

Kewaskum Will Conduct Blood Clinic Aug. 11

The mobile blood collecting unit of the Junior League Blood Center of Milwaukee will conduct a blood donor clinic at the high school in Kewaskum from 1:00 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Aug. 11. A quota of 150 pints has been set as the goal for the clinic.

The blood collected will be used for defense and civilian purposes. Refreshments at the clinic will be served by the Kewaskum American Legion auxiliary.

Donors are urged to sign up with either Henry Rosenheimer, Fred Miller or Ed. Haack, or they can sign at their place of employment. If more convenient all they have to do is telephone any of the above mentioned men to give blood. A blank appears on this page for donors to fill out. They are asked to give their name, address and time they prefer to donate blood.

Roll up your sleeves and contribute to the blood program in Kewaskum on Aug. 11. Blood is urgently needed. Giving it is safe, simple and painless. Fill out the appointment blank and send it on its way. Let's exceed the quota.

Represent Local Club at Kiwanis Convention

The Kiwanis club of Kewaskum will be represented at the 1953 convention of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis District to be held Aug. 2-4 at Oshkosh, Club President H. B. Rosenheimer announced this week.

President Rosenheimer, Dr. R. G. Edwards, vice-president, and Willard Bartel, secretary, will represent the Kewaskum club at the 3-day meeting at the Hotel Rauf.

Jackson A. Raney, trustee of Kiwanis International and superintendent of the Indiana State School for the Deaf at Indianapolis, Ind. will be a featured speaker.

The presiding officer will be Silas C. Johnson, life insurance general agent of Madison, and governor of the Kiwanis district.

Delegates from 85 clubs in the district, representing a membership of 5,568 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year, and election of officers will highlight the convention program, Rosenheimer said.

BIRTHS

NOTICE TO BUS PASSENGERS

All those who have made bus reservations to the Braves game on Monday, Aug. 3, will meet at the drug store at 6 o'clock. Buses will leave as soon as possible before loaded. Fare will be collected before leaving. Everyone attending the game is urged to pick up their "Kewaskum Booster" headress before they leave. They will also be distributed at the drug store.

Fire Dept. Called Twice; Shed Burns

At about 10:30 a. m. Monday the Kewaskum firemen answered a call to the Sylvia Maedke farm in the town of Auburn, about three miles north of Kewaskum. A grass fire started behind a shed on the farm. Part of a board fence and a small patch of grass burned.

At 8:30 a. m. Thursday another call was received by the firemen. This time they sped to the Ed. J. Gutschentritter farm in the town of Kewaskum, located on R. 2. A machine shed started to burn from the backfire of a tractor. The fire spread quickly and when firemen arrived the shed was enveloped in flames. The fire department confined their water and work to saving the surrounding buildings. The shed was destroyed.

Family Gathering Held at Firks Home Sunday

An enjoyable outdoor family gathering and birthday anniversary was held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Firks at New Fane on Sunday, July 26. Dinner was pot luck style and for supper the honoree, Vernon Firks, served a delicious fish fry and refreshments. The afternoon was spent in playing cards and horseshoe. The children enjoyed playing ball.

Those present for the gathering were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Strueser and Lynn and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lisko, Allen Bruesser, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bruesser, Town Scott; Mrs. Edwin A. Schultz, Fond du Lac; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Buss, Yvonne and Gary, Sheboygan Falls, R. 3; Mr. and Mrs. Glenway Elbert, Mrs. Emma Quandt, West Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Schulz and Larry Lee, Cascade, R. 1; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ehert, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Firks, Vernon Firks, New Fane.

Everybody had an enjoyable time.

K. Tom Peterson Attends Annual UW Music Clinic

K. Tom Peterson, attended the 24th annual Wisconsin Music Clinic on the University of Wisconsin campus for three weeks to July 25.

A total of 643 high school musicians from Wisconsin and seven other states were enrolled in the clinic which is sponsored by the University of Wisconsin to give the students the opportunity to study certain types of music not generally obtainable in the home school.

The clinic is divided into the all-state high school orchestra, band, and chorus. Victor Kolar, conductor of the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra and the Scandinavian orchestra of Detroit, was in charge of the all-state orchestra. Maurice McAdow, professor of music at North Texas State college, directed the all-state band, and Stanford Hulshizer, professor of music education at Drake university, led the all-state chorus.

The music clinic wound up its session with a triumphal combined festival concert by the orchestra, band and chorus at the Stock Pavilion Saturday, July 25, at 7:30 p. m. Prof. Emmett R. Sarig of the UW Extension Division directed the clinic.

Tom played the cornet in the clinic band.

TEN LOCAL MEN, OTHERS ATTEND RACINE RETREAT

Ten members of Holy Trinity congregation, Kewaskum, accompanied by several other men from surrounding communities attended their third annual Holy Name society closed retreat at St. Rita's at Racine on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 17-19. St. Rita's is one of the country's foremost retreat houses.

Kewaskum Holy Name men attending included Bruce Petri, Ralph Remmel, Alan Stoffel, Louis Bath, Jr., Tom Green, Wm. Lettow, John Marx, John Trapp, Jac. Bruessel, and Ted Rohlinger. Others in the group were Herb Krantz of Allenton, Anton Staehler of St. Michaels, Wm. Podiesak of Oshkosh and Gerald Staehler of St. Michaels.

Death of John C. Bresemann, Others

John C. Bresemann, 78, retired town of Wayne farmer, died early Saturday morning, July 25, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, following an illness of four months.

Born May 25, 1875, in the town of Wayne, he was a resident there all of his life except for 15 years which he spent in Iowa and Minnesota. He never married. The deceased was a son of the late John and Elizabeth Bresemann.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Butzke of Hawkins, Wis., and Mrs. Adelaide Luedtke of Lomira; three brothers, Charles Bresemann of Kewaskum, William and Allen of the town of Wayne; nieces, nephews, one sister-in-law, one brother-in-law, and other relatives. Another brother, Ben, died on June 1, 1953.

The remains were in state at the Miller Funeral home from 2 p. m. Monday to 11 a. m. Tuesday and at St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church from noon to 2 p. m. Tuesday, when services were held. The Rev. Gerhard Kanies officiated and burial was in Lutheran Memorial park.

MRS. AMELIA MARQUARDT

Mrs. Amelia Marquardt, 87, nee Kutz, of the town of Barton, died Tuesday morning, July 28, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Kluever there. She had been ill two weeks. Deceased was born at Freistadt on Sept. 4, 1865. She married Fred Marquardt in St. Lucas Lutheran church, Kewaskum, on Nov. 21, 1880. He predeceased her in 1915. Following their marriage the couple lived on a farm in Fond du Lac county for many years. For the past 20 years she had resided at the Kluever home.

Mrs. Marquardt is survived by five children, Oscar of R. 5, West Bend, William and Fred of R. 2, Campbellsport, Celia (Mrs. Walter Krowald) of the town of Auburn, Adeline (Mrs. Lorenz Kluever); ten grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and a brother, August Kutz of the town of Osceola. Two children predeceased him.

Funeral services were held at Trinity Lutheran church, Dundee, Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., Rev. H. Kahrs officiating. Burial was in the parish cemetery. Prior to services the body was in state at Miller's Funeral home, Kewaskum.

SISTER M. ALPHONSE

Sister M. Alphonse, 76, a member of the Sisterhood of St. Agnes, who has been the domestic sister in Kewaskum for some time, died at 4:30 p. m. Friday, July 24, at Fond du Lac.

She was born Feb. 26, 1877, in Germany, and had been engaged as a domestic at missions in Wisconsin during her religious life. Surviving are nieces and nephews, including the Rev. Edmund R. Kinate, O. P. Praem, Green Bay.

Funeral services were held Monday at 8 a. m. at the St. Agnes convent chapel, Fond du Lac. Burial was in St. Joseph's Springs cemetery.

Mrs. Allen Reinold, Kewaskum, R. 1, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend.

Seefeldt Family Has 14th Annual Reunion in Park

185 ATTEND EVENT, AND CELEBRATE CENTENNIAL OF THE SETTLEMENT IN KEWASKUM

One hundred eighty-five persons attended the fourteenth annual reunion of the Seefeldt family Sunday, July 26, at the Kewaskum village park. This was a centennial anniversary in commemoration of the first Seefeldt settling in Kewaskum.

Special recognition and award was presented to the member of the clan who lived in Kewaskum the longest time. Herman Seefeldt, 85 years of age, received this award, having spent his entire life in the area.

Other awards were presented to Fred Klein, Kewaskum, for being the second oldest member in attendance; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schlinz of Loyal, who traveled the greatest distance; Cheryl Wulff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wulff, R. 3, Kewaskum, youngest member, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seefeldt, Kewaskum, the most recently married couple.

Since last year's reunion there were eight births, two marriages and one death.

The afternoon was spent informally. Games were played under the direction of Miss Esther Klumb, R. 1, West Bend.

Community singing was led by Albert Zimmerman, Reedsville.

A group photograph was taken and a short history of the Seefeldts and Kewaskum was given to each family from which the following information has been taken:

In the spring of 1853, David Seefeldt, his wife Louise, and infant son Julius left Milwaukee to come to Kewaskum. Why and how we do not know. What a trip, even with a good team of oxen and wagon over roads that were mere trails. On coming to Kewaskum, he purchased forty acres at $2.00 per acre. The land was purchased from John H. Pickle and Eliza M. Pickle, his wife, who had acquired 80 acres from the government on July 8, 1850. The records seem to indicate that Mr. Pickle lived at Kewaskum and that David evidently purchased the land after he came to Kewaskum. The legal description of the land is N. W. 1/4 of N.E. 1/4 of Section No. 30, Town 12 N., Range 19 East.

This land did not have access to any road, but it did have a spring, and the east branch of the Milwaukee River made a small bend into the 40 acres. Little of this land could have been cleared from the time it was purchased from the government.

The records of the town of Kewaskum show that David Seefeldt cast his first vote at the town election on April 3, 1855 at which time there were already 140 votes registered in the town.

After spending almost 11 years in the town of Kewaskum, David sold his land on March 28, 1864 for $475.00 and moved to Eden, Wis.

Alfred and Oscar Seefeldt purchased half of David's original 40 acres on Oct. 5, 1943. There is no trace of any building left on the land to indicate where he lived.

David must have liked Kewaskum in spite of the many difficulties en-

Verla Schloemer, Augie Bilgo Wed

The Rev. R. W. Groth officiated at the nuptial rite in Trinity English Lutheran church at West Bend at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 18, in which Miss Verla Schloemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Schloemer, R. 4, West Bend, became the bride of August F. Bilgo, son of Mr. and Mrs. August C. Bilgo, Kewaskum.

The bridal gown of nylon tulle and lace was fashioned with a lace bodice, extreme sweetheart neckline and long lace sleeves. The three-tiered skirt featured an apron effect peplum of lace edged in six-inch nylon tulle. Self-laced flowers were applied around the peplum and neckline. The double fingertip tulle veil was held in place by a bandeau of chantilly starched lace, appliqued with seed pearls. White carnations with white roses formed her bouquet.

Miss Joyce Schloemer served as her sister's maid of honor. She wore a brief cut-away lace jacket with standup collar over her strapless American Beauty nylon net and lace gown. With it she wore a lace bonnet with contrasting ribbons. She carried a cascade arrangement of blue tinted carnations centered with red roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Schloemer, Mrs. Daniel Backus and Mrs. Ray Gerner, wore gowns in heavenly blue nylon net with white lace styled identically like that of the maid of honor. Their pink carnations were combined with roses. Little Miss Jane Honck, the flower girl, was dressed similar to the other attendants in American Beauty and carried a basket of blue carnations and roses in a basket.

Roger Bilgo served as his brother's best man, while Ray Schloemer, Ivan Buss and Myron Backhaus acted as groomsmen. Guests were ushered to their places by Charles Sutherland and Ray Klein. Little David Bilgo was the ringbearer. Supper was served to 100 guests at Forest Lake resort. A reception for 200 guests and a wedding dance were also held there in the evening. The young couple has returned from a honeymoon to the western states and they are now at home in Kewaskum. The bridegroom, who is engaged in farming here, is a graduate of Kewaskum High school. Mrs. Bilgo, a West Bend High school graduate, had been employed at the West Bend News Agency.

It was his report to the family in Germany that brought his brothers August, William and Carl, and his sister Wilhelmina to Kewaskum in 1856.

August and William each purchased 40 acres of land just north of David's land. Carl followed the mason trade and made his home with the August Seefeldt family.

Wilhelmina married Peter Schmidt on Sept. 14, 1856. Mr. Schmidt lost his life in the Civil War. In 1864, she married John Siegel and continued to reside in the town of Kewaskum, southwest of the village in Section 8 until her death in 1898.

In 1898, Gottlieb and his sister Friedericka, with her husband Ferdinand Buss, also came directly to Kewaskum from Germany. Gottlieb purchased 80 acres in Section 3 from his brother William who then

Kanisses Honored on Threefold Anniversary

Members of the St. Lucas La.ies' Aid and their families gathered together Sunday evening, July 26, and pleasantly surprised Rev. and Mrs. Gerhard Kanies, the occasion being their silver wedding anniversary. Rev. Kanies' twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the ministry, and his twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as pastor of the St. Lucas congregation.

For this occasion the church parlors were beautifully decorated with many baskets of cut flowers silvered for this occasion. Floral centerpieces, silver candy cups, program-ettes and napkins were all in keeping with the threefold anniversary. The stage was flanked with baskets of silvered flowers, gladioli, larkspur, hydrangea, baby's breath, etc. "Was centered with a table holding the 3-tiered wedding cake topped with a church, the three gifts for the honored couple, candelabra and flowers. Silver hearts and wedding bells completed the decorations.

The festivities began with a delicious luncheon after which the following programme was presented:

Mealtime prayer (sung by all). Musical selections. Group singing. Song "We Bid Thee Welcome in Thy Name." Address by seminary student, Glenway Backhaus. Poet "Seek Ye the Lord," Mr. and Mrs. Donald Habock.

Presentation of gifts, Mrs. Reunion Schultz.

Address, Rev. G. Kanies.

Song "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Musical selections—Piano accompaniment, Miss Shirley Pala; solo, "Mary," Mrs. Donald Habock; piano duet, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Habock.

"Play—An Ounce of Prevention," coach, Mrs. Carl Johnson.

Song—"An Old-Fashioned Meeting," Donald Habock.

Play—"Waiting for the Train," coach, Mrs. Louis Habock.

Closing hymn of prayer for both (sung by all).

Many pictures of the occasion were taken by Ray Thornton of Fond du Lac.

After viewing the gifts, lunch was again served, after which the guests departed wishing Rev. and Mrs. Kanies many more years of health and happiness.

moved to Friendship near Van Dyne. In 1881, Gottlieb sold his farm in the town of Kewaskum to his brother August and moved to the town of Scott in Sheboygan county. After retiring from active farming, he and his wife returned to the town of Kewaskum to live with his daughter Ida and her husband Fred Klein. He died on Feb. 14, 1920 at the age of 69 years.

Friedericka and her husband spent the rest of their lives at Kewaskum except for a few years at Milwaukee. She died on April 3, 1900 and is buried at Kewaskum.

August and Carl continued to reside in Kewaskum and on Sept. 17, 1862, purchased the east 55-1/3 acres of the S.W. 1/4 of Section 2 from Anton Witzig. On March 17, August purchased part of the N.W. 1/4 of Section 3, and retained 20 acres on which his daughter Bertha, with her husband, Herman Buss, started a brickyard, which was in operation for many years. On January 15, 1876, August purchased 117 acres from Sebastian Witzig in Section 2, and made this farm his home until his death in 1894. Besides his farming, August also followed his trade as a tailor when he first came to Kewaskum. On April 4, 1871, he was elected as supervisor of the town, and served for 3 years and then was not a candidate until 1878 at which time he was again elected and served for one year. His sons continued on the farms he had acquired and these are now the homes of Herman Seefeldt, Louis Seefeldt and Oscar Seefeldt.

For a hundred years, the descendants of Christian Friedrich Seefeldt and Anna Sophia Kobs have called Kewaskum their home, and in a small way have helped to develop the community from its early ruggedness to the Kewaskum of today, with its fine churches, schools, good farms, modern factories and businesses to make it a desirable place in which to live and work.

528 Kewaskum Fans to See Braves Play Dodgers on Aug. 3

Monday night, Aug. 3, will be Kewaskum night, when the Milwaukee Braves clash with the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers at the Milwaukee County stadium. A total of 528 or more Kewaskum fans will be in the stands at this game with the "Bums."

Kewaskum night at a Braves game grew out of a Kiwanis project. Originally the Kewaskum Kiwanians were going to make it a club affair but it was soon decided to make it a community event with so many persons interested in attending.

Dr. F. E. Nolting, chairman of the night, reported that 325 tickets were purchased to begin with but it didn't take long before they were all sold. A total of 528 tickets have been sold and an attempt was made to obtain more. It is pretty difficult to get tickets when the Bums are in town because of the demand for tickets. L. N. Peterson has been assisting Dr. Nolting in the project.

Most of the Kewaskum group will be traveling to the stadium in a bus caravan. Others will drive in cars. Ticket holders who want to go via bus are asked to notify Dr. Nolting so that it can be determined how many buses will be needed.

Jackson will also have a special night on the same date. They have sold 300 tickets for the game. Add these to the normal number of fans from the county attending and you will find over 1,000 Washington county people seeing the contest.

KIWANIS CLUB SPONSORING FACE LIFTING OF K-M SIGN

The Kewaskum Kiwanis club is sponsoring a face lifting and repairs to the Kettle Moraine sign south of the village, advertising the approach to Kewaskum as the entrance to the Kettle Moraine state forest. It is estimated that the cost of the job will be in the neighborhood of $300.00.

The club expects to raise the amount needed for the repairs and advertising the village by solicitations. It is a worthy undertaking for advertising our thriving city and community, so let's all get behind the project and put it over.

Teacup Topics

By Betty Ann

EDITOR

Recently we saw two older women together who perfectly illustrated the problem of color selection in clothing for their age group.

One woman had the "crow look." She was dressed from head to foot in unrelieved black. There was not a touch of color anywhere. Her hair was gray. Her face was devoid of the color relief that make-up would have brought. To make matters worse, the blacks offered no contrast in texture of fabric.

Her companion had gone to the opposite extreme and was dressed in a melee of colors—a red hat, a kelly green coat, a red and green print dress, a navy bag and navy shoes. She, too, was gray haired and without make-up.

Black is always smart, the first woman must have said to herself. What she didn't know is that it needs contrast to help it cross the border line from dreary to chic. A bold streak of color, such as yellow or red for her hat or scarf, would have done it.

Or she could have made a contrast with black velvet, patent leather, or straw or highly polished calf. She needed soft make-up to light up her appearance.

The second woman, of course, wore too many colors. And she chose two vivid colors to wear together. One color might have been her most becoming neutral shade with one of the vivid colors for contrast. Black would be a better choice for shoes and bag. She also needed the lift of a soft make-up.

If your figure has become stooped and rigid from months of slouching, you'll want to limber it up.

Good posture, balance, poise and liveness are your rewards for the right kind of exercise. You can't expect to reduce much through them nor do you want to build great muscles which don't look feminine.

But here is an exercise which can help you gain a beautiful stance and walk. It will be difficult only if your balance is bad and, if it's bad, you need it.

Get into a straight but relaxed posture, with arms at sides, palms forward. Place right foot with heel touching toes of the left foot, so that one foot is directly in front of the other. Keep tummy pulled in and put weight on forward foot.

Bend knee of left leg and point downward. Bring it slowly into the heel to toe position. Keep walking this cat on a fence way for 20 slow steps.

Beauty products often serve purposes more far reaching than their makers originally intended.

Take bath oil, for example. Most users enjoy it in their bath only. But do you know that it can act as a sachet? Rub a few drops of a very rich bath oil—one that contains no water or alcohol—into the wood of your bureau drawer. The fragrance will delightfully scent your lingerie.

Girls use bath oil to freshen up smoky or musty rooms. Rub a few drops on your electric light bulbs or pour a few drops into a bowl of very hot water and let the fragrant steam clear the atmosphere.

Do you think you have to do without the luxury of bath oil because you have time for only a shower? Rub a few drops on each of your shoulders. When the hot water strikes them a cloud of perfume will arise.

Frequently travelers who often resort to the practice of dewrinking their clothes over a hot bathtub may shake a few drops of rich bath oil into the filling tub. The rising fragrance will permeate their clothes.

Lamb Chops in Orange Sauce
Six shoulder lamb chops, one-half inch thick; flour; 3 tablespoons fat; 2 teaspoons salt; ½ teaspoon nutmeg; 1 cup orange juice; 1 tablespoon grated orange rind; 2 teaspoons vinegar; ½ cup seedless raisins.

Roll the chops in flour. Melt fat in heavy skillet. Brown chops on both sides. Pour off fat. Add salt, nutmeg, orange juice, orange rind and vinegar. Cover. Cook slowly one hour. Add raisins. Cook 30 minutes. Serve. Yield: 4 servings.

Pineapple Mint Sauce
One-fourth cup brown sugar; 1 tablespoon cornstarch; 2 cups pineapple juice; 8 drops mint extract; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; ½ teaspoon basil; ½ teaspoon marjoram.

Combine brown sugar and cornstarch. Add to remaining ingredients. Cook until mixture boils. Serve hot with lamb. Yield: Two and one-half cups.

Many Treatments Work For Warts

The common wart has been the subject of folk-lore and fancy for hundreds of years and it is still a source of mystification to everybody, including doctors.

Here are some of the mysteries surrounding the common wart which, except on a psychological basis, doctors are at a loss to account for, according to a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical association.

Warts appear and disappear spontaneously, with or without treatment, or with many kinds of treatment—including even such fantastic treatments as the black cat-graveyard type employed by Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn. Sometimes they disappear when only one single wart is treated and sometimes they resist all treatment, scientific and Tom Sawyerish, alike.

The truth about warts is, as far as doctors have been able to ascertain today, that they are caused by an obscure virus which has very little in common with the better known viruses and is probably affected by psychotherapy. At times hypnosis has been credited with a cure and some dermatologists say that warts are often known to disappear during the interval between the initial examination and the date set for removal, a week or two later.

More direct and measurable treatment by burning or chemicals to destroy the wart is effective in the hands of a physician and is often especially necessary on the hands where there is exposure to water and to irritation. X-ray and radium may be used under some circumstances, but with extreme caution because of the possibility of severe after-effects. None are completely satisfactory and success depends to a great degree on care the patient himself gives the treated area to prevent infection and scarring.

Make Sure Air Conditioner Matches Needs

BY EDNA MILES

PICKING the right air conditioner for your needs takes greater thought than that involved in the purchase of a deep freeze or a washing machine.

With air conditioners coming within the budget of so many families, it's a good idea for the housewife to forearm herself with practical information before the purchase is made.

Rules for getting the most for your money when buying an air conditioner come from an expert in the field. According to him, there's a common assumption that a room-air-conditioner of a given size will air-condition any room of a certain floor space. This is quite untrue.

The first consideration, even before thinking about the size, should be the room's exposure. The number and the size of the windows in the room, its location in the house, construction of the house, and whether the unit will be operated during the day or only at night, comprise four very important factors.

Perhaps you have an upstairs bedroom in an uninsulated frame house with a southwest exposure and no shade. You want to air-condition the room during the daytime hours only. This is the most difficult kind of room to cool. Compare it to a downstairs living room on the north side of a brick house. Even though both rooms are the same size, the upstairs bedroom will take a larger unit to pump out the heat that flows into the room.

But there are other considerations, such as the number of people who normally occupy the room, and the height of the ceiling. In addition, remember that it's a poor idea to let direct sunshine into the room you want to air-condition. The use of awnings, jalousies, or blinds will help cut the unit's operating costs.

By checking these points with your dealer, you may prevent the waste that results from buying a room-air-conditioner that's too small or too large. Match the unit to your room's requirements and it will perform both efficiently and economically.

A console model air conditioner like this one will cool a large room or several small ones.

About The Home

By FRANCIS DELL

Let the decorating and furnishing of your home reflect your own personality. The main factors to consider is you—your personality, your needs and your means. If you give thought to your decoration and furnishing it will add greatly to your pleasure and comfort.

Color is probably the most important decorative element. The colors referred to as "warm" are those containing red, yellow and orange. Decorators say that the "warm" colors tend to stimulate a feeling of intimacy. But when over-used they may make you restless. These colors move toward you and make rooms seem smaller.

The cool colors are blue, green, violet and others predominated by blue. These cool colors give a feeling of serenity to a room. If over-used, they can be depressing. Cool colors seem to move away from you, creating a feeling of spaciousness.

Furniture is important. For some people it is hard to decide between conventional and modern. If you have one type and want another but can't afford a complete conversion, keep in mind that beautiful results are achieved with combinations.

In most cases, one style should predominate with the other used more-or-less for accent. Every object in a room should serve some purpose and have a function. Added beauty is always a legitimate function. Light and the way it is handled can make or break a room. You can accomplish some remarkable results with lighting and the costs need not be unreasonable.

If spilled grease on the stove catches fire, you can smother it quickly by sprinkling it with baking soda.

When you buy ready-made clothes, check the width of the seams—especially in a fabric that may ravel. Look at the full length of the seam, not just at the lower edge of the skirt.

First Peek Inside The Living Eye

The eye is a transparent window through which we look out upon the world, the Better Vision Institute points out. But nobody had looked the other way through the window, into the interior of the eye itself, until Herman von Helmholtz did it, in 1851.

Helmholtz, a first-rank scientific genius, invented the ophthalmoscope. Your eyesight specialist uses it when he examines your eyes. It is a precise hand instrument which beams a pencil of bright light through your pupil to the back of the eye. From there it is reflected into the eye of the examiner through a peephole in the ophthalmoscope, giving him a picture of the inside of your eye.

You have seen a cat's eyes shine in the semidarkness. Helmholtz knew that the glow of those eyes is really a reflection, not from outer parts of the eye but from the interior of the eye. So he asked himself, why not get a reflected light from the inside of human eyes and see what's there?

The ophthalmoscope and similar instruments present a marvelous picture of the retina, with its "yellow spot," its "disk" or blind spot, its rose-orange tissue crisscrossed with tiny blood vessels. Not only are defects of the eye itself revealed, but on the retina are recorded the telltale marks of dozens of bodily diseases, from gland disorders to diabetes. Thus the ophthalmoscope has become a valuable instrument for diagnosing and

Bible Comment:

Paul Wrote a Fine Letter on Christian Life and Living

THE great Apostle Paul was not perfect. He was, as every man is in many respects, the child of his age.

But one of the most remarkable things about Paul was the fact that he went far beyond his age. He went so far beyond his age and time and place that much of what he wrote is as applicable to problems of today as it was almost two thousand years ago. In many ways, much of Paul's writing seems to have been written in our own age.

What is more, the writings of Paul seem to reflect in greatness and purity, exactly the same "simplicity that is in Christ."

To those who would disparage Paul and say that he is overrated, it is suggested that they concentrate on the positive, practical teachings of the man in relation to Christian living. See them as the interpretation of Jesus as the Master of character and conduct.

The lesson from Ephesians contains one of the dramatic passages in which Paul describes the fruits of the spirit and the true nature of Christian life.

He draws a picture of the Christian soldier, equipped with the armor of God. He is a steadfast soldier who is full of courage and fortified by prayer.

Also, he gives us a picture of the Christian as a member of a group in which each part has its functions. Where all parts are working together for the glorifying of the body. This is an ideal description of society. A goal that men can strive for.

But the Christian simplicity of Paul finds its climax in his eulogy of love.

The man who wrote these words and lived the Gospel which he preached will be great forever. He will be great as a man in the story of history.

But he will also be great as a Christian in the wider scope of God's kingdom itself. Such a man was Paul.

State Welfare Child Care Program Report

Approximately 7,850 Wisconsin children received care of some form during the 1951-52 biennium from county or state child welfare workers, according to a biennial report presented to State Welfare Director John W. Tramburg and the state board of public welfare by the division for children and youth of the state department of public welfare.

Of the total number of children cared for in 1952 were serviced directly by division workers.

The report, prepared by Fred Delliquadri, division director, and his staff, shows that 53 of the state's 71 counties now have child welfare services as part of their county welfare department organization, while 11 others provide such care through some other method. Only seven counties—Buffalo, Trempealeau, Juneau, Waushara, Manitowoc, Iowa and LaFayette—are still without some form of public child welfare service. In some counties in which there are no child welfare workers the division for children and youth gives direct casework service through its district staffs.

Total expenditures of the division for the biennium were $3,602,432 in state and federal funds.

The division for children and youth with central offices in Madison and 10 district offices in various parts of the state, provides services for children in their homes, in foster, receiving and group homes, at the Wisconsin Child Center in Sparta, in interstate placements and in cases of children born out of wedlock. It also provides psychological and psychiatric services, licenses foster homes and day care centers, and assists local communities in developing their own programs through community services, surveys and consultation on special problems relating to youth and delinquent prevention.

"The division's program," says Director Delliquadri, "is based on the premises that delinquency is best prevented by strengthening welfare services for all children and youth, rather than through special services for delinquents alone."

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

The ability to relax is very important and gives promise of a longer, healthier life. Most recreation is as strenuous as our work and should be sensibly regulated. A person's mental attitude greatly affects his ability to get the most out of his periods of relaxation. At these times he should cast his worries aside. Otherwise, sleep will be disturbed and recreation fruitless.

Answer to Question No. 2:

It is a system of printing for the blind which uses combinations of tangible points or impressions representing letters and numbers and which the blind can "read" by feeling the points on the paper with their fingers. It is named after Louis Braille (1809-1852), its original designer. Any book can be printed in Braille for use by the blind.

Answer to Question No. 3:

The best thing to do with an oncoming sneeze is to sneeze—into your handkerchief of course. It is better to sneeze normally through the mouth which is better equipped than the sinuses and ears to take the blast. Suppression of sneezes may lead to considerable damage to the ears.

Lemon Mint Juleps Beat the Heat

When the temperature soars and all summer breezes blow hot, it's time to cool off with a frosty pitcher of Lemon Mint Juleps. This beverage is a wonderful pepper-upper for that mid-afternoon summer wilted feeling and equally refreshing for sipping through warm evenings. All lemon drinks pep you up in the heat because lemons contain so much vitamin C—the nutrient which helps restore your pep and vitality that disappear so fast during the summer.

To make the lemon juleps seem more gala, frost the rims of the glasses as well as the mint. When you're squeezing lemons for the beverage, pour several teaspoons of the juice into a shallow saucer. Dip the rim of each glass into lemon juice, then into granulated sugar. Let the glasses stand, right side up, while you're mixing the lemonade.

For every lemon julep, allow approximately one lemon and two tablespoons of sugar (more or less, depending on the sweetness you desire). For a pitcher of Lemon Mint Juleps, crush several sprigs of mint with the juice of six lemons plus one and one-half cups sugar. Stir well; add six cups cold water and lots of ice cubes. Use thin slices of lemons and mint leaves dipped in sugar as perky garnishes.

Sports Afield

By Ted Kesting

The sportsman preparing to buy a binocular is confronted with a confusing problem. He is faced with hundreds of specifications, makes, models and prices. Even if he sees the binoculars and takes a quick look through them he can't detect everything on the inside.

Pete Brown, associate editor of Sports Afield magazine and expert on guns and glasses, has examined hundreds of binoculars and has talked to a lot of binocular experts. During the past few weeks he has interviewed a number of repairmen to get their ideas and he reports that he has yet to find anyone who has seen, tested or repaired all or even nearly all the various binoculars on the market.

Seeing one binocular is not sufficient to judge a make or model except in regard to construction in general. In addition to the possibility of getting hold of a particularly good one of a generally poor make, and vice versa, there is the possibility that a manufacturer has greatly improved his product since the last one was examined. Consequently, it is futile and decidedly unfair to try to list the hundreds of binoculars and evaluate them. I seriously doubt that a reliable source of up-to-date data on all binoculars is to be found anywhere.

In general, from what I have seen, the American-made binoculars are the finest on the market today. Some German binoculars are very good. English binoculars in general are well made. The majority of the imported French binoculars are cheaply made and not what you call good glasses. Japanese binoculars are the most controversial. Some call them junk, others praise them highly.

The answer, of course, is that some of the Japanese imports are good values and give good performance while others are poor throughout.

You should buy a binocular in much the same manner in which you would make a careful purchase of a good watch. Both are lifetime investments, you might say. In the final analysis you fall back on the reputation of the manufacturer or the dealer. If you don't know of the manufacturer, then rely on a dealer who knows his product inside and out and has the reputation for being reliable. It is also worth knowing if you can get repairs and replacement parts in case of breakage.

SCS Gives Valuable Aid To Farmers With Conservation Needs

Wisconsin farmers installed more soil and water conservation practices during 1952 than in any other single year since the U. S. Soil Conservation Service has been assisting them through their local soil conservation districts. More than twice as many farmers became District cooperators in '52 than in any other year.

This announcement was made by Cy Atkinson, Hertel, chairman of the Burnett County Soil Conservation District governing body following receipt of a letter from M. F. Schweers of Madison, State Conservationist for the SCS. Schweers' communication was an acknowledgement of annual reports from the local and the 63 other districts of the state.

The state conservationist pointed out several factors that contributed to making 1952 outstanding in terms of application of soil and water conservation practices on the land. In the first place, farmer demands for Service assistance continue to increase. Secondly, an exceptionally dry fall was conducive to installation of such practices as terracing, diversions, waterways and drainage. County highway committees and commissioners were extremely cooperative in making motor patrols and other heavy equipment available for hire by farmers.

In his letter Schweers said: "In a large number of reports supervisors expressed a sincere appreciation for the contribution made to district activities by the Production & Marketing Administration through its agriculture conservation program." To offset assistance SCS personnel rendered the ACP in assisting farmers on permanent type practices under its program, the PMA provided, either through direct employment or on a reimbursable basis, funds adequate to hire about 60,000 man days of part-time help. This was used during the spring and fall layout seasons.

"We are still convinced that Wisconsin is leading the field nationally in youth education and soil and water conservation," the state conservationist remarked. "Major credit for this fine showing goes to county superintendents of schools and teachers with the state conservation committee providing facilitating leadership."

"Supervisors commended personnel of the Agricultural Extension Service, State Soil Conservation Committee, Production & Marketing Administration, Farm Home Administration, Vocational Agriculture, Vet Trainers, Soil Conservation Service, Wisconsin Conservation Department, sportsmen's clubs, banker's association, machinery dealers, business organizations, and several other groups for the fine cooperation and contributions made to the 64 soil conservation districts in Wisconsin," Schweers stated.

The state conservationist stated that "the organization of community watershed associations is developing quite rapidly in Wisconsin. Outdoor Life Magazine recognized the Plum Valley organization in the Sauk county soil conservation district as the outstanding organization in the nation for its work on the very fundamentals of wildlife conservation." This is one of several such organizations in the Sauk county district that is pointing to achieving proper land use and soil and water conservation through this medium. There are about 15 other groups in the state that are either functioning or getting underway. These organizations are definitely of the farmers, by the farmers and for the farmers."

According to Extension Soil Conservationist O. R. Zeasman, 27 air tours involving 29 soil conservation districts were conducted by the Extension Service and the Wisconsin Aeronautic Commission. A total of 1,544, largely farmers, made the flights. Mr. Zeasman says these tours provide an opportunity to look down on one's farm thus enabling a person to pick out the weak and strong characteristics of the land.

"It is recognized that the success of the soil and water conservation program is dependent upon farmers' interest, understanding and enthusiasm," Mr. Schweers commented. "Quite a number of the district governing bodies recognized outstanding soil conservation farmers within their districts. Their 'reward' usually included plaques or certificates and supervisor sponsored dinners for husband-wife 'winners'."

District supervisors other than Chairman Cy Atkinson who received Schweers' letter are: B. T. Smith, Grantsburg; Keith Lewis, Spooner; Lowell Nelson, Grantsburg and Gust A. Carlson, Siren.

ZEBRA SWALLOWTAIL

Zebra Swallowtail
©1952 National Wildlife Federation

That superior field guide to the butterflies written by A. B. Klots and edited by the National Wildlife Federation's Art Editor Roger Tory Peterson lists 22 different swallowtail butterflies to be found in North America east of the Great Plains. Eight of these are listed as casual species in that area. A checklist of insects found in New York State does not list the Zebra Swallowtail but does list 8 others.

Zebra Swallowtails are reported to be rare in southern New England and to be found in southern Ontario, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin south to the Gulf States and Florida. How this butterfly can be found in southern New England and southern Ontario and not in New York State is difficult to conceive but that is the way the record reads. Anyway it should be found rarely or otherwise over much of eastern United States and some of southern Canada.

Its closest common relative might be the Tiger Swallowtail. To the layman the Zebra Swallowtail differs from the Tiger Swallowtail in having much longer "swallowtails" and in having a red spot near the tail region of the hind wings. The color pattern is shown better in the colored stamp issued in the 1952 series of the National Wildlife Federation than is possible in a black and white reproduction.

The state conservationist stated that "the organization of community watershed associations is developing quite rapidly in Wisconsin. Outdoor Life Magazine recognized the Plum Valley or-

Zebra Swallowtail caterpillars winter over as pupae and there may be as many as four broods a year in a given locality. There is considerable variation in the appearance of these butterflies at different times in the season. Early spring specimens have a smaller size and shorter tails than the later season broods. They also have more extensive light-colored markings. Even individuals that emerge late in the spring, although members of the first brood of the season, may be larger, darker and longer-tailed than the earliest to make their appearance in the season. Entomologists recognize an early April brood, an early June brood and an October brood though there may be a fourth. Naturally some of these generations may overlap so an interesting variety of the butterflies may be expected in the late season.

Zebra Swallowtail caterpillars are green with fine yellow and black cross bands and a wide band across a humped section.

Hog House on Skids

MOVABLE hog houses can be inexpensively built right in the farm workshop. One that has been popular is the individual house. For easy moving, the units are built on skids.

A sturdily-constructed hog house will last a long time, despite frequent changes of location. The one pictured is of this type, as its lumber framework is covered with Masonite quarter-inch Tempered Presdwood, an all-wood panel that defies wear and weather.

Hog houses like this provide for effective sanitation and disease control when they are kept clean and moved periodically to clean areas or placed next to a concrete feeding platform.

A working drawing for the construction of either a single unit six feet long or the double one of twice that length may be obtained by writing Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting free plan No. AFB-193. The bureau also has several other plans available for easily-built hog houses and other farm structures. All are free.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—One great prop under this country's postwar boom will be pulled away this month when farmers ballot on quotas for wheat plantings next year. They must either vote for a reduction of acreage—somewhere between 20 and 30 per cent—or see their support prices cut almost in half next year. In the fall, a similar choice will confront cotton farmers.

In comparison to the weight the farmer carries in congress and state legislatures, farm operations contribute less than is generally realized to the national income. Yet, for many manufacturers, it is the farm market which keeps his sales up to a profitable level. Examples are midwestern oil refiners and makers of medium-size trucks.

Really important effect will be that the speculative heart will go out of activities in the farm areas. The years when any investment in farm land or equipment was sure to pay off are at an end. Things will be tougher hereafter for the 10 per cent of the population who are really working farmers. Their suppliers will feel this.

GLOBAL DEFENSE—"Off-shore" procurement of spare parts for American fighter-bombers defending our allies in western Europe became a reality recently when Republic Aviation International, S. A., Swiss subsidiary of Republic Aviation Corp., concluded a $50-million contract with U. S. Air Forces in Europe for spare parts for F-84 Thunderjets and F-84F Thunderstreaks serving with NATO air forces.

The work will be done by existing European firms with Republic International supervising all phases of production to guarantee high quality and interchangeability of parts. First subcontractor selected by the American firm is the Societe Nationale de Constructions Aeronautiques de Sud-Est, French company which builds the Mystere fighter. Sud-Est will turn out $30 million in parts under Republic's guidance. Other subcontracts will be let in other European countries.

This arrangement is especially valuable because of Republic's standing as a major supplier of fighting aircraft to NATO. Thunderjets alone make up probably 40 per cent of the combat power available to allied leaders in western Europe.

THINGS TO COME—Vinyl plastic hose extensions, pierced for sprinkling, make it the strip it is intended to benefit. Golfers may now buy a gadget which puts limits on backswing and follow-through with a metal chain.

A new screw-driver kit not only has a choice of blades, but a gripper for the head of the screw, for driving in hard-to-reach places. A dolly for moving heavy machinery makes use of the caterpillar or track-laying principle rather than using separate wheels. You can buy an electric broiler which rings a bell when the food is cooked.

PROSPERITY'S BASE—Visitors from foreign countries look upon America as a land of miracles, with every man an Aladdin, and especially so when they view the millions of automobiles owned by U. S. workers.

This envied standard of living rests upon a triple base—mass production, mass distribution, and mass financing. Mass financing—installment buying—allow the mass producer to reach the wide market which makes his operations possible. If sales could be made only to those who could pay cash, the economies of mass production and distribution would disappear, and prices for durable goods would soar out of reach.

As Arthur O. Dietz, president of C. I. T. Financial Corp., the nation's largest independent financial institution, said recently: "We all know what installment buying has meant to our standard of living, but few realize how much it contributes to our total employment."

WERE ON THE MOVE—American traveler abroad spent $1 billion last year, including fares paid to foreign ships and planes. Another $180 million was spent to travel to foreign lands on U. S. carriers. These are the figures of the Department of Commerce, which estimates that foreigners spent $600 million on the same items in this country.

Even more will be spent this way in 1953, the Department expects, with the European and Mediterranean areas getting the lion's share of the increase. France fared better than England in 1952, but the Coronation is sure to have reversed this trend in 1953.

Travel to Europe used to be largely done by immigrants going home to show the old folk how well they had fared. Reduced immigration has dammed this flow, but the fewer travelers of today spend more per person.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H. (FHTNC)—"Don't hold your breath... swallow to 'crack' your ears." is the last minute advice to students at the U. S. Submarine Base here. SHE'S A QUEEN!—That dazzling come-hither look is a royal command this girl is bestowing on the young man. Britain's beautiful Queen Elizabeth II is seen above with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, leaving St Paul's Cathedral in London after attending a post-coronation thanksgiving service.

The Korean war, after three years, has not cost the United States as many casualties as the Rhineland campaign of World War II which lasted from Sept. 15, 1944, to March 21, 1945, according to Defense Department figures. Less costly than the Korean war was the Normandy Invasion which lasted from June 6, 1944, to July 24, 1944. The chart also reveals that New York state, the most populous, had the highest number of casualties while Nevada, with the least population, had the least casualties. Other figures show comparative casualties for World War II and World War I.

Amend Portion Of Milk House Order

Following a request by the Legislative Council for an opinion from the Attorney General on the validity of the state's milk house order, portions of the regulations have been amended. It was announced by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

The Attorney General's opinion sustained the validity of the order but suggested that portions of it be clarified.

After public hearings were held on the matter in response to a petition by the Wisconsin Dairy Federation, sections of the order relating to milk houses and the handling of milk, cream and dairy equipment were changed and will become effective September 15, 1953.

Producers of milk or cream must have a milk house or milk room for cooling and storing of milk and milk products and for storing of milk containers and utensils.

The milk house or milk room must not be used for any other purpose which might result in contamination of the milk.

A cooling tank and cooling equipment is required—any type which can be kept clean and sanitary is satisfactory.

Construction of milk room should be such that it permits easy cleaning and adequate draining.

If the milk house or milk room is part of the barn or other building it must be partitioned, ceiled and screened to prevent the entrance of dirt and insects.

Entrance directly from the barn, except through a vestibule, is not permissible.

Light must be sufficient to promote cleanliness and ventilation must be ample to prevent odors and condensation of moisture.

Department officials emphasized that other construction details required by Grade A regulations or any other particular market requirements were not to be considered as part of this order.

While the vast majority of Wisconsin's dairymen are already meeting all requirements of the order those not now complying must do so by September 15 of this year.

SIGNS—AND NAMES OF THESE MODERN TIMES

A Virginia restaurant advertises that "Duncan Hines Never Ate Here" . . . Maybe you won't think this is an odd collection of names; we do: R. H. 1 Word Can Change Your Life—WORSHIP

Going to church regularly these days? Dr. John Arthur Gossip, popular Scot preacher, said: "The flame of worship has sunk so low and burns so dimly that many nowadays . . . either never think of practicing the presence of God or do so only in a perfunctory fashion." How is it with you?

A spiritual bath is just as necessary as any other. Our souls, in daily contact with influences less than perfect, get dirty too. Cleanliness results from renewing our fellowship with God, revitalizing our principles and strengthening our convictions. That's why there's a Sunday in the week. We must nourish the roots of faith before we can expect the fruits of action. Before there is perspiration from work there must be inspiration from Worship, the word that can change your life.

Avoid Polio Panic,
Doctors Advise

Approach of the 1953 polio season prompts the Minnesota State Medical association to weigh current prospects for preventing or modifying paralytic effects of the disease, in a bulletin issued today.

The hopeful new vaccine developed recently has not had its final tests, and, at best, will not be ready for general use this year.

Gamma globulin, the blood fraction used in mass tests last year was shown to have definite value, provided it can be given to children who are destined to develop the disease, at a time when they have been or are about to be infected, but have not yet come down with symptoms. To reach all such children, it would be necessary to reach every child indiscriminately in the entire country. The supply of gamma globulin is limited. In fact, there is only enough to reach a few of the children in epidemic regions who are most likely to be exposed. Use of it will therefore have to be strictly rationed and controlled by health departments and physicians.

What is the ordinary anxious parent to do this year about polio? The doctors answer emphatically, first:

Don't get panicky. There is no way of knowing, yet, whether polio will be epidemic in Minnesota this year. And even if it is, it strikes relatively few.

Second: Use ordinary good sense and standard precautions which will serve to help keep your children free of other illnesses as well as polio. That is, keep them away from anybody who is sick, no matter what the symptoms. Put them to bed and call the doctor at once if they show signs of illness themselves. Polio shows itself by a variety of common symptoms, including stiff neck and painful back, though these last are not always present. Third, see that they are trained in habits of cleanliness, such as washing hands always before eating. It is also probably advisable to keep them away from crowds in new places, the doctors say, and to avoid sudden immersion in icy water.

R. O.: Has any cure been discovered for bleeders?

Answer: There are many effective ways to control hemorrhage in "bleeders" or hemophiliacs, though they cannot be said to "cure" the condition, which is an inherited lengthening of the clotting time of the blood.

COOKING CLASS

Tropical Cooler

Tempting, cooling drinks are a natural part of the hot weather picture. A tall refresher is the first thing the hostess thinks of when a neighbor drops in for a chat or when invited guests arrive. It's the perfect aid to relaxation when you sit down for a restful hour after household tasks or a round of sports.

To meet the demands and suit every taste, it is well to have a variety of bottled drinks cooled in the refrigerator. Pale dry ginger ale and sparkling water, refreshing by themselves and blending well with fruit juices for drinks to please the individual taste should be on hand. For those who like a dry drink with a slightly bitter taste, haunting and pleasant, you might include Quinine (quinine water). There is something especially cooling about a glass of well-iced quinine water, and that is not surprising for the drink originated in the tropics where intense heat necessitates a beverage that really cools the blood. It is fast becoming a popular summer cooler in our country.

Place three or four ice cubes in a tall glass and fill the glass with quinine water. Add a teaspoon of lemon or lime juice and garnish with a slice of the fruit.

Here is a refresher made with fresh pineapple:
Fresh Pineapple-Lime Sparkle
1/2 cup lime juice 1/2 cup freshly grated pineapple
1/2 cup sugar syrup 1/2 cup pale dry ginger ale
Combine lime juice, sugar syrup and pineapple. Divide among 4 tall glasses. Add ice cubes and fill glasses with pale dry ginger ale.

Now that the hot weather has come, the smart housekeeper will have on hand the ingredients to make a cooling drink at a minute's notice. Be sure that the chilled drink is appealing to the eye as well as the palate.

Apricot and Orange Punch
1 package frozen apricots
3 cups defrosted frozen orange juice
3/4 cup frozen defrosted lemon juice
1/4 cup frozen defrosted lime juice

1 cup sugar
2 quarts carbonated water or ginger ale
Maraschino cherries
Defrost apricots. Run through a sieve. Add orange juice, lemon juice, lime juice and sugar to apricots. Just before serving add carbonated water and pour over ice. Garnish with maraschino cherries.

Lemonade
3 1/3 cups cold water
1/2 cup powdered sugar
2/3 cup defrosted lemon juice
Mix sugar and water in a pitcher, stir until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice and mix well. Just before serving add ice cubes. Garnish with slices of lemon and sprigs of mint.

Raspberry Grape Punch
2 packages frozen raspberries
3 cups grape juice
1 cup defrosted orange juice
1/2 cup defrosted lemon juice
1 package frozen crushed pineapple
Barely defrost raspberries and press through cheese cloth to extract juice. To this add grape juice, orange juice, and lemon juice. Barely defrost and add crushed pineapple. Serve very cold, stirring well just before serving.

Grapefruit Punch
1 quart water
2 cups sugar
3 cans frozen grapefruit juice
1 can frozen lemon juice
1 small bottle of minted cherries
Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Cool. Add fruit juices and minted cherries. Chill thoroughly. Serve in glasses half filled with ice. Garnish with a whole cherry and a section of grapefruit.

Golden Float
Thin slices of banana
Orange sherbert
Ginger ale
To each glass place a few thin slices of banana and a scoop of orange sherbert. Fill with ginger ale.

Pineapple Julep
3 cups pineapple juice
1/2 cup lime juice
1 1/2 cups ice water
1/4 cup fresh mint leaves
1/2 cup powdered sugar
Chop mint leaves to make 1/4 cup, add sugar and rub well. Add pineapple and lime juice. Add ice water. Let stand in a cool place. Serve with ice and a sprig of mint on each glass.

Coffee Punch
4 cups hot coffee
1 1/2 pints ice cream, vanilla or chocolate
Grated nutmeg
Pour coffee over ice cream. Beat lightly with a wire whisk until ice cream is partially melted. Pour into punch glasses and dust with nutmeg.

Tomato Juice Shake
1 can chilled tomato juice
Milk
Ground cloves
Shake can of tomato juice, and add half as much fresh milk. Pour into glasses and add a dash of ground cloves to each glass.

So Goes The Mind

By Orin R. Yost, M. D.

CITIES LACK OF HELP FOR MENTALLY ILL

Of all of the fields of health, there is none in which our national resources are so limited in relationship to our national needs as in mental health.

Half of all the patients in hospitals in this nation are suffering from mental illnesses. Although one out of every ten persons will need psychiatric care at some time during his life and one out of every eighteen persons will spend part of his life in a mental hospital, there is on an average, but one physician for every 332 patients in our mental hospitals, according to Howard A. Rusk, M. D., Professor and Chairman, Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, N. Y. U. College of Medicine, and Associate Editor, The New York Times.

State Hospitals alone need two thousand additional psychiatrists and the overall shortage of all types of personnel for care of mental illnesses is estimated to be about 65 per cent. In some states, state mental hospitals are overcrowded by as much as fifty per cent and many of these hospitals are sub-standard in facilities and equipment.

Despite the publicity given to crimes of violence perpetrated by patients released from mental hospitals, a much greater proportion of homicides and crimes of violence are committed by sane persons than those who are mentally ill.

A study made in 1938 showed that the rate of arrest (for anything from vagrancy to homicide) among the general population was fourteen times as high as the rate among paroled patients in New York State during that year. The possibility of anyone's being a victim of a mentally ill person is substantially less than the risk of being shot by a criminal who is intent on robbery and much less than the risk we take of being killed by a reckless driver.

Excluding hospitals for the criminally insane, the greater proportion of hospitalized psychiatric patients are neither dangerous to themselves nor to others. If they are dangerous, the greatest danger is suicide. Very few are homicidal.

The primary problem is not the ability or understanding of our psychiatrists, but the fact that the nation is so desperately short of psychiatric personnel, and of hospital beds for mentally ill patients.

Until we, the public, insist on more and better staff and the elimination of overcrowding in our mental hospitals, we cannot expect the best protection for ourselves or services for those who are mentally ill.

Mint Delight

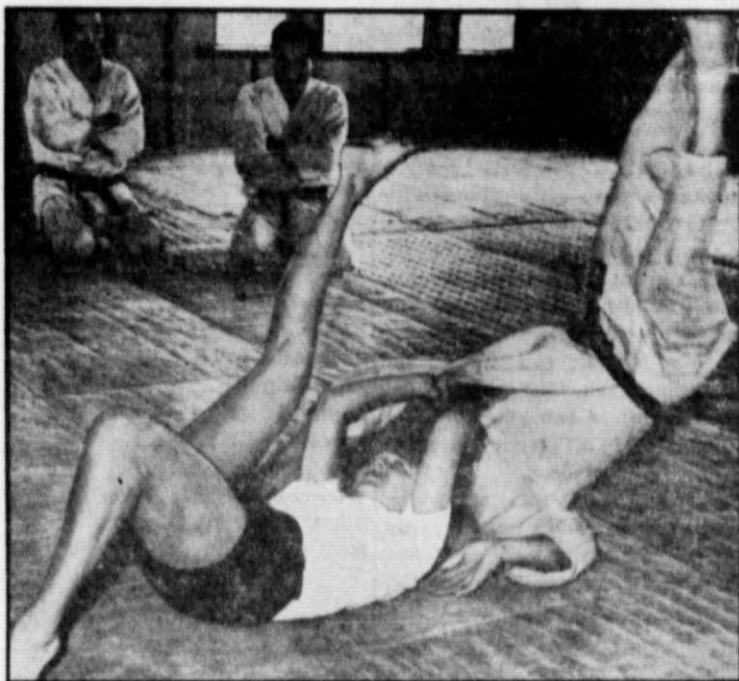

4 cups cold water
1/2 teaspoon green coloring
1/2 teaspoon peppermint flavoring
2 cups lemon juice
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 cups cold water
Mix 4 cups water, green coloring and peppermint flavoring. Pour into a freezing tray and freeze into cubes.
Combine lemon juice, sugar, and 3 cups cold water. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour into a freezing tray, freeze to a mushy-like consistency. Mash with a spoon and mix with 2 cups of water in a pitcher. Partly fill each glass with the icy lemonade mixture. Add a green mint ice cube and decorate with a sprig of mint.

STRAIGHT SHOOTER—Joanne Rogers is sure to be a "straight-shooting" hostess when she takes over her duties as hostess for the 1953 Salinas, Calif., rodeo, horse, fair and stock show. Lithe Joanne practices up for the stunt with a little gun and rope study.

A-HEM—We didn't mean to peek but did see lovely film star Jan Sterling getting the hem of her dress pressed before going before the camera. The wardrobe mistress is handy with iron and mused ruffles are an old story to her whenever pertinent scenes are filmed in Hollywood.

A LITTLE MORE TO THE LEFT MOM!—Directing arrow-fire for his mother, Mrs. Gill Beal, is a cinch for two-year-old Nicholas Beal of Winchester, England. Seen above in his stroller, he peers through binoculars while mother draws a bow on the target. His father was archery champ in 1950 and the little boy has been attending archery meets most of his life.

TIPS ON INSULATING AROUND A WINDOW

People often complain about drafty or cold spots around windows and doors, after having an old house insulated. This usually happens because the workman has not taken the trouble to check each space before filling it with insulation.

When framing openings, either doors or windows, there is usually a space between the frame and the wall studs. Also, there is a header at the top of the frame, which usually extends the entire width between the wall studs.

This header stops insulation from filling the wall space at the side of the window.

Another 2x4 at the bottom of the window stops insulation from going down to the floor.

So, when insulating around a window, it is sometimes necessary to cut three openings on each side.

Before filling each wall space with insulation, you should measure its depth. To do this, tie a metal weight to the end of a piece of heavy wrapping cord. Let the weight down into the wall space. If it goes all the way down, you know that there is nothing to stop insulation. If it goes only part way, you know that a fire stop, or something else will prevent insulation from passing. It will be necessary to cut another opening at this point.

Old type windows having weights are difficult to insulate, unless you remove the weights and fill the pockets with insulation. Then, of course, you should install spring counterbalances so that the window will work smoothly.

In addition to insulation, windows need caulking to make them air tight. There are many spaces too small to be packed or filled with insulation. These should be sealed with caulking compound.

Games this Sunday—Kewaskum at West Bend, Port at Mequon, Germantown at Grafton, Belgium at Saukville.

Kewaskum lost another tough one Sunday when the league leading Grafton nine pushed across three runs in the top of the ninth inning to nose out the Chevs, 4-2.

John Tessar took his turn on the mound for Kewaskum and did a swell job. For the first seven innings he was in complete control, shutting out the strong leaders with but five hits. However, the winners got their scoring going in the 8th with a run on a walk and double.

Grafton slanted out four more hits in the 9th good for three runs. Ernisse also blanked the Chevs for eight frames, the only markers being scored off of him in the last inning. It was a stellar pitching duel for seven stanzas.

Tessar gave up a total of 10 hits, struck out five and walked only two. His control was very good. Ernisse was nicked for 11 safeties, fanned six and passed none.

The big gun for Grafton was centerfielder J. Dickmann who found Tessar to his liking. Dickmann poked out four hits in as many times at bat. All were singles. Timm and Haas added two apiece. Top hitters for the Chevs were W. Tessar, Held and Wierman, each of whom connected for two bingles.

In their big ninth, Kewaskum ganged up on Ernisse for five hits. But he was rough in the clutch and the losers could get only two markers on 11 hits. Thelens triple with two on was the big blow for the winners in the ninth.

This Sunday second place West Bend is scheduled at Kewaskum but again the tilt has been transferred to West Bend because of the home diamond being torn up. The Chevs, who lost a heartbreaker at West Bend recently, are due for some luck. They have lost three games by one run and two by two runs to date. With a little good fortune they would have a much better record now.
