LAND O LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division) Won Lost Kewaskum 8 2 Horicon 7 2 Cedarburg 5 2 Grafton 4 3 Mayville 5 4 Hartford 4 4 Rosendale 4 4 Waupun 3 6 West Bend 2 6 Campbellsport 9 9

Scores Sunday night—Horicon 45, Kewaskum 43; Rosendale 95, West Bend 83. Games Saturday night—Waupun at Rosendale, Hartford at Mayville. Games Sunday night—Cedarburg at Kewaskum, Campbellsport at West Bend, Horicon at Grafton.

Playing at Horicon Sunday night, the Kewaskum Chevrolets were nosed out by that team for the second time this season and for the second time by two points. The final score was 15-13. In an early season home game Horicon shaded the Chevs 63-61. Sunday's setback dropped Kewaskum out of first place for the first time this year.

Lake in the first meeting here, Kewaskum had good opportunities to take the game in the closing minutes but couldn't take advantage of the chances. A big help to Horicon and a big hindrance to the Chevrolets was a new player in their lineup. He was big 6 foot, 8 inch forward Spittel, who dumped in nine points. Spittel was not with the team earlier in the campaign.

Kewaskum took a slim 8-7 lead in the first period but the winners surged ahead in the second quarter to hold a 24-19 advantage at the half way mark. Horicon again outscored the invaders in the third stanza, 15-12 and held a comfortable 39-31 lead going into the final period.

Augie Bilgo of the losers was best scorer in the battle with 14 points. Greshay and Mieschke, Horicon's ages, tied for top honors for the winners with 12 apiece. The locals again had a poor average on free throws, missing 10 out of 19. Horicon missed only four. A little more accuracy from the charity line would have won the contest.

Kewaskum meets another mighty strong opponent this Sunday night at home in Cedarburg. That team also has lost only two times but is behind the Chevrolets in third place because of having played less games. Cedarburg is led by Dick Peterson, former Marquette university star, and big Jim Ehlers.

Mrs. Wittman was one of the first women railroad telegraphers in the country and was station agent at Byron for more than two decades. She moved to her present home in Fond du Lac in 1932 after retiring from her railroad position to which she succeeded when her husband died in 1906. L. Rosenheimer to Entertain Farmers

A full length feature picture, "Galahad Jones," will highlight the parade of entertainment to be staged for farmers and their families who attend the 16th annual John Deere day show as guests of L. Rosenheimer on Wednesday, Jan. 30, at the Kewaskum theatre. "Galahad Jones" centers around a farmer's son, recently graduated from law school, who thwarts the efforts of a big-time crook to profit from his political connections. It is a present-day problem picture with a moral and plenty of laughs for good entertainment.

Richard Crane, playing the part of "Galahad Jones" is ably supported by Marjorie Lord, Elizabeth Patterson, Jonathan Hale, Ed Brophy, and four other Hollywood personalities. Five other new pictures are included in the fast-moving program, according to L. Rosenheimer. One of the films, "The Big Payoff," features Tom Gordon, head of the memorable Gordon clan, who has been so popular in previous John Deere day pictures. Another picture, "Oddities in Farming," is patterned after last year's popular film of the same name. "What's New for '52" will acquaint those in attendance with new John Deere implements and is sure to prove of interest to every farmer and his family. "The March of Harvest Time" and "Voices of Experience"—the two movies that complete the program, deal with subjects close to the heart of every farmer.

Admission will be by ticket and farmers who have not yet received theirs may obtain them by calling in person at the L. Rosenheimer store in Kewaskum. Farmers are urged by Mr. Rosenheimer to get their tickets early. The show starts at 1 p. m.

Polio Drive Chairman Asks Better Support

As the 1952 March of Dimes campaign entered its fourth week in Washington county Monday, Atty. J. Tom Merriam, chairman of the appeal in the northern portion of the county, called on all residents to enlist in this year's drive. "We don't have too many more days in which to raise the funds necessary to carry on this year's massive people's attack against a single disease," he said. "Only a real 'March of Giving' will enable us to cope with the quick-ended march of polo."

Merriam made his announcement on the eve of the county's all out Torchlight Parade in which hundreds of volunteers were scheduled to travel throughout the area seeking donations to the polio fund. Every township, village, and city was to be canvassed, and every home displaying a porchlight was expected to receive a call from the volunteer assigned to the area. Even with the intense planning which went into the organization of the torchlight appeal Merriam expressed the opinion that some homes may have been missed. He hoped that persons who were missed would still feel generous and accommodating enough to mail their intended contribution direct to March of Dimes headquarters in West Bend.

To date, less than $1,000 has been deposited to the March of Dimes account during this year's campaign, Merriam reported. No reports on the progress of the appeal in towns and villages has been received, he added. Judging purely from the results achieved so far, it is becoming increasingly apparent that in Washington county, "the March of Dimes is not keeping pace with the march of polo," he continued. The chairman urged his many co-chairmen throughout this area to make at least preliminary reports to him on the progress of the drive in their territory. Information of this sort is necessary, he stated, if the newspapers are to carry the news of the drive to the residents of the county. He hoped to be able to make a partial report by mid-week, he concluded.

OPERATION UNITY

Europe Is Weary of Eternal War But Wary of Forming Alliances

By Farnham F. Dudgeon
(Editor's note: This is one of a series of articles prepared by the Editor of Western Newspaper Union while on a reporting trip through Europe and the Near East.)

Weary and wary. That's a two-word diagnosis of Europe's condition as the war fever mounts, recedes, and climbs again. These countries are weary of war. They are wary of alliances that might lead to another war. Like Americans, these people would like to be left alone to "plow the fields". But unlike Americans, all they need to do is look out across their fields, to see the massed forces of the Russian military machine aligned along the Iron Curtain.

In face of such a disheartening picture how has it been possible for the free world to effect any unity whatsoever in its political and military organizations? What force binds century-old nationalistic enemies together? "Old time religion" is a pretty good answer.

He Is the Key
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, key figure in both the political organization that is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its military arm, SHAPE, has been tramping up and down Europe for nine months now with the zeal and much of same spiritual vigor of some of our legendary American evangelists.

In fact, he told us in his European headquarters that he had, indeed, been tagged as "another Billy Sunday". He is willing, he added, to accept the designation because it is his firm conviction that the only way in which the free countries can survive is by creating a unity which is based on a spiritual appeal direct to the hearts of men.

To emphasize this point, General Eisenhower said: "Military might is the product and not the sum of spiritual strength, economic health and military power. If any factor is reduced to zero, the product of the three becomes zero."

Spark of Hope
Eisenhower's "right-hand", Chief of Staff Gen. Albert M. Gruenther, echoed this same philosophy in his briefings. Lieut. Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of Allied Air Forces Central Europe, told us at his Fontainebleau headquarters, that in the year he had been in Europe he had seen a kindling of "the spark of reviving hope". He believes that the reviving hope is coming from the inspiration Europeans are getting from the feeling of collective security created by the cooperative military and political efforts of the United States. Everywhere in the SHAPE command you find this spirit.

But, of course it takes more than inspiration to mass the forces of the free world. What is the nature of the organization we have in Europe today, and how does it function?

Treaty Is Foundation
Foundation stone of this structure is the North Atlantic Treaty, ratified by the United States Senate in July 1949. The treaty, the signatory nations agree that an armed attack against one or more of them shall be considered an attack against all. And they pledge themselves to a continuance of self-help and mutual aid for the purpose of developing their individual and joint capacity to resist aggression.

This treaty sets up NATO, which stands for North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Member nations are Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, United Kingdom, and United States.

The announced object of the North is to preserve peace through strength—by building up the powers of the free world to a point where no aggressor will be bold enough to strike. To build up such a power, NATO, of course, had to develop a military force, and at the Brussels conference in December 1950, the members agreed on plans for building this force. The result is the greatest cooperative effort in history to create a joint army in peacetime for the prevention of war.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was designated supreme commander for the integrated army, and other top positions were filled by officers of the different member nations, who work together as a team.

Headquarters are located near Paris, France, and the command is designated by the initials SHAPE: Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

NATO Countries Cooperate
It was at this headquarters that we heard from General Eisenhower and his chief of staff, General Al Gruenther, just what their problems were with regard to the building of this force, and a summary of some of the solutions which they were using to meet the complicated situations.

All of the countries belonging to NATO are expected to do everything possible to build their own defenses. America's contribution is made through the Mutual Defense Assistance Program—MDAP, which bolsters economic potential and actual military strength with funds, equipment and technical assistance.

These funds and this assistance are not confined to our NATO partners. Other free nations such as Yugoslavia, Turkey, Greece, and Italy share in MDAP programs. The combined efforts are aimed at building for SHAPE, in the shortest possible time, forces of sufficient strength to deter aggression.

Our strategy then is to attempt to deter aggression with a show of military power. Russia seems to understand that kind of talk. But the big question remaining is whether or not we can build our forces fast enough to create the desired stalemate. A discussion of the problems connected with reaching this objective follows in a subsequent article in this series.

Pilot Lunches at Farm After Near-Miss Crash
SALEM, Ore.—An Air Force pilot, Lt. Clarence Burke, bailed out of his flaming F-51 and then accepted the calm invitation to lunch in a farm home that was almost destroyed by his crashing aircraft.

He parachuted to safety from 3,000 feet and then ran to the spot where the plane crashed. The only damage was done by a wing tip that punched a hole in the roof. The plane exploded in the yard. Mrs. James Jackson calmly invited the lieutenant to lunch—and he accepted.

THE FICTION CORNER

FELIX AND MARY

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

FELIX felt somewhat like the man who said there was no use running after a street car once you'd caught it. Mary Snell, after two years of courtship on Felix's part, had finally given in and said she would marry him. When Mary Snell said "Yes" or "No," she meant "Yes" or "No." Felix knew it, too. He knew the battle was won. Mary had said "Yes," and that settled it. Nothing could change her mind.

Mary wanted to get a date for the wedding, but Felix suggested waiting a while. The fact is, he wanted a chance to catch his breath. He wanted, as the story books put it, to have one last fling before becoming a Benedict.

So Felix, without saying a word to any one, packed a bag and set off for Cedar Springs. The first Mary knew about it was a letter which she received from the Springs signed by Felix.

In part, the letter said: "I am combining a short business trip with some deep-sea fishing. Please do not worry about me, darling, as I will be home shortly, and we will make plans for the wedding."

Felix did not mention that on the deep-sea fishing trip he had met a party of young folks, including a very attractive red-headed girl named Nan.

In fact, Felix had such a nice time during the next few days that he decided to prolong his visit. Which he did, writing Mary Snell to this effect. Mary replied that she was glad he was having such a good time and getting rested. She, of course, was busy making plans for during his adolescent years. The boy replied by expressing a wish. "Mother," he said, "the one thing I wish for more than anything else, is to get through the adolescent years, and into the years of adulthood."

Just at that moment there broke into the room a bevy of high school students, boys and girls of the senior class of the community high school. The girls, all too scantily clad, danced through the room, leaving the imprint of lip stick on the tops of several bald heads, and arrayed themselves on the stage, where they gave that man and boy audience an exhibition of tap dancing and high kicking, much to the edification of both men and boys.

It was an answer to that adolescent boy's wish. We are prone to bewail the delinquency of youth, and then we encourage some of it by such undraped display of the community's daughters as was given at that service club luncheon.

What is there in our high school curriculum that calls for such display? Certainly it is not the teaching of culture or feminine modesty. Whatever it is, it would be well to discontinue the study, and so discontinue the encouragement of at least one form of youth delinquency. Let us get back to grandmother's days and ways.

It would seem that old people never die, they just drift into and stay on the relief rolls. In 1934 they numbered 235,000. In 1951 the number had grown to 2,700,000.

BUILDERS OF POWER EQUIPMENT FOR THE FAMILY FARM

GRASSROOTS

Local Government Is as Extravagant as National

By Wright A. Patterson

I WONDER if in your town, where ever it may be, you are experiencing as I am in my town, an ever-increasing tax burden, that is hard to account for. It is an increased burden that comes either in the form of an increased tax rate, an increased valuation on real estate, or a new form of taxes.

I recall the time, not so long ago, when the town gathered up the garbage from the town homes at no cost to the home owners. Then the city officials found they were over-allocating a bet. Some other town was charging a special tax for such a service, and a tax of 50 cents a month for each home was added for that service to meet a need for increased revenue. The need has passed, but the tax is still being collected.

The town needed a new well from which to pump the town's water. It needed the money with which to drill such a well. A supposedly temporary water tax was levied for the purpose. The well was long since paid for, but that tax has not been repealed. A town sales tax was added to the state's sales tax, and it is still being collected, though the purpose for which it was levied has passed.

Some years, I feel the county and town assessors, in order to produce the demanded increase, in revenue simply take selected list and guess at how much increase each will stand without too much of a howl. This year I am sure I was a victim on both lists. With no reason, I was nixed for a material increase on both the county and town tax bills. Because of that, I am howling, but I realize it is voting, not howling that offers the real solution, and at the next county and town elections I, for one, will do the needed voting and register my protest about those tax increases.

We do a lot of complaining about the increased taxes of the federal government, but we do little or nothing about these close-to-home spenders. They are proportionately as bad as Washington. Can we not find those who will find ways to save, as well as ways to spend, or do we try to find them? The tax burden, national, state, county and town has gone far beyond the limit.

If the police would give tickets to the speeding drivers, the fines assessed would help to pay the cost of my home-town government as well as stop the speeding. If the fines collected could go to pay police salaries it might make a difference.

In my town and my county the total of new homes have added heavily to the total of tax valuation, but not enough to satisfy the spenders in both town and county governments.

A few weeks ago I was attending a noon-day luncheon of one of the town's service clubs. The speaker of the day was talking about "Youth Service." He illustrated with a brief story in which a mother of an adolescent son was lecturing him on the need for curbing his activities during his adolescent years. The boy replied by expressing a wish. "Mother," he said, "the one thing I wish for more than anything else, is to get through the adolescent years, and into the years of adulthood."

Just at that moment there broke into the room a bevy of high school students, boys and girls of the senior class of the community high school. The girls, all too scantily clad, danced through the room, leaving the imprint of lip stick on the tops of several bald heads, and arrayed themselves on the stage, where they gave that man and boy audience an exhibition of tap dancing and high kicking, much to the edification of both men and boys.

It was an answer to that adolescent boy's wish. We are prone to bewail the delinquency of youth, and then we encourage some of it by such undraped display of the community's daughters as was given at that service club luncheon.

"I farm 240 acres of black loam, and I've found that there are times when I need tires with extra traction to get my work done. THERE'S only one sure way to tell the difference between tractor tires, and that is to put them to work. On any job, you can soon see that the Firestone Champion Open Center outpulls all other open center tires.

From the tractor seat you'll soon see why it outpulls all other tires. It's the only open center tire with Power-Arc traction bars, tapered and curved to take a full-traction bite deep into the ground. And it's the only tire that is designed to cup the soil for a stronger grip and give positive cleaning as well.

Of course if you are one of the million or more farmers who prefer a traction-center type of tire, be sure to get the only traction-center tire ever built... the Firestone Champion Traction Center.

Buy Firestone Champions for your tractor. You'll find them the best tires you can use.

Nation Joined In Polio Fight

The 1952 March of Dimes campaign now being conducted here and in 16,000 communities throughout the country is aimed at equipping the nation to cope with polio on a national basis—the only way, experience has shown, that this strange epidemic disease can be fought with any degree of success.

The fact that no community—no matter how large or small—can meet a full-scale attack of infantile paralysis, is demonstrated by the experience of the first ten months of 1951 when headquarters of the National Foundation sent almost $7,000,000 in March of Dimes funds to some 900 county chapters whose own funds had been depleted by epidemic demands.

But money, as such, is not the only factor in fighting an epidemic of polio. When infantile paralysis strikes, many other forms of help must come from the "outside," help such as nurses, physical therapists and equipment. During 1951, hundreds of trained personnel and huge quantities of equipment were dispatched to critical areas by the National Foundation.

This two-way fight by headquarters and its chapters is made possible by an even division of March of Dimes funds. Half the money raised remains with the chapter for care of local patients and, in emergencies, to supplement the national epidemic aid fund. The other 50 per cent goes to national headquarters for research, professional education and emergency assistance to chapters in critical areas.

FARM AND HOME WEEK PROGRAM AT COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE FEB. 4-8

The annual winter program of the College of Agriculture for rural folks will be held during the week of Feb. 4 to 8. Traditionally the program has become known as Farm & Home Week. It will open with sectional meetings at 1:15 o'clock on Monday afternoon. For the remainder of the week each day's program will start with a general session at 9:30 a. m. which will be held in the stock pavilion building located to the west of the agricultural college campus. Nationally known agricultural leaders will speak at the morning sessions. Sectional meetings will be held in the afternoon. They will offer programs on practically every phase of farming and rural home-making.

Any Wisconsin farm family is invited. All programs are free and open to the public.

FORMER FARM SHORT COURSE STUDENTS TO HOLD REUNION

All former students of the farm short course of the College of Agriculture will have an opportunity to renew acquaintances with those who attended short courses with you and with many of your former instructors.

A reunion dinner is being planned for Wednesday noon, Feb. 6, at 12:30 in the short course dining hall. An invitation to attend is extended to every former short course student. Those desiring to attend are asked to notify Frank Wilkenson, farm short course director, agricultural hall, not later than Monday, Feb. 4.

EVERGREEN TREE SEEDLINGS ARE AVAILABLE FROM STATE

Those wanting to plant evergreen tree seedlings or transplants should place their orders for them now while most varieties are still available.

These young trees are grown by the Wisconsin Conservation Department and sold at cost to those who want them for windbreak or woodlot replacement plantings. Transplants should be purchased where the trees will be planted in a permanent place. Their cost is approximately $15.00 per thousand. A minimum of 500 must be included in one order.

Orders for 500 or more trees may be made direct with the conservation department. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained from the county agricultural agent's office. Those wanting a few trees only may place their order with the above mentioned office.

WISCONSIN LEADS IN DAIRYING

Wisconsin continues to hold the title of being the leading dairy state in the nation. The Wisconsin and USDA Crop and Livestock Reporting Service recently listed the 18 major manufactured dairy products which included all of the more important types of cheese, powdered, evaporated and condensed milk products, butter and ice cream. In 14 of these 18 products, the Wisconsin production exceeded that of any other state. In the production of cream cheese the Badger state ranked second, third in butter production, fifth in unsweetened condensed whole milk, and eleventh in the production of ice cream.

Wisconsin also ranks first in milk production, producing over 15 billion lbs., which is 13% of the nation's total of approximately 120 billion pounds.

Forty-two cents out of every dollar spent by Wisconsin counties in 1951 went to support welfare programs according to the Public Expenditure Survey.

Although 19 Wisconsin counties this fall reduced their tax levies below 1951 levels, total levies in the state for 1952 budgets were up 2.2 per cent, according to the Public Expenditure Survey.

Catholic Charities Drive for Funds to Start March 23

The 1952 Catholic Charities appeal for $400,000 will be conducted from March 23 to April 6, it was announced this week by Archbishop Moses E. Kiley. The campaign will be under the direction of the Archdiocesan Catholic Charities Council, of which Frank M. Surges, 2653 Pasadena Blvd., Wauwatosa, is the chairman. Surges has headed seventeen previous successful campaigns for Catholic Charities. The amount sought this year is $25,000 more than the goal of the 1951 campaign.

Funds contributed will be used for the continued support of the 21 institutions and agencies in the archdiocese that depend upon financial assistance from the Catholic Charities campaign.

During the next few weeks pastors in the Milwaukee Archdiocese will organize separate campaign units to contact all Catholics in their parishes for solicitation of funds.

Mr. Surges pointed out that the increased cost of food, clothing and operation of charitable institutions and agencies, and the expanding population requires even greater generosity from contributors. He expressed confidence, however, in the ability of the people in the archdiocese to raise the amount needed.

Farm building materials will be generally available through 1952. Stan Witzel, farm engineer at the University of Wisconsin, predicts, however, that prefabricated construction will climb.

LIGHT MANUFACTURING Building at Campbellsport

1-story masonry building, 50x80, with boiler room attached. Suitable for machine shop, defense plant, distributor, chain store, adapted to a variety of uses. with office space 11x17. Large display room, with 4 large windows, and is 34x47 feet, has large sliding door to second room, 29x47 feet, which has 2 large overhead doors, for drive through arrangements; then there is still another room, 14x47 feet. This partition wall is of concrete block and can be removed if wanted, making this 2nd room 43x47 feet. Has 2 laboratories, one in office. Ceiling height is 12 foot. It has 12 tons of steel I beams, and has a 6" reinforced concrete floor, the footing under this building is 36"x48". Has a low pressure hot water boiler. (Modine type) heating system. This building is well built and 6 years old last September.

The lot has about 125 foot of frontage, with room for about 10 cars for parking, and in addition to the building site, has an 1100 sq. ft. lot on north side of building, which can be used for another part of this building or can be used as a parking lot. This place has a frontage on Highway V and road on north side of lot, also can drive around building.

Its worth your while to investigate before you invest into building a new place. At today's price, you will find that you will have to pay $7.00 per square foot to build, or more, and this place has about 4500 square feet. It would cost anyone about $31,500 or more, without the lot. And could you get the materials?

If you can use this building, which I am holding vacant, I will sell at less than cost, for $23,500, with only $6,000.00 down, and the balance on long term land contract, payable at the rate of $135.00 per month including interest. Included in this price, I will redecorate the front display room and office. And will also put on new roof with Johns Manville material.

For inspection of this building, see, call or write, owner

Teen-Agers Build Local Recreation Center Into Community Boon for All Age Groups

World War II kept the teen-agers in South Boston, Virginia, busy helping with the various drives, collecting scrap, fats, waste paper, rubber—After V-J day they could find no outlet for their surplus time and energy. They became bored and restless; roamed the streets and got into bad company.

In an effort to find a way to use properly the misdirected energy of their young people, South Boston's Parent-Teacher Association called a meeting of representative parents, teachers and high school pupils. The feeling of every adult present was expressed by a member of the local Lion's Club who declared, "Something must be done!"

FEATURE

The very next day he did something. He presented a plan for a community recreation center to the high school student body. Such a center, he told the pupils, would be no easy undertaking. It would mean hard work and constant attention.

The kids, however, were for it. They appointed a committee of five to sound out representatives of the Lion's Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Women's Club, American Legion Auxiliary and the Parent-Teacher Association. To get workable ideas, the committee visited recreation centers in Radford and Danville. After which they made their own plans and submitted them to the Town Council described as "a group of business men who demanded hard facts."

The Juniors eventually presented their side convincingly, for the Council gave its consent, appointed a commission and appropriated money.

Backed by an officially approved recreation commission, the junior committee found a building, an unoccupied garage. In their blue jeans and with sleeves rolled up, they made it ready for occupancy. They scraped thick layers of black grease off the floor; applied lye, then scrubbed the boards with soap and water. They painted the walls, drew cartoons and other designs for good measure. Grown-up groups rolled in equipment, furniture, curtains, tablecloths; the Junior Chamber of Commerce furnished the game room; the Legion Auxiliary and Women's Club, the reception room and office; the Lion's Club and other groups built a stage and dressing rooms and filled in a parking lot.

They named it the "Rectangle Club" and all residents of South Boston, between the ages of 13 and 19 could join. Membership tickets admit one to the Club's activities or to use of the building.

The Club is financed by appropriations from the town council; from dues (50 cents a year) and the profits from a snack bar.

During its early operation, the Club had voluntary adult supervision. The recreation commission, however, realized that they could not expect voluntary supervision to continue indefinitely, so the executive director—then principal of the high school—insisted upon a paid director. And the town council came across with the money.

One of the nice things about the Rectangle Club is the encouragement the recreation commission gives to universal participation. As a result, other age-groups besides the teen-agers, both younger and older, enjoy the recreational facilities of a center which the whole community can call its own. On nights when the Center is not used by the members, it is available to other age-groups. A Sketch Club for instance, uses the Center building every Thursday night.

The vision of maturity, backed by the energy of youth, made possible the Rectangle Club. Also the fact that the teen-agers themselves were included in the decisions and plans from the very beginning. Another decisive factor was the provision for participation of other age-groups. Experienced youth recreational directors find that centers which are run for and by juniors exclusively may start off with a bang but they are not apt to last long.

So it was these three, vision, cooperation and participation by adults and teen-agers together, that solved South Boston's youth problem and made its all-age recreation center an enduring success.

If you never break a promise, if you always pay the money you owe exactly on the day it is due, nobody will know but that you are worth a billion. And you will be just as good a risk as a man worth a billion, for all that he could do would be to pay promptly on the due date.

Lake's Level Varies With Area's Weather

Utah's Great Salt Lake, the "Dead Sea" of the American continent, has had more down than up in recent years. During 1951, however, its water level has been rising.

Fluctuating with the region's rainfall, the lake reached a high for modern times in 1877 and a low in 1940. Today it still has a dozen feet to rise before it attains its high of 74 years ago.

Periods of steady decline in the lake's level have stirred apprehension over its future. A geologist in the 1880's predicted its early disappearance, and government engineers have expressed the conviction that the high water of 1877 will never again be reached.

The salty remnant of what geologists call ancient Lake Bonneville now covers an area slightly larger than the state of Delaware. For centuries it has served as an evaporation pan for the waters of the Jordan, Bear and Weber Rivers that flow into it. It has no outlet. The result is an ever-increasing burden of salt deposited as the water evaporates. The lake now is four to seven times as salty as the ocean, the proportion varying with the changes in level.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Eisenhower's Political Statement Causes Stir in Republican Circles

POLITICS—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower has made a statement that many political observers say clarifies his political intentions. It has also caused a great stir in Republican circles. The general said, in effect, that he would not make any pre-convention fight for the GOP presidential nomination. He added, however, that he has always been a Republican and that he would probably accept a clear cut call to political leadership which is the duty of every American.

Eisenhower's statement was made after he was put on something of a spot during a recent news conference by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, during which the senator announced he was placing the general's name on the New Hampshire Republican ballot.

Before Lodge's news conference, Eisenhower had repeatedly refused to make any comment on his political aspirations. By continued silence, he would have let it be known, in a negative manner, that he was willing to take the Republican nomination. While his statement was not as clear as some would have liked, it was noted that the general did not request his name held off the New Hampshire ballot. Eisenhower has assumed a unique, if somewhat confusing, position in American politics in the eyes of the average home town voter.

Almost as startling as Senator Lodge's maneuvering and Eisenhower's statement, was the announcement by The New York Times, one of America's oldest and most influential newspapers, that it would support the general "enthusiastically" if he becomes a candidate for President. The newspaper has supported GOP presidential candidates only twice in the past 20 years.

Said The Times in a lead editorial: "We have given our support on those occasions to the Democratic candidate essentially because we were reluctant to trust the Republican party on issues of foreign policy and because we believe these issues to be the decisive issues of the campaign, lowering high above all domestic issues—for the clear and sufficient reason that without a sound and courageous foreign policy the country's prosperity, even the very independence of this nation would be endangered."

"In General Eisenhower we have a man who shares this conviction. We are confident that he would be able to lead even the laggards among his fellow Republicans away from isolation and toward world responsibility."

KOREA—The Korean peace talks settled down to a series of name calling, bitterness, and increasing suspicion. Although some progress has been made toward peace during the long months of talking, it is becoming more evident that a final and lasting peace can not be secured in such an atmosphere.

The Russians, meanwhile, indicated they wanted a greater voice in the talks to settle a war they don't even recognize, by asking for a meeting of the United Nations security council to consider the armistice negotiations. The proposal was rejected at once by the United States, Great Britain and France. American officials said such a session—where Russia has a veto—would worsen the prospect of peace in Korea by bringing political issues into the negotiations.

ECONOMY—Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, has conducted a severe pinch in civilian goods for the first three months of this year. The prediction was made in Wilson's annual report of rearmament under the national emergency program.

He predicted: (1) Materials for consumer goods in general in the first three months of 1952 are sharply reduced from the levels of the first quarter of 1951. On the basis of present calculations the second quarter allotments will be even tighter; (2) Requirements of the military and atomic-energy programs for most materials will either continue at the same levels throughout 1952 or rise slightly; (3) After military and atomic energy needs are met in such strategic materials as steel, aluminum, and copper, the material remaining will be divided between industrial expansion, consumer goods, public services, limited export requirements, and stockpiling.

As for the past year, Wilson termed it one of great progress, but said more could have been accomplished.

CHURCHILL—Winston Churchill, who will go down in history as one of the great men of our times, arrived in the United States for a series of huddles with President Truman and top military brass. Mr. Churchill's agenda was almost as magnificent as his personal appearance. It included everything from economic aid to plans for joint defense of the west.

The key to the talks was quickly revealed when President Truman met the 77-year-old Prime Minister at a Washington airport. Said the President: "I can't tell you when I have had more pleasure than I have this morning in welcoming you as a visitor to the United States of America." Replied Mr. Churchill, with the force and clarity of the Roosevelt days: "We have only to go along together, each doing loyally his best to understand the other's point of view . . . and we shall find ourselves safe at the end of the road."

There followed a series of meetings between the President and Mr. Churchill, and Mr. Churchill and top military brass. The complete results of these talks may not be known for years, but it is evident they have resulted in closer cooperation between the two countries. Churchill, no doubt, has received assurances of economical help so badly needed by Great Britain. Whether or not Britain will join in the European defense army with greater enthusiasm than previously indicated has not been announced. Most observers believed that was one of the Prime Minister's bargaining points.

SCANDALS—The second session of the 82nd congress had been in session just a few hours when it became evident the nation is in for more months of spectacular investigation.

In the senate and house there were committees and subcommittees in every corner screaming for more investigations of corruption in high places, income tax frauds, murder, and underworld activities. It was evident, too, that there would be more investigations of Communists in government and defense industries.

Meanwhile, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath continues his new offensive against organized crime in the nation. McGrath's drive started after Treasury department agents swooped down on suspected narcotic offenders and arrested more than 500 persons.

It was evident the two drives were a part of the administration's announced plan to clean up crime and graft. But in the eyes of most home towners, the administration's campaign is a little like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

FARM ELECTION STRATEGY Democrats May Stand Pat on Farm Policy

According to reports circulating around Washington, the administration is unlikely to change its farm policy in the face of the approaching presidential campaign. The strategy, observers are reporting, will be to concentrate on the claim that a Republican victory in 1952 would endanger existing benefits of the farm program, and sidetracking any controversial issues that might arise.

Democratic advisors point out that the plan worked well in 1944 and 1948. In 1949 the administration pushed the Brannan plan which would have made much greater use of federal subsidies to maintain agricultural prosperity. National farm organizations put up stiff resistance to the plan and it failed to get approval of the congress.

The latest controversial issue in the administration's farm program is the so-called "family-farm policy survey" conducted by Brannan last year to get ideas on how federal programs might better promote the welfare of family-operated farms.

This survey also ran into opposition on the charge that the survey was made to give the Democratic material for a 1952 farm issue. The large farm organizations also charged that the administration was attempting to short-circuit the farmers' own organizations.

Synthetic Sow's Milk Is Used Successfully

3,000 Piglets Raised On Experiment Formula

The development of a synthetic sow's milk, made possible by the wonder drug terramycin was announced recently by Herbert G. Luther, research scientist associated with the Pfizer & Co., laboratories of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The formula, called Terralac, was tried on 500 piglets at the company's laboratories. In addition, 3,000 piglets have been raised successfully without sows on several large pig farms which cooperated in the testing of Terralac. Luther contends the formula may revolutionize the swine-raising industry. In the first place, his experiment reduced infant pig mortality to an astonishing 5 per cent, as contrasted with the national average of 21 to 33 per cent. It also largely solved the problem of the runt, long a bane to hog-raisers, by making growth-stimulating terramycin and milk equally available to all pigs in the litter.

Piglets on test in the laboratory of Chas. Pfizer & Co. For this photograph the front of each of the top two cages has been removed. Bottom shows normal setup.

Luther emphasized that good pig farm management is essential for the successful use of Terralac. Constant temperature must be maintained, either via the use of heat lamps or by blowing warm air. And it must be prepared properly and fed at regular intervals.

Average U.S. Farm Bigger As Number Falls

The Bureau of the Census reports a decided trend toward fewer but bigger and better equipped farms between 1940 and 1950. The number decreased by 713,000 in the decade, the bureau reports, but the average size unit grew from 174 acres in 1940 to 210.5 acres in 1950. There were 5,384,000 farms in 1950, against 6,097,000 in 1940.

The sharpest decrease came in the five years between 1945 and 1950, when the number of farms dropped by 475,000.

Other statistics in the report included: About 870,000 fewer persons were working on U.S. farms in 1950 than in 1940.

Less than one-third as many horses and mules were on farms in 1950 as in 1920.

In 1950 there were 59,764,000 cattle and calves more than 3 months old on farms as compared to 60,674,736 in April, 1940.

The number of chickens on farms was 2,500,000, or 0.7 per cent more than in 1940.

Plenty of Pull

One of the newest aids to farmers is the power curve tire developed by B. F. Goodrich engineers to provide maximum traction and prevent bogging down of heavy tractors and combine in the sticky mud or sandy soil of rice fields. The tire is reported to be the first suitable for use in all types of soil used for growing rice.

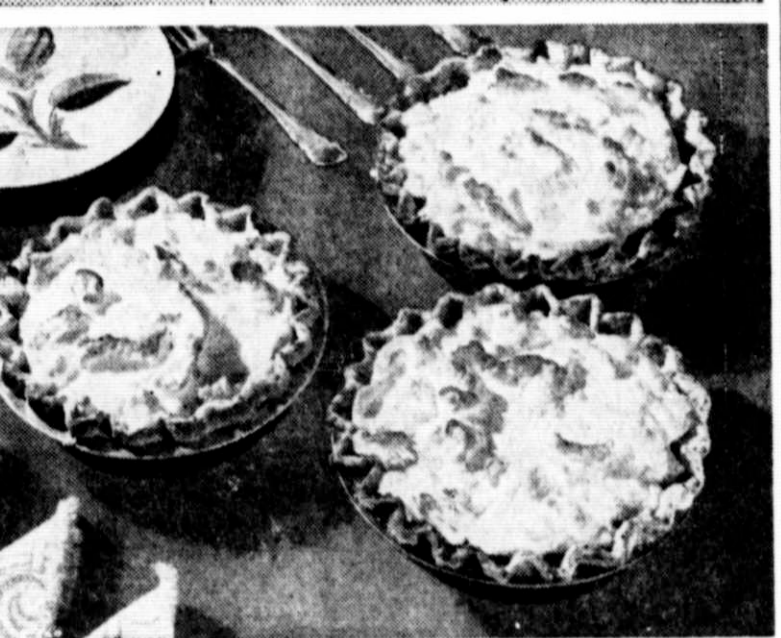

Veterinary Group Sets Up New Defense Committees

A nation-wide network of defense emergency committees has been set up by the veterinary medical profession to help safeguard this country's livestock health and food production in case of war, the AVMA reports. The committees will assist on defense measures in case of biological warfare, atomic warfare, atomic blasts, or other wartime emergencies concerned with the nation's animal population.

Place Home Freezers In a Warm Location

A farm electrical specialist has warned that you may have trouble with your home freezer this winter if it is located where temperatures get as cold as they are outdoors. If located in the garage, back porch, breeze way or some place where cold can get to it, it may not run because the lubrication stiffens. Check the manufacturer's recommendations for locating your freezer or move it into a warm location.

Spiced Pastry Makes Delicious Tarts (See Recipes Below)

WHETHER YOU MAKE individual tarts or a single pie to serve several people, you know that pastry makes a special kind of dessert, bound to be pleasing to anyone.

The crust should be meltingly tender, of course, and it might be lightly spiced for added appeal. The filling, whether a custard type, fruit or berries, delicious to taste, smooth as satin on the tongue.

For a heavier tart filling like lemon give the meal proper contrast. For lighter dinners, the rich custard fillings fill the dessert role perfectly.

At your next luncheon or dinner party, something new in the way of pastry would be spiced pastry for the tart shells and a lemon filling, swirled with peaks of meringue.

Lemon Meringue Tartlets (Makes 4)

- Spiced Pastry: 2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 3 tablespoons orange or citrus juice. Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Mix together vinegar and fruit juice and add to dry ingredients. Mix lightly with a fork. Roll dough 1/8 inch thick into four rounds. Line 5-inch pie pans, making a fluted edge. Prick shells well. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

Lemon Filling and Meringue: 1 package lemon pudding, 3 egg whites, Pinch of salt, Pinch of cream of tartar, 1/2 cup sugar. Prepare 1 package lemon pudding as directed on box. Cool slightly and pour into baked pastry shells. Beat 3 egg whites until foamy. Add pinch of salt and pinch of cream of tartar. Beat until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar. Continue beating until stiff and glassy. Spread over filling. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 5 to 7 minutes or until lightly browned.

Rich Lemon Tarts (Makes 5)

- 5 baked tart shells, 2 inches in diameter, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 whole eggs, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 cup lemon juice. Melt butter. Stir in sugar. Beat whole eggs and yolks well and add to butter-sugar mixture. Stir in lemon juice. Stirring constantly, cook until thickened. Let cool. Spoon into tart shells. If desired, garnish with whipped cream or lightly browned swirls of meringue.

Peaches and Cream Pie (Serves 6-8)

- 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, 2 packages frozen peaches, 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin. The pie crust should be rolled thin, less than 1/8-inch thick. Trim and flute. Wash apricots well and dry thoroughly. Cut apricots in small pieces and spread over bottom of crust. Combine eggs, sugar and salt; beat until well blended and foamy. Add cottage cheese, milk and cream and stir until well mixed. Pour this mixture over apricots and sprinkle the top with cinnamon. Bake in a hot (450° F.) oven for 10 minutes, then turn oven down to slow (325° F.) for an hour.

LYNN SAYS: Add Flavor Contrast To Your Menus Daily

Spanish rice makes an excellent cold winter supper dish, but it can be enhanced with the addition of bulk pork sausage blended with the rice. Serve spinach as a vegetable, apple-raisin salad and fruit and cookies.

What does one serve with chili for a well-balanced meal? Vienna bread, warmed and buttered is tasty. Follow with a fruit salad and ice cream for dessert.

Serve some veal for a change, creamed, perhaps, with mushrooms and over rice which has been mixed with curry. Broccoli is a good vegetable choice and tomato in a salad. Gingerbread with whipped cream and sliced bananas provides an adequate dessert.

Pork chops are a family favorite, but they're rosy and beautiful if you take them with a topping of cranberry jelly mixed with a bit of crushed pineapple and grated orange rind. Rice makes a good accompaniment, then green beans, pear salad and frosted cupcakes.

Spareribs give a hearty dinner and are properly contrasted with mashed potatoes, lima beans, crisp relishes and a tart lemon pie.

Family like meat balls? Team them with mashed or boiled potatoes, serve stewed tomatoes, apple-celery salad and cherry pie.

Nothing's easier to prepare than macaroni in which you've folded some chunks of frankfurter. Add to this main dish buttered beans, apple-banana-nut salad and some vanilla pudding and the meal's complete.

Braised ox joints give you a flavorful winter meal and are good with noodles, carrots, crisp relishes and canned peaches with ice cream.

Give hamburgers a bit of spice with mustard, horseradish and Worcestershire sauce mixed in to season them. Serve with French fried potatoes, cabbage and apple slaw and a deep-dish plum pie.

When it's corned beef and cabbage for dinner, the remainder of the meal can be simple. Serve boiled potatoes, of course, then a mixed fruit salad and vanilla pudding topped with chocolate sauce.

It's Wonderful! The Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE—NOT GOOD FOOD. Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about removing waste, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here you wonder why Pinex's action is so wonderfully fully direct! Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon—right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out. But gentle Pinex—never taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, run-down feeling. Use Pinex as directed. Get Pinex-A-Mint! No increase in price—still 25c, 50c or only life.

A radio skit in first aid on severe burns, "Unhappy Surprise" was presented by Ariene and Evelyn Staehler, Carol Riley and Kenneth Stahl with Eileen Laatsch, narrator. The skit revealed how a twelve year old girl cooked a surprise dinner for her father's birthday, and in her enthusiasm forgot to be careful around the stove. She was severely burned and a thoughtful neighbor administered first aid.

Time for refreshments. Margo Weiss told how the hot tomatoes she was about to serve were prepared. Mary Ann Stahl explained the procedure of baking her treat, a marshmallow nut torte. Kenneth Stahl served the soda.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, February 13. Roger Zettler, president, appointed Eileen Laatsch, Mary Degner, and Irene Enright to be in charge of refreshments.

Great Surgical Advances Achieved in Recent Years One medical authority estimates that in the past 25 years science has learned more about the heart diseases than in all previous centuries. Another prominent physician has stated "If the conquest of these diseases continues at the rate which characterized the 15 years just past, within the lifetime of physicians now living there will be no cardiovascular disease which cannot be prevented or corrected."

Less than three years ago—June, 1949—a physician for the first time reported successful operation within a living heart to remove blockage to the flow of blood. The feat since has been performed many times, and although an insufficient period has elapsed to permit full evaluation of results, there is reason to believe that the technique has opened a new highway to life for many.

Research workers are attempting to perfect a machine that will pump and purify blood as a "mechanical heart" for operative purposes. If successful, the machine will permit surgeons, by diverting the blood stream through the "mechanical heart," to perform needed surgery in a bloodless field, thus making possible even greater advances in heart surgery.

Among other dramatic recent advances is the surgical method developed to save so-called "blue babies." A fairly large artery branching out from the aorta (the great artery that leads from the heart) is severed and then tied into the pulmonary artery (the vessel carrying blood from the heart to the lungs) increasing very greatly the amount of blood flowing into the lungs for oxygenation. The "blue" look disappears almost immediately as the oxygen supply of the blood becomes sufficient.

How permanent the effects of this operation are, remains to be seen. The few years that have elapsed since it first was performed, are not enough to show whether it will overcome permanently some of the harmful effects of the many elements present in this condition. The heart sometimes enlarges after the operation and it may be that further difficulties will develop, but obviously there has been a great gain.

Thirteen years ago another technique was first demonstrated—the right against heart disease. At birth, a duct connects the aorta and the pulmonary artery. This duct normally shrivels away when the baby begins to use his lungs for breathing. If the duct fails to disappear, it interferes with the proper oxygenation of the vital blood supply.

In 1939, a surgeon succeeded in tying off this duct. A short time later, a method was found to remove the duct entirely, thus reducing possibilities of infection.

Still another recent advance in surgery, was the successful "peeling" of scar tissue from the outer walls of damaged hearts. In this operation, the surgeon seeks to remove constricting tissue that prevents proper action of the heart muscles.

These advances in surgery, coupled with the tremendous strides made in prevention, care and treatment are only the beginning of the fight against a disease that claimed 740,000 lives in 1950 and disabled millions more. But they are substantial advances—advances that point the way to new hope for hearts.

This is one of a series of public service to promote better community understanding of the heart diseases and to encourage sound precautionary health measures.
