

Kewaskum, Jackson Dairies Cut Price, Milwaukee Follows

Milwaukee's major milk distributors declared late Wednesday they would meet a new price reduction of four cents a gallon for milk, effective on Thursday, following the reduction announced earlier by the William H. Heinemann Creameries of Kewaskum and Jackson.

In most stores selling milk by the gallon, the price Thursday was 63 cents for regular milk and 67 cents a gallon for homogenized vitamin D milk. After the Heinemann price reduction was announced at noon Wednesday, a similar price reduction was announced by the Luick Sealtest Dairy, the Gridley Division of the Borden Co. and Gehl's Guernsey Farm Dairy.

The Heinemann price cut was declared by a company spokesman to be not part of a Milwaukee area price war, nor a competitive action. Increased sales and economies effected by the merger in July of the Kewaskum Creamery and the Heinemann Creamery at Jackson were credited for the price cut.

The new price schedule for milk by the gallon does not affect the price of milk delivered by the quart to homes, the distributors declared. The Heinemann operations, involving 450 retail store outlets, include no home delivery.

Blood Bank's Mobile Unit Will Visit Kewaskum Next Wednesday

Unit to Be Set Up at Municipal Building From 12 Noon to 6 P. M.; Quota 100 Pints; Woman's Club Serves Refreshments

A surprise last minute announcement this week paved the way for Kewaskum to have its own blood donation clinic next Wednesday, October 31, to aid the 1951 drive for the blood bank reserve of the Community Blood Donor club.

Henry Rosenheimer of Kewaskum, a member of the board of governors of the Community Blood Donor club, explained Thursday that a cancellation of a scheduled appearance of the mobile unit of the Junior League Blood Center in Milwaukee had made the Kewaskum clinic possible.

The Junior League notified officials of the Community Blood Donor club in West Bend of the cancellation and made the services of the mobile unit available to the club for the October 31 date. It was decided to bring it to Kewaskum since several public service groups had previously requested that a clinic be held in Kewaskum when it could be arranged.

The mobile blood unit will be in Germantown on Thursday, November 1, to hold a previously scheduled clinic there as part of the Blood Donor club's campaign.

It was announced by Mr. Rosenheimer that the mobile unit will be set up at the Kewaskum Municipal building. It will be held from 12 noon to 6 p. m. on Wednesday. Volunteers to give a pint of whole blood are already being scheduled between those times and others who want to donate can specify the time which is most convenient for their own needs by calling Mr. Rosenheimer at 2972. Volunteers may also come directly to the municipal building to register.

The quota which will be the goal at the clinic in Kewaskum is 100 pints of blood.

Only three weeks ago in West Bend, a record turnout of 272 people donated that many pints of blood to the reserve of the Community Blood Donor club and surpassed any previous contribution there. It was necessary to hold the mobile unit from Milwaukee overtime to handle the unexpectedly large crowd.

The mobile unit is staffed with a competent staff of nurses and skilled technicians plus the clerical help necessary to speed the registration of volunteers. Gordon Ohlrogge, West Bend, president of the Community Blood Donor club, has emphasized that the entire procedure, from registration through eating the refreshments, takes less than 45 minutes.

Serving of refreshments will be handled next Wednesday by the woman's club of Kewaskum.

Prime purpose of the year-old Blood Donor club is to provide anyone living in the area served by the club with the type of blood he may need for a transfusion at no cost anywhere in the United States. In its first year of service, completed in September, the club supplied 201 pints of vitally needed blood whenever needed at a saving of approximately $7,000 to patients in the county.

Kewaskum and all of Washington county with the exception of Hartford and the townships of Hartford, Polk, Erin and Richfield are served by the West Bend county Blood Donor club. The exceptions are served by the Hartford Blood Donor club.

Although important, the financial savings were cited by President Ohlrogge as only one of the services rendered by the Blood Donor club. "We feel that it's even more important that the club can make quickly available a particular type of blood that is needed and supply any quantity of it for an emergency," he pointed out this week.

It is hoped by officials of the club that the clinics in Kewaskum and Germantown along with the recent contribution in West Bend will establish a blood reserve to successfully carry the operation of the organization well into mid-1952.

Belles Nose Indians to Spoil Homecoming

The unbeaten Campbellsport Belles, defending Tri-County conference title, spoiled the Kewaskum high school homecoming by nosing out the Indians on the gridiron Friday afternoon, 42-39, in a close battle played before a large crowd of screaming fans. The Belles just barely squeezed out a win and Kewaskum was on the march toward Campbellsport's goal when the final horn ended the drive. A victory would have set the Indians up in first place but the setback dropped them to fourth.

All other homecoming activities went along smoothly. Although rain postponed the parade and pep rally Thursday night, the parade was held Friday noon preceding the game. The homecoming dance was held Friday night in the school gym.

In the football scrap, the Belle scoring was: Tom Thielen 18, Dick Henderson 12, Joe Brufach 6 and Dave Wondra on three extra point kicks. Brufach returned a kickoff for a touchdown. Gordon Wiernman scored 13 points for the Green on two TD dashes, one for 50 yards, and a single extra point. Other scores were chalked up by Ronnie Vorpahl, Dick Buntjer, Pat Dreher and LeRoy Bier. Eddie Ranthum booted one conversion for two points and passed to Wiernman for the other. Buntjer scored on a 45-yard pass play.

Campbellsport led 28-14 at the half but Kewaskum cut that to 34-33 as the third quarter ended. Each team scored one in the final period.

In other games North Fond du Lac downed Oakfield, 45-24, and Brandon edged Lomira, 14-8. Kewaskum played at Brandon this Friday and Campbellsport had a bye at Green Lake. Oakfield and Lomira will tangle Saturday on the Oak field. The Belles with an easy game this week, and Lidle North Fond du Lac will battle it out for the championship at Campbellsport Wednesday, Oct. 31. The same day Green Lake is at Lomira and Oakfield at Brandon in the final games of the season. Lidle the last week, Kewaskum will play a non-conference tilt against Oostburg here Wednesday, Nov. 3.

The Air of Texas

WHAT element is there in the air of Texas that produces golf champions? What quality is there in Texas soil that makes a golf swing? The record of this somewhat extended commonwealth is certainly an uncommon one in golf.

The Open Golf Champion of the U. S. is Ben Hogan, a Fort Worth, Texas, golfer. The Women's Open Golf Champion is Betsy Rawls, another Texan. The U. S. Amateur Champion is Billy Maxwell, also born and bred a Texan.

Who was it that came before Hogan to rule U. S. golf? Ralph Guldahl, a big Texan who won the U. S. Open and the Western Open two years in succession. Who followed the brilliant Guldahl? Byron Nelson, one of the great golfers of all time. Byron Nelson, another Texas product, belongs to the nonpareils. Who were in there swinging all along the route? Lloyd Mangrum and Jimmy Demaret, also from Texas.

What state or section ever gave the game so many star golfers as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum, Ralph Guldahl and Jimmy Demaret?

When Billy Maxwell, a 22-year-old stylist, captured the recent Amateur Championship, Texas owned practically all the upland country.

When Miss Rawls finally moved past Babe Dirlikson to win the Women's Open, it was all Texas.

The recent victory of young Miss Rawls at Atlanta recalls again the number of brilliant women golfers Texas has given the game. I played with Babe Dirlikson in Los Angeles back in 1932, 19 years ago when she was just starting out.

She has proved to be the finest woman golfer the game has ever known, able at times to turn in a 66 or a 67. In recent years, Texas has turned out a remarkable group of girl stars, including among others, Peggy Chandler, a low-70 shooter.

California set something of a record in the number of tennis stars it developed, year after year. But California's tennis colony doesn't match the class of men and women one state, a state even as big as Texas is, keep such a grip on one sport?

One reason is that one star can work up increased local interest among the kids. For example, you may recall when Bobby Jones came along in Georgia. Before you could turn around, all types of kids were playing golf, such as Perry Adair, R. W. Gunn, Alex Stirling, Crawford Rainwater and many others. The present Women's Champion is an Atlanta girl, one of the country's best.

It got to be that way in Texas. I recall when Ralph Guldahl came along, they began to talk about Jimmy Demaret and then Byron Nelson. The rivalry soon became so keen that golfers such as Ben Hogan really went to work.

No golfers ever worked harder than Hogan and Nelson to perfect their swings. Hour after hour, month after month, year after year, they hit an incredible number of practice shots. They got their swings almost perfectly grooved for every type of shot. I've seen Hogan work two hours on one type of shot from 90 yards off the green. The Texans often worked together, more than willing to help each other out when any kink attacked a swing.

I recall one occasion where Hogan won a 72-hole Open tournament with 263 for the 72 holes, a new record—something like 26 under par. Yet next day Ben was out taking a lesson and working over a slight change in his grip.

Looking Back

The National League got away like a flash. It won four of the first five modern world series' contests. The A. L. was almost a joke, meeting the Cubs and Giants. But the tide turned—as tides always will. Since 1910 the American League has taken over.

It must first be admitted the American League has had most of the great ballplayers: Cobb, Ruth, Gehrig, Sisler, Speaker, Collins, Lajoie, DiMaggio and Feller.

The National League can't quite match this collection even with Wagner, Hornsby, Frisch, Harnett, Musial, Alexander, Mathewson, Traynor, Kling, Hubbell, Dean and Terry. Not quite.

Who is going to match Ruth and Cobb for a starter? Name four or five? Gehrig or Sisler? Wagner was the greatest National Leaguer. Hornsby was next. It might be Musial is third.

It must be admitted and confessed that no great, overpowering team has recently won the championship in either league.

The Dodgers, with a better-than-average catcher, infield and outfield, had to struggle along with one good pitcher. His name was Preacher Roe. Newcombe, Branch and others were merely throwers.

Just a fair pitcher should have won 20 or 25 games with the Dodgers with such first-class talent in other positions as Campanella, Hodges, Robinson, Reese, Furillo and Snider. No reasonably sane party can doubt that from August first on to the fading stretch the Giants were a much better team than the Dodgers were all year.

The Way it Happened . . .

IN CALUSA, CALIF. . . . When the County Sheriff died, the sorrowing inmates of the county jail contributed a handsome funeral wreath which bore this inscription: "To our beloved Sheriff—from the prisoners."

NEAR WELLINGTON, KAN. . . . A fisherman abandoned his catch after he cast his line from a railway bridge over a creek, short-circuited an automatic control system, turned every block signal red on 107 miles of track, halted 14 freight trains, and three passenger expresses, stalled them all for two hours.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Chappel Hands

Keep a bottle of glycerine by the kitchen sink. It is excellent to prevent chapped hands. A teaspoon of glycerine added to each quart of soapy water will help keep woollens fluffy and soft. It can also be used to lubricate food beaters and grinders.

Prevent Rust

Dip the bottoms of cans of cleaning powder in paraffin wax and they will not rust the shelves.

Protect Clothes

Old pillow cases may be used to cover dresses in the clothes closet. Make a slit in the closed end and draw the case over the garment on the hanger.

Tots' Card Table

Make a fold-away play table for small children by shortening the legs of an old, but sturdy, card table. Cover the table with oilcloth. This table is easy to get out for make-believe tea parties, coloring, and puzzles. It is also easy to put away.

Store Strawberries

Store strawberries unwashed and unhusked in the refrigerator covered with a piece of waxed paper until just before using, at which time they should be washed and husked.

Excellent Salad

Chopped spinach, endive, and lettuce can be combined with blue cheese and sprinkled with French dressing to make an excellent salad.

Shredded Cabbage

One pound of cabbage will provide 7 to 8 half-cup servings of shredded cabbage, while one pound of the cooked vegetable will give 4 to 5 half-cup servings at mealtime.

GRASSROOTS

Rural Population Is Salvation of Today's Civilization

By Wright A. Patterson

THE FIRST WEEK of December, 1951 will mark the end of 11 years that I have been writing this column. Through those eventful 11 years I have, on many occasions, recalled the content of that first column, but I have never reprinted it.

The time was the day that marked the close of that conflict in November of 1918. The place was a parlor in the Savoy Hotel on the Strand in London. In that parlor we listened to the wildly hilarious Londoners, millions of them, expressing their joy over the close of the war.

"Today we English and all the others of the allied world are crazed with joy over the ending of the war. They do not realize that the world faces a more serious problem now than at any time during the last four years.

"Within a comparatively short time we will be engaged in another global struggle that will mark the end of civilization in Europe as we have known and enjoyed it. Our hope of having it returned to us lies in the rural population of America, the people of your towns, your villages and farms. They are the safest, sanest people in the world today.

It was a startling, an unbelievable statement, but I have lived to see much of what Balfour said come to pass. There was that second global war, more destructive, more terrible, than the first one.

Since that first week in December, 1940, with that Balfour prophecy before me as a text, I have endeavored to convince my rural audience, the people of the villages, the towns and the farms, of the dangers in the trend of the socialistic left. I have hoped to cause them to realize their part in the saving of the nation and the world civilization. For us, the destruction will be marked by personal and na-

TEEN-AGE LOVE

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT was only natural that Rose should be thrilled at thoughts of meeting Loring Hunt. After all, Loring Hunt was the most glamorous day screen stars.

Rose was just another young girl with dreams. She had fallen in love with Loring Hunt when she was 12 years old.

When told of Loring Hunt's pending arrival Jerry had snorted. "What!" he cried disgustedly. "That sap coming here? To your house? Why, your mother must be out of her mind!"

"Mother's far from out of her mind," Rose replied furiously. "It's only common decency that she ask Mr. Hunt to stay with us while he's in town. His father and mine were close friends. Since Daddy's death, the Hunts have been splendid to mother."

"We're giving a party in Loring Hunt's honor and I guess you'd better not come." "Try and keep me away," said Jerry. "I'm not letting the girl I'm engaged to run around unprotected with that lizard in the vicinity."

"We're not engaged," Rose told him. "We're practically engaged," said Jerry. A week later Loring Hunt arrived. He was wearing a mustache and colored glasses, both of which he removed as soon as he was inside the house.

"I look under 30, eh?" Loring chuckled. "They do marvelous things in Hollywood."

He sighed. "Ah, me! How time does fly. Here I am almost 30 and—'Fifty'—that is—in your pictures."

"I look under 30, eh?" Loring chuckled. "They do marvelous things in Hollywood. But, here. Let's not talk of me. Tell me about yourself. Are you in love? I noticed a fine looking boy giving you a lot of attention."

Rose was a bit overcome. She hadn't dreamed that her ideal was—was an old man! She started to speak, but a figure had glided up and was standing in front of them. It was Jerry. In the pale light she could see the set look to his jaw.

"Ah," said Loring Hunt, rising. "here he is now. We were just talking about you, young man. Rose was telling me—well, rather I was telling her that it was a pity her father couldn't have lived to see his daughter grown to womanhood."

"Yeah!" said Jerry. There was a pause. Rose leaped to her feet. "Mr. Hunt was asking me if I'm in love and—and I told him yes. I told him I was in love with you, Jerry."

Slowly Jerry relaxed. Rose had taken his arm and was hanging on for dear life. It was a good thing, he told himself importantly, for Loring Hunt, that she had come to her senses.

Rubber Doll Keeps Child Afloat Until Rescued

PRESTON, Idaho — A 23-inch long rubber doll was credited with saving the life of two-year-old Colen Cherrington when she fell into an irrigation stream near her home. A neighbor found the child 80 feet downstream from the point where she slipped into the water, still clutching the doll. He said that she would probably have been drowned had she not clung to the small doll.

DAIRY FARMERS INVITED TO ATTEND MEETING TO EXPLAIN BRUCELLOSIS CONTROL LAW

County farmers are invited to attend a farmer's meeting to be held in the West Bend High school auditorium on Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 8:00 o'clock. The topic to be discussed will be the new Wisconsin Brucellosis Control law. Every farmer owning livestock should be interested in knowing how the provisions of this law will apply to him.

Dr. Raines and Dr. Erdman of the State Department of Agriculture, will explain the law and the use of the milk ring test. Dr. J. T. Kennedy, area veterinarian supervisor, will explain plans "A" and "B" of the Bang's disease law and advise you as to which plan will best meet your needs. Evert Wallenfeldt, College of Agriculture, will explain how dairy plant fieldmen can be of help to you.

The new Wisconsin Bang's law gives farmers a chance to get started on a program of developing a Bang's free herd. The Chicago milk market has set Jan. 1, 1954, as the date after which it will accept milk only from herds pronounced Bang's free by the ring test. Farmers that fail to start on this program early may suffer a big loss by losing their fluid milk market.

It is important that you know what to do if the ring test shows that you have Bang's reactors in your herd. Therefore every dairyman should plan to attend this meeting and learn about the requirements of this annual health program.

Wisconsin's traffic death rate for 1950 was 7.56 fatalities for each 100,000 miles of motor vehicle travel.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our sorrow, the illness and death of our dear mother, Mrs. Louisa Backhaus, will always remain with us a precious memory. Our sincere thanks and gratitude are extended for all those comforting acts and we are especially grateful to Rev. MAIN STREET IN ACTION

This Community Refused to Be Beaten By Setbacks in Its Drive for a Hospital

The people of Alexander County, North Carolina, had it in their mind that their community needed a hospital, and needed it badly. We learned last week how they laid their plans, sought and received the promise of state and federal assistance in the project, then worked their hearts out for the next nine months to raise the $40,000 which they thought would cover their share of the hospital costs.

FEATURE

They achieved the $40,000 goal which was enough money to put up the building. Then, to their dismay, they learned that they needed another $17,000—a vast sum when added to the original $40,000 which they very nearly had scraped the barrel to procure.

Someone suggested that a Health Council might help them finish the job. At that time, Health Councils were being proposed throughout North Carolina as a means of crystallizing a state-wide attack on health problems. Alexander county determined, then and there, to become the first demonstration county to prove the efficacy of the Health Council idea.

But a Health Council meant membership. Membership meant people. Not just a few inspired leaders working by themselves, but the hearts and hands of all the county's citizens, working together.

Plans were set for the biggest mass meeting Alexander county had ever seen. People came from all over the area, all eager to take a swing at the county's health problem, most of them convinced that the establishment of the hospital was the number one task at hand.

So this time nearly everybody got in on the money-raising act. The school children sold tickets for a benefit movie. Each member of the women's club took a dollar of her own money and tried to make it grow by investing it in some project of her own. The Brownie scouts collected $176 to buy a bassinet for the hospital. One of the doctors organized a scrap drive which was worth $1,500.

But on top of all these efforts, there still was needed a "big idea" to put the program over. Ed de Jarnett, a fertilizer salesman, came up with the answer. An auction.

Everybody went for that suggestion in a big way, and the arrangements were made. People from all over the county brought items to the courthouse square in Taylorsville, where the auction was held. Every store in the community donated, too; and the auction was a tremendous success, despite bad weather.

Then came the Victory Barbecue—the big event designed to celebrate the final, successful culmination of Alexander county's hospital campaign. Barbecue pits were dug, the fires were laid, 700 pork shoulders were put on to feed the crowd which was growing larger and larger.

But in the meantime, the hospital board of directors was meeting in the home of R. S. Ferguson to open the envelopes containing sealed bids on the construction of the building. And the men were lost in gloom. For construction costs had risen since the money-raising program had been started, and the lowest bid in their hands called for far more money than they had available.

After all their work and planning and sacrifices—they still needed $23,500. This was what the directors would have to tell the county people at the "Victory" barbecue that night.

But then they did a brave thing. Ray White, who once had raced death to get his appendicitis-stricken son to a hospital 40 miles away, broke the news. He told the people that costs had risen and that the current estimates greatly exceeded the money they had raised.

"We shouldn't let the contracts," he said. "Well, we're going ahead and let the contracts anyway! Because we've faith in the people of Alexander county. We've proved to ourselves that we'll raise this money. We've proved that we won't give up."

They didn't give up. There's a hospital in Alexander county today, a testament in brick and stone, and a functioning monument to the spirit of the people who built it.

It is a hard rule of life, and I believe a healthy one, that no great plan is ever carried out without meeting and overcoming endless obstacles that come up to try the skill of man's hand, the quality of his courage, and the endurance of his faith.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by ROGER C. WHITMAN
Floor Sinking In
QUESTION: The second story floor of my home seems to be sinking in. When we step on it, it seems to go down, and it also creaks when we walk on it. What do you recommend to adjust this condition?

ANSWER: The house is probably settling badly or the timbers may be rotting, and you should call in a competent building contractor to do whatever he finds necessary. Additional bridging may be needed between the joists, or perhaps the foundations and footings need to be enlarged or strengthened. Sometimes such a condition can be corrected with adjustable posts. The work calls for experienced help; it is not for an amateur. The creaking is one of the symptoms, and can be taken care of after the major operation has been attended to.

Reds Explode Second Atomic Bomb; American Harvest Is Satisfactory

THE RUSSIAN BOMB—The question of what the Russians have been doing about the atomic bomb since the first explosion was announced in September, 1949, was answered last week with a White House announcement that another bomb has been exploded.

A few days later Stalin made the announcement in Russia. It was the first time the Russian people had been given any information concerning that country's atomic bomb progress.

The announcement was received in the home towns of the nation much more calmly than the report of the first explosion. The White House statement which said the new explosion was an atomic bomb, belies Communist propaganda that Russia's atomic energy development is strictly for peaceful purposes and not the manufacture of weapons.

The White House announcement said, in part: "In spite of Soviet pretensions that their atomic energy program is being directed exclusively toward peaceful purposes, this event confirms again that the Soviet Union is continuing to make atomic weapons."

Shortly after the new explosion was announced, a British source said the Russians probably now have a stockpile of 50 atomic bombs.

Although the Russians have many able scientists, much of their rapid progress in atomic development is due to secrets learned by such men as Klaus Fuchs and Bruno Pontecorvo.

IDENTIFICATION TAGS—The Federal Civil Defense Administration has recommended that every civilian in the United States and its territories wear an identification tag bearing his name and address, blood type, religion, and the name and address of a person to be notified in case of injury or death.

The event of all-out war or atomic attack, the tag would serve to identify not only the injured or dead, but the mentally ill, persons suffering from shock or amnesia, and small children. It would facilitate medical attention, help to reunite families, and be useful in legal claims of various kinds associated with damage to or destruction of life and property.

The procurement and distribution of such an identification device, and the establishment of rules for wearing it, will be the responsibilities of state civil defense agencies.

THE WHITE HOUSE—Senators, ever conscious of grass roots democracy and its lack of pretentiousness, asked a few pointed questions last week concerning the White House which has been under-going remodeling since December 7, 1949.

The senators were told "there is no royal elegance in the building. It is in keeping with dignity, but there is nothing of elegance in this building that is not equaled in many, many a private home throughout the country. It is dignified and fine, but not too fine."

All this was told behind closed doors to the senate appropriations committee before it recommended spending another $261,000 on the reconstruction of the building. Reconstruction is expected to be complete early next year.

AMERICAN HARVEST—Americans will eat well this coming year and, at the same time, will be able to fill its world food commitments, according to the Department of Agriculture's report of the 1951 crop situation.

It has been a trying year due to the Kansas-Missouri flood area and drought damage in a number of other sections. But the 1951 harvest is described as satisfactory.

The corn crops will be in excess of 3,000,000,000 bushels. The Agriculture department had asked for 3,500,000,000 bushels. The winter wheat harvest is expected to total 1,000,000,000 bushels, a little less than the department asked, but not dangerously low.

Generally other crops followed the wheat-corn pattern.

NEW TRUCE TALKS—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has agreed to the Panmunjom area as a site for new Korean cease-fire talks. The village is located six miles east of Kaesong and 12 road miles northwest of Munsan.

The agreement on a site for the talks does not mean, however, that the talks will actually take place. There remains to be settled a number of technical questions concerning neutrality and policing of the area that could disrupt the best made plans.

Meanwhile, savage battles were being fought in west Korea with the Reds using artillery at a rate unknown to the Communists since the start of the war. But the Allied full offensive continues to grind out small, hard-won gains at tremendous cost to the enemy.

American infantrymen fire a 75-MM recoilless rifle during the front line action in Korea. Fighting in Korea has increased in recent weeks.

DRAFT CALL—Home town draft boards have begun reclassifying 500,000 married non-fathers. Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said the men would be inducted into the armed forces as rapidly as they can be reclassified and processed, but estimated that fewer than 200,000 of the 500,000 would be reclassified I-A.

Hershey urged men who have failed to notify their local draft boards that they have become fathers to do so immediately. He also reminded draft eligible men that the selective service law places upon the registrant the responsibility to notify his board of a change of status. Once the order to report for induction has been issued it is too late to reopen the case.

THE SERIES—Americans in every part of the nation last week forgot their worries long enough to listen to the world series. Wherever there was a radio, at home, in the grocery stores, filling station, poolrooms or fire stations, baseball fans listened to the Giants and Yankees battle for the championship. And it was the Yankees, playing ball like the Yankees of old, making 10 double plays during the series, who were crowned champs, taking the final game from the Giants 4-3.

DEFENSE BOND DRIVE

Americans Are Hanging on to Bonds

The Treasury department reported last week that more Americans are hanging on to more defense bonds than ever before. The Treasury said a new peak of $34,566,000,000 in defense bonds outstanding was reached October 1. The previous high was $34,543,000,000 in June, 1950.

The defense bond drive which began September 3 and ends October 27 is proving to be a big success. In addition, fewer bonds were cashed last month than at any time in the past 17 months.

The department reported 6,200,000 Americans are buying bonds through payroll deduction. At present one out of every two families in the nation hold defense bonds of some kind. The ratio is expected to increase.

More $25 bonds are being purchased this year than last, the Treasury department reported, but sales of $1,000 bonds are down 38 per cent.

Through September, $520,000,000 in defense bonds have matured and $132,651,300 have been cashed. Bonds were first issued in May of 1941. The first one matured in May of this year.

The Treasury has offered to continue paying interest on the mature bonds if citizens will hold them. The $18.75 bond, if held 20 years, will be worth $33.33.

Weather Trims 360,000 Bales Off Cotton Crop

The Department of Agriculture reported last week that dry weather and high temperatures in September trimmed 360,000 bales from this year's cotton crop, but still left the indicated production at 16,931,000 bales, the fourth largest on record.

The new estimate contrasts with last year's crop of 10,012,000 bales and the 1940-39 average of 12,030,000. The crop will be sufficient to meet U.S. needs.

Water Supply Vital In Farm Fire Control

Annual Damage Amounts To Over $100 Million

Recently a New Jersey farmer's barn was set afire by lightning, and despite the efforts of three fire departments from nearby villages, the barn was a complete loss.

Two factors combined to defeat the firemen. There was a delay in notifying the fire department because the fire wasn't immediately noticed. There wasn't a good supply of water near the barn from which the pumpers could draw.

These conditions are common to most properties in rural or small town areas. If rural residents can find means to correct them, they will go a long way toward reducing the large number of "total losses" that occur on farm properties, causing damage amounting to $100,000,000 a year and taking the lives of 3,500 farm residents.

No water. There is not much these firemen could do to save the barn without an adequate water supply.

In spite of efforts on the part of county agents, farm groups, insurance men, and volunteer fire departments to encourage the building of farm ponds, there still are thousands of farms in all parts of the country with inadequate water supplies.

The easiest way to provide adequate water is to dam a brook, or deepen an existing marsh or water hole near the barn. Or a farmer may be able to bulldoze a suitable pond near his buildings.

For proper drainage, the pond should be laid out with surveying instruments.

'Sound of Corn Growing' Recorded by Professor

Probably every farmer in the United States at one time or another has heard the old saw "it's so hot you can almost hear the corn growing." Now, seven men, including three University of Wisconsin experts, have joined the ranks of believers.

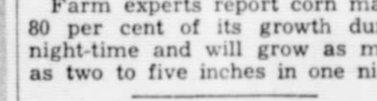

They have a tape recording of what they describe as corn growing. Herbert Jacobs, telegraph and farm news editor of the Madison Capital Times, thought up the idea. With the aid of Wisconsin U. experts the experiment was conducted in a 100-acre stand of university raised corn.

Recording equipment was carried 500 feet into the field. Microphones were carried deep into the corn rows. There was no wind or other noises to complicate the recording, the experimenter reported.

When the experiment was over and the recording played, Verner E. Suomi, associate professor of meteorology at the school, said, "When background noises subsided, you could hear that corn growing."

Farm experts report corn makes 80 per cent of its growth during night-time and will grow as much as two to five inches in one night.

Hinged Fence

Here is an idea a number of midwest farmers might use in their feed lots. Hinged at the bottom and held in position by chains, a section of fence is lowered to form a manger. It can be raised when not in use to become again part of the fence. Posts should be set along the length of the manger as illustrated.

Farm Land Prices Up Sharply in Nebraska

Farm land dollar values in Nebraska have increased 124 per cent since 1939, according to figures of the bureau of agricultural economics. In the west north central region of the country, of which Nebraska is a part, prices have increased 3 per cent during the four months ending in July. This despite the usual seasonal reduction in farm real estate activity and a downturn in farm products.

Plan Storage of Garden Tools for Safety's Sake

Farmers and home gardeners are cautioned to be sure to store tools in a safe place now that the garden season is just about finished. Safe storage is important for two reasons. It will protect members of the family from accidents and also help keep the tools in good condition. Be sure that blades and metal parts are covered and stored where they can't be stepped on.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Serve Hot Soup to Satisfy Family's Appetite (See Recipes Below)

SOON Kettle Favorites AS TEMPERATURES dip and family appetites start running away with your food budget, bring out the soup kettle and let it bubble away those high food costs!

Did you ever notice how satisfying soup is to sharpened appetites? And how readily you can satisfy hunger pangs when the meal is preceded with soup? Give the family some hearty soup and see how much you can save on the food bill.

Soups have an almost endless variety, as a glance at some of these recipes will tell you, so start now and keep the soup kettle singing during the cold weather.

Minestrone Soup (Serves 8-10)
1 1/2 cups white beans
1 can consommé or beef broth
6 cups water
3/4 pound bacon, chopped
1 medium sized onion
1 cup diced carrots
1/2 clove garlic, peeled
3/4 cup celery (tops and all)
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup diced potatoes
1/2 cup peas
1 cup spaghetti, broken
Grated Parmesan cheese

Soak the beans in the water for several hours. Drain and put into soup kettle with consommé or beef broth. Add the bacon and all the vegetables except potatoes and peas. Cook over low heat for 1 1/2 hours. Add salt, pepper, potatoes, peas and spaghetti and cook for 30 minutes. Serve in large bowls with grated Parmesan cheese.

*Shrimp Chowder
3 medium onions, sliced
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup boiling water
5 medium potatoes
3 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 pound fresh shrimp
1 quart milk, heated
1 cup grated, processed American cheese
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Saute onions in hot fat in deep kettle until tender. Add boiling water, then sliced potatoes, salt and pepper. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Then add shrimp which has previously been cooked and has the black vein removed, the hot milk in which cheese has melted and parsley.

HERE'S A DELICIOUSLY different soup which is good enough for a main dish. Try it with grape and orange salad, popovers and chocolate cake for a really good supper: Sparerib-Vegetable Soup (Serves 6)
1 1/2 pounds spareribs
1 tablespoon fat
4 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon savory, if desired
4 teaspoons salt
4 teaspoon pepper
2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes

Soup preparation is a simple task, but it should be done properly to get the most out of meat and vegetables used.

Cooking soup stock at high temperatures is wasteful since high heat coagulates the protein in the meat and floats to the top as a brownish scum, rather than remaining in the stock where it is palatable and nutritious.

When using a soup bone for making stock, place it in cold water and cook it slowly at low temperature. This method dissolves out the soluble proteins and much of the flavor and mineral matter found in the meat. Add salt early in the cooking to help extract the juices.

To clarify soup, strain through several thicknesses of cheesecloth. Cool quickly and remove fat layer at top. Add beaten egg white and crushed shell to stock, heat slowly to boiling point, stirring, to collect fine particles, then strain again through cheese cloth.

LYNN SAYS: Here are Ways to Make Soups More Palatable

Bacteria grow and multiply rapidly in soup stock which is kept at lukewarm temperature. Cool stock by placing soup kettle in a vessel of cold water, then refrigerate.

Fat which forms on top of soup excludes air and retards spoilage. Do not remove this fat layer until ready to use the soup.

Make crisp croutons for soup from stale bread by cutting it in small cubes and sauteing in a small amount of butter. Turn frequently for even browning and drain on absorbent paper.

If you plan to keep soup stock for more than two days, it should be boiled, cooled and stored. This boiling sterilizes the stock, to keep it longer.

Chopped leftovers make an excellent garnish for many soups. Try some of these: chopped watercress or parsley, chopped bacon, chopped cooked egg white or yolk, and grated cheese.

Popcorn or puffed cereals on top of the soup dish make an attractive accompaniment. Noodles or variety crackers also add distinct appeal to a steaming dish of soup.

Chicken Gumbo (Serves 8)
1 small stewing chicken
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons fat
4 cups okra
2 cups tomato pulp
4 cups water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Clean chicken and cut into serving portions. Dredge lightly with flour and brown in hot fat. When browned add okra, tomatoes, parsley and water. Season with salt and pepper and simmer until chicken is tender, about 2 1/2 hours. It may be necessary to add more water during cooking time. If desired, the following may also be added to the soup before it's cooked: 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup corn, 1 1/2 cups potatoes (cooked) and 1 cup cooked rice.

Salmon Bisque (Serves 8)
1 tall can red salmon
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 quart milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Lemon slices

Drain salmon, saving liquid; remove skin and mash salmon to a smooth paste. Melt butter in saucepan; add celery and onion and simmer until both are soft and yellow. Blend in flour; add milk and stir until mixture thickens slightly. Add salmon, salmon liquid and seasonings. Beat thoroughly, stirring constantly. Serve steaming hot, garnishing each bowl with lemon slice.

Cream of Potato-Onion Soup (Serves 6)
2 frankfurters
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely chopped onions
1 tablespoon flour
1 quart milk
2 cups cooked, riced potatoes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Wipe frankfurters with a damp cloth and slice thin. Melt butter; add frankfurters and onions and cook about 2 minutes. Push frankfurters and onions aside and stir in flour with butter and blend thoroughly. Add milk gradually, then potatoes, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper; cook until thickened. Serve immediately.

home-owning venture was of a house that cost $225 and stood on a 50x120 lot, and had fruit trees. They preserved the fruit, raised vegetables, and paid $10 a month until they owned their place. After while they sold this house at a small profit and bought another, a bungalow with a view. Mrs. MacInnis rarely has to buy clothes; perhaps she would answer that as a dignified Boston lady did: "We do not buy hats; we have our hats."

When they entertain they turn to good old Boston beans and Apple Jonathan. I don't know Apple Jonathan, but I do remember that my hospitalities years ago used to run to spanish omelet, hot biscuit, and chocolate cornstarch with a little orange peel in it, and I imagine that it is about as economical a menu.

Of course the MacInnises sometimes augmented their income, which was not always as much as $90, in many small ways. But they lived on the $90 and put everything else aside for a backlog.

The backlog provides tickets when they travel. They are elderly persons and they love travel. Every little while they rent their house, get to some attractive place and settle down. They say that for what they want in the way of housing and food, expenses run about the same everywhere.

Gay Adventure

KATHLEEN NORRIS Dollar Sense

LONG AGO, when I was cub reporter," writes Katharine Cross by MacInnis in Harpers Magazine, "my editor told me, when I asked for a raise, that if I couldn't live on $20 a week I couldn't live on $50. I thought then," continues this spirited article, which she calls Living High, "that he was weak in the head. But now I see that he was right."

Mrs. MacInnis and her husband have done nothing sensational in living happily and richly, and what is more important, living absolutely without fear, on an assured income of $90 a month. At least it oughtn't to be sensational. But it actually is.

Inevitable Story

Her story is the inevitable one when a man and wife are determined to get what they want from life without beggary, debt, charity—or worry. Of course they went to an unfashionable neighborhood on the outskirts of town; their first home-owning venture was of a house that cost $225 and stood on a 50x120 lot, and had fruit trees. They preserved the fruit, raised vegetables, and paid $10 a month until they owned their place. After while they sold this house at a small profit and bought another, a bungalow with a view. Mrs. MacInnis rarely has to buy clothes; perhaps she would answer that as a dignified Boston lady did: "We do not buy hats; we have our hats."

I don't know Apple Jonathan, but I do remember that my hospitalities years ago used to run to spanish omelet, hot biscuit, and chocolate cornstarch with a little orange peel in it, and I imagine that it is about as economical a menu.

Of course the MacInnises sometimes augmented their income, which was not always as much as $90, in many small ways. But they lived on the $90 and put everything else aside for a backlog.

The backlog provides tickets when they travel. They are elderly persons and they love travel. Every little while they rent their house, get to some attractive place and settle down. They say that for what they want in the way of housing and food, expenses run about the same everywhere.

Gay Adventure

Well, theirs is a gay adventure, and you feel it as you read Living High. And you wonder how many families with five and 10 times that income are as free from worry, and, like them enjoying every minute of life. This woman has found the secret; the secret of not struggling to get more money than you legitimately can claim, for one thing, and not living at a rate that indicates that you have much more than you have. The difference between owing $453 in old bills, and having $453 in the bank, is the difference between freedom and slavery. And if slavery is the insufferable condition to us Americans, freedom is certainly the most prized and wonderful.

Make all the money you can, of course. Ask for the raise; climb to the higher place. Make a plan for success, and follow it. But while you are waiting, get down under your income, and you will find that eiderdown itself is not a more welcome covering on a cold night.

Life is short. It's a pity to miss the thrills that come from a good realistic look at one's affairs, and a heroic decision to tear up roots, burn bridges, tilt with windmills and in every other way defy neighbors and the opinion of the neighbors at the same time. For Mrs. MacInnis' editor was right; if you want to live on any income at all today, you can, without worry and without debt. You can see all the good old movies, you can buy all the classics, and you can eat well. And if you can't manage that on $1,500 a year you couldn't manage it on that much a month.

For proof of this look at your friends who have $1,500 a month. They are talking money trouble just as hard as everyone else.

They talk of taxes, insurance, wages, car maintenance, household equipment, dentist bills and the cost of private schools. One family I know on about that income keeps a son at a school whose charges are $200 a month. Junior recently borrowed another boy's car and had an accident. "So I suppose the next thing is a car for Junior," said his mother with a sigh.

Another family, whose income is not much more than $500 a month, crippled itself by payments of $190 a month on a pretentious home.

The result is nerves all round, especially evidenced by the conduct of the children. Children are extremely sensitive to an atmosphere of financial tension.

"Nobody likes poverty!" a woman said bitterly to me not long ago. But simplicity is not poverty. Living happily without debt or worry is not poverty. It is only in that simplicity that poverty, that content is to be found at all.

Cavalcade of Harmony to Feature Schmitt Brothers

The Schmitt Brothers quartet of Manitowoc, the Mid-States Four and four other mid-west quartets will entertain you with barbershop harmony, presented in different styles and with comedy, at the 3rd annual Cavalcade of Harmony at the West Bend theater, Saturday, Oct. 27. To suit your convenience, two shows will be presented, 7:15 and 9:30. Tickets can be obtained from Paul Bruhy, West Bend, or at the theater box office that evening; all seats are reserved.

In June of 1951 the Schmitt Brothers upset the world of barbershopping by winning the international quartet contest competition at Toledo in their very first appearance in international competition.

Joining the Manitowoc chapter in December, 1949, they first appeared in competition at Appleton in May, 1950, and made an admirable showing even though they knew only a couple of barbershop arrangements. With the additional time available for practice they were able to win the district quartet contest in November of that year and qualify for the international contest in May of 1951. Unheard of before, appearing as the last quartet in the international contest at Toledo, the Schmitt Brothers thrilled an audience of three thousand and went on to win the contest with ease.

A family of eleven boys and six girls, the Schmitt Brothers have ready critics and supporters in their own family. Mother Schmitt, now 37, has been taking piano lessons for the past two years and is one of the boys' staunchest supporters.

Since being crowned international champions the boys have made countless appearances at barbershop events and have appeared with Arthur Godfrey, Ed Sullivan, and numerous other radio and television stars.

JOINT MEETING OF CREDIT FARM LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

Presidents Guido Schroeder and Harold Keller announced that Production Credit and National Farm Loan associations would hold their joint annual meeting at West Bend in the West Park ballroom on Highway 23 Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 8:15 p. m. This is the first joint party of the two associations who serve farmers of this area with short and long term credit.

Secretary-Treasurers Gordon Griesmer and C. H. Stimmons will present the financial reports for their respective associations. A varied program, including election of directors, a quiz contest, and entertainment by the Mad Hep-Cats of Waukesha will make the evening interesting. A free lunch will be served and many prizes will be given away. As a grand prize the Canniff farms will award a purebred Holstein calf born July 22, 1951. All farmers interested in farm credit are invited.

DEMONSTRATION ON SOIL TERRACING ON R. DEGNITZ FARM AT FILLMORE OCT. 31

The loss of good top soil by erosion can greatly reduce the productive capacity of any field. Proper soil conserving practices can increase corn or grain yields as much as 10 per cent. Farmers will be money ahead if they farm with the help of soil and water saving practices.

To give farmers and any others interested more information on how easily terraces can be constructed, a field day will be held on the Richard Degnitz farm on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 31, beginning at 1:00 o'clock. The Degnitz farm is located 3/4 mile north of Fillmore. Here is what you will see:

Special equipment such as whirlwind terracer, disc plow and regular farm equipment do this important soil and moisture saving work. Also see modern farm machinery working on terraces.

This demonstration is sponsored by the Washington and Ozaukee county soil conservation and extension services and by local farm machinery dealers.

When Mother Sleeps

Thoughts of a busy day come crowding in when mother lies down to sleep... warm, pleasant thoughts, perhaps--thoughts of family, friends and the little pleasures of the day--but more often the sleep-disturbing thoughts of a busy homemaker. One thing is sure--mother will sleep better under the soft warm folds of an electric bedcovering--a covering that gently soothes away the troubles of a busy day and replaces them with deep, warm comfortable sleep--the kind that helps her face the problems of tomorrow. Sleepy, mother?

Just Set the Dial For Perfect Sleeping Weather

Just set the control for the degree of warmth you like best--and your electric bedcovering stays that way all through the night.
