Ed. Campbell, Other Lakers Trip Grafton Members of County Draft Board Resign

Washington county is still withou a functioning draft board following the resignation last week of three o its members because of the "mild cri ticism" leveled at them by Coi, Bentley Courtenay, head of the state's sel ective service program.

The three who quit the board after being allegedly told by Courtenay that their drafting of farm youths was under the state quota are former Chairvey Dettman, town of Farmington and Ed. Campbell, Kewaskum.

They resigned after Col. Bentiey Courtenay on Jan. 16 pointed out that Washington county had more than the average number of farm deferments. Harold Emmer, Hartford police chief, won, 69-65, but it was very close an and Robert Laubenheimer, Richfield, the way with the lead changing man the other two board members, said they intend to "stay on the job."

Emmer made the original announcement that the three board members tenay said that the board's percentage although the county's quota was 22 per cent. Courtenay also told the board.

Dettman said that he resigned because of the accusation that the quota was not being met correctly. Both signed because draft board duties were interfering with their jobs. Board

Similar resignations have taken place in Pepin, Buffalo and Clark counthe state were functioning except in Washington county. This board expected a quorum by the end of the week, he said.

Kewaskum Farmers Win Grassland Ag Awards at Farm Institute Meeting

Close to 250 farmers attended county farm institute meeting on grassland agriculture held at the West Park hall, West Bend, on Thursday, Jan. 31. E. E. Skaliskey, county agricultural agent, planned the meeting and served as its cnairman.

The program opened with a film on the putting up of grass silage using a molasses type of preservative. A second film on grass silage making, supplied by the Gehl Manufacturing company, showed and told the story of putting up grass silage without the use of a preserving agent. This film showed a number of scenes on Washington county farms.

Speakers on the program included George Werner, dairy husbandry spectalist of the College of Agriculture who discussed the use of good quality home grown feeds to produce less expensive livestock feeding rations and which contained sufficient protein to insure high milk production. F. V. Burcalow, extension agronomist of the College of Agriculture, spoke on the newer trends in grassland farming 13. and explained how a good method of grassland agriculture can be carried on with a resulting decrease in the cost of livestock feeds. E. E. Skaliskey spoke briefly on the adapted varieties leading in the Lakes circuit. The tel of farm grains recommended for the coming season's planting and on the commercial fertilizer outlook for 1952.

A film giving modern trends in commercial fertilizer usage was also shown. In connection with the program a best hay and best silage contest was held. Many farmers brought in samples of their hay and silage and this helped make an interesting contest. Below are listed the winners: Long hay-John Heisdorf, Kewas

Community Defeated Weather, Mountain To Create Own Winter Recreation Area

Last week we discussed in this space how the little community of Grand Marais, Minnesota, tamed a mountain. In another version of the now familiar challenge-and-response sequence which seems to be back of virtually every forward step taken by America's small towns, the people of Grand Marais pooled their energies and talents in a concerted effort to convert the pristine wilderness of "Old Sawtooth" mountain into a wintertime recreation area by constructing some top-flight ski trails.

The spirit of cooperation worked another miracle. The MAIN STREET FEATURE townspeople, by dint of their diligent and forceful labors, not only managed to carve out an excellent skiing area but also developed some expert skiers in the process. With this groundwork laid, Grand Marais went ahead to put the final trimmings on the big project.

In April last year, the Sawtooth Mountain Ski Club-now a member of the Central U.S. Ski association-sent a delegate and an alternate to the Iron Mountain, Michigan, convention of the association. The delegation had instructions to bid for the Central downhill and slalom championships, the top sectional event of its kind. Supported by the Duluth Ski Club, Grand Marais got the bid-the first time it ever had been awarded to a Minnesota club.

But Old Sawtooth still was trying to get the upper hand. To hold a championship a suitable ski chalet had to be built, a difficult task at best. Still, this was the kind of challenge that the Grand Marais ski enthusiasts understood. So they began planning for a log building that would be a structure of passing great beauty, located on top of the mountain where the view was something to make you catch your breath.

Everybody was willing to cooperate-except the weatherman. In order to build on top of the hill, the skiers had prevailed upon the county to build a two-mile sky-line drive to the chalet site. But then it rained, all through the summer of 1951, like it seldom had rained before.

The right-of-way was a soupy clay formation that bogged down heavy machinery. Not until late in the fall was the road ready, and even then it had to freeze before vehicles could pass over it. The chalet project was going begging.

Down in town, however, a committee was out getting funds for the proposed building. Upwards of $6,000 came in by voluntary subscription. Logs were ready in the woods. Bids were called for. And the rain continued.

Finally, between waiting when they had to and working when they could, the men got the forms built and the concrete poured for the foundations. That was last November 12, and by that time the battle was won. The rest of the log chalet construction was brought under way swiftly, and now there is no doubt that the building will be ready for the big Central meet which will be held there this February 16 and 17.

The extent to which the community of Grand Marais cooperated with the ski club in this venture may be seen in the fact that on one evening 75 men and women came out to help clear the new areas. Over a hundred different names of persons who volunteered for work on the chalet alone were listed.

These were the efforts that defeated Old Sawtooth. The rugged slopes of the mountain have been brought under control, and the Sawtooth winter recreation area has come into ascendency.

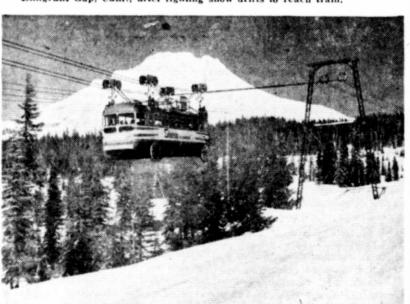

Life affords no higher pleasure than that of surmounting difficulties, passing from one step of success to another, forming new wishes and seeing them gratified. He that labors in any great or laudable undertaking has his fatigue first supported by hope and afterward rewarded by joy.

Truman Submits Record 'Peacetime' Budget of $85 Billion to Congress

President Truman attempted to describe his proposed budget of $85,444,000,000 for the fiscal year which begins July 1. This amount does not include a five to six billion dollar atomic energy expansion program which the President said would be sent to congress in the near future.

This proposed budget is an increase of almost $15,000,000,000 over the current fiscal year which ends June 30. And it is not far from the record World War II spending of $100 billion in the 1945 fiscal year.

As outlined by the President, more than three-fourths of the total would go for national security programs, including $51,100,000,000 for the armed forces, $10,800,000,000 for foreign aid, $1,700,000,000 for atomic given the count of nine. But by some weapons, $811,000,000 for defense production and economic stabilization, and $339,000,000 for civil defense.

The military expansion program, as outlined by the President, would include increasing the armed forces from 3,600,000 to 3,700,000 men, the Air Forces from 90 wings to 143, increase the Army's 19 divisions to 21, he did it. add another 16 major combatant vessels to the Navy's 392, build up to 16 large carrier air groups, and increase the Marine Corps from two to three

All of this, of course, is the proposed plan, depending upon approval of congress. At this point that approval is unlikely, because it would mean another increase in taxation.

Adoption of this budget would mean a deficit of $14,446,000,000 for the next fiscal year unless congress approved the $5,000,000,000 tax increase already requested by the President. But this is an election year and congress will be even more economically minded than in the past.

Congressional debate over this proposed budget during the next few weeks is likely to be bitter. And it will end with congress slashing it as much as possible. At the present moment there is no indication of how much they will cut it. The defense items may be cut some, but the greatest slashes will be foreign aid and less necessary domestic items.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED -- Aging but still dynamic Winston carrots, peas, string beans- Churchill accomplished his mission to the United States. That mission can be best summed up in his own words as he concluded his speech be-

> He said: "Bismarck once said that the supreme fact of the 19th century was that Britain and the United States spoke the same language.

Let us make sure that the supreme fact of the 20th century is that they tread the same path."

It was the third time in a decade that Churchill had addressed a joint session of congress. His speech was well received and it was evident he had accomplished much in bringing about greater cooperation between his country and the United States. Announcements of policy agreements, the transfer of vital materials from one nation to the other, and accord on military matters in Europe after a series of meetings with President Truman and other high officials, also indicated the successfulness of his

The British leader also promised that Britain would help defend Western Europe against Soviet aggression.

And he cautioned the United States "above all things" not to give up its atomic weapons without an iron-clad

FARM PROGRAM-The federal farm programs, of vital interest to home towns across the nation, will cost approximately 7 per cent more next year because of a government need to encourage greater crop and livestock production, President Truman said in his budget message to congress.

According to best estimates the greatest part of the cost would be for price supports, soil-conservation payments, and wheat-export subsidies. The President reported the price-support program is being used to the report that McGrath was to go encourage farm production by keeping support prices of cotton, corn, wheat, soybeans, milk, wool, and several other commodities at 90 per cent

The budget calls for $256,500,000 for payments to farmers who carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, $70,000,000 for subsidies farmers who co-operate with the government's sugar-control program, $182,000,000 for wheat export subsidies, and $75,000,000 for rural telephone and electrification loans.

The British charge Sister Anthony was slain by Egyptian terrorists. Cairo newspapers, however, said she was killed by British bullets. She was slain during a four hour battle between British soldiers and terrorists.

KOREA- Another week dragged by and still no important progress was reported in the Korea peace talks. The United Nations command did offer to reconsider an important phase of its armistice prisoner-exchange demands if the Communists would say how many civilians they intend to return to South Korea. In effect, the U.N. dropped its demand for an equal one-for-one exchange of Red prisoners.

There was no progress on the airfield question that has been holding up negotiations. The Reds insist on rehabilitation of airfields during an armistice. The U.N. command has opposed it.

Meanwhile, at home, Senator Taft called the Korean War unnecessary and useless and said it could have been prevented if the United States had stayed in Korea and rearmed the South Koreans after World War II.

He also said he would make a truce in Korea if he were President because "even a stalemate truce is better than a stalemate war.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, a "native son" candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, may be the key to the coming national convention. Should be throw his influence to either Taft or Eisenhower it could be decisive for that candidate. If the two top men should become deadlocked, he could be the compromise candidate. He is shown here talking to Guy Gabrielson, GOP National Committee chairman, Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco stands behind them.

McGrath Deal

ONLY cabinet member who has outsmarted the President in his accustomed technique for axing an unwanted member of the official family is Attorney General Howard McGrath. Howard was out of the ring, hanging on the ropes, and of the cleverest footwork ever displayed in Washington, he managed to scramble back into the cabinet. Here is the inside story of how

By now, official Washington has become quite familiar with the way Harry Truman eases out a cabineteer he doesn't want. Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug, for in-stance, was axed by a planted story that he was resigning, following which the President said "no comment" at his next press conference, and Krug knew the jig was up. Similar procedure was followed with Defense Secretary Louis John-

Therefore, when word came out of the White House that the Lamar Caudle hearing had embarrassed the President, shrewd politician McGrath beat the President to the punch, offered his resignation - if he embarrassed the administration.

But Harry Truman, who shies from clashes with people he likes personally, hemmed, hawed, said he had no intention of pulling the rug out from under his friend, did not accept the suggested resignation.

Ambassador to Spain

Nevertheless, he did have Donald Dawson look round for another job with sufficient prestige so McGrath could be eased out of the Justice department without loss of face. And Dawson soon came up with the ambassadorship to Spain. This seemed a natural. McGrath is one of the top-ranking lay Catholics in the United States. Shortly thereafter, a carefully planted White House story appeared in the local press that McGrath would go to Spain and that ex-Judge Justin Miller would become the new attorney Naturally McGrath knew exactly what was up. This was the same treatment given Krug and Louey Johnson, Furthermore the McGrath resignation story was followed by a press conference at which the President bluntly refused to comment on All that day, newsmen tried to phone McGrath. Ordinarily easy to reach, he kept ominous silence. However, he was not idle.

Latest Washington gag: "The only thing the Democrats have to fear is-fur itself," . . . Orville Morrison, president of the Sunroc Company of Glen Riddle, Pa., has a remedy for Washington's influence racket. He suggests that all bidders on government contracts be required to file an affidavit that they haven't done any favors for, or spent any mony to entertain federal procurement officers (who award contracts) or their relatives.

Production officials have reported privately to congress that vital defense projects are held up for lack of tools. They described the machine tool shortage as the number one production bottleneck, acute as during the hottest days of World War II

After witnessing the "Alert America Convoy" for devil defense, President Truman told aides: "This will make a convert of anyone who sees it. We've got to have maximum production to win a war and neither human lives or production can be safeguarded in this atomic age without adequate civil defense.

TEN BASIC SERVICES FORM CORE OF HOME FRONT PROTECTION

By MILLARD CALDWELL Federal Civil Defense Administrator

The Federal Civil Defense Administration, for the sake of national uniformity, has set up these ten basic services: Warden, Fire, Police, Health, Welfare, Engineering, Rescue, Communications, Transportation, and Staff. You can imagine what a gigantic task it will be to man these various services. Some 15,000,000 volunteers are needed for this The backbone of civil defense is the They would have the responsibility of the emergency, he helps restore order. Wardens must be volunteers, well known and respected in the community, whose leadership will be accepted by their neighbors and fellow workers. As a general rule, each warden post will be responsi-ble for a residential block or factory area where about 500 people live or work. Several wardens may be assigned to such a post. They will teach people how to protect themselves, instruct them in civil defense regulations, distribute civil part in the warden service. Dimes Drive In Final Week

As the 1952 March of Dimes campaign neared its close this week, national and local officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis joined in pre-dicting that the American people would see to it that the March of Dimes overtakes and keeps pace with the quickening march of polio.

Doubling of the March of Dimes period this year was necessi-tated by tripled incidence of polio during the last four years. Each year the National Foundation has gone into debt providing for patient care of children and adults stricken with polio-the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

Incidence during the last four years has been so high that an entirely new concept of polio has been developed, a concept geared to 30,000 cases a year instead of the ten to twelve thousand cases experienced during the previous decade.

Since scientists say it is likely that accelerated polio incidence will continue until the final answer to the disease is discovered, it seems clear that the only way left open to cope with the challenge of this frightening new concept is to meet it squarely with a new concept of giving.

Only a new and enlarged concept of giving will enable the nation to cope with the three big increases that cloud the polio picture—increased incidence, increased numbers of carry-over cases requiring expensive long-term care, and increased costs of hospitalization, trained personnel and equipment.

hospitalization, trained personnel and equipment.

On National Foundation records are cases that have cost upwards of $30,000; and bills of $5,000 to $10,000 per year for many other patients are by no means rare.

All of these facts make clear why the 1952 March of Dimes

Good Pasture Program Means More Profits Over-Grazing Can Kill

Out Pasture Growth

Now is the time to plan a "complete pasture program" that will give your dairy cattle an abundance of high quality, low cost feed at all times next year, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The Farmer who has an all-season supply of succulent forage, grass silage or hay is the farmer who will have bigger milk checks, lower feed costs and more overall profits, the committee points out.

Earl Jones, Ohio State University extension agronomist, says that a well-rounded pasture plan should in-clude: (1) Seeding well adapted legume-grass mixtures; (2) The use of lime and commercial fertilizer; (3) Good grazing management.

Jones recommends alfalfa, ladino clover and grass for summer grazing. Where alfalfa does not thrive, ladino clover and grass will do a good job. Timothy, brome grass or orchard grass may also be used. He cautions farmers to avoid killing out pasture growth by overgrazing and to provide palatable and nutritious pasture by avoiding under grazing. Jones suggests dividing pasture areas into lots. Cattle are lot and then are moved to another. Along with good legume-grass mixtures and managed grazing, Jones emphasizes the benefits from adding lime and fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash

Poultry Industry Expects To Boost Production

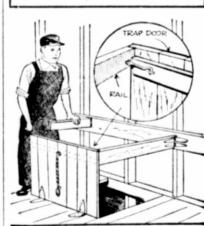

One of the nation's newest agricultural industries is expected to boost the value of poultry products beyond the four billion dollar mark this year.

This new industry-known as the broiler industry-is expected to account for almost half the chicken meat consumed in 1951, compared to an almost negligible amount 15 years ago. Poultry breeders have succeeded in developing chickens that eat less and still grow from two to three weeks faster to reach mar-

H. H. Alp, Director of Commodity Departments for the American Farm Bureau Federation, recently credited the success of the new industry to the nationwide Chickenof-Tomorrow program sponsored since 1945 by A & P Food Stores.

Only a few years ago, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, most of the chicken meat consumed in this country came from so-called "backyard flocks." Records of specialized broiler production in 1934 show that these chickens accounted for only 3 per cent of total consumption of 18.8 pounds of chicken per capita. In 1951 broilers are expected to account for 51 per cent of a per capita consump-tion of 29.7 pounds.

Hayloft Door

If you have a trap door in your barn loft, here is an idea that could possibly save you a dangerous fall. Fit it with guardrails as shown above. The rails, which are hinged to the barn wall, swing outward and are booked to the trap door when it is in the upright position. When the door is closed the rails are folded flush against the wall.

Frozen Foods Show Huge Gain During Past Year

A record percentage of farm produce is moving to consumers in frozen form. Figures compiled by A & P Food Stores, operator of 4,500 markets in 37 states with six million customers daily, show an overall in-crease in frozen food sales of 38.9 per cent. Leading this list of foods are citrus juice concentrates orange and grapefruit juice, a blend of the two, and lemon mix. Peas, and strawberries also increased.

Hormones Used for Many Horticultural Practices

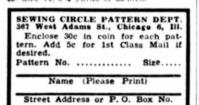

Hormones are being used for many different horticulture practices these days. For example, you can use a hormone that makes Mc-Intosh apples hang on a tree for a week or two longer, or another that will ripen them quicker than normal. Hormones are also being used to kill weeds, to make plants grow slowed or faster, to make certain vegetables keep longer, and to make some types of cuttings root faster.

Chicago's 'Cow Barn' Will Be Site of Political Conventions

By Walter A. Shead

WNU Washington Correspondent To some from the rural areas, Chicago's "Cow Barn" will be a familiar sight, but to thousands of others, both delegates and visitors to the national political conventions next July, the 1952 setting for the presidential nominations may seem

For the site of the two national conventions has been switched from the traditional Chicago stadium or the Windy City's west side, to the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards, home of the famous International Live Stock Exposition and other big agricultural shows. This year's conventions add up to 21 national political conventions held in Chicago, 13 to them for the Republican party and eight for the Remocrats.

Republicans will convene on Monday, July 7, with the Democrats following them into the amphitheatre two weeks later on Monday, July 21. There will be 1199 Republican delegates, 105 more than were recognized at the 1948 convention in Philadelphia, while the official Democratic delegation will be 1,230,

International Amphitheatre, Chicago's great convention, exposition and sports building is the site for the Republican and Democratic national conventions in July, 1952. The arena of the huge structure is now air-conditioned for greater comfort of those who occupy its 12,000

Despite the fact that the stock yards amphitheatre seats 8,000 less than the stadium, there are several compensatory factors which led to selection of the new site. One paricularly good reason is that the mphitheatre is air-conditioned and at in itself is compensation when heat factor on a Chicago July is taken into consideration. Other factors included the fact that adjacent to the convention hall itself are four large rooms for housing committees and other essential activities of the convention, also air conditioned, plus large adjacent rooms to serve as workrooms for the press and radio, the necessary ent for telegraph, telephone and teletype machines, dark rooms for photographers and other work King and I", she has been appear- incidental to such a big show as a

HAROLD BECKLEY and William Donaldson, superintendents of the senate and house press galleries, respectively, and other members of a press committee, with representatives of the Republican and Democratic national committees, already have worked out seating arrangements to handle approximately 1500 reporters for newspapers, periodicals, magazines, radio and tele-. Members of a joint comittee from the two national committees also have worked out their arrangements to handle the delegates, seating and temporary stands, the two committees to share the expense jointly. FICTION CORNER

NOT A GOOD RISK

By Maud McCurdy

George looked startled. "We can't take children, Janet," he ton, his partner, put a full page advertisement in the newspaper.

WITHIN an hour after the paper came out people began coming, prosperous-looking young couples, every one with children. They were excited over the place, anxious to sign leases at once.

George was bewildered. He asked Peter what on earth had he put in the ad. "Only couples without children," Peter said firmly.

George, began to feel a little despered, "you really are not a very perate. There was one pretty young good matrimonial risk." She left mother, with violet eyes, almost the color of Janet's, who said feelingly, "Mr. Hartley, the mothers of this town will call you blessed."

> "But I . . . " George started to say mistake had been made, but was stopped by another young couple shaking his hand and saying, "This is wonderful. It's like a dream."

George was perspiring. He found a moment, and took a look at the ad. There it was in bold type, "Only couples with children need apply."

Leaving Peter in charge, George drove to the newspaper office. Before he could get to the advertising department a reporter button-holed him. "Mr. Hartley, the whole town is talking about what you've done. You've really made news. This will make every newspaper in the state.' George pulled away from him. hurried to the advertising department. A voice said, "Yes?" and a pair of violet eyes looked up and met George's. A quick flush came to her face. "George, they only put me on this desk yesterday and I-I made the mistake. I'm sorry.'

George stood there looking at her as if he never wanted to stop. 'Look, Janet. I was looking at the matter in a cold-blooded, business way." He drew a long breath and went on, "You didn't make a mistake. I did. The place is just like you said, a natural for children. And they're there already, about a dozen of them with their perents.'

"George, you mean th t?" Janet asked. "You're not just saying it to get me to change my mind?" "I never meant anything more," George answered.

"I'm glad," Janet said. "You now . . . I must have had my mind on the children. I didn't make the mistake in your ad on purpose. I really didn't, George, and don't you ever say I did."

George just smiled. The whole office force might be looking, but he didn't care. He bent his head and

LETTER TO A 'G.I.'

SERGEANT R. E. REESE, an American prisoner of the Chinese, in a letter to his mother asked for a photo of his auto. "I kind of want a picture of that old car, if you still have it around," he wrote. He will get it. And if the car could write a letter to accompany the picture, it would say: Dear Pal:

Well, it sure was great to hear from you and to know you feel that way about me. My picture . . . gee! what a kick I got! I ain't had any thrill like it since I came off the assembly line. It's the first time I was asked for my photo and I guess it has happened to few jalopies in history. I feel pretty distinc tive and almost like I had also been asked for my autograph.

I hope you like this photo of me which your mom took right away. She scared hell out of me on account of it was a new experience and at first I figured she was carrying on some correspondence with a second-hand car dealer. Well, I am no beauty. I have been around a lot and taken quite a beating. All my wrinkles show up and while your folks did a lot of polishing on me the nicks, scratches and patches still show. I have not grown fat. It is just that the new cars are more streamlined,

My morale shot away up at the news you really cared so much, and that away over in a Chinese prison camp you wanted my picture. Like the girls always say, "This is so sudden." You used to drive sometimes like you wasn't too fond of me. There were moments when you handled me in a way to make me think that if anybody wanted a photo of me it would be the police department or the junkyard man. But you should see what your request has done to me. I am like a new car. My radiator ornament which looked pretty sour has perked up and the windshield wiper which was extra sluggish is like a new man. My battery fizzes like wine, my headlights blaze, there is a sweeter note in my horn and even my clock has started keeping correct time, which is something that happens to very few auto clocks.

My body squeaks are fewer and I have snapped out of a thousand rattles. You should see how your request for my photo has affected the tires. (They are retreads but they look like new and one of 'em has managed to develop a white wall.) A rear bumper had come loose and was hanging on the starboard side, but it got tight and, so help me, not a human hand touched it. Even the door handles work and my cigar lighter gets hot, although it has not worked in years.

Believe me, your lett me as good as new and I can't wait for you to get home. I missed you, too, bub, something awful. Lots of love.

The Old Bus P.S.-I am sending you both front view and profile. Send me a picture of you.
