

Republican Hotel, Dreher's Tavern Here Change Hands

The Republican Hotel and tavern and Dreher's tavern in Kewaskum changed hands on Wednesday of this week, July 1.

The Republican Hotel, on the corner of Fond du Lac Ave. and Main St., which was operated by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Liniowski, was taken over by Mary O. Jilbert of 5400A West Roosevelt Drive, Milwaukee. Another lady from Milwaukee is assisting in the operation of the business. Before coming to Kewaskum the new proprietor had a position as hostess at various restaurants in Milwaukee. The Liniowskis had conducted the business since September 15, 1952, when they also came here from Milwaukee. Besides the hotel and tavern the establishment has a dining room and serves dinners and lunches.

Dreher's tavern on Main St., which was operated by Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Dreher for the past year, was taken over on Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Serwe, who had been in the tavern business at St. Michaels for the last year. The tavern is owned and was formerly operated for many years by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eberle. Mr. and Mrs. Dreher and daughter moved to West Bend where they purchased a home on Decatur Lanes.

In another tavern change of local interest on July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Friese, who operated the Barton Opera House the past three and one-half years, took over the operation of the Don Stephan tavern at Silver Creek, located on the west side of town. Mr. and Mrs. Friese formerly conducted a tavern business at New Prospect and he also served as director of the Kewaskum Legion drum and bugle corps. Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Waala, owners of the Barton Opera House building, have again taken possession of that tavern and hall.

Local Contestant Enters Junior Dairyman Project

Sixteen contestants have enrolled this year in the Hartford, Wis. Junior Dairyman project sponsored by the Kraft Foods company. It was announced this week by E.J. Pfeiffer, plant manager.

The project in which the youths will compete had its beginning back in 1945. That year junior dairymen in two states began the projects which aim toward establishing farm youth in dairying. The project teaches them practical know-how and makes them regular Kraft milk plant patrons. Each project will operate as a complete dairy unit based on ownership of one or more cows.

More than 785 boys and girls in 14 states and two Canadian provinces have enrolled in the 1953 Junior Dairyman projects scheduled to close next fall with awards of cash prizes, trips to state universities, scholarships, and other honors.

The Hartford junior dairymen, their ages, addresses, number of cows owned, breed, and year of competition follow:

- Merlin Ott, 13, Box 44, R. 2, Fond du Lac, 1 Holstein, first year; William Hazeman, 13, R. 2, Fond du Lac, 1 Holstein, first year; Ronald Schoemacher, 17, R. 1, Hartford, 2 Holsteins, first year; Ronald Kiefer, 12, R. 1, Lomira, 1 Holstein, first year; Michael Weninger, 17, R. 1, Brownsville, 1 Brown Swiss, first year; Paul Czarniecki, 16, R. 1, Plymouth, 2 Holsteins, third year; Carl Meyers, 14, R. 1, Kewaskum, 2 Holsteins, fourth year; Gerald Kleinke, 14, R. 2, Campbellsport, 2 Holsteins, third year; Patrick Anderson, 12, R. 1, St. Cloud, 2 Holsteins, second year; James Steingraeber, 13, Random Lake, 1 Holstein, third year; Edgar Braunschweig, 13, R. 1, Rubicon, 2 Holsteins, second year; Patricia Soehner, 11, R. 1, Adell, 1 Holstein, first year; Roland Heuer, 16, R. 1, Woodland, 2 Holsteins, fourth year; Erwin Kopp, Jr., 16, R. 1, Rubicon, 4 Holsteins, second year; William Braunschweig, 14, R. 1, Rubicon, 2 Holsteins, fifth year.

Four Hurt When Car Hits Steel Bridge Near Here

In a traffic accident early Saturday afternoon on Highway 56 near the north Washington county line, at 1 1/2 miles north of Kewaskum, a car driven by John L. Fasanello, 35, Green Bay, went out of control and hit the end wall of the steel bridge. The rear end of the Fasanello car swung into the right of way of another car driven by Mitchell Thompson, 53, Gary, Ind.

Injured in the mishap were Olga Fasanello, 35, bruises and facial cuts; John, Jr., 5, bruises; Jane, 3, bruises; and Bobby, 1 1/2, bruises. The injured were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend. Mrs. Fasanello in the Kewaskum firemen's ambulance.

A milk truck driven by Norbert Meik, 18, Campbellsport, and a car driven by Gregory P. Harter, 58, R. 2, Campbellsport, collided at a town road intersection several miles north of Kewaskum Saturday afternoon, the milk truck tipping when its load of whey shifted.

Hospital Isolette Fund Totals $225 First Week

Contributions to the Jaycee Isolette fund drive which got underway last week totaled approximately $225 as of Saturday morning, it was announced by Owen Laffler, president of the West Bend Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Laffler said that about 110 contributions were received during the first two days of the drive and that the sale of hundreds of beautiful Sweet William flowers, donated by Reginald Juech, R. 2, West Bend, netted $55 for the campaign.

The fund drive is being conducted for purchase of an Isolette for the maternity ward of the West Bend hospital, a special type incubator for premature babies. The Isolette controls heat and maintains higher humidity than the ordinary incubator and has port holes so that nurses can change and feed the baby without removing it from the Isolette.

The cost of the Isolette is about $500. For several months the Jaycees have been planning this worthwhile project which will benefit the entire area served by the hospital.

The Isolette now being used at the hospital, loaned out by the state, had to be returned by Wednesday, July 1, it was learned. So the one to be purchased through the Jaycee fund drive, which was on display in MacShall's store window, West Bend, was moved to the hospital Wednesday and put into use.

As the Jaycees are still short of their goal by a large sum, your contributions would be greatly appreciated. Anyone who has not donated may wish to send a dollar to: Isolette Fund Headquarters, Box 155, West Bend.

HEISLER TWIN DAUGHTERS ARE BAPTIZED SUNDAY

The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heisler, Fond du Lac, were baptized Sunday afternoon, June 28, in St. Mary's church in that city. They received the names Debra Jane and Donna Jean. Sponsors for Debra were Francis Delfoid of Milwaukee and Carole Harbeck of Kewaskum. Sponsors for Donna were Mr. and Mrs. Russ Heisler of Columbus, Ohio. Guests entertained included Mrs. L. C. Kraft and Donald Kraft, Fond du Lac; Mrs. John Delfoid, St. Francis and Roy Hafenstein, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heisler, Sr., Misses Sandra Ramthan and Carole Harbeck, Kewaskum.

HOMES URGENTLY NEEDED FOR LOCAL TEACHERS

Homes in this area are urgently needed to house teachers and their families who will teach in the Kewaskum Public schools the next term. Anyone who will have living quarters available or knows of any homes that will be vacant is asked to please contact Paul Landmann, clerk of the school board, or call the school office, Number 83.

Newburg	1	6

Scores last week—Belgium 6, Kewaskum 1; Grafton 11, West Bend 1; Cedarburg 7, Newburg 3; Mequon 9, Newburg 3; Port 18, Germantown 1.

Games Saturday, July 4—Kewaskum at Mequon, Port at Belgium, Saukville at Grafton. Games Sunday, July 5—Saukville at Kewaskum, Newburg at Port, Germantown at Mequon, Cedarburg at Grafton.

Belgium, which team is tied with Grafton for first place in the northern Lakes, didn't experience too much trouble in getting by Kewaskum here on Sunday, winning by a 6-1 score. Although beaten, the Chevs still occupy the fourth spot in the standings.

Sunday's outcome was the result again of too many bases on balls off of John Tassar, Chev pitcher, and too few hits off of McKenna, Belgium twirler. Tassar allowed only five hits and struck out 10 batters which were responsible largely for Belgium's six runs. Kewaskum garnered only two safeties off the slow slants of McKenna, who breezed a line in easy fashion. The veteran hurler walked seven and fanned only two Chevrolets. He was effective when the losers had opportunities to push runs across.

Tassar shut out Belgium during the first three frames but they got to him for two in the 4th, one in the 5th, and three more in the 6th. Kewaskum's lonely marker came home in the 9th inning after McKenna had shut them out for eight straight frames.

J. Stautz and Wierman were the only Chevs to get hits. Croatt led the Belgium hitters with two bingles, one a two-tagger.

This week end Kewaskum has two games. On the Fourth they will make up a game at Mequon, which was rained out on May 24, and on Sunday they play a regularly scheduled tilt against Saukville here.

LEADERS FOR JAMBOREE IN WEST NAMED BY BOY SCOUTS

Badger Council Boy Scouts holding a pre-jamboree encampment at Camp Shaginappi over the week end chose their leaders from within the group. The boys who will lead the contingent and have been approved by scouting officials are Wm. Seefeldt, Jr., Beaver Dam, senior patrol leader; Eugene Richardson, Ripon, quartermaster, and Steven Butler, Beaver Dam, scribe.

The four patrols of the group also chose leaders who include Brian Gilmore, Randolph, leader; Robert Sparks, Kewaskum, assistant, and John Schulz, Fond du Lac, scribe, Patrol 4.

Firemen-Legion Annual Picnic Here July 11-12

AFFAIR TO FEATURE SQUARE DANCING, BIG PARADE, CEDARBURG BAND MUSIC, HUBER'S VAGABONDS, WATER FIGHTS

The big annual picnic sponsored by the Kewaskum firemen and American Legion Post No. 384, will be held in the village park, Kewaskum, on Saturday evening and all day Sunday, July 11 and 12.

The week end event will start off Saturday evening with a special square dance exhibition at 7:30 p. m., featuring Roy Christianson.

HUBER'S VAGABONDS

Wisconsin's singing caller. A large group of square dancers will take part in this exhibition. All of the rides, concessions and amusement stands will be in operation for the Saturday night picnic.

Sunday's festivities will get underway with the customary parade at 12:30 p. m. sharp. The firemen and Legionnaires have lined up a fine parade for this year's picnic and it will be one of the best held in years. The line of march will proceed from the Legion clubhouse grounds down Fond du Lac Ave. and Main street to the park.

Musical units which will highlight the parade will include the Mercy High school girls' drum and bugle corps of Milwaukee, the Cedarburg Civic band and our own Kewaskum High school band. Prizes will be awarded for children's bike and trike floats and for regular children's floats. Cash prizes will also be given to the best commercial floats and all businessmen and organizations of Kewaskum and community are urged to enter floats. Besides the musical organizations and floats, the parade will feature many other units.

The Cedarburg band will provide music throughout the afternoon and evening Sunday in the park. Entertainment acts will be staged by Huber's Vagabonds at performances both afternoon and evening. The Vagabonds are noted for providing excellent entertainment and will also be featured at this year's Washington county fair. They are also making numerous other appearances all around this section.

Another attraction Sunday will be the water fights at 6:30 p. m. so stay in the park during the supper hour for this treat. Visiting fire departments will do the fighting, namely Batavia, Barton, Boltonville and Campbellsport. Two departments will be matched against each other for the first rounds of water fighting and then the two winners will squirt it out for the championship. Root for your favorite.

There will be a variety of rides, concessions and amusements for the entertainment of everyone. Admission to the park will be free. Don't miss this big annual event. There's always plenty of fun at Kewaskum's picnic.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of Jt. School District No. 5 of the Village and Town of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, will be held at the Kewaskum High School Auditorium on Monday, the 13th day of July, 1953 at 8:00 o'clock p. m.

Miss Schink Bride of Donald Mertes

Miss Elizabeth N. Schink, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Schink, Woodland, Wis., became the bride of Donald R. Mertes, son of Mrs. Emma Mertes, Kewaskum, in a 3 o'clock wedding ceremony read in St. John's Lutheran church, Woodland, on Saturday afternoon, June 27. The bride's father presided at the nuptial rite.

The church was decorated with bouquets of mixed garden flowers. The organist was Mrs. T. C. Indermuehle and the male choir of St. John's church sang "Abide O Dear-est Jesus" during the service.

The bride wore a white satin ballerina length gown with fitted bodice and lace inserts, cap sleeves and long nylon mitts. The gown was styled with a lace peplum over a full skirt of nylon net and white satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Oscar Ashman, sister of the bridegroom. She was attired in a pink satin ballerina length gown with lace fitted bodice, stand-up collar, cap sleeves and lace mitts. The skirt was of nylon net over a full skirt of pink satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white, pink and blue carnations.

The usherettes were Alyce Kraemer, cousin of the bride, and Marlene Vogt, cousin of the bridegroom.

William E. Schink, brother of the bride, served as best man for the bridegroom.

Dinner was served and a reception held at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park, the young couple will be at home after July 20 at R. 2, West Bend. The bridegroom, who attended Kewaskum High school, is employed at the West Bend Aluminum company. His bride graduated from Hartford High school and had been employed by the F. Ryser Co. in Mayville.

JOHNSON-KOUGL

Miss Irene Mary Koug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Koug, R. 1, Kewaskum, became the bride of Sgt. Truman Ray Johnson, son of Mrs. Marlin Ricketta, Princeton, Iowa, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Msgr. Joseph Lederer in St. Matthias church, town of Auburn, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, June 27.

The altar was decorated with white mums and daisies for the nuptial rite. During the service the sisters of St. Joseph's convent at Campbellsport provided special music. The songs were "Ave Maria" and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

The bride wore a gown of white French lace over a pleated nylon tulle skirt. The dress was fashioned with a bodice of French lace, long sleeves and a Queen Anne collar. Her flowers were gardenias and she carried a white prayer book and rosary.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Margaret East, a friend, from Milwaukee, as maid of honor. She was attired in a pink satin gown with nylon pleated overskirt and drop shoulder neckline. With it she wore pink net gloves and a picture hat to match. She carried a white fan with blue carnations.

A friend of the bridegroom, Lawrence Worachek, of Crivitz, Wis., served as best man. Orb Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, acted as usher.

Dinner was served to 50 guests and supper to 75 persons at Forest Lake resort where a reception was also held for 100 guests. A wedding dance was held there in the evening. Later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Seattle, Wash.

Sgt. and Mrs. Johnson will reside at Anchorage, Alaska, at present and will be at home there after July 8. The bride, a Kewaskum High school graduate, had been employed by the Title Guaranty company in Milwaukee. Sgt. Johnson, a graduate of Moline (Illinois) High school, is serving in the U. S. Army. Guests were from Racine, Phillips and Mattoon, Wis., Princeton, Iowa, and neighboring towns.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. John Backhaus

Funeral services for Mrs. John Backhaus, 76, town of Wayne, R. 3, Campbellsport, who died Sunday, June 28, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, after a six-month illness, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Theresa, the Rev. P. K. Press officiating. Burial was in Washington County Memorial park, West Bend.

Mrs. Backhaus, nee Lena Loehrke, was born July 10, 1879, in the town of Ashford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loehrke. She lived there until her marriage to Mr. Backhaus on Nov. 5, 1905. At that time they came to their present farm.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, Clarence, Hartford, and Harley and Wilbur, at home; 2 grand-children; a sister, Mrs. Mathilda Christian, and a brother, Albert Loehrke, both of Mayville.

Kewaskum Men Among 10 From County Inducted

Ten Washington county young men left Hartford recently as the June draft quota. The group included two from Kewaskum.

Inducted were: Arthur Ziemer, 20, R. 1, Cedarburg; Donald Unverrieh, 19, R. 1, Colgate; Ralph Kurth, 19, R. 1, Kewaskum; Erwin Gildemeister, 19, R. 1, Germantown; Harold Baler, 19, R. 2, Hartford; Ronald Hron, 19, West Bend; Ralph Matenaer, 19, R. 3, West Bend; Tom Landvatter, 19, West Bend; Howard Kocher, 19, R. 2, Kewaskum, and John Clark, 18, R. 3, West Bend (volunteer).

The draft quota in the county for July is seven men.

GIRL SCOUTS AT CAMP HERONYMUS THIS WEEK

Fifteen Kewaskum Girl Scouts will return home Saturday after spending a week at Camp Heronymus, Sheboygan Girl Scout camp. The scouts started the week at camp Sunday.

Scouts registered for the first period included Cheryl Erdmann, Donna Ewert, Rosalie Ewert, Judith Falk, Nancy Flockler, Sharon Harbeck, Susann Harter, Delores Ketter, Kay Koerble, Judith Marx, Isabelle Miller, Pamela Nolting, Helen Schaefer, Theresa Vorpahl, and Marian Watz.

For the third period (July 12-18) Maureen Borchert and Carol Miller will attend camp, for the fourth period (July 19-25) Sue Sengepiel and Alice Schwind, and the fifth period (July 26-Aug. 1) Cynthia Landmann and Joyce Rohlinger.

St. John's B and R church, Beechwood, The Rev. B. M. Friesenborg, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p. m. Saturday, June 20. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Stahl, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt, all residents of R. 1, Adell (Beechwood).

The bride's father presented her in marriage. Her waltz length gown was fashioned of white net and lace over taffeta with a lace bodice, long sleeves, pointed over the wrists, and a stand-up collar. Her fingertip veil was secured to a pearl-trimmed headpiece of matching lace. White carnations and stephanotis comprised her bouquet.

As maid of honor for her sister, Miss Beverly Stahl wore a waltz-length gown of blue taffeta and a white lace jacket over the strapless bodice of white lace over blue. She had a blue floral headpiece and carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations.

During the ceremony Allen Klein-hans sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" with Miss Irene Jaehrig as accompanist.

Elmer Schmidt attended his brother as best man and another brother, Jerome Schmidt, and Allan Stahl, cousin of the bride, were the ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony for 250 guests at Forest Lake resort.

Kewaskum High school is the alma mater of the bride, who is employed in the office of the Amity Co. in West Bend. Her husband is employed at the West Bend Aluminum Co. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt are now at home in Beechwood.

Overflow Crowd at Annual Meeting of Red Cross Chapter

An overflow crowd of more than 200 persons attended the annual meeting of the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross at the West Bend Country club Monday night and heard the chapter praised for its outstanding record by a national representative of the organization and by the local chapter's most recent chairman of the annual fund raising campaign, Douglas Ziegler.

Ziegler, under whose leadership the chapter became the first in the state to reach its 1953 fund campaign quota, accepted a certificate of honor on behalf of the chapter's 1953 accomplishments from Mrs. Helen Colbel, director of field service of the Red Cross in Wisconsin. The principal speaker also presented Ziegler with a personal certificate of honor in recognition of his leadership in the drive.

Former drive leaders were cited by Ziegler as doing outstanding work in the past.

In a brief business meeting preceding the presentation of the certificates of honor, members of the chapter voted to accept the nominations of the nominating committee for chapter directors. Elected as a group were Elbert Muth, town of West Bend; Victor Bauer, town of Wayne; Carl Schwaiss, town of Trenton; Mrs. Robert Berger and Mrs. Robert Dunlop, West Bend; Leonard Dricken, town of Barton; Dr. Robert Kauth, village of Kewaskum; Charles Stracks, town of Kewaskum, and William Steiner, West Bend, who was elected for one year to fill the unexpired term of Leonard Oelhafer.

Miss Rosenheimer Tied for Girls' State Office

Thelma Ann Rosenheimer, Kewaskum, was among the 250 Wisconsin girls from schools in 24 cities and villages in the state who participated in the Badger Girls' State project held at the University of Wisconsin June 23-30.

The Badger Girls' State, counterpart of the Badger Boys' State, is sponsored annually by the Wisconsin department of the American Legion Auxiliary and the political science department of the State University Extension division. The girls are all housed in Chadbourne hall, women's dormitory.

The Girls' State is designed to give young citizens of Wisconsin an introduction to their privileges and responsibilities as citizens.

Elections were held last Friday and Thelma, Nationalist party candidate, and Jean Paulson of Holcombe tied in the assembly elections and drew straws for the job.

LEE FELLEZ FAMILY MOVES TO VILLAGE; BARTELT'S MOVE

Mr. and Mrs. Leander Fellenz and family have moved from a home near New Falls into the former Ogenorh house on First st., until recently occupied by the Clifford Hall family. One of the new teachers coming to Kewaskum will move into the home vacated by the Fellenz family.

Atty. and Mrs. David Bartelt and daughter have moved from the upper apartment in the John Schmitt home on South Fond du Lac ave. to the home vacated recently by Dr. and Mrs. Otto Moyer and family in the Stark addition. Mr. and Mrs. Loran Backhaus, Jr., recent newly-weds, moved into the apartment vacated by the Bartelts.

The five locks of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal are the world's busiest, according to reports tabulated by the Corps of Engineers, operators of the locks. Great bulk of the cargoes are shipments of iron ore bound for the steel mills of America's industrial lower-lake section, other cargoes are listed on the above map. On a record day, as many as 56 ships were re-leveled in one eight hour shift.

Society Discovers, Raises World's Oldest Cargo Ship

A National Geographic Society expedition in the Mediterranean Sea off the southern coast of France has discovered and is now raising the oldest known cargo ship in the world, a Greco-Roman vessel sunk in the third century before Christ. Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the Society, has announced.

Already, Aqualung-equipped divers of the National Geographic-Calyppo Marine Archeological Expedition headed by Capt. Jacques-Yves Cousteau have brought to the surface one of the rarest finds of archeological treasure in recent years.

Almost 1,000 large amphoras—pottery vessels used to carry the liquid cargoes of the ancients—have been recovered. Some, still corked, contained wine more than 2,100 years old. Captain Cousteau tasted the wine and pronounced it "awful."

Ancient Owner Known

From the sea the Expedition has also taken 1,400 pieces of fine export dinnerware, probably from the Greek province of Latium, now Campania, Italy.

Prof. Fernand Benoit and archeologists assigned to the undersea explorers by the French Ministry of Education have dated the sinking of the 110-foot, 600-ton ship as around 230 B.C. Code letters on the amphoras told them that boat and cargo were owned by one Marcus Sestius.

Much already is known of this merchant. Records survive to show that he was a Roman who was naturalized a Greek citizen in the year 240 B.C., and who made his headquarters on the Greek island of Delos. Roman historians wrote of him as a "powerful politician" sent to prepare Greece for Roman conquest.

The ship will be cleared of cargo and mud by late Spring. To Duplicate Vessel

"Then we will raise her," Captain Cousteau said. "We plan to duplicate her exactly and actually sail her on her last course—Delos to Latium to the scene of her foundering—using only replicas of her original fittings, rigging, and navigational instruments."

Captain Cousteau conferred in Washington recently with the Research Committee of the National Geographic Society, which includes Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, director emeritus of the National Bureau of Standards; Dr. Alexander Wetmore, retired director of the Smithsonian Institution; Franklin L. Fisher, Dr. Thomas W. McKnew, Melvin M. Payne, and Melville Bell Grosvenor, senior assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine.

"The National Geographic Society is pleased to sponsor and to finance generously the undersea researches of Captain Cousteau and his associates," Mr. Grosvenor said. "Their startling discoveries promise to add much to mankind's knowledge of the ancient world. The results of the research, with photographs in full color, will be published in the official organ of the Society, the National Geographic Magazine."

5-A AND 50-DOUBLE-D—Side by side on the museum floor, the dainty foot of Esther Panaculli, a Long Island City High School girl whose shoe looks small enough to be a 5-A, and the ponderous pedal extremity of a 100,000,000-year-old Stegosaurus represent extremes in "shoe" sizes. The picture was made at the New York Museum of Natural History in the newly designed Brontosaur Hall.

New Summer Cottons Are Elegant, Feminine

Summer cottons that look like a million but cost well under $20 make good pickings for the girl who likes elegance with a small price tag, says Fashion Editor Estelle Lane. Writing in McCall's for June, she describes half a dozen of these charming frocks—most of them sheer; all of them, dainty, feminine and luxurious:

"The gem of your wardrobe can be a sheer cotton plaid, designed by Pat Hartly. It has a straw belt, glass jewel buttons, a tiny touch of lace around the neck to lift your hot-day spirits like a boxful of sparklers. Simple and elegant as a solitaire is a dress of sheer cotton tweed by Kay Dunhill. Its low neck and shirred shirt sleeves are cool and pretty.

Grammar's Busy

Little Oscar's schoolteacher went to visit his parents. She rang the doorbell and Oscar answered. "Are your mother and father in?" she asked.

"They was in, but they is out." "Oscar! They was—they is out! Where's your grammar?" "She's upstairs taking a bath."

by Henry Rosenfeld has tucks on sleeves and flounced skirt. Wear fresh flowers in the belt. A dress of striped ticking is gay as a South American cruise. Opulently trimmed with wide white fringe on the low neck and circle skirt, it is a design by Gay Gibson.

"A luscious dress by McKettrick-Williams is done in taffetized chambray. Fine tucks outline the deep V-neckline and a wide whirl of a skirt. A sun dress by Queen Make has a halter neck and a little bolero. It is done in a new, thin-as-a-thread ombre stripe with an iridescent sheen."

The importance of the Suez Canal to Britain's lifeline is seen in the above map. Egyptian pressure on England to leave the canal zone will bring about a possible breakup of British influence in the Middle East. British colonies of Malta and Cyprus may pull away from cooperation with the Empire. British negotiations concerning the Anglo Egyptian Sudan will be affected and ties with Pakistan, India, and Australia will be weakened.

(Part 2)

Oldsters must be given something to do by which they can divert their minds and by which they will feel less dependent upon relatives.

The aging with only mild conditions of abnormalities must not be "dumped" into hospitals. Suitable quarters equipped with those things conducive to wholesome living must be provided for oldsters. Entertainment features at a community house perhaps, should be provided as a place where oldsters might be able to socialize together.

Older people must be taught how to prepare for retirement so that they will be able to adjust acceptably, effectively and happily to a new way of life. In view of the remarkable advances being made at present, the government should no longer consider the sixty-fifth year as a retirement goal but rather should it devise tests for determining the abilities (both working and psychological) of those large numbers of oldsters who give promise of many future years of substantial service.

Doctors must not only familiarize themselves with the specialized treatment required by oldsters but also feel their responsibility to teach the aging how to anticipate the factors peculiar to aging, how to prepare for the aged period and how to adapt themselves to the aging process. They must also forewarn elderly people against future tension and excitement occasioned by the loss of loved ones.

Oldsters should be aided in the matter of securing jobs if they are sufficiently alert, physically and mentally, so that they might maintain their respect as well as feeling productive.

The aging population must not continue to feel that they are unwanted and are left to themselves to eke out a final existence.

If oldsters are to be kept happier, more careful consideration must be given to their diet and to the avoidance of unpleasant associations which tend at meal time to produce undesirable psychic effects.

The foregoing has stressed the importance of providing for the oldsters things vital to his economic security, religion, health, social acceptance and contentment, all of which should tend to make his lot happier and more enriched.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS
Coffee Hours Around The Clock

No beverage compares with good coffee in popularity in this country of ours. "Let's have a cup of coffee" rings out from coast to coast at any hour of the day or night. Making good coffee every time, not only is a mark of hospitality, but establishes a glamorous reputation for any homemaker with friends dropping in for a game of cards or to chat.

Instant coffee has really come into its own and is being used more and more in American homes as the family coffee for all occasions. Fresh and full-bodied coffee now can be on tap. No coffee grounds, no coffee-makers to wash and store and no waste!

For each cup needed at the coffee hour, just place one rounded teaspoon of instant coffee (more or less rounded according to desired strength) in the bottom of your coffeemaker and add an equal number of cups of boiling water. Stir and serve. There will be shouts for seconds. Quick as a wink, you can serve flavorful coffee... piping hot and fresh... with no fuss or bother. You, too, can enjoy these coffee hours as a relaxed hostess.

You will want to serve cookies with the coffee sometimes and what is better to serve with coffee than home baked cookies. Here is a new kitchen tested recipe for an old favorite. The cookies have a true coffee flavor when instant coffee is used as a flavor ingredient.

Coffee Rum Cookies
2 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons Nescafé
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon imitation rum extract

Mix and sift flour, instant coffee, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream shortening and butter or margarine; add sugars gradually, while creaming; beat until light; add egg and rum extract. Add sifted dry ingredients; blend thoroughly. Wrap in waxed paper or aluminum foil. Chill several hours. Roll out a small amount of dough at a time about 1/8 inch thick, on lightly floured board. Cut with a 2" cookie cutter. Decorate with nutmeats, if desired. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in hot oven, 400° F., 8-10 minutes. Yield: about 3 dozen cookies.

You can make refrigerator cookies with the same recipe. Form the dough into a roll, wrap in wax paper or aluminum foil and chill overnight. Then slice thin and bake, as wanted.

You'll find these muffins a treat in themselves at tea time or for Sunday or holiday breakfast and they're quite a sensation with salads when the bridge club meets. They're fine supper muffins—served hot or cold.

Banana Bran Muffin
1 cup sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup bran
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2 cups thinly sliced or chopped ripe bananas (3 or 4 bananas)

Sift flour with soda, salt and sugar, add bran and mix well. Beat egg and combine with milk, shortening and bananas. Add to the dry ingredients, stirring only enough to dampen flour. Fill a greased muffin pan two thirds full. Bake in an oven 375 degrees 30 to 35 minutes.

Blue Berry Muffins
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons melted butter or other fat
1 cup blueberries

Beat the egg slightly, add the milk and then add this mixture to the sifted dry ingredients, reserving 2 tablespoons of flour for the berries. Add the berries after they have been floured, and the melted fat. Stir until flour is damp. Pour the latter into well greased muffin tins. Bake 30 minutes in an oven 400 degrees.

Whole Wheat Muffins
1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup raisins ground
2 eggs beaten
1 cup milk

Sift flour with baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening. Stir in raisins. Combine eggs and milk. Add liquids to dry ingredients. Bake in greased muffin tins in an oven 425 degrees 18 to 20 minutes.

English Muffins
1 yeast cake
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 cup scalded milk, cooled
2 tablespoons melted shortening
4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt

Soften the yeast in the lukewarm water. Make a sponge of the milk, softened yeast, shortening and 1 1/4 cups of the flour. Mix well. Cover and put in a warm place to rise about an hour. When the sponge is light, add the remaining flour which has been sifted with the salt. Beat until the dough is elastic. Cover and put in a warm place to rise. When double in bulk toss the dough on a floured board. Roll the dough out into a sheet about one inch thick, cut in large rounds. Cover and let rise for about an hour. Bake slowly in both sides on a lightly greased griddle. After the muffins are cold, split, butter, and toast. Serve hot.

CLEAN HAIR DESERVES A CLEAN BRUSH

When your hair is gleaming clean, fresh from its two washings and rinsings, and neatly curled, it deserves the best. This means that brushes and combs should be just as sweetly fresh. Here's the trick: Soak combs and brushes in a baking soda solution — 2 tablespoons soda to a quart of warm water. A little baking soda rubbed into the base of the brush bristles helps make the clean-up campaign complete. Rinse well in clear water and dry in an airy place. Your brush and comb should be washed at least as often as your hair.

Maple Frosting
3/4 cup brown sugar
2 1/2 tablespoons water
1 egg white
1/4 teaspoon maple flavoring
Cook sugar, water and egg white over boiling water. Beat constantly with egg beater until peak forms, about 7 minutes. Remove from heat, add flavoring. Frost cakes.

There's only one answer...
Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Fleet operators, farmers, independent truckers—truck users everywhere—buy more Chevrolets than any other make. There can be only one reason for that: Chevrolet trucks offer more of what you want.

As the official registration figures keep rolling in, they keep telling the same positive story about truck popularity and truck value: Again in 1953, for the twelfth straight production year, truck buyers show a clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one reason—to do a job. So isn't it logical then that since Chevrolet trucks outsell all others, they must do a better job at lower cost? That's why it will pay you to stop in and see us before you buy your next truck.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

SOUP'S ON!

Delivering the makings for that soup and the rest of the food that many an American family ate last year was a major job for us.

The meat, vegetables, grain, fruit and other agricultural products carried over North Western lines in 1952 amounted to over 10 1/2 million tons! If made up into a single shipment it would have required a freight train 2273 miles long!

Moving tons of food from grower to market is but one of our everyday jobs — millions of tons of other products are hauled swiftly and safely over our lines every year.

This is tangible evidence of what the combination of 35,000 loyal employees, efficient road and terminal equipment and 105 years of railroading experience can accomplish when called upon to serve.

By Betty Ann

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

Stay in town for the summer, if you wish, but dress for it. If you feel comfortable and look smart you can be fairly happy about it—for there are advantages, says Betty Ann. You can dodge from your air conditioned office to an air conditioned restaurant for lunch, shop in air cooled stores when you wish and have the comfort of sleeping in your own bed at night. No suitcases to unpack, no trains to catch, no long road ahead of you every morning and evening. Saving the vacation funds to put a new roof on the house or a new car in the garage has its pleasant aspects. Here are some ideas:

A shirtwaist type black and white dotted cotton with businesslike collars and cuffs and a neat row of white pearl buttons down the front. The belt is black patent leather.

A gracefully tailored natural raw silk summer suit with a black fleck running through the fabric. The skirt is gently flared and the jacket is closed with mother of pearl buttons.

Chambray coat dress with rust and white print on a black background and white pique collar and cuffs.

Black and white checked gingham with a loose jacket lined with carnation red and the trim is black nylon velvet.

White organdy bow trim on gray and white striped cotton with charcoal gray patent leather belt. Comfort is for the woman who lives in the country during the summer.

Trim sheath for the woman who feels best in tailored clothes even in the country is a dress of natural linen tucked from shoulder to hem, with a wide belt of russet leather.

Compromise with the tailored mode is the double breasted dress made of black and white cotton tweed. White handkerchief lined borders the neckline and armholes. Buttons are large ones of white pearl.

Sleeveless striped chambray dress which you may have in brown and white, black and gray or blue and brown is fresh as country air with a patent belt and full skirt.

Tissue chambray in caramel brown with white stripes is a comfortable dress on any occasion. It has a pretty way of matching a tanned skin and will be quietly neutral against a mid-summer garden.

Yellow pussywillows printed all over a gray sleeveless chambray dress give it a feeling of being at home in the country.

Some people used to think that glasses made them appear older than they were. Today, the reverse is usually true. Modern eyewear can and does make a man or woman look younger.

Those "crow's feet" around the eyes can be hidden behind smart, stylish glasses. Lines caused by fatigue and strain can be erased by proper glasses which relax tired eyes. With improved vision, eyes will sparkle and regain their youthful sharpness and vitality.

Glasses also help tone up the entire body by relieving the nervous system of the burden of eyestrain. And a healthy nervous system is another aid to a youthful appearance.

Glasses help the eyes work more effectively and efficiently while keeping them from growing old before their time.

Youthful eyes make for a youthful face. And putting corrective, fashionable glasses on strained, shadowed eyes can brighten the face like an electric light turned on in a gloomy room.

Slip covers may be as standardized as the three piece living room suite or they may have personality all their own. Here are some off the beaten path ideas for styling them:

For a sleek, modern look, tailor a chair slip cover with buttons like a man's suit. Finish the side closings with buttons and self-bound buttonholes. Sew a side pocket for cigarettes and magazines.

Instead of buttons, finish a chair with lacing at the front and back seams. Lace thick cording through plastic rings. Whipcord and sailcloth are excellent cottons for these slip covers. Many people slip cover modern chairs just to the end of the upholstery, letting the legs show. A modern effect can be achieved on a modern square piece by slip covering only the arms and top of the back with an unusually modern print.

A plain century air by draping the skirt with swags. Make the swags separately to snap off and on easily for cleaning. Glazed chintz is appropriate for this faintly formal style.

About The Home

By FRANCES DELL

By FRANCES DELL
The now common ailment referred to as virus infection has probably been an unwelcome guest in your home during the winter. Don't make the mistake of thinking that just because warm weather is here, the virus is done for. It is possible to have this infection during the Spring and Summer.

If you are unlucky enough to contract the virus, don't look to your doctor for some miracle cure. They can't cure you with any known remedy. They can't even shorten the length of your illness.

Unless you have severe symptoms or high temperature, your infection probably isn't very dangerous. If the fever is persistent, it may indicate pneumonia or some serious infection in the making.

One thing you should never do is to try to cure yourself with elixirs, patent nostrums or drugs. These quite often slow up the body's curative process.

If you have the sniffles, a stomach ache, muscle pains, a cough and a slight sore throat, you should rest, keep warm, eat a balanced diet. Forget that old one—"Stuff a cold and starve a fever."

If you have slight diarrhea for a day or two, don't try to stop it. You probably couldn't and this is one way the body eliminates the virus.

In case you loose too much liquid, try drinking water with a little salt and baking soda in it.

If your symptoms become severe call your doctor. In short, if your temperature rises above one hundred-and-one degrees, your cough becomes distressing, your sore throat lasts more than a day or two, the pain in your stomach becomes quite sharp—call your doctor!

Modern Wedding Etiquette Mainly Good Taste, Says Amy Vanderbilt

There have been a few changes in wedding etiquette over the years but actually the ceremony of marriage has altered very little. Whatever the bride means, she will avoid the pretentious and startling and be guided by good taste and simplicity, says Amy Vanderbilt in McCall's Magazine. A socialite herself and the author of a recent book on etiquette, Miss Vanderbilt answers the questions most often put to her about weddings, in the June issue:

"How should guests be invited to a small wedding?"

"By a note, telephone call or wire from the bride's mother, or whoever is giving the wedding."

"Who is invited to the wedding? To the reception?"

"Guests may be invited only to the wedding, only to the reception or to both. If the wedding is in a small church or chapel, ask intimate friends to the ceremony and the reception, and other friends only to the reception. If the marriage is in a big church and you wish to ask only close friends to a small reception, it's perfectly correct."

"Who may wear a wedding veil?"

"Any bride, so long as she has not been married before. The groom's status does not affect what she may wear."

"What should the bride wear at an informal wedding?"

"She wears a simple seasonal suit or dress through noon, later

Good Spreads Mean More Fun at a Picnic

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

HOT days mean "picnic days" and picnics mean sandwich spreads.

Why not have a special shelf "all ready" for a last-minute picnic on the back porch or lawn. Better yet, why not a drive to a favorite picnic spot.

On this special shelf keep a supply of jars filled with jellies and jams, peanut butter, deviled ham, mayonnaise, cheese spreads, olives and pickles. Add essentials like wax paper, paper napkins and paper plates. And when the kids say "let's go," you can whip your picnic together in a matter of minutes.

DEVILED HAM AND JELLY SPREAD

(Makes about 1 1/4 cups spread)

One cup deviled ham (8 ounces), 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 1/4 cup apple jelly, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise.

In a bowl, combine deviled ham, eggs and jelly. Mix thoroughly in mayonnaise and blend well. Spread on buttered bread.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JAM

One-half cup peanut butter, 1/2 cup mashed banana, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup seedless raspberry or blackberry jam.

In a bowl, combine the peanut butter, banana and mayonnaise. Mix thoroughly. For each sandwich, spread the peanut butter mixture on buttered bread. Spread raspberry or blackberry jam on another slice of buttered bread.

Put the two spread sides together. Cut in half diagonally. Everyone loves the combination of cream cheese and jelly but add a bit of grated orange rind and some chopped walnut meats and you'll have something extra special.

WALNUT CHEESE AND JELLY SPREAD

(Makes about 1 1/4 cups spread)

One 8-ounce package of cream cheese, 1/2 cup currant or grape jelly, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1/4 cup chopped walnuts. In a bowl, soften cream cheese. Stir in currant or grape jelly;

Deviled ham and apple jelly make a tasty sandwich spread. Try sandwiches filled with this delicacy for your next picnic lunch. In a bowl combine cottage cheese and peach preserves. Mix thoroughly. Stir in preserved ginger. Spread on buttered bread. Mix thoroughly. Spread on buttered bread.

PEACHY-GINGER CHEESE SPREAD

(Makes about 1 1/2 cups spread)

One cup creamed cottage cheese, 1/2 cup peach preserves, 1/2 teaspoon finely chopped preserved ginger.

In a bowl combine cottage cheese and peach preserves. Mix thoroughly. Stir in preserved ginger. Spread on buttered bread. If desired, serve with sprigs of crisp watercress.

Note: Two tablespoons of finely chopped raisins may be substituted for the ginger.

Flash Floods Take Heavy Toll In U. S. Annually

Flash floods, spawned by torrential rains, are in season again. "A local flood which rises and subsides rapidly" is the official definition of the United States Weather Bureau for these meteorological freaks of spring and summer.

Unpredictable as an April shower but dangerous as a runaway locomotive, flash floods cannot be forecast in advance or controlled by man-made devices, says the National Geographic Society. Their toll in lives and property damage is high.

Aftermath of Thunderstorm

Flash floods usually stem from thunderstorms. The runoff from a single heavy rainfall varies from 10 per cent to 100 per cent of the fall, with the average somewhat less than 50 per cent. When the runoff from a sudden cloudburst is heavy, especially in hilly country, the earth cannot absorb the flow, and sewage systems cannot carry it off fast enough.

Cascades of water roar down hillsides. Small streams and creeks swell to raging torrents. A wall of water races through the lowlands. Then, as suddenly as it arose, the wave is gone. But left behind are washed-out roads, eroded farmlands, and ravaged communities.

Typical of the havoc wrought by a flash flood was the experience of 195 residents of the small valley town of Stokesville, Virginia. In a few minutes on June 17, 1949, they lost their homes, possessions, livestock—even the very land beneath them.

A three-day rain had soaked through the forest floor on the nearby mountains. When a cloudburst struck, the water stripped the earth from the mountainside. River beds were quickly clogged, forming a flood crest of 25 to 30 feet. Seeking escape, the swollen streams gouged new channels through the fertile valley.

Land Abandoned

A few hours later a deep layer of rock covered the valley floor. All topsoil had been torn away. The land had to be abandoned.

Deluges harass nearly all sections of the United States. The Weather Bureau's record for the rainiest single minute is held by the resort settlement of Opid's Camp in California. Almost two-thirds of an inch of water fell there in the space of 60 seconds on April 5, 1926.

A foot of rain fell on Holt, Missouri, in only 42 minutes on June 22, 1947, while in Smethport, Pennsylvania, 30.8 inches fell in four and a half hours on July 18, 1942.

SOME FOLKS WHO HAVE "STUCK TO IT"

Mrs. Jens Kjeldsen has been 35 years cashier of a Window store where she went to help out temporarily during the first world war. Lots of stores in Minnesota are older than the Wilkowske Hardware in Morristown, 59, but not too many have a customer who has been with them since their doors opened, which is Mrs. Kate Nordmeier's record with Wilkowske's. Middle River Record just renewed a subscription for the 42nd year, while Slayton Herald is searching the records to determine the oldest subscriber among four contestants, each well beyond the half century mark.

Paul Preached of Freedom and True Brotherhood for Us

FREEDOM and brotherhood are terms that need a lot of careful definition in the difficult times in which we are living. And there is no better guide to an accurate and workable definition of this term than the writings of the Apostle Paul.

Paul puts a great deal of emphasis on freedom. He had been a lawyer, and the meaning of his conversion to Christianity had been the discovery of a new freedom. Religion became a matter of the heart to him. It concerned faith more than formal observance that lacked the spiritual reality.

When he lists the fruits of the spirit: Love, joy, peace, suffering, gentleness and goodness, his comment is final. He says, "Against such there is no law."

"That is the essence of Paul's philosophy of freedom. It is always associated with goodness."

"The law is our schoolmaster," he declares, "to bring us to Christ." He adds, "Christ is the end of the law for everyone that believeth."

What Paul says concerning liberty in relation to Jewish law is true of liberty in relation to all law. Their relationship to liberty makes all laws either a curse or a blessing.

The freedom to do right is a very real freedom and all laws that suppress that freedom are bad.

Freedom and brotherhood were associated with each other in Paul's religion. The life that was lived in the path of freedom was fulfilling the law.

"All the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." That phrase expresses the feeling of brotherhood without any limitations.

Some persons claim that Paul's practicing of brotherhood was limited to the community of Christians. It is true that Paul did regard Christians as owing a special obligation to one another.

But the word "neighbor" meant the same thing to him that it meant to Jesus when He told the parable of the Good Samaritan.

GOOD HEALTH

1. WHY DO YOU SEE STARS?
Anemia curable?

2. WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A STRAIN AND A SPRAIN?

3. IS PERNICIOUS ANEMIA CURABLE?

Answer to Question No. 1:
1. When the nerve leading from the eye to the brain is jarred or irritated, impulses are aroused in the nerve which the brain perceives as flashes of light. This can happen even in a dark room. Therefore, the man who says he was hit so hard he "saw stars" may well be telling the truth.

Answer to Question No. 2:
2. A sprain is a sudden stretching and tearing of the ligaments of a joint with injury to the synovial membrane (the membrane which contains an "oiling" fluid for the joints which keeps them supple). A strain is a painful stretching of ligaments when no tear has occurred. Either type of injury should be treated by a doctor.

Answer to Question No. 3:
1. While no permanent cure has been found for pernicious anemia (a type of anemia far more serious than simple anemia, and one which used to be fatal in all cases) a means of controlling this condition was developed some twenty years ago by the use of liver extract. Liver extract made it possible for an individual with pernicious anemia to live a useful life over the ordinary span of years. More recently, the active principle in liver—which turned out to be vitamin B₁₂—has been isolated. This is regarded as one of the great triumphs of modern medical research.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

Dehydrated foods appeal to campers because of their considerable saving in weight and bulk. Below are those which Col. Townsend Whelen has found by long experience to be highly desirable:

Powdered whole milk — The best substitute for fresh milk and cream. One pound per week is enough for two campers. A heaping tablespoon stirred in a cup of cold water makes milk, and two tablespoons make cream. It is a little difficult to mix with cold water so Colonel Whelen has a small cocktail shaker which also serves as cream pitcher.

Dehydrated egg powder — Very useful in puddings and cakes. A heaping tablespoon soaked a few minutes in an equal amount of water equals one egg. Cooked by itself it does not match the taste of fresh eggs, but scrambled with chopped-up liver, kidneys or dried beef it makes an appetizing dish.

Powdered instant coffee — Far preferable to the ground article for camp.

Bouillon cubes — Make a hot drink that is often more appreciated and has more "pickup" value than tea or coffee. Also excellent for flavoring soups.

Pea and bean powders — These make excellent and filling soups in a few minutes. Stir into hot water and bring to a boil, making the soup as thick as you wish.

Pinole — Useful for back-packers who have to strip down to minimum weight and bulk. Two tablespoons stirred into a cup of cold water makes an insipid, tasteless gruel, but it sticks to the ribs and gives energy for many hours as no other food but fresh meats will. To make it appetizing add a spoonful of milk powder and one of cocoa to the mixture and double the amount of water.

The camper who finds the various porridges appetizing is in luck. Oatmeal, cornmeal, hominy, etc., served with milk and sugar, are among the best dehydrated foods. When you tire of one try the other, and then try mixing them. All taste different.

Then there are the inevitable dried navy or kidney beans which are filling and energy-producing, but take three hours for cooking. Boil them, serve the bean soup for one meal, and bake the beans in a reflector oven for the next meal.

Rotating Pasture Gives Bigger Yield

Pastures that work in "shifts" will help your dairy cows produce more milk per acre this summer.

That means dividing a pasture into lots so that cows are on new eating every three days or less. Agronomist Vic Burcalow at the U. of Wis. advises farmers to use a rotational pasture plan with eight to 30 lots. Cows waste a lot of forage when they are allowed to run over one big field for several weeks.

Legume pastures need different treatment than grasses, according to Burcalow. Graze legumes when they are nearly at the bloom stage, and stock the pasture heavy enough so that the forage is harvested quickly. Then give the lot a recovery period of three to five weeks before pasturing it again.

Burcalow recommends a fifty-fifty mixture of grasses and legumes for most Wisconsin pastures. Such a mixture should eliminate most of the bloat trouble. And it gives cows a chance to get more dry matter daily than a field that is all legumes.

How many cows can I put on a pasture lot, and how long to each lot? If early season stands are strong, you can graze 50 cows per acre for one day, 25 cows per acre for two days, or 17 cows per acre for three days. Later in the season you need to use more acreage, and either reduce the length of the grazing period or reduce the number of animals per acre.

Do not put so many cattle on the lots that the cows are forced to eat the short stubble on alfalfa. Leave at least a four-inch stubble. On the other hand, Burcalow says, keep enough cattle so that the stubble is eaten below eight inches. If you have the right number of cattle on the lots, mowing is necessary only to remove tall weeds such as thistles. Try to work out a stocking rate where the cows do the mowing. Harrow the pasture after each grazing period to scatter the manure.

Always graze the parts of the field with the most grass first, Burcalow says. Fresh bluegrass or fall sown rye makes good pasture for the beginning of the pasture season.

Sharp Hint
Mr. Spriggins (gently): "My dear, a man was shot at by a burglar, and his life was saved by a button on his coat which the bullet struck."
Mrs. Spriggins: "Well, what of it?"
"Nothing, only the button must have been on."

Summer Furniture Needs Sudsing

What could be more embarrassing than to have guests arise from your lawn furniture with clothing soiled! This needn't happen, if you start the season by giving your summer porch and garden furniture a good cleaning now. They'll last longer, too, according to folks who make outdoor furniture.

To do the job you'll need a good, stiff brush, a pail of warm soapsuds, a sponge, the garden hose and some clean cloths. Pads and detachable cushions should, of course, be removed and done separately. Wood, enameled metal, aluminum and smooth surface plastics should be given a well-lathered sponging or sudsing with a rough cloth. Use a brush to get into the crannies of wicker, reed, bamboo or plastic webbing, and for the crooks and crevices of metal pieces. Don't neglect the undersides. Dirt and clinging things can cause deterioration.

After the scrubbing routine, rinse well on all sides with a fine spray hose. Wipe off drippy water with dry cloth and stand the furniture in a breezy, sunny spot to dry, thus preventing rust and rot.

Cushions and pads of plastics or woven fabrics, such as canvas, drill or sailcloth, get a sudsy sponge treatment, a rinse with a damp cloth, then a wipe with a clean, dry cloth.

Sun-heated glass may crack when water is applied, so always set glass-topped pieces in the shade to cool before washing.

To wash your "sun-brella," first hose it to flush away loose soil and leaves. Then brush-scrub it inside and out with thick, warm soapsuds. Give it a good hosing and let it stand open in the sun to dry.

Now you are ready to start the summer season. Keeping outdoor furniture clean becomes a weekly chore, and you'll find after a rain it is a good time to do it, for nature has helped loosen dirt.

SLIM LARKSPUR

Slim Larkspur
©1952 National Wildlife Federation

The name Larkspur calls forth the idea of beauty and of death to many persons. Those who have seen fields blue with some species can never wipe from their minds that all larkspurs should be blue. In spite of this, some are yellow, some red and some white. Our Slim Larkspur is orthodox in the matter of color, however, and is a deep violet purple so far as the flowers are concerned.

In part because the Slim Larkspur rarely grows to a height greater than a foot it is often spoken of as the Dwarf Larkspur. Certainly it is much shorter than most of its better known relatives. This shortness does not limit the plant so far as coloring a field or meadow may be concerned because sometimes this species seems to take over a whole field. When this is the case, cattlemen do not like it because like many other larkspurs the Dwarf Larkspur or Slim Larkspur may be poisonous to cattle. The poisonous properties are most effective when the plant is newly developing its shoots that spring from perennial underground parts.

The Slim Larkspur is at its best at the edges of meadows or in open forests of cone-bearing trees. It ranges through the mountains of eastern Washington to northern California and east into Alberta, Idaho, Montana and Nevada. It was first described from a plant collected in the Blue Mountains of eastern Oregon, which region is considered by botanists as being the "type locality."

In spite of the obvious beauty of the flowers the Slim Larkspur has not won enough favor among those who cultivate wild flowers for it to be listed as a cultivated plant.

Like all the larkspurs the Slim Larkspur is a member of the Buttercup or Crowfoot family. The flowers are much more elaborate than one would expect of a buttercup. In the Slim Larkspur there are usually from 2 to 8 flowers in loose clusters. There is a slender curved spur about 1/2-inch long and the upper petals are notched. The fruits are about 1/2-inch long, nearly straight and somewhat sticky. The seeds bear conspicuous white wings on their angles.

The leaves are relatively few to each plant, from 1 to 2 inches wide, 5-parted, with the main leaf-divisions composed of 2 or 3 rather oblong lobes. The leaves borne on the upper parts of the stem are much smaller than those borne from the base.

Botanists have argued over whether there may be a variety of the regular species but at present this division does not appear to be considered as valid. While the botanists argue about the classification of the plant, the ranchers do not argue about its

Household Hints

USE LARGE BEEF ROAST FOR THREE TASTY MEALS

Want a beef roast that you can serve three ways? Choose a chuck arm roast and use it for stew, pot roast, and Swiss steak, suggests Esther Call, University of Wisconsin specialist on food buying. An arm roast at least two inches thick will cut to best advantage, Mrs. Call points out. Cut the round end of the roast, up to the bone, into stew-size pieces. Divide the rest of the roast into two pieces.

The piece without the bone can be split into two one-inch slices. Use a sharp knife and keep the meat steady by holding a saucer on top of it.

The piece with the bone will make a good pot roast. Rub the meat with seasoned flour and brown in hot fat. A half hour before the meat is finished add quartered potatoes, onions, and whole carrots.

To complete the meal, serve lettuce wedges, peach shortcake, and a beverage. The two steaks will make good Swiss steaks. For variety, use a Spanish sauce. For each pound of meat, use a pint of tomatoes, a fourth pound of cooked and drained macaroni, a fourth cup of chopped onion, and a small green pepper chopped. Brown the onion and pepper in fat before adding to the sauce.

Use the cut up pieces of beef for stew or ragout of beef. To make the ragout, brown a pound of the floured pieces in fat. Add a small onion, chopped, a fourth cup of chopped green pepper, and three-fourths cup chopped celery. Season with salt, pepper, and paprika. Add enough hot water to cover the meat, and simmer in a covered pan for two hours.

Serve the ragout with buttered brussels sprouts, tomato and cucumber salad, and blueberry pie.

Garbage For Swine Must Be Cooked States New Law

The feeding of raw garbage to hogs in Wisconsin will become unlawful on July 1 of this year as the state joins 35 others in an all-out effort to rid the nation of vesicular diseases in swine.

Satisfied that cooking the garbage for 30 minutes at 212 degrees F. is essential before using it as hog feed, state department of agriculture officials declared that this provision of the new law is the most effective weapon in controlling the disease that cost Wisconsin $2,000,000 in the past year.

Traced from its origin in California in 1951, these highly contagious vesicular infections have killed thousands of swine in 44 states. First identified in Wisconsin in December of last year, the infection has broken out on five different occasions and livestock sanitation officials are presently checking a sixth outbreak in southeast Wisconsin.

In addition to requiring cooking garbage for hog feed for 30 minutes at 212 degrees F., the Wisconsin law also provides that: 1. A permit be obtained from the agriculture department before public or commercial garbage can be fed to hogs. Applications for this permit can be obtained from the department's Livestock Sanitation Division at Madison.

2. Garbage for hog feed may not be brought into Wisconsin from other states.

3. Swine from garbage-feeding establishments can be marketed only to a federally inspected or state approved slaughtering plant.

4. The removal of swine from any premises for public or commercial garbage received for feeding is allowed only if these swine are accompanied by a health certificate issued by a veterinarian.

5. No indemnity will be paid to a garbage feeder for any swine condemned or destroyed because of any infectious disease.

Dr. H. J. O'Connell, State Veterinarian, said, "There are about 37 parasitic diseases and some 20 bacterial and virus infections spread by feeding raw garbage to hogs. By cooking the garbage I feel certain that we can eradicate one of the most costly diseases which has struck our livestock industry in recent years."

So that cooking equipment can be installed, garbage-feeders will be granted a time extension to January 1, 1954, on the cooking provision only. All other requirements of the law will become effective July 1, 1953.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—The great lesson of the economic ineptitude of government has not yet been learned in Washington.

President Eisenhower last week sent to Congress a plan for the revival in full strength of the Council of Economic Advisers. Dr. Arthur F. Burns will head a three-man council, whose other two members are still to be named. With the submission of the plan, Washington correspondents were given to understand that plans would be made to meet any threat of a recession from today's record levels of production and employment.

These plans would call for government intervention when unemployment reached the 2.5 million mark. That is half the jobless total the Truman administration set as the danger point in 1949. (The Korean war came along before the point was reached.)

Remedies are those of the Roosevelt administration: easy money, tax cuts, public works. It has been largely forgotten that seven years of this left 10 million jobless in a much smaller business community. Most quickly cured recession in this country's recent history was that of 1920-21. President Harding did absolutely nothing but hope it would go away, and it did.

TAX IS REPEALED—Florida is the latest state to join the trend away from special taxes aimed at chain stores. A law repealing its chain store tax will become effective June 30.

This makes fifteen states which have done away with measures aiming special taxes at chain-store organizations. The Florida law, passed in 1933, graduated the tax according to the number of stores a chain operated nationally, not just in Florida. Only three states retain such graduated taxes.

Altogether there were 29 states that experimented with legislation aimed at taxing chain stores specifically. The trend from such tax programs resulted from opposition by many groups. Farm organizations opposed the taxes on the ground that chains provided expanded markets and efficient low-cost distribution; consumers objected that the taxes were passed along in higher food prices; labor groups denounced their adverse effects on wage, costs of living and employment opportunities.

THINGS TO COME—A hand-sized spray-gun fires porcelain material through an acetylene torch onto hot steel, fusing it to the metal. Plastic pipe makes it possible for the home plumber to cut and fit his own lawn-sprinkling system. Planes may ride more smoothly with an air shock-absorber, consisting of a gadget attached to a wing-strut and flexing like a spring. A funnel fitting the top of a gallon can makes it easier to load paint into roller troughs or spray-gun jars.

TAX PROGRAM—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, appearing before the House Ways and Means Committee to urge extension of the excess profits tax until the year-end, also suggested that the most recent boost in corporate income tax rate, be extended indefinitely from their allotted expiration time of April 1, 1954.

He promised that if this were done, the Administration would present the next session of Congress, convening in January, with a comprehensive program for national revenue, and that the personal income tax cut of January 1 could "become a reality rather than a paper hope."

STORE-FILLERS — American business is convinced that traffic-building in stores paves the way for sales. Merchants try to make visits to their stores as entertaining as a trip to the movies, and manufacturers are pitching in to help.

Servel, Inc., for example, furnishes a promotion-idea booklet to dealers to help them sell the Automatic Ice-Maker refrigerator which makes ice cubes without trays—one of the great advances in home refrigeration history.

The booklet contains signposts to help dealers in contest, display and give-away promotions that are fun for the customers. An ice-tray-carrying contest tests how far a customer can carry an old-fashioned filled ice tray without spilling any water. A suggested guessing game display features an Automatic Ice-Maker and a Servel home freezer filled with ice-circles made by the new refrigerator. The customers guess how many ice pieces there are. Passersby are invited to come in and pick up supplies of ice circles for their own parties. Appliance buying can be fun.

BITS O' BUSINESS—New Jersey state taxes, at $35.83 per capita, are lowest of any state's says the National Industrial Conference Board.

CZECH CHURCH SERVICE — In spite of the Communist government's ban on religion, this church in Prague, Czechoslovakia, is apparently used by worshippers. The above picture was taken by United Press Staff Photographer Massimo Ascari. He was the first western news photographer to visit the country since the Communists came to power.

'Floating' Shelf

ON A VACATION trip by automobile, space usually is at a premium. A midwest vacationer cleverly used the upper portion of his auto trunk for extra suits and coats, leaving the interior free of clutter and with unobscured vision.

Here's what he did: Suitcases were packed in the trunk first, so arranged that they would support evenly a portable shelf. Next he cut a piece of Masonite Presdwood, one-quarter inch thick, to the available width and depth remaining. In that way, the shelf didn't slide around.

He then placed the panel on a table, laying the coats and suits on it, one over another. To keep the clothes free of dust and any rain that might leak into the compartment, he wrapped them in a plastic cloth. The bundle then was tied up loosely with light cord and placed atop the suitcases.

This tourist reports that the clothing made the 2,000-mile trip "in perfect condition." If needed at a stopover, the board would be taken into the room and unpacked; otherwise, it remained in the trunk.

"It's the easiest and best way of carrying extra clothes in a car," he said. "The back seat riders particularly appreciated the full view they had, as there were no suits and coats hanging over part of the windows."

FOR CONSPICUOUS GALLANTRY IN SERVING WITH HIS MARINE DIVISION ON IWO JIMA, SERGEANT JULIAN, OF MASSACHUSETTS, WAS AWARDED THE MEDAL OF HONOR.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Carl Stange, who passed away three years ago, July 9, 1950:

We have lost our soul's companion, A life linked with our own, And day by day we miss her more, As we walk through life alone.

Oh! What would we give to clasp her hand,
Her dear, kind face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be,
Sadly missed by her husband,

Carl Stange, and sons, Robert, Ralph and Richard.

A VACATION consists of a number of 2's—2 weeks that are 2 short, and when they're over you're 2 tired, 2 go back 2 work and 2 broke not 2.—The Marion Advertiser.
