses. The mother of the bride wore a rose crepe dress trimmed with lace and pinned an orchid to her shoulder. Her accessories were navy blue.

The Rev. Presenberg was accompanied by his wife and daughters, Beverly, Carmen and Deanne. The family resides at Silver Creek, occupying the parsonage of St. Paul's congregation.

Auto, Tractor Struck by Train Here in Two Crossing Accidents

A young girl suffered minor injuries and an auto and tractor were damaged in two railroad crossing accidents in and near Kewaskum the past week.

At 5:55 p. m. Monday a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Herbert Ramel, 36, R. 2, Kewaskum, was struck by a North Western railroad Diesel switch engine on the Second st. crossing in this village, near the L. Rosenhelmer mill.

Ramel's six-year-old daughter, Diana, a passenger in his auto, suffered head bruises in the mishap and was treated in a local physician's office. The engine struck the right front fender of the Ramel machine, damaging the fender, front headlight, grill and bumper. Damage was estimated at about $100.

Last Friday afternoon a farm tractor driven by Wallace Krueger, R. 2, Campbellsport, was struck by the same Diesel switch engine on the William Kohn crossing about 1 1/2 miles north of Kewaskum.

Krueger was assisting with work on the farm of his son Harold at the time. The railroad and Highway V run parallel in front of the Krueger farm home. He had stopped for the crossing and then began driving across the tracks at a slow rate of speed.

The crossing is a very hazardous one on which one man was killed and several other vehicles were struck by trains in recent years.

Two auto collisions occurred in the village the past week. Cars driven by Donald Miodzik, 22, Kewaskum, and Herb Kisinger, 35, R. 2, Kewaskum, collided at the intersection of Main st. and Fond du Lac ave. at 8:45 p. m. Saturday.

Two or three other traffic accidents were reported the past week but were of a minor nature.

Barn, Granary and Contents Lost in Fire on Falk Farm

FLAMES CAUSE $5,000 DAMAGE; GRAIN, HAY, CLOVER SEED IS DESTROYED; STOCK SAVED

Fire, which was believed to have been started by the generation of heat in a threshing machine blower, caused estimated $5,000 damage at the Herman Falk farm in the town of Auburn, R. 2, Campbellsport, Saturday afternoon.

The flames shot up from the blower into the haymow, and destroyed the main 36 by 66-foot barn, an 18 by 24-foot granary and adjoining sheds, 400 bushels of grain, 1,000 bales of hay and eight bales of clover seed. Also lost in the fire were a tractor and other farm machinery, tools, dairy equipment and supplies. Livestock was removed from the barn at the start of the fire.

Both the Kewaskum and Campbellsport fire departments were called. The flames quickly spread through the barn and were out of control when the fire fighters arrived. Firemen succeeded in saving the dwelling, remote from the burning buildings but under constant threat because of the direction of the wind.

The local department remained at the scene about 1 1/2 hours and then returned home, leaving the Campbellsport firemen in charge at the farm. By this time the flames were well spent and there was no need for having two departments present.

Water was transported in a Floyd Bauer milk transport truck and other fire department auxiliary tankers from Campbellsport supplemented the water supply in case more would be needed.

The fire began at about 1 p. m. At the time, the threshing crew had approximately an hour's work left. The damage was partly covered by insurance. A large crowd was attracted to the scene and many more came Tuesday evening and next day to see the ruins.

SPORTLIGHT

The Heavyweight Division

STEPPING into the heavyweight picture we have the feeling that we've just invaded a squirrel cage or stuck our features into a revolving fan.

Just what is the heavyweight division, anyway? Walcott whips Louis but doesn't get the Walcott. Ezzard Charles gives Louis a bad trimming. Ezzard Charles then gives Walcott two unhappy evenings by knocking Jersey Joe around.

Then along comes Rex Layne and whips Walcott, making it practically unanimous. For Jersey Joe is now close to 38 years old, possibly older, and he has been beaten four times in a row.

In the midst of this turmoil and confusion Rocky Marciano knocks out Rex Layne, late conqueror of Walcott.

Then the aging Walcott knocks out Ezzard Charles.

If you can make anything out of this pretzel-shaped situation, you have considerable on us. Louis, Walcott, Charles, Marciano and Layne are all in the jumble. Three of these have given Jersey Joe a healthy powdering - Louis, Charles and Layne.

On a matter of percentages Ezzard Charles is still ahead. But Jersey Joe Walcott is the heavyweight champion of the world. He not only holds a knockout over Charles but he beat him six out of seven rounds by outboxing and out-fighting him.

On top of this scrambled heavyweight situation we have Robinson and Turpin moving into the scenery shortly. Jim Norris admits that Madison Square Garden can't handle over two big fights in one month. This leaves a flock of heavyweights on the outside looking in.

Having won two out of three matches from Walcott, Charles deserves his return bout. But Louis has been training for another shot at Charles for over a year. And Marciano, backed by Al Weill, says he won't meet anyone but the champion.

If Walcott and Charles meet, a Louis-Marciano contest would be highly important, as well as interesting, since both Louis and Marciano can hit with the impact of a brick at close enough range.

It would be more than interesting to see Marciano piling into Joe Louis as he piled into Rex Layne.

No Big Stars

The heavyweight situation today is the most highly involved in many, many years.

It is now evident that with a 38-year-old fighter—one who had lost his last four important matches to Louis, Charles and Layne—the new world's champion, the quality of this rickety division isn't any Mt. Everest peak. It has to be pretty low. But as long as it is now a big four-cornered matter among old rivals, it has at least taken on a keener degree of national interest than anything we have seen since Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey left us, over 20 years ago.

For example, most of the old-time boxers that I talked to after the Marciano-Layne fight were confident Charles could take both Walcott and Marciano.

As it developed Charles couldn't take Walcott alone in his third stab, and Marciano's status, he's the man who wrecked Layne who beat Walcott who knocked out Charles, is still a mystery. Where does this lead us? We are deeper in the underbrush than we were at the start of the argument.

If the Past Performance Chart means anything at all the four men left are about as evenly matched as one could hope to find.

Rex Layne is still two years away, waiting for the day when he can discover what a left hand means. Rocky Marciano might be in the same fix regarding experience, of which he had had little in high-class boxing society.

Ezzard Charles was regarded as a good, careful boxer who couldn't punch. Against Walcott he looked to be in a half daze. He made very little active effort to defend his slipping crown. He must have seen that said crown was skidding rapidly and yet he still wouldn't make a threatening gesture. It was a sad performance on the part of a defending champion. But there was nothing sad about the way Walcott finally won the big title.

Looking Ahead

The American League dominance in baseball will never return again by any heavy margin—not while most of us are inhaling the thin breath of life. I mean by that the A.L. won't again have a Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx and Greenberg operating its salvos.

These four hit more than 2,000 homers, if our memory is intact. Babe Ruth had around 714, Lou Gehrig—494, Foxx—534 and Greenberg had 331.

But those big days are over. Joe DiMaggio has been another American League star along the power road. Joe had 349 homers when the 1951 season opened. So he must also be remembered on the power side of his league in the days when roaring bats drove the National League into submission.

The American League is now offering such rebuttals as Williams, Stephens, Doby, Easter, Berra, Robinson, Rosen, Wertz and one or two others. But these long-ball hitters are not reaching the range of the National League people.

The Way it Happened... IN BURWELL, GA. ... A gourd dipper belonging to Miss Queen Walker has been in use for fifty-seven years, hanging on the same nail all the time. IN LISBON ... A prisoner in a jail complained that he was being "tortured" by being served oatmeal for breakfast and chicken for lunch, and steak, fried eggs and potatoes for dinner every day. IN HARRISBURG, PA. ... The North Eastern Poultry Producers Council elected a new president for the year ahead, one W. L. Clark.

HOME TOWN NEWS

Army to Establish News Center For Releases to Local Papers

The people in the home towns of the nation are going to hear more about local soldiers in the army. The army recently announced the establishment of a central news processing center in Kansas City, Mo. The primary purpose of the center will be to obtain recognition in his home town newspaper for each soldier who merits it. The center will provide more news about local men in the army and relieve combat trained soldier of a big volume of writing and typing.

throughout the country in a single package—while they are still fresh. The army's decision to create the agency after a study disclosed that publication of such stories in home town newspapers not only served to keep the people in the home towns informed but also had a tremendous effect on the soldiers themselves. They want credit for themselves and their units when they feel they deserve it. Newspaper editors long have been aware of the demand by their readers for news about local men in the army and have spared no effort in gathering this information. But no newspaper—even with its own reporters working in the field with the troops—is able to give complete coverage without assistance from the army.

The major press associations, which have done a splendid job of keeping the public informed by supplying newspapers with national and state aspects of the army's campaigns and build-up, are unable to move a large volume of purely local news because of lack of wire space. Stories of outstanding heroism and achievement by individual soldiers have received excellent coverage through the press associations.

But to a newspaper editor in Helena, Ark., the story of a Helena soldier's promotion to a sergeant or his winning of the Bronze Star medal is of far more importance to a Helena newspaper and its readers than a lengthy story of a Boston or Seattle infantryman who won the Congressional Medal of Honor or a five-mile advance by an army in the field. However, none of the wire services has the facilities to send to the newspapers concerned the myriad "small" items of this type. The army has few public information men in units smaller than a division, and even at division level the public information staff is limited. It is the primary job of the small staff at this level to see that major news is covered. Consequently, "little" news items that would be of great importance in towns throughout the nation often are passed up.

The army has appointed Major Walter A. Pennino, former Boston Globe writer and far east Command news chief in Tokyo until last year, to command the army central news processing center. He has just been relieved of assignment with the army's office of information in Washington to organize and operate the center. A small but competent staff has already been chosen for the job.

The army expects to release approximately 1,000,000 home town stories annually when full operations get underway.

Judge Levies Overtime Fine On Railway, Promises More

RICHMOND, Calif. — Parking tickets are becoming a special target for overtime tags—consider the case of the city that fined a railroad engineer.

A Richmond city ordinance says trains must not block a grade crossing for more than five minutes.

Police Judge Clare Horner said Southern Pacific trains violated that rule eight times and fined the company $80, with a strong warning: "Next time you're in for sterner judgment."

Let's Not Fool Americans With False Propaganda

By Wright A. Patterson

WE MAY NOT resent foreign nations being fed false information by the state department, as Secretary Acheson testified, was the case, when on the witness stand before the senate committee investigating the firing of MacArthur. But we do resent, and quite justifiably, paying taxes to the extent of many millions of dollars to be spent by governmental departments in attempting to influence our opinions on Fair Deal socialistic projects.

Many thousands — something like 30,000—highly paid propagandists are employed to promote health insurance (socialized medicine), universal military training, the Bran- nan food plan, and other things which congress has turned thumbs down.

Through handouts to the press and radio and through thousands of speakers, these publicity experts dish out for our benefit, and at our expense, definitely false and misleading statements regarding these nefarious Fair Deal schemes.

For example: They tell us the government-sponsored legislation to provide for health insurance (socialized medicine) will cover all the costs of all our occultist and dental bills, our hospital, medicine and doctor bills, with our regular family physician to attend to the needs of each of us, and at a cost that is far less than we are now paying for covering our ills and misfortunes. The facts and figures they give us for the money we pay are false and misleading. They are definitely lies, but the authors are not asked or expected to prove them.

In addition to the press and radio handouts, consisting of many thousands of words each week, these specialists prepare hundreds of speeches, equally as unreliable and misleading as are the press and radio releases. These speeches are delivered to any audience that will listen.

The orators who deliver them are drawn from that army of bureaucrats to be found in each division of the federal government, including social security, agriculture, interior, national defense, justice and others, all of them paid out of taxes of us Americans, and each of them paid far more than they could earn on any other job they could get.

These bureaucrats selected for the purpose seek the opportunity to talk to service clubs, farmers and women's organizations, church societies. Special speeches to fit audiences of all classes and types, are prepared by the publicity experts, and we pay both those who write the speeches and those who deliver them to the extent of many millions of dollars each year.

And who is responsible for such expenditure of the American tax payers' money? The answer to that question is, congress. It is congress that levies the taxes we must pay, and then appropriates the money for such expenditures as it approves. Among those receiving con-

THE FICTION CORNER THE LONG WAY HOME

By Beatrice Cargill

LONG AFTER the 12:07 had moved out of sight around Black Mountain, two figures stood motionless on the tiny platform. Above them, creaking on its hinges, the sign read "Turner Junction." Wind whirled and eddied around them harshly. Job Reynolds, station master, stayed discreetly inside the ticket office. He had watched folks for twenty years as they explicated that first aloneness.

The train had paused for only a minute. Then, with Rob Cameron waving and smiling on the rear platform, it had made its noisy departure.

"Must be down the valley to Ellentown by now," John said. Sara clutched the shiny black leather purse tighter. It was Rob's last gift.

"Feels like snow in the air, Mother." John's gray head bent to hers. "Turkey weather."

"Yes, Thanksgiving's almost here again." Sara looked deep into his eyes. "John, he'll be gone for a long time."

"Yes, Sara." Job Reynolds came out on the platform and watched them climb into the old blue sedan. The old car woke up and cleared its throat.

"Need some anti-freeze, I do." John pulled out the choke. "Maybe a little coffee might help." Sara smiled, but it was only her lips that moved.

They drove seven miles past browned and crisped meadows. John slowed down near a white, low farmhouse. There was a small sign on the side of an elm tree—"Mrs. Whitely's Famous Dinners."

Sara nodded in reply to his unasked question. She straightened her hat in the rear view mirror and put on her gloves, taking a long time with each finger. Rob's train must be nearly to Coddington.

THERE WERE long, silent minutes between soup and chicken and dessert. After dinner, they went out behind the barn to see the minks, kept in orderly cages. Mrs. Whitely's boy fished in the pond for sunfish to feed them. Sara bent over to see the tiny creatures and her hair played in the wind. The gray streaks were like a light touch of snow.

She counted the minks. Two large ones, one small one, screened off by himself. A family? Their family had been three—John, Rob, Sara.

"Yes, they are beautiful," she said. "I wish I could look at them without thinking of the coats they are going to make." She smiled, apologetically. "It seems wicked, to kill them, I mean."

Mrs. Whitely grinned. "Well, Mrs. Cameron, I used to feel sorry for them, but after the first check came in, I never thought about it again."

The train must be at Gorge City now. Another hour and he'd be there. She closed her eyes. John's arm was around her.

"I feel as if I'd been running," she murmured. "Guess I leaned over too long looking at the minks."

They settled themselves in the old car again. They could see the farm on a distant hill. "I still love it, John. I still like coming around that curve and seeing it, knowing it'll be there."

The car whined in self-pity as it climbed the hill. John drove up to the front door. He fumbled for the key and then just held it in his hand. Something seemed to hold him back. He didn't want to go into the house. He leaned down to pat the old collie who stood waiting there—and saw the note. Pinned to the dog's collar was a scrap of paper. Together John and Sara read it, incredulous. Drawn in the quick scrawl of a boy in a hurry were Mom and Dad—woeful faces above single-line bodies. Mom was clutching the black purse, Dad his keys. Beneath the picture Rob had written in large black letters. "CHEER UP—YOU SURE LOOK GLOOMY."

"John, you sure look gloomy," Sara repeated—and John began to grin. Sara laughed, and John said, "That boy," he said, "That crazy kid."

He opened the door and they went into their house.

Real Estate Bargains Awaited Early Settlers

Soaring real estate prices serve to remind Americans that the early bird gets the bargain. Peter Minuti's famous $24 purchase of Manhattan Island is only one example of the good "buys" available when the country was young.

Director Minuti's successor, Wouter Van Twiller, also got his money's worth when he gave a band of Indians about $1.65 worth of presents in exchange for 172-acre Governor's Island in New York Harbor. Staten Island, too, was bought from Indians in 1631 for "certain parcels of goods."

Christopher Columbus started it all with an investment in ships estimated by various authorities at from $16,000 to $75,000, of which Columbus himself is said to have contributed the equivalent of $2,000.

William Penn received in 1681 almost all of the present state of Pennsylvania as payment for a loan of 16,000 British pounds made by his father, Admiral Sir William Penn, to King Charles II of England. At current exchange rates, this sum amounts to $44,800. In later years his descendants were paid eight times that much by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their interests and were permitted to keep their private estates. Penn also was required to pay the king two beaver skins on January 1 each year, plus one-fifth of all gold and silver ore found within his territory.

For the province of Maryland, Lord Baltimore had to deliver two Indian arrows yearly to Windsor Castle, plus a fifth of gold and silver ores. Early transactions shifted ownership of the present state of New Jersey several times. Charles II originally granted the area to his brother, the Duke of York, who decided it to John Lord Berkeley and Sir George Carteret as joint proprietors. In 1674 Berkeley sold West Jersey for 1,000 pounds ($2,800) to two Quakers named John Fenwick and Edward Byllyngs. The executors of Carteret's will sold East Jersey at public auction in 1682 to William Penn and a number of associates for 3,400 pounds ($9,520).

Half interest in the state of Maine, as represented by a royal grant to Sir Ferdinando Gorges, was bought from his heirs by the state of Massachusetts in 1677 for 1,250 pounds ($3,500).

When the United States bought Louisiana Territory from Napoleon in 1803, the country got a lot for its money. The price of $15,000,000 averaged out to less than three cents an acre for the 827,000 square miles. Subsequently, the Federal Government paid nearly a billion dollars to compensate Indian tribes for their lands in the territory.

Whitsunday Sermon Gets That Realistic Touch

FAIRMONT, W. Va.—The reality of a Whitsunday sermon on the tongues of flame descending upon the apostles at Pentecost, being delivered by Rev. F. Graham Luckenbill, was graphically impressed in the minds of the congregation. As the rector of Christ Episcopal church switched on the reading lamp in the pulpit, there was a sharp crack and a burst of flame from the socket of the lamp.

When Your Fire Alarm Sounds

"The most natural thing for most people to do is to find out where the fire is located.

"As a result, your TELEPHONE OPERATORS are hopelessly swamped with calls that they are unable to answer.

"This condition might some day result in a disastrous fire or a serious catastrophe.

"During the fire the telephone lines should be reserved for those who are charged with the control of fires. So—for the benefit of your firemen, the interests of the fire victim, and the good of the TELEPHONE SERVICE—PLEASE DO NOT CALL THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR FOR INFORMATION REGARDING THE FIRE. THANK YOU."

MAIN STREET IN ACTION

Experimental Plan Sets Five Towns On Road to Community Improvement

It is not unusual that sometime during the existence of a small town there may occur within its very social and economic structure a crisis upon which its future life as a community might depend.

This crisis might be in the form of a dramatic economic catastrophe which could permanently obstruct the flow of the town's business lifeblood; or it might appear more subtly as a deterioration of spirit, loss of community energy, or a diminution of the local action and group interest that a small town must have if it is going to thrive.

FEATURE

What happens, what is to be done when a community comes into the grip of such a crisis? First of all, obviously, the condition has to be recognized and admitted before anything can be done. For some concrete examples, let's take a look at a few small towns in the rich agricultural area of central Illinois.

This story, told by Robert Stein and E. Jerry Walker in the August edition of The Rotarian, began in Bloomington, Illinois, big town brother of the small communities of Roanoke, Minonk, Lexington, Colfax, and Stanford. H. Clay Tate, editor of the Daily Pantagraph in Bloomington, built the fire six years ago after he realized that he was receiving more and more requests from small towners who were eager to find a way to improve their communities.

Editor Tate had the idea that perhaps he could do something. So he turned for advice and guidance to Professor Alvin T. Anderson, field representative for the University of Illinois. With the approval of the university, the two men determined to find a basic formula—if there was one—for community betterment.

They chose the five small towns mentioned above for their experiment, communities which ranged in size from Stanford's population of 432 to Minonk's 1,397.

To begin with, Mr. Tate and Professor Anderson had a big, basic idea: Community improvement can come only as a result of forces working within the town; it cannot be superimposed by any outside agency. Thus, the men made the rule that each town would have to request a place in the experiment. All did so.

First step was to arrange a meeting with some responsible representatives of the five communities. They came—businessmen, clergymen, educators, farmers, war veterans, town officials, school board members, housewives, and youth representatives. Professor Anderson conducted the session. "Just what," he asked, "are your problems?"

The answers that came revealed that these people were deeply interested in the welfare of their communities. A farmer suggested that his town needed a restroom where wives and children could spend some time in comfort when they came to town for the day. A high school student wanted to know why some teachers couldn't be hired on a year-round basis—especially the athletic coach. And there were more—many more—suggestions as the audience warmed to the subject.

Final result of the investigations was a five-step program, adaptable to any community that is willing to put it to use:

1. Leadership is assumed by a nucleus of citizens with a genuine interest in the future of the town.
2. A free exchange of ideas is achieved through a public mass meeting.
3. The community authorizes a council to serve as the over-all planning and directing force for the program.
4. An executive committee, taken from members of the community council, is given the duties of planning and directing surveys, appraisals, and studies; analyzing results and formulating action programs; reviewing and approving specific plans; and encouraging other local organizations to accept work and responsibilities.
5. Working committees are appointed to carry through the industrial, social, and civic phases of the betterment program.

Unless man in the midst of all modernism finds a middle ground upon which to adjust his differences, there can be no mutual progress, human liberty is sacrificed and talent and free-will suffer. Improvement of the standards of living of the whole people is paramount, if civilization is to escape world fanaticism.

The planes are for delivery under the mutual defense assistance program to Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, Belgium and France. The Corregidor, a baby flattop, was recently de-mothballed by the Atlantic reserve fleet. The planes are F-84E jets.

DULLES BURNED IN EFFIGY . . . John Foster Dulles was hanged and burned in effigy in Manila, while over 5,000 indignant demonstrators denounced the U.S. ambassador as "betrayor of Filipino-American relations." Organized by the Liberal Youth League, the burning of Dulles reached the climax of the Philippines' protest against the "unfairness" of the proposed Japanese peace treaty when it side-stepped reparations to the Philippines for Jap war damages.

WAR POSTSCRIPT . . . In Berlin, a "monster" is pushed into a truck as the relieved neighborhood, cautiously keeping a distance, peers at the police and detonation experts. The "monsters" are undetonated bombs, dropped by allied planes during the last war. Although dormant for several years, the fuses are still intact and sensitive to the slightest jar.

KING LEOPOLD ABDICATES . . . Leopold III, fourth king of the Belgians, signs abdication papers, ending an unhappy 17-year reign. He abdicated in favor of his son, Prince Baudouin (standing at right) who was formally crowned King Baudouin I in ceremonies before the joint house of the parliament. Controversy over King Leopold's rule caused rioting and near revolution in the nation recently as pro-Leopold factions clashed with anti-Leopold groups on the streets.

Use Fruits, Eggs, Milk To Help Make Desserts Popular and Nutritious

CARE FOR SOMETHING NEW in desserts? Who wouldn't, especially when they're delectable to eat and add something to the nutritional status of the meal?

Desserts should not be just something sweet and caloric; they should serve some concrete purpose in the diet, such as adding eggs, milk and fruit which are not eaten as a first course or supplement.

If any homemaker is having difficulty with her family taking what they should in the way of food, dessert is an easy, simple way to serve the daily requirement of health-giving elements.

Here's a good dessert for all members of the family, and pretty too:

- *Spanish Coconut Cream (Serves 6) 1 1/2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 3 cups milk, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup shredded coconut

- *Cherry-Almond Sauce (Makes 2 cups) 1 cup cherry juice or water, 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, Few grains salt, 2 drops almond extract, 2 cups pitted red cherries (1 No. 2 can), 1/2 cup slivered, blanched almonds

- Florida Cobbler (Serves 6) 2 No. 2 cans grapefruit sections, 1 pint berries or 2 cups sliced peaches, 1 1/4 cups sugar or honey, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 5 tablespoons lard, 1/4 cup milk (about)

- Dutch Apple Cake 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups apples thinly sliced, 1 cup boiling water

Who wouldn't like a dessert like this? Spanish Coconut Cream molded in small rings; forms, then filled with whole cherry, almond-flavored sauce, is as pretty as it is tasty.

LYNN SAYS: Keep Meals Interesting With Imaginative Touches. Corn pudding baked with strips of bacon or sliced Canadian bacon is an excellent and economical supper dish.

When serving Spanish rice as a vegetable, make it prettier and tastier by garnishing with par-boiled, sauteed green pepper rings. Buttered noodles served with Swedish meat balls and gravy are much more tempting when they are topped with sauteed mushroom caps.

You don't always have to get the citrus fruit at breakfast, especially when you can include grapefruit segments along with berries in season or peaches in a delightful, tangy cobbler like this. Hard sauce molded in butter forms makes the pretty garnish.

- LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU Broiled Ham Slice, Buttered Rice, Whole Kernel Corn, Bran Muffins, Lettuce Salad, Thousand Island Dressing, Spanish Coconut Cream, *Cherry-Almond Sauce, Beverage

(450° F.) for 15 minutes or until fruit is heated through. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; cream lard; add remaining 1/4 cup sugar or honey gradually and mix until well blended. Cut into flour mixture with two knives. Stir in milk gradually, mixing just enough to make a smooth dough. Roll out on lightly floured board to 1/4-inch thickness; cut with doughnut cutter. Place rings on top of heated fruit. Bake in a hot (450° F.) oven for 20 minutes. Serve with hard sauce or whipped cream.

- Hard Sauce Molds (Makes 6-8) 1/2 cup butter, 1 1/4 cups sifted confectioners' pudding, 1 teaspoon vanilla

- Blueberry Squares 1 1/2 cups blueberries, fresh, frozen or canned, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/4 cup shortening, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 1/4 cups cake flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup orange juice

- Who wouldn't like a dessert like this? Spanish Coconut Cream molded in small rings; forms, then filled with whole cherry, almond-flavored sauce, is as pretty as it is tasty. At the same time it makes it easy to get much needed eggs, milk and fruit into the daily diet.

THE Once Over by H.I. PHILLIPS

SUMMERTIME OBSERVATIONS

OUR Moscow correspondent has forwarded us details of the wedding of Stalin's daughter. Preceding the ceremony matrimony was formally declared a Russian discovery. As the question was asked the groom "Do you take this woman?" the forty grooms sounded from Red Square. (What could he say?) They promised to love, honor and indelicate. The bride looked fetching in a $280,000 wedding gown. The groom looked nervous as he realized who his father-in-law was. He knew she she ever went home to daddy he would go home to Siberia. Music was played on an organ that had never felt the touch of capitalistic musicians. The organist was allowed to play anything, provided it was Russian. The reception was as lavish as anything ever put on by the czars. But it was declared modest by official proclamation. The happy couple left for a honeymoon through the Pravda editorials.

"Hannibal" won a race in New York the other day. Shudda Haddim says he was climbing at the end. It is now illegal to hammer a penny out of shape, except must get useless unassisted. Governor Lodge has signed a bill creating the American Shakespearean Festival Theater at Westport. Why not in those more appropriate Connecticut towns, Stratford or Avon? They are now referring to that bailing organization as the Civil Rights Congress. I went to his apartment to stop the gossip about us. Joyce Mathews. The idea of accomplishing it on a decorated float in Times Square was abandoned, we take it. The most incredible Occurrence of the Age: Billy Rose loudly shouting, "I want no publicity." Apropos of that theft of a lamb from the Gene Tunney flock: Tunney had a little lamb; it was a cream-whey loss; How funny if the lamb turned up in Dempsey's with mint sauce!

Much as it pains us to admit it, John L. Lewis is good on television. Emergency Mail writes that the Red delegates to the cease-fire huddles are costumed as if trying for a nomination as The Man of Distinction on the cover of the Police Gazette. "One high officer had zoot suit pants, a military coat with navy shoulder boards, tennis shoes and no socks," he says. "I saw a Red cameraman in an elevator starter's jacket, a pair of shorts and a black derby. There is plenty of ham in these Red militarists," he goes on. "I think I saw some of 'em once in a Shubert company of Blossom Time." The premier of Iran must be determined to cook with gas. How about calling the cease-fire proceedings "Operation Fingers Crossed?" Happy Felton's "Knot-hole Gang" is a heart-warming program. If you don't thrill to the video view of the small fry trying out their baseball skill before the big league stars and then interviewing their favorite players sumpin' wrong with you. The Senate Crime Committee testimony since the probe went off video is so secret even the Senators have trouble following it.

Forty-five per cent of the General Electric stockholders are women. They believe the electric toaster and flatiron have come to stay. The OPS has abandoned the effort to get grocers, store by store, to fill out the dizzy formulas sent from Washington. So many grocers have been forced under psychiatric care that "Who's minding the store?" had become almost a national cry. The Secret Service has been legally made a permanent institution. Up to now it has just been operating from generation to generation. With a prize fight once more back on home television sets, a lot of movie houses had a pretty dull week. Mickey Mantle has been sent back to the minors for a little more experience. The way the Yanks were playing he couldn't get any from being with the club. Jacob Malik left the key in the stateroom door of the ship and locked himself out. Ya mean he couldn't issue a statement declaring himself inside! Venetian gondoliers are striking against motorboats. Here is one walkout the customers should join. What Broadway showman wishes that a cut wrist had been a late scratch?

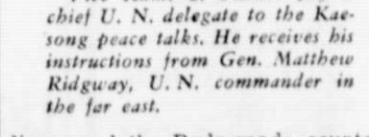

VANISHING AMERICANISMS "Give the dog some of that meat!" "I can't figure up my bank balance."

CAN YOU REMEMBER - "The publications announcing the marriage of Premier Stalin's daughter did not say what had become of her first husband." - News item. No purge, we trust. Florida's governor has signed a law making jail mandatory in all bookmaking cases. Bookmaking is defined in the law as taking a bet "on any contest of skill, speed, power or endurance of any man, beast, fowl or motor vehicle." But we still don't think the boys down there will have to make books on tarpon. The "boater" or "skimmer" type of stiff straw hat is staging a big comeback this spring. What's a little hot pursuit after a chapeau on a windy day in times like these?

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World Korean Peace Talks Develop Slowly; Control Bill Viewed With Cynicism

THE PEACE FRONT—As expected the Korean peace talks have developed slowly. The shooting war in that bloody country may not end for weeks, if then. And it will be years before a feeling of security develops among the South Korean people.

As things stand now, the Allies and Reds are at loggerheads over several questions. The main one, however, is the establishment of a cease-fire buffer zone. The Reds want it established along the 38th parallel. The Allies want it along present battle lines. The Allies contend: (1) The present positions, based on ridges, are more defensible militarily than the 38th parallel; (2) The parallel is where the Red invasion began June 25, 1950. It is viewed in many quarters as a symbol of U. N. defeat, and a settlement along that line is bitterly opposed by the South Korean government. It may be that some sort of compromise can be worked out on the question, but not without long and exhausting talks. Meanwhile, the Reds have resorted to their old tricks of injecting political issues into the discussions. The Reds have complained of Allied air and naval power and to the bombing of peaceful Korean villages—a long-familiar Red propaganda twist for air strikes.

U. N. Delegate Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy is chief U. N. delegate to the Korean peace talks. He receives his instructions from Gen. Matthew Ridgway, U. N. commander in the far east.

THE FIGHTING FRONT— And while the high brass talks of peace, United Nations troops continue to fight and die in Korea. Artillery rumbles, U. N. troops probe at Red lines, and the Reds make counter thrusts. The U. S. army reported the Communists have staged a tremendous build-up of armed forces since the cease-fire talks began and pointedly expressed hope this was not a sign of bad faith. Here again is evidence of Communist thinking and policy. Hanging on the ropes when the peace talks started, the Reds took full advantage of U. N. let-up in attack, to show good faith during the talks, to build up their own military forces and supplies. The Communists have moved more supplies near the front lines than needed to maintain troops while the talks are underway. In addition, they have moved new units and thousands of individual replacements south into the battle lines.

THE EUROPEAN FRONT—While there were talks of peace in the far east, the free nations prepared to meet aggression in Europe. New plans for defense were announced by George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, when he told congress the administration now plans to have 400,000 U. S. troops in Europe in 1952—nearly double the number previously estimated. He also disclosed that U. S. allies have promised to have 2,500,000 men under arms next year and to be able to put five million men into the field within 90 days after the outbreak of any new war. Marshall argued against any let-down in American defensive spirit resulting from the Korean armistice talks and against any congressional cuts in U. S. military aid to western Europe. He said he was deeply shocked at what he termed the "tragic" reaction of the American people now that peace appears in prospect in Korea.

PRICE CONTROLS—Confusion and cynicism seems the only way to describe the average home town's reaction to the price control bill which congress has enacted. The confusion stems from the fact that few congressmen, if any, can give a complete and adequate description of how the law will work. The cynicism stems, in great part, from the belief that the debate on the issue was put on the record more for future political effect than for the purpose of clarifying the issues. The bill permits some rollbacks on nonfarm goods and opens the way for some increases. It extends wage, credit, rent, and other emergency controls through next June. But controls are eased in a number of ways and the President got none of the additional authority he asked. The United Labor Policy Committee, made up of most big organized labor groups, immediately denounced the bill. The committee termed the bill "a callous betrayal of the consumers of the nation by the reactionary coalition which rules congress."

Administration leaders contend it is short of what is needed to combat inflation. Republicans say it is a good bill, if administered properly. Behind bars are the four ranking Los Angeles Communists who were rounded up by the FBI last week. They are shown as they confer with their attorney, Ben Margolis (second from left).

50 MILLIONTH ELGIN—Every science has its milestones. In horology, the science of watchmaking, the first milestone occurred almost 450 years ago at Nuremberg, Germany. A clockmaker there found means of compressing the parts of a timepiece into a sturdy and compact mechanism. The Nuremberg "egg," crude and clumsy by modern standards, was the world's first watch—so called because it was carried by night watchmen. Next month the city of Elgin, Ill., which boasts it is the town "made famous by time," will help its oldest industry celebrate another horological milestone. Scheduled for completion then is the 50 millionth timepiece to be made at Elgin—more jeweled watches than any other manufacturer in the world has yet produced. Significantly, the 50 millionth watch is claimed to incorporate every major technical achievement since horology was a pup. In stark contrast with the first bulky pocket watch made in the same city 84 years ago, it will be only one-tenth as large, yet will be a better timekeeper.

THE VICIOUS RACKET—Federal agents last week broke up the biggest narcotics ring in the nation's history. Narcotic agents reported the arrest of 10 "salesmen" for the $30,000,000 heroin-smuggling ring. The agents also got $100,000 in counterfeit money. The ring is believed to have smuggled as much as 50 pounds of heroin into the United States each month. It has been operating since 1949.

MORE MEAT

Cattle, Swine Crop Is Near Record By January 1, 1952, the number of cattle and swine on the nation's farms will be near a record peak, according to a recent survey. The country's beef-cattle may total 65,400,000. This would be 5,800,000 more than on January 1, 1951, and 7,600,000 more than at the wartime peak of 1945. This does not include dairy cattle, a source of veal and processed meats. With this rise in beef cattle, all cattle would increase from the 80 million level of 1950 and the 84,200,000 level of 1951 to about 90 million. The 1951 pig crop, which will hit the market in September, is estimated the second highest in the nation's history. The department of agriculture estimates that a total crop of nearly 106 million pigs is indicated for the year. According to experts this means that more and cheaper meats are coming after a year in which meat prices and supplies have been wrecking her food budget. The beef picture is not as bright as the figures would indicate, however. There will be more beef eaters as incomes remain at a high level in 1952. Another factor in the beef question is whether or not cattle producers will reduce their herds as they did in 1946 and 1947. Upon their decision will depend whether there is an excessive market in 1952.

Farm Prices Decline 2.3 Per Cent in Month

The agriculture department reports the general level of farm product prices dropped 2.3 per cent between mid-June and mid-July. This was a third consecutive month of decline since these prices set a record last February. Prospects for a bountiful harvest of most crops have been a major factor in the downturn in prices. Sharpest decreases were reported for cotton, meat animals and oil-bearing crops.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round BY DREW PEARSON

Oregon Showdown

OREGON MAY be the show down state where General Eisenhower finally makes up his mind whether "to run or not to run"—and on what ticket. The situation in Oregon was outlined to Ike's political chief-of-staff, Sen. Jim Duff of Pennsylvania, the other day by Robert Letts Jones, publisher of the Salem, Ore., Capital Journal. Jones pointed out that Oregon has a primary ruling whereby any person can be entered in the race by a petition of 1,000 signatures—whether the candidate wants his name entered or not. Thus Eisenhower's name could be entered in the Oregon presidential primary by 1,000 of his friends, entirely without his consent, and as a means of testing out his political strength. The Oregon primary has another interesting angle, Jones explained to Senator Duff. The state attorney general has ruled that no candidate can run unless his party affiliation is known, thus Eisenhower would be forced, at that time, to be stamped either as a Republican or a Democrat. Since the Oregon primary is May 16 and since all names have to be filed ninety days in advance, the showdown for Eisenhower would be sometime in February. Note—It's a good bet that Ike's friends—and he has a lot in the northwest—will toss his hat into the ring through the Oregon primary.

Dressy General When this column told how Gen. Emil C. Kiel, commander of the air force in the Caribbean, had sent his plane all the way from Ecuador to Panama to get his dinner jacket for a dinner given him by the Ecuadorian defense minister, the U. S. air force queried Kiel, wanting to know if the "Pearson story" was accurate. Gen. Kiel replied that he had sent a plane back from Ecuador to Panama, but that he had not sent it to bring back his dinner jacket. However, officials of the defense department pressed him further, finally got an admission that though the plane had not brought back the general's dinner jacket, it had brought back his "full dress uniform."

Propaganda Hurts Reports from behind the iron curtain indicate that one reason for the seizure of AP correspondent William Oatis by Czechoslovakia was that American propaganda through the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe is hurting. When the Communies want to get something out of the U.S.A., their crudest but most successful technique is to seize an American citizen, and hold him as a hostage until we come across with the ransom money. The reported ransom money in Czechoslovakia is to curtail the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe, both really hurting the Communist government. In fact, the Voice of America has had the Czech government in a state of jitters. Before Foreign Minister Clementis was purged, the voice made a categorical prediction that he and eight other top Czechs would be arrested. For weeks, the voice pounded home this prediction, giving the exact names of the prospective victims. The Czechs listened but were skeptical. Then suddenly Clementis was arrested. With him were arrested four of the eight others the Voice of America had named. All Czechoslovakia seethed at the news. The accuracy of the Voice of America was commented on everywhere, and its listening audience has doubled. More than ever, Czechs are tuning in on the voice to see who will be purged next. Note—Despite the state department's remarkable propaganda job, the budget of the Voice of America and other propaganda projects has been slashed to ribbons. Congressmen who have been doing the slashing have been invited to come to the state department briefing room and get the story—much of it confidential—of what the department is doing. However, only two or three have bothered to get acquainted with the activities of the agency whose work they pass upon.

MacArthur Report

President Truman is pressing Democratic senators to write a report on the MacArthur investigation. They had planned to forget about a report, because they feared a majority would not agree to blasting MacArthur. However, the President believes Chairman Dick Russell of Georgia is honest enough to accept the evidence, which most observers consider to have been clearly and overwhelmingly against MacArthur.

Considerate Senator

Unlike most senators, Arizona's meek Sen. Carl Hayden avoids publicity. That's why the papers never heard about his quiet phone call to Freedmen's hospital in behalf of an elderly negro, Will Montgomery, who had worked as a handyman around the senate for 52 years. When Hayden heard that the old negro had been sent to the hospital, he personally telephoned the doctor and instructed him to give Will the best room possible.

Potato Growers in Vote to Terminate Marketing Order

A. J. Cleary, chairman, Washington County Production and Marketing Administration committee announced this week that the recent referendum on Potato Marketing Order No. 60 resulted in a vote in favor of termination of the order.

According to figures released by the Washington, D. C. office of P.M.A.'s fruit and vegetable branch slightly more than 15,700 ballots were sent out, 2,669 ballots, accounting for 27,650,332 bushels, were cast in the referendum. 1,671 ballots, or 62.6 per cent of those voting, and 21,508,561 bushels, or 78.1 per cent of the volume voting, were cast for termination.

The Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, requires that the secretary of agriculture terminate an order if a majority of the total number of growers in the area covered by such order, who marketed over 50 per cent of the potatoes produced in the area, favor termination. In the North Central referendum, less than a majority of the total number of growers in the area voted, but in view of the lack of support for the amended order shown in the referendum, the secretary has concluded that the order no longer effectuates the purposes of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act, as amended.

The order was terminated as of 11:59 p. m., Central Standard time, Aug. 15, 1961.

Potato Marketing Order No. 60, first voted into operation in 1941 covered the states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, and North Dakota. Last year the order was extended to parts of Iowa and Indiana. The question of retention of the order for the 1961 marketing season was submitted to growers when the North Central Potato committee, the grower-handler elected group that administered the order failed to reach a decision as to whether the order should be invoked this year.

Clearly pointed out that there is no potato price support program for the 1961 crop and since the marketing order has now been terminated there will be no federal regulations for the marketing of this season's potato crop other than regulations governing the use of federal grades in labeling potatoes.

"For the future," the chairman stated, "a marketing agreement may be developed if and when potato growers show sufficient interest to support such a program and to operate it successfully."
