Electors Approve Kewaskum Union Free School Dist.

PROPOSAL FAVORED BY OVERWHELMING 247 TO 23 MARGIN IN VILLAGE, 278 TO 98 IN AREA IN REFERENDUM TUESDAY

Electors in the village of Kewaskum and the surrounding area in which a union free high school district has been proposed overwhelmingly favored the creation of the district in a referendum election held on Tuesday, June 1.

By a vote of 247 to 23 in favor in the village and 278 to 98 in favor in the area outside of Kewaskum, the referendum calling for the creation of the district was approved.

The newly created Kewaskum free high school district includes all of the village of Kewaskum, all of the towns of Wayne and Kewaskum, the upper northwest corner of the town of Barton and the upper two-thirds of Farmington township in Washington county. It also includes about one-half of Auburn township and a quarter section of Ashford township in Fond du Lac county.

According to state law, a union free high school district can be created by referendum only when it is favored by a majority of voters in each of the incorporated municipalities to be included in the district and by a majority of the voters in the entire area outside of the municipalities. Thus, by achieving a majority of votes in each instance, the Kewaskum referendum has met both requirements of the state statute on school district reorganization.

The first annual meeting of the newly created district will be called to order by Atty. Deane Bascom, chairman of the Washington county school committee, on Tuesday, July 6. Following the election of a meeting chairman, the electors are expected to elect a school board, and discuss a budget and building program for the new district. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Kewaskum High school building.

Bascom hailed the referendum victory as a very significant step forward in school district reorganization and pointed out that it marked the first major high school district reorganization to be approved in Washington county. He said that the county school committee, in answer to numerous requests, will immediately begin to study the establishment of a union free high school district in the southeastern corner of the county.

RURAL WRITERS CLUB WILL MEET MONDAY

The Rural Writers club will meet on Monday evening June 7, at 7:29 p. m. at the West Bend Public Library. ## Undeclared Gratton Nine Tips Chevs, 7-2

The unbeaten, league leading Gratton team won its fourth straight contest here Sunday, handling Kewaskum its fourth straight setback, 7-2. The Chevs and Gratton are at opposite ends of the standings.

Kewaskum gave Gratton's hard hitting team with strong pitching a good go of it. But for one bad inning, the fourth, when the visitors crossed the plate four times, it was a close contest with fine pitching. The Chevs outbit Gratton, 10 to 9, but couldn't come through in the clutch.

Veteran Bob Eernisse was tough when the chips were down. He ran into trouble often but struck out 11 men to keep the Chev score down. He walked five, Denny Haas pounded out a home run for the winners.

Gratton garnered six of their runs and eight of their hits off Don Meisenheimer in the first five frames. Glen Backhaus finished the game and stopped Gratton with only one hit and one run. Meisenheimer walked 4 and whiffed 4. Backhaus passed 1 and also fanned 4.

P. Dickman and pitcher Eernisse paced the winners in hitting with 2 each. Bob Dreher again was top man for Kewaskum with 2 for 5, one of them a double. No other batter got more than one safety.

This Sunday the Chev's travel to Mequon and should stand a good chance of gaining their first win. Mequon is second last, right above Kewaskum, and a win for the latter will tie them in the standings.

Firemen Out Twice; Wind Fells Electric Pole, Stuns Woman

The Kewaskum firemen were aroused early Wednesday morning, shortly before 4 a. m., when a car caught fire on Highway H near the Conrad Bier farm, just east of Highway 46, about 1 1/2 miles south of the village.

The auto was driven by Edward Heiden, 633 South 11th st., Milwaukee, who had pulled aside of the highway to take a nap. He woke up to find the front seat on fire and the fire department was called to sniff out the blaze.

The firemen were summoned again shortly after 9 a. m. Thursday, the call coming from the Alex Laubach farm a short distance east of New Fane.

A high wind and rain caused an electric pole containing a transformer to topple to the ground. The high tension wires crossed and apparently caused a short. Mrs. Laubach, who was working in the basement of her farm home, said that she was knocked unconscious when a charge of electricity evidently passed through the basement.

When she regained consciousness, Mrs. Laubach thought she smelled smoke and called the fire department. They could discover no blaze in the home. Mrs. Laubach was not injured.

The high wind and driving rain on Thursday caused a number of limbs and branches to be broken off of trees in the village and vicinity.

HOLY TRINITY BALL TEAM TIPS ST. MATTHEW'S AGAIN

St. Matthew's parochial school team of Campbellport played a return baseball game here Memorial day and again were defeated by the Holy Trinity school boys, 13 to 6. Holy Trinity also won at Campbellport last week Thursday.

Kewaskum put the game on ice with a big rally in the second last inning when the boys batted around. The Puerling brothers furnished the battery for the winners with Lobby pitching and Dicky catching. Serwe pitched for the losers. Harold Marx umpired this crucial game.

The local school challenged St. Matthew's to another contest but a spokesman for the team said, "Campbellport don't wanna play any more."

A Famous American Ship

One out of every three of our active, ocean-going merchant fleet is an oil tanker, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. The modern supertanker, shown above passing the United Nations headquarters, is the culmination of half a century of progress in tanker design. For the cost of a three-cent stamp a supertanker can move a gallon of heavy crude oil 10,000 miles. Her value in time of war would be great.

Screen Stars at the U.N.

Two outstanding personalities of the theater and film world recently donated their talents to tell the story of the work of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). At left is Deborah Kerr, British-born actress. Checking her script is Audrey Hepburn who has a fitting background for international stories. She was born of Dutch and Irish parentage in Belgium. In a special broadcast heard by millions in English-speaking countries, they joined with five other luminaries of stage and screen in dramatizing UNICEF's seven-year history of world-wide aid to needy mothers and children.

MARSH RABBIT

MARSH RABBIT
© 1953 National Wildlife Federation

This wetland rabbit resembles a Cottontail that has lost its cottony tail and which has developed shorter, wider ears and narrower, short-haired hind feet. The general impression is that the Marsh Rabbit is darker than the Cottontail with the back rather heavily peppered with black and with the brown more rusty than that of the Cottontail. Pure white seems to be lacking in this rabbit though it is gray on the under parts including the under part of the tail.

Because of its preference for wet spots, we find a number of appropriate common names given the animal. It is called Pontoon, Wet Rabbit, and Water Rabbit with minor modification of these terms at times and in some regions.

The total length of a Marsh Rabbit is just over 17 inches while a Cottontail may be an inch and a half longer. The weight of the two animals may be about the same. The comparative nakedness of the hind feet of the Marsh Rabbit is appropriate to the needs of an animal whose hind feet may frequently become wet and which must be dried out and also appropriate for the needs of that animal to do considerable swimming now and then.

The Marsh Rabbit ranges thru the coastal area of the United States from southern Virginia to Alabama with two recognized sub-species being found in Florida. It should not be confused with the larger Swamp Rabbit. While the Cottontail and the Marsh Rabbit may not exceed 3½ pounds in weight, the Swamp Rabbit may reach a weight of 6 pounds. Like the Cottontail, the Swamp Rabbit is pure white under the tail.

Marsh Rabbits are active mostly at night and their presence in the daytime may be indicated by the injury they may cause to the plants on which they feed. They establish rather definite trails in their home territory and may rest in identical spots day after day, even though they may move about freely at night or at dusk or dawn.

Usually 2 to 4 young are born, probably about 5 or 6 weeks after breeding begins in early February, and there are probably a number of litters born during the year. The young are at first protected in a sunken nest lined with fur and well hidden. Even after the young rabbits are weaned, they may return to the old nest site for some days before becoming more independent.

Because of the preference of these animals for marsh lands, they do comparatively little damage to agricultural crops which are not normally cultivated in such places. They will be found in areas flooded by brackish water but prefer fresh-water situations. The rabbits will dig up the underground portions of plants of their range. They swim readily and strongly and in hot weather may prefer to rest in the water rather than on dry ground.

Because of the limited range these mammals are not so well known as some of their relatives but it illustrates the tendency of Nature to have plants and animals capable of occupying niches not used by related species. The National Wildlife Federation encourages studies of problems of this sort.

FROM SOUTH OF THE BORDER

Air tours, ore discoveries, coffee problems, prehistoric finds, and many other factors turn United States attention to South America. Most recent curiosity-whetting news from that continent was the finding of the perfectly preserved frozen body of a young Inca girl in a cave high in the Andes. All of this interest came to focus in the Upper Midwest when Minneapolis Art Institute opened April 21. "Treasures of the Andes," for a two-month showing. Golden ornaments, ceramics, weaving, sculpture from as far back as 1200 B.C. up to the Spanish conquistadores of the 16th century, told a fascinating tale of the fabulous South American Indians.

Dogs and turkeys were the only domesticated animals in North America at the time Columbus discovered the New World, says the National Geographic Society. Most Indian dogs seem to have been of wolf or coyote stock but explorers' descriptions indicate others of different ancestry. These strange dogs became extinct at an early date. The mystery of their origin is unsolved.

MINNESOTA RANKS HIGH AS FARM STATE

"Minnesota today ranks as one of the leading agricultural states in the nation," says a recent University publication. We lead in butter production; rank second in eggs (3,750,000,000 a year), flax, hay, honey, milk cows, oats, rye, turkeys (5,500,000 a year); third in barley, corn (250,000,000 bushels a year), whole milk (8,000,000,000 pounds a year); fourth in poultry; fifth in hogs and soybeans; sixth in total farm income and in income from livestock and livestock products.

First foreign salute to American sovereignty was fired in 1776 by the tiny Dutch colony of St. Eustatius in the West Indies.

HOLDING WOOD FOR CROSSCUT SAWING

HOLD WOOD FOR CROSSCUT SAWING

It would be much easier to work with tools in our homes if we all had good equipment. Such is not the case, however. Many of us must do our sawing without vises or saw horses.

The Bench Vise:

A vise is handy for sawing small or short pieces. Narrow pieces should be laid flat in the vise and clamped between the edges.

Wide pieces should be clamped between the broad surfaces. This necessitates kneeling on one knee in order to saw at the proper angle.

Always saw past the end of the bench if possible, in order to avoid sawing into the bench or vise.

The Bench Hook:

The home repairman will find the bench hook very useful in holding small pieces for saw-

Most Home Accidents Can Be Prevented

There's no place like home—for accidents.

And the sad part of all this is that most of these accidents were preventable. Someone or something was at fault. The matches should not have been left near the baby. The shag rug should have been made slip-proof. The broken stair should have been repaired.

The most dangerous place in the home is the bedroom, where over 25 per cent of all fatal home accidents occur. The yard is the next most dangerous area, followed closely by the kitchen. Falls account for most fatal home accidents. Next in order of frequency were burns, poisonings and firearms.

These accidents do not occur, for the most part, as a result of any hazardous activity. In three out of four cases they happened to people engaged in the simplest kinds of activities—walking, standing, going up and down stairways, and even sleeping.

Home accidents usually are caused by environmental hazards, unsafe actions, or a combination of both. The former includes faulty design, poor maintenance, poor housekeeping, and improper use of equipment. Unsafe actions can be traced to carelessness, lack of skill, poor health, and age.

The present home accident rate has continued with little change for 15 years. By contrast, the industrial rate has been reduced 50 per cent in the same period; and surprisingly the motor vehicle accident rate, based on mileage, has been lowered nearly 40 per cent during these years.

Prevention of home accidents is essentially an individual responsibility. Each of us can help by practicing good housekeeping; selecting safe toys and recreational equipment for our children; avoiding hazardous tasks, especially when tired; and above all creating a feeling of responsibility for developing safe living habits.

There is no simple solution to this problem. Science is finding new ways to fight disease, but it can promise us no vaccine or wonder drug to prevent accidents. Safe home living is up to us.

Parah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Sweet and Pungent Shrimp has an oriental flavor admired by Americans. Make it in your own kitchen—serve it with hot fluffy rice.

SHRIMP RECIPES — GLAMOROUS AND EASY

A recipe with a glamorous name and easy-to-follow directions—that's for us. If the recipe has a foreign or regional flavor, so much the better. It makes an intriguing conversation piece.

The Shrimp Association of the Americas has developed two such recipes. This Sweet and Pungent Shrimp is a simplified version of the oriental favorite served in Chinese restaurants. Shrimp on Parsley Rice is an easy-to-make variation of Jambalaya, famous in Creole cookery.

Sweet and Pungent Shrimp

Clean 1 pound of fresh or frozen shrimp and cook it by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. Mix together in saucepan 1/4 cup brown sugar, 2 tsp. cornstarch, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1 tsp. soy sauce, and juice drained from 1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks. Cook until slightly thick, stirring constantly.

Add pineapple chunks, 1 green pepper (cut in rings), 2 small onions (cut in rings) and cook 2 or 3 minutes. Remove from the heat, add cooked shrimp and let stand about 10 minutes. Just before serving, bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Serve with hot rice. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Shrimp on Parsley Rice

Clean 2 pounds of fresh or frozen shrimp and cook it by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. Drain the shrimp. In the meantime, saute 1/4 cup minced onion, 1/2 cup chopped celery and 1 crushed bay leaf in 1/4 cup of butter or margarine. Add 1/2 cup minced parsley, 1 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. black pepper. Fold the vegetable mixture into 2 or 3 cups of hot cooked rice. Arrange the rice in a circle on a chop plate, or in a low bowl. Fill the center with the cooked shrimp. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Rice is more easily digested than almost any other food and is a most valuable source of healthful energy for active children and busy grownups. It blends well with vegetables, meats, eggs, cheese, fruit and milk.

8 tablespoons butter, melted
6 slices tomato

Season rice with salt, pepper, paprika, the onion juice, and butter. Pack into 6 well-greased custard cups and place in a pan of water in an oven 250 degrees until heated thoroughly. Turn each timbale out on a large tomato slice. Top with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce

3/4 lb. American cheese, grated
1/4 cup milk

Melt the cheese in the top of the double boiler. Add the milk gradually and blend until smooth. Cook until sauce has thickened. Serve over rice timbales. Dust with paprika.

Rice Meat Loaf

1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup cooked rice
1 lb. ground smoked ham
1 lb. ground veal
2 beaten eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt

Topping

1/3 cups brown sugar
1/4 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon dry mustard

Mix onion, rice, ham and veal together. Beat eggs into milk; add to meat. Add the pepper, salt and garlic salt. This makes a soft mixture. Pour into a well greased loaf pan and pat down so the top is even. Combine the brown sugar, vinegar and mustard. Pour over the top of loaf and bake 1 1/2 hours in an oven 250 degrees. Garnish with small cooked onions. Serve with catsup.

Shrimp Filled Peppers

1 lb. cleaned, cooked shrimp
1/2 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 cup tomato puree
4 large green peppers
2 tablespoons melted butter
3/4 cup soft bread crumbs

Cut peppers in half. Parboil. Sprinkle with salt. Cool before filling.

Saute in the fat the minced onion. Add tomato puree, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper and shrimp. Add cooked rice. Fill peppers generously. Cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in an oven 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Raise to 400 degrees and bake until tops are brown.

Parsley Rice Ring

1 cup cooked rice
1 cup milk
4 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 cup grated cheese
1/2 medium onion, chopped fine
1 cup chopped parsley
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Mix well. Fill buttered ring mold. Bake at 350 degrees until set, about 45 minutes. Fill with creamed chicken.

Rice Pancakes

1 cup milk
1 cup warm cooked rice
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks beaten until thick
1 tablespoon melted butter
7/8 cup flour
2 egg whites beaten stiff

Pour milk over rice and salt. Add egg yolks, butter and flour. Fold in egg whites. Heat griddle and bake pancakes. Serve at once with butter and syrup.

Rice and Egg Salad

1/4 cup green onion minced
6 hard boiled eggs, diced
1 cup celery, diced
1/4 cup cucumber pickles, diced
2 cups cooked rice, chilled
3/4 cup mayonnaise
Salt to taste

Mix ingredients lightly and serve on lettuce.

Rice Pudding

2 cups milk
1 cup cooked rice
2 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Scald milk with rice. Beat egg yolks, add sugar and salt. Add hot mixture slowly. Cook in double boiler until thick. Fold in egg whites. Flavor with vanilla. Put in baking dish. Bake at 350 until delicately brown.

Casserole Fricassee

4 lb. chicken
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup fat
1/2 lb. mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 cups hot cream or evaporated milk

Cut chicken into serving pieces, dip in the 1/4 cup milk, then into mixture of flour, salt and pepper. Brown chicken in fat and place in a deep baking dish. Cook mushrooms for 3 minutes in fat remaining in pan. Add onion and mushrooms to chicken. Cover with the cream or evaporated milk. Cook in an oven 350 degrees until chicken is tender and the cream cooks to a thick sauce, about 1 1/2 hours.

"REX" AND HIS FRIENDS—"Rex," a three-year-old French movie dog, poses with other members of a cast which was featured recently in an exhibition at a large Parisian store. Rex has appeared in French movies in roles reminiscent of the late American canine idol, Rin-Tin-Tin.

NO BULL—HE'S AT SCHOOL—Gene Banks, right, finds it safer, if less spectacular, to practice passes in a Los Angeles bull-fighting school with the aid of a horned wheelbarrow-like contraption rather than with a live bull. Wheeled by instructor Mario McManus, the "bull" is enticed by the cape as Banks executes a "corteo."

PRAYER FOR PREPARATION — Viet Nam Army Chief-of-Staff Gen. Keep Aspirin Away From Youngsters

The greatest danger to the lives of children lies not in diseases but in the carelessness, lack of supervision and absence of ordinary safety precautions which result in preventable deaths among children, according to a bulletin.

As an example, the doctors cite in this bulletin, the appalling poisoning rate among children under five from common household remedies and aids, like aspirin, left where children can reach them. In the last two years 65 cases of accidental aspirin poisoning were brought to just one Minneapolis hospital, they say. Some of them died and others were reached in time with effective emergency treatment.

Often the aspirin was the sugar-coated kind prepared especially for children, but left where small, reaching hands could get at them. The doctors call it highly discouraging that so little progress is being made, year by year, in cutting the toll from accidental deaths in children. Every year children die by dozens from playing with loaded firearms, from burns and scalding, from drowning and falls and suffocation, as well as poisoning—more of them than the combined total of deaths due to pneumonia and influenza, measles, chicken pox, tuberculosis, rheumatic fever, meningitis, cancer or polio.

Most of these deaths, like the disasters due to aspirin poisoning, could be prevented by a simple change in household and family routine, the doctors point out. Locked medicine cabinets, for example, would be cheap at the price. So would supervision at all times for younger children, care and proper instruction in storing and use of firearms, removal of shells, matches, knives, hot kettles out of the reach of youngsters.

Automobiles are no less lethal to babies, the bulletin says. What the doctors urge is that parents go over every source of accident to the youngsters in their homes and out, and then do something about it.

Baked Mushrooms

1 cup milk
1 cup cheese grated
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mustard
Cooked spinach
1 1/2 lbs. mushrooms

Combine milk, grated cheese, onion, salt, and mustard. Line a baking dish with the spinach, fill with the mushrooms and add milk to mixture. Bake in an oven 350 degrees for 30 minutes, or until mushrooms are tender.

In spite of all the new preparations and items in the hair care market, expert stylists agree that the well brushed head is still the healthiest and handsomest. The hundred strokes a night which polished old-fashioned combs and plaits to a high luster, will work the same magic on the short, informal hair styles today. Women using home permanents or color should realize too, that regular brushing adds luster, stimulates natural oils and circulation and helps encourage a curl or wave in their hair, says Betty Ann.

There are two kinds of brushes. Those made with natural or animal bristles and those of nylon or synthetic fibers. The surface of the natural bristle is uneven, for it is formed by tiny overlapping cells which provide many polishing and cleaning surfaces. The nylon bristle is made of a smooth fiber which penetrates the hair easily.

Longer bristles are suggested for heavy hair; shorter bristles for thin, fine hair. Many brushes have bristles so arranged that they conform to the contour of the head or provide an extra wide brushing surface.

Once you have selected a brush, use it correctly. Begin the stroke at the base of the neck in an upward and outward rolling motion. The brush stroke should sweep out to the tips of the hair, carrying with it all the oils from the scalp which the hair needs to make it lustrous and manageable. The brush should pick up a layer of hair at a time until the whole head is brushed so that every strand will be cleaned and polished.

A checklist on fit and taking plenty of time to examine before purchasing are two keys to success when selecting a coat or suit. Try the garment on over the same type of clothing you'll wear under it. Look at yourself from the front back and sides in a full length mirror. See how the garment looks in action as you walk, sit and reach.

Things to look for include: Comfortable fit throughout, collar should hold up close to the neck at back and sides, shoulder-line should be straight from neck to highest point of sleeve. The grain of goods should hang straight at center front. Crosswise grain of cloth should run straight around the body and sleeves at bust level.

Sleeves roomy enough for clothing worn underneath are another must. Bend your elbow to be sure of the ease of cut where it is needed. A long sleeve should reach the wristbone as you touch the lobe of the ear on the same side.

Curve of lengthwise seams in jackets or fitted coats should be slightly below the natural waistline. Closings should fasten without strain. When the garment is fitted or semi-fitted, waist closings should be exactly at the waistline.

Full length coats should be at least one-half inch longer than dresses or suits to be worn under them.

A strand of pearls, right for any occasion, is also right for any shape face. The woman who wishes to cut the length of her face should wear a rather short strand; while the woman who wants to add length should select a long strand.

Strap shoes this spring will expose pretty feet, and today is the time to make those feet shine.

Foot calluses should never be left until tomorrow. Give them the same daily attention you devote to your face. Before a date, relax with feet elevated for at least 10 minutes. If feet hurt on a date or on a shopping tour, it spoils all the fun.

Smooth heels and toes with oil or lotion each night. Be sure that toenails are clipped. Polish in jewel tones makes toes twinkle in the newer bared sandals.

To keep rice fluffy and white during the cooking process, try cooking it in water to which you have added a teaspoonful of lemon juice for each quart.

Let the cover of a heat resistant glass casserole do double duty. Use it over an iron skillet; it's lighter in weight than an iron cover and so easier to put on and take off; it also allows you to see your cooking. This trick is particularly handy when you are cooking dumplings.

Add crushed potato chips to buttered bread crumbs to use as a topping for a casserole.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Now is the time to plant roses in most sections of the United States. If you don't know a lot about roses—don't just wade in and think there is nothing to it. You will be in for a shock.

Rose culture is not difficult but there are a few things you must know to have any success at all. In the first place, not all varieties are equally hardy. Select only those which the experts have found will do well in your climate. Don't try tender ones unless you live in a warm place.

Pest resistance is important. Good, strong varieties are not usually bothered by insect or diseases. For some reason Red roses are less attractive to Japanese beetles.

Part of the beauty of a rose is its fragrance. Not all rose scents are the same. It may be strong, illusive, spicy, tea-like, or musky. This will influence your choice of roses.

Some roses bloom much more than others. Be sure you choose a variety that is not a shy bloomer. The prolific varieties are just as easy to grow as the shy ones.

You don't want plants that fall over in rain storms. Good sturdy stems and thick, shiny leaves are necessary to hold-up under heavy rain and strong winds.

Good form in flower and bud are extremely important. Buy only those which have pleasing form from the time the buds color or until the petals fall off.

Insist on number one plants—three stems eighteen inches long with a strong root system.

U.S. Army Engages In Realistic Battles

WASHINGTON—The Army is its own best "enemy."

When Army combat units take to the field in maneuvers, the enemy is not imaginary—his troops are there in the form of well-trained American soldiers wearing the green uniforms and crested helmets of a force known as Aggressor.

The Aggressor army plays the role of a sparring partner, fostering the spirit of competition and lending realism to bulletless battlefields.

Aggressor forces are made up of rifle units and mechanized units similar to U.S. Army infantry and armored and artillery units. They also have an elite corps known as Fusiliers which correspond to the paratrooper-ranger units of the American Army. A fictional general staff, war office, and high-ranking officer complement completes the make-up of the Aggressor Army.

Aggressor troops and equipment easily are identified by their Circle-Trigon insignia—a green triangle centered in a white circle. Much of their equipment is American-made, "captured" in engagements in Europe and North America.

To add realism to maneuvers, "enemy" troops captured during the exercises have on their persons maps, credentials, messages and other information which, when properly evaluated, give U. S. forces an indication of the "enemy's" intentions. Because many of the Aggressors speak foreign languages, excellent intelligence and interrogation training is provided individuals and units performing those duties.

Sometimes—to check security measures of the U. S. forces—Aggressor plants spies in U.S. Army installations.

The Aggressor Army came into being in 1946. Before that time, forces participating in Army maneuvers were divided into the Blue Army and the Red Army. This set-up was all right for training units in tactics, but it did not prepare soldiers for a combat engagement with an "enemy" that used foreign tactics, spoke a different language, and wore strange uniforms.

When Aggressor was organized, it was given a fictional history. In order to create realistic situations, it now is assumed that after World War II certain defeated nations in Western Europe banded together under a dictatorship and formed the "Circle-Trigon" party. This organization pushed the occupying forces out of Europe and then proceeded to make "landings" in North America—in California, Alaska, the St. Lawrence Waterway, Panama and the Caribbean. From this general situation, training maneuvers and exercises are developed by the Army for training purposes.

'Fritter' Away Those Pleasant Moments

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

NOW is the time for spring parties. It's also the season for fragrant, fresh pineapple. You'll welcome this unusual recipe for fresh pineapple-and-cheese fritters. Serve these delicious morsels on food picks, along with tall, cool drinks or fruit juices.

Fresh Pineapple Cocktail Fritters (Approximately 40-50 balls)

One cup sifted, all-purpose flour; 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper; 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 egg, slightly beaten; ¼ cup milk, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted; 1 cup ½-inch fresh pineapple cubes, 2 teaspoons sugar, soy sauce, ¼ pound mild-flavored Cheddar cheese (optional).

Sift together first 6 ingredients. Stir in lemon rind. Combine egg and milk, and stir into flour mixture along with melted butter or margarine.

Cut pineapple into ½-inch pieces; mix with sugar and dip in soy sauce. (Be sure to dry each piece with a paper towel.)

Cut cheese into ½-inch pieces, if used, and place on top of each pineapple wedge.

Dip in the batter and fry until brown in deep, hot fat (365 degrees F. on deep-fat thermometer), or hot enough to brown a cube of day-old bread in 40 seconds.

Quickly remove from fat and drain on absorbent paper. Insert toothpicks and serve on hors d'oeuvre tray.

Fresh Apple Fritters: Pare and core apples. Cut into ½-inch cubes. Prepare and fry in deep, hot fat as for pineapple in the above recipe.

For a special luncheon or an outdoor grill party, this delicious mixed grill will please everyone. The use of herbs gives the food a magically wonderful flavor.

Mixed Grill With Herbs (Serves 6)

Six ¾-inch slices eggplant, unpeeled; 6 ¾-inch slices potato, peeled; 6 ¾-inch slices sweet potato, peeled; 6 lamb chops (small steaks or hamburgers may be substituted), 6 small sausages, 12 slices bacon, 6 thick slices tomatoes, marinade.

Parboil eggplant, potato and sweet potato until just tender. Marinate lamb chops 1 to 2 hours. Place chops on grill over hot coals on broiler rack in oven.

Brush eggplant and the two potatoes with the marinade and place on broiler or grill. Add sausages which have been parboiled for 5 minutes. Broil 15 minutes, brushing with marinade from time to time. Turn. Broil 5 minutes. Add tomatoes dipped in marinade and the bacon slices. Broil 10 minutes, or until tender.

Marinade (Yield: about 1 cup)

One lemon, sliced thin; 1 small carrot, grated; ½ cup oil, ½ cup vinegar, ½ teaspoon ground (rubbed), thyme leaves; ¼ teaspoon whole rosemary leaves, ¼ teaspoon whole basil leaves, ¼ teaspoon garlic powder, 2 whole bay leaves, crumbled; 2 whole cloves, 1 tablespoon parsley flakes, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, ½ teaspoon onion salt, ½ teaspoon salt.

Combine all ingredients. Simmer 5 minutes. Pour over chops while hot.

Fumes of Cleaning Fluids Dangerous

Among common household dangers, one is so commonplace that a good many people ignore it completely. Or they operate on false assumptions that could be as dangerous as no attention whatever to possible trouble.

This one is the danger involved in using common cleaning fluids in the house or in the automobile.

Most people are aware of the threat of fire from using dry-cleaning fluids. Usually they look to see if the fluid is labelled inflammable. Reassured by a label which says the preparation is not inflammable or that it is resistant to fire—and often little else—they give the matter no further thought.

The trouble is that the preparation holds another threat, if it contains carbon tetrachloride, which is just as serious as the threat of fire. Fumes from carbon tetrachloride are capable of producing grave illness and even death if the preparation is used in a closed room or to clean car cushions without proper airing and drying before driving the car.

What makes improper use of the preparation even more dangerous, according to the doctors, is that the illness takes ten to 12 days to develop and sometimes it is difficult to find the real cause if the victim has forgotten about the cleaning episode before the typical kidney and heart damage show up. Another peculiarity of the poisoning is that symptoms appear earlier and in more dangerous form after a second or third exposure to fumes.

What is the answer? The doctors say it lies in never, under any circumstances, using any cleaning fluid without open windows and a complete airing after use. That goes for use in shops and garages as well as at home. And never to clean the car without complete drying and airing before shutting windows and driving away.

Man Versus Insects A Continuous Battle

Insects and diseases are man's chief rivals for the food supply of the world, and nearly all injuries to plant life are caused by them. This competition between man and insects and diseases for ornamental and food bearing trees is unending. It has been increasingly recognized by the public, according to the National Arborist Association, which states that ornamental trees especially are getting more attention from their owners who wish to preserve their many values in comfort, beauty and welcome shade.

Many home owners, as well as municipalities are initiating special spraying programs to combat insects and diseases. The growth of spraying programs is due more to awakened public interest than it probably is from an increase in insect problems, the association says. The Dutch Elm disease and Oak Wilt have been important factors in awakening public interest in shade trees and their proper care.

For practical purposes and examination of insect problems by arborists, insect pests can be divided into two groups, says the association. First come the chewing pests that eat the foliage or fruits, and second, are the sucking groups which pierce the outer layer of foliage or fruit and suck out the juices. The former are controlled by spraying insect stomach poisons on the foliage and the latter by poisons which kill insects upon contact with them.

Plant diseases are another form of damage usually controllable by spraying. Professional advice of a trained arborist is advisable in learning the latest methods for controlling various types of plant insects and diseases. Many tree experts have a regular service for keeping shrubs and trees in healthy condition on home properties, including pruning, spraying and fertilization.

Gardening Can Be Partly Recreation

Now that the ground is thawed and the days are getting warmer thoughts of many have turned to gardening. In fact some have already put those thoughts into action. How about you?

But you say, "A garden's just not worth the bother. When you figure the cost of the seeds, tools, water, and your time, you just don't save a cent." Cutting down the grocery bill is never the best reason for having a garden—what counts more are the extra vitamins, the exercise, the peace of mind and the sense of well being.

People can add to their diets all the green and yellow vegetables they need right out of their own gardens—spinach, beans, carrots, squash, peas, broccoli, and cabbage. These foods are rich in certain vitamins and minerals frequently deficient in the diets of people living in this section of the country.

If oranges and grapefruit become expensive and scarce, you can get vitamin C from your tomato crop. Home canned or frozen vegetables and fruits will add variety and food value to your dinner table this summer and all next winter. And you won't have to wonder what in the world to have with your dinner meat. Your county agricultural agent can give you valuable tips about the varieties of seeds best suited to freezing or canning.

Nor need a garden be all work—unless you go about it the wrong way. Make sure you work your garden and that it doesn't work you. Plan your garden according to your age and ability. Be sure you stop working in it before you are really tired. Better to leave one row unspaded and do it the next day than to do the whole thing at once and grow tired of the whole thing.

New York City has almost 45,000 elevators, including 30,000 passenger lifts. Each day approximately 18,000,000 rides carry passengers a total of 125,000 miles, says the National Geographic Society. Some inhabitants travel farther by elevator than they do along the ground. In all there are about as many miles of elevator shafts as subway tracks.

Ticklers — By George

"Some of my creditors. They're here to help me get the answers!"

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

They've thrown the book away in Ohio—the big, fat book filled with pages of fine print that was supposed to regulate fishermen and improve fishing. Now you can go after any fish in the state in almost all public waters, anytime of the year, and keep all you can catch without regard to size, creel limits, or species. You not only can, you're encouraged to!

This open-handed approach to angling is the result of a fish management program dedicated to the proposition that most people go fishing simply to have fun. Outdoor writer Lee Templeton points out that Ohio is no virgin wilderness. It is one of the smaller states in the Union and one of the more heavily populated. What's more, its public waters must carry a fishing pressure unmatched anywhere in the country.

The decision to apply liberalized fishing to this overcrowded situation was based on one of the most careful fishery investigations in the history of American conservation. This program proved that Ohio fish were dying of old age!

The story really begins in 1930 when the state ran a series of test nettings on Buckeye Lake. It was apparent that the lake held tremendous quantities of fish that no one knew—or even dreamed—about. But it wasn't until 1945 that the Wildlife Council agreed to set aside one lake for an experiment in liberalized fishing; more and more lakes were added, then streams. Now public water in Ohio is wide open.

Biologists have learned that the hook and line is one of the least efficient tools ever devised. Less than one per cent of Ohio's fishermen ever became adept enough with it to consistently take the bag limits that were then in force. This insignificant harvest was no menace to the fish population. It didn't begin to stack up against the fantastic reproductive power of fish.

Does this mean liberalization can be applied everywhere? Probably not. In fact, scientifically speaking, there is no guarantee that liberalization is the long-run answer in Ohio. It may be, but that remains to be seen. And what is true in Ohio may not be true in other states. But it's worth finding out.

Over much of our country, and in the waters most of us must fish most of the time, liberalization offers real promise of more fun, and—for those good enough to capitalize on it—longer strings of

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A BED-SIDE TABLE

A handy bed-side stand or table provides a place for the lamp, books and magazines, and bed-side necessities.

The completed stand (A) is started by first constructing a base frame with legs (B). The legs are made of 2 by 2-inch material, tapered to 1 1/2-inch square at the bottom. To the 8-inch legs a 1 by 3 collar is fastened, completing the 16 1/2 by 14 1/2-inch frame.

The floor of the cabinet, the shelf, the sides, the back and the top all are 16 1/2 inches wide. Their total length 108 inches. If the craftsman is going to edge-glue boards to produce a smooth exterior for the table, he may accomplish all his gluing at one time by producing a glued-up total length of 10 feet (or two 5-foot glue-ups). This will provide all the cuts and allow 12 inches for saw kerf and spoilage.

The floorboard is 16 1/2 by 16 1/2. It is fastened to the base by wood screws, (1 1/2-inch, No. 4 screws) countersunk so that the drawer will slide over them.

The back is also 16 1/2 by 16 1/2. It fits on the base and is fastened with wood screws, from below.

Then add the sides, 16 1/2 by 17 1/4 each. These are fastened to the edge of the back and to the floor board with finishing nails, with the heads sunk for filling.

The shelf, 15 1/2 by 16 1/2, is inserted next, allowing 5 inches beneath the shelf for the drawer. The shelf is held in place with long finishing nails (4 penny, 1 1/2-inch) again with the heads sunk.

The top, 24 by 16 1/2, allows for a 4-inch over-hang on each side. The top may be fastened with finishing nails or with L-brackets or fasteners.

The drawer (C) may be omitted to allow for a small shelf.

FAMOUS INCHCAPE BEACON FLASHES IN NEWFOUNDLAND

A storied Scottish lighthouse lamp that emigrated to Newfoundland has achieved New World as well as Old World renown.

This beacon is the Inchcape Light, says the National Geographic Society. Once it flashed its warning from the tower of the Inchcape or Bell Rock Lighthouse 12 miles off Scotland's east coast. Standing amid the shipping lanes off the Firths of Tay and Forth, it marked a hazard immortalized in Robert Southey's ballad, "The Inchcape Rock."

In 1842 the beacon was replaced, and the old light sent to Newfoundland. There on Cape Bonavista, a rock finger thrust into the Atlantic north of St. John's between Trinity and Bonavista Bays, is thought by some to have been the first North American land sighted by John Cabot in 1497.

The beacon's New World home is almost famous as its Scottish one. Cape Bonavista, a rock finger thrust into the Atlantic north of St. John's between Trinity and Bonavista Bays, is thought by some to have been the first North American land sighted by John Cabot in 1497.

The rock is a mass of red sandstone, covered by water at high tide and surrounded by shoals. Many ships have been wrecked there.

The tradition underlying Southey's poem tells that a warning bell was cut down by a spiteful pirate to "plague the Abbot of Aberbrothock," who had placed it there. The pirate, Sir Ralph the Rover, received just punishment for his wickedness when his own loot-laden vessel foundered on the rock and . . . even in his dying fear

One dreadful sound could the Rover hear— A sound as if, with the Inchcape Bell, The Devil below was ringing his knell."

The rock's fame in engineering annals rivals that in balladry. Its lighthouse, built by Robert Stevenson, grandfather of novelist Robert Louis Stevenson, ranks among the most noted of early waveswept masonry towers. With work on the foundations possible only at low tides, and with each of its stones carefully dovetailed to interlock with adjoining masonry, the 117-foot lighthouse was a major feat of engineering.

The Inchcape Light's present home is a less striking structure: a square, red and white building. Yet every summer hundreds of motorists travel the new Cabot Highway to Cape Bonavista to see the transplanted beacon that faithfully flashes red-white-white every 90 seconds over the Atlantic toward Scotland.

Portsmouth harbor on the south coast of England has known warships for 16 centuries. Roman galleys, the "long" ships of Saxon raiders, and British fleets have found shelter there, says the National Geographic Society.

FASCINATING FAMILIES

With a score of 412 the Solum quintet at Barnesville was recently broken up by the death of the "center." Five brothers had lived in that vicinity 412 years before the middle one, Syver, died at 84; Hans is 91, A. O. 87, Martin 79, and P. O. a youngster of 71. Mr. and Mrs. Ole Hefte of Caledonia are 93 and 91, respectively, and will celebrate their 73rd wedding anniversary come June; they were recently pictured with great-grandsons Jay and Jon Christiansen of Slayton. Irish sisters presented Dutch husbands with St. Patrick's Day gifts, a boy and a girl born to the Don and Harold Boerbooms at Marshall.

DATING BACK

A 45-star United States flag, dating from early in the century, was found while razing an old Mora building. Hans W. Peterson first subscribed to a proponent of the Litchfield Independent-Review in 1901, and recently renewed for the 53rd year.

Helping Hand MP's Spread U.S. Good Will Among French

VERDUN, France—U. S. Military Police in northern France perform a multiple job—they are grass roots diplomats among the French, helping hands to visiting Americans, tough enforcers of the law when occasion demands.

The accent is on the pleasant smile rather than the nightstick. The vast area north of Paris—100,000 square miles—is patrolled by the Army's 524th Military Battalion.

The biggest task of these soldier-cops is to serve as walking encyclopedias for visiting Americans, both military and civilian. The MP's help them find their way and point out the difference between U. S. and French laws.

The MP's play a prominent role as good will ambassadors. The lost child, the French motorist in distress and the accident victim have come to recognize the Americans' white caps as symbols of willing helpfulness.

The 524th provides one-third of the French-American patrols which since 1952 have operated throughout the vast territory. The patrols consist of an American MP, a member of the French Police Militaire and a French civilian gendarme. Together they handle the little problems of French-American relations.

Outside their official capacity, members of the 524th also have expressed their grass roots diplomacy in a personal way. For instance, Company A pooled enough money to buy more than $200 worth of food and clothing for needy French families and donated $300.00 toward a party for French orphans.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Small builders throughout the country have been frightened by the uproar over old scandals in the Federal Housing Administration. It came at the worst possible time, while the Senate was considering the Housing Act already passed by the House. Actually, the bill is not in too much danger. The Senate, however, will put in some safeguards which are lacking in the bill the House passed.

It will probably be made illegal for a builder to "mortgage out" of a housing loan; that is, build the structure for less than the supposed 90 per cent loan and pocket the difference. When Section 608—this section, now extinct, was the one that caused the scandals—was first proposed, this safeguard was suggested. It was decided that the danger of lending too much was less than the danger of holding up rental housing starts.

Home improvement racketeers will be faced with clauses requiring either builders or lenders to provide guarantees against fraud. Today the borrower and contractor go to the lender together, certify that the work was performed, and that's that.

One House-passed provision likely to be killed—many builders and lenders opposed it from its inception—is that for no-down-payment, 40-years-to-pay, mortgages on low-cost homes.

GREATEST QUARTER — Color television is speeding the day when Radio Corporation of America will have sales of a billion dollars a year, Brig-Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA, told stockholders meeting last week in a studio of the National Broadcasting Company in Radio City, New York.

General Sarnoff reported that business volume for the first three months of 1954, at $226,609,000, was the largest in any first quarter in the company's history. Net profit of $10,066,000 was 8 per cent above the figure for the like months of 1953.

RCA is carrying color TV, General Sarnoff said, through the first two stages of any major industrial endeavor—research and invention, and engineering and development. Those are the stages where more goes out than comes in. The third and profitable stage of mass production and sales is not too far off, the RCA chairman assured his stockholders. Then both RCA and its licensees and competitors will benefit.

THINGS TO COME — A new camera shoots sequences of as many as 24 pictures of fast action, to be split up later to catch exactly the significant instant in the movement being studied. . . . A do-it-yourself disappearing attic stair is now available. . . . Picnickers will be able to arm themselves this summer with a bottle-opener, corkscrew, beer can opener and 1 1/2-ounce jigger all in one steel-and-plastic piece. . . . Is your new close-to-the-ground house being nibbled away by termites? Enough of a chlor-dane solution to treat 100 feet of foundation is packaged in a half-gallon tin. . . . A pad, pencil, road map holder and cleansing tissue container can be had in a kit that fastens to the sun visor in your automobile for this summer's trips.

BAR TO LETDOWN—No business recession such as followed World War I is possible in this country today, declares an executive of one of the companies that has reached first industrial rank since V-J Day.

Technical advances in manufacturing methods offer such attractive chances to cut costs, that competition will force companies to adopt them. This means investment for modernization, even in times when investment for simple expansion of output is less. And when investment is high the country prospers.

One difference between the two postwar periods is that this time world tension and research for new weapons are continuing. Billions of dollars are spent yearly on new materials and new techniques. These flow from the military into the civilian field as alert manufacturers seek the benefits of better ways to make their products.

BITS O' BUSINESS—New construction put in place in April set a record of $2.8 billion, bringing the four-month total to $10 billion, a little above 1953's first four months. . . . Wholesale sales in March were at the February level, with inventories still declining. . . . Another $100 million worth of wartime government plants is being prepared for sales. Bids may be asked in June.

The battle for Levite Gulf on October 22-27, 1944, probably was the biggest naval action ever fought. Some 166 American ships and 1,280 planes engaged 65 Japanese ships and 716 planes.

Though usually silent, the porcupine can grunt, grumble, squeak, whine, mew, chatter, shriek, and even cry like a child.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Graduation time is an excellent occasion for family pictures such as this, as well as the traditional pictures of the graduate alone.

Graduation—An Event to Picture

GRADUATION days are picture-taking days! We know that isn't a highly original statement, but it is one that is so very true that it bears repeating every time this season of the year rolls around.

Graduation is a very important occasion, not only for the graduate, but for the whole family. Very often, it marks the reaching of a goal for the parents as well as for the boy and girl. Such an event should certainly be recorded for the family album.

Don't content yourself with just one picture of the graduate, serious and solemn in cap and gown. It is an occasion which merits enough pictures to make a whole page in the family album.

You'll probably want to do more with these pictures than mount them in an album. You'll want to have enlargements made of the best ones, and extra prints so that friends and relatives can have them.

Photography enters the graduation scene in another fashion. Cameras are ever welcome gifts.

Whether the graduate is leaving grammar school, high school, or college—there is something in the photographic line that would make a very acceptable gift. For the youngster about ready for high school, one of the simplest of the flash cameras would be a fine idea. It would pave the way for adding fun to high school activities next year and enable the owner to keep his or her own personal school year book.

For the older graduates, you can consider more elaborate cameras—or accessory items to go with the one they already have.

In most schools, the pre-graduation days are filled with exciting activities. There are many social affairs and other wonderful opportunities for taking pictures.

So, if you are giving a camera, give it early. Let the graduate put it to good use right away, picturing the people and the things that they would like to keep especially bright among their school-day memories.

'CHUTE THE WORKS—Its test run completed, a Ryan "Firebee" guided missile is lowered to the desert in New Mexico on its own 70-foot parachute. The parachute, which may be operated either by remote control or automatically, saves the expensive, 600-mile-per-hour device for further tests.

Summer Dresses In Low-priced Cottons

Cotton is king again this summer — as far as dress fashions are concerned. Woven in a variety of finishes, this wonderful all-purpose fabric will help you to feel and look cool throughout the warm months, says Fashion Editor Ruth Drake. Writing in Redbook Magazine for April, she describes several charming dresses, airy and light but sophisticated enough for town wear:

"A striking geometric printed coat-dress in black and white cotton broadcloth by Pat Hartley has a becoming shirt collar, three-quarter cuffed sleeves, gently flared skirt and black patent belt. Another Pat Hartley creation is done in a bright navy splashed print, on sparkling white cotton broadcloth. The shirtwaist top has push-up sleeves, full skirt and patent belt.

"A Lynbrook design by Albert Chaiken features an oriental motif in polished lawn with an Everglaze finish. It has a surplice neckline, grosgrain belt and softly pleated skirt. Peg Palmer scatters embroidered violets on a fine pique sundress with molded bodice. It has a gracefully flared skirt and little matching jacket. Artificial violets accent the waist.

"A sophisticated print in royal blue, black and white cotton is used for an excellent town dress by Pat Hartley. The molded top, push-up sleeves, very full skirt and waistline pared to a minimum with a built-in black cummerbund give it an air of high fashion. Buttercups bloom on black broadcloth — a striking dark town print in Arthur Beit's crease resistant broadcloth. It is the material for a striking Lynbrook design by Albert Chaiken — with boat neckline, drop yoke skirt and yellow piping accents."

Liver in Sour Cream

1 1/2 lbs. liver
1/3 cup butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
1 1/2 cups sour cream

Have liver sliced 3/4 inch thick. Trim off skin and tough fibers. Brown liver on both sides in butter. Remove liver, add flour, salt and pepper to butter and blend until smooth. Add cream and cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Return liver to skillet; cover closely and bake in an oven 300 degrees for 1 hour.

Costa Rica means "Rich Coast," but the Central American Republic has never been a prime source of mineral treasure. Its wealth lies in rich soil, valuable woods and good grazing land.

The doctors call attention to the danger now because German measles is more prevalent in late winter and early spring than at other times of the year. Furthermore, the disease is mild. It lasts only a few days, with little fever or illness, and the blotchy rash may be missed entirely. To avoid contact with it means avoiding contact with any mild illness, therefore, even if it is not immediately recognized as German measles.

It is fortunate, according to the bulletin, if all girls, especially, have had the disease long before they are married, since one attack confers life-long immunity in the vast majority of cases. Failing that, the doctors urge the greatest possible care to avoid exposure if the mother is not certain that she has already had the disease. No other means of protection has yet been discovered.

GOTTA COMB?—This pelican at the London, England, zoo has a big "bill," and apparently can't afford a comb to keep his unruly hairdo in place.

Careless use of a bulldozer around trees tears off feeding roots and may injure or kill the tree. Pushing too much fill around the tree will have the same effect.

What Do You Think of Your Kewaskum?

This could be answered this way. We appreciate Kewaskum as much as we appreciate our country, which is very little, if measured by the recognition we gave our flag as it passed before us on parade on Memorial day. A lamentable small number showed their loyalty by removing their hat (men), placing it up to left shoulder with right hand over heart, or, if without hat, (men and women) to place right hand over heart at moment while flag passes before you.

Let's all learn the following: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the republic for which it stands. One (1) nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

As we pledge loyalty to our country so also let us pledge loyalty to our Kewaskum. It is easy and anyone can run down, wreck, slander, create scandal, etc. about our village. It is easy to criticize, condemn and complain. But it takes real men and women to boost and build a community. We cannot be self centered. We must be genuinely interested in others of the community and in the betterment and progress of our town.

Your Community Service committee is trying its best to boost your town. We find that our village board is willing to do whatever it is able to in order to satisfy the desires of the community, but can go ONLY as far as those desires are EXPRESSED. Your service committee is NOT the village board, NOT the school board, NOT the village police NOR the sheriff's dept., but a go-between to which you can voice your wishes and complaints on recreation, sports, parks, civic affairs, youth, safety, etc. Let's become civic minded not narrow minded and selfish.

With 100% of your power behind us (figuratively speaking), we could move the entire village of Kewaskum into the next county. In union
