The Washington County School committee will be at the Kewaskum school building on Monday evening, March 15, at 8:00 p. m. for the purpose of discussing the creation of a Union High School District with the electors of the Kewaskum village school district.

Since this is a very vital matter and of direct concern to the electors, the committee anticipates a good attendance.

On the evening of March 8, a similar meeting will be held in Beloitville with the electors of Farmington township.

On Monday evening, March 1, the Washington and Fond du Lac County School committees met jointly with the town board members and the township boundary committees for the purpose of discussing the final plans on the creation of the Kewaskum Community High School District. Attorney Deane Bascom was elected chairman of the joint committees, and Harry Sheksi was elected secretary. Work on the project is progressing most satisfactorily.

The committees have held meetings with the electors of the area. The final steps are being developed.

The township boundary committee will hold another meeting with the two county school committees on Monday, March 22, at which time final drafts of the area will be made.

What Do You Think of Your Kewaskum?

This being the season of Lent, the season of solemn meditation, let us take advantage of the opportunity and resolve to go to church; to ponder the seriousness of the cause that brought about the sufferings of our Lord Jesus Christ. Perhaps some of us haven't been in a church for a long time.

What agonizing, yet still comforting messages we can hear in God's house. It would be wonderful if father, mother, sons and daughters, as a family unit, would attend Divine services. Such complete family attendance would strengthen the family bond of LOVE and deal many a problem the DEATH blow.

Let's begin this coming Sunday and revive the old custom of the ENTIRE family going to church regularly.

Come, let us listen and meditate together what our Lord and Savior has to say to us.

Two Roof Fire Calls Answered by Firemen

The Kewaskum firemen were called out on consecutive days this week. Both were roof fires.

At 8:40 a. m. Tuesday they extinguished a roof fire at the double flat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Skupniwicz on Prospect ave. The house is occupied by the Sylvester Keller family and Mr. and Mrs. Christ Kober, Sr. The fire, believed to have started from sparks from the chimney, burned a hole in the roof before firemen put it out. Other damage was caused when shingles had to be torn loose to get at the blaze. The damage was limited to about $100.

At 11:15 a. m. Wednesday the firemen answered a call to the Leo Zehrer farm home located about a quarter mile west of St. Kilian. This also was a roof fire probably caused by sparks from the chimney. There too a hole burned in the roof. The Zehrer, aided by neighbors, had the blaze out when firemen reached the scene.

Bells Tip Indians in Tourney Finals

The Campbellsport Bells, unbeaten champions of the Tri-County conference, defeated the Kewaskum Indians by a 62-54 margin to repeat as winners of the sub-district tournament at Campbellsport Thursday night. Kewaskum reached the finals by beating Lomira, 65-55, in the opening round Tuesday. The same night the Bells won over Oakfield.

The setback dropped the Indians from further tourney competition. The Bells advanced to the district finals at Winneconne Saturday night. That's as far as they got because they were beaten by Winneconne, winners in their sub-district, 57-56. Winneconne earned the right to go to the regional meet at Midland, Wis., on Saturday.

Kewaskum gave the Bells a closer game than expected. They were high and took a 14-9 lead over the champs in the first quarter. But Campbellsport blasted away for 22 points in the second period while holding the Indians to 14. At half-time the Bells led, 31-28. The Bells again outscored the Indians in the third stanza, 18-11, but Kewaskum rallied for 15 points to their opponents' 13 in the final quarter in a rally attempt that fell short. The home floor for the Bells made the difference.

Weiss was high scorer for the winners with 19 points, followed by Bleck with 17. Weiss scored from the center and Bleck worked the outside. Russ Rodenkirch, playing his final game, was outstanding for Kewaskum and was high point man with 26. Harold Klein added 13.

Fans from the four schools packed the gym. Cheerleaders from Kewaskum who kept the fans yelling were Jeanette and Shirley Staehler and Carole Harbeck.

Horicon Defeated; Port Here Sunday

LAND OF LAKES STANDINGS (Second Half)

Team	Won	Lost
Port Washington	5	1
West Bend	5	1
Fond du Lac	4	2
KEWASKUM	3	3
Horicon	3	3
Rosendale	2	4
Mayville	1	5
Brandon	1	5

Scores last Sunday—Kewaskum 77, Horicon 64; Port 110, Rosendale 58; Fond du Lac 102, Brandon 57; Mayville forfeited to West Bend.

Games Sunday—Port at Kewaskum, Mayville at Fond du Lac, Rosendale at Horicon.

Game Wednesday—West Bend at Brandon.

The Kewaskum Chevs. defeated Horicon here Sunday night, 77-64, and the two teams are now tied for fourth place. However, the forfeited game with Rosendale might still be played and this would chalk one defeat off of the Chevs' record.

John Tessar again paced Kewaskum to an easy victory. He dumped in 31 points on 10 field goals and 13 free tosses to take game honors. Wayne Tassar and Frank Krueger helped the cause with 12 and 11 points respectively. Top men for Horicon were Weiss and Bischoff with 13 apiece.

The two teams played to a 16-16 tie at the end of the quarter out after that the Chevrolets began to click. They tallied 20 points in the second period to Horicon's 9 and this gave them a 36-25 halftime advantage. The winners outscored Horicon again in the third stanza and were far enough ahead to coast through the final period.

This Sunday Kewaskum closes the season against a star-studded Port Washington team. The contest will be played here and the second half championship hangs in the outcome. Port is tied with West Bend for the lead this half. If the Chevs dump Port West Bend takes the crown. If the score is reversed Port will win at least a share of the crown. Port is led by Doug Ritchie, former University of Wisconsin ace, who leads the league in scoring. Kewaskum's John Tessar is second and this individual scoring duel alone will be worth seeing. First knocked Kewaskum out of a first half chance for the title and this time the Chevs have a chance to knock Port out of the second half title.

Horicon 16 9 17 22-64

The game was tight throughout with Kewaskum gaining the edge as a result of Horicon's weak third quarter. The locals led by only one point at the half, 36-35, but tallied 11 points in the third period to Horicon's 6. The losers rallied in the final quarter but fell short. The defeat dropped Horicon out of the title race.

Melsenheimer won out for scoring honors over Hanrahan for the winners. Meisy dropped in 22 points and Big George got 20. Center Lornsen paced Horicon with 23 and was best man for the evening.

The 1954 fund appeal of the West Bend chapter of the American Red Cross was reported off to a satisfactory start this week by F. W. Bucklin, chapter chairman, and Arthur Pischke, drive chairman for the West Bend chapter area.

"This year's campaign will be a drive for both members and funds," the chapter chairman said. "We hope to make every citizen in the chapter area feel that through his membership he participates in Red Cross service just as if he had extended a helping hand to persons in need himself."

"After our aim, in addition to reaching our $11,500 goal, is to enroll 5,765 members in the West Bend Red Cross chapter who will help direct Red Cross work and who will assist as volunteer workers. The theme of our campaign is "Answer the Call—Join and Serve."

As the campaign got underway here Drive Chairman Pischke announced that several industries had already made their contributions. He was pleased to note that among those sending in their donations, several had increased their contributions by approximately 10 percent. Such an increase will be necessary in all cases, he pointed out, if the chapter is to reach its quota, since this year's goal is approximately 10 percent above last year's.

FORMER PRISONER OF WAR SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

An inspiring talk was given on Monday evening, March 1, at the Kewaskum Kiwanis club by the guest speaker, James Morrissey, of West Bend. He related his experiences as a prisoner of war under the Nazi Regime during December, 1944, and the early part of 1945. His talk really brought to mind the atrocities and evil that people who live under dictatorships and communistic forms of government are capable of performing.

Every member of the club was reminded of the need for the fight at this time against our newest enemy—the Communist.

Plans are now complete for the State Kiwanis Bowling tournament to be held in Green Bay on March 27 and 28. The Kewaskum Kiwanis club is sending two teams of 10 men each to this event.

A Famous American Ship

The FLYING CLOUD is one of America's most famous clipper ships. On her record passage in 1851 between New York and San Francisco, she averaged 13 1/2 knots over a four-day stretch, considerably faster than today's Liberty ships, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. Her overall voyage of 89 days was hailed on both coasts. San Franciscans rejoiced because the voyage had been made in under three months and made them feel closer to their old homes in the East. "It is truly a national triumph," wrote the New York Commercial, "and points to the preeminence upon the ocean which awaits the United States." Today's merchant marine, equally vital in peace and war, is in danger of losing its preeminent position. New high speed tankers are needed, new passenger ships and freighters. America's new speed queen, the superliner UNITED STATES has done much to restore in the public's mind the pride in our merchant fleet so evident in the days of the FLYING CLOUD.

HARBINGER OF SPRING—Lambing on many farms in the Pacific Northwest started two weeks early this year, an indication of an early spring. Above, Wilma Starnes of Shedd, Ore., holds one of the 20 lambs born recently on the Starnes' farm. Pastures in the region are reported to be in good condition, also, for so early in the season.

GOODBYE, HARRY—A new ordinance is passed and an old business fades into the past. That's the story on Harry Sansone's popcorn wagon. After over 35 years of operating on the streets of Champaign, Ill., Harry's business was banned recently by a city ordinance prohibiting the sale of merchandise from vehicles parked on the streets.

DOGGONE NICE—A boy's just got to have his dog around in times of need. So officials of a Memphis, Tenn., hospital turn their backs on the rules when "Lucky" calls on his young master, 13-year-old Charles "Butch" Davis, of Memphis. "Butch" was injured in the eye by an air gun.

Bible Rhyme Time

First in birth upon the earth
And tiller of the sod,
In anger slew his brother true
And reaped the curse of God.
Of whom does the rhyme speak?

The rhyme tells of Cain, first baby to be born on this earth. When God drove Adam and Eve from Eden they went into the desert and dwelt there, founding a home and raising a large family. Their first and second born were named Cain and Abel. The bond of parentage was all these brothers held in common for as they grew to young manhood they became unlike in every manner. Cain was a mighty man, a strong tiller of the soil, but sullen, brooding and given to anger. Abel was gentle, compassionate, and understanding. Unlike Cain, he cared not for tilling the soil and so became a shepherd.

At the harvest season Cain and Abel made offerings to the Lord. Cain brought the first fruits of his fields and Abel offered the early lambs of his flock. God was pleased with Abel's offering but rebuked Cain because his gift was made in a churlish manner and he had held back the best. Cain's countenance became dark with anger and hatred. Seeing this, God warned him that the sin in his heart would bring suffering to himself and those around him.

Cain knew that God's rebuke was just but it angered him nevertheless. His smouldering hatred and jealousy of Abel grew more intense until one day his anger burst all bounds and he killed Abel while they were alone in the fields. And so Cain, the first baby on earth, also became the first murderer. He concealed Abel's body in an effort to escape punishment for his crime, but he had not reckoned on God who asked of him, "Where is Abel, thy brother?" "I know not," lied Cain. "Am I my brother's keeper?" But God was aware of Cain's crime and not deceived by his words. He pronounced a curse on Cain, saying to him, "And now cursed art thou from the ground, which hath opened its mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand. When thou tillest the ground, it shall not henceforth yield unto thee its strength. A fugitive and a wanderer shalt thou be in the earth."

To learn the rest of Cain's story, turn to chapter 4 of the Book of Genesis.

CEDAR CLOSET FOR BASEMENT

Many people have asked for a plan for building a cedar closet in the basement. The main difficulty is dampness. Unless basement is exceedingly damp, it is possible to insulate well enough to eliminate dampness.

Frame the closet with 2x4 lumber as illustrated. Note that the joists used for the floor are set on edge, and that the spaces are not closed so that air may circulate underneath.

Cover the outside with foil covered blanket insulation, with the foil side out. Waterproofed plywood should be used over the insulation.

The inside walls should be covered with tongue and grooved, aromatic cedar.

The floor should be insulated similar to the walls, except that the insulation is placed on top of the joists. The flooring is laid over the insulation.

Seal the top of the closet with plywood. It need not be insulated, but some prefer to do it anyway to be safe.

Making a door that will fit tightly is a very important part of the job. So make a door larger than the opening so that rubber weather stripping can be used to make it air tight.

About three trunk catches make excellent fasteners for the door.

Paint the outside of the closet during the winter while the air in the house is dry. Varnish may be preferred to paint.

Spray all woollens and allow them to dry before placing them in the closet.

Open the closet occasionally to look for signs of dampness. If it seems to be damp, buy one of those bags of chemicals which absorb dampness, and use as directed.

Cedar does not kill moths. Moth eggs which hatch in a cedar closet will do the normal amount of damage.

Moths, however, do not like cedar. They will not stay in a cedar closet if they can escape.

Never paint or varnish the cedar lining. To do so will destroy the odor. Frequent sanding of the inside surface helps keep the odor strong.

HOW MINNESOTA INCOME IS DISTRIBUTED

Estimated 1952 personal income in Minnesota averaged $1,491. Hennepin county led with $1,807. Ramsey was second at $1,774. Rock third at $1,768. On the bottom were Clearwater county at $851, Red Lake at $873, Cass at $885. Nearest to the state average was Mower county with an average personal income of exactly $1,500; Lyon was pretty close at $1,481. Fourteen counties averaged less than $1,000, only nine were above average; largest group was 19 between $1,200 and $1,300; there were 15 in the $1,300 bracket, 14 in the $1,400 range. Two counties, Redwood and Brown, tied at an average income of $1,379, two others, Goodhue and Winona, at $1,443.

Be sure to hang dishcloths and dish towels where they will dry well before using them again. When laundering them, the use of a bottle bleach in the wash water will help to retain a good color.

THE TEACHER'S ROLE (Conclusion)

The teacher has a role to play in the development of the characters and personalities of her pupils, second in importance only to that of the parents. That teacher who accepts this responsibility and does something about it is performing a truly worthwhile task.

The teacher herself may even have contributed to the warping of the personality. Perhaps she was too strict and severe; perhaps she set up additional resistances. Perhaps she was over-permissive and let Larry believe he could "get by" without the necessity of meeting any standards whatever of behavior and accomplishment. By such sins of omission or commission she may have been responsible for turning an originally healthy rebelliousness against authority, into definitely anti-social behavior patterns.

Possible failures can arise also from misinterpretations of the behavior of the excessively quiet, obedient, well-behaved child who offers no resistance to the teacher's authority. Perhaps no one takes the trouble to look beneath the surface, and such a child is considered a "model pupil." Shy and dependent, Teddy may be withdrawing into daydreams in order to escape from his own inner anxieties and fears.

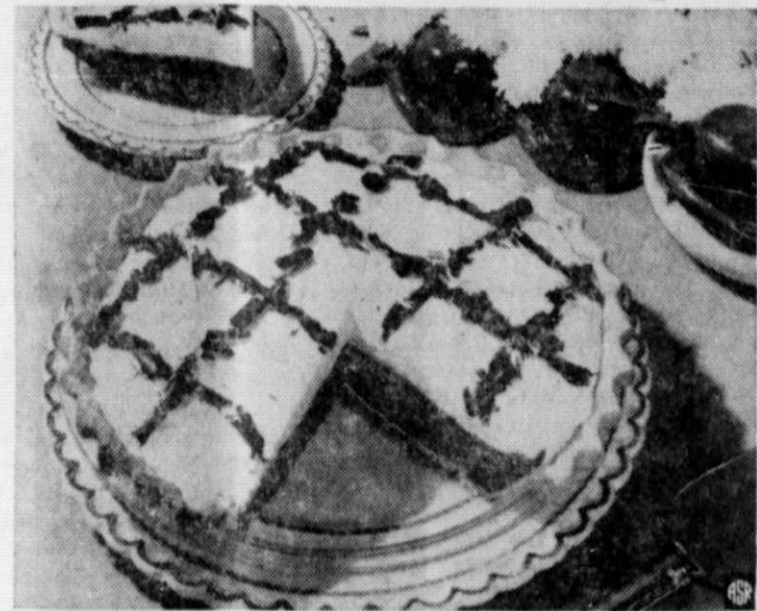

Later in life, increased anxieties and fears may lead to his withdrawing still further, until there may be mental and emotional disturbances of varying degree. In adulthood, Theodore may escape from the reality which is still too much for him, by resorting to alcohol or drugs, or by other unhealthy and unsocial behavior.

A teacher with insight and an awareness of the mechanisms of human behavior might well have recognized Teddy's excessively "good" behavior as warning of trouble ahead. Instead of looking upon the quiet, shy child as a blessed relief in her room full of rough and rowdy boys, she might have been able to guide him, by her own wisdom, and by calling upon outside forces when that became necessary, so that he could be helped in overcoming his fears before they overcame him.

Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.
(e) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his direction, as to such person's disability.

Bounty Paid to Number of County Fox Hunters

Due to the recent snow cover fox hunters had more success hunting fox in Washington county. Some of the more fortunate hunters who have presented foxes for bounty during February in the office of the county clerk are:

Ray Transon, Milwaukee, 5 red foxes; Lowell Mellus, Random Lake, 1 red fox; Theo. Schneider,

Kewaskum, 2 red foxes; George Rothenthaler, Cedarburg, 1 grey fox; Leonard Kluck, Hartford, 3 red foxes; Walter Ramthun, Cedarburg, 1 red fox; Joe Noegel, Richfield, 1 red fox; Wilmer Kertscher, Fredonia, 4 red foxes; Peter Margraf, Richfield, 1 red fox.

Fox hunters are being reminded by the conservation commission that the law provides that the carcass intact with hide attached must be presented within five days to the county clerk or conservation agent. Failure to present within five days will invalidate this claim. The law further states that the claimant cannot claim a bounty if he raised, reared or harbored the animal presented for a bounty claim.

The State of Wisconsin Conservation Department does pay a bounty of $2.50 on each mature red fox and grey fox. Red and grey fox kits between March 1 and September 1 provide for a bounty payment of $1.00. Washington county also provides for a payment of $2.50 on each mature fox and $1.00 on each fox kit.

The county clerk or conservation agent is instructed to punch both of the ears of the fox and slit the inside of the right hind leg.

K-M DARTBALL LOOP ENDS SEASON; PLAYOFFS BEGIN

Season's play was completed last week in the Kettle Moraine Dart
Ball league. West Bend 1 and Slinger 1 tied for first place in the western division and New Fa... 1 and Dundee were winners of first and second place in the eastern division.

West Bend 1 and Slinger 1 were to play off the tie on a neutral floor at Kohlsville Tuesday evening. The winner of this series was to play New Fane 1 for first and second trophy. The loser played Dundee for third and fourth trophy
this Friday at Kewaskum, which is a member of the league.

At the combined East Wisconsin and Kettle Moraine league tournament held at Kohler recently, two teams from the K-M league copped trophies. Scott 1 captured first place and Kohlsville finished in fourth. The Eagles of Sheboygan took third trophy. Twenty-seven teams participated before a packed house.

The next tournament will be held at the McLane gym, West Bend, March 13 and 14. This will comprise the 29 teams from the KettleMor-aine league.

MEETING OF KETTLE MORAINE HOMEMAKERS

Mrs. Kenneth Kaschner was the hostess for the February meeting of the Kettle Moraine Homemakers.
Mrs. Sylvester Schmidt, our health chairman, gave a report on tuberculosis and on the immunization program which will be carried out this spring.

The project for this meeting was "Fix-it Yourself." Mrs. Delbert Petermann showed how to replace a washer in a faucet. Mrs. Henry Petermann demonstrated the replacing of a broken window pane. Other simple home repairs were explained and the correct use and care of tools was discussed.

Mrs. Sylvester Schmidt and Mrs.
Ray Reysen were chosen project leaders for March. They will attend a project training meeting at St.
Kilian.

EDITOR
THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL
WOMAN'S PAGES

The spectacular Italian cut which American brunets have taken to so fondly in recent months has been modified to suit most every type. If you have been intrigued by it but hesitant to try the style in its extreme, ragged form, one of the new modifications might end your indecision.

In either case, the very best haircut you can get is a must, says Betty Ann.

Splurge a little and go to a top hair stylist. At least, don't attempt it yourself; unless you are unusual, you will not be able to do the back.

While your hair is being set, watch closely to learn how the curls are placed. After this good beginning, you can go it alone. If you do not have a natural curl, you will need a soft permanent to lend body to the hair. Lots of brushing will also help shape the style.

With styling know-how gleaned from the experts, you can defray the expense of the cut and setting by giving yourself a permanent.

Protecting furs from friction will prolong their beauty and their service to you. Keep them from rubbing against chair backs, don't sit on them and don't carry bundles that will rub against them. When you have errands to do or long distances to drive, leave your furs in your closet.

The chamois skin we find so soft and absorbent for window washing isn't true chamois at all, but is the result of a tanning technique.

At one time the name was accurate. Long ago, when the chamois goat roamed the mountains of Europe in large numbers, its skin was an important source of clothing leather. Ruthless hunting almost wiped out the graceful animal and true chamois leather ceased to exist as a commercial product.

The leather was so useful that it wasn't allowed to disappear. A tanning technique was perfected which produced from sheepskin a leather closely resembling natural chamois. In certain aspects, it proved superior and its use was expanded to include hatbands, shoe linings, handbags, case covers, book bindings.

The metallic thread that brightens so many accessories is usually as practical as it is pretty. For, generally speaking, it's as washable as the scarf, sweater, gloves or whatever else that it decorates. Do treat this metal fiber fairly, though, in lukewarm soapsuds and rinses and use only a gentle, squeezing motion. If you need to press a metallic trimmed article, use an iron that's just cool.

Chocolate Fudge Pie

One unbaked nine inch pastry crust; 1 package chocolate fudge mix; 3 large eggs; 1/2 cup water; 1/4 cup melted butter; 3/4 cup pecans, coarsely chopped.

Prepare pie crust from your own recipe or from packaged pie crust mix. Put chocolate fudge mix into bowl. Add eggs, water and melted butter. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended. Stir in chopped pecans. Pour into unbaked crust. Bake at 375 degrees for 40 minutes until filling is set. Cool. Serve with whipped cream. Serves 8 to 10.

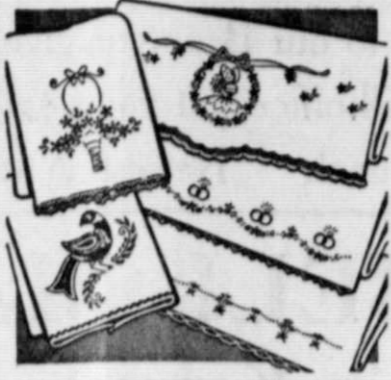

Foil is recommended for the baking of acorn squash because it prevents the squash from drying out.

Acorn squash, salt and pepper; butter; brown sugar; nutmeg; chopped walnuts or pecans.

Split good sized acorn squash in half and scoop out the seeds. Place each half on a large square of aluminum foil. Sprinkle centers generously with salt and pepper. Add a small pat of butter, a spoonful of brown sugar, a grating of nutmeg and a few chopped nuts, if available, to each. Bring foil up over each squash and twist ends together to seal. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, for one and one-half hours. To serve: Turn back the foil to form a container. This both looks attractive and keeps the squash hot.

A jar of fruit preserves can be a lifesaver when unexpected company comes. Apricot or peach preserves heated with orange juice, and given quick glamor treatment by the addition of a little brandy flavoring, will sauce plain vanilla ice cream to perfection. The same preserves may be spread between layers of sponge cake and served with nutmeg flavored whipped cream for a shortcake de luxe.

PILLOW SLIPS

Six different designs for pillow slips or guest towels are included on this multi-stamp Hot Iron Transfer. These beautiful designs include a Colonial Girl Wreath, two border designs, two flower baskets (His and Hers), a Pennsylvania Dutch bird and a floral design (not shown). They will work beautifully in textile paint or embroidery. C3312, 20c.

Send orders to: Handcraft Service (The Colonial Company), Journal Pub. Co. Inc., 1243 Swift, Kansas City 16, Mo.

Broil some canned peach halves and serve with bacon and eggs for Sunday brunch. Try them, too, with pancakes or french toast.

Choose Stainless Steel Tableware Carefully

BY EDNA MILES

IN a very short time, stainless steel has come out of the kitchen and into the dining room, where it graces the table in company with good china and crystal.

Nearly every housewife has some stainless steel in her kitchen which she uses for stirring or other food preparation. Thus, she wonders how the more expensive stainless (selling for perhaps $9 a place setting) differs from the cheaper varieties that offer a set for four persons at a mere $10.

The answer, as always, lies in quality. First, there's a matter of finish. Unlike the inexpensive stainless, the quality stainless has no rough edges and is buffed to bring out the lasting, high luster of the stainless itself.

Many brides-to-be are picking stainless steel as their only tableware in starting out. Later on, they can add sterling, but at the outset they have one good quality set that will serve handsomely both for family and guests.

In shopping for stainless, then, watch for hollow handles on knives and graded pieces. Graded pieces are those tapering in thickness toward the edge of the spoon bowls, handles and tips of fork tines, just as in the best sterling.

Such grading improves the appearance, feel and balance of the tableware. The woman buying stainless should always hold a piece in her hand and inspect it carefully for such qualities.

Stainless is usually most beautiful in very simple designs, but there are a number of patterns on the market today from which the housewife can choose.

Designers no longer translate silver designs into stainless; they design for the stainless itself.

This bride-to-be carefully inspects a stainless steel spoon for finish and grading, two qualities that spell the difference between good tableware and the less expensive variety. The pattern she is inspecting is called "Ballet."

Curfew Laws For Wayward Youth Go Back To Medieval Practice

Curfew is still a live issue. As problems of juvenile delinquency mount, civic authorities from coast to coast are dusting off long unenforced regulations and considering new ones.

A Washington, D. C., commissioner has suggested a law that would keep children under 12 off the capital streets at night. Under an old curfew ordinance, a Los Angeles judge fined the parents of eight boys who had ambushed and attacked a small group of adults.

Curfew restrictions go back at least to medieval times, says the National Geographic Society. The word itself is from the French "couvre-feu" (cover fire), an expression introduced into England with the Norman invasion. But the practice was already old when William the Conqueror came. Anglo-Saxon towns in the reign of Alfred the Great rang a nightly bell, warning inhabitants to close their doors and cover their fires.

Saved Lives And Property

Curfew was a life-and-death matter in the Middle Ages, when most houses were built of wood, and a live ember could start a conflagration that would destroy a city.

It also served as a protection against the footpads and robbers who swarmed the highways and the dark, unpaved streets. The tolling of the bell, or in some cases the blowing of a horn, at 7 or 8 o'clock, announced that all honest men should be at home, and that anyone wandering abroad was liable to severe punishment.

Through the centuries, curfew has been a potent curb upon plotters against those in authority. The Nazi occupation forces of World War II used it widely, stepping up the penalties as defeat neared and local acts of sabotage increased.

The famous 19th-century poem, "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight" told a romantic story set in England under Cromwell's iron rule. Its gentle heroine saved her Royalist lover, doomed to die at curfew time, by clinging to the tongue of the bell, thus muffling it.

Curfew Still Rings

As a tradition, many English towns and villages still sound the curfew bell each evening at 8 or 9 o'clock. Even in London the custom is observed on the old bell at Lincoln Inn, Chester, Litchfield and Totnes not only toll the cur-few hour but add the day of the month.

The Puritans brought the curfew to the American colonies. Eventually the custom spread south and west and took the form of municipal ordinances prohibiting young people from appearing on the streets after certain hours.

Thousands of such laws remain on the books, though they are enforced only periodically. In 1943, according to a report of the American Municipal Association, from 10 to 90 per cent of all American cities had adopted curfew restrictions. Since then, the Association's records indicate that the number has grown steadily larger.

Carbon Monoxide Takes Unnecessary Toll Of Lives

Each winter our newspapers carry the tragic stories of unfortunate victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. Every year this killer takes its unnecessary toll of illness and death.

Carbon monoxide is an insidious gas that cannot be detected by taste, sight, or smell. The symptom of poisoning from this gas are headaches, dizziness, drowsiness, nausea, and weakness in the arms and legs. These unfortunately, may be so slight as to be unrecognized. If they appear in an already sleeping person, they naturally are not felt and complete drowsiness takes over.

This deadly gas is always present in the exhaust from automobile engines. For this reason, the motor of a car should never be allowed to run in a closed garage. Care should be taken to avoid parking in cars with the engine running. From time to time people have been found dead in cars parked along highways, the victims of carbon monoxide poisoning.

To eliminate the dangers of carbon monoxide accidents in the home all heating equipment should be carefully checked by a competent repairman. There must be no ill-fitting pipes, clogged chimneys, or improperly operated dampers that permit escape of the poisonous fumes.

Gas water heaters should always be vented to the outside air. Safety devices should be provided for the automatic type of heater which will shut off the gas supply to the main burner in the event the pilot light is extinguished.

Though the victim may be saved from the death, the after-effects of carbon monoxide poisoning are often serious and may result in permanent damage to the brain. These may include serious disturbances to the memory, vision, hearing, and speech.

For persons overcome with carbon monoxide poisoning, the immediate treatment is fresh air. In cases where breathing is difficult, artificial respiration is necessary. A physician should be called promptly.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Too often American home-makers are turned into short-order cooks by a family desiring steaks and chops at every meal. This type of diet is not only a drain on the budget, but as a day-in-day-out procedure will make mealtime definitely boring.

Develop an interest in different foods and encourage the family to do the same by trying new recipes. Learn ways to prepare less expensive meats and save dollars each week.

Planning menus ahead by at least a week is very helpful as well as being much easier in the long run. Follow this up by shopping well in advance. There are numberless interesting things you can do with the time you will save by not having to run into the grocer's every other day.

The best way to get a husband interested is to show him how much money can be saved—then if the new dishes really taste good, your problem is solved.

Don't pad every meal with potatoes, rice or cereals. These staples can be the basis of interest-

Bible Comment:

Lives of Abraham And Jacob Accent Important Lessons

A PUZZLING and embarrassing incident in the Bible is the story of Abraham's lapse from truthfulness in representing his wife, Sarah, as his sister, when they were confronted by danger in Egypt.

He lied out of fear for his own life and gave no thought to the fate of Sarah.

The incident is so at variance with everything good about Abraham, that one can only regard it as the sort of lapse that sometimes occurs today in the lives of men of good character.

It seems strange to think of a man of faith and courage, the utterer of a high and beautiful prayer, resorting to a cheap lie.

The case of Jacob, Abraham's son, is very different. Jacob, in his early life, at least, does not appear as a good man, lapsing into a temporary act of weakness or evil.

To the contrary, there is in him something fundamentally good. He is a schemer and trickster, mean and selfish.

But a glimmering of something better appears in his romantic love for Rachel, and he does ultimately give every indication of having become a better man.

However, no glossing over of the evil in the early life of Jacob can make him better than he was. The evil in him was deep. Yet that early evil makes the transformation in his character all the more significant.

Two things stand out boldly as we consider these two men. One, as we think of Abraham, is that no man should be judged by any one incident, or phase, of his life.

Even good men may lapse and fall at times and should be judged only by their whole record of character, purpose and achievement.

The other, as we think of Jacob, is that no man's character, however evil, is necessarily fixed. Even a bad man may become a good man.

ing recipes, but quite often they are used too frequently and their appeal is dulled. Try other staples—lentils, beans and black-eyed peas.

If you plan to budget, be sure to allow for the occasional extravagance, if possible.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Snow makes a fine setting for gay color pictures of your favorite people.

There's Color in the Snow

WHEN the view from your window looks like a winter wonderland, with the snow-covered landscape sparkling under a clear, blue sky—that's your cue to get out with your camera and be sure that you have color film in it.

Whether you encounter such scenes regularly on home ground, or see them when vacationing in colder climes, they offer wonderful picture-taking opportunities.

Why the emphasis on color, when snow is so white? For the very good reason that it offers such a very fine background for the people and things you'll be picturing.

Can't you just see a group of children playing with their sleds on a snow-covered hill? They'll be wearing snowsuits of brilliant reds, blues, greens, yellows that'll be so outstanding against the glistening white of the snow. They'll make a really pretty picture, of the kind you'll want to keep for a long time and look at again and again.

This glistening surface offers you another advantage in addition to being a good background. It reflects the light from the sun, so that your subject is well lighted from all directions. This will do away with the shadows that you'd get if the ground were bare.

However, speaking of the reflected light brings me to warning you about an effect that the light may have on your picture. It is quite likely that your snow will have a blue cast, especially if you are making color snapshots with a simple camera. It is easy to see why this happens. We just talked about the reflected light. Well, the light from the bright blue sky that is illuminating the snow is blue. And that is the color of the light, which bouncing off the snow, reaches the film in your camera.

This blueness often adds charm to the picture because the blueness of the sky in the same picture explains it. And the presence of other strong colors, like the red of the snowsuits we mentioned earlier, takes attention away from any blueness in the snow.

Be sure to do your snow shooting—either in black-and-white or color when the sun is bright. On grey days the snow looks drab and dull. Of course, if you're striving for mood pictures, that's all right. But for everyday picture taking, we're sure most of you will prefer the bright-day snow scenes when everything is sparkling and lively.

COUNTRY PLATTERS

LES CARROLL

COUNTRY songwriters are branching far afield for material. With such songs as "Caribbean," "Mexican Joe" and "Hillbilly Hula" you can't tell a Hillbilly song without a program.

Now comes Canadian Ranger Hank Snow doing a hillbilly number with a South American beat, "Panama," backed by a smooth ballad, "Act 1, Act 2, Act 3" on Victor. And "Don Juan" by the Carter Sisters on Columbia, is another with the Latin American flavor.

Carl Smith's latest Columbia release, "Dog-gone It, Baby, I'm In Love," has lots of zip and is one of his best. It is backed by a good love ballad, "What Am I Going To Do With You?" Capitol's latest addition, the Spirituales Quartet, give an excellent rendition of a sacred number, "I'll Meet You By The River."

By trick recording, Betty Amos duets with herself in "Hello To The Blues," backed by another

More Than One Workbench!

EVERY farmer needs at least one workbench, sometimes two or three! For light work, an old table may be made to serve, providing its legs are built up so the working surface is high enough. Two other steps are recommended. If the table requires steady, nail an apron of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Preswood to the legs, just below the working surface. To provide a tough, long-lasting working area, nail to the existing top a panel of the Tempered Preswood. This material is widely used for this purpose in factories and commercial workshops.

It's a good idea to install this hardboard on any workbench as a wearing surface. The irregularities of old boards are covered by the panel, and a smooth, splinter-free area becomes available. By drilling pilot holes, the panel may be fastened with screws.

Note in the illustration that a panel of the hardboard has been inserted below as a handy shelf. Be sure, in such installations, that the board is supported at all edges.

Behind the exodus of thousands of hunters to the fields and woods each fall there is a tradition established by such men as Daniel Boone, Davy Crockett and Kit Carson. They set a mighty example for American sportsmen that is alive today. But old Dan'l was the master of them all.

Where Boone walked and hunted, later followed a nation. A hunter's instinct sent him over the mountains where he hacked out the Wilderness Road so that others might come and hunt too.

It comes almost as a surprise to realize that Boone was not a legend but a living man. Generations of American sportsmen have retold around the campfire the exploits of Boone of Kentucky exactly as Englishmen used to tell of the deeds of Robin Hood.

And first and last he was a hunter strong for game preservation. To his dying day Boone hated a hunter who killed more than he took away.

The habits of the Great Hunter changed little as he grew older, according to Moran Tudury, noted historical writer. Beaver trapping was always a special pleasure. Deer hunting, when he waited by the salt lick at moonrise, was something he never tired of.

His rifle, the historic, revolutionary "Long Rifle," which was fired by a flintlock, is said to have weighed all of 11 pounds, and the barrel alone measured over four feet in length.

The last days of Daniel Boone make a picture to warm the heart of every sportsman. An early riser, he would sniff the air and take down the rifle. Then, in the company of his aged brown hound, he was off for the woods. Even a short time before his death, at 86, there was little his family could do about keeping him home.

What was his recipe for a happy life? "All you need," he declared, "is a good gun, a good horse and a good wife."

HERE'S HOW...

THE FENCE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

A house takes on that homey look when properly fenced. Well-designed, well-built, attractively finished, the fence is a frame that adds beauty to the structure it protects.

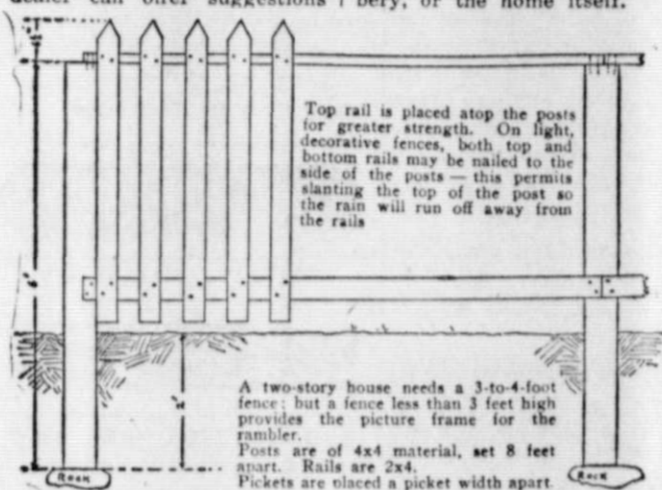

Depending upon how much of the job he wants to do himself, the home owner may buy his fence ready-made and set in place, or he may buy the "makin's" at his local lumber yard.

Fence details are simple, but the prospective builder should examine attractive fences before he plans the picture frame for his home. His local lumber dealer can offer suggestions and often provide him with plans and sketches.

Needed tools are few: hammer and saw, post-hole digger or narrow spade, and a level for plumbing the posts and rails. Rust-proof nails help prevent streaking of the pickets.

What kind of wood? Here again, the lumber dealer knows the best answer for your area. A wood fence is easy to build, is readily adaptable to alteration and repair. Painted, or unpainted, depending on the owner's choice, it can be designed to complement or to contrast with the lawn, shrubbery, or the home itself.

THE FENCE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

A house takes on that homey look when properly fenced. The children are protected, cross traffic is eliminated or at least discouraged. And, if you have dogs you wish to confine—or neighbor's dogs you wish to exclude, a fence will help provide the answer.

The home fence is rather like a frame to a picture. An attractive frame often enhances even a drab picture; when used as a setting for a beautiful picture it accentuates the beauty. A woven-wire barricade topped with barbed wire has its place, but the place is not around the home.

To build your fence, the following procedure is suggested: First, take a drive outside your own neighborhood and look for fences—picket fences, post and rail fences, etc.—and imagine your home in the various frames that you see. Examine the fences, see how they are constructed, and try to determine why they are built the way they are, why that particular fence looks well with that particular house.

Then visit your local lumber dealer; learn what he has in stock and what he can obtain for you. Plan your enclosure, including gates, so that you have a minimum of cutting to do.

Lay the plan out on paper, remembering always that it is much easier to build your gates into the plan than it is to construct them in the finished fence. For example, do you want a small gate in addition to the car gate, or do you see a future need for a side or back gate? If so, put them in the plan in the first place.

How high should the fence be? Very often a low fence of less than 3 feet will provide the picture frame for the home, especially if the home is the low rambler type. On the other hand, a two-story house generally needs a 3- to 4-foot fence; and if dogs are to be confined or excluded, a 4-foot fence is almost a must.

Pickets may be closely spaced or widely spaced depending upon the need to confine pets and the degree of privacy desired behind the fence. Generally, the spacing between pickets is equal to the width of the picket.

Supporting posts should be of 4 x 4 material. If a 4-foot fence is to be erected, the posts should be about 6 feet long to allow for 2 feet underground. The underground portion of each should be treated to resist decay, and the treatment should extend 4 to 6 inches above the ground.

Stringers or rails—the horizontal members of the picket fence—should be of 2x4 material. The posts are set 8 feet apart, with the bottom rail about 5 to 6 inches above the ground. The top rail is generally set atop the posts, and the pickets extend about 6 1/2 inches above the rail. Sometimes both top and bottom rails are nailed on the side of the posts—this permits slanting the top of the post so the rain will run off away from the rails.

Tool? Hammer and saw! A tamping rod to help set the posts; and of course a posthole digger or narrow spade. But above all, don't forget the carpenter's level. The posts must be plumb and the stringers must be level.

Use non-rusting nails.

Why wood? There is a natural beauty about wood that permits it to blend with its surroundings. It is easy to work, more adaptable to alteration, and easier to repair than are other construction materials. Wood is readily available in the shapes and sizes needed for the job.

What kind of wood? Ask your local lumber dealer. If you are building a fence, it means that you intend to stay in the neighborhood. He's going to want you for a continuing customer.

Wonderful Doctor

Chatting with the proprietor of a curio shop in San Francisco's chinatown, a tourist asked if China had good doctors.

"We got plenty good doctors in China," the saffron sage replied. "Hang Chang is best. He saved my life!"

"How was that?" asked the tourist.

"Me velly sick, call Dr. Hang Kin. He give medicine make me sicker. Call Dr. San Sing. Give more medicine, make me more sick. I feel I gonna die. Bimbeby call Dr. Hang Chang. He gone somewhere else. No come. Save life!"

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — The American Management Association met here recently and conferred on ways to maintain or increase sales in a softening market. The conferees were mostly executives of big companies, but their ideas can be used by large and small employers.

Prescription No. 1: Make everyone from the sweeper to the top executive conscious that ultimately he is working for the consumer. In-plant displays, house organ articles on individual users of the plant's product, and guest appearances of customers at company gatherings are useful in this regard.

Prescription No. 2: Recognize salesmen's efforts. Above and beyond their commissions, said the delegates, the salesman needs to know how his product fits into the whole economy, what real benefits his product confers on each buyer, and what his company is doing outside his immediate field. So keenly does big Union Carbide feel about having its salesmen learn from customers or competitors what's cooking, that it telephones hot news to salesmen before releasing it to newspapers.

Prescription No. 3: Get price and quality back into line. The customer is enjoying the return of the privilege of picking and choosing. Unless the price fits into what he wants to pay, and unless the design, wearability and other characteristics of the article are what he thinks he needs, he will look further.

Sounds as if the buyer were in for a good year.

RAILROAD PARADOX—Thirty-seven major Eastern railroads have adopted a unique approach to point up one of the major paradoxes of modern industry. In a series of ads scheduled to appear in journalism and advertising magazines, the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference has pictured the four major forms of freight transportation — truck, barge, airplane and train — and asked: "Which of these would you like to operate?"

Copy points out that the railroads alone provide their own rights of way, stations and other facilities. Various government bodies build and maintain airports, bus and truck terminals, highways and waterways. Railroads, it adds, are burdened by long-outmoded federal and state regulation which hinder them from operating at peak efficiency, and which seldom apply to their subsidized competitors.

That's the paradox: That the nation's primary supplier of mass transportation, and the one upon which the government relies most heavily in times of emergency, gets the least favorable treatment from that same government.

THINGS TO COME — For $100 you can buy a circular ice-skating rink, 24 feet in diameter, to set up in your backyard. It even has a fence around it. . . . A new aluminum build-it-yourself carport goes up with screw-driver, pliers and simple directions. . . . Charcoal starter, available for sprinkling on your fuel this summer, is odorless and doesn't taint the food. . . . New zippers will feature an unjamming device which parts the fastener but doesn't force it apart.

OLD DOG, NEW LOOK — A dog who has been around more than half a century will get a new look this year. Nipper, RCA Victor's famous terrier, is now appearing on some of the company's new recordings in a handsome new four-color suit, the first change in the label in almost 20 years.

Since Nipper became a trademark for the Victor Talking Machine Company back in 1901—shortly after Eldridge Johnson founded the company—he has appeared on more than a billion and a quarter records. Says Larry Kanaga, general sales and merchandise manager: "We have always considered him one of our top salesmen, and in his new guise we think he will do even better."

Nipper is a portrait of a real dog owned by Francis Beraud, a London painter, who was inspired to paint the dog when he saw him listening intently to the music coming from the talking machine horn. The picture, in Johnson's possession, soon became one of the world's most famous trademarks.

BITS O' BUSINESS — Egg hatching in January were up a third from the year-ago figure. . . . New York store sales rose 3 per cent in the week ending January 30. . . . With Uncle Sam cooling toward big power projects, states are studying $3 billion worth to be built without federal aid. . . . Industrial production fell further in January from its December level, said the Federal Reserve.

County 4-H Leaders Meet, Elect Officers

The Washington County 4-H Leaders association held its meeting at the Electric Co. hall in West Bend on Feb. 24.

Two new members were elected to the executive committee to replace the treasurer and reporter whose term expired this year. The new members are Paul Cypher and Joyce Schauer. Later the committee met and elected officers. They are: President, Clifford Bauer of West Bend; vice-president, Roland Has of Rockfield; secretary, Mrs. Marvin Timm of Coonate; treasurer, Paul Cypher of West Bend; reporter, Joyce Schauer of Hartford. A report of the recreation and music committee was given by the chairman. They have planned the Drama and Music Festival for Mar. 28. April 23 is an older 4-H party. June 16-18 is the county 4-H camp. A younger 4-H picnic is planned for Aug. 15. Nov. 6 is a 4-H formal dance.

Bob Stodola, county club agent, presented the budget for 1954. The sum for the recreation committee was increased to pay the full expenses for leaders and junior leaders that go to county camp.

Myra Fierck, county home agent, announced that the leaders foods and nutrition project meeting scheduled for March 9 has been postponed until March 16. A demonstration school is being planned for sometime in May to acquaint all 4-H members on how to give good demonstrations.

The dates for the Washington County Fair are July 25-Aug. 1. Following the meeting, slides were shown on what other clubs in the state are doing in the conservation project. Some of the ideas are: Developing road waysides, planting trees and shrubs along a stream, planting trees in a shelter-belt, making displays showing yields from good and eroded fields and comparing values from grazed and ungrazed woodlots.

ELDON RAMTHUN ATTENDS AIR CONDITIONING COURSE

Eldon C. Ramthun of Kewaskum, was in Milwaukee this week attending a highly intensified and condensed course on the installation and servicing of summer air conditioning equipment. The course was sponsored by Mueller Climatrol of Milwaukee, a pioneer in the heating and cooling industry, in conjunction with the Milwaukee School of Engineering where the lecture and laboratory sessions were held.

Ramthun, who is an employee at the H. Ramthun and Son company of Kewaskum will be awarded a certificate upon successful completion of the five-day refrigeration course.

Course subjects are based on a regular 15-month technical school curriculum. The course included the study of air properties, supply and distribution; fundamentals of refrigeration for air conditioning; and cooling system controls.
