Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at Granville, Mequon at West Bend, Germantown at Saukville, Grafton at Slinger, Cedarburg at Newburg.

With Manager Kilian Honeck, Jr. turning in a superb pitching performance for the second week in succession, Kewaskum's giant killers did it again Sunday, upsetting Mequon there, 4-3, with a ninth inning rally.

Honeck wasn't the only star of the game. The hero was Lloyd Petermann, who pulled victory out of the fire by blasting a triple with the bases loaded in the ninth inning. Kewaskum was behind at the time, 3-1, and "Pete's" Frank Merriwell blow won the tilt, 4-3, as Honeck held Mequon scoreless in the last of the ninth.

Honeck held heavy clubbing Mequon to five hits, the same number collected off of D. Renniecke and D. Otting, who came in late in the game to finish up, Honeck struck out six and the Mequon hurlers fanned five. The losers got five men on base on walks and the Chevs three.

Although Petermann's big blow was the important hit of the day, Barney Prost took swatting honors. He poled two in four trips and was the only batter on either team with more than one base hit.

Honeck allowed one hit in each of the first four innings and then gave up only one single in the last five frames. In the big ninth C. Stautz led off with a walk and then Prost followed with a hit. Bilgo whiffed for the third time. Held was safe on a fielder's choice as Stautz was put out at the plate. But then Duenkel, batting for Lutz, walked to fill the bases and Petermann's triple did the rest.

Kewaskum will try its hand at knocking off a leader again this Sunday and this time it will be the big one. After upsetting two second spot clubs the past two weeks they will go after first place Granville there. Granville lost its only contest last Sunday to Grafton. Heavy hitting Granville will prove a tough assignment but the Chevs will go after 'em. A little more hitting power will be needed.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—Many have been puzzled by the contrast between the gloomy reports on business activity from private industry and a glowing outlook held by some government agencies.

For instance, a survey by the National Association of Purchasing Agents indicates business will continue declining. The report says that production was cut back in March to get it more in line with lower orders but that orders were also down, leaving a substantial difference between the two. Moreover, according to the survey, prices were down, inventories are down, employment is down, working hours are down and buying policies "conservative."

On the other hand, the government finds the market value of gross national output during the first quarter was at an annual rate of $339.5 billion, compared with $334.5 billion the previous quarter.

The Commerce Department's answer to the disparity is that higher government defense expenditures make up for the civilian business decline. In April alone, defense spending rose to $4.22 billion compared with an average $3.75 billion in the first three months of this year.

THE OLD TIN CAN—Tin cans have about as much tin in them as the "tin lizzie" of yesteryear did. But, tin or no tin, they keep your car on the road today.

According to American Can Company, motorists now buy about 30 different canned products for their cars—from oil to windshield cleaner. More than 2 1/4 billion cans a year are required to package these auto supplies and accessories and since there are approximately 40 million passenger cars in the country it evens out to about 50 cans annually for each car.

THINGS TO COME—"Just add water" and you, too, can be a farmer. The famous phrase can now be applied to a window-sill garden which contains a scientific material with the needed nutrients and seeds already implanted. Simply add water and you'll soon have your own home-grown parsley for garnishing. . . Two longer-lasting sanders are available. One has a vacuum which picks up 85 per cent of the dust, thus keeping the sanding material from clogging. The other is a sanding material made of mesh fabric which permits easy washing to remove waste material after clogging. . . Due shortly is a combination disc and tape recorder which is said to be similar to professional devices of this type—but less expensive. . . The maker of a tiny fire extinguisher which can fit into a lady's pocketbook says it will smother the hottest fire.

THE WEAKER SEX—Sure it's a man's world—if you overlook the women. Males who underestimate the financial power of women might revise their estimates after seeing a breakdown of the Sheaffer Pen Company's shareholders.

Females own more stock in the pen company than males even though they're outnumbered, 966 to 1,330. The weaker sex owns 242,860 shares compared with 235,679 owned by males.

A total of 1,877 holders own one to 99 shares of the pen company's stock, 848 hold 100 to 999 shares and only 105 have more than 999 shares.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Over-all employment was 248,000 higher at mid-April than at the same time last year but factory employment was 410,000 lower. . . Movie attendances so far this year are running six per cent below last year. . . April retail store sales were $12.6 billion compared with $12.1 billion in March and $11.9 billion in April, 1951. After adjustment for seasonal factors April sales were up two per cent over March and three per cent over the same month a year previous. . . The American Telephone and Telegraph Company plans the biggest corporate financing in history. On June 16 stockholders were offered about half a million dollars in convertible debentures.

U. N. Office Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The population of the world was estimated at 2,400,000,000 by mid-year 1950, according to a report on Population and Vital Statistics, issued here by the U.N. Statistical Office.

According to the report, Europe (excluding the USSR), has a population of 395,400,000, a land area of 4,955,000 square kilometers and a density of population of 80 per square kilometer, while Oceania with a population of 12,900,000 and a land area of 8,550,000 square kilometers has only two persons per square kilometer.

FIRST AID for Everybody

IX--First Aid in Common Emergencies

(This is another of a series of articles, written especially for Central Press Association and this newspaper on first aid, a subject gripping the nation in the light of threatened atomic aggression. The articles are based on the American Red Cross First Aid course. First aid principles, applicable to atomic as well as other disasters, are outlined. The Red Cross offers a 22-hour course free which teaches fully the technique of first aid.)

By Central Press
THE RED CROSS First Aid textbook takes up unconsciousness first in this category. Unconsciousness is tricky as far as the first aider is concerned. He is frequently unable to determine the cause.

Skull fractures, apoplexy and drunkenness are easily confused. A man found unconscious and smelling of alcohol may not have been drunk. He may have had a drink or two and fractured his skull in a fall. An elderly person may have had a stroke of apoplexy. Then again an unconscious person may be just "dead drunk."

Therefore, the first aider is instructed to treat an unconscious person for skull fracture or apoplexy if there is any doubt as to the cause of his collapse.

In examination, of course, look first for bleeding, breath stoppage, poison or sunstroke because a special treatment must be given for each of these at once. Look for injury of the head and for a difference in the size of the pupils of the eye, an inequality common in head injuries and apoplexy. Also look for burns around the lips and smell the breath. In all cases, call a doctor at once.

THE TEXTBOOK divides symptoms of unconsciousness into three groups—red, white and blue. The first is marked by flushed face, strong pulse. Put the patient in a lying position, head raised slightly, and keep him quiet. Apply cold applications to the head and loosen clothing. In white unconsciousness, the symptoms are pale face and weak pulse. Keep the patient in a prone position, his head level or low. Keep him warm. Blue unconsciousness may combine these symptoms. It requires artificial respiration.

In no case is the use of stimulants advised. A drunk, if he can be aroused, may be given something to induce vomiting and later coffee to keep him warm. His legs may be rubbed.

In the case of drunkenness, incidentally, the symptoms cover both the red and white groups of unconsciousness. A flushed face becomes pale later and a strong pulse weak.

In the cases of heart failure, there may be no unconsciousness and symptoms vary. The first aider can recognize the condition by dividing the cases into three groups: (a) Weak pulse, pale face; (b) violent pain in heart region, and (c) cases marked by shortness of breath and red face.

The first two groups should be kept in a lying position and absolutely quiet. Members of the third group must be propped up enough to allow them to breathe. Coffee and tea may help to keep the patient warm. Reassure the patient. Fear is often intense and makes the condition worse.

The Red Cross course in first aid covers ailments in this category, such as convulsions of children and foreign objects in the throat and windpipe.

TOMORROW: Poisoning.

VIRGINIA RAIL

© 1951 National Wildlife Federation

When a fisherman hears grunting sounds coming from a freshwater marsh, he might think, at first, that some baby pigs had wandered into the reeds and cattails. But if he knows his way around the outdoors, he realizes that the noises are made by Virginia Rails.

The shy birds, though graceful in actions, just aren't singers. Besides grunting, they make kicking sounds. And sometimes they call, "wak-wak-wak" or kid-ick-kid-ick."

It is fairly easy to hear their harsh noises, says the National Wildlife Federation, but not so easy to see the birds themselves. They live among the tangled plants along streams and marshes, and usually stay under cover. When disturbed, they try to hide where the growth is thickest, instead of taking to the air.

Among the weeds and rushes, they also build their homes. In a nest made of grasses, the female lays from five to twelve eggs which are white or creamy with a few brown and purple spots. The parents take turns in sitting on the eggs until they are hatched.

The baby Rails are greenish black at first. After a few months, the tinge of green disappears, and they are just plain black. Later they begin to resemble their parents.

Both the male and the female adults are reddish brown birds. The feathers on their backs are streaked with black. Behind their legs and under their short, perky tails, they are marked with black and white bars. Their cheeks are gray, and their throats are white. For pecking in the marshes, they have long, slightly curved bills. When fully grown, the birds are about nine or ten inches long.

With slender, delicate legs, they walk daintily about in the marshes, looking for food. They are especially fond of insects, and they also eat wild rice, wild oats, and other grass seeds.

In the summer, when they are raising their families, Virginia Rails live in Southern Canada and the northern half of the United States. To escape cold weather, they spend the winter in the southern part of our country, and some of them go to Cuba, Bermuda, and Guatemala.

Poverty keeps many a man from making a fool of himself.

Bible Comment:

Through Evil Times
Israel Kept Spark
Of Good Burning

IN the history of the Jewish people from the time of their return from bondage in Egypt to the establishment and downfall of their kingdom in Palestine, we can see the laws and forces that wreck mighty nations.

It is as true as it ever was that "righteousness exalteth a nation," and the dictum of Scripture applies to nations as it does to individuals. "Be sure your sin will find you out."

But our heritage from ancient Israel is very much more than is found in example and warning. Out of the life of Israel, despite wars, peril, suffering, waste and destruction, has come the richest literature that the world has known—the Scriptures upon which Our Lord was nourished, and which, He said, He had come to fulfill.

It is the spiritual miracle of history that out of times of ruthless war should have come the magnificent dreams of peace, recorded in such passages as Isaiah 2 and 35. The times were crude and full of danger. The perverse and evil-minded set up altars of idolatry. There were false prophets as well as the patient, suffering prophets of the Lord.

Some kings themselves were false leaders, doing evil in the sight of the Lord. But there were gentle souls, being led through green pastures and beside still waters, singing the songs of hope and faith.

In days of darkness there were not wanting those who found the word of God a light unto their path. And in evil days there were courageous rebukers of iniquity, and prophets such as Micah, who defined in clear, simple terms the eternal realities of true religion, the substance of what God requires of man, and of what man needs for a happy, prosperous life among his fellows.

And in these days of the 20th century, when millions have been destroyed and other millions have been suffering from ruthlessness, let us not forget that it is to Jews we owe that heritage. What return is the world making to them for all they have given to the world?

Here's the Answer

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

Two things about casting lines are axiomatic: 1) The lighter the line, the better it will cast. 2) The lighter the lure, the lighter the line should be.

Many casters still use lines much too heavy to get the enjoyment they should out of fishing. The introduction of spinning is helping solve this. In fresh-water spinning a line over eight pounds won't work and it is dawdling on many casting rod users that a light line will not only permit better casting, but will land surprisingly big fish.

Jason Lucas says that in reasonably weed and snag-free water for any fish up to the size of large bass and pike, he nearly always uses a five-pound line. Where bass and pike run large, he will use a 10, sometimes a 15-pound line. The spots are rare where bass grow so large that a 10-pound line won't land them.

If—remember this if—the user keeps cutting off the worn front of his line, next to the plug, before it gets weaker than the rest of the line.

However, in bass fishing and such, for the beginner or the man who doesn't get much practice, Lucas recommends a 12-pound line.

There are two general types of lines: the hard-braid waterproof which is very common, and the soft-braid non-waterproof used by some advanced anglers. The soft will cast much better with fewer backlashes, but it will not wear as well. In heavier tests, the soft-braid becomes too bulky.

MINNESOTAN MAY EXPLORE MARS

It probably will cost someone with a bump of scientific curiosity a maximum of $300,000 to find out if there is life on Mars. When the money and prof. Jean Piccard get together he hopes to harness some 80 helium balloons to a 7-foot aluminum gondola and soar 100,000 feet—19 miles—into the oxygen-free stratosphere. Mrs. Piccard would navigate while he manipulates 2 1/2 tons of research equipment and reads a Mars spectroscopic to determine whether or not oxygen is present in the atmosphere of that mysterious distant planet. "Jean and Jeannette" already have been up 57,000 feet.

QUESTION: Started my house two years ago, and finished the kitchen cabinets at a year ago but did not get around to finishing them. As a result they have become spotted. Can you tell me how to clean this wood to prepare it for a natural finish?
—J. F. S., Hamburg, N. Y.

ANSWER: You can restore the wood to its natural form with washing as follows: (a) with straight ammonia followed with a clear water rinse; (b) with oxalic acid followed at once with a clear water rinse or (c) with household chlorine preparations followed by household ammonia, sand smooth to remove the raised grain protrusions, and then finish as desired.

QUESTION: My pine door tends to warp inward about one foot at the top. We had this door fitted with metal weather stripping, but it has not cured the warp. Can you tell me how to correct the trouble?
—T. F. R., Lowell, Mass.

ANSWER: Drill 3/4 to 1 1/2-inch holes through the side timbers (stiles) into the top rail penetrating the rail at least 4 to 6 inches. Drive glued dowels into these holes, saw off the protruding ends flush. Be sure the door is forced into "true" position before drilling the holes.

QUESTION: Can you tell me the best way for an amateur to apply stucco to a cinder block wall?
—W. S., Walden, N. Y.

ANSWER: Apply stucco with a steel float, using upward strokes. Apply to a moist surface to prevent too-rapid drying and subsequent flaking off. Don't go back over a smoothed-off surface once the stucco has begun to dry. Try to end one section at a corner, or break, so that overlapping new and dried stucco is not necessary. When working on a sunny side, sprinkle the drying wall lightly with water for a day or two to retard drying.

Colorful Paper Plates Ease Duties of Summer Hostess

BY EDNA MILES

TO entertain with the least effort and the greatest results is the aim of almost every woman during the hot summer months. She wants her guests to have a good time. But she doesn't want to spend long, hot hours in the kitchen before they arrive nor does she want to return to the kitchen for another session when they've gone.

One of the simplest and most pleasant forms of party-giving is the buffet using paper-plate service. It leaves the hostess free to enjoy her own party, to talk to her guests and to eat without feeling harried.

As the buffet moves out-of-doors for warm weather, the hostess may utilize almost any open space, from a small terrace in a city apartment to a back porch or a lawn.

Color, in a buffet, can be gained through the striking pastel shades of the paper plates—jonquil yellow, avocado green, paradise pink and blue—or in patterns on white grounds. The hostess can use a dark cloth for contrast or she can let the wood of the table top set off the plates.

Table decorations need not be elaborate to be attention-getting. Flowers in an unusual arrangement, an interesting candelabra, a functional relish ferris wheel—any of these will turn the trick.

When the buffet is over, neither guests nor hostess need feel obliged to ruin the balance of the evening by doing dishes. The paper plates and matching paper napkins can be thrown out, thus getting rid of most of the clean-up work.

Gay paper plates add to the friendly atmosphere of the outdoor buffet. Hostess relaxes, free from visions of stacks of dishes. Note relish "ferris wheel" at left.

THESE WOMEN!

STRICTLY BUSINESS

by McFeatters

"How do you expect me to get ahead when you don't even have a daughter I can marry!"

The milk produced in the United States each year would fill a river 3,000 miles long, three feet deep and 40 feet wide. More flavors in cheese are produced from milk, a bland food, than from any other individual source.

A Tribute To The Cow

Grand and noble brute, of all man's animal friends she is the greatest! To her we owe the most. Examine into all the channels of trade into which she enters and note the result should she be blotted out. A Sunday stillness would pervade the great stockyards of our large cities and grass would grow in the streets.

One-half the freight trains that plow the continent from ocean to ocean would sidetrack for there would be nothing for them to do. Fifty per cent of the employees would draw no pay on Saturday night and our tables would be bare of the greatest luxuries with which they are now loaded. The great plains of the west that the cow has made to blossom like the roses from whence they came, and millions of prosperous homes would be destroyed.

None other like the cow. There is not a thing from nose to tail but what is utilized for the use of man. We use her horns to comb our hair, her skin is on our feet and horses' backs. Her hair keeps the plaster on our walls. Her hoof makes glue and her tail makes soap. She gives us our cream, our milk, our butter and cheese, and her flesh is the greatest meat of all nations. Her blood is used to make our sugar white, her bones when ground make valuable fertilizer, and even the contents of her paunch she has herself put thru the first chemical process for the manufacture of the best quality of white board paper and now it has been discovered that paper can be made into the best false teeth.

Oh, you who would abuse the cow, I wish that I could for once take from your table as you are about to sit down to the evening meal all that the cow has placed thereon. I'd take the cup of milk entitling by the baby's chair. I'd take the cream biscuit, the custard pie, the cream for coffee, the butter, the cheese, the smoking roast beef or steak, or the sweet corned plate of juicy meat. In fact, I'd leave you to make your meal on potatoes, beet pickles and tooth picks.

No other animal works for man both day and night. By day she gathers food and when we are asleep at night, she brings it back to rechev and manufacture into all the things for which I speak. She has gone with man from Plymouth Rock to the setting of the sun. It was her sons that drew the prairie schooner for the sturdy pioneers as inch by inch they fought to prove that "Westward the Star of Empire Takes Its Way" and the old cow grazed along behind and when the day's march was done, she came and gave milk to fill the mother's breast to feed the suckling babe that was perchance to become the ruler of his country.

Who says that what we are to a great extent we do not owe to man's best friend, the cow? Treat her kindly, gently, for without her, words fail me to describe. It was the cow that made it possible for man to change the great American desert into a land of happy homes. When she came, the buffalo disappeared, the Indian tepee gave way to the church, school house and home, and where once the wild wolves howled, today children prattle, flowers bloom, birds sing.

Is it any wonder that we feel obligated to these glorious servants of mankind—and that we would make it possible through education for man to treat farm animals with greater care, more patience, more compassion and kindness!—From Our Dumb Animals.

DOG BURIED WITH MASTER
Honeoye Falls, N. Y. — When Albert W. Badgley, 69, suffered a heart attack at the wheel of his automobile, the car struck a tree but Trixie, a little terrier pet of Badgley's was uninjured. However, Mrs. Thelma Bowen, Badgley's daughter, said her father wanted Trixie to be "put to sleep by a veterinarian" and buried with him. His wish was carried out.

N. America Inhabited 12,000 Years Ago

Certain archaeologists now believe that there is no longer any doubt that pre-historic man hunted mammoths on this continent some 12 thousand years ago.

Last March, near Mexico City, a mammoth was found with two projectile points (probably arrowheads) between its ribs. Stone weapons were nearby. The discovery fits in nicely with one that was made near the same spot some five years ago of a human skeleton.

While the discovery of mammoth bones on this continent is nothing new, the discovery of human remains near the Mexican mammoth's bones is a first. The age of this prehistoric man was determined by the ingenious method of measuring the radioactivity of carbon 14 in the skeleton.

Since carbon is present in all organic material and since it is known that radioactive carbon 14 has a half-life of about 5,000 years, it is not difficult to determine the age of prehistoric remains by measuring the radioactivity of any carbon 14 that they may contain.

Before you can be certain your hair will look lovely under the revealing summer sun, you must give it some special treatment, says Betty Ann.

You'll be getting your hair off to a pretty, healthy start if you have it cut first. This will eliminate all those dry and frizzy ends.

If you need a permanent, either give yourself one or pay a visit to your favorite salon. This is no time for limp, straight hair. Pretty soon you will be swimming and spending many hours in the sun. You certainly won't want to worry about whether or not your hair will hold its curl.

Since the sun has a tendency to dry out the natural oils when you are out all day, wear a protective covering on your head. So many women are inclined to discard hats as soon as summer comes. This is unwise. You must guard your precious hair.

Always a "must" in brushing, one hundred strokes a day is the absolute minimum. Once a month give your hair and scalp a special oil treatment. This will also help to prevent your hair from drying. Massage your scalp, too. And don't forget to apply a hair dressing before you go in swimming.

Without care on your part, the sun can be just as damaging to your hair as it is to your skin. The precautions you take will insure its health and beauty.

Hair beauty experts claim that a more natural and fluffy wave can be achieved if you brush your hair up from the scalp in one and a half inch sections; covering all the scalp with about five strokes to each section. Bend over from the waist so that the blood will circulate to the hair roots. A clean brush is a "must." Dip it in soap suds and whisk your comb thru the bristles to cleanse both hair accessories at the same time.

With hot weather approaching, ways of keeping the skin fresh and unsticky should not be overlooked. The old-fashioned talcum powder after the bath helps keep the skin at a cool temperature and keeps underclothing from sticking to the body. A few sprinkles between your toes and in your shoes gives extra comfort to perspiring feet.

Cellulose sponges are not only fond of soapsuds but, when soaked in clear water, they become excellent clothes dampeners. You can press the wet sponge against the fabrics or you can simply sprinkle them.

Sunnier days mean drier skin on the hands and around the fingernails unless they receive daily care that will supplement the natural oils. A beauty tip for well-groomed nails is to dab a little petroleum jelly on the skin area around each nail before retiring. Massage both cuticle and nail with a rotary movement which will help prevent roughness and keep fingertips soft.

For lovelier manicures, softeners and push back the cuticles by massaging with petroleum jelly. Remove all traces of the lubricant and apply polish in the usual way. When the nails are thoroughly dry, finish off with a touch of the petroleum jelly on each cuticle to prevent hangnails.

Silver, napkins and dishes should be placed about an inch from the edge of the dining table. The sharp edge of the knife should always be placed toward the plate; the hemmed edges of the napkin should also be placed toward the plate. If both individual salad bowls and bread and butter plates are used, place the salad bowl just above the napkin, to the left of the bread and butter plate.

Spring salads look pretty when garnished with radishes. Clean the radishes and remove a thin slice from each end; slice the radishes very thinly crosswise to about an eighth of an inch of the other side. Chill these cut radishes in ice water for a short time so the cuts will separate slightly and give a spiral effect.

THE STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY OF WISCONSIN
704 EAST GORHAM STREET
MADISON 3, WISCONSIN

Dear Friends:
The State Medical Society of Wisconsin—and your own Doctor—are keenly aware of their obligation to offer adequate prepaid medical and surgical protection for the people of Wisconsin at costs within their reach.

When your Doctors established Wisconsin Physicians Service, the Blue Shield Plan of the State Medical Society, they took a great step toward meeting the people's needs. Today over 250,000 Wisconsin people have availed themselves of this non-profit plan for the pre-payment of unforeseen medical and surgical expenses.

Now your Doctors are happy to announce a new program offering benefits that will save Wisconsin Physicians Service more valuable than ever before.

Among these important new benefits are far more liberal allowances for medical care given to a patient in a hospital; greatly increased allowances for surgical and maternity services; fractures wherever they are performed, including the care of burns, fractures and dislocations; striking increases in benefits for X-ray and anesthetic services associated with surgery and maternity.

MOST IMPORTANT IS THE FACT THAT A MUCH GREATER NUMBER OF WISCONSIN FAMILIES WILL BE ABLE TO ENJOY THE FULL-PAYMENT PROVISIONS OF THIS NEW BLUE SHIELD PROGRAM OF THE STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

Blue Shield members will receive full details of the new benefits and subscription fees in the near future. Group subscribers will be notified through their place of employment. Direct pay members will be informed through the mail. If you are interested in having the protection of this expanded Blue Shield program, please feel free to call or write this office.

Yours very sincerely,

HOW TO RUST PROOF THE INSIDE OF DOWN SPOUTS

Down spouts usually rust from the inside because the inside is seldom protected by paint.

Here's how to rust-proof the inside of down spouts. Tie a heavy fish line sinker, or the nut from a bolt to the end of a stout cord, and lower it through the spout from the eavestrough.

Run plenty of cord through spout so you have enough at the lower end to reach to the top. Tie a stick to the top end to keep it from falling through. Then tie a sponge or wad of cloth to the cord at the lower end of the spout, the sponge or cloth should be large enough to fill all of the grooves in the spout.

If the spout runs into a tile, it may be necessary to remove the lower section.

Pull the sponge into the end of the spout, and try pulling it up and down with the string.

Set a can under the spout to catch the drippings.

Pour red lead metal primer into the spout from the top. The amount needed will vary according to the length of the spout.

Pull the sponge up to the top of the spout, and down again. Repeat this several times to be sure all the inside surface is covered.

Remove the sponge from the bottom end, and be sure to leave a can under the end to catch the drippings.

The elbow or section removed can be painted in the same manner if it is too long to paint with a brush.

Average Farm Income Gains; Population Off

The average income of the farm population has shown a rate of increase over the past decade nearly twice that of city and town dwellers, according to figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A number of factors are responsible for this trend, such as the big rise in agricultural production due to mechanization and improved farm techniques, and the boom in farm prices, and the Government's farm support program in its various facets. However, a large part of this development can be attributed to the decline in farm population and the acceleration of the long-term movement of people from the farm to the city in response to the expanding job opportunities in business and industry.

The total income of persons living on farms, from farming and nonfarm sources, added up to $23.8 billions last year, virtually the same as the peak agricultural income of 1946. Per capita income, however, was at a record high in 1951 as the result of a substantial farm population drop in the last few years, and amounted to $1,020 as against $949 in 1948.

Farm Vs. Nonfarm

The average per capita farm income last year represented an increase of 290 per cent over the corresponding figure of $262 in 1940. In this period, the average per capita income of the nonfarm population rose from $686 in 1940 to $1,707 in 1951, an increase of only 150 per cent.

Average nonfarm income is still, of course, much greater than that of persons living on farms owing to differences in living costs and other conditions. It is interesting to note, however, that whereas the average city and town resident in 1940 had an income about 150 per cent greater than that of the average farmer, by last year this ratio between the two had been cut in half.

With respect to the number of people living on farms, the figures show that the farm population has declined by about a fifth in the last decade in a period when the total U. S. population was recording a spectacular increase. There was a big drop during World War II, a temporary reversal at the end of that conflict, and a resumption of the downtrend in 1948.

Big Decline in 1951

Last year the farm population fell more than a million, one of the greatest annual declines on record, and brought the total number of persons earning their livelihood in agriculture down to 23.3 millions at the close of 1951. This was the smallest number in agriculture as far back as figures go to the early part of this century.

As the result of this decline, the number of persons in farming now represents only 15 per cent of the total population, the smallest proportion on record.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

There's A Heap Of Flavor In A Carton Of Butter

A dot of butter adds a world of flavor to a broiler meal. When it comes to that mellow flavor which broiler browning gives, nothing comes close to fresh, wholesome cartoned butter. As you know, the paraffined carton is what protects butter from the outside influence of strong odors and off-flavors. From childhood we learn to savor the rich good taste of foods made with butter. A favorite butter spread for broiler meals is made as follows: Blend 1 tablespoon softened butter with 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 1 mashed hard cooked egg yolk, 1 teaspoon lime juice and a dash of salt. It's delicious for tomatoes, hot cooked peas, celery, asparagus, green beans, broccoli, and used as a sandwich spread.

Baby Carrot And Pea Casserole

1 bunch baby carrots (8 small)
1 small onion
4 sprigs parsley or celery leaves
1 2-oz. can or 1/4 lb. fresh mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup fresh, frozen (cooked) or canned peas
1/2 cup grated cheese

Give these tender carrots a good washing and cook in a little boiling salted water 5 minutes only. Drain.

Now chop onion and parsley or celery leaves fine; slice mushrooms. Cook onion and mushrooms in melted butter over low heat until onion turns golden. Scoop vegetables from fat and stir flour smoothly into remaining butter. Add milk slowly, cook and stir until sauce is smooth and slightly thick. Season with salt, pepper and chopped parsley.

Start your oven at 400 F. or moderately hot and start assembling vegetables. Put cooked peas in a medium casserole, sprinkle with onions and mushrooms, cover with carrots and pour sauce over top. Cover with grated cheese. Bake 30 minutes; serve to 6.

Stuffed Spiced Prunes

1/2 lb. prunes
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup corn syrup
1/4 cup water
3 to 6 cloves
1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
5 allspice berries
1/4 teaspoon maple flavoring
Chopped nut meats

Soak the prunes over night, after washing them thoroughly. Drain off water; add the sugar, syrup, water and spice and simmer slowly until the syrup is all absorbed by the prunes. Cut a slit along one side of each prune, slip out the stone and fill the cavities with the nut meats moistened with a little syrup or cream. Roll in powdered sugar.

Swiss Cauliflower Casserole

1 medium cauliflower
6 medium tomatoes
1 medium onion
1 tablespoon shortening
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg
4 sprigs parsley or celery leaves
1/4 lb. Swiss cheese

Cook the whole head of cauliflower in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Drain. Now wash tomatoes and prick skins with a fork. Chop onion coarsely and cook until golden in melted shortening.

Start your oven at 375 F. or moderate and grease a rather large casserole. Put cooked onion in bottom, set cauliflower in center, arrange tomatoes around it. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Bake for 30 minutes.

Deviled Green Bean Casserole

1 medium onion
1 clove garlic
1/2 green pepper
2 pimientos
3 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 can condensed tomato soup or 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 cup or 1/4 lb. grated American Cheddar cheese
2 cups fresh, frozen (cooked) or canned green beans

While casserole is in the oven, hard-cook the egg, chop egg and parsley fine, grate the cheese. When baking time is up, sprinkle vegetables with egg, parsley and cheese and bake 5 minutes longer. Plenty for 6.

PERSISTENT MISS

Washington, D. C. — Doris Ann Hall, 13-year-old miss from Hudson, N. C., refused to be discouraged when she was spelled down last year in the National Spelling Bee, and came back this year to become the champion speller. She outspelled the runner-up, Marjorie Foliart, also 13, of Crafton, Pa., and 49 other state champions to win top place and first prize of $500 and a trip to New York. "Farraginus" was the word that finally tripped Marjorie in the 38th round.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1: Stomach cancer is curable if diagnosed and treated early. Improved surgical methods, aided by transfusion of blood, better anesthesia and antibiotics, have helped in curing the disease. These improvements have come about in the last twenty years, especially in the last ten. With recurring abdominal symptoms, see your doctor.

Answer to Question No. 2: Gout is a disease resulting from disorders in metabolism that produce swelling and pain in any joint of the body, particularly the big toe. Your doctor can give you great relief from the pain and he will be able to shorten the attack. Colchicin and proper diet lessen the likelihood of a recurrence.

Answer to Question No. 3: Skimmed milk has all the properties of regular milk except milk fat and is therefore a valuable food. It is especially useful in reducing diets. Whole milk is preferable for children and adults who are underweight, but if skimmed milk is used the milk fat can be replaced in the diet by butter, oleomargarine, or other fats if desired.

Last of The Hogs

Some years ago a college president spent several weeks in a back-woods community. He received a letter from the landlady, asking him to return. In reply he stated that he should like to but would require some changes.

"First," he wrote, "your maid Mary is persona non grata. Secondly, I think the sanitary conditions would be improved if the pigsty could be moved a little farther from the dining room window."

The president was reassured when he received the following reply: "Mary has went. We ain't had no hogs since you were here last summer. Be sure and come."

No just man ever became rich suddenly.—Menander.

Old Story, But Good

A country doctor in Spain came upon a peasant whose burro had just balked. The peasant asked for help, and the doctor reached down into his medicine case, found some powders and gave them to the animal.

The burro 'switched' his tail, tossed his head and started on a mad gallop down the road.

The peasant looked at the doctor. "How much did the medicine cost, Senor Doctor?" he asked.

"About two pesetas," answered the doctor.

"Give me five pesetas' worth, then," said the peasant. "I've got to catch that burro!"

Re-elected to office in the chapter were Starnal, chairman; F. S. Clausen, vice-chairman; E. G. Kitcher, treasurer; Miss Caroline Kitcher, secretary, and Mrs. Ray Haebig, chairman of the women's division.

MILLER'S REPRESENTED AT HOME FURNISHINGS SHOWS

During the past two weeks thousands of furniture men and women from all over the nation were at the American Furniture Mart and Merchandise Mart in Chicago where the National Home Furnishings Style show was in full swing.

Some of the buyers who were interested in the finest home furnishings also went to Grand Rapids, Michigan, (the home of fine home furnishings) to attend the show held there.

Miller's was represented at both Chicago and Grand Rapids. Pat Miller said "Never in all his 24 years experience did he see such beautiful displays of furniture and carpeting." Many new numbers were added by most all manufacturers. Wonderful values were offered to the buyers in modern, provincial, colonial and 18th century styles! Miller's will soon be showing many of these new styles, at which time the public is welcomed to inspect this beautiful merchandise.

THE SECRET OF GOOD COOKING

After wedding bells give way to the responsibilities of homemaking, most June brides come back from the honeymoon with anxious thoughts about cooking that first big meal.

Lucky is the bride who starts right out with an electric range. Time and temperatures are so well controlled that good recipes turn out right every time. That's why so many modern couples choose an electric range right from the start.
