Leach's record of service began in 1920 when he joined the organization at Burlington as a lineman's helper in 1924, he left to enroll at the University of Wisconsin from which he obtained an engineering degree in 1928. Upon graduation, he was employed in the electric distribution department at Racine and became manager at Waukesha in 1935. In 1938, he was promoted to assistant manager of the western division which includes offices at Fort Atkinson, Watertown, Waukesha, Burlington and Whitewater. He became manager of the western division in 1941, at Fort Atkinson. Leach has taken an active part in community affairs, serving as president of the Community Chest and president of the Chamber of Commerce.

came vice-president, general manager and a director of Wisconsin Natural Gas company and also vice-president in charge of the extension system of Wisconsin Electric Power company.

During his long utility career, Sherman witnessed a tremendous growth in the use of electricity and gas in the areas served by the companies he supervised. In 1919, during his first year as gas plant superintendent at Racine, the output of the gas plant was 800,000,000 cubic feet compared with the 6,150,000,000 cubic feet of output in 1953. In 1925, he was instrumental in the installation of a modern vertical coke oven plant at Racine, the first such plant in America to be heated with producer gas instead of coal. Another milestone in his career came in 1950 when other gas manufacturing facilities were removed and the area was supplied with natural gas. Sherman is a former president of the Wisconsin Utilities association and of the Racine Manufacturers' association.

Retiree Walter Haight began his utility service at Racine in 1916 and in 1925 was made assistant secretary of Wisconsin Natural Gas company. He handled real estate matters and employee relations problems for this company and for the extension system of Wisconsin Electric Power company. Veteran employee Walter E. Kuehlthau began his record of more than 50 years of utility service with a predecessor company at West Bend in 1906. When the property was acquired in 1932, he became West Bend manager and was appointed northern division manager in 1936.

Kewaskum Eligible for New $340,000 Post Office Building

According to an announcement in the Milwaukee Journal, several score new federal buildings could be constructed in Wisconsin by private financing if a bill already passed by the house and currently before the senate becomes law.

Included among the cities and towns in Wisconsin eligible for new federal buildings under the bill is Kewaskum. Most of the communities listed for federal buildings are eligible for post offices. The cost of a new Kewaskum post office building is listed at $340,000, which sum would provide for a very spacious structure. Campbellsport is eligible for a $211,000 building.

The measure would allow the post office department and the general services administration to make contracts with firms or individuals to construct buildings to federal specifications. The government would pay annual rental and eventually acquire title to the buildings.

The legislation is known as the "lease-purchase bill." Its basic idea is to permit more federal buildings to be erected without requiring large initial federal outlays. The bill was passed by the house on a voice vote July 24, 1953, and has been approved by a senate committee. It was scheduled for a senate vote last week with no serious opposition having been voiced.

Under the plan followed until World War II, congress appropriated money for public buildings about every two years. Each congressional district got at least one post office in cities with postal receipts of $10,000 a year or more.

What Do You Think of Your Kewaskum?

Next Thursday, May 6, at 7:30 p. m. we can show how much we think of our town of government as compared to the Communist type, by being present at the meeting of the Joint School District No. 5 (Town and Village of Kewaskum) for a hearing on the proposed creation of a new high school district, called by the joint county school committees of Fond du Lac and Washington counties at the Kewaskum High school. Let's be there.

Having had a talk with our sports committee and a number of ball players, we found one good reason why we have trouble getting players for our ball team. Most members of last year's team are married and the unmarried and new talent available hate the idea of playing BVEEY Sunday. All of us wish to enjoy Sundays in our own preferred way of relaxation. The ball players wish to have some Sundays for themselves also. The only way this could be done would be to play the games on a weekday. But the team members do not play ball for their daily bread, instead they have other jobs and these jobs do not permit them to play in the daytime at night they cannot play either because we have no lights on the athletic field.

In the recent past there was a movement started to have lights on the athletic field and some money had been raised for that purpose. For some reason or other the movement was stopped. That failure to install the lights is today one of the main reasons for the difficulty in organizing a ball team. Such lights, if installed, would enable a large number of us, who also must labor during the day to enjoy recreation at a ball game in the evening. It would be an advantage to our youth, and it would certainly enhance a better community spirit, which is so vitally necessary. You citizens of Kewaskum, what do you think of a lighted athletic field? Send your comments to Kewaskum Community Service committee, % General Delivery, Kewaskum.

Referring to last week's column where we spoke about our beautiful village park and the enjoyment of it, we wish to state that the village board is willing to go as far as it is able to fill the wishes of Kewaskum's people. But there is one kill-joy, "VANDALISM." If we are to enjoy our parks, equipment and facilities must be installed. These in turn must be protected. Our parents can help by showing and teaching their children the cost of damage created by vandallism. Our village board would do much more if it would be assured that vandallism would cease.

Perhaps you will say 'send the law after them.' Very logical for you to say that, but bear this in mind, our ONE (1) man police dept. has an awfully big burden to carry even without that, and we can lighten that by proper education at home.

We can all put our shoulder to the wheel and make Kewaskum a better place to live.

ROSY FINCH
© 1953 National Wildlife Federation

ROSY FINCH
North America boasts four species of Rosy Finches with three subspecies of one. One of these subspecies is found in northeastern United States rather rarely but for the most part the Rosy Finches are definitely western and northwestern, one being limited to the Alaskan area.

The Brown-capped Rosy Finch is found in the mountains of southwestern United States and the Black Rosy Finch in the mountains from the border south to New Mexico. The Gray-crowned and its related Heppburn's and Sierra Nevada Rosy Finches range from Alaska and Manitoba south irregularly to California and Nebraska and, as suggested above, occasionally east to Maine. It is the Gray-crowned subspecies that gives us this eastern extension of the species.

Sometimes the generic name Leuciscie is used as a common name for this bird. The Rosy Finch is most likely to be found above timberline in mountainous snow fields. It is about 6 inches long. The general color is dark brown but there is a pink cast to wings and rump. The best field characters are the dark brown breast, high chirping notes and the light gray patch on the back of the neck that shows conspicuously in our illustration.

The hen birds are less conspicuously marked than are the males and the neck patch may be rather inconspicuous except on close examination. In winter, the male may show light brown edgings on some of the feathers of the back and wings. The female also shows some seasonal variation. Adult Gray-crowned Rosy Finches have been taken in New Mexico at an elevation of 9,000 feet. There and in similar high mountain areas the Rosy Finches hop about in most severe weather, getting meals of small seeds when other forms of animal life are absent or hiding under cover. In summer they share these out of the way places with the conies and the marmots. Not infrequently the finches may be found far out over the surface of some glacier. For bird associates they may have ptarmigans and pipits.

The nest is built usually on the ground, of grasses and a few feathers. It is usually well hidden in rock rubble or among debris. Four white, unmarked eggs are laid. In the winter season, the birds may form flocks of a few hundred each and these flocks may be composed of more than one of the species or subspecies of Rosy Finches.

The National Wildlife Federation is interested in these diminutive but rugged mountaineers just as it is interested in all forms of wildlife. Its program supported largely by its stamp series endeavors through publication, fellowships and workshops for teachers and sportsmen to broaden the appreciation of all forms of nature.

"Oh, he takes me out to the middle of the lake in a boat and dumps me out."
"Don't you have trouble swimming clear back to shore?"
"No, no trouble swimming, but sometimes it's kind of hard to get out of that sack."

HOW TO FROST WINDOWS

There are many cases where light is desired from a window instead of vision. Frosted glass, or figure rolled glass ordinarily serve this purpose. However, it is sometimes desirable to fix a glass already installed, so that it cannot be seen through.

Glass is commonly etched with hydro-fluoric acid. But without proper equipment and training, this acid is very dangerous to use. In fact, I doubt that you would even be able to buy it.

Another method which produces an effect similar to acid, is sand blasting. It would be too expensive to have a company which does that kind of work come out to your house just to do a window. Therefore, remove the sash and take it to the sand blasting company.

A third method is to paint the inside of the glass with a material known as Sapolin. This method was recommended by a leading glass company.

A fourth method is to stipple the glass with white paint. The appearance will not be the same as frosted glass, but the effect will be much the same as far as light is concerned.

Numerous other materials such as Bon Ami, and paper transfers may be used to shut off vision, and still permit light to enter.

Englishman — "Americans are rather odd people, aren't they?"

Australian — "Why do you think so?"

Englishman — "Well, it's their tea. They boil it to get it hot, then put ice in it to make it cold; put sugar in it to make it sweet and add lemon to make it sour."

Editor — "Yes, out of my head."

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Time for Cherry Pie

Top choice dessert in many a home is pie. It is easy to make a good pie in quick order when the filling is made from canned fruits.

Choice Cherry Pie

¾ cup sugar
2½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 No. 2 can water pack red sour pitted cherries

2 tablespoons butter, or margarine
Pastry

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in a saucepan. Add syrup drained from cherries and stir until smooth. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add butter and cherries. Pour into an unbaked 8-inch pastry lined pan. Cover with top pastry. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 30 minutes. One 8-inch pie.

FRUIT PIE FAVORITES—If your choice is peach, apricot or crushed pineapple, use a No. 2½ can of fruit. (If pineapple is not available in No. 2½ can use 2 cups drained pineapple and 1 cup syrup.) Mix a cup of the syrup from the fruit with 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca and 2 tablespoons sugar. Put the drained fruit in a 9-inch pastry lined pan and pour the syrup-tapioca over it. Dot with butter and cover with pastry. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) about 40 minutes, or until browned.

New on the market are ready-to-use canned fruit pie fillings. Have you tried them yet?

Do you feel like throwing things when company unexpectedly comes in for dinner and you were planning to serve yesterday's leftovers? You won't feel like that if you keep an emergency shelf and your reputation as a cook is saved, thanks to modern canning, freezing and food packaging industries.

Party Oysters

Packaged pastry
1 pint oysters drained
¼ cup oyster liquor
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 can cream of chicken soup
1/8 teaspoon celery salt
1/8 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon minced parsley

Make pastry. Roll it 1/8 inch thick; cut into 8 4-inch squares. Fit each square in muffin pan cups so that corners stand upright. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Meanwhile cook oysters, oyster liquor, milk, butter and onion in a small saucepan until edges of oysters just barely curl. Turn undiluted soup into a saucepan; add celery salt and curry powder. Combine with oyster mixture. Heat and serve in pastry cups. Garnish with parsley.

Corned Beef Hash Casserole

2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 1-lb. can corned beef hash
1½ cups canned whole grain corn
2 tablespoons chopped pickles
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup catsup
1 teaspoon salt

Saute onions in butter, until tender. Break up corned beef hash with a fork, add onions and remaining ingredients. Arrange in a greased 1½ quart casserole. Bake in an oven 400 degrees 45 minutes.

Baked Eggs in Mushroom Sauce

1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
¼ teaspoon celery salt
½ cup top milk
4 eggs
4 slices toast

Empty mushroom soup into a bowl; stir in celery salt and top milk, until blended. Pour ¼ of this sauce into a shallow baking dish about 1"x6"x2". Break eggs one by one, slipping each into sauce in casserole; spoon remaining sauce over them. Bake in an oven 350 degrees for 20 minutes, or until egg white sets. Serve an egg with sauce on each slice of toast.

Cheese Omelet with Shrimp Sauce

1 5-oz. can shrimp
2 tablespoons minced celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons butter
6 eggs
6 tablespoons water
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup grated American cheese
Parsley

Remove black veins from shrimp. Place shrimp, celery, onion and 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Beat eggs, water and salt well. Heat 2 tablespoons of butter in a skillet. Pour eggs in skillet. As edges begin to set, pull cooked portion gently toward center of skillet with a fork, letting uncooked portion flow to bottom. Meanwhile heat shrimp mixture over very low heat. When all of omelet is creamy and cooked, sprinkle with grated cheese. Fold omelet, and place on a heated platter. Serve with shrimp topping, sprinkle with parsley.

Tomato Meat Balls

1 lb. chuck beef, ground
½ cup minced onions
2 tablespoons shortening
3 slices white bread
½ cup evaporated milk, undiluted
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon sugar
3 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
¾ lb. spaghetti
Parmesan cheese

In a large bowl, mix beef with onion, bread which has been softened in the milk, salt, pepper, and Parmesan cheese. Shape into small meat balls, about 20. Heat shortening in a large skillet, brown meat balls in it. Add tomato sauce and sugar. Simmer covered, 20 minutes. Meanwhile cook spaghetti following package directions. Drain. Top with meat balls and sauce and Parmesan cheese.

Hot Fruit Cup

Combine various canned fruits. Heat. Flavor with sherry. Serve warm with plain cream.

Apple Crunch

4 cups canned apple slices
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter, melted

Arrange apples in a deep, buttered baking dish. Add water. Blend cinnamon, sugar and corn flakes. Add melted butter. Pat over apples. Bake in an oven 350 degrees until apples are tender and crust is brown. Serve warm with plain or whipped cream.

Spring is officially here but it will be quite some time before the scents of lilac and magnolia will be coaxing us out of the house. Still, now and then, we do have a day that hints of nicer things to come. There's a fresh, clean smell in the air; the birds chirp more, the sun shines bright, and the breezes are soft.

When such a day comes your way, don't waste it, says Betty Ann. Use it to shed some of your winter lethargy. If you possibly can, put off till tomorrow what you had planned for that day. Take a leisurely stroll instead.

You couldn't possibly find a better beauty treatment. Even if you can manage only a 15-minute walk, it will do wonders for you.

That will replace a frown with a smile and put a sparkle in your eyes. Then you will be ready to meet the frivolous, fun loving season when it really comes along.

Color of a suit or coat often makes the difference between a satisfactory or unsatisfactory buy. Select a color that not only is becoming, but will match or harmonize with other garments in your wardrobe.

To help in choosing colors, it's a good idea to take little clips of materials with you when you shop. If you can't get snips of the actual material, match the colors to paper. Because of the wide range of colors available in fabrics, it often is difficult to match colors by memory alone.

If your wardrobe is limited and you must wear a coat or suit several seasons, choose a conservative color. Neither you nor those who see you often will tire of such a color. Gray or beige is practical because you can wear almost any color dress or accessories with it. Colorful or patterned suits and coats are good choices if you have several ensembles.

Planning meals can be a pleasant challenge if you collect a number of recipe ideas for "dressing-up" favorite dishes. Try some wonderful stuffings for baked fish, for instance. Cheese bread stuffing is ideal for perch filets. To your basic stuffing, using soft bread cubes, add grated sharp cheese—one-half cup of cheese to three cups of bread cubes. Serve the stuffed filets with tartar sauce.

Peanut Butter Drop Cookies

One-half cup peanut butter; ½ cup sugar; 1 egg; 1 cup sifted flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; ½ cup milk. Mix peanut butter, sugar and beaten egg. Sift together the dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to the first mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet about an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Leather jackets in fingertip lengths are now appearing in breath taking colors like turquoise and pink, yellow and rich cream. The next question is, what to wear with the new pale leathers.

Such is the variety, fortunately, of pastel flannel and tweed skirts, that you will find it easy to match skirt to jacket and have a sports costume of perfect harmony. Choose a pale blue flannel skirt to match your blue leather jacket, if you like, and then add another in light blue and white tweed. In general it is better to match the skirts to the jacket than to use a contrast which has little meaning. An exception, this springy pink and blue season, would be to wear a pink blouse and skirt with your blue leather jacket if these pastels are becoming to you.

If you choose one of the vivid leathers, such as turquoise, you might prefer to keep the costume underneath all in one solid, subdued shade, such as caramel. Too much of a too bright color is an expensive mistake at any price.

The well groomed woman is always prepared for little emergencies. She totes a miniature manicure set, safety pins and bobby pins everywhere.

When making gravies and cream sauces, after the flour and fat have been mixed, be sure that the first cup of liquid that is added and stirred is cold to eliminate lumps. The cold liquid helps smooth out the starch of the flour. After the mixture has once come to a boil, the danger of having a lumpy gravy or sauce is over, and it can then be thinned to the consistency desired with liquid of any temperature.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Walls, windows and floors are the background for your decorating. They are as important as furniture, perhaps more important. Walls and windows create the type atmosphere you want. Their height, stateliness and formality, or quaintness and informality set the theme of a room. Smaller houses and smaller rooms demand that we make our walls work for us by holding the added conveniences of built-in furniture, shallow closets, drop leaf desks, and the like.

Scenic wallpapers, or those in scenic effect are among the most beautiful and formal of wall decorations. They were used first to replace mural decoration and have gradually become a definite type.

Floral wallpapers in delicate colors are lively in bedrooms. The light, airy prints are particularly lovely for a young girl's room.

Painted walls of a solid color in varying tones from light to putty, cream, rose and blue are used as backgrounds. Figured rugs and draperies give pattern to this room.

Paneling is popular in an informal room and even for modern kitchens. Jacobean paneling of oak or mahogany is beautiful for the more formal homes. In such rooms draperies may be a rich damask in yellow or red or a hand-blocked Jacobean figure. Oriental rugs and needlepoint coverings for furniture will complete a picture of elegance.

More borax is produced in the southwestern United States than in any other part of the world. Chile ranks second, notes the National Geographic Society.

New Technique Boosts Oil Yield

Industrial research has developed methods which have increased four-fold the amount of oil which can be removed from a field, engineers report.

The increase is due to a technique known as "pressure maintenance," which is based on discovery that injection of water or gas, or both, into underground oil reservoirs helps to drive oil through porous rocks to the producing wells. The new technique, engineers say, makes it possible to take out 80 per cent of the oil in a given field as compared with only 20 per cent recovered by old methods.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK CONTINUES TO GROW

The rapid pace of Upper Midwest economy is reflected in statistics revealed in the current annual report of Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Number of general checks processed gained 9% over 1952 to reach the stupendous total of 79,899,840, while government items were gaining 4.2% to 15,746,539; dollar volume, however, by reason of falling prices, was down somewhat. 118,727,234 coins and 71,571,988 bills were counted. 860 loans totaled nearly $3 billion compared with 584 in 1952 amounting to slightly more than $2 billion. 44,312 fund transfers were handled, totaling nearly $14 billion. Addition of labor-saving and service-speeding equipment and re-arrangement of crowded quarters marked the year of growth.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Whether it is a vegetable garden or flower bed, your horticultural activities are good material for a snapshot record.

"How Does Your Garden Grow?"

WE'RE all familiar with the nursery rhyme in which Mary, who was famed for her contrariness is asked, "How does your garden grow?" Mary replied in words about silver bells, and cockle shells, and pretty maids all in a row.

That was all very well, but we've got a suggestion of how you might reply to that question which is asked of so many of us at this time of year. You can whip a package of snapshots out of your pocket to show your questioner just exactly how your garden is growing.

Whether it is a big vegetable garden, designed to feed the family, or a two foot square bed of flowers—it's very important to the person who planted it. That's why we are suggesting that you gardeners keep a picture record of your activities this year. Start taking your pictures the day you break ground and plant the first seed. Take them regularly from then on... then you will know how your garden grows week by week. And you can share it with your friends.

Put people in at least part of your gardening pictures. They'll add interest. But don't have them grinning into the camera. Then it will become a picture of the person and the garden will only be incidental. Let them show interest in the garden, be working or calling attention to the plant or whatever you want to stress in the pictures.

Start your garden pictures early so the snapshots will truly tell a story of your garden and how it grew.

Spring Gloves Accent Slender Look

By EDNA MILES

Party-going, elbow-length gloves in double-woven nylon have three pearl buttons at the wrist to provide snug, slim fit.

LEADING off the spring glove parade this year is the new, short (wrist-bone length) glove with the slim, narrow look. Even dress-up gloves have a clinging, elongated look that's in keeping with the straight silhouette in ready-to-wear.

Styling of gloves this spring is so definite that there's a type for every occasion, daytime into evening. And there are many pretty pastels: pink, yellow, blue as well as the vivid corals.

One brand new glove with real fashion impact is wrist-length and elasticized at the inside of the wrist for perfect fit and comfort. It comes in double-woven cotton, nylon and pique. Called the short-stop, it's in sparkling white.

The call for white is always heavy during spring and summer months, and for those who like their white relieved by the spice of color, there's hand-stitching in almost any color. Further, there's the new interest of white-on-white, to create texture.

In dress gloves, close fit has been assured by the use of tiny pearl buttons at the inside of the wrist or by a tiny bit of elastic.

More and more, women are choosing dress gloves in cotton or nylon because they're so easy to maintain. Like the shorter gloves, they come in white, pastels, vivid and dark colors.

New short-stop is this spring's wrist-length glove with elasticized wrist. Made of imported Italian pique, glove above is designed on a diagonal pattern for additional slenderizing.

SCHWEITZER'S AFRICA HIGHLIGHTED BY AWARD

The Nobel peace prize honoring philosopher-physician Albert Schweitzer has highlighted one of the earth's least developed areas.

The Alsatian-born missionary's tireless work in his jungle hospital at Lambarene in Gabon, French Equatorial Africa, has earned him world fame. At present the 79-year-old "Prisoner of Lambarene"—too busy to attend the recent presentation ceremonies in Norway—is erecting new leper colony buildings, and that is where his $33,000 Nobel prize money will go.

Bisected by the equator, Oregon-size Gabon is a land of gorillas, panthers, crocodiles and clouds of malarial mosquitoes, reports the National Geographic Society. It is also a land of poverty and human suffering.

Minerals Sought

The coastal colony is one of the four divisions of French Equatorial Africa. Lambarene is situated 125 miles up the Ogooue River from Port Gentil. The big Ogooue, navigable for 215 miles, drains Gabon's few low mountains and a swampy, forested basin. Some minerals are extracted but lumbering is the principal industry.

In rain-drenched, steaming Gabon—mouldering in a humid temperature averaging 80 degrees—less than one percent of the 418,000 inhabitants are Europeans. The natives live in primitive villages. Bananas, palm oil and manioc roots are their food staples.

Disease Is Rife

Once terrorized by slavers and cannibals, they now are sorely afflicted with sleeping sickness and leprosy. Injuries are frequent. In Equatorial Africa, almost no one long escapes disease and pain.

Languor and superstition also plague the natives. Only the trappings of European civilization are readily adopted. In a region where women do most of the work, polygamy is regarded as an economic necessity.

Despite missionary instruction, the natives live in dread of magic.

Workers can demoralize their foreman by threatening them with spells. Women refuse to nurse an orphan, fearing the fate of the child's mother. Consequently, Lambarene Hospital cares for many foundlings.

Work Increasing

To aid this suffering land, Dr. Schweitzer turned his back on European renown as a theologian, philosopher and musician.

He founded his hospital in 1913. It eventually expanded to 40 wood and corrugated iron buildings, housing 500 patients and serving scores of jungle villages. The hospital is simple. Patients live much as they do in their homes.

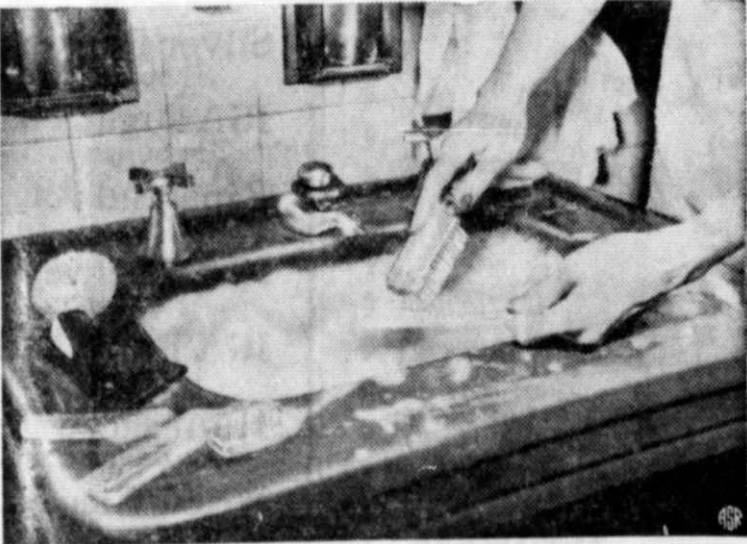

"The work is more desperately needed now than when I came," Dr. Schweitzer said recently.

HOW DEAR TO OUR HEART IS THE PAID-UP SUBSCRIBER

When the Eveleth News-Clarion was a youngster of two, Jost Mobergen laid out the cash for a year's subscription; he's been doing it every year since, and when he offered payment for the 51st year, he was handed a receipt "paid in full for the rest of his life" . . . The Renville Times was launched at Beaver Falls in 1872 and a few days afterward S. A. Greenslit subscribed; today the Times is part of the Olivia Times-Journal and the Greenslit family, now in the third generation, still subscribe . . . At 88 Otto Groehler renewed his subscription to the Winthrop News for the 64th year, while F. M. Dimond of Minneapolis, first editor of the News in 1887, was renewing his annual subscription.

Soap and water cleaning is all that patent leather needs to keep its gleaming finish. Patent handbags, belts, shoes and the patent collars popular this spring, can be wiped frequently with a soapy cloth. Then wipe a cloth wrung out of clear water, and rub with a lintless dry cloth.

Grooming Tools Need Washing

In the interest of health, neatness, and beauty, it's wise to gather family brushes and combs for a scrubbing at least every week or so. An easy, step-saving way is to collect them in a bag or basket during your morning bed-making rounds. You'll probably end your clean-up tour in the bathroom to put out fresh towels and straighten up after the morning rush. With beauty tools in hand, it's simple to put them in the basin for a hot sudsy bath.

Since soap and hot water have a disinfecting action, everything can be dunked together just like the family wash. Even though no one should use another's brush or comb, it's quite safe and much easier to wash these at the same time.

Don't neglect complexion, mascara, lipstick, or clothes brushes. Once in a while, persuade the menfolk to leave their pocket combs for a scrubbing and, of course, do all the combs from your own and other pocketbooks.

Washing is double-quick if you work with both hands—letting brush and comb work soapsuds into each other. When everything is clean-as-new, rinse in hot water and shake to remove the excess. Dry brushes with bristles down so that water drains from the tuft holes.

Bible Comment:

Dominant Message Of Eastertide Is Overcoming Death

DEATH at this Eastertide is written large on every hand. The above may seem like a strange statement with which to start an Easter message. But the dominant thought and fact of Easter is the overcoming of death.

Death is as old as the human race, and it is common to all. It is the one leveling factor that bears no dispute or repudiation. But shocking is the realization that many deaths are the result of carelessness. More tragic even than the loss of sons and fathers on battlefields are the statistics on motor vehicle accidents last year.

We are wont to exclaim, "Why does God permit war?" We deplore the sacrifice of our younger men. Yet, all the time more lives are actually sacrificed under conditions where we are our own "providence."

Just consider society's passive attitude toward drivers of public conveyances who drink while on duty. Remember when total abstinence was an imperative demand upon railroad engineers, at least in times approaching and during their service?

Yet now millions of engine-powered vehicles—the majority of them not confined to tracks—are in the hands of drivers who succumb to the temptations of "package stores," liquor joints and bar-equipped lunchrooms.

The waste of human lives through carelessness is as shameful as the Master's triumph over death is glorious.

Let our Easter thought this year be twofold:

We can overcome needless death through safety precautions. Death, the great "leveler," can be overcome through those words of Jesus: "Because I live, ye shall live also."

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Most fly-rod anglers know that it's almost impossible to hook a fish with 100 feet of line out. Far too many rises will be missed at even 75 feet. So the skilled angler usually keeps his cast under 50 feet. And some of the best producers of trout keep them much under that.

So why, asks Jason Lucas in a recent issue of Sports Afield magazine, use heavy, sinking line that will give you distance but fewer fish? He suggests the following sizes and types of lines to suit your rods:

For sunfish, bass, tarpon or anything else, he uses a moderately powerful dry-fly rod between 7½ and 8 feet, and under 4 ounces. Any such rod will work fine with a C level, and HCH double-taper, or a GBF three-diameter. Theoretically, the level should be a D, but in practice the C often works better.

If your rod is from 8½ to 9 feet, but weak and floppy, it might call for a D, HDH and HCF. But if a long rod has reasonable backbone for its length and weight, it will take a B or a GAF. Many think such a rod too tiring for dry-fly fishing for trout, but if you're going to use one for that, a GBG would fit, though some prefer an HCH.

For wet-fly fishing, and for bugs and streamers, a level line is most common. By using a very long tapered leader, it will serve for dry-fly fishing too.

In dry-fly fishing, many experienced anglers have used double-tapers that they knew were one size too small to permit best casting. They got better floating qualities, and perhaps less splash. But with the new long-floating fly lines—which also drop more lightly—there seems to be no reason for this "underlining" rods.

Some of the best of these new floating lines are made only with long front tapers, so the bassbug man who wants to use one just cuts off about half that taper; then the line works with bugs as though designed especially for them.

"Basement Improvement"
NOW available in book stores, The Complete Book of Basement Improvement fills a need in handicraft literature. This well-illustrated book contains detailed instructions on building a playroom, office or study, workshop and hobby room, laundry and utility room, rumpus room, staircases, closets, bookcases, cupboards, wardrobes and other built-ins. The author, a leading handicraft expert, gives basic information on the construction of various basement installations, including walls, ceiling, floor covering, laundry chute with ventilation by means of Masonite perforated Preswood, a child's slide adjacent to the basement stairs, a combination ping-pong table and model railroad roadbed, a desk wall unit, a pottery bench, a bar, and numerous other built-ins.

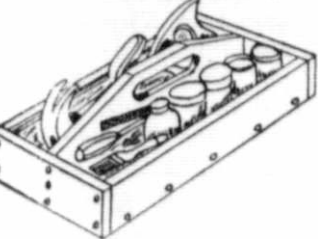

Heralded as the average man's answer to the problem of how to make the basement livable and functional, Basement Improvement gives the reader data on the newest building materials applicable to basement projects, as well as the established standbys such as Masonite Preswood and other wallboards.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A TOOL BOX

A handy tool box or tool carrier made of wood will not injure the sharp edges of tools. It provides ready access to the tools, and the craftsman can see at a glance if he has all the needed tools before he starts a job.

A box approximately 8 by 18 inches will be sufficient for most repair work. Built of 1-inch lumber, it consists of six easily-produced pieces: A base or floor piece measuring 8 by 18 inches; two sides, 4 by 18 inches; two ends, 4 by 10 inches; and a separator-handle piece sawed from a piece 6 by 18 inches.

The handle is first drawn with pencil to produce the tapered design shown in the drawing. The hand-grip slot is made by boring a 1-inch hole at each end of the slot, and then sawing out the slot with a coping saw or keyhole saw. The slot edges may be smoothed with a rasp or sandpaper.

The handle is fastened in the center of the base with 2-inch wood screws (No. 7) from below. The side and end pieces likewise should be fastened with screws.

"GUNLESS" SCOTLAND YARD MARKS FIRST 125 YEARS

It is a firm belief at Scotland Yard, London's police headquarters, that a policeman should not carry a gun.

Neither uniformed "P.C.'s" (police constables) nor inspectors of the C.I.D.—the Yard's Criminal Investigation Department—normally are armed with more than short truncheons. Guns, they feel, would only provoke criminals into carrying them too. For 125 years Scotland Yard men have just walked in and captured the crooks.

Their law enforcement record probably has made a block-long group of grey stone buildings along the Thames Embankment near Westminster Abbey the world's most famous police station, the National Geographic Society says.

"Thief-takers" Actually the address is New Scotland Yard, although the "New" is usually forgotten. Old Scotland Yard was in Whitehall, where in Saxon times the kings of Scotland stayed when they came to pay homage to the English court.

In 1749 novelist Henry Fielding, appointed London's first paid police magistrate, organized a small group of helpers. They became known as the "thief-takers." Not until 1829, however, was Scotland Yard's force created under Sir Robert Peel.

This year marks the Yard's 125th anniversary. So well known has its work become that an administrative reorganization recently made news even in the United States.

Peel's men were first dubbed "Peelers," and then more familiarly, "Bobbies." The nickname "copper" or "cop" is said to derive from copper buttons worn by Peel's force. Today a "copper's Nark" in England means a stool pigeon, or police informer.

Scotland Yard is nothing more or less than the headquarters of the Metropolitan Police of London. Technically its jurisdiction covers only the 734 square miles of greater London, minus one square mile in the middle protected by the City of London Police, the Lord Mayor's men.

If serious crime occurs elsewhere in England, however, the local constable can call for help from Scotland Yard. A "Flying squad" is always ready. If such assistance is requested within 24 hours, it's free; otherwise the local government has to foot the bill.

Dial 999 By simply dialing 999, Londoners can be connected directly to Scotland Yard's Information Room. Within three minutes, on the average, a "Sweeney"—radio patrol car—will be at the scene. The Map Room keeps track not only of the location of every police car, some disguised as delivery trucks, taxis, or private cars, but also where all major crimes took place over the preceding six months.

Along Scotland Yard's passages, offices with coal-burning fireplaces and the famous "Black Museum" hold memories of Britain's worst criminals. Jack the Ripper, wife-slaying Dr. Crippen, and the "Charing Cross Trunk Murderer" are only a few. Around the museum's walls hang death masks of men executed for their crimes.

Scotland Yard's total force of approximately 16,000 men, including about 1,400 C.I.D. detectives, closely matches the New York Police Department. Its backbone is the dignified, courteous "P.C." or bobby.

His uniform remains much the same as it was in Sir Robert Peel's time. The main change is his distinctive rounded helmet. It took the place of an earlier and even taller beaver tophat.

Scotland Yard's cable address is simply "Handcuffs, London." But like guns, handcuffs are seldom carried by the men from the Yard.

Years ago, one inspector summarized Scotland Yard's idea with a framed slogan he hung over his desk. It read "Softly, Softly, Catchee Monkee."

Coronary Disease No Bolt From The Blue

Early coronary disease of the heart is the end result of a way of life, not a mysterious bolt from the blue. This is the current medical attitude toward premature heart ailment.

Doctors urge everybody aged 40 or over to get a complete physical examination and to study their own habits of diet, exercise and rest, so as to avoid predisposing causes.

Important among these causes is a disturbance in fat utilization with a resulting deposit of fat on artery walls. This disturbance is usually accompanied by and often caused by too much fat and too many sweets in the diet after middle age.

Another is too much sitting and too little regular exercise after 40. Hearts of healthy people who do not get any regular exercise are likely to rust out instead of wear out, in the opinion of the doctors.

Emotional strains and tensions play a part, too, especially in the absence of adequate rest and relaxation. Over-weight is emphasized, finally, as a factor in premature heart disease. There is some doubt, the doctors say, if extra weight is an original cause of heart ailments, but there is no doubt at all that it makes matters worse if there is trouble already. Treatment of both high blood pressure and heart disease calls for control of obesity.

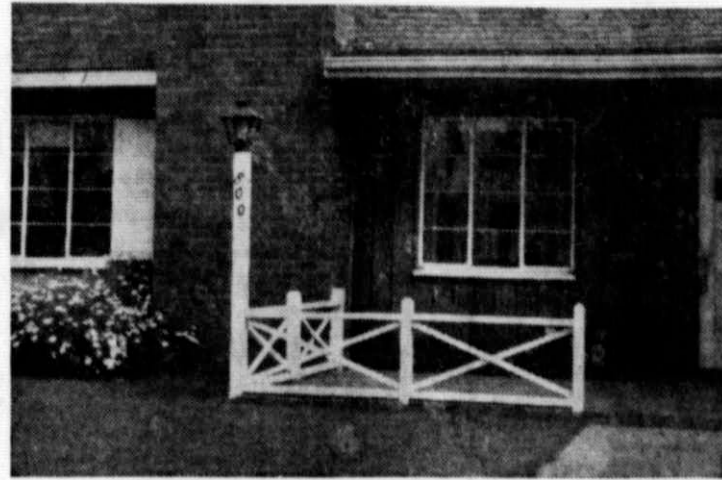

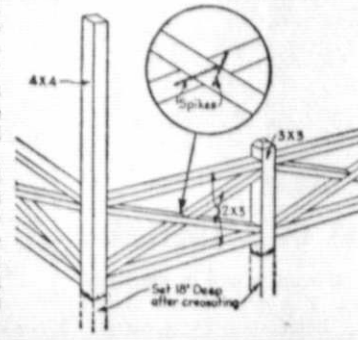

Recent extensive observations are cited also, of the way people live in countries where there is much less disease of the coronary arteries of the heart than in the United States. These studies have shown that most people in these countries have far less fats and sweets in their diets. Also there are fewer automobiles to take them to and from their jobs.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—Though retailers generally are anticipating sales aid from excise price cuts—even (psychologically) in lines not directly affected—they are not counting their eggs this year until they're hatched. The retail outlook is still clouded by too many conflicting signs.

You can be sure that many retailers will use the tax reductions as a springboard for new promotional efforts. New and improved products especially will be supported by heavy point-of-sale promotion, in addition to paid advertising. And, of course, "plus" values and "bonus" offers will lead the parade of sales come-ons.

PRODUCT PLUS—Once in a while even manufacturers employ the "bonus" plan of sales merchandising to push new products, and often an outstanding success story is written.

A good example of this policy is provided by the S. C. Johnson Company of Racine, Wis., which developed a new type of self-polishing wax for such hard surface floors as linoleum, asphalt tile and vinyl plastic. A light, long-handled applicator was offered at less than cost price in combination with cans of the wax. Millions of the "bonus" deals were purchased, and today the wax is the largest selling floor polish in the world.

Now the company has another combination offer. It teams liquid polishing wax with a light but heavy-duty plastic appliance for cleaning and polishing floors. It bids fair to bring extra benefits to producer, retailer and consumer alike.

THINGS TO COME—Day-dreaming Americans who enjoy the summer sound of distant lawnmowers are in for a rude awakening. A new muffler for power mowers increases the frequency of sound waves to a point beyond human hearing, so that grass cutting becomes about as noisy as a "silent" dog whistle (which employs the same principle) . . . A new type of bonnet for milady has an inner tube hidden in the brim. In folded-up form, the hat can be carried in a handbag; inflated, it provides shade for the eyes and shadow for the features . . . A present-day substitute for those vital-statistic pages that used to be bound into family bibles is a new book, with leather-like cover and blank pages, "Famili-facts" by name . . . The basic infant accessory, the hot-plate dish, has been restyled by one maker to give the interior a slant-out design that promotes self-feeding without aid of "pusher" or thumb.

BUYING POWER—The use of installment credit by consumers is a "self-feeding mechanism" that not only raises American living standards but tends to keep purchases high, Arthur O. Dietz, president of C.I.T. Financial Corporation, said recently. Dietz told the National Installment Credit Conference of the American Bankers Association in Chicago that it is consumer credit that "provides and sustains the punch behind the purchasing power of the middle-income groups."

He cited a University of Michigan study for the Federal Reserve Board to disprove the "widely held misconception" that when a family contracts a debt it is removed from the market and has no buying power left. It showed, Dietz said, that only 25 per cent of the families without installment debt at the beginning of 1952 bought new durables during the year, whereas 45 per cent of the families who started the year with installment debt bought new durables during the year.

WROUGHT IRON'S RETURN—Wrought iron, which enjoyed its greatest vogue around the turn of the century—and which made its "last stand" with the iron reindeer on the front lawn—is coming back. But this time the oldest of ferrous metals is not going into ornamental railings and other architectural doodads. It is being turned to utilitarian, rather than decorative, use.

Pipes and coils of wrought iron are finding wide favor in both the heating and refrigeration fields, because, in addition to being bent and welded with ease, the metal has a high rate of heat conductivity on the one hand and a strong resistance to corrosion, even when subjected to condensate or ammonia solutions, on the other.

Wrought iron smokestacks, fences and chains for industrial use are also aiding the comeback of the "underdog" of metals. One ironworks is even doing a brisk business in wrought iron tombstones (common in Canada and some European countries).

BITS O' BUSINESS—The popularity of "girl art" is on the wane in advertising, according to a recent survey. Realistic photos of products and humorous cartoons depicting family life are out front.

MODERN WARFARE?—An elephant patrol moves through the brush country of Cambodia, French Indo-China. The giant animals are used to transport food, supplies and munitions to troops on patrol in the country, now in its seventh year of war. Due to their size, elephants are well suited for travel through the thick and bushy Cambodian vegetation and across the half-flooded regions.
