Eddie Czaja Buys Old Village Hall;

At a meeting of the village board in Main street. Highest bidder was Eddie Czaja of Kewaskum to whom the building was sold.

Mr. Czaja and wife, who at present operate the meat counter at the Buy Low Food store in West Bend nd also have a slaughter house in this village. will open a meat market in the old village hall at a later date and may also add a grocery line.

The new owners will have both the ground and upstairs stories in the building remodeled and redecorated to suit their needs. They are proceeding with plans and arrangements for this work at present. It will take some time before the work is completed and no date has been set when the building will be ready for occupancy. Further details concerning the business will be announced later on,

The building formerly housed the village hall, public library, fire station and chief of police's office before the new municipal building was erected. The structure also has a small basement. Following completion of the municipal building, the village board had no further use for the old structure and it was placed on sale. Bids were received on it but they were not satisfactory and sone were accepted until this time.

Your Home Town Paper is Nation's Most Sincere 'Salesman of Freedom'

"You newspaper guys are always popping off about freedom of the press," a fellow accused the editor of a community weekly the other day. "You've made a religion out of it, using as text the First Amendment, so everybody'll bow reverently and keep buying papers and advertising. With you, it's a business-you sell freedom over the counter.

"Let somebody stand up in the legislature and complain you're peddling prejudice and retarding government, and off flies the top of the editor's ink bottle and out comes a host of verbal hounds, howling for blood. A sacred institution has been violated! Bosh! You've no more right to supreme intervention than the butcher when he's accused of shortweighting. No fiery editorials defend the freedom of butchershops."

The editor, hastening to check court house records before his weekly deadline, muttered a quick "That so?" and left his detractor temporary victor. But the following week, the newspaper editorialized in this manner:

Forget for a moment that your community newspaper sells news and acts as a billboard for merchants in this vicinity-legitimate enterprise, you must admit-and suppose we've gone into the press freedom business exclusively, filling our till and supporting our workers and editors by dispensing "freedom for us." What's in this package for you?

Freedom of the press is the framework of your entire freedom. The bequeathers of freedom included it in the first of the Bill of Rights-our "text," if you please. They knew, when they granted privileges of publication to all newspapers and did not withhold the franchise for a single propaganda bulletin printed in the capitol basement, that only local and possibly conflicting organs of information can support the idea of freedom in all the communities like ours in America-an idea without which no people can cope with oppression.

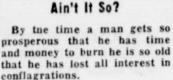

Freedom of the press contains the right to know, to learn, to listen to anyone who might know, whether he lives in our town or in Washington, D.C.-above all, the right to investigate and discard any established pattern of thought.

The idea of freedom that we "sell" this community is a continual picture of liberty as contrasted with arbitrary power, a guide in resisting coercion and achieving new prerogatives. In it, you see any threatening tentacle of tyranny encircling this city or spy new gateways to independence. Maybe the editor in the next town has given the picture a different shade, but a free exchange of information has established the proper perspective.

We fight for our neighbors' access to this perspective, delivering it to their doors and newsstands, bringing it up to date weekly as new events erase lines and add new ones. The money you spend with your home town publisher "buys" this box of freedom-you get a usable "product" and we stay in business.

We do not feel we are a group of false prophets, exacting offerings for a tin god. The minister does not defile divine grace by accepting pay; the doctor does not betray mercy by accepting his fee. Each man's service should earn his living.

Yet, we may say that this manner in which the community newspaper publisher "earns his living" is a separate and eloquent expression of still another freedom. The advertising that you see and depend upon, as it is printed in this newspaper and thousands of others across the country, is perhaps as pure a demonstration as you can find of our cherished freedom of enterprise.

Free enterprise with its resultant high standards of living in this country, the freedom to buy and sell and compete with other buyers and sellers-all this is a basic theme behind newspaper advertising.

No, these freedoms of ours need no apologies. They call, rather, for a greater measure of pride on the part of the people and a deeper knowledge of their true significances.

The priceless heritage of the free and independent interchange of thought is not to be kept without ceaseless vigilance. Only by guarding the truth itself can we guard the greatest of all our liberties-the right to proclaim the truth. On that liberty rests the destiny of millions. -Lord Southwood.

Threat of Inflation Increases As Price Index Hits a New High

INFLATION THREAT-With the government's report that the con sumers' price index rose to a record level last month, the dangers of inflation took first place in the week's news

The bureau of labor statistics reported the index figure went from 185.2 to 185.5. This means the retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate-income families averaged 85.5 per cent higher than the hard to do here in Berlin where no average between 1935 and 1939. This is 9 per cent above the level before guards patrol the line between the the Korean war.

It also means that more than 3,000,000 workers who have cost-ofliving escalator clauses in their contracts will receive automatic raises of approximately 1 cent per hour.

well known brands of flour, breakfast cereals, canned fruit and vegetables, vinegar, mayonnaise and spaghetti.

PRICE CONTROLS-While the average home towner views the price picture with increasing fear, President Truman asked congress for three major changes in the new price controls law.

The President asked repeal of: (1) The provision requiring that price ceilings reflect rises in business costs that have occurred since Korea. ("An economic booby trap," Truman called it.); (2) The amendment the same. giving wholesalers and retailers their customary percentage markups; (3) The amendment banning the OPS livestock-slaughter quotas, under which each slaughterer was told how many animals he could handle.

No one can predict how congress will react to the President's requests, but the average small town American, whatever his political ican newspapers you got the im-views and his beliefs concerning the cause of higher prices, wants pression that the Berlin youth rally something done about it. He realizes the nation is in as much danger today from its internal economic picture as from external enemies; he which brings 2,000,000 youngsters feels it is time for personal interests and politics to take a back seat together from all parts of the world to the nation's welfare.

WESTERN POLITICS Democratic party representatives from 15 midwest states, as far east as Ohio and as far west as Wyoming, the great farm belt that came to President Truman's rescue in 1948, met at French Lick, Ind., to discuss possibilities for 1952. Their conclusions were startling to the average home towner.

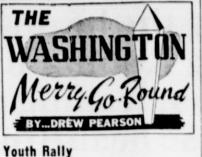

Briefly, they concluded that President Truman will be a candidate for reelection and that he can defeat Sen. Robert Taft. Should Gen. Eisenhower seek the office he could have had in 1948, then Mr. Truman's chances would not be so good.

As a basis for these startling conclusions, the democratic leaders believe the President would get a large farm vote as he did in 1948 because farm prices have been high during his administration. A continued high level of domestic prosperity without inflation would also add to his chances, they concluded.

They also pointed out that Truman was denied New York's 47 electoral votes by the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace and those of four southern states by the Dixiecrats. This is unlikely in the 1952 campaign. The big question, of course, is Gen. Eisenhower. The general is a midwesterner, and it would not be difficult to sell a national hero to the people in the home towns.

THE NEW FEAR .-. The latest news from Korea would indicate the Chinese Communists are beset with a new fear, that of world condemnation for breaking off the Kaesong peace talks. It is the only reasonable conclusion since the Reds announced the talks can continue if the Allies will admit a plane tried to murder the Communist delegates by dropping explosive bombs and jellied gasoline near their quarters.

The state department, with a meagre budget, did a miraculous ob of attracting a quarter of a million German youths into the western sector, giving them food, literature and a sight of the vastly better living standards on our side of the Iron Curtain. But when the rally was only half over, orders came to close up certain youth depots. The food was costing $12 per day at one center and the State Department's budget was exhaust-Congressmen Taber of New York, Clevenger of Ohio and other economizers had pinched too many pennies and a great opportunity

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who previously rejected their charge as a fake and a fraud, is unlikely to accede to their demand. Ridgway has informed the Reds that their neutrality-violation charges are nothing more than malicious lies, deliberately manufactured for propaganda effect and unworthy of reply.

As long as both parties maintain this attitude there is little hope for a resumption of talks. And even if they should be resumed, other incidents will be manufactured by the Reds to further their propaganda aims. Peace in Korea will not be restored until one side or the other is thoroughly and completely defeated.

JAPANESE TREATY-On Tuesday 34 nations gathered at San Francisco to sign the proposed peace treaty with Japan. Russia is represented, but no one expects her to sign the document which is sponsored by the United States. To the contrary, she will do everything in her power to wreck the treaty negotiations and eventually will present her own versions of a pact.

The big news as the conference opened was India's boycott of the meeting. That country's denunciation of the treaty was in direct line with Moscow propaganda and will have many repercussions in this nation's foreign aid program. It may lead to a tougher U.S. policy toward India and a reduction in aid given her in recent months. It may also mean that a number of other countries will suffer as a direct result of India's stand.

From now until the conference closes, the people in the home towns of the country can expect a flood of Soviet propaganda against the treaty. In fact, one of the greatest propaganda slanders the world has ever seen is about to begin.

congress was subjected to. The highlight of their performance was a dance operetta in which a Korean mother, her child killed by Americans, is the heroine. The scene which really brought down the house was that in which she throws three grenades into an American camp. Three Americans then tear her clothes half off and take turns beating her while she takes from her blouse the flag of the Peoples Republic. Then, just as the Americans tie her to a tree preparing to shoot her, a shot rings out and Korean guerrillas come to her rescue. The heroine then shoots an American officer at point-blank range. At this point, the audience goes wild; there is 20 minutes of applause; the Korean actors get curtain call after curtain call and Russian ladies rush up to embrace the embarrassed but happy Korean orchestra leader. The audience then leaves, chanting "Ami, Go Home!"-the slogan of derision

HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS

Two American Documents To Be Enshrined on Constitution Day

America's most precious historical documents-the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence-will be enshrined permanently in hermetically sealed glass enclosures at a ceremony Monday, (Sept. 17) Constitution Day.

The ceremony, in which President Truman and Chief Justice Vinson are scheduled to participate, is expected to be one of the most impressive ever held in the history of over the country. This autumn may find her on the air regularly on a new program. In her very limited spare time she creates hats, paints a landscape occasionally, and recently has begun designing traveling bags-her latest, made of plaz-tic, will soon be on the market.

Bill Holden is looking for a new hobby, one fitting for a man with three children and not much time. He's given up building model airplanes with motors-almost lost a finger at it, just before starting "Force of Arms," at Warners'.

Hollywood loves Murray Sices, leading designer of suits for small women-so many of the stars are about the size of Wanda Hendrix, who's five feet two. With little time to shop, they used to find it almost impossible to find clothes that would make them look the way their fans expect them to.

In the beginning, 12 years ago. "Mr. District Attorney" was patterned after the legal career of an ace prosecutor, Thomas E. Dewey. It switches from NBC to ABC on September 21, and October 1 vill

In a test sealing, Dr. Roy W. Wampler, assistant director of research for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company; Alvin W. Kremer, of the library of congress, and Dr. G. M. Kline, of the national bureau of standards, show how the original documents of the constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence will be preserved permanently in helium-filled glass cases.

hands. Scientists say the enclosures will preserve the papers 'for as long as man can foresee.

After the ceremony the sealed leaves will be replaced in their Shrine in the Library, where they have been viewed by an estimated 20,000,000 persons in the last 27 years. The display of the single page of the Declaration and the five leaves of the Constitution is expected to attract even greater throngs of sightseers after the ceremony. THE Plans for preserving the original engrossed and signed manuscripts are the result of studies and experiments made during the last 10 years by the national bureau of standards at the request of Luther H. Evans, librarian of congress. During the last two years the library and the NBS have been assisted by thermopane technicians of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, who perfected the special metal-to-glass seal used to keep the glass cases air-tight. "Every resource of science and technology has been applied in the effort to make these precious documents as permanently secure as the principles they proclaim," said Dr. Evans.

. . . DR. EDWARD U. CONDON, diyou skid by with eyes shut and rector of the national bureau of standards, explained that exhaustive tests were conducted before the NBS scientists and the library decided this was the best method of protecting the documents and at he same time making it possible to continue to exhibit them publicly. The glass enclosures, basically the same as the thermopane insula-American homes, will be filled with helium, an inert gas, as a further measure of protection for the documents. Even the relative humidity inside the cases is controlled to prevent the parchments from expanding or shrinking. The early history

By Wright A. Patterson

THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION ment was backed by the powerful ies should be provided for the supprovides two methods of amending that document.

The one method with which we are familiar calls for the passage of a resolution by Congress calling for an amendment, followed by ratification of the proposed amendment by the legislature of threefourths of the states.

The other provides for passage by any state legislature of a demand for an amendment and then ratification of that demand by the legislatures of two-thirds of the states.

The second method bypasses Congress entirely. The Los Angeles Times referred to this method of amendment as a "club provided for the states for the protection of states' rights."

It is now being considered as a method of repealing the amendment that made possible the levying of federal income taxes. This would force the national government out of the field of tax revenue and leave it to the states to provide for state ex-penditures and would stop the "grants in aid" that now represents the largess of the national government out of federal taxes in exchange for which the states surrender much of their sovereignty.

It took a long time to secure the enactment of the 16th amendment, the income tax amendment, by the needed three-fourths of the state legislatures, even when the amend-

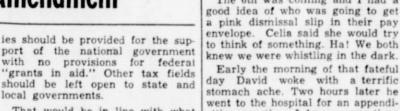

Britisher Finds it Not Wise To Laugh at the Census Man

LONDON, Eng .- Don't laugh at the census taker. Douglas Adcock, who lives at Leigh-on-Sea, Essex, found to his sorrow that the British census is no joking matter. When the census taker called, Adcock laughed and refused to give any information.

In court, however, he was made to understand that it was no matter for pleasantry. An unsympathetic iudge fined him a total of $56.

That would be in line with what Congress has been talking without making any attempt to effectuate their idea. Now, a constitutional convention, called by 32 state leijislatures, may start the idea rolling. Want to be sure about it all? self 'the second trouble.

Would you like to learn more about that "club" in the hands of the states? Read Article V of the Constitution of the United States. It is there, with the processes required well stated. A constitutional convention is in the making.
