Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—The facts of Washington life are beginning to force themselves on the attention of the businessmen the new Administration has brought to Washington, and the prospect is for wrangles between Capitol Hill and the White House as spirited as any that enlivened the Democrats' long tenure:

1. Charles E. Wilson, before the cloud over his confirmation arose, pledged a "quick re-examination of material procurement and basic planning." Material and procurement snafus may be straightened out to the satisfaction of all, but already the particular friends of each of the three services in House and Senate are preparing to defend their pets' autonomy.

2. George M. Humphrey, new Secretary of the Treasury, told Senators the budget must be balanced first, with tax cuts awaiting an appropriate time. But House Resolution No. 1 is a bill to cut taxes June 30 without reference to the state of the budget.

3. Gradual shortening of the term of government bonds over the last 20 years has horrified all students of financial management. The administration was going to get the $267 billion debt into long-term obligations. But now comes the first refunding operation and the longest-term security is a six-year one. Restoring a proper balance of debt maturities will probably take a whole term, or two.

OVERDUE FOR SOME SAND—In the primitive days of railroading in the Southwest, a locomotive which had undergone considerable rebuilding was tested for road service by chaining it to a cluster of stout posts, greasing the rails, and turning on the steam. No matter how fast the wheels revolved, the engine stayed in one place as long as the grease held out.

Financially, the railroads today have the same feeling of running, chained on a greased track, for all the $3.741 billions the railroads spent last year upgrading their equipment and improving their technology. For a number of years their return on total investment has averaged only 3.6 per cent, lowest figure for any U. S. industry.

The roads hope Congress will soon sand the track with a modernized national transportation policy, to permit them to compete on even terms with their rivals in transport and get on down the road to prosperity with their shippers.

THINGS TO COME—Next fall's corn harvest will find a combined picker-sheller in the field, capable of driving between two rows of standing corn and pouring their kernels into an accompanying wagon. . . . A cloth chemically treated to wipe dust-attracting static electricity off phonograph records, table tops and TV screens will be available as soon as the manufacturer fills heavy industrial orders. . . . Small TV stations will be able to rent costly transmitting tubes instead of buying them outright, a big maker promises. . . . Doll shoes made of molded plastic come in six sizes, to fit dolls from 13 to 25 inches tall. . . . Merchants are offered a thin gold ribbon, which can be written through with pen or pencil and pasted on to personalize small articles with their buyers' names or initials. . . . An air-filter checker-upper, to be unveiled at the Heating Show just beginning in Chicago, tells how much dirt the filter has removed.

NEW SULPHUR PROJECTS—The free world's capacity to produce sulphur, one of the most widely used of raw materials, increased more than 900,000 tons a year in 1952. Of this 700,000 tons was added by sixteen projects in the United States. Seven other nations—Mexico, Canada, Norway, Sweden, Ecuador, Austria and the United Kingdom—added 200,000 tons altogether.

An innovation that came into production in 1952 was a floating sulphur mine—or more accurately a floated one. Freeport Sulphur Company built it on a barge, floated it to Bay Ste. Elaine, La., and sank it on the bay bottom to begin pumping up the sulphur, melted hundreds of feet underground by the hot-water mining process.

HIGH ON THE STURGEON—Eating "high on the hog," as our forefathers did when times were good, is not good enough for Americans today. Importers do a thriving business in caviar, fine teas, fancy pickles, relishes and sauces. One New York firm reports orders for its imported confectations from Tucumcari, New Mexico, once a stronghold of chili, tamales, fried beefsteak and canned peaches.

Ag. Dept. Progress Is Highlighted In Report

Progress made by Wisconsin farmers in the past two years is highlighted in the 1951-52 Biennial Report recently released by the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture.

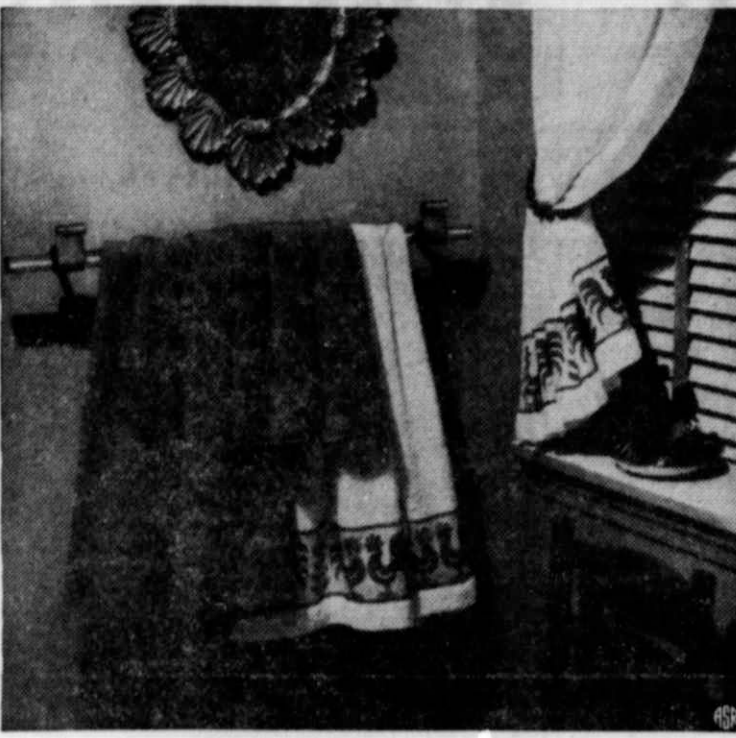

The report cites Wisconsin's new Brucellosis program, the statewide milk quality project, expanded promotion of farm products, and the record agricultural production of the past two years among the major gains made by Wisconsin farmers in working with the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

D. N. McDowell, Agriculture Department Director, comments in the report on this progress made:

"The past two years have brought many changes to agricultural Wisconsin. These changes have brought new problems, new challenges, new responsibilities and new opportunities." "The Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture is happy to highlight in this biennial report some of these changes and report progress made in Wisconsin's state-wide agricultural programs. The department has endeavored at all times to fulfill its responsibilities in these programs as laid down by the Wisconsin Legislature and the Governor, in a spirit of service and teamwork—teamwork with farmers, consumers and agricultural industry." "This teamwork has resulted in progress the past two years. Much more needs to be done. Through the continuation of such fine spirit of cooperation, I am sure agricultural Wisconsin will measure up to its responsibilities."

The report has been distributed to farm organizations, county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and farm leaders throughout the state. Special needs for the report will be met as long as the limited supply lasts, the department reports.

How To Have a Glamorous Bathroom

Curtains made of towels highlight this cheery bathroom. Its Provincial theme accented by Cannon's "Chanticleer" ensemble.

It's easy to redecorate your bathroom each week. You can do this without spending a cent on painting or papering or even on structural changes.

All you do, suggests the Cannon Home-making Institute, is to change your color scheme each week. With varied towel colors, plus occasional changes of small decorative accessories, your effects can be constantly new and interesting. For instance, your bathroom may one week have a gay Provincial theme, with "Chanticleer" bordered towels. You can use the same style towels for window curtains, tied back with strings of wooden beads to match the borders.

On another occasion, you can create a Victorian theme by using richly patterned floral towels in brilliant colors to contrast with your walls. In this plan, you may change window draperies to a clean-cut candy-stripe chintz. Add some Victorian bric-a-brac, and you have a bathroom in an entirely different mood.

Or, you may choose for your bathroom's decor a strictly modern theme. For this, a smart idea would be solid color towels of sculptured or textured designs in colors to match or contrast sharply with the wall colors. Bright cakes of soap in a modern wire bowl would be an attractive accessory.

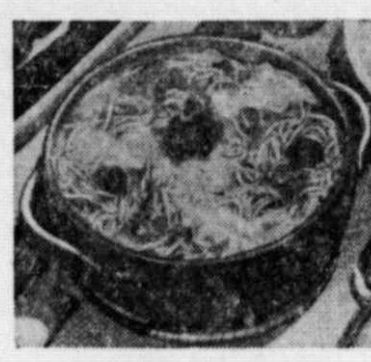

Do you see how easy it is to change your bathroom to match your mood? All it takes is a variety of towels in lively colors, a few charming accessories—plus lots and lots of imagination!

GOOD NEWS for HOMEMAKERS

SNACKS FOR AFTER-SCHOOL are just what the youngsters run for as soon as they come home. Let them help themselves from a snack shelf set up in a kitchen cupboard. Fill it with easy-fix foods that are good for youngsters. Tasty things to go on it are dried apricots, canned soups, nuts, peanut butter and crackers, canned tomato juice and fruit juices.

EASY BAKED SPAGHETTI IS a simplified version of that ever beloved dish. It's so easy because you simply mix all the ingredients and pop it into the oven. The flavored sauce is a blend of tomato soup and seasonings.

Easy Baked Spaghetti

- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 2 cans (2 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
- 2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 8-ounce package spaghetti, broken in 1-inch pieces
- 1 cup shredded American cheese

Cook onion and garlic in shortening in a saucepan. Add beef; cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Stir in soup, water and chili powder; cook a few minutes longer. Heap spaghetti into a greased 2-quart casserole; pour in sauce and stir until mixed throughout. Cover; bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Remove cover; stir spaghetti and sprinkle with shredded cheese. Cook 15 minutes longer or until cheese is melted. Serve piping hot. Makes 6 servings.

There Are Two Wars In Korea

By Dr. Charles R. Joy, (Noted author and lecturer, the writer of this article has been in Korea for the past year as Mission Chief for CARE.)

Most of the people of South Korea will go to bed hungry tonight. Many will not go to bed at all—unless you can call a heap of rags on the sidewalk or a straw mat in some alley a bed.

Among these homeless will be thousands of young children. The orphans cannot take them in; there is no other shelter for them. They wander about until they die, frozen and starving—little children who lost their universe when they lost their parents.

Those are some of the grim facts of the human tragedy war has wrought in Korea. You want figures? An estimated 5 million people have been killed or injured since the communists crossed into South Korea on June 25, 1950—more casualties than America has suffered in all the wars in which it has ever been engaged, and the end is not yet. Property destruction to date is figured at $3 billion, and the end is not yet. Half the population, some 10 million persons, are dependent on relief because they are refugees who have lost their homes and lands, or because the frightful inflation and economic collapse has destroyed their ability to support themselves.

There are no figures, though, to measure the unspeakable misery that exists everywhere. The free world is spending some $5 billion a year to fight aggression in Korea. But too many of us forget that there are two wars there, not one. And for that second war—the war against human misery—we are spending far too little.

The superintendent of the Taegu City Children's Home is a woman who loves children, though she has none of her own. She has over 60 youngsters at the home. Yet every morning she goes to the orphanage gate and listens for a baby's cry, for often in the night some poor mother leaves her infant on the steps. She said to me: "I cannot close the gate on these little ones, and somehow I have always found a way to provide for them."

On every doorstep in America some Korean baby waits, abandoned and forgotten because of this cruel war. We cannot shut our eyes and our ears and expect that baby to disappear. It waits, as Korea waits, to see whether the gate to our hearts will be opened.

We can answer the plea, if we will. Said my friend of the Taegu home: "I could not take babies in if it were not for the CARE packages I have received so often." The food, the blankets, the fabrics for warm clothes that the people of America send in CARE packages will open the doors of life and affection for the little Korean children who cry out there in the cold.

Guard Your Heart During Winter

Crisp winter weather, invigorating as it may be, brings with it the highest incidence of "heart attacks" and heart failure of the entire year, states Dr. Lamont R. Schweiger, president of the Wisconsin Heart Association.

Deaths caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels rise about thirteen percent during December, January, February and March. This is largely due to the prevalence of pneumonia, bronchitis and other illnesses during this period which put a heavier-than-usual strain on the heart and circulatory system.

The increase is also caused by winter activities which call for greater physical exertion, such as shoveling snow, pushing stalled cars and stoking the furnace. Although it is one of the strongest and hardest working organs in the body, the heart should not be given more work than that to which it is ordinarily accustomed.

To guard the heart during the cold weather months, Dr. Schweiger makes these suggestions:

1. Avoid self-diagnosis. Let your doctor examine your heart and lungs before the winter season gets fully underway. If your heart is not normal, he will give you proper advice and treatment. If the heart is sound, needless anxiety can be avoided.
2. Avoid over-exertion. Physical activity rarely if ever can strain a healthy heart, but over-exertion can aggravate damage that already exists.
3. Get plenty of rest.
4. Avoid over-weight. Extra pounds make extra work for your heart.
5. Do your best to protect against respiratory infections. Should you become ill, seek treatment promptly. Immediate attention to "strep" infections, such as tonsillitis, is most important to guard children against rheumatic fever, which can lead to rheumatic heart disease.
6. Try not to worry. Worrying causes nothing, prevents nothing; it can place an extra load on an already damaged heart. Instead find out the facts about your heart and do all you can to protect it.

MILLIONS SAVED IN AUTO WORK

"Millions of dollars are saved to American taxpayers in rebuilding military vehicles and parts abandoned during World War II or damaged in the current action in Korea. Engaged in the work under Army supervision are specially trained Japanese civilians.

Having begun the extensive recovery and rehabilitation operation in 1948, the Army collected 55,000 vehicles from the Philippine Islands, Guam, Saipan, Okinawa and other Pacific Islands, where we had assembled them for a possible invasion of Japan. Following the cessation of hostilities and the rapid troop demobilization, the Armed Forces were compelled to abandon this equipment.

Three years later, logistical personnel began transporting the material to Japan where it had been rebuilt and put to extensive use.

Bible Comment:

Jesus Changed Intense Narrowness To Great Tolerance

OUTSTANDING among the 12 disciples were three intense men of strong character and ambition. These were Peter and the two brothers, James and John. The brothers lacked some of Peter's weakness and had the benefit of steady, persistent ambition. Jesus called them "Sons of Thunder."

But the three men were united in their intense desire to have places of power and preference in the earthly kingdom which they supposed Jesus was going to establish.

The mother of James and John, wife of Zebedee, was also very anxious that her sons have authority and preference in the kingdom, even asking Jesus to give her boys places on His left and His right when He established the kingdom.

The fact that Jesus was able to hold the loyalty and devotion of these men after they discovered that His kingdom was to be spiritual, not earthly, is a marvelous thing indeed. They suppressed their ideas of worldly power and became even more loyal and unselfish than before, applying their abilities to the task.

When Jesus explained that the places asked for were not His to give, and that they would suffer much in the future, their answer was: "We are able." And they were able. They became powerful personalities. They achieved a stature most men never dream of.

Perhaps the best example of change in the "Sons of Thunder" is revealed when we recall their earlier fiery tempers and the request that the Lord call down fire from heaven to consume inhospitable villagers. Compare this to John, later so gentle he describes the transition: "We know we have passed from death into life because we love the brethren," and "Little children love one another."

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

The one big question in the mind of a man or boy who is thinking of buying a boat in kit form is, "Can I put it together so I'll have a good boat?"

Willard Crandall, expert on all matters concerning boating, says of course you can if you're at all handy with tools. Just the same, there are some "howevers." You've got to pick a model of good design, one suited to your waterways, your load and your motor or you may not have anything worth putting together.

Don't make your first attempt anything as large as an outboard cruiser. Practice with a pram will give you fundamental knowledge that can pay off if you want to tackle a big boat later.

Practically all kit boats are made of sheet plywood. For making assembly easy, there's nothing like plywood. It makes a good boat—for most small boats there is no better material.

Plywood has one drawback, however—it does not take abrasion too well. If you want to keep your boat always tied at a pier, or if you are going to drag it on shallow bottoms or pebbly beaches, usually it'll be best to pass up the plywood and kit idea.

A true round-bottom boat can't be built from sheet plywood. It won't bend that way. That's why you don't find canoe kits on the market; that's why you can't buy an old-time "resort type" rowboat in kit form. But you can buy, in a kit, an outboard runabout that acts much like the standard ready-made round bottoms that are widely sold. There isn't much round to the bottom, but neither is there to the standard outboard round-bottom. It wouldn't have the speed the public wants, if there were.

To get down to it, with kit boats as with all others, most important is how good the design is—all lines of the design. That's more important often than whether or if you are going to drag it on have you. A sheet plywood V-bottom or semi-round bottom designed by a real expert and powered as he intended may not only be faster but more seaworthy, too, than a round-bottom the lines of which aren't so good.

Billboard or outdoor poster advertising was born in the United States in 1850—P. T. Barnum the client, Jenny Lind the attraction, John Donnelly the bill poster.

BANGKOK'S BUDDHA—Watching serenely over the Thailand capital is Bangkok's famous Buddha, well known to the city's teeming population as "Wat Indara Viharn." An idea of its height can be estimated by examining the tiny human figures in the foreground.

Answer to Question No. 3: Silicosis is a disease of the lungs due to excessive inhaling of stone dust. It occurs most often in miners or stonecutters. The symptoms are like those of chronic bronchitis. Silicosis can also cause growths in the lungs and can become dangerous. Industrial medicine is lessening the incidence.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS for Farm and Home

How to Store a Rake

RAKES, usually stored by leaning against a wall, have a bad habit of fighting back when they are stepped on. How a Florida man ended this nuisance was described recently in Family Handyman.

The materials he required for making the simple safety device were a tin can with the top and bottom cut off, and a wood screw.

He punched a hole in one side large enough to admit the screw and one on the opposite side large enough for a screwdriver. Then he attached the device to the wall of his garage.

The can pivots sufficiently to permit the rake handle to be inserted. This holder has ended the "fights" when the man stepped on the teeth of the rake.

Coffee-Raisin Pilau Is a Delicious Dessert

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

DID you ever have pilau? It is a concoction of rice, spice and a varying number of other ingredients that range from meat and fish to fruits and nuts. Try the following dessert pilau. Your family will love it.

COFFEE-RAISIN PILAU (Yield: 6 servings)

One package pre-cooked rice, regular strength coffee, 1/2 cup golden raisins, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup brown sugar firmly packed, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Prepare pre-cooked rice according to package directions, using coffee instead of water. Stir in remaining ingredients except cream. Mix well. Cool. Fold in whipped cream, reserving enough for garnishing. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Top with remaining whipped cream and chopped walnut meats.

Everybody likes upside-down gingerbread. Try it with pineapple or pears.

Blend in molasses and sugar; heat just to boiling point. Over this arrange pineapple and cherries; set aside until gingerbread batter is mixed.

GINGERBREAD BATTER

One and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 cup molasses, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sour milk.

dry ingredients alternately with sour milk (about 1/2 of each at a time). Beat 1/2 minute.

Pour batter in the above pan over pineapple and cherries and spread to sides and corners. Bake one hour or until done. Cool 15 minutes before removing from pan.

Note: Pear-Upside-Down Gingerbread: Replace pineapple with pears in the above recipe.

School Students Ask: Who Is Good American

The students in the senior social problems class of Sevastopol High School have made a study of the traits which they believe characterize a good American. They offer this study to you for your consideration, hoping that you will make whatever changes you think necessary in forming your definition of a good American.

We believe a good American has the following characteristics:

1. He puts the welfare of the United States of America first. By this, we mean he pays his just taxes; he obeys the laws of the federal, state and local government; and he serves his country in whatever capacity he is asked to serve. We believe a good American will seek out and destroy the enemies of his country regardless of personal gain or loss. He would give his life for his country.

2. A good American not only votes in every election, but he votes intelligently. He tries to learn all he can about the issues of the election. He studies both sides of a problem and makes his decision only after he has finished his study. He learns all he can about the candidates for office, and votes for the ones that, in his opinion, would improve our government. He keeps informed on government problems at all times, and after elections are over, assists the elected representatives by offering advice or by serving on committees. He takes part in local community activities such as the Parent-Teacher Association, Chamber of Commerce or other service clubs.

3. The Good Citizen attends the church of his choice regularly, supports it financially, and takes part in church affairs. He believes in and lives by the Golden Rule of "doing unto others as you would have them do unto you." He shows no intolerance towards his fellow men, believing that it is the man, not the color of skin that is important. Because personal honesty is a part of the teaching of every church, he abides by his word, once given. He takes pride in being an honest man.

4. A good American works towards making his family life better. He provides his family and himself with adequate dental and medical care. He helps his family to develop good health habits such as adequate rest, proper foods and wholesome recreation. He sees to it that he and all members of his family get the best education possible. He likes to be with his family, and teaches them what is right by being a good example himself. He does all he can to be a good neighbor, by helping others who are less fortunate than he.

If our American does all these things, we think he could be called a Very Good American.

Test Your I. Q.

1. Who was the originator of the Donkey and the Elephant as emblems of America's two major political parties?

2. Was George Bernard Shaw, famous Irish author and satirist, a wealthy man at the time of his death?

3. What is the origin of the word "February"?

4. In a football game, how many points are scored for a touchdown?

5. What is the meaning of the Irish phrase "Erin go bragh"?

Home Cooking

Two women were talking over a cup of tea one afternoon and one of them said:

"My husband has no bad habits whatsoever. He never drinks and spends all his evenings at home. Why, he doesn't even belong to a club."

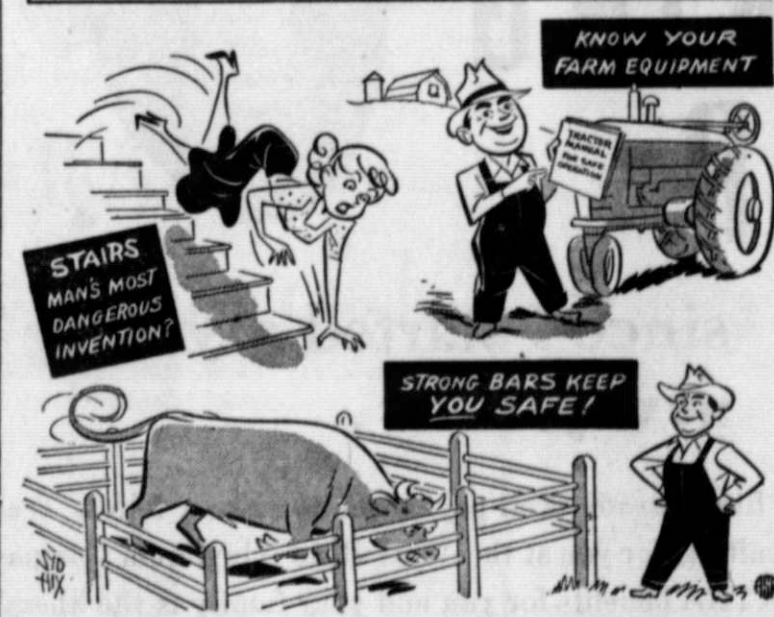

"Does he smoke?" asked the other woman.

"Only in moderation," was the former's reply. "He does like a cigar after he has had a good dinner, but I don't suppose he smokes two cigars a month."

4-H Youths Tell Safety Hazards

The kids who know safety best agree that one of man's oldest and simplest inventions is one of his most dangerous.

Forty young safety experts who attended the 31st National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 30 to Dec. 4 were asked to list their ideas on how to prevent farm and home accidents. They responded with suggestions ranging from picking up loose baling wire to putting safety shields on power machinery.

But almost all of them singled out one often-overlooked hazard for emphatic mention: stairs.

Man invented stairs thousands of years ago. But the young folks apparently observed, while making safety surveys under the National 4-H Farm and Home Safety Awards Program, that he still hasn't learned to go up and down them without risking a broken neck.

Some 400,000 4-H youths from coast to coast took part in the safety program, sponsored for the eighth consecutive year by General Motors. GM gave the 40 state winners expense-paid trips to the 4-H Congress, including $300 college scholarships to the eight national winners.

"Keep stairs uncluttered!" warned Eileen Holbach of Minot, N. D. Ralph Walker, Biddford, Me., was even more specific. He urged everyone to "keep the stairs clear of all roller skates." Other safety winners advised frequent check and repair of steps, or suggested handrails to reduce the likelihood of falls.

Stairways should be well lighted, they agreed, and Agatha Jean Bell of Bolair, W. Va., recommended painting the bottom step white to make it conspicuous.

Farm machinery and its hazards drew frequent mention. Beth Fuhr Smith of Poplarville, Miss., one of the $300 scholarship winners, suggested this simple rule for avoiding accidents with farm equipment:

"Know the correct way to use all tools and machinery." Other suggestions included labeling poisons, frequently checking electrical equipment, keeping inflammable materials away from buildings, confining bulls and other dangerous animals in sturdy pens, putting corks on sharp objects, keeping children off farm equipment and away from stoves, storing pitchforks and other tools in a special place, and many others.

Medical Scholarships To Aid Students

Two new medical scholarships of $2,000 each were announced by the Scholarship Committee of Group Health Association. The awards will be made on the basis of scholarship, character, and the needs of the cooperative health movement, to students planning careers as doctors, nurses, or medical technicians.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Francis Hanson, Albert Lea, chairman; Richard H. Silvola, Virginia; and William C. Arndt, Osceola, of the Scholarship Committee of the Group Health Board of Directors. Awards will be made in accordance with recommendations of a special screening committee of educators and professional people. Successful candidates will receive $500 a year each during the period of their schooling, and the awards will be unconditional.

The Group Health scholarship fund, which is now helping three medical and two nursing and technology students, was created by 10-cent annual contributions of Group Health members. Students who have been honored by the award are Paul R. Leon of Ely, and John Horns of Minneapolis, University of Minnesota medical students; Thomas R. Votel of St. Paul, University of St. Louis medical student; Miss Audrey Lofgren of Moose Lake, University of Minnesota nursing student; and Miss Inez Krantz of Wayzata, University of Minnesota medical technology student. All are members of Group Health families.

Interested students can obtain application blanks by writing to Group Health Association, 180 North Snelling Avenue, St. Paul E4, Minnesota.

EDITOR

THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

No woman of 40 should want to look like a girl of 20. But she should want to look a young 40—and she can, says Betty Ann. Moreover, it's her duty, for life expectancy is greater than ever before, according to insurance companies. And if we're getting younger every year it behooves us to look it.

Perhaps the greatest betrayer of age is the skin. Though dirt does not always show, it always damages. What skins need, winter or any time, is to be truly clean. Behind most "problem" skins are their owners who caused the problem. For half way cleansing methods remove some of the make-up and grime, but leave just enough to clog tiny pores and make skin grayish and gloomy, instead of crystal clear.

So let's check up on your method. It's not a matter of how many products you use, but of how well you use them. And first and foremost comes soap. Choose a gentle complexion soap.

With your fingers work up a good lather, particularly around nostrils and chin's cleft. And never, no never forget the back of your neck. Grime from your hair and fur coat loves to burrow in and clog the pores. And others can see it, even if you can't.

After a good workout with the lather, rinse thoroughly until your skin squeaks. Dry thoroughly. If you're going outdoors immediately, use a powder base or hand lotion to protect against wind and chapping.

And speaking of hand lotions brings us to hands. They're skin, too, and great tattlers about age. So wash them thoroughly and often, and lubricate them well, with lotion.

Is this enough to guarantee a youthful appearance? No, but it's a good start. Add a trim figure, a light and purposeful walk, shining hair in a becoming hair-do. And top off with real interest shining from your eyes. Then you can really be young.

Your hair deserves a regular shampoo. Don't wait for the tell-tale "itch" to set in. After shampooing, massage your hair and scalp gently with a good quality witch hazel. This makes hair smell sweet, feel clean. Rubbed in daily, witch hazel keeps hair soft and fluffy and assists in removal of dandruff scales.

If your nails aren't lacquer smooth, you can damage nylons while sueding them. In case you can't do anything about a manicure until tomorrow, put your stockings in a fresh net head-kerchief—the kind you tie up your curls in at night—and dunk them gently. Some women with brittle nails slip on a pair of old cotton gloves when washing nylons; this is a sure fire way to avoid pulling those gossamer threads.

Rich, colorful, attractive and elegant is this almond jam torte. Serve it the next time you have discriminating guests. Because almonds are of exceptional quality this year, make the most of them.

Ingredients are one-third cup shortening, one-half cup granulated sugar, one egg, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-half teaspoon grated lemon rind, one cup sifted cake flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup chopped or ready diced almonds and one-half cup strawberry or cherry jam.

Cream shortening and sugar together thoroughly. Add lightly beaten egg, lemon juice and rind, blending well. Sift together dry ingredients and stir into creamed mixture. Add almonds and mix well. Spread in greased nine inch layer cake pan, spreading batter higher around edges of pan. Spread center with jam. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 45 minutes. Cut in wedges and serve warm. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves six to eight.

If you have cupcakes left over for several days you may not slice them in halves, put a scoop of ice cream between the halves and serve with hot fudge sauce. It's a dessert that children will like.

You can wash 8 to 12 curtains at one time in your automatic washer by putting two or three curtains in each of four cheesecloth or loosely woven muslin bags (a pillow slip will do) and placing the bags in the washer.

KEWASKUM 62; OOSTBURG 58

To stay in trim and gain experience for the coming tournament games, Kewaskum took on Oostburg in a practice game played in the spacious Cedar Grove gym on Tuesday night. The Indians maintained their great reputation by defeating the classy Oostburg five, 62-58. Oostburg, which leads its conference, has a strong quintet which ranked 12th in the state in the Little 16 schools. The Indians' victory over them dropped the team to 15th in the state rating and gave them a record of 15 and 5.

The win was Kewaskum's 15th of the campaign. Oostburg got the jump on the Indians in the first quarter and led 19-13. But Kewaskum got used to the strange floor and closed the gap, tallying 19 buttons in the second period to their opponents' 9 and this made the half score 32-28. Kewaskum. Coach Mitchell's charges again outdid Oostburg in the third stanza by 3 points and went ahead 46-37. But the Burgers rallied in the final quarter to sneak within 4 points.

Kewaskum's ace, Hanrahan, led the Indians again with 30 big points. Meisenheimer and Leroy Keller added 12 apiece, VanderPitt and TerHaken paced Oostburg with 18 and 17 respectively.

BEECHWOOD BEAVERS 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Beechwood Beavers 4-H club was met by an amazing experience last Tuesday night. They entered the new Beechwood school house leading to their club room, and came face to face with 25 new electric light switches. Which one belonged to the light they wanted on? After 24 switches the last one turned on the light.
 During the official meeting it was decided who would give demonstrations, and when. Joan Hintz and Barbara King are to give one in March when Don Steege, the Sheboygan county 4-H leader, visits the club. Are they ever thrilled? (I wonder).
 After the meeting everyone went home full of sandwiches, soda and cookies. Mrs. Domann was the good cook.

Fowl Worth $5 a Pound

Fowl at $5.33 a pound, eggs at 35 cents each. Those are prices Carl Lowrance, of Joplin, Mo., gets from the 30,000 quail on his farm. When Lowrance took up quail-raising two years ago, experts said he couldn't raise commercial-size flocks; brooder losses from disease would run at least 20 per cent. They did until Lowrance cut this to 3.5 per cent by adding the wonder drug aureomycin to the chicks' drinking water. Now he finds it impossible to fill all the orders he gets.

Buy Chicks Early To Make Sure of Profits

Buy chicks early if you want them to come into production during early fall when egg prices are high.

That's the advice of Milt Sunde, poultry specialist at the University of Wisconsin. He says farmers make the most money on pullets during fall months. If you can get the pullets to lay during August, they'll produce more eggs while the prices are highest. To do that, it's necessary to get chicks in March—even in February or January.

Sunde quotes figures from a 1000 hen flock to prove his point. The average egg income over feed costs was about $3200 from September through January. For the rest of the year, egg income over feed cost was only about $800. These figures were averaged over a five year period.

Pullets start laying in 150 to 180 days, although certain strains start much earlier, Sunde says. If you want half the pullets laying by early September, you'd have to start chicks about the middle of March.

Here's a warning. Pullets hatched in January would go into the laying house during July, and might suffer from the heat. Also, they wouldn't get the greatest possible advantage from range grasses.

Sunde says the death rate in the laying house and the average production also are important in determining income over feed cost. The lower the death rate, the better the profit from a given amount of feed. And the higher production, the better the profit.

At 30 per cent production, the cost of feed needed to produce a dozen eggs is around 35 cents. At 70 per cent production, a dozen eggs costs about 15 cents to produce. The best way to get high average production is to cull your pullets, Sunde says.

Farmers were getting one lb. of sugar for one pound of their butter in the summer months back around 1844. The dairy cow didn't get any special milking parlor then, either. "Mister Fixum's Handy Hints"

BY ERNIE GARDNER

TIPS ON PAINTING WALLS AND CEILINGS

Start painting in one corner of the ceiling. Brush in random directions feathering brush strokes into fresh paint of last lap.

Place a 2x8 board between a strong box and step ladder to stand on thus enabling you to cover more ceiling area without constantly moving your ladder.

Dip the brush into the paint about 1-2 to 2-3 the length of the bristles, so that the brush will carry as much paint as possible without dripping. Slap the bristles against the inside of the paint can to remove surplus paint.

TIPS ON BRUSH PAINTING

For all rooms except bathrooms and kitchens, use paint which dries with a dull or flat finish. A flat finish eliminates glare, and diffuses the light, giving more even light in all parts of the room. Use white or light tints for ceilings.

If walls are to be painted the same color, one coat may be enough. If, however, the color is quite different, it may be necessary to use two coats.

Good paint and good brushes are important, and, cheapest in the end if properly cared for.

Cover the floor, and furniture which cannot be removed, with a canvas drop cloth, or with newspapers. Even a good painter will drop some paint.

Mix paint thoroughly before painting.

Paint the ceilings first. Drips of paint which get on the side-walls may be removed without damage to the finish.

Build a scaffold using a plank and ladders, chairs or boxes. Paint the narrow way across the room.

Paint a strip which is narrow enough that you can get all the way across the room and back again before the previous lap dries.

Brush in all directions. Feather each stroke into the previous lap, and also toward the unpainted area.

Spread paint evenly, and brush it out well. It is better to use two coats than to try to apply it thick enough to cover in one coat. Applying paint too thickly is apt to get you into trouble on the sidewalls. It may run or sag.

Psychiatry Lesson

WHAT IS MEANT BY A MENTAL "CRACKING-UP"?

By Orin R. Yost, M. D., Medical Director, Edgewood Sanitarium

(Editor's Note: Dr. Yost is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond, studied psychiatry at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C., taught psychiatry at Columbia University, New York, was division psychiatrist of the 79th division in World War II, and is presently Medical Director of Edgewood Sanitarium Foundation.)

Within recent years this nation has come to realize that its number one problem is mental disorder. In a population of 154,000,000 people, one person out of every 16 falls victim to a mental disease or an emotional disorder. One unfortunate individual in every fifth home in America is suffering because of some kind of mental disturbance.

Today people do not mention mental disorders in whispered conversation, for they realize that there is no more disgrace in developing a case of sick emotions than there is in experiencing an attack of appendicitis or sore throat. The terms insane and insanity have been replaced by the terms mentally ill and mental illness, respectively.

What is the cause of this great health problem facing our country today and what is being done to solve the problem?

From the beginning of time there have been cases of mental disorder; but before the turn of the century, if such cases failed to recover spontaneously, little other than custodial care was offered in an effort to bring the patient back to normalcy. What with newer and more effective therapies and a more enlightened view by the public toward mental diseases, the plight of the mentally disordered ones is not without hope today.

Though national campaigns have never been staged for coping with the problem, the Federal Government, state organizations and individuals are becoming more aware of the economic and social loss occasioned by this insidious health menace and are beginning in a small way to mobilize forces to combat the problem.

Some become mentally diseased as the result of the inroads of syphilis in the body; others, because of their addiction to harmful drugs and alcohol; others, because of poisons within the body or because of glandular disturbances and inherited tendencies. By far, however, the prevailing factor responsible for the cracking-up of individuals and for the type of illness seen among 60 per cent of the patients frequenting doctors' offices today is a disturbance of the emotions.

Very often the abnormal development of the individual begins in the early, plastic years of childhood when detrimental influences within the environment prove as poisonous to the unfolding of the child's emotional health as do toxins to the body when they are injected therein.

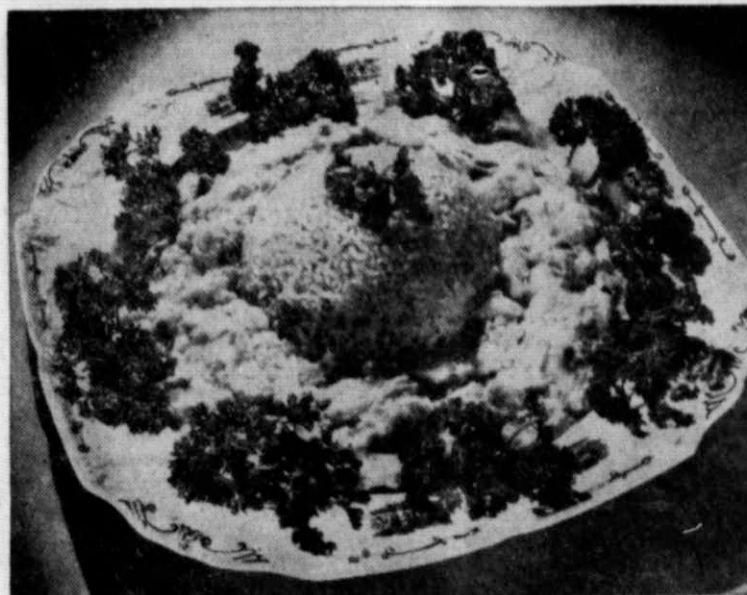

Particularly susceptible to emotional instability are individuals who have had forebears who were mentally diseased or highly nervous. Also susceptible are those individuals who have experienced rejection, over-protection, lack of security and love. Often such factors as the loss of a loved one, disappointment in love or in achieving one's goal, or a financial upset will prove sufficient to precipitate a "break" in the individual, who, prior to the incident, had gradually grown chronically and abnormally tense, anxious, irritable and a social (exclusive).

Have you ever been listening to a violinist as he played a beautiful number, when "s-nap" went one of his strings and the music came to a sudden stop? Now, perhaps, that string had been played upon so long and so hard that it had become frayed, and when the violinist's bow touched the worn spot, it did something to that string, causing it to "crack up," as we say. Or, perhaps, the string was a cheap one, to begin with; and the very dampness of the atmosphere caused the string to snap. Now some violinists are so skillfully trained that they know how to take care of the situation. They wish to do something for the waiting audience, for surely "the show must go on." Perhaps, a change to another violin is made; or perhaps, the musician is expertly trained to make one string "take over" for another; or, perhaps, he finds it necessary to delay the program momentarily until he can replace the bad string with a new one. Quickly he must retune his instrument, and then he will be able to complete the beautiful melody.

It is not difficult for us to understand how sometimes our nerves, after being subjected to great strain or to the unwholesome ways of living, give way, just like the violin string, when some outside influence does something to it. The worn nerves in man's system "crack" and man becomes emotionally ill.

TUNA WITH BUTTERED RICE

Creamed Tuna with Buttered Rice is a new and appealing main dish to enliven menus the year 'round. Attractive to serve, quick to make and easy on the budget.

The rice is first fried in butter until each grain is a toasty golden brown, then steamed until fluffy. The fluffy, butter-rich rice may be piled in a mound on a platter or molded for serving.

Creamed Tuna with Butter-Fried Rice

- 1 cup rice; 1/4 cup butter; 2 cups boiling water; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 7-ounce can tuna; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1/4 teaspoon salt; few grains pepper; 1 cup boiling water; 1 cup evaporated milk; parsley.
- Wash rice and drain thoroughly. Fry slowly in the 1/4 cup butter until golden brown, stirring frequently. Add the 2 cups boiling water. Cover closely and cook slowly until tender, about 15 minutes. Remove cover. Add the 1 teaspoon salt and continue cooking until dry. Press into a mold to shape, then turn out carefully onto a hot platter and surround with Creamed Tuna. Garnish with parsley.

Prepare Creamed Tuna as follows: Break the tuna into pieces. Melt the 2 tablespoons butter. Blend in flour, the 1/4 teaspoon salt and the pepper. When smooth and bubbling, add the 1 cup boiling water gradually. Stirring constantly, boil until mixture begins to thicken, then add milk and continue cooking until thick. Add tuna and heat. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Few foods have as dainty a flavor as rice. It offers many possibilities in the planning of well-balanced meals.

Rice With Shrimp & Barbecue Sauce

- 6 cups cooked rice
- 1 pound cooked shrimp
- Barbecue sauce

Barbecue Sauce

- 1/2 red hot pepper cut fine, seeds and all
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1 bottle chili sauce
- 1/2 bottle tomato catchup
- 1 garlic clove, chopped fine
- 1 cup vinegar
- 1 large onion chopped
- 1/2 bayleaf broken
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 lemon finely cut, rind and all
- 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Measure ingredients for sauce into a heavy kettle. Cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour and 35 minutes. Put cleaned cooked shrimp into sauce and heat thoroughly, with lid off, stirring to prevent scorching. Serve shrimp and barbecue sauce over hot rice.

- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon butter
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 cup raw rice
- 1 cup water

Slice the mushroom into a skillet. Add the onion, green pepper, parsley; tomatoes, tomato paste, oil, butter, salt and pepper. Place over low heat; in about 10 minutes add the rice and water. Cook 20 minutes. Add hot water, a little at a time as needed, if mixture becomes too dry. When the rice is tender the liquid should be completely absorbed. Watch carefully to keep from burning. If a lid is put on the skillet during part of the cooking time, the rice cooks more quickly and is less likely to stick.

Quick Tricks With Rice

Substitute rice for half the crumbs in any meat loaf recipe. Mix grated cheese with hot cooked rice before packing the rice into a ring mold.

To give rice a meaty flavor, dissolve 2 bouillon cubes (per cup of uncooked rice) in cooking water and cook as usual.

Furniture Fashions

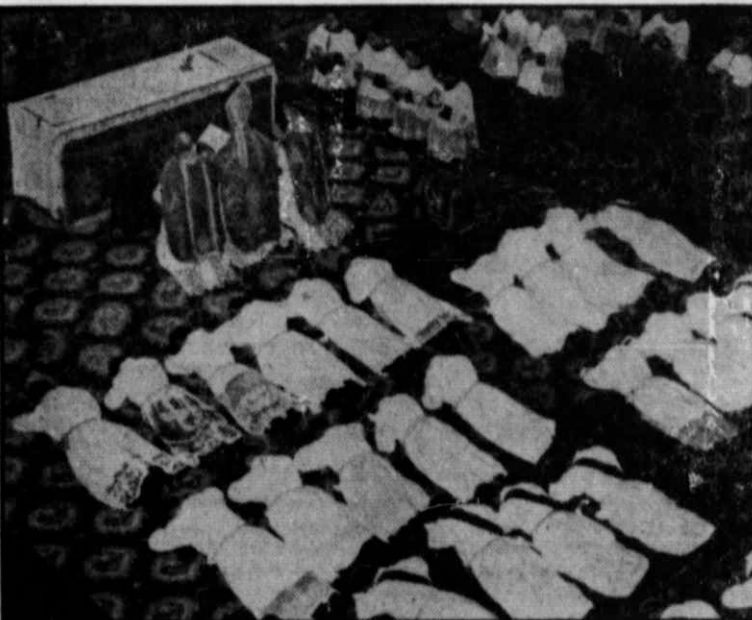

There is much more than meets the eye in today's furniture—so be sure to ask for a complete demonstration when you visit your favorite furniture store!

For instance, the table shown above may be adjusted either to dining or coffee table height. The mobile brunch cart (new streamlined version of Grandmother's tea wagon) is equipped with concealed ball-bearing wheels. It may be used as a buffet, a small host bar or for TV snacks in the living room. Drop leaves and ample storage space are further features.

Matching upholstered dining chairs complete this interesting lined oak grouping.

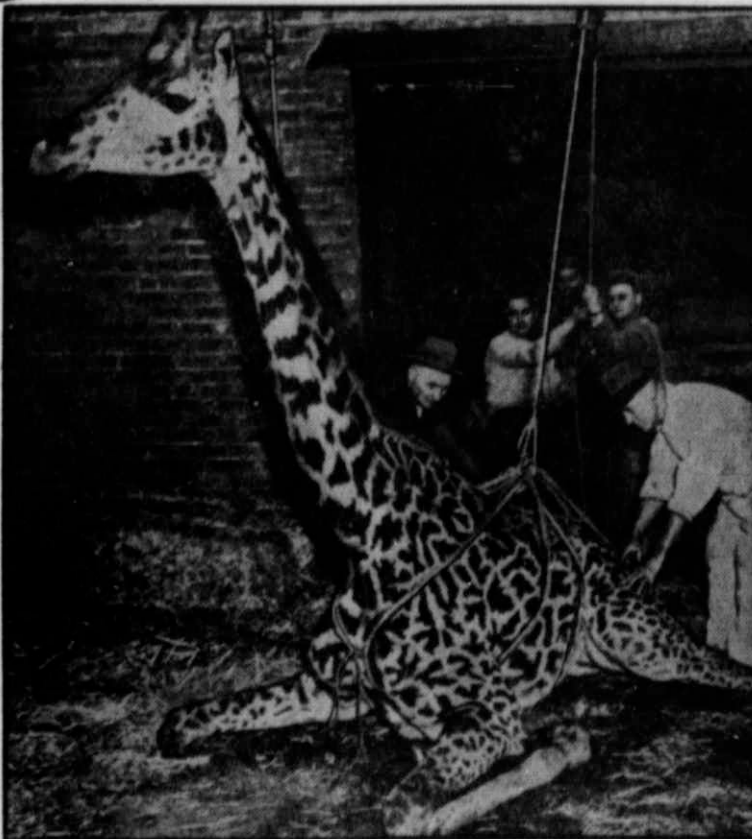

Double-purpose furniture is all the rage these days and has made a vast contribution to our comfort and convenience.

NEW PRIESTS—Lying prostrate during ceremonies elevating them to the Catholic priesthood, newly ordained priests, including several Americans, are seen in Lateran Basilica in Rome. Cardinal Micara is officiating.

BUNKER FIXIN' ON OLD BALDY—Pvt. John Micheletti of Providence, R. Battle-scarred Baldy, now practically a barren peak, has been fought over viciously by both sides.

BRINGIN' UP BRIDGET—Buffalo Zoo attendants brought out a block and tackle to get Bridget back on her feet after finding the full-grown giraffe sprawled on her cage floor one morning. Curator Joseph Abgott, at right, makes a final adjustment of the rope. Because of their peculiar bone structure, giraffes are unable to get up when down. As to why she was down in the first place, only Bridget knew.
