

Lakes Team Loses at Grafton, 5-2

After a layoff of three weeks because of postponed games, the Kewaskum Chevrolts finally got to play ball again Sunday.

John Tessar was the starting hurler for the Chevys. He pitched a five hitter but was very wild.

Both of Kewaskum's markers were scored in the 7th inning on a walk to C. Stautz, an error and one base hit by Bob Staehler and J. Stautz.

Dick Edwards, J. Stautz and Bob Staehler paced the Kewaskum hitting attack, each banging out two.

This Sunday Kewaskum will be idle again. The team has no contest scheduled for this date.

Only games are Belgium at Port Washington, Grafton at Newburg, and Germantown at Saukville.

The Kewaskum firemen were called to the Folz farm on Hwy. 55, about four miles north of the village at about 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The cab of the truck was burned and the motor damaged before the firemen got the flames out.

The truck was owned by the Calumet Painting Service of Dundee. Painting had been done that day on the Folz barn and late in the afternoon the truck was moved into the farm orchard away from the buildings.

For the week end. About two hours later the fire broke out. The cause is unknown.

Tavern Burglar Given Year's Term

Jerome J. Shimeck, 45-year-old Milwaukee tree trimmer who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglarizing Spanny Pete's tavern on Highway 55 near here May 26, Wednesday was sentenced to one year in the state prison at Waupun by Municipal Judge H. W. McEesay at Fond du Lac.

Shimeck, who had been living in West Bend during recent months, had been employed as a tree trimmer in this vicinity prior to the burglary. He reportedly gained entry to the tavern by breaking a window and going through living quarters. Pete had gone to Oshkosh and did not know of the burglary until he returned home.

The break-in brought Shimeck approximately $16 in cash, one quart of whisky, and two packages of cigars, with the total value amounting to about $20. Shimeck was arrested on suspicion of the burglary at West Bend and at first denied any part in the matter. He was held on an open charge.

When he later admitted the burglary Shimeck said he could give no reason for his action. Spanny Pete's tavern is located in the town of Auburn about 1 1/2 miles north of Kewaskum.

Swimmers Warned Of Sinus Dangers

Real sinusitis is not as common as some conversationists seem to think, according to a bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Medical association today; but it is common enough and uncomfortable enough to warrant special care to prevent it.

Now that the outdoor swimming season is about to open and more people are going to be up to and including their ears in water, the doctors issue a special warning against inviting sinus trouble by way of the swimming beach or pool.

Much acute and chronic sinusitis, including a very serious complication, osteomyelitis of the frontal bone, results from a bad cold aggravated by water forced into the nasal passages swimming in pools and fresh water. Sinusitis is an infection of one or more of eight different cavities of the head, all of which communicate directly with the nose.

Nobody should go swimming or diving with a cold in the head, the doctors say. Underwater sports of any kind are likely to aggravate and prolong the infection.

In fact, sinus trouble itself, is just an aggravation of a cold. That's the way it starts and, if it is neglected once it starts, it will progress to a chronic infection that may last for months or longer.

Fortunately for everybody, swimmers and mere conversationists alike, the new antibiotics, plus judicious drainage if needed makes it much easier than formerly to effect a permanent cure. The sad old saying, "once a sinus sufferer, always a sinus sufferer" is no longer true.

The trick, according to the doctors, is first to avoid colds if you can. If you can't, and most people can't, the thing to do is to stay home and take it easy for a day or two and so throw off the cold as fast as possible. Then, if the infection gets worse, instead of better, get medical attention as soon as possible.

Justices of the United States Supreme Court still use quill pens to sign important decisions.

4-5 Most Dangerous Hours On Highways

More pedestrians and motorists are involved in accidents during the hour of 4 to 5 p.m. than any other single hour of the day or night, according to a motor vehicle department study covering the past five years.

People are in a hurry to get home at that time of day, they are less alert because of fatigue, and traffic congestion makes any error in judgment more serious.

A study of 1952 accidents disclosed that 3,573 reportable mishaps took place during the 60-minute period last year. Next worst hour was 5 to 6 p.m., when there were 3,190 accidents. A reportable accident is one which results in death, injury, or property damage totaling $100 or more.

WEATHER STRIPPING FOR DOORS

The leakage of air around the edges of doors and windows is responsible for a large amount of heat loss during winter weather. It is hardly possible, nor is it even desirable to make a house air tight. But it is desirable to be able to control the supply of fresh air and ventilation enough to dispose of stale or vapor filled air.

If your storm windows are covered with vapor on the inside, there is probably a leakage of warm air around your permanent windows. The same is true with your storm door. Weather stripping is needed to prevent the warm moist air from coming in contact with the cold glass.

If the glass on the inside door or window is covered with condensation, cold air is entering around the edges of the storm door or window. In this case, weather stripping or caulking is needed on the storm door or window. It is not possible to caulk the door itself because it must be used.

The solution is to use weather stripping on the door, and caulking around the door frame. Storm windows are often caulked because they do not need to be opened.

There are several types of weather stripping sold in hardware or building supply stores. Any of them will serve the purpose if installed according to directions.

Bronze threshold for the bottom of outside doors must be used instead of regular weather stripping. It is also useful in keeping out rain during the summer when no storm door is needed.

So Goes The Mind

By Orin R. Yost, M. D.
Medical Director, Edgewood Sanitarium

(Editor's Note: Dr. Yost is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia at Richmond, studied psychiatry at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, D. MENTAL ILLNESS CALLED THREAT TO DEMOCRACY

For those who are interested in public education for better living, whether it be in terms of mental health or physical health, the important thing is to take full advantage of the opportunity and participate in the campaigns which will be launched throughout our country during Mental Health Week. With a little advanced planning by your community, the possibilities are endless. In spite of considerable progress, the mental health of our nation is not good enough.

Mental Health is called a threat to Democracy by our eminent Edward A. Strecker, Professor of Psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania. Too many of our people are in mental hospitals. Too many are doomed to spend some part of their adult lives in public mental institutions. Too many of our children do not receive even a minimum of satisfactory mental hygiene and are destined to become the victims of mental and nervous disorders in adult life. The psychoneurosis has become one of our national diseases.

A tremendous number of alcoholics and drug addicts need help in order to be rehabilitated so that they may return to the living of useful and contented lives. It is not too much to say that these and many other things add up to a threat to the survival of our democratic way of life and ideals.

To meet these vast needs we have a pitiful handful of well-trained psychiatrists, one where at least five are needed. We need more investigation. We have much valuable knowledge, but we need the opportunity to implement it. For all these things money—much money—is needed. If we had only a minute fraction of the billions being spent on A and H bombs, we could do so much to improve and insure the future mental health of this great nation. From the experience of my life-long work in the field of psychiatry, I ask you to give generously to all worthwhile mental health groups.

I feel that every dollar given to the National Association for Mental Health and to the state and local mental health associations will be used to improve the mental health and happiness of our citizens and to bring us closer to the realization of our humane democratic ideals. It will help bring the boon of emotional maturity to more of our citizens.

I have tried to carry the torch of emotional maturity for more people for many years. Personally, I believe that if we could achieve it, even in small part, our problems, national and international could be more readily solved and eventually there would be universal peace and good will among ourselves and all nations.

I would add something else, the aspiration toward the spiritual—a spiritual fortress as contrasted with sole reliance on the material. If you wish, a cooperating, constructive reaction dependency on God. In psychiatry, unbroken and total dependencies upon other human beings are deplored as the sources of much functional illness. And yet, man cannot walk alone. He can accept and practice a dependency upon God without psychological loss of face. The right kind of dependency, loving God, imitating His love and mercy in our dealings and relations with our fellow man, is a source of strength and not weakness.

What you give for the cause of mental hygiene, among other things will help to spread the gospel of sound, grown-up mental health and happiness for all of us.

1 Word Can Change Your Life—PEACE

Are you sure that what you want out of life more than anything else is security? Wealthy and healthy people I know are restlessly searching for something else besides wealth and health. How do you account for that? Certainly they ought to feel "safe and secure from all alarms."

Money in the bank, turkey on the table and a TV set in every room do not add up to heaven on earth. Every life has deeper needs than these. No matter how many things a person possesses, he never really enjoys the company of himself or others until God is a tenant in his heart.

Seek God—or rather—let God find you. He's more diligent in His search than we are. Then you'll have what you really want, not security, but that which passes all understanding—God's peace, the word that can change your life.

Spring Blossom Tarts For Your Tea Tray

Spring Blossom Tarts for the tea tray seem like chef's creations, but the tart shells are made with pastry mix and the filling consists of only two ingredients, semi-sweet chocolate morsels and evaporated milk. A bit of whipped cream and a morsel of semi-sweet chocolate complete the tarts in simplest style.

Semi-sweet chocolate has a lighter, more delicate flavor that is perfect for spring desserts, and this chocolate is convenient to use whether whole or melted. Semi-sweet chocolate is most familiar to America in the famous Chocolate Crunch Cookies in which the morsels of chocolate stay whole during baking. But the delicious flavor is good in recipes that require melted chocolate, and semi-sweet chocolate morsels are efficient to use when a recipe requires melted chocolate since they are in small pieces that simplify the melting process.

Spring Blossom Tarts

1/2 package pie crust mix 1/2 cup (1 small can) evaporated milk
1 package semi-sweet chocolate morsels 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Follow directions on package for preparing pie crust. Fit pastry on back of small muffin pans, or fit into small tart pans. Prick with tines of fork. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes, or until delicately brown. To prepare filling reserve 1 tablespoon semi-sweet chocolate morsels to use as garnish; put remaining morsels and evaporated milk in saucepan over low heat. Cook slowly, stirring until mixture is blended. Bring to a boil, and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened, about 3 to 5 minutes. Fill pastry shells; garnish with whipped cream and a chocolate morsel.

YIELD: Filling for 16 small tarts.

Tennis Court Cookery

PREPARING THE FAMILY DINNER needn't interfere with the modern homemaker's holiday when her kitchen is equipped with one of today's "automatic cook" electric ranges. Whether her holiday preference is tennis or a picnic or an afternoon at the beach, her range will do the work while she relaxes. The homemaker preplans a menu of foods that can be cooked at the same temperature for the same length of time, and places them in the oven. Then, as in the new Kelvinator shown above, she turns the oven switch to the proper temperature, and dials in the proper cooking period and the time she wants the meal ready on the automatic clock control. While she's away, the range starts by itself, cooks and shuts off, right in time for dinner.

By Betty Ann

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

For the woman who needs a variety of hats, some of elegance and some of wit, the millinery supply houses are sources of great delight, says Betty Ann. She may start with a hat shape of recognizable fashion appeal and end with a creation of her own skillful devising. She will note that many large and lovely hats of the season are adorned with a single long stemmed rose, either bobbing from the brim front or nodding at one side.

If she is a little woman she might add to a smaller hat, smaller roses or hatpins. These are available in red, pale yellow or white. And in between these sizes are flowers in dozens of colors and varieties, including some with shiny finishes and plastic droplets which look like mother of pearl.

For the woman with a taste for the tailored and relatively unadorned, there are hat shapes which need little or nothing to make them immediately wearable. These include fringed straws, with the fringe the only needed adornment, embroidered toques, milan sailors needing only the addition of velvet bands to make them suit worthy, embroidered straw fiber cocktail hats to wear with or without a veil.

Veils themselves are full of sparkle, sometimes the only adornment a hat may need. One is daintily embroidered with the tiniest of pearls and another wears small brilliants. The woman who likes rough straw may add a veil sprinkled with tiny straw bows.

Imported hat shapes are now unusually interesting. One from Italy combines straw and chenille in the same colors, pink, pale green, natural and red, blending two rich textures. Another from Switzerland uses wide straw, plaited as in a basket, to make a small, close fitting cloche in pink, pale turquoise, navy or black. The same country sends a charming white straw fiber beret, looking very young and fresh for summer suits and cottages.

Italy contributes lacy looking rough straws, some with floppy or rippling brims. In a warm looking natural straw they suggest the addition of an aqua velvet band sprinkled with tiny red beads.

Beads and other trimmings are most inspiring and the woman who likes to try this and that will find much to prompt creative experimentation. And, in many cases, the wearable hat shapes of the moment need very little added to make them exciting.

You start to move a chair and one of your men guests jumps to this feet to do it for you smile gratefully and turn the job over to him, instead of insisting that you don't need any help. It is always more gracious to accept help when it is offered than to turn it down.

When you say you don't need another person's help you imply you can get along very well without him.

Aluminum is darkened by strong alkalies such as lye, washing soda and potash. It is best to use only mild soap and water on this metal.

Development of printed sheers is helping homemakers solve the "living in a goldfish bowl" problem created by the picture window.

Picture windows were designed to give a feeling of lightness and airiness to a room. A heavy pattern or heavily lined drapery means weight.

The new sheers are light in design, light in color, and light in feeling. They make a decorative and useful window covering in straight hanging traverse treatment from floor to ceiling.

Furthermore, to give flexibility in room decoration, some of the sheers this season are matched by heavier cloth printed with the same designs. The heavy cloth also may be included in the window treatment as stationary over draperies and valance, or as a slip-cover for an important piece in the room.

Start vacuuming in the corner farthest from the door, and move backward toward the door when vacuuming the living room rug if you want to eliminate footprints and other marks.

It's a sensible precaution to remove an electric iron plug from the wall before answering telephone or doorbell. You never know how long you'll be away.

Check Medicine Cabinet Carefully

As you plan your spring house-cleaning don't forget to include the medicine cabinet in your labors. This little area may be one of the most useful, or the most dangerous, sections of your home. Drugs often found there seem like magic while they're curing you, but may be dangerous afterwards. There is danger in keeping drugs that have outlived their usefulness and then taking them indiscriminately. This is especially true for many of the new antibiotics.

Some drugs lose their strength and effectiveness in a comparatively short time; others become dangerously potent when stored for a long period. For example, old cough syrup soon becomes too concentrated to have the desired soothing effect. The best rule is to use the medicine for the specific purpose and time the doctor recommends and then dispose of the remainder.

It is even more dangerous to hoard old medicine containers with labels that are unreadable or simply not there. We may think we can remember what is in each box or bottle and its specific use, but can we?

After the old medicines have been thrown out, what should be left? First aid supplies are indispensable. A good check list of basic first aid and emergency items needed in every home is issued by the Red Cross. It includes petroleum jelly, first-aid dressings, rubbing alcohol, aromatic spirits of ammonia, baking soda, mineral oil, an antiseptic, scissors, tweezers, a clinical thermometer, a medicine glass, a medicine dropper, a hot water bottle, and an ice bag. Your doctor may suggest others.

All boxes and bottles should be plainly labeled, with special note being made on those containing poison. It is wise to maintain a separate shelf or section of the cabinet for these latter items, well out of reach of little children's hands. In that way your medicine cabinet can be a real first aid station for your family—not a hazard.

Spring Brings New, Attractive Stockings

BY EDNA MILES

THE fashion influence of this Coronation Year has made itself felt, particularly in pretty accessories. In hosiery, it has produced a spring shade in gossamer sheer stockings called "pageantry."

Other shades bow to the Coronation, too. These range from a glowing sun tone that blends with toast, and caramel colors through crown taupe for gray, violet and the muted blues. Crest beige is for light browns and greens, jewel blond for medium blues, variations of green and flame reds and majesty tan plus a rose-tinted hue for pastel colors and white.

In the interests of a slender ankle, there are many tapered heel treatments this spring. One treatment is the outline heel with dark seam. Another is a slender black heel and foot with a shadow outline. There's also a heel within a heel.

A new stocking has been developed especially for the life of the housewife. It's meant to reduce the high cost of hosiery.

With patented built-in garter block at the top of the seam that allows gartering-in directly on the seam, this stocking will now shift even with bending and stretching. Better still, it has run-resistant properties that reduce runs and snags to a minimum.

Recycling is a hazard to hosiery as a rule. But this girl wears laboratory-tested stockings that are run and snag-resistant. They come in proportionate lengths for various sizes.

For the Coronation Year there are these new stockings in a shade called "pageantry." Gossamer sheerness is combined with a new color tone for a fashionable spring look.

Bible Comment:

Paul's Background And Early Life Tell Us Much

THE life of the Apostle Paul is a very good example of the effect that early training has on the life of the child when he later becomes a man.

It is true that Paul's attitudes and convictions during the mature years of life which followed his conversion were very different from those of his youth. This is an example which we find in our modern society. Many men who entertained radical ideas in their early years have been "converted" in their mature years to sensible constructive men who are of much value to the society which they once tried to injure.

Paul's conversion was followed by the formation of ideas so different from those of his youth that he was persecuted by the same people whom he once joined in the persecution of Christians.

The one thing that characterized his life, both before and after his conversion, was a good conscience. During the time when Paul was persecuting the Christians, Paul thought he was doing God a service just as he did in the days of his enlightenment when service had become inspired with love and devotion to Christ.

Paul evidently owed a great heritage to the parents whose God he worshiped. He also owed much to his teacher, Gamaliel, at whose feet he sat in the city of Jerusalem. Gamaliel appears in the scriptures to be a tolerant, justice-loving Jewish leader.

Paul's early contacts as a boy in the seaport town of Tarsus probably did much to prepare him for the cosmopolitan character which he became when, as a Christian citizen of the world, he aspired to preach the Gospel in every part of the known world.

Also, Paul had the training of the synagogue. He, like the boy Jesus, heard these impressive words every Sabbath: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

Much Hope Held For Cardiac Children

Many of the people who have to learn to live with heart disease are not adults, but children.

For these children with damaged hearts, the outlook is no longer a life of invalidism and separation from good times with their friends, according to the Minnesota State Medical association.

Actually, hope for a normal, active future should be held out to every child with rheumatic fever as an important part of his treatment, and it can be brought about in the great majority of cases, if a sensible program is set up for him as soon as acute symptoms of the disease subside.

Rheumatic fever is the great enemy of children's hearts and one of the major causes of adult disability and death if not properly treated, the doctors say. Use of the new antibiotics for prevention and control of the original infection is opening up a bright new chapter for future prevention and control of children's heart tragedies.

In the meantime, the doctors and their aids in the hospitals and schools have found out that a careful program of activity under supervision, even while the child is convalescing, will improve both his mind and the capacity of his heart.

The first step is a thorough examination to find out how much activity is safe. Then modified school work and play can be started, often, at home or in the hospital. Special classes for cardiac children are a great help later, so that the child can learn, with others, what he can and can't do to avoid overworking a damaged heart. After a period of such teaching, most children can be permitted to associate normally with others and even, sometimes, to engage in school athletics. The doctor must supervise, of course, but family, friends and school can help.

James Madison was the smallest President of the United States. He was five feet, four inches tall and weighed less than 100 pounds.

About The Home

BY FRANCES DELL

In the life of every roof there comes a time when it is much wiser to replace than to patch again.

There is a wide variety of choice in roofing materials. Choose from asphalt, wood, asbestos, metal, slate and clay tile.

Many of the new varieties come in geometric and random shapes, and almost any color you could desire.

When buying a roof, the initial cost is not the only factor to be considered. An important point is the shape and slope of your roof. Steeply pitched roofs are best shingled. Sheet or roll-type roofing is best on flat or shed-type roofs.

A clay tile roof or slate roof needs a stronger structure supporting it than does an asphalt, asbestos or wood shingle roof.

Metals—galvanized iron, copper, zinc, or aluminum—are best used on roofs with a slight pitch. Asphalt roll roofing is practical for flat roofs.

Durability and maintenance costs are items to deal with. Almost any roofing is damaged by strong winds. Wood shingles are subject to rot in damp, humid weather. Slate, tile and asbestos shingles may break if walked upon.

Asphalt may be torn in a high wind. Sheet steel and tin are subject to corrosive gases and must be kept painted.

Some "Misbehavior" A Part of Growing Up

Why can't my child behave? Misbehavior is just part of growing up, according to Viola Hunt, specialist in child development at the University of Wisconsin.

As an adult, she says, we feel that a child misbehaves when he doesn't act the way we think he should. We may feel that normal children don't lie, talk back to their parents, fuss about going to bed, or scatter their toys around.

You'd really have something to worry about if your child never misbehaved in any of these ways. He would be the abnormal child and might not be growing up in a natural way.

Many parents are too concerned about what Aunt Mary, grocer Sam or teacher Miss Jones think about their child's behavior. This concern may be so strong that it affects the way you discipline your child.

You may find that scattering toys around today, when you have the house all cleaned for company, could be misbehavior, especially if you're tired and haven't much time to clean it up.

The same toy problem yesterday may have gone unnoticed, because it kept Tommy quiet and occupied with his basket of cookies. So "misbehavior" in a child often depends on the mood and activities of the adult.

So, Miss Hunt concludes, parents needn't worry if their children don't act like little ladies and gentlemen all the time.

GOOD HEALTH

1. WHAT IS GROUP HEALTH INSURANCE?
Group health insurance is an economical method for individuals to protect themselves against the cost of serious illness. It is written for a group of persons—such as employees, trade unions, trade, professional and farm organizations, etc. Group insurance may include protection against the costs of hospitalization, surgery and general medical care. The company or group must have at least a certain number of employees with a minimum percentage of them applying for the protection.

Answer to Question No. 2:
Because of the ever-growing demand by Americans for health care, there is an increasing opportunity today for young people to become trained health personnel. In fact, an actual shortage of such personnel now exists. It is estimated that in the next five years there will be over 400,000 job openings for nurses, practical nurses, X-ray technicians, physical therapists, occupational therapists, medical social service workers, medical record librarians, dietitians and laboratory technicians. Your local hospital will furnish detailed information to anyone interested in a career in health.

Answer to Question No. 3:
With medical care, proper diet and insulin, diabetic children can grow and lead normal useful lives, marry and have children who are not necessarily diabetic.

By Ted Kesting

One of the most unique strains of dogs in America—one that is little known to the public but is of considerable importance to the rural economy where it is found, is the Catahoula hog dog.

Bearing the name of the Louisiana parish in which it was developed, this dog has a peculiar ability—inherited through years of training and generations of careful breeding—to handle stock, and particularly the marked and unmarked hogs that range wild through the swamps and woods of Louisiana.

Owners of these dogs let their hogs range at will, gathering them in an annual roundup for selection for market and ear-clipping or marking of the young. It would be extremely difficult for the owners to round up these hogs on horseback or on foot since they frequent the densest part of the swamp and many are extremely wild. But the Catahoula hog dog performs this job with ease.

Generally he is a leader or teaser, rather than a driver. He is also expert at handling other types of farm stock, and is sometimes used in hunting ground game, according to Henry P. Davis, well known writer of articles on dogs.

The strain is a blocky dog, built on the lines of the pit bulldog, with heavy shoulders and strong quarters. Most have the peculiar characteristic of "glass" or whitish eyes. Their colors vary, ranging from white and brindle to a grayish body color mottled with brindle, brown or black spots.

This dog's origin is unknown and the strain is dwindling in numbers because of the steady decrease in open range acreage. It may be but a comparatively few years until the Catahoula hog dog is just a memory.

J. E. Wyatt of Chatham, Louisiana, has long been an enthusiast of this dog. He says, "My own experience with this stock of dogs extends from my boyhood and I am now 60 years old. These dogs make any kind of hunting dog anyone would want except a bird dog. I have owned some of these dogs that were so intelligent they seemed almost human."

An interesting side note is that some claim Johnathan Plott once used one of these dogs as an out-cross on the strain that is now famous as the Plott hound.

RINGED—Peering into the bore of a three-ton bronze nut, toolmaker Paul Miller checks threading for size. Made at the Ford Co., of Dearborn, Mich., the opening in the nut is 15 inches in diameter. It caps a screw 13 feet long and was cut from a disc 28 inches thick.

excellent for this purpose. Its width should be one-half inch narrower than that of the closet shelf, and its smooth side should face down to facilitate the sliding.

As a combination pull and railing, fasten a piece of 1 by 2-inch lumber at the front, by inserting countersunk screws through drilled holes in the Tempered Preswood. Add 1 by 2-inch reinforcing at each side of the shelf, one-half inch from each edge. So that the shelf won't tip when moved forward, fasten to the wall at each side a narrow strip of lumber, or a quarter-round, 3/4 of an inch above the shelf.

The sliding shelf makes this out-of-the-way storage area readily useful.

Britain Hustles Coronation Preparations

Hats in the air will be seen above London lampposts. Seen here is a white Household Cavalry helmet with a trailing crimson and white plume.

The Rose of England will bloom along the coronation parade route. This huge display flower is being hung high enough for all to see on Regent St.

Avoid Sudden Change To Prevent Slumps

Keep your poultry flock on a steady work schedule if you want to avoid a spring slump in egg production.

Make the shift from winter to summer hours a gradual one, says J. G. Halpin, poultryman at the University of Wisconsin.

One common cause for spring production drop in the State's poultry flocks is a too-rapid change-over from artificial lighting to natural daylight, says Halpin.

A flock owner may have been turning the lights on at four a.m. all winter, and then stops using lights altogether when the days get longer. The hens who had been used to getting up at four, have to wait for daylight. Such a change can put a whole flock off production.

Halpin says, do not stop using artificial lighting abruptly. Set the time clock ahead ten minutes each day until the "getting" up time for hens is gradually shifted to daylight.

Halpin says other factors will cause production slumps.

A bad scare will throw a hen into a molt. Keep the flock gentle and free from fright.

Avoid sudden changes in ration and feeding methods. Any quick change in the chicken's daily life can upset egg production or even start a molt.

Your Courtesy Is Contagious

Your courtesy on the highway is contagious to others, declares the Wisconsin motor vehicle department. If all drivers and walkers will display good manners, the toll of lives will be cut drastically.

For evenly-baked cookies, buy cookie sheets two inches narrower and shorter than your oven so heat can circulate around the edges.

"GOD SAVE THE QUEEN"—Seen above, in this scene from the film "Coronation Ceremony" is a preview of the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II. The Archbishop of Canterbury has just returned from the altar of London's Westminster Abbey, and is holding the Crown of St. Edward above the Queen's head. As he places it on her head the assemblage will shout "God Save the Queen."

Farm Accident Toll Remains Too High

Fatal farm accidents in Wisconsin have decreased gradually for the past ten years, but the toll remains tragically high. Over one hundred residents of the state lose their lives each year due to accidents on our farms.

By far the largest number of these deaths are due to accidents involving machinery. And tractors, though they are the most useful machines on our farms are also the most dangerous.

Some years as many as 75 per cent of the accidents with farm machinery involve tractors. Manufacturers are doing everything they can to make tractors mechanically safe, but they can't do anything about unsafe operators.

With spring field work in full swing, it might be a good thing to sit down and think of the various practices to be avoided when using a tractor. A few simple precautions may help to prevent unnecessary farm casualties.

Extra riders should never be allowed on a tractor. It is made for one person and one person only. Don't endanger your child's life by letting him ride along. When starting the machine be sure the gear shift is in neutral; engage the clutch gently when going up hill or pulling heavy loads; and avoid loose and sloppy clothing which might catch in the machine. Great care should be taken when the tractor is operated on the highway, as this is more hazardous than is field operation.

Good judgment is the main requirement in preventing tractor accidents. All farmers should take time to check their equipment and plan ahead for a safe day's work. Health and well-being are more important than the minute or two saved by hasty, careless acts. If the farmer handles his tractor correctly it will save him a lot of work, time, and money; but if he is careless it may cost him his life.

"Junior is just allowed to practice during the commercials."

The sentry box in front of Buckingham Palace gets a new coat of paint for the occasion. The stern guardsman did not turn to watch.

"Standing room only." That is the way many will view the coronation. London lasses seen above sort applications, some from as far away as Australia.

Large Eggs Best Buy: Use Both Grade A, B

Large eggs are your best buy right now, according to Esther Call, University of Wisconsin specialist on food buying.

Even though you choose Grade A eggs for table use and Grade B for cooking, you'll get more for your money if you buy the larger eggs, Mrs. Call suggests.

It's important to keep eggs in the refrigerator until you're ready to use them. If you're going to separate the white from the yolk, it's easier to do it while the eggs are cold. But to whip them to the greatest volume let the white stand until it's room temperature.

Whether you fry eggs, cook them in water, or bake them in the oven, it's important to use low heat. High heat will tend to toughen the protein of the egg.

An easy way to bake eggs is to break an egg into a greased custard cup, add a tablespoon of fat, season, and bake at 325 degrees for about 25 minutes. Dry bread crumbs and grated cheese make a good topping for the baked eggs.

Dress up your omelets with mushroom, tomato or cheese sauce. Or top with creamed vegetables or meat.

Now's a good time to make the angel food and sponge cakes that require more eggs. Custards, floating island and other puddings using eggs will help to add protein to the diet.

Melt two squares of unsweetened chocolate with one-half teaspoon butter, then dribble around the top edge of a white frosted cake; let the chocolate run down the sides of the cake in uneven lines.

Roughage and grass silage have to be good in the field and stored right to help replace protein supplements.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—Ever since World War II ended, annual battles over wage rates have been based on the contention that wages weren't keeping up with prices.

This year wages have stayed up and prices have receded. Even so, this does not mean that wage demands have been silenced.

United Steelworkers demand a substantial raise, amount not specified. Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel says there's nothing doing. United Auto Workers insist that their long contract with General Motors be altered to provide that the cost-of-living escalator which carried wages up shall be disconnected before it takes them down again.

Steel negotiations will probably decide the outcome once more. This is because steel is vital to all industry. When steel costs—and steel prices—rise, other price rises become inevitable. The steel users simply tack on a little more and with it pacify their working forces.

No other industry is in a similar key position. If the Fairless stand is unyielding—and not a prelude, as some expect, to a 5-cent boost in hourly pay—we have probably seen the last general pay raise for a while. But not, possibly, the last big steel strike.

FIGHTING PLASTICS—A trend toward greater use of plastics in America's combat airplanes is reflected in Republic Aviation Corp's new F-84F Thunderstreak, now being produced in volume at the company's main plant in Farmingdale, N. Y.

More than 1500 plastic parts—valued at close to $7000—go into the sweptwing fighter-bomber, in contrast to a figure of approximately $3500 for models in Republic's Thunderjet series.

In addition to being lighter and stronger, plastic parts cost about a third as much as do metal ones to do the same job. Resultant savings, say Republic officials, will amount to millions yearly.

THINGS TO COME—A Maryland company has devised a water cut-off to fit between the business end of the hose and the water sprinkler, so you needn't walk back to the faucet to shut it off.

Nylon bearings replace steel balls in a new line of hinges. No rust, no squeak, no oiling. Plastic of the polystyrene family makes a new guitar. First one cost $350,000, yielded know-how sufficient to make later ones for $30. Awkward servers of drinks will welcome a tray with eight cork-lined wells for the glasses. Now there's a handbag with a light like a refrigerator. Goes on when you open the bag so you can see what's inside.

VITAL TO OUTPUT—A half-century of development has seen installment buying become the essential mass financing "underpinning" of American mass production. Economist and business leaders watch installment loan totals as a barometer of financial well-being.

Credit is healthy today. Arthur O. Dietz, president of C. I. T. Financial Corporation, told stockholders at the recent annual meeting. Despite the postwar boom, all consumer credit outstanding in January, 1953, was a smaller percentage of consumers' disposable income than the percentage in January, 1941. Mr. Dietz said.

"The majority of economists as well as many government officials agree that the volume of installment credit is not excessive." On consumer credit in general he observed:

"If markets were restricted to customer who could pay cash for goods the economics of mass production would largely disappear.

MUSICAL CHAIRS—A New York management firm found American companies, since the war, adding executives 46 per cent faster and losing them 29 per cent faster than they did in 1938-42, in a check of 100 companies in 14 industries.

Reasons for leaving: First, to take bigger job. Second, to have bigger future. Third to make more money. Fourth, fighting with old boss. One-sixth of the job leavers were simply laid off.

The difference between those added and those departing is accounted for by industrial expansion and retirements and deaths. There still seems a lot of room for an agile job-seeker to find a seat in the shuffle.

BITS O'BUSINESS—Auto production fell 5 per cent from the week of April 20 to that of April 27, but was still 52 per cent above the year-ago week. First-quarter profits of 27 major industries were 10 per cent ahead of last year's. Lenders said they would find more mortgage money now VA home loans yield 4 1/2 per cent. The National Bureau of Economic Research reports the rich have been getting poorer and the poor richer every year since 1939, thus spoiling a fine old gag. Who gets the children, now?

4,279 TONS
 OF HARD CASH!

Had all the employees of the Chicago and North Western Railway System been paid in silver dollars last year, our payroll would have reached a staggering 4,279 tons! Actually, we paid a total of $142,625,833 for 1952 wages and pensions (In Wisconsin alone our payroll totaled $34,706,833).

The weight of this huge annual payroll is felt in every community we serve. To many of your friends and neighbors the railroad is their livelihood—and the money they earn is spent at home... the taxes they pay improves your town. Yes, working for North Western is working for local industry. Everyone benefits, including us, from the freight and passenger business your town produces.

35,000 men and women in cities and towns along our line share this annual payroll. It is to their credit that today North Western is transporting products and people safer and more efficiently than ever before.

CHEVROLET

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction.

And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.
