KEWASKUM	6	3
Horicon	5	4
West Bend	4	4
Random Lake	4	5
Slinger	3	6

Hartford	2	7
Watertown	0	7

Scores last week end—Mayville 69, Kewaskum 61; Oakfield 56, Horicon 50; Oakfield 65, West Bend 61; West Bend 81, Slinger 73.

Score Tuesday night—Mayville 67, Hartford 48.

Game Sunday night—Kewaskum at Mayville (first game of best two out of three series for grand championship of northern division).

Mayville won the second half championship in the northern division of the Lakes league with a clean slate of nine wins and no defeats by winning its last two contests this week. Sunday Mayville played at Kewaskum and nosed out the Chevrolet in a thriller, 66-61, and Tuesday night the Maytags clinched the title with a win over Hartford.

Kewaskum copped the first half championship and will now meet Mayville in a best two out of three series for the grand championship of the division. The first playoff game will take place at Mayville this Sunday night and the next two (if necessary) will be played at Kewaskum the following week end. The winner will then take on the title team of the southern division for the grand championship of the Lakes circuit.

Kewaskum's first half titlists finished third in the last half with a record of 6 and 2. Oakfield, which really improved in the second half, placed second with 8 and 1.

The Chevrolet's final hoop game here Sunday night against the champions was a scorching and was played before a close to packed house. It was by far the largest attendance of the season. A victory wouldn't have helped the Chev's standing in the second half but would have forced Mayville into a playoff with Oakfield for the second half title. But the Maytags squeezed out a close win, 66-61.

Argie Bilgo and Allen Tassar, Kewaskum's two guard mainstays, both fouled out of the game and this hurt their team's chances of dumping Mayville. Frankie Krueger was a third Chev guard to go out on personals. Bilgo still was top scorer with 15 points and Krueger got 10. Kewaskum bottled up high scoring Mike Harvey, who was held to four points, but had trouble with the rest of the balanced Mayville attack. Four of their players connected for 11 points or better. They were Wild, Heim, Ayres and Stuckmeyer.

Poor free throw shooting helped lose the encounter for the Chev's. They made only 19 out of 37 chances. Mayville hit for 26. Each team had numerous fouls called with the total being 55. However, Mayville failed to lose a man on personals although four of them had four apiece. Manager Killy Honeck entered the lineup late in the game when there were no more substitutes left on the bench.

After a torrid first quarter, Kewaskum held a slim 13-12 advantage and increased the margin to four points at halftime, 31-27. But Mayville came back strong after the intermission to outscore the Chev's in the third period and pass them up, 48-46. The count was again close in the final period with the visitors holding a slight edge to win by five points.

On March 14, the next meeting of the Kewaskum Women's club, members will be honored by the Kewaskum High school Future Homemakers of America. Under the supervision of Mrs. Donald Teclaw, high school home economics instructor, the girls have been working very hard on clothes and accessories to be presented at a "Parade of Fashions." Mrs. Norman Held, Mrs. Carl Schaefer, and Mrs. Charles Reigel, the program committee for the day, have also announced that the girls will show some notable decorations. None of us will want to miss any of this.

In preparation for the election of officers, which will be held March 14 also, Mrs. Louis Oppenorth, Mrs. Ted Rohlinger, and Mrs. Don Koerber were appointed as the nomination committee.

We are also asked, please, not to forget the materials for the Brownies. Old yarn and felt is needed badly. If the Brownies were to buy felt it would cost them a considerable amount; they are making little felt purses to wear with their spring ensembles. See you all the 14th.

RIVERS TEAM IN OVERTIME UPSET WIN OVER MAYVILLE

LAND O' RIVERS STANDINGS (Second Half)

Team	Won	Lost
Ixonia	5	0
Mayville	4	2
KEWASKUM	3	2
Juneau	3	2
Horicon	2	3
Fillmore	2	3
West Bend	0	6

Scores last week end—Kewaskum 63, Mayville 59 (overtime); Ixonia 78, Horicon 67; Juneau 68, West Bend 44.

The surprising Kewaskum Rivers cagers, after giving undefeated Ixonia a scare a week ago Sunday, pulled an upset here last Sunday night when they defeated second place Mayville in an overtime contest, 63-59. The setback dropped Mayville out of the second half running and clinched the title for Ixonia. The victory also gave Kewaskum a tie for third place.

Des Smith really had a night for himself, dropping in 25 points as he paced all scorers. Klug and Hawig added 12 and 11 points respectively. Guse was best for the losers with 20 buttons.

Mayville took a 10-7 lead at the quarter but Kewaskum went to work on them, outscoring Mayville 22-12 in the second period to lead, 30-22, at the half. Mayville retaliated and played the winners to a 35-23 tie in the third quarter. The scoring remained even and the tilt ended in a 55-45 tie. In the three-minute overtime, Kewaskum tallied 7 points to Mayville's 4 to leave the floor with a hard-earned victory.

Kiwanis Wins Awards for Ballot Battalion Program

The nation-wide non-partisan register and vote campaign, "Ballot Battalion," spearheaded by the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum in cooperation with all civic-minded, patriotic groups during 1952, has been awarded the Freedoms Foundation George Washington Honor Medal, and also a major prize from The American Heritage Foundation, H. B. Rosenheimer, club president, announced last week.

These awards were won by Kiwanis International in competition with hundreds of entries to the awards juried by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pa., and The American Heritage Foundation of New York City. The Freedoms Foundation award gives to Kiwanis the distinction of being recognized by this organization for the third consecutive year for its Americanism program. Both organizations are non-profit, non-political, and non-sectarian and actively work to promote more personal participation in citizenship and the furthering of the American way of life.

Through the Ballot Battalion program, Kiwanis International presented a plan for coordinating the efforts of all local civic, professional and fraternal groups in every Kiwanis community throughout the United States in an all-out, non-partisan 'get out the vote' campaign.

In announcing these awards, Club President Rosenheimer said, "The Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum believes that the success of the Ballot Battalion demonstrates the inherent desire on the part of the citizenry of our country to be governed by elected officials chosen by the highest possible percentage of the eligible voters. We are very grateful to all local citizens, the press and radio for their support in assuring the success of this program. We are confident that the American people will continue to exhibit a keen interest and increased participation in matters of government on all levels."

The local Ballot Battalion campaign was comprised of the following groups: Kewaskum Boy Scouts and Kiwanis club under the general chairmanship of Elwyn Romahné. The scouts and sponsoring Kiwanis club was a phase of the general participation by the more than 3,600 Kiwanis clubs, representing over 215,000 business and professional leaders throughout the United States and Canada.

Badger Firemen Enjoy Banquet

The Badger Firemen's association mid-winter meeting and banquet at Random Lake Sunday afternoon and evening were both well attended. That village's new fire department building and the adjoining auditorium furnished the setting for the first of a number of events planned for 1953, the association's diamond jubilee year.

Chief Harry Schaefer and delegates of the Kewaskum fire department attended the afternoon meeting and were joined by a large number of other local firemen for the delicious, family-style turkey dinner at 6 p. m. Kewaskum firemen traveled to Random Lake in a special bus.

John Feutz, Slinger, association president, presided at the 6:30 p. m. business meeting. Secretary George Armbruster, Cedarburg, discussed that every department in the association was represented, including Bloechwood, which was admitted as a member during the past year.

Round table discussions on topics of interest to firemen were led by former assemblyman Nic Biehler of Belgium and Capt. Ray Schweig of the Milwaukee fire department. Discussions were held on a proposed state-sponsored firemen's school, fire inspections, and the purchase of approved fire-fighting equipment and extinguishers for general use.

Since Germantown has been awarded the association's annual tournament, Fire Chief Arthur Schmidt of that village addressed the group and outlined the program planned for the two day event, July 18 and 19. Schmidt stated that the race events in the morning on tournament day will attract more teams than ever before to compete for cash prizes totaling $350. At previous tournaments, the prize money has been less than $200. Plans are also being made for a colorful parade and there will again be a Badger Fire Queen contest.

At the evening banquet more than 200 firemen partook of the country style dinner prepared and served by the ladies of the village. Short talks were given by Erwin Arndt, Random Lake chief, and Lloyd Holle, village president. Musical selections were rendered by the Random Lake firemen's band during the dinner. Also among the entertainers was an accordion trio and Ray Sommers and his canine acrobats.

Red Cross Drive in Final Week; $5,000 Collected

Going into its final week, the Red Cross campaign in the West Bend area reached the halfway point with $981 under $500 received toward a quota of $2445. Plans are to complete all solicitations and make final reports next Monday, March 16, indicating a lot of hard work remains to be done before the goal is reached.

Drive chairman R. D. Ziegler reports that the results thus far have shown a slight increase in the average contribution over last year, but a slight decrease in the total number of contributors. To reach the $2445 quota, he said, will require both an increase in the average contribution and a boost in the number of contributors.

Reports are coming in slowly Ziegler said but this week was expected to see a spurt in activity toward the close of the campaign. West Bend industries have exceeded their quota, but the industrial employees division is still far short of its goal. Newburg has completed its drive with $55 thus far credited to the village and more to come.

"The people of this area have never failed to give wholehearted, generous support to the humanitarian work of Red Cross and I am confident their good record in this regard will not be broken this year. We hope those who have not yet contributed will do so at once and that they will give generously to help put us over the top by the end of this week."

"The Red Cross deserves the support of every person in this area for its important work with all who need help," Ziegler said.

VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM OVER THE TOP

Drive Chairman R. D. Ziegler reported Wednesday that two precincts are the first to reach their quota and have gone over the top in this year's Red Cross drive. First to reach the goal was the village of Jackson where contributions now total $159. The quota for Jackson is $150. Fred Miller, chairman of the village of Kewaskum, informed Ziegler on Wednesday morning that this village has also exceeded its $600 quota with a collection of $620 to become the second precinct over the top.

Legion Membership On Rise In Wisconsin

New year membership prospects in the Wisconsin American Legion are again on the rise, State Legion Cndr. Harold A. Kuehl, Reeseville, announced, following a year-end tabulation.

The state Legion greeted 1953 with 60,354 members already enrolled, with an additional 25,000 expected before the state convention in July. Memberships in the organization are accepted and renewed at any time during the year. Last year's state Legion total was 78,618.

The year-end figure of 60,354 is a gain of 2,556 over the total of the same date a year ago, and a jump of more than 7,000 over figures of Jan. 1, 1951.

The increase in Legion membership is an indication that the downward trend, which set in in 1948, has apparently been licked, according to Kuehl. After a record high in the state of 92,000 in 1947, the American Legion declined in membership for the following four years, ending its slide last year when it showed a gain of approximately 2,000 members.

The sudden decline, followed by a steady climb to record numbers, is similar to the pattern of the Legion after World War I, Kuehl said. At that time the organization got off to an impressive start, then fell off suddenly. By the late '20s and early '30s the Legion had begun to stabilize its membership and followed a consistent pattern until the beginning of World War II.

The fact that veterans of World War II are now becoming more settled in their personal affairs and have more time to devote to Legion activities explains the membership increase, according to Kuehl.

The Wisconsin Legion is currently 8th in membership among states in the entire organization.

1 Word Can Change Your Life—WRATH

You parents want something constructive to say to your offspring on the wedding day? Maybe this will help.

Seneca, the Roman tutor, said: "The greatest remedy for anger is delay. Beg anger to grant you this at first, not in order that it may pardon the offense, but that it may form the right judgment about it. If it delay, it will come to an end." This ought to do very well even if you never heard of Seneca.

But if you want something really potent, try this: "Never let the sun go down upon your wrath." Credit St. Paul with this wise caution. It simply means that we ought never to go to sleep angry with each other. You can disagree without being disagreeable. If you can't come to a complete understanding, after reasonable discussion, resolve to take up the matter at some later time.

Married or single, this is good counsel for us all. "Never let the sun go down upon your wrath," the word that can change your life.

Wisconsin Heart Ass'n Mails 3500 Booklets

The Wisconsin Heart association will begin distribution this week of a directory of services available to heart disease patients in the state.

A similar "Guide to Cardiac Services" was published in 1950, containing information on clinics, nursing and convalescent services, social, vocational and rehabilitational agencies.

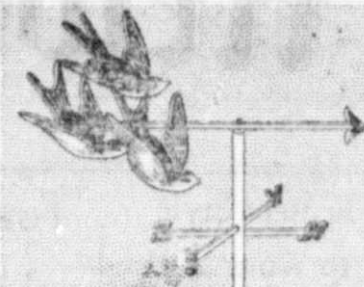

This year distribution will be made to all of Wisconsin's physicians, health and welfare organizations, city, county and state nurses. About 3,500 of the booklets will be mailed out.

The most frequently asked question about the community service program of the Heart association is whether it pays for direct services to individuals," according to Dr. Lamont Schweiger, president of the Wisconsin Heart association. "Due to the great number of heart disease patients and the limitation of funds, the money we receive cannot be spent this way. The greatest hope for the ultimate prevention and control of heart disease lies in the field of research, and for this reason the major portion of our efforts are expanded there."

According to the guide, there are many state organizations which provide help for those who cannot afford it. The guide lists 39 agencies in Wisconsin which furnish services to heart disease patients.

PARTICULAR THIEF

Los Angeles, Calif. — A would-be holdup man walked up to Teller Pearl Phillips and gave her a note reading: "Give me all the $50 and $100 bills. Do not give an alarm." Mrs. Phillips told the man she had just returned from lunch and had only a few dollars at her window. The man expressed disappointment, turned and walked out of the bank. While Mrs. Phillips obtained his automobile license number, police found the automobile unoccupied — it had been stolen.

Furniture Fashions

No item of furniture delights the young boy quite as much as the bunk bed. It is rugged and masculine in design and lends itself admirably to a he-man decor. Mother likes it, too, for its space-saving advantages. It provides an appropriate background for baseball mitts, footballs, tennis rackets, fishing gear and all sports paraphernalia; for cowboy prints and scenes of great adventure. If there are two boys in the family—or an occasional overnight guest—it is indeed the answer to a Mother's prayer. Summer cottagers, especially, find it of great convenience. There are a variety of models on the market—in maple, oak and pine. The boy's room shown above is a complete pine group, consisting of the bunk bed with ladder, a five-drawer chest, a student's desk, a captain's chair and a desk lamp. Furniture manufacturers today are catering to the men of the family as well as to the ladies of the household and make it possible for a guy to establish his own private sanctum, strictly male style.

CLOSING THE HOUSE FOR THE WINTER

It is not good for the house to close it up for the winter, particularly if the house is damp. Freezing temperatures may damage the plaster.

However, many do it, and apparently, without any bad effects. Here are the precautions to take if you wish to shut off heat and other utilities.

- Turn off the humidifier in the furnace, and dry the house as much as possible with furnace heat.
- Shut off the water meter, and open drain valve above meter. Leave this valve open.
- Open all faucets, including the outside hose bibbs. Blow through each one to be sure the pipes are empty. Start on the top floor and blow through each one again, after blowing through it. After the entire system has been drained, leave the faucets open.
- Be sure no water is left in the washer, or automatic dishwasher.
- Drain the hot water tank, you will find the drain valve at the bottom.
- Flush toilets, and sponge out water left in the bottom of the flushing tanks.
- Force water out of all drain traps, including toilets, sinks, lavatories, and automatic washing devices. This may be done with a plunger, often called a "plumber's friend."
- Fill all traps with anti-freeze—the kind used in automobile radiators.
- Pack the water meter to prevent freezing. Place a half barrel over the meter and lead-in pipe. Fill with dry insulation. Wet insulation loses its effectiveness as an insulator.
- Mineral wool is a good insulator. Sawdust or vermiculite are also good. Cover with quilts or blankets.
- Spray everything made of wool as a protection against moth. They will not hatch in cold temperatures, but live moth will eat until killed by the cold.
- Dust insect powder under sinks and other damp places as protection against cock roaches, silver fish, etc.
- Turn off gas and electricity. Notify utility companies you are leaving, and arrange for payment of minimum charges while you are away.
- Notify police department you are leaving, and give them your forwarding address.
- Leave forwarding address for first class mail at the post office.
- Arrange with neighbors to have papers picked up around the front door while you are away.
- Stop deliveries of milk, etc.

Psychiatry Lesson

AWAKENING THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE

By Orin R. Yost, M. D.
Medical Director, Edgewood Sanitarium

(Editor's Note: Dr. Yost is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond, studied psychiatry at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. C., taught psychiatry at Columbia University, New York, was division psychiatrist of the 79th division in World War II, and is presently Medical Director of Edgewood Sanitarium Foundation.)

With its ever-increasing population, the United States today has the highest incidence of mental disease in the entire world. In every fifth home is to be found one victim of either a mental disease or an incapacitating emotional disorder. Millions of such disturbed individuals are abroad upon the streets of our cities while 700,000 are found daily within mental hospitals.

Today doctors report they are unable to find any evidence of actual organic trouble in 60 per cent of their patients. Under the unparalleled stress, tension and complexities of modern living in a highly pressurized age, man has become increasingly unstable in his emotions; and regardless of his Intelligence Quotient, his spiritual health or his physical health, he is still an unhealthy individual if his emotions are not in a state of health.

So deeply disturbed by the alarming incidence of mental disorders has the federal government grown that now mental health comprises an important division of the U. S. Public Health Service. Through the National Mental Health Institutes of that agency, government appropriations (made possible through the Mental Health Act passed by Congress in 1946) are allotted to every state in the union for furthering the attack upon America's Number One Enemy, mental illness.

Numerous agencies, such as state mental hygiene societies, world psychiatric conferences, a White House conference, the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry, also public and private mental institutions are striving toward improvement of mental health. In 1950 the National Committee of Mental Hygiene, the American Psychiatric Foundation and the National Mental Health Foundation merged their organizations in order to render more effective service for combating mental disease. The program of the National Association for Mental Health, includes four main objectives, namely, promotion of mental health, prevention of mental and emotional disturbances, improved care of the mentally ill, and special training and supervision of the mentally deficient.

The newer concept, that most emotional ills of the adult are traceable to unwholesome patterns of childhood, has gained the attention of the thinking public. Though during the past quarter of a century mental hygiene organizations, working principally with psychiatry as their ally, have concentrated principally upon prevention of mental disorders through child guidance centers, many other noteworthy achievements have been made. The pitiful status of outmoded, ill-equipped, improperly-staffed hospitals for the mentally ill has shown some improvement; psychiatric clinics for adults have been established; and medical colleges have expanded their curricula to include a more intensive study of psychiatry.

With the task so formidable, surely there is a dire need for awakening the public conscience regarding mental disorders. Perhaps the first step in a program featuring the education of the public is to shout from the house tops the fact that there is positively no more disgrace or stigma attached to mental illness than there is to a case of sore throat, toothache or appendicitis. In the same manner in which it is natural for the organs of man's body to become ill, so do man's emotions grow sick under chronic tension, fear, strain and worry; and, when they are subjected to more tension than they can tolerate, they show a tendency to "crack up."

TRUST FUNDS GIVE EDUCATION A LIFT

Val Bjornson, former newspaper man now Minnesota state treasurer, spoke at Trust Funds at a recent convention of the National Association of State Officials, pointing out that of 30 states with permanent trust funds Texas leads in amount with Minnesota second, accounting for more than half the impressive total of $1,123,000,000. Nearly the entire amount is dedicated to one form or another of education, to which its importance is sharply brought home by Mr. Bjornson's estimate that the daily income from these funds is $70,000. Of Minnesota's neighbors, Iowa has no such fund, Wisconsin about $22 million, South Dakota $30 million, North Dakota nearly $34 million. Sidelight: the name of the Treasurer of the State of Texas is—Jesse James!

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Substantial Gelatine Salads Are Convenient Lenten Dishes

During Lent cooks look to main dishes made with unflavored gelatine as a way of varying fast-day foods. An egg and vegetable loaf molded with this gelatine is inviting in appearance and hearty. Unflavored gelatine is a pure protein and thus supplements the food value of this egg main dish.

Molded Egg and Vegetable Loaf

1 envelope unflavored gelatine 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 cup cold water 1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion
1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup finely diced celery
2 tablespoons lemon juice 1/4 cup finely diced green pepper
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco 1/4 cup chopped pimiento
4 hard cooked eggs, chopped

Soften gelatine in cold water. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add salt, lemon juice, and Tabasco. Cool. Add mayonnaise; mix in remaining ingredients. Turn into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. YIELD: 6 servings.

Quick Fruit Bread

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon allspice
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup currants
1/4 cup raisins
1/4 cup chopped citron
1/4 cup chopped candied orange peel

3 tablespoons lard, melted

Grease a 5x9-inch loaf pan and line with wax paper. Sift together flour, baking powder, spices, sugar and salt. Add fruits and nuts and mix thoroughly. Beat eggs, add milk and melted lard. Add liquid ingredients to flour and fruit mixture. Stir just until mixed. Pour into loaf pan and let stand in a cool place for 30 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 1 hour. Yield: one 5x9-inch loaf.

Bananas En Casserole

6 small bananas
1 glass currant jelly
1 cup boiling water
1 lemon

Peel the bananas. Remove the coarse threads and divide in quarters, cutting first crosswise and then lengthwise. Place in a greased casserole and pour over them a sauce made by melting jelly in the boiling water, and mixing with the juice of a lemon. Cover the casserole and bake in an oven 400 degrees until tender. The cover may be removed at the last moment and bananas sprinkled with granulated sugar and allowed to brown slightly. Serve as an entree with game or beef.

Scalloped Ham and Cabbage

1 pound cooked ham, diced
1/4 cup butter

By Betty Ann

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

Are you keeping to your 1953 beauty resolutions? There's no time like the present to keep your resolutions, especially where beauty is concerned, says Betty Ann. Resolve this year to follow a set routine of good basic beauty habits.

Work from the inside out, for only when you yourself are well cared for can cosmetics truly enhance. Start now, in time for the gala holidays, to carry out these good resolutions.

Your first resolve: To get as much sleep every night as you need, to look well and feel well. Individual requirements will vary, but your most important beauty basic is sleep, and plenty of it.

Next your hair. It can be your crowning glory, only if it is always in tip-top condition. Second resolve: To give your hair a weekly treatment—scalp massage with a good liquid petrolatum hair tonic, followed by a good shampoo.

A simple but effective aid, the massage nourishes the hair by stimulating circulation and helps in loosening scales and dirt. Thorough shampooing and rinsing eliminate the dirt and secretions which rob the hair of luster. With this helpful weekly treatment your hair will always be gleaming and healthy, however you set it.

Complexion care, too, is first a matter of cleanliness. Resolve: To wash your face well every time you make up. Contrary to rumor, soap and water are great beauty aids. For oily skins, a complexion brush helps to really cleanse the skin and make it sparkle.

Don't neglect a weekly manicure and pedicure. Dry nails need daily nursing in the form of gentle massaging with petroleum jelly. Cuticles should never be cut, just softened. For foot callouses rub gently with a small pumice stone.

Resolved to be well cared for from tip to toe, you can always remain at your best and look your loveliest day in and day out, the whole year through.

Make Pretty Shower Curtains at Home

Made at home in less than an hour, the shower curtain is hung. Heading, complete with eyelets, was ironed to the plastic and two widths of the film were sealed together with tape.

BY EDNA MILES

Did you ever think about making your own shower curtains? It can be done in less than an hour's time, with very little effort and no special knowledge.

The only materials you'll need are about four yards of vinyl plastic film which is available in most department stores at about 39 cents a yard, your electric iron, a light press cloth and two new plastic tapes.

The first tape is one and one-half inches wide. It has a coating of adhesive vinyl that makes possible a tight bond with a light application of heat. It is used as a heading for the shower curtain and comes complete with inset metal eyelets.

The heading is fairly heavy gauge but transparent so that it will reinforce the curtain top without obscuring the color and pattern of the material.

The second tape, also transparent, is three-fourths of an inch wide and is used for sealing the plastic film. This tape has the same adhesive quality and will bond with the film easily under your iron which should be turned to "rayon" or "cool" setting.

A perfect bond between heading and vinyl film is made by pressing the two together with an electric iron at "low," or "rayon," setting, using a thin press cloth.

You Can Treat Simple Dandruff

Nothing stops dandruff like a blue serge suit, according to a much-quoted old saw, and the bulletin on the subject of dandruff issued today by the Minnesota State Medical Association is inclined to agree with the spirit of this rueful observation.

Nothing does stop dandruff above the collar except frequent washing and regular massaging or brushing of the scalp and hair, according to the bulletin. That is the case, anyway, for the common, mild type of dandruff which is really not a scalp disease at all. The normal adult scalp will always show a mild degree of scaling, the doctors point out, and the scaling may be accompanied by itching. This state of affairs should not be considered the signal for excessively expensive scalp treatments which achieve nothing that a good shampoo at home, with a little regular massage, won't do as well.

The mild scaling that causes this type of dandruff occurs on the skin elsewhere on the body, too, but the oily secretions on the scalp adhere to the scales and make them noticeable. In most cases, a shampoo once a week will control it; but more will do no harm if they are needed. Gentle massage with the fingertips is an excellent additional aid. Brushing will serve the same purpose and about ten minutes a day of either will be adequate.

If the scaling is excessive and there is inflammation of the scalp, then medication under the supervision of a physician is necessary. Whether dandruff of the excessive type, called seborrheic dermatitis, is infectious or not is not known for certain. Authorities all agree, however, that ordinary precautions are advisable and it is best for every member of the family to have his own brush and comb. A healthy scalp is the best guarantee against dandruff.

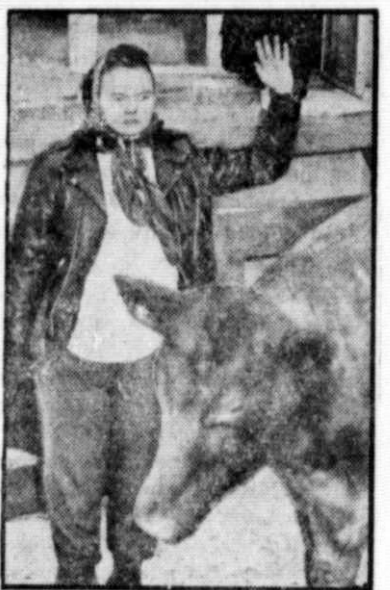

Buy chicks early if you want them to come into production during early fall when egg prices are high.

Broil Lamb Patties Plain or With Fruit

For a serving that's quickly prepared and a sure hit on your table, it's lamb patties. These ground meat patties are broiled, lending themselves to many variations.

The basic preparation is this, according to meat expert Reba Staggs. Place the patties on your broiler rack and adjust the pan so that the top of the patties is about 2 inches from the heat. This way they will broil at a moderate temperature. When the patties are brown on one side—about 8 to 10 minutes—turn, and brown them on the second side.

As for variations, lamb is always good with fruit. Grill pineapple rings, melba peach halves or pear halves along with the meat. A broiler meal is another choice. For one serving, combine 2 cups of boiled rice and 1 can of tomato soup. Spread this mixture in the broiler pan and place drained green beans around the edge. Arrange the patties over the rice and broil first on the one side, then on the other.

Mrs. Phyllis Long, Chicago stockyards' first "yardwoman," herds cattle into pens after they are weighed. "It's easy," she says.

RIDES HIS HOBBY—"Riding is only my hobby," says prize-winning jockey Bill Pearson of Los Angeles, Calif. He is seen examining one of his beloved art treasures, the collection of which he calls "My Life." He became interested in collecting primitive art while in Mexico.

KITCHEN CAPERS

The Sultan's making eyes and his girl friend's mighty shy but they'll start you right on four pair of colorful and quickly made panholders. Gay fiesta colors in the Mexican motifs and easily applied and decorated with a fast bit of embroidery. The Dutch boy and maid accentuate very nicely the colors in your kitchen. The full size designs and directions are on one multi-stamp Hot Iron Transfer. Use them again and again. C3004, 20c.

Five Meals For Four People On One Three-Rib Roast

Five hearty meals for four people from one three-rib roast—this amazing feat is the result of Food Editor Helen Flynn's ingenious planning in McCall's for February. Although the initial cost of the roast beef is high, the actual cost per person comes to very little when spread over twenty separate dinners, she says. Here are some of her suggestions for stretching a roast and simplifying your own life behind the stove:

"Buy a standing 3-rib roast from your butcher. Ask him to chop off the short ribs and crack the bones in several places. These you save for Sweet-and-sour Short Ribs. When you get the meat home, slice off the first thick rib to use later on for Steak Divine. Incidentally, good beef is dull red in color, fat is white to light cream and bones are bright red at cut ends.

"For one meal, roast your beef as you prefer it—rare, medium or well-done. The next day, broil your steak. For the day following, use the short ribs in this superb recipe:

- Sweet-and-Sour Short Ribs
- 2 lbs. short ribs
  - 2 tablespoons flour
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - Dash of pepper
  - 1 cup water
  - 8 to 10 small onions
  - 1 cup dried prunes
  - 1 cup dried apricots
  - 1 medium green pepper
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/4 teaspoon allspice
  - 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
  - 3 tablespoons vinegar

Take the short ribs you had your butcher cut from the roast, trim off some of the fat and fry out this fat in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven. Cut meat into eating-size pieces and coat with a mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Brown all sides in hot melted fat.

Now drain off most of the fat, pour in the water, cover tightly and cook slowly for about 45 minutes. At this point add the onions, prunes, apricots and big chunks of green pepper. Season with sugar, spices and vinegar, cover again and cook slowly for 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until meat and vegetables are tender. Serve with crisp Chinese noodles to 4. Perfectly delicious.

Beef bones make fine basic broth or stock for a number of good soups. Cook them like this:

Put all the leftover roast-beef bones in a kettle. Add one onion cut in pieces and 2 ribs of sliced celery. Pour in 5 cups of water, season with parsley, bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 cloves and 5 peppercorns. Cook very slowly or simmer for 1 1/2 or 2 hours. Cool and skim off the fat, lift out bones and trim off every bit of meat. Save to use in soup recipes. Makes about 3 cups of stock.

1 Word Can Change Your Life—THINGS

You've got to keep yourself at safe distance from material things if you want the things that matter most. Jesus once called a man a fool who failed to fix a gulf between himself and his possessions. He was a farmer—a good farmer, too. But he got too close to his barns. He stayed awake nights trying to figure out ways of building bigger barns. He worshipped them. His goods became his god.

Now Jesus wasn't against material things. He was against those things that do to him. You've got to say to your possessions: "I'm not going to let you make a slave out of me. There's a gulf set between us. I like you—I can use you—but I'm not going to worship you. You keep your distance and all will be well.

This isn't easy, but you've got to do it if you want the better things, the word that can change your life.

Dairyland Cookbook Is A Welcome Gift

A most welcome, year-round gift for every homemaker is a cookbook that will help her solve the eternal problem of what to serve.

Favorite Recipes From America's Dairyland is just that cookbook—a guide to better eating through the use of Wisconsin dairy products in cooking. The recipes call for whole milk, dried whole milk, evaporated milk, butter milk, malted milk, butter, ice cream and cheese. The "Index to Cheeses" near the front of the book gives an excellent directory of the more popular Wisconsin-made cheeses. The book is divided into 14 sections—appetizers, beverages, breads, cakes, salads, sandwiches, soups, pastries and vegetables. An attractive colored picture heads each of the 14 sections and throughout the book are interesting black and white illustrations of foods in each section.

The recipes are all reliable, having been tested by the Home Economics Departments of leading Wisconsin universities and colleges.

The cost of each recipe book is 50 cents—the actual cost price of the book. You can obtain one by sending your name and address along with 50 cents to the Department of Agriculture, Division of Markets, 342 North, State Capitol, Madison, Wisconsin.

Your friends, neighbors or relatives will appreciate your thoughtfulness when they receive this useful cookbook. A dish prepared from one of the recipes in the book and given with the book will help to show what a helpful cookbook "Favorite Recipes From America's Dairyland" really is.

Bible Comment:

Jesus Was an Able Organizer of His Early Churchmen

MANY of us see Jesus as a quiet teacher in the fields telling His parables and teaching His most profound thoughts in a way that was based on casual contacts and incidents.

Actually, Jesus was just the opposite. He was a very efficient organizer. He instructed and trained His disciples according to a definite plan and sent them out among the people to be "fishers of men." In a way, His group might be compared to a modern sales force with a product to sell to the people.

His disciples were selling a new gospel to the people and Jesus gave them the incentive and training to be able to do it.

He sent the Twelve "on the road" where they were so successful that He sent 70 more. Part of their mission was to act as "advance agents" or, in a modern sense, publicity men. They prepared the people for the coming visits of the Master.

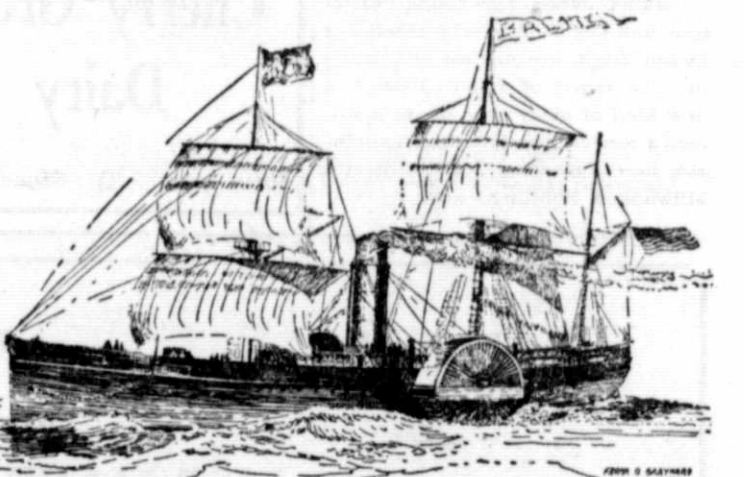

The world could use some more of that simple, early Christian evangelism today. It is best accomplished by ordinary people telling of the Christ they have found, and telling the story in plain words full of sincere enthusiasm.

One of the greatest emulators of this method of evangelism was John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. He was a traveling preacher and went wherever people would listen to him. He declared the world was his parish. So acute was his sense of organization that he was as able an organizer as he was a scholar and preacher.

Using the plans laid down by Jesus, he recruited and trained lay preachers, established classes, and urged small groups to meet regularly for testimony and counsel. These groups were led by the more aggressive and competent of his followers.

Wesley's adaptation of Christ's methods might well stand as a successful model for others to follow. The world needs a revival of the means by which the gospel and the church achieved their greatest triumphs.

A Famous American Ship

The BALTIC, luxury liner of the 1850's was one of the most famous passenger liners ever built, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. Only half the length of a modern oil tanker, the BALTIC and her three sisterships were the first to introduce steam heat afloat, an automatic bell-push system to call stewards, and a complete barber shop. She captured the Atlantic blue ribbon in 1852, being the last American steamship to break the speed record until the superliner UNITED STATES. She well justified her government building subsidy during the War Between the States as a naval auxiliary and as a transport. When her company's subsidy was withdrawn, the line collapsed and the trans-Atlantic passenger field was left virtually unopposed to the British. During her last decade of service, the BALTIC's engines were removed and she made a number of fast passages as a sailing ship. She was scrapped in 1880.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

The person handling a boat can determine whether or not the person doing the fishing will catch fish. This is true in big game fishing on the ocean, in plug casting, fly casting, spinning, fresh-water trolling. It applies to craft propelled by in-board motors, by outboards, by paddle, oars or poles. Bill Wolf points out that this almost makes the boat handler more important than the angler.

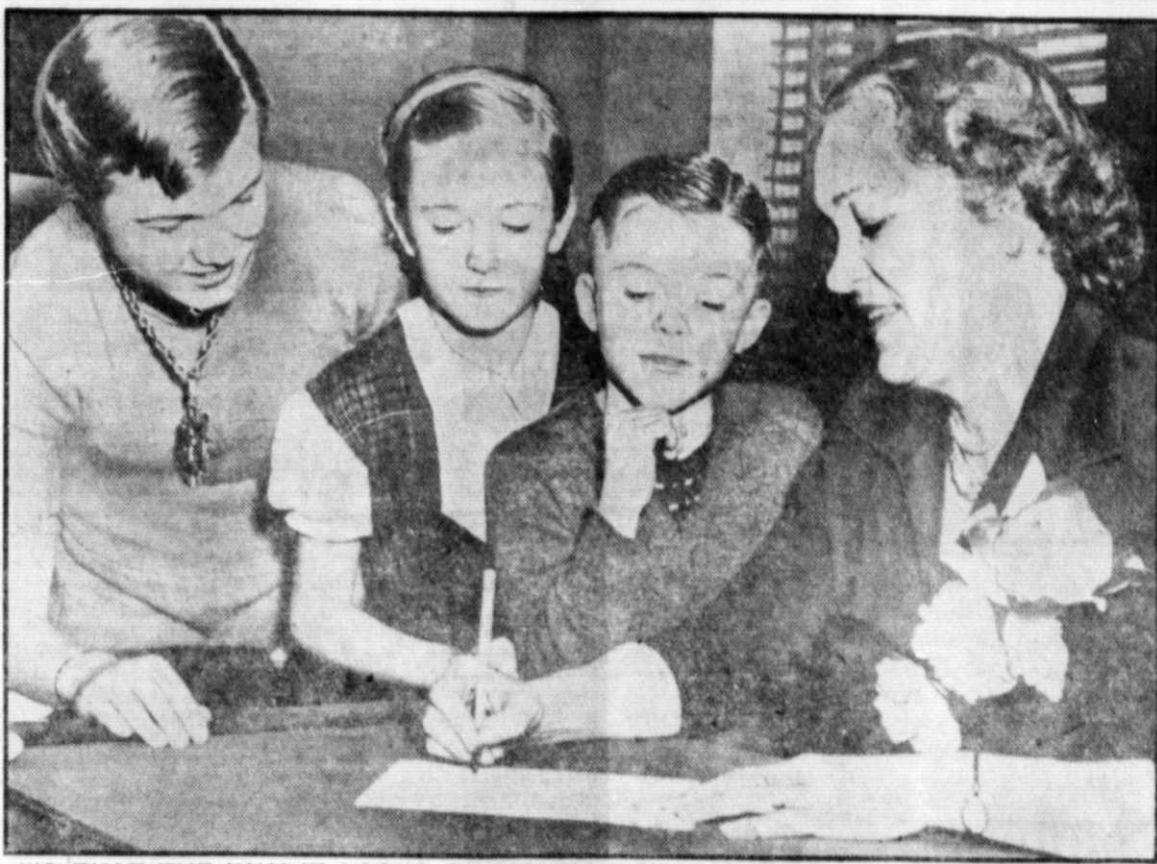

The cardinal rule for the oarsman in most trolling is: watch the rod tip. At least three-fourths of the lures ordinarily used in trolling set up a vibration when working properly that is communicated to the rod tip, and the man rowing only has to look there to see if everything is going all right.

There is a lot of fun to be had fishing a shore line with bass bugs or other flyrod lures, with plugs and spoons, or with spinning lures; it also can be a miserable experience if the boat handler doesn't know his business. But keeping the right speed and distance from the bank or from weed or lily pond beds is only part of the boat handler's job.

He must look ahead at all times—even if this means looking behind him in the direction the boat is going—to know what kind of water is coming up next, and to plan how best to approach the next stretch. He should plot the route of the craft so the right-handed angler can cast most of the time to the left to fish the shore line. When the wind is strong, it becomes the boatman's duty to see that most casts can be made as much as possible with the wind or, at least, at a quartering angle.

The boatman has still other important duties. He will try to see that you are so located that nothing will interfere with your back-cast if you are using a fly rod. He will take the boat in to recover a hung-up lure, rather than let you attempt to pull it free with the possibility of it snapping back in your face. He will keep his eyes open for signs of activity among fish and call rises and feeding to the fisherman's attention. He will be ready with net or gaff to help land a particularly nice fish, and he is often in a better position than the angler to take a fish off the hook. Now all this doesn't mean he is a slave to the angler, but he is a cooperating partner.

Milwaukee Sports Show Is March 21-29

Wisconsin's show of shows, the 13th annual Milwaukee Sentinel Sports and Vacation Show, opens Saturday, March 21, at the Milwaukee Arena and Auditorium. It continues for 9 days and nights through Sunday, March 29.

Again the entire facilities of the Milwaukee Arena, the Milwaukee Auditorium and its side halls, and the Auditorium basement are needed to house the mammoth Sports Show. No other show of any kind appearing anywhere in Wisconsin uses as much space.

Actually the Sentinel event consists of three shows in one. Hundreds of sporting goods, bait, tackle, and vacation exhibits will occupy the Arena; the fourth annual Great Lakes Boat Show will be in the Auditorium basement; and the third annual Mobile Homes Show of trailerscoaches will be in Bruce Hall of the Auditorium.

Highlighting the overall exposition is the star-studded, 14-act Stage and Tank program which will be presented twice daily at 3 and 9 p.m. throughout the Sports Show.

Advance Sale general admission tickets at 75c each are now available at sporting goods and marine stores throughout Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. The same tickets sell for 90c when the Sports Show opens.

Application blanks for reserved seat tickets at 50c each also are available at the same ticket outlets. If there is no outlet in your vicinity, write direct to Sports Show Ticket Sales, Milwaukee Sentinel, Milwaukee 1, Wis., for your general admission and reserved seat tickets.

Household Hints

ECONOMY CUTS OF BEEF MAKE FLAVORFUL MEALS

Lower grade beef animals are in good supply now—making less tender cuts an economy buy, according to Linnea Dennett, nutritionist at the University of Wisconsin.

These economy cuts of beef are as good nutrition-wise as the more popular steaks and chops are, she continues, and they taste just as good.

As a source of protein, the budget cuts are as important as roasts and steaks. It's the less expensive variety meats such as heart and liver that lead the meat group in mineral and vitamin content.

However, these less expensive cuts and variety meats require a little more care in cooking. They need moist heat and longer cooking time to tenderize them.

For a different way to use ground beef, try baked beef rings. Bake the seasoned meat in individual ring molds and fill the cooked rings with mashed potato or a colorful vegetable. You can also use generous amounts of ground beef in your Spanish rice or spaghetti dishes.

With the cheapest of cuts—neck and shank bones—you can have a hearty winter meal of soup.

For an economy roast, a rump roast or a blade or arm cut of chuck, is your best buy. It's a good idea to brown the meat well. Then add a small amount of liquid and cook until tender in a covered pan on low heat. You can cook it either on top of the stove or in a 300-degree oven.

COLLECT GOOD TOOLS FOR SPRING SEWING

It takes more than the purchase of dress material to get you ready for your spring sewing, says Helen Pearson, clothing specialist, at the University of Wisconsin.

Some simple inexpensive tools will make the job easier, save time, and give good results.

A good pair of shears should be your biggest investment, Miss Pearson points out. The best size for general sewing is an 8 inch length, with blades sharp right to the point.

When you get a good pair of shears, keep them away from the rest of the family. If they are used for cutting paper and other things they will be dull when you want to sew.

A five inch pair of shears at the sewing machine is handy for snipping threads and clipping corners and seams.

To make it easy to mark darts and center fronts and other pattern lines on the material, use transfer paper and a tracing wheel.

A wrist pin cushion will keep the pins where you want them. It's easy to make this kind of pin cushion on an elastic band or you can buy several kinds.

Good measuring equipment is a must. The newer tape measures are made of plastic, marked on both sides, and they won't stretch. A six inch hem gauge with sliding indicator is inexpensive but has many uses.

Pins and needles are small but important items. Size 5 dressmaker pins have sharper points than regular pins and won't make holes or snag the material. In needles size 8 to 10 are good for dress materials but for coating you'll need size 7 needles.

When you start sewing it's important to have all your tools in one place. A box, basket, or a suitcase will help you to have everything handy.

NEW CARROTS PLENTIFUL, VERSATILE, ECONOMICAL

New carrots from winter production areas will be plentiful in February to supplement whatever locally-stored carrots are still available, according to John Schoenemann, horticulturist, at the University of Wisconsin.

When you buy, choose carrots that are firm, clean, and of good orange color. They should be smooth, well-shaped, and fresh in appearance. Schoenemann points out.

From one pound of carrots you can plan on five half-cup servings cooked, or eight half-cup servings shredded raw.

With carrots plentiful, you'll get the most food value by serving them raw. Try them in salads, sandwiches and relishes.

Pineapple or apples go well with carrots in gelatin salads. Budget-priced raisins combine well with grated carrots for either a salad or a sandwich filling.

Carrot strips can be a part of your relish trays, packed lunches, meat platters, and luncheon plates. For a special garnish, use carrot strips in bundles. Cut the center of a large slice of carrot with your vegetable parer and insert a few of the strips.

New carrots are good cooked whole. Scrub them and cook in a small amount of boiling salted water for 15 to 20 minutes. Top with melted butter and chopped parsley.

To keep carrots cool and moist, store them in a plastic bag or hydrator pan in your refrigerator.

DDT FOR RUG CARE

Hand spray a 5 per cent DDT oil over the top and bottom surfaces of your rugs. Be sure that the fibers are thoroughly moistened, especially the hard-to-get spots under furniture that escape regular cleaning.

To reheat coffee cakes and rolls loosely wrap in foil and heat in a moderate oven for a few minutes or heat in a covered sauce pan with a little water.

Save Work; Spray-Kill Brush This Winter

Cutting brush by hand around the farm is tedious, back-breaking work.

But a good chemical treatment every year will kill bothersome shrubs and brush in your fields and fence rows.

George Briggs, University of Wisconsin weed specialist, says you can use a spring foliage spray or a dormant, winter spray. The best chemical for either method is 2,4,5-T, alone, or mixed with 2,4-D. Briggs says the dormant spray has some advantages over foliage treatment.

Foliage spraying doesn't kill completely unless all the leaves are covered with chemical. In dormant spraying the main thing is to cover the base of the trunk and two feet around the base of the tree. When a tree has been cut off, a dormant spray will keep shoots from growing if the stump is thoroughly covered. Foliage spraying may give you trouble with sprays drifting to other crops. But you needn't worry about that with dormant spray in winter.

You can use dormant spray when not pressed by other work. It kills such brush as maple, ash, basswood and hickory that isn't effected by foliage sprays.

Briggs says, mix two pounds 2,4,5-T and 2,4-D, half and half, per acre for dormant spraying. Then mix this 50 per cent chemical mixture with 30 to 40 parts kerosene or fuel oil.

Briggs says you need to remove snow from around the base of the trees to get a good kill. A paint brush or small sprayer nozzle will help get good coverage. Make sure the ground line around the trunk is well covered. If you miss some of the brush, you can catch the remainder with a quick foliage spray in spring.

Cows Respond To Care

Just plain ordinary care of dairy cattle can do as much as purchased feeds or high priced breeding stock to increase milk production this winter.

James Crowley, University of Wisconsin dairy husbandman, has these tips for winter care of the dairy herd:

1. Use plenty of bedding. Mastitis is half whipped when udders are clean and off the cold, damp floor.
2. Spread lime or super phosphate to prevent injury to cows by slipping. Lime and phosphate also add fertilizer value to the manure.
3. Make stalls big enough—you'll reduce udder injuries. The average cow today is bigger than her ancestor of 25 years ago. A 1200 pound cow needs a stall five feet long and four feet wide.
4. Repair windows and keep out drafts. A cow can adjust herself to cold, but not to drafts.
5. Keep the barn dry with good ventilation. A dry barn is important, a warm one is not.
6. Get rid of high door sills that may injure udders.
7. Clip cows completely to prevent lice. If that doesn't control the lice, powder with about two ounces of rotenone per cow. Crowley recommends one and one-half per cent rotenone because it is strong enough to control grubs too. Shake rotenone on and rub in with a stiff brush. To control grubs, treat the cows as soon as you can feel bumps appearing on the back.
8. Turn cows out at least once, preferably twice, each day for exercise. That will prevent stiffness and swollen hocks. And the sunshine provides vitamin D.

January Traffic Mishaps Kill 48

History almost repeated itself—but not quite—in January, as the Wisconsin traffic death toll for the month reached 48. The year before, January traffic accounted for 50 deaths.

The four per cent drop in January traffic deaths was announced by the safety division of the Wisconsin motor vehicle department. The department also reported a rise in the percentage of traffic deaths involving pedestrians. This year there were 11 pedestrian deaths in the first month, as compared with eight a year ago.

Contrary to the normal summer pattern, it was not the weekend days which proved most dangerous in January. Three fatalities occurred on Saturdays, seven on Sundays; but nine persons died in fatal accidents occurring on Thursdays, and 16 on Fridays.

The 1953 traffic death toll by county in this area was none.

The next time you bake a pie, make up several recipes of pastry. It will keep several days if you wrap in waxed paper or foil and store in the refrigerator.

How to Cut Square Opening

TO CUT a square or rectangular opening with round corners in a piece of wood or similar board, holes of the proper radius should be drilled at the corners. Then you can saw straight down from one hole to the next. This will assure that the opening will be of the dimensions wanted and that the corners will have the correct radius. To cut a similar opening with square shoulders, use a similar technique, drilling small-diameter holes at the corners with their outer edges tangent to the sides of the rectangle. Proceed as above. Then square off the small arc in each corner with a file. — Illustration, courtesy of Popular Mechanics.

KETTLE MORAINÉ 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Kettle Moraine 4-H club held their monthly club meeting March 5 at 8 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Ronald Petermann. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Norman Heberer. Treasurer's report was given by Ronald Dale.

We discussed plans on taking a trip but no definite plans have been made. The trip will be approximately 150 miles.

There were two movies shown to the 4-H club, both on health. One was "Something You Didn't Eat" and the second was "Mealtime Can Be a Happy Time."

There were three demonstrations given by Janice Bartelt on "Making a Belt," David Smith on "Making a Hanging Flower Pot" and the last one was given by Myron Heberer on "A Good Breakfast."

Plans were made that each club member is to make a poster on safety, and after all of the posters have been completed, which is by April 1, the best posters will be placed in store windows. Also by the next meeting everybody will have to complete a safety report on their home or farm.

The meeting was then adjourned. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Art. Kirsch and Mrs. Gross.
