Assembly Favors Haebig Bill on Closing of Bars

Milwaukee taverns would be brought under a statewide 1 a. m. closing hour if the Assembly accepts a recommendation of its Committee on Excise and Fees.

The bill is sponsored by K. Wm. Haebig (Republican-Kewaskum). The Assembly committee Tuesday reported it for passage. At a public hearing supporters argued that later closing hours in Milwaukee county—2 a. m. weekdays and 3 a. m. Sundays—were unfair to tavernkeepers in surrounding counties. Others urged passage of the measure as a means of preventing traffic accidents.

The Excise committee also urged approval of a bill to permit taverns to stay open all night New Year's Eve. The bill has already passed the Senate.

Dump Fire at Dundee Destroys Small House

An abandoned house at Dundee, owned by Ollie Schoetz, who currently is at Wood, was nearly destroyed by fire that broke out near the community's de-bris-dumping area last Wednesday afternoon.

Schoetz purchased the building two years ago and had it moved to that site, intending to renovate the structure for eventual occupancy. It was reported that the loss, not expected to exceed $1,000, was not covered by insurance.

It was necessary to call the fire-fighting unit from the Kettle Moraine state park when it was feared that sparks from the fire would threaten a nearby farm building.

Clem Brown, town treasurer, was pressed into duty to haul water for the fire rig and plow a fire furrow on the north side of the dump.

Last Tuesday morning the Campbellsport firemen were called out to a grass fire across the road from the St. Killian church and school. These fighting the blaze, which had started in a field, feared for the safety of the buildings. A farmer using a tractor and drag held the fire down while the department sprayed water along the roadside among the fence posts and trees.

Kewaskum's Lakes Opener Cancelled

Kewaskum's opening Land of Lakes baseball game scheduled to be played at Saukville this Sunday, May 3, has been called off and will be played at a later date. Reason for the cancellation has been the wet, cold and very unfavorable weather of the past two weeks. Because of the bad weather, which included snow one Sunday, the ball players have had no practice to speak of and are in no condition to open play.

However, six of the 10 teams in the northern division will pry off the lid Sunday. Opening games will find Mequon at Grafton, Germantown at Cedarburg and Belgium at Newburg. Kewaskum will play its first contest on the following Sunday, May 10, when Newburg comes here. The remaining two teams in the circuit, West Bend and Port Washington, will not get started until June.

Manager Kilian Honeck, Jr. reports that his team is still short of players. More are badly needed and they are asked to be present at 1:30 p. m. this Sunday when it is hoped to get in a good practice session on the high school field.

At a meeting of managers last Thursday night, final schedule details were mapped out. The schedule calls for each team to play 18 games with the season's final games set for Labor day. The winner of the northern division pennant will enter the grand championship playoffs along with the winners of the titles in the other three divisions of the Lakes loop.

The managers also voted to hold the annual all-star game in West Bend on Thursday night, Aug. 6. The northern all-stars will meet the western stars. Another all-star game between the league leaders and the all-stars from the rest of the league is also planned.

A Famous American Ship

The YALE, veteran of transport service in both world wars, was built in 1907 for the express overnight run between Boston and New York. She was best known, states the American Merchant Marine Institute, for her service between San Francisco and Los Angeles. She was a flyer from her sharp, high bow to her overhanging stern. Two well raked masts and attractive smoke stacks topped her white-painted hull. With the HARVARD, her sister-ship, the YALE is remembered by a host of voyagers and soldiers as among the most beautiful ships ever built in America. Essentially a coastwise boat, she was pressed into overseas service in both wars, since then as now there was a scarcity of American passenger ships. She ended her service as a barracks ship in Seattle, being scrapped in 1947. When new the YALE'S plush interior and her 311 staterooms featured Yale-blue decorations, with the letter "Y" carved here and there. The YALE had no cabin 13. She was always a lucky ship.

Mister Fixum's Handy Hints

BY ERNIE GARDNER

BUILDING AN ATTIC LADDER

If it is necessary for you to get into your attic frequently, and you do not have a stairway, you should build a ladder.

If your attic trap door is in a closet, build a ladder which will fit into the closet.

The steps of the ladder should be flat boards, and level with the floor when the ladder is in place.

If you nail cleats under both ends of each step, the ladder will be much more rigid.

Make strap iron hooks to hold the ladder in place while it is being used.

If your attic is high enough, you can suspend the ladder from the rafters while not in use. Suspend the ladder with a rope and pulley so that it may be lowered into place.

If you cannot suspend the ladder, just slide it back on top of the attic floor joists. In this case it will be necessary to stand on a chair or short ladder to reach the attic ladder.

OUR GROWING POPULATION OF AGED INDIVIDUALS

Did you know that every day is actually the sixty-fifth birthday for 2700 individuals in America? Did you know, also, that during the past half century the number of people past sixty-five has actually quadrupled?

So important a concern has the care of the aging population become in this country that a special field of medicine and of living, known as "geriatrics," has occupied the attention of doctors, social workers, psychiatrists, sociologists, and psychologists with in recent years. Geriatrics has to do with not only the treatment and care of both the aged and aging but also with the prevention of degenerative diseases.

Geriatrics covers a very broad segment of the oldest life, for it begins generally speaking, with the fortieth year of an individual's life. Through senescence another period beginning with the sixtieth year, it extends, and finally through senility, the period beginning at approximately the seventy-fifth year.

Those people who indulge in the investigative study which deals with aging processes are known as gerontologists. Such scientists point out the important fact that it is both natural and necessary for he body to age, for, after all, aging represents the completion of a physiological process ever at work within the organism.

Senescent (or old) individuals fall heir to more ills than do other people because the aging individual assumes an increasing defenselessness against injury and disease.

All individuals do not experience the aging process at the same rate or pattern. Some personalities experience memory failure, behavior outbursts, dislike of anything new, and so on. On the other hand are to be found many elderly individuals who are calm, ripe in judgment and venerable.

Among oldsters, body alterations are twice as frequent as are mental changes. In fact, among the 13,000,000 elderly people sixty-five years or older in the United States at present, an overwhelming majority have retained their mental faculties. Only three million oldsters out of this total, however, are employed at present. Seven in ten of the total number of elderly people reside in their own homes while two in ten live with relatives. Seven hundred thousand are living in institutions, hotels or large rooming houses.

Until 1898, Brooklyn was an independently administered city on Long Island, New York. It is now part of Greater New York City.

The White House was first named the "President's Palace" by Maj. Pierre L'Enfant in his original plan of the city of Washington, D. C.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

A Cake for Spring

As cheery as a bed of daffodils in spring sunshine is this Spring Beauty Cake. For special occasions, decorate it with a few jonquils, or with a wreath of shiny green lemon leaves or galax leaves.

The cake itself is a white cake. Use your favorite recipe for a two-layer white cake, or use a who's cake mix.

The filling and the icing—both flavored with undiluted frozen orange juice and margarine—give the breath-of-spring flavor to this decorative cake. The fluffy look of the frosting is achieved with a spatula, knife or spoon. First spread the icing on the sides of the cake and cover the top generously. Press the back of a spoon or the flat side of a spatula lightly onto the surface of the frosting. Raise the spatula or spoon straight up to "pull" the frosting up in little curving peaks.

SPRING BEAUTY CAKE
(Makes 18-inch layer cake)

1 box white cake mix
2 cake packages according to directions on package. Bake and cool. Fill with Orange Filling and frost with Spring Beauty Frosting.

Orange Filling
(Filling for 2-layer cake)

- 1/4 cup cornstarch
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 1/4 cups cold water
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup undiluted frozen orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon margarine

Mix cornstarch and sugar. Add water and cook, stirring constantly until clear and thick. Beat egg yolks and add a little of the hot mixture. Mix well and add to cornstarch mixture. Cook 2 minutes, stirring. Add salt, orange juice, rind, vanilla and margarine. Remove from heat and cool before spreading between layers of cooled cake.

Spring Beauty Frosting
(Makes frosting for two 8-inch layers)

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1 egg yolk
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 1/2 tablespoons undiluted frozen orange juice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
- 1 tablespoon milk

Cream margarine. Beat in egg yolk, orange rind and juice and salt. Gradually add sugar and milk. Beat until fluffy.

One of the most difficult problems of the menu maker is choosing a suitable dessert. With a simple dinner always serve a rich dessert and with a heavy meal always serve a light dessert.

Sour Cream Fruit Pie

- 1 unbaked pie crust
- Sliced canned or fresh peaches or any other fresh fruit
- 1/2 cup or 1 cup sugar, for canned fruit use 1/2 cup sugar or 1 cup for fresh fruit
- Cinnamon
- 1 cup thick sour cream
- 4 tablespoons flour

Fill unbaked crust with desired fruit. Blend sugar with cream and mix with flour. Pour over fruit. Arrange strips of pastry lattice fashion over the pie. Sprinkle generously with sugar and cinnamon. Bake in an oven 500 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue cooking until firm and nicely browned. Cool before serving.

Toasted Snow Squares

- 1 envelope plain gelatin
- 4 tablespoons cold water
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 3 egg whites unbeaten
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 16 graham crackers, rolled fine

Soak gelatin in cold water—add boiling water, sugar and dissolve. Cool. Add egg whites, salt and vanilla. Beat until mixture is light as thin cream. Chill. Cut in squares and roll in graham cracker crumbs. Serve with butter sauce.

Butter Sauce

- 2 egg yolks
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup melted butter
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/3 cup cream whipped

Beat yolks thick, add sugar, beat. Add butter, lemon juice and lemon rind. Fold in cream. Chill.

Individual Icebox Cake

- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/3 cup apricot puree
- 1 package vanilla wafers

Whip cream, fold in sugar and apricot puree. Spread the wafers with this and pile them up in stacks of 4 wafers each. Ice the stack with rest of fruit cream. Chill overnight, so that wafers will soften. Serves 6.

Butter Pecan Ice Cream

- 1 cup light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon sherry flavoring
- 1 cup cream whipped slightly

Home Treatment Best For Excess Hair

Too much hair causes a good deal more trouble than too little, according to a bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Medical association.

Some of the methods used to get rid of excess hair are so unsatisfactory—if not downright dangerous—that the doctors today suggest a safe, simple technique which anybody can use as the best answer to the problem.

This is the technique. First, clip the hair cautiously with bent scissors and without pulling. Second, wash the part with soap and water and touch the hair with ten per cent ammonia water. Then apply a compress of five per cent peroxide solution to bleach. This method is obviously not permanent and must be repeated as the hair grows. It is recommended, however, because pulling out the hairs with tweezers, or shaving it, is quite likely to result only in stronger, thicker, harder and darker-colored hair than before.

There is only one method of permanent removal which is safe, the doctors say. This is the method which makes use either of galvanic electric current or high frequency, long wave diathermy. It is a long, tedious, expensive and uncomfortable process and must have a reliable technician to perform it, since bungling can cause permanent scarring.

X-ray treatments should be shunned, completely, even though immediate results are sometimes excellent. After a few months or years they are quite likely to result in withered, discolored or depigmented skin which will be permanent. Unscrupulous operators have been known to use x-ray secretly, under innocent-looking apparatus with disastrous results.

The cause of excess hair is still undetermined in most cases. In only one case in a hundred is a glandular disturbance, which will benefit by hormone treatment, at the bottom of it. The doctors do not dismiss the trouble as trivial, however, because the effect upon emotions and personality can be deep and serious.

Whatever the silhouette, the color is pale and the fabric is butter soft and feather light. The pure luxury coatings reach a new high in fashion significance and the basic casual coat becomes "modern traditional" in 100% camel's hair.

Pumps will be tops in footwear again this spring, but you'll find it hard to recognize them as the pump patterns you've seen so often. A little bow here, a tear drop or triangular cutout there, a swirl of piping in contrasting leathers give the classic pump a fresh and excitingly dressed up look for 1953.

The opera pump plays a star role. This spring it features a slender point of the toe, an exceptional high, thin heel, a cat-like softness in the vamp.

The open look is shown in sandals for all hours of the day starting with the midway heel on the slingback and going right on up to the highest and slimmest heel.

There is exciting new interest in the breton for spring and summer done in a variety of widths from very wide to tiny. Rough straws with fruit and flower trimming, sheer organdy and chiffon and shiny black straws are favorites.

Larger hats are truly flattering. Brims are curved to shadow the face prettily, or when straight are brought forward in crisp outline. Backs are kept short on these, some actually brimless in back. Over-all effect is visorlike.

The word "dowager" carries with it a picture of queens, duchesses and society leaders, all dignified and elegant. But when that word is coupled with "hump," all the dignity falls away, leaving nothing but the thought of "old."

The dowager's hump, a lump of fat over the backbone just below the base of the neck, is caused by habitually faulty posture, both standing and sitting. Years of typing, writing, sewing or reading with the head bent forward and the bones out of alignment, cause this fault.

An habitually depressed mood, causing a woman to carry her head drooping forward as she walks, may also contribute.

To massage away the lump of fat, use firm finger strokes upward as far as the hairline. Follow each stroke by letting your head fall back to relax it. You can't, of course, expect quick results.

Here is an exercise which you may be able to work up to as many as a dozen strokes per exercise, three times a day:

Let your head drop forward on your chest, not with tension, but as relaxed as possible. Then slowly raise your head and let it fall back as far as it will go.

German Potato Salad
1 pound (3 medium) potatoes; 6 slices bacon, diced; 1 medium size onion, diced; 1/2 cup vinegar; 1/2 cup stock or bouillon; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 egg yolk, beaten.

Scrub potatoes; rinse. Boil in jackets; let cool. Peel and cut in one-fourth inch slices.

Cook bacon in hot pan until crisp. Add onion; stir and cook until transparent. Add vinegar, stock or bouillon and seasonings. Stir; let come to a boil. Stir in egg; remove from heat and pour over potatoes. Serves two to four.

Keeping a pile of breakfast dishes together, separate from your other dishes, might save time during the early morning rush.

Any burned-on food on the floor of your oven? Set a small dish of ammonia in the oven and leave it there for several hours or overnight; the ammonia softens the burned-on food and makes removal less of a chore than it usually is.

Lemon Barbecue Chicken Is a Spring Treat

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

PLENTY of young, tender chickens are on the market now at very attractive prices. So let's give the family its fill of crispy fried chicken. It's good eating any way you look at it, whether hot or cold, sauced or simple, picnic or party style. The important thing is to "know your chicken" and to use the best method of preparation.

Today's modern fryers do not require long, tedious cooking or steaming. They're at their tender best when placed in hot fat about 3/4-inch deep, browned over moderately low heat, then finished off over a low heat or in the oven.

Frying chicken need not be a last-minute affair. You can pre-brown the pieces a day in advance, then cool and wrap them in waxed paper. About an hour before serving time, bring pieces up to room temperature and arrange them, one layer deep, in a shallow baking pan.

Four melted butter or margarine over the pieces and pop the pan into a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes, or until chicken is fork tender. If dinner is delayed, reduce oven heat and brush chicken with melted butter so that it stays moist and tender.

When you give a fried chicken party, you may prefer to buy chicken by the piece, or else purchase extra birds and save the bonier wings and backs for later family service. That's what we've done for this luscious Lemon Barbecue Chicken for a party. The meaty thighs, drumsticks, and breasts are browned in hot butter, then cooked in a tangy lemon barbecue sauce until fork tender. Serve extra lemon sauce on the side.

LEMON BARBECUE CHICKEN

One chicken, salt, pepper, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3/4 cup lemon juice.

Have chicken drawn and cut into serving pieces, or, if quick-frozen, thaw according to directions on the box. Rinse in cold water and dry. Season with salt and pepper. Melt butter in skillet and brown chicken, skin side down. Turn and brown. Pour lemon sauce over chicken pieces. Cover and cook slowly until tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Arrange chicken on platter and pour sauce over pieces.

LEMON SAUCE

(Yield: 3/4 cup)

One small clove garlic, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup salad oil, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme.

Mash garlic clove with salt in a bowl. Add remaining ingredients and mix together. If possible, allow sauce to stand overnight to blend flavors before using.

NOTE: Use a heavy aluminum or stainless steel skillet.

For the spring dinner party, tender, crisp lemon barbecue chicken is the ideal treat. Serve it with the pride of a good cook who knows her dish is a unique feast.

New Techniques Of Rebuilding Broken Teeth

Broken teeth need no longer be pulled, with the resulting change in the shape of your mouth—thanks to a new method of reconstruction perfected after seven years. The tooth pulp is stimulated to produce dentine by application of a plastic paste and then covered with the usual cavity-filling material. Recent studies indicate that vitamin B-12 plays a crucial role in promoting growth. These and other advances in the field of medicine are reported by Dr. Edward T. Wilkes in Redbook Magazine for April: "Here is good news, since extractions can change the shape of your mouth. A new technique to avoid removing teeth that have been broken or partly eaten away by bacteria was shown by Dr. Harold Burke at a recent meeting of the New York Dental Association.

"After the diseased parts of the tooth pulp are removed, the exposed pulp is treated with a plastic paste which stimulates the pulp to produce dentine, the semi-hard layer of the tooth which lies just under the enamel. The usual cavity-filling material is then placed on top of the new dentine. This method took seven years to perfect and has been used on over a thousand teeth.

"Men who produce too few sperms for successful impregnation of the egg are now offered some hope of fatherhood. Dr. Russell Herrold of the University of Illinois Medical School treated forty men who had low sperm counts with a synthetic hormone stimulant called Stilbestrol. He was able to increase the number of sperms in twenty of them. The wives of eight of the men who had been successfully treated became pregnant. These couples had been married for one and a half to eight and a half years without being able to conceive.

"The treatment was given daily for two weeks out of each month, before the wives were about to ovulate. The dosage should not be continued for more than four months, and should be taken only under the care of a physician.

"A simple whistle device to reduce the nervous tension of a child going under an anesthetic is now used at the Mayo Clinic, according to Dr. Thomas Seldon, anesthesiologist. The whistle is fitted into the side of the apparatus through which the child breathes. Every time the child exhales, the whistle blows. To interest the child and win his confidence, the doctor shows him how the whistle works.

"A recent study of 269 children ranging from fourth grade to high school seems to indicate the value of extra vitamin B12 in promoting growth. Although these children came from high-income families and had been given extra hours of rest, no homework and a lighter schedule of television and athletics, they failed to grow at a normal rate despite all that doctors and parents could do.

"After adding vitamin B12 to their regular diet for sixteen weeks, 80 per cent of the children showed a definitely improved rate of growth in both height and weight. Their behavior and scholastic work also improved, and they showed less fatigue. A control group of below-par children was given sugar pills instead of vitamin B12. The growth rate of this group increased only six per cent, compared with 86 per cent in the group which had received vitamin B12.

"It is not believed that the lack of B12 is the single cause of failure to grow, but Dr. Norman Wetzel, well-known researcher in the field of growth and development, who conducted the tests, suggests that B12 acts as a 'marshaling agent' of the other factors influencing growth."

Zwieback Dessert

6 eggs

1 cup round nuts
Whipped cream

To well beaten egg yolks, add sugar, then zwieback crumbs and nuts. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into mixture. Pour into layer cake pans lined with wax paper. Bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven. When cold put layers together with whipped cream. Let stand 24 hours. When ready to use, serve in slices.

More Women In High Government Jobs

Eisenhower's Republican victory heralded a new era for women in politics. More than half of his backers on November 4th were women—and now in his administration more women than ever before will fill important government posts, says Christine Sadler in McCall's. Writing in the April issue of the magazine, she gives brief profiles of some of the top women who will work with Ike in policy-level jobs for the next four years:

"American women rate 1952 as the second most important year in their political history, outranked only by 1920—the year they got the vote. In the 1952 Presidential election women cast 18 million of the 33 million Republican votes. President Eisenhower more than once during the campaign spoke of his 'earnest and deep' belief that more women should be in public office. True to his word, he has already named several women to high posts and there will be many more working for his administration during the next six months. Here are some of them.

"Mamie Doud Eisenhower, 56, First Lady and number-one housewife behind Ike, she is boss of the newly redecorated multi-million-dollar 54-room White House. Her husband will rely heavily on her humor and sense in the next four years.

"Oveta Culp Hobby, 48. Charming and respected Houston newspaper publisher, first head of the Women's Army Corps, has the toughest women job of all. The Federal Security Administration which she now heads is a large (36,000 employees) fourteen-year-old combination of health, welfare and education agencies, including your Social Security. President Eisenhower would like to give her department full Cabinet status.

"Katherine Graham Howard, 54, of Boston, the slender, good-looking convention secretary, who helped nominate Eisenhower. She is the woman he listened to most during his campaign, the one on his day-by-day planning staff. Her job was to coordinate the work of all women's groups. She is expected to be one of the President's main trouble shooters.

"Mary Pillsbury Lord, 48, of New York City, started the ball rolling for General Ike on a non-partisan basis long before he announced his candidacy or party. As co-chairman of Citizens for Eisenhower she visited every state, reached every women's group in the country. President Eisenhower gave her one of the most important appointments to go to a woman—U. S. representative to the Commission on Human Rights at the U. N., where she will replace Eleanor Roosevelt.

"Ivy Baker Priest, 47, of Bountiful, Utah, is the new U. S. Treasurer. During Eisenhower's campaign Mrs. Priest was head of the women's division of the Republican National Committee. A miner's daughter who lacked money with which to finish college, Mrs. Priest now spends her days with money, money, money. "Other names that will become familiar in the next few months are those of: Bertha Sheppard Adkins, 46, of Salisbury, Maryland, director of the Republican National Committee women's division; Congresswoman Frances Payne Bolton, 67, of Lyndhurst, Ohio, already familiar to American voters after thirteen years in Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have developed a "magic eye" machine that automatically grades eggs for color.

The first Russian state was centered around the city of Kiev and flourished in the ninth century of our era.

Congress; Senator Margaret Chase Smith, 55, of Skowhegan, Maine, also a beloved and familiar figure in Congress; Ruth Bialski Shipley, chief of the State Department's Passport Office since 1914; Arnyess Joy Wickens, 52, chief of the government's cost-of-living index and deputy commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; Dorothy Deemer Houghton, 63, of Red Oak, Iowa, recent president of the huge General Federation of Women's Clubs; Dorothy McCullough Lee, 52, of Oregon, crime-busting mayor of Portland for four years; Anne Williams Wheaton, director of women's news for the Republican National Committee for 12 years; and many others."

Bible Comment:

True Worship Must Be Spiritual From the Heart

WE need something more than just churchgoing and Sunday worship. We think of worship as the adoration of God. But true worship is more than that. It is a search for means to express God's will and an attempt to follow His guidance. To sum it up: It is a quest for help in daily living.

Jesus explained this when he said that God is a spirit and those who worship Him must do it in both "Spirit and Truth."

But this also must be explained. What do we mean when we say "Worship God in Spirit"? This means that worship is not a mere matter of formality nor compliance with certain rites. It is a sincere expression of the soul and the soul must participate.

Also, what is meant when we say "Worship in Truth"? This is best explained by saying that our worship must be related to facts. It must have a tie with real life. It cannot take us into some remote, imaginary world, but should bring God to us.

The Old Testament gives solemn warning of the fate awaiting any race or nation when God is forgotten. Words found in Deuteronomy warned the people of Israel. They were told not to forget the past when God guided them through the wilderness and not to forget their covenant with God. They were also warned not to forget their dependence on their God.

But alas, Israel did forget and the nation built on the glory of Solomon went down in ruin and exile.

These things are happening in our own time.

And these ancient words are as full of warning for us today as they were for the Israelites of centuries ago.

True, churchgoing in itself cannot save a nation. But this would be an indication of a search for something higher and better.

So you've got a new pup and you're going to train this one yourself, mold him into the very kind of dog you've always wanted. Wonderful! But let me caution you—developing a young dog into a satisfactory asset to the gun is a job that has its snags and snarls.

The best advice I can give you is from Henry P. Davis, topnotch dog expert: "Don't expect too much too soon." Dog training is pretty much a matter of give and take in which "easy does it" is a good motto to follow. If you crowd your puppy too hard you run the risk of causing him to lose interest entirely or of molding him into a mechanical sort of fellow dependent upon you for directions all the time and fearful of making a mistake.

At this age your puppy should be taught his name, to come when called, and to heel or walk quietly at your side.

The best time to start training, in David's opinion, is after he has passed his first birthday. In the case of many individuals, a year and a half or even two years would be better, for the training at that time is more likely to be of a permanent nature because of the dog's better-developed mental capacity to understand and retain it.

Salisbury Asks For More Room

Washington—England's old cathedral town of Salisbury, long overcrowded, seeks to swallow its parent.

The city council, notes the National Geographic Society, has asked to annex more than 1,000 acres of the surrounding Wiltshire countryside. And in the 1,000 acres lies Old Sarum, from which the populace followed their clergy more than 700 years ago to found nearby New Sarum, now called Salisbury.

G. I. Memories
American soldiers of two wars, training on the grassy Salisbury Plain to fight in France and Germany, well remember the picturesque city. Through 13th century gateways, they passed on their short days of leave into narrow streets flanked by small neat houses with red roofs. Warm and friendly townspeople welcomed them.

In beamed public rooms of ancient inns—the White Hart, the Rose and Crown and the Old George—they lolled on Jacobean furniture before crackling log fires while they learned the pleasant British custom of tea at 4 p. m.

They fed the friendly ducks and swans in the clean, weedy rivers, one of them the Avon, that come together at Salisbury. Returning to barracks in the misty dark, they met the cheerful little owls of rural England, hooting unafraid beside the winding lanes.

Hundreds of them, on sunny Sundays and moon-drenched nights, climbed the green slopes

About The Home

By FRANCES DELL

If you need to entertain a large number of dinner guests, why not have a Smorgasbord?

The Smorgasbord is an old Scandinavian custom that has grown so popular in America that we feel it belongs to us. This type of dinner party gives you the leisure to enjoy food and friends, when properly planned.

Perhaps the chief charm of the Smorgasbord is that you can choose what you want to eat from a number of enticing selections.

There are two favored arrangements for the Smorgasbord. Where space is limited it is a good idea to push the dining table against the wall. If there is plenty of room, the table may remain in the center of the room.

The table may be covered with a cloth or mats. China, silver and napkins are placed at the nearest end or end of the near side.

Types of food are grouped. Coffee may be made in the kitchen or brewed at the table. Sweets are usually placed at the far end of the table with the coffee or tea being served last.

The chafing dish is becoming popular again, and the Smorgasbord gives the hostess an ideal chance to put one to use for hot entries and hors d'oeuvres.

If there is room guests can be seated at card tables. Maids may circulate among the guests to remove plates and replenish beverages.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Recently the stock market fell out of bed at word of seeming progress toward peace in Korea. There were plenty of moralists lamenting the fact there could be a "peace scare." But it's nonsense to assume that fear of peace is what shocked the market. Remember, it reacted in much the same way to Hitler's invasion of Poland, to the false Armistice rumor in 1918, to the fall of France in 1940, and to the reelection of Truman in 1948.

The common denominator is surprise. Money is easily frightened. Actual effect on the economy of peace in the Far East, or throughout the world, would be advantageous. Industry, as well as civilization, advances by making machines to provide more persons with more things, not by making machines with which we kill one another.

But it is true that the individual, in a free market, buys what he needs for as little as he must spend, while governments with war in mind buy everything they can think of at panic prices. Just the difference in attitude, when and if the biggest purse passes from the Pentagon to the housewife, will bring a difficult period of adjustment, in which a number of persons trained for just one job, or hired because there was no one else available, will be unemployed. That's what is meant by the over-simplified phrase "peace scare."

MUD, SWAMP AND TREES—How would you like to build a mining plant in a cypress swamp? That's just what Freeport Sulphur is planning to do. It's difficult, but the company doesn't have any choice in the matter. Freeport's newest salt dome sulphur deposit—its fourth opened up in the last two years—lies under a Louisiana swamp at Chacahoula, 60 miles west of New Orleans.

Mining sulphur under adverse conditions is nothing new to Freeport. It has been doing it in Louisiana ever since 1933, when it opened up the first marshland mine at Grande Ecuaille. Last fall the company started mining the yellow mineral from a floating plant at Bay Ste. Elaine, and is currently building a 500,000-ton-a-year sulphur mining plant at Garden Island Bay near the mouth of the Mississippi.

Freeport has no illusions about its problems at Chacahoula. Says Langbourne M. Williams, president: "Construction of the plant will involve unusual and costly engineering and construction difficulties."

HERE'S HOW—The number of urban American families drinking beer has doubled during the past 15 years with nearly 18 million families now listed among beer consumers, an American Can Company market study reveals. The report is the fifth prepared by the can-making firm during the last 15 years on trends in beer consumption in terms of families, outlets, size of purchase and type of container.

The market study showed that purchase of beer in cans had zoomed 740 per cent in the last 15 years as contrasted with a rise of 165 per cent in the sale of all packaged beer. More than five billion cans of beer are sold annually in the nation. Packaged beer—of which canned beer represents 25 per cent—is about three-quarters of all beer purchased.

Food stores continue as the most popular outlets where beer is purchased for home use. The market study noted that food stores had consistently accounted for some 50 per cent of families making beer purchases. In recent years supermarkets and chain grocery stores have been gaining and now sell 23 per cent of total beer distributed. In the Far West these larger food retailers account for 36 per cent of the market.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Hardware makers, awakening at last to the do-it-yourself market, are beginning to put their wares in brighter packages. . . . Purchasing agents tell their national association business looks good until June, but the rise in output is slowing down.

PILE O' PEOPLE — Nine skilled acrobats climb up to form a human pyramid supported by one man at the Bertram Mills Circus in London. Known as the Wazzan Rif-Kabylen group, they performed for hundreds of London kids.

Apron for Brace Bits

THE home craftsman can take a cue from a professional carpenter whose apron (see illustration) for brace bits was described in American Builder, a highly-regarded trade magazine. It will be found handier for carrying brace bits on the job than a cumbersome tool box.

Made from a nail apron, the pocket should be sewed into a series of small pockets to receive the bits. The upper portion of the apron is used as a flap, as illustrated. When folded into a neat roll, it can be tied by the strings of the apron.

Home of Kings

Kings of Wessex followed to erect a moated castle, a cathedral and homes for their followers. Jammed closely together, clergy and soldiery squabbled continually. One day the soldiers locked out the priests, who promptly started building New Sarum. The people deserted the soldiers for the priests, and by the 16th century, Old Sarum was a deserted ruin.

The church of St. Mary, known the world over as the Salisbury Cathedral, subject of paintings by John Constable, was 38 years building. The time was the 13th century, when Henry III was king. Somewhat severe inside, but regarded as one of the finest examples of English Gothic architecture, the narrow, cruciform cathedral has the tallest spire in England.

Standing atop a tower not engineered to support such a great weight, the 404-foot landmark has been a worry for 600 years. Repairs have worked on it many times. In 1668, Sir Christopher Wren found it leaning almost two feet out of plumb. Even the reverberations of the church organ have caused fear for its stability.

Following World War II, craftsmen in stone spent two years rebuilding the topmost 25 feet in a major renovation financed in part by American gifts. Two German fighter-bombers in 1942 almost saved them the effort. Swooping low on one of the few occasions Salisbury heard guns fired in anger, they narrowly missed running into the spire in the low overcast. Several homes and the city's domestic gas holder were hit that day.

County Hearing Program
Reports Sent to Doctors

The Washington county nurse's office has been notified by the Bureau for Handicapped Children that the medical reports for the children who attended the otology clinic held last month at the court house in West Bend, have been sent to their family physicians.

This clinic, which was held on March 23 and 24, was the culminating step in a very successful county-wide hearing program for the school child.

This service was spearheaded by the Bureau for Handicapped Children as part of their state-wide program. We will have a similar project in about three years.

The program was conducted in three steps. FIRST—During the first three weeks of January, 150 volunteer women from the health clinic did a screening test for hearing on approximately 5,800 children. They went into each school throughout the county to give this service.

SECOND—Re-check centers were planned throughout the county and 418 children were given an opportunity to have a more detailed and diagnostic hearing test (a threshold acuity audiometric test) by a bearing expert from the Bureau for Handicapped Children. These re-check centers were held in February.

THIRD—The 96 children failing this second hearing test were invited to attend the otology clinic where an otologist (ear specialist), who had been selected by the County Medical society examined the children for possible causes of their hearing difficulties. The results of his medical examinations and his recommendations for each case have been sent to the child's family physician. Eighty children attended the clinic. The success of this program was not only the result of the excellent cooperation between the Bureau for Handicapped Children, the Washington county superintendent of schools and the public health nursing services in the county but also because of the fine assistance given by the volunteer workers, the parents, the children, and the individual teachers and schools.
