

Local Driver Badly Hurt; Two Mishaps on Same Curve

Herman Ramthun, 63, Kewaskum, was seriously injured as the result of a two-car collision at the intersection of East Ninth st. and Martin ave. in Fond du Lac at 8:56 a. m. Tuesday. Described as being in fair condition at St. Agnes hospital in that city, Ramthun was suffering from severe shock and head injuries, according to Fond du Lac police.

A car driven by Chester E. Davis, Peebles, collided with the auto driven by Ramthun, causing extensive damage to both machines. Officer Thomas Snyder of the Fond du Lac police said that Davis failed to stop for the arterial at the corner. The motorist told the officer that he was blinded by the sun and failed to see Ramthun's auto in time to avoid the accident.

A 1954 Chevrolet two-door driven by Bernard Brown, R. 3, Campbellsport, was extensively damaged when the driver lost control of his car on a sharp curve on Highway 8 one mile north of NewFane early Sunday morning. The auto missed the curve and rolled over on its top in the ditch on top of a brush and stone pile. Charles Helfman, Campbellsport, a passenger, and Brown suffered minor injuries and were examined by a Kewaskum physician.

Two Milwaukeeans were hurt in a mishap on the same curve on Highway 8 on Sunday afternoon. The accident involved a car driven by David John Nelson, 17, which went out of control on the sharp curve and overturned against a tree, just a few yards south of where the Brown machine overturned earlier the same day. Both Nelson and his passenger, William Searle, 16, were shaken and bruised. They were treated by a Kewaskum physician and the local firemen's ambulance was called to the scene. The curve on which the two mishaps occurred, located near the Gross farm, is a very treacherous one. It is sharp and runs down hill.

Kewaskum Delegates at State FHA Convention

Joanne Ferber and Carol Rohlinger were selected as delegates to represent the Kewaskum chapter at the ninth annual state convention of the Future Homemakers of America. The convention was held at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake, on June 7-11.

The chapter nominated Joanne Ferber as a candidate for a state officer.

Wisconsin's 201 chapters and 10,303 members were represented by about 700 F. H. A.'ers at the convention. President Betty Havlik of Hillsboro and her 18 state officers held a very interesting program.

A pageant, "Our American Heritage," was presented by 125 members. Twenty discussion groups considered problems pertinent to local chapter activities. A panel, led by Nancy Smith of Oregon, assisted with local chapter program and project planning.

Adult speakers included: Mrs. Stewart G. Honeck of Madison on "Poise and Grace Can Be Easy"; Mrs. Rebecca Barton, director of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, and Ada Deer, University of Wisconsin student, discussed "Youth's Responsibility in a Global World." "Being at Home in the World" was the topic which Miss Frances Roberts of Oshkosh discussed.

Sixteen new state officers were elected. The candidates for state president were: Rita Dahlke of Westfield, Eileen Weggen of Cadott, and Rochelle Handt of Winneconne.

Wisconsin Homemaker degrees were awarded to 42 members who have distinguished themselves by outstanding contributions to the chapter and state associations. Four adults were awarded honorary membership in recognition of their contributions.

Two scholarships of $100 each were awarded to Fern Mathey of Medford and Audrey Gerbyshak of Crivitz. Both girls plan to continue their education in home economics.

Backhaus Shuts Out Mequon, 4-0

Glen Backhaus pitched the Kewaskum Chevrolets to their first Land o'Lakes victory of the season Sunday, shutting out Mequon by a 4-0 score. The Chev's previously had lost four in a row. The win moved Kewaskum into a seventh place tie with Mequon, where Sunday's tilt was played.

Backhaus fine clutch hurling and neat 8-hit performance, with the aid of the hitting of Gordy Wierman and Bob Staehler, both of whom drove across a pair of runs, accounted for the victory. Backhaus hooked up in a scoreless duel with Don Otting for five innings but Staehler broke the ice in the sixth by driving across 'Fuzzy' Dreher and Wierman to make it 2-0 in favor of the Chev's. Wierman added a little insurance by driving across another pair of markers in the eighth.

The only Mequon batter who found Backhaus' pitching to his liking was the veteran Nick Burczyk, who collected three of his team's 8 safeties. 'Hefty' displayed good control in blanking Mequon. He walked only one and also struck out only one. Otting also did a commendable job, allowing but six hits, walking three and whiffing three.

Second baseman Bobby Dreher and first baseman Augie Bilgo, a.e among the first 15 batters in the league. Dreher is 7th with a .389 average and Bilgo is 18th with an even .300. Bilgo did not play Sunday (he became a proud papa last Friday).

This Sunday Kewaskum tangles with their perennial rivals, the West Bend Benders at the latter place. The Benders are in fifth place, having won 2 and lost 3 contests. They have power but the Chev's hope to cut them down as either notch.

Kiwanis Welcome Sign Nearly Completed

The new sign, which was recently erected on Hwy. 45 at the southern entrance to the village of Kewaskum, is now nearing completion. The Kewaskum Kiwanis club intends to have the north side of the sign painted, and lettered with the following words, "Thank You, Call again." The club hopes to be able to furnish lights for both the north and the south side of this sign. Kiwanians wish to thank all the people who contributed to this project and those who donated time and material in making this project a success.

As in most construction projects, the actual cost of preparing the sign and the surrounding grounds, exceeded the amount originally anticipated. If anyone who has made a donation would like to give an additional sum or if anyone has not as yet donated to this fund and would like to do so, kindly send your check to Ralph Marx, Kiwanis treasurer.

The beautiful new sign, which welcomes visitors and tourists to Kewaskum and the popular Kettle Moraine state forest area, is attracting widespread interest. The large sign made of logs, and surrounded by trees and shrubs, bears the brightly colored inscription, "Welcome to Kewaskum, Gateway to the Kettle Moraine State Forest—Fishing, Hunting, Swimming, Hiking."

Mr. Mitchell issues a special notice that a Land o' Puddles baseball team will be organized Wednesday morning, June 16, at 9:00 o'clock at the high school. A game will be played Thursday, June 17, at Port Washington. Be there Wednesday if you want to play.

Kewaskum to Open Play in Rivers Loop Sunday

The Land o' Rivers league has been reactivated and play is scheduled to get under way this Sunday, June 13. However, there is still some doubt as to the number of teams in the loop. Earlier this week it appeared as though five teams would enter the league with the possibility of adding a sixth.

Teams from West Bend, Kewaskum, Newburg and Barton were definitely in the circuit. Slinger withdrew last week and reported this week that they decided to re-enter the loop. Campbellsport also was on the doubtful list. They planned to enter if a coach could be found.

The league is open to all players under 21 years of age. In games scheduled for Sunday, Barton will be at Kewaskum and West Bend at Newburg. If Campbellsport and Slinger should decide to enter the league then Campbellsport will play at Slinger.

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

"WITHIN THE CONTINENTAL LIMITS..."

100 YEARS AGO THIS JUNE, A HALF-CENTURY AFTER THE GREAT LOUISIANA PURCHASE, A TRACT OF LAND WAS BOUGHT BY THE U.S. FROM MEXICO—CONTAINING 45,535 SQUARE MILES AND NOW MAKING UP PARTS OF ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO. THIS WAS CALLED THE GADSDEN PURCHASE, FOR THE SOUTH CAROLINIAN WHO WAS THEN MINISTER TO MEXICO.

THIS PURCHASE HELPED TO ROUND OUT THE BOUNDARIES OF THE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES AS THEY EXIST TODAY. WITHIN THESE BOUNDARIES, WE HAVE STEADILY DEVELOPED A VAST AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY AND A NETWORK OF COMMUNICATION AND TRANSPORTATION, WHICH HAVE TURNED AN UNDEVELOPED COUNTRY INTO A UNIFIED NATION WITH A COMMON CULTURE AND A COMMON DEDICATION TO THE IDEALS OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

Editor Eiger, who has a staff of 8- to 11-year-old reporters, maintains that "news is something interesting that people would be interested in."

FISHING FOR "PEARLS" — Martine Toussaint-Samat, 9½, goes on a mental "pearl-diving" expedition in her study in Paris, France. Perhaps France's youngest authoress, she's seeking pearls of inspiration after learning that a French radio company will produce her first effort as a writer, "Pearls of Crystal," in the near future.

"MUDDER" WON'T LIKE THIS — A dousing with muddy water doesn't dampen the enjoyment of the little boys at left, as they watch a cyclist roar through a mudhole during the annual Queen City Mud Run near Seattle, Wash. Grasshoppers Buried In Montana Glacier

A glacier in the Beartooth Mountains of southern Montana carries a strange cargo in its icy depths—millions of dead grasshoppers.

Over the last 600 years waves of the insects attempted to migrate across the glacier. For some reason not fully explained, they failed to complete the passage and were entombed in snow.

Now as the sun slowly melts the ice, grasshopper bodies—some fragmentary, a few intact—emerge at the foot of the glacier. They provide a feast for birds, animals and fishes, says the National Geographic Society.

Geological Ice Box

Appropriately the geological ice box is known as Grasshopper Glacier. The insects that became its odd burden were Rocky Mountain grasshoppers (Melanoplus mexicanus), the same voracious pests that afflict U. S. crops today.

Located in Custer National Forest nearly 11,000 feet above sea level, the glacier may have been seen by early travelers and prospectors. But it was not until 1899 that a U. S. Geological Survey party published a firsthand report.

The explorers were surprised at the number of bodies imbedded along the edge of the ice field. They estimated the insect remains would total many tons if weighed.

Visitors noted the grasshoppers were spaced in irregular bands in the exposed 50 foot cliff at the end of the glacier. This told part of the story: that the hoppers had landed at irregular intervals.

So far only Melanoplus mexicanus has been identified among the glacier's specimens. Entomologists, however, do not rule out the possibility of other entrapped species there. Other kinds of migrating grasshoppers have been found alive atop the ice.

A glacier high in the Rockies is a remote spot for grasshoppers, even though they fly. How did they get there?

Wind Current Theory

One suggestion is that wind currents forced them to such heights. Then as swarms funneled through the glacier depression, air from below or a sudden mountain storm chilled them. Preferring to fly in warm air, they sank to the ice floor and were lost.

Scientists have used modern means to find out how long the bodies were buried. Last year radiocarbon tests dated the first invasions at no more than 600 years ago.

Dead grasshoppers have been sighted in other isolated western regions, but few people have seen them. As in the case of Grasshopper Glacier, a rugged horseback or hiking journey is usually necessary.

The Rocky Mountain grasshopper has aroused the interest of farmers as well as entomologists. Concerned over future crops, agriculture experts are scanning the hatching grounds of the Great Plains and mountain states for evidences of increasing infiltration.

Last year the insect multiplied in unusual numbers, often a sign that the enemy is building his forces for a large scale attack similar to those in the 1870's and 1930's.

"BENCH-MARKS" OF MINNESOTA GROWTH

Percentage-wise Minnesota's greatest population growth came in the decade between 1860 and 1870, 155.6%; urban gain was 336.1%, rural gain 136.8%. In no other decade has the state gained as much at 100% total, though the urban population increased 110.2% between 1870 and 1880 and a fabulous 197.8% between 1880 and 1890; rural gains during those two periods were 71.3% and 37.2%. In no decade has the state lost population, though from '20 to '30 the gain was only 7.4%, from '30 to '40 8.9%, from '40 to '50 6.8%. Between 1920 and 1930 rural population declined 2.2% against a 19.6% urban increase, and from '40 to '50 rural population declined 1.9% against an urban increase of 15.6%. The percentage of native born is steadily increasing.

ODDS ARE AGAINST IT

A nickel in the meter and a canoe at the curb met Northfield parking regulations when a group of Carleton students returned from a Cannon River tour... It took a pair of tinshears rather than a cake knife to get Johnny Forster out of the angelfood cake pan through which he stuck his baby head at Sleepy Eye... Three brass ingots weighing 56 pounds were unearthed in a cleaning-up project at Belle Plaine... A red Holstein calf was born at Eagle Bend... Quadruplet lambs, three white and a black, were born to a Hampshire ewe on the Harry Scott farm at Rosemount... While a farm truck was being repaired 15,000 bees got loose in a Moorhead garage; casualties, one workman stung, 15,000 bees killed by gasoline fumes.

CLOSE UP A DOORWAY

The closing of a doorway is quite simple to do, except for the plastering job. And that can be simple by using dry wall construction. If you do not like dry wall construction, you can hire the plastering done and still save money.

Remove the old molding or trim. Save this, because it may be useful in framing a new door, or in repair work. Pull the nails all the way through the wood. Do not drive them back out, because you will break out the putty where the nail heads were set, and possibly split out some wood.

Remove the old door stop and jamb.

Install the new 2x4 sill, and studs to the top of the old doorway. If the old doorway was 30" or more wide, there should be two studs, since they should be, not more than 16" center to center. This ruling can be ignored unless the spacing is more than 16 inches.

Cut away enough of the old plaster and lath around the edge of the opening that the new gypsum lath may be nailed to the studs.

Remove any loose or broken plaster around the edge of the opening.

Cover with two coats of plaster, a scratch coat, and a finish coat. Buy prepared plaster, and use according to directions. I suggest that you use vermiculite insulation instead of sand in mixing the plaster. It is easier to use.

Wet the edges of the old plaster before applying the new. Test frequently to be sure you are getting the right thickness.

Leave the surface of the scratch coat rough, so that the finish coat will have more to hold. Allow several days to dry.

Mix and apply the finish coat. Wet edges of old plaster as before. Use straight edge frequently. Finish plaster responds easily to troweling, so try to leave the edges as nearly even with the old plaster as possible.

Dry wall construction can be used instead of wet plaster if preferred. Usually, however, the entire wall should be done to make a clean job of it. Simply apply gypsum wall board over the existing lath.

Install new baseboard and shoe mold along the entire length of the wall.

Decorate as desired.

Baseball Season Off Again

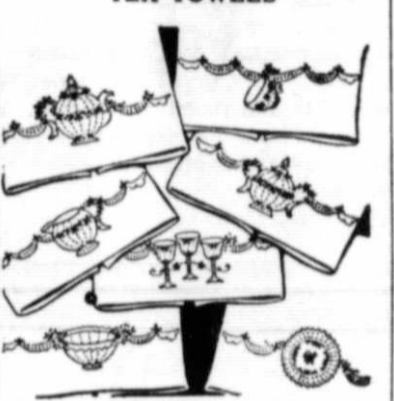

The 1954 Baseball season is off again and the major question of the year, of course, is whether Casey Stengel and his New York Yankees can win their sixth straight pennant and World Series. The issues in the National League are whether Milwaukee, St. Louis or New York is strong enough to challenge the Brooklyn Dodgers for the flag.

In the National League, there are several new managers, among them the men piloting the Dodgers, Cubs and Reds. In the American League, the Philadelphia Athletics have a new manager and the Baltimore Orioles also have a new manager, even though Jimmy Dykes last year managed the Athletics.

Now all baseball fans have to do is sit around until the end of September and see which teams in each League win the pennant, and which two will meet in early October for the annual World Series. By that time, summer will have come and gone and the cool weather of the fall will be here once again. And, by that time, the average person will be ready for it, but for right now — for the next four and a half months — the picture is warmer weather and plenty of baseball.

If the final standing of the clubs for the Grapefruit season means anything then the Boston Red Sox will meet the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series. But, in spite of the standings, we suspect it will be the Yankees and Dodgers again. We'll see!

Shelf Round-Up Salad Is Tops

Hailed as a success by the whole family is the meal of hot soup with a crisp, cool main dish salad. The combination is a special attraction for these warm days. With the wide choice of canned soups and the many possible variations for the salad, it has taste, purse and time appeal. Shelf round-ups to keep on hand for the salad may include such vegetables as canned green or wax beans, mixed vegetables and limas. You will find sardines, processed cheese, canned tongue and Vienna sausage are good for the hearty ingredients. As a beginning, try this salad combination along with Creole gumbo, or beef noodle soup.

Round-Up Salad

- Salad greens
- 1 medium size onion
- 1 16-oz. can (or jar) pickled beets
- 1 16-oz. can (or jar) French dressing, or mayonnaise
- 1 16-oz. can (or jar) peas
- 1 5-oz. can boned chicken, or turkey
- 2 hard cooked eggs

Break crisp salad greens into pieces and add chopped onion. Arrange drained beets and peas, chicken cut into bite size pieces, and sliced eggs on the greens. Mix gently with enough salad dressing to moisten. Six servings.

To have on hand a good selection of recipes is a great help in making every day menus. These are not difficult to prepare and the results are invariably good.

Cheese Roll Ups

- 2 cups flour
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 5 tablespoons shortening
 - 2/3 cup milk
 - 1 1/2 cups grated sharp cheese
- Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut in the shortening. Add the milk. Knead lightly on a floured board. Roll very thin. Cut into squares. Put a generous amount of cheese on each square. Fold the corners of each square, pinching together. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 400 degrees.

Creole Omelet

- 2 large slices ham cut into cubes
 - 3 ripe tomatoes
 - 1 onion cut into bits
 - 1/2 clove garlic, minced
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - Cayenne
 - 5 eggs
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - Black pepper
 - 5 tablespoons milk
 - 1 tablespoon butter
- Fry ham cubes dry and remove from frying pan. Peel and chop tomatoes very fine. Add tomatoes, onions, garlic, salt and pepper to the ham fat. Add a dash of cayenne. Let stew about 30 minutes. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored, add salt and pepper. Add milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Place butter in a frying pan or omelet pan. When melted pour in the eggs. Cook slowly, occasionally turning the pan so that omelet may brown evenly. When omelet is set and browned underneath, place in a hot oven for a few minutes to brown on top. Remove from oven and sprinkle over top the fried ham cubes. Roll omelet and turn on a heated platter. Pour the tomato sauce over it and serve immediately.

Wilted Lettuce with Hot Bacon Dressing

- 4 strips bacon
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon flour
 - 1/4 cup vinegar
 - 1 medium head Boston lettuce
- Cook bacon in frying pan until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper and break into small pieces. Combine salt, sugar, mustard and flour. Add vinegar and mix until smooth. Break lettuce into small pieces, sprinkle with crisp bacon. Add vinegar mixture to hot bacon

 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - Pepper
 - 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
 - 1/4 cup cold water
 - Salad greens

Season with Worcestershire sauce and black pepper. Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water and stir into the cheese mixture. Mix thoroughly. Mold into ring molds. Chill. When ready to serve, serve on salad greens with sliced tomatoes and ripe olives.

 - 1/4 cup roasted ground unblanched almonds
 - 3 egg whites
 - 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 cup sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Beat egg whites with cream of tartar and salt until stiff. Gradually beat in sugar. Fold in almonds and vanilla. Spread into a well greased 8 inch pie pan making a depression in center. Bake in an oven 275 degrees 1 hour. Cool. Chill in refrigerator and fill with chocolate filling.

A fashionable sheath will remain wrinkle free if it's lined with one of the newest wonder fabrics, pellen, says Betty Ann. It's washable, of course, so it's suitable for lining any hip hugging dress.

Three months after John Brown had gone to a great deal of trouble to do a favor for Bill Smith, they happened to see each other at lunch, and Smith said: "Oh, by the way, everything turned out fine on that deal I asked you to help me land."

That's being a little too casual about saying thanks. We should be in as big a hurry to say "thank you" as we are to ask a favor.

If you want a child to behave well when you have guests, it is wise to hit a happy medium between ignoring the child and making him the center of attraction.

If you ignore him completely, he may start misbehaving in order to get your attention. If you make him the center of attraction, he'll be tempted to show off.

Try making him feel that he shares your responsibility for making the guests welcome.

The easiest way to clean venetian blinds, of course, is to put them right into a bathtub full of thick, warm soapsuds. But first make sure the tapes and cords are shrinkproof.

If in doubt about this, leave the blinds in place at the windows, wipe each slat separately with a sudsy sponge and use a soapy brush on the tapes and cords.

Then rinse the same way with a clean damp cloth. It may take a little longer, but your blinds will live longer, too.

Ribbon Bars

2/3 cup pitted cooked prunes; 2/3 cup cooked dried apricots; 1/3 cup water; 1/3 cup sugar; 2 cups cookie mix. Cook prunes, apricots, water and sugar together in saucepan until thick, stirring frequently. Sprinkle one cup cookie mix over the bottom of ungreased 7x11 inch pan. Cover with even layer of fruit mixture. Sprinkle remaining cup of cookie mix evenly over fruit layer and press down. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Cool and cut into squares. Make 25 bars.

Another variation called daredevil drops combines chocolate shot and almond flavoring with melted butter or margarine and the cookie mix.

Cooked prunes and apricots blend their flavors for the tasty filling in ribbon bars.

Asparagus Egg Casserole

2 pounds fresh asparagus; 1 cup buttered bread crumbs; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons of flour; 1/2 teaspoon salt; pepper; 1 cup grated American cheese; 4 hard cooked eggs, sliced. Prepare asparagus and cut into two inch pieces. Cook in one inch boiling, salted water until barely tender—about 10 minutes. Make white sauce of butter, flour, seasonings and milk. Stir in cheese. Place half of buttered crumbs in greased casserole. Place alternate layers of eggs, asparagus and cheese sauce on the crumbs. Cover top with remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 15 minutes. Makes six servings.

Fresh Lemon Butter

1/4 cup butter 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice; 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Blend ingredients together. Serve over hot, cooked fresh asparagus. Makes four servings. Asparagus is most popular served as a hot vegetable but its tender green spears can be used in main dishes, too. This tasty casserole is made with eggs and cheese. With it serve lettuce wedges and french dressing, rhubarb tarts and coffee.

To prevent the flowerettes from breaking off as you lift cauliflower from the pan, boil the vegetable into a clean cloth tied to form a bag.

Make a savory garnish for roast chicken. Mix six tablespoons catsup together with two tablespoons brown sugar in a skillet; add six canned peach halves cut side down, and simmer about five minutes. Serve hot.

Those who react vigorously to April's warmer weather can enjoy the blessing of home-grown vegetables in June and July.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Getting good garden effects in shade cast by a hedge, fence or trees is not too difficult if you use plants that require or prefer shady conditions.

While the lack of sunshine is often responsible for poor growth in such places, most of the trouble is caused by the roots of the larger plants taking available moisture and nutrient materials from the soil. This can be overcome by fertilizing the ground sufficiently to feed both large and small plants. Large trees should be root pruned.

Try working the ground around large trees where you want a garden with cow manure, bone meal and chemical fertilizer.

There are many plants suited to the described situation, provided they receive enough moisture. One of the best and certainly a beautiful plant is the tuberous begonia. Gloxinias and Primroses like some shade. Chrysanthemums of all kinds do well in partial shade.

Any of the violets and violas thrive in dense shade as long as they get enough moisture. Most of the Dutch bulbs are suitable for places that become shady later on.

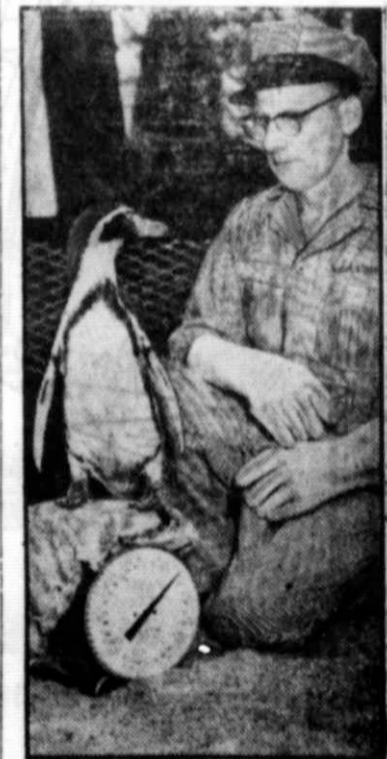

If you work in lots of leaf mold or woods soil around trees, woodland plants will do well. This group includes hepaticas, anemones, Indian-pinks, wildginger and azaleas.

Baby's Bottle Bounces the Ounces

BY EDNA MILES

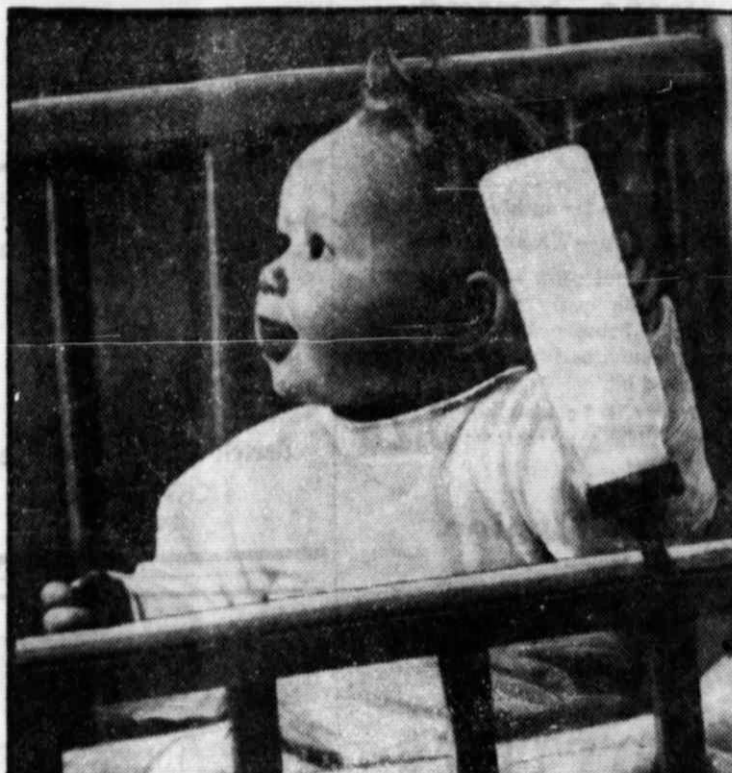

THE new plastic nursing bottle may well prove to be the greatest boon to mankind since sliced bread. Just ask any mother (or father) who's struggled with a bottle at 3 a. m., only to have it crash to the floor.

And if you could interview Baby, he'd tell you he likes a bottle on which he can get a grip. He'd also tell you he expects to break a number of bottles, and at this point Mother will step in to tell you that not only is this true, it's expensive.

The answer to these problems was thought up by an irate father who got up in the wee hours, fumbled the baby's bottle and decided there must be some easier way to go at the whole thing.

As he caressed his bruised left foot, his eyes fell on a plastic cosmetic container belonging to his wife. And a brand-new polyethylene nursing bottle was born, one that's odorless, tasteless, harmless to formula and a natural insulator as well.

Formula, the makers of this bottle claim, keeps warm five times longer than in glass. This is an extra boon if yours is a slow-feeding baby.

Going—going—but not gone. When Baby heaves one of the new plastic nursing bottles overboard, there's a crash, but no smash. Easy to clean and heat-retentive, the well-nigh unbreakable bottles are a real boon to Mother, Dad, and the pocketbook.

Urge Safety Rules In Pruning Trees

The home owner safely may prune low trees from the ground or a step ladder, but pruning or removing dead wood from high trees is extremely dangerous unless accomplished by a tree expert, says the National Arborist Association. Most home owners just do not have the equipment to do the job safely, the association says.

Power tools and hand tools should be used cautiously. With the former, such as a power saw, it should be made certain that the trigger won't be set off while on a step ladder, or anywhere except when the saw is in the cutting position. Use of an axe is more hazardous than a saw, for obvious reasons.

Here are a few examples of common accidents: A man jumped up to grab a limb to pull himself into a tree, missed the limb and fractured his right foot. Another had a cut-off limb fall against a power saw and trip the trigger, cutting him severely. A third man, who had felled a tree across his driveway, cut off limbs under the tree in such a way that its trunk rolled on him, fracturing his leg.

Such accidents always are expensive to the home owner, says the association and in some cases they have proved fatal.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

This picture won a snapshot contest prize 52 years ago. If it weren't for dated clothing, toys—you would think it was made this year.

What Makes a Good Contest Picture?

THIS is the time of year when announcement is being made of a number of photographic contests—competitions in which even the most amateur snapshotters have a good chance of winning a cash prize.

So, it seems like a good time to think about the qualities of a good contest entry snapshot. What does it have to have?

First of all, and obviously, it has to be a good, sharp, clear picture. One that's dull and fuzzy—or that shows the result of your having moved the camera—won't get a second look from the judges.

With that point established, the next important thing is the universality of subject appeal. It has to have a subject which is meaningful to many people—not just to the people who are acquainted with the subject.

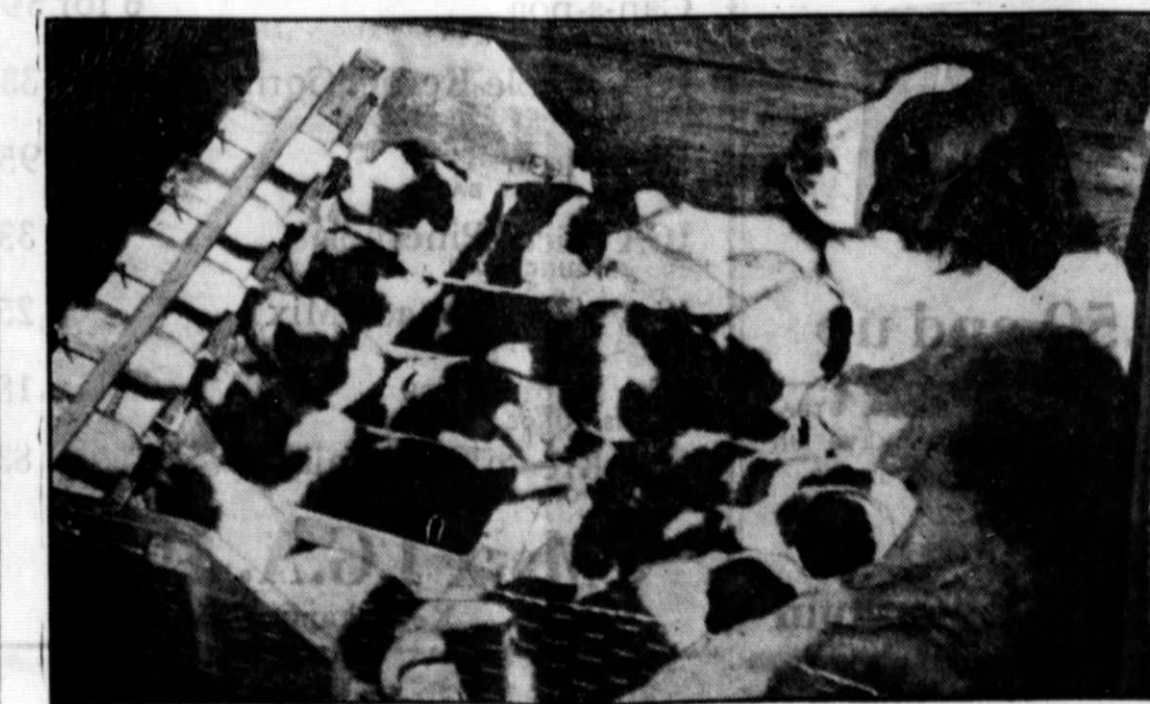

We all have pictures in our personal files that wouldn't mean a thing to anyone except ourselves and perhaps to members of the family or close friends who are also familiar with the subject. These are the type of pictures we treasure whether they are really very good or not. That is fine—but these are not contest material.

The contest entry should have human interest—of the kind we see in the feature type photograph newspapers often publish, not because it is important news, but because the picture will bring forth an emotional reaction from its readers. It may cause them to smile, perhaps to laugh, or even make them feel sad, but, in spite of the fact that they don't know the subject, they like it.

This is something of an everlasting quality, as shown by the picture above. It won a prize in 1902—and the same situation would be good material for a contest entry picture today.

Bible Comment:

We Ourselves Defeat God's Plan for Men

PERHAPS the one great, comprehensive, all-inclusive definition of Jesus' mission and redemptive purpose is in the declaration, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

In that declaration, Jesus specifically contrasted that purpose of God, in His own mission, with the purpose of others to steal and destroy.

The long course of history is one of rapine and bloodshed, but our own age has revealed evil fully as appalling. The great tragedies and evils of life are apparent.

What is not so apparent is that they have their roots in the lesser evils of men, and in the lack of basic morality.

Dishonesty is at the root of crime, even in the hearts and lives of men who are not legally criminal.

The businessman who takes unfair advantage of his fellows is weakening the whole fabric of society. The public official who betrays his trust would probably scorn to commit murder, or banditry, or to steal in some grosser way.

One can see plainly in revelations of graft and civic corruption how such men have been the actual ally of those who have made stealing and destruction their chief purpose.

Every day the news reveals, in its recount of tragedies and accidents, the extent of the drink evil, the gambling evil, and the other evils that affect and endanger society—the things that oppose and defy God's life-giving purpose for mankind.

Yet the public attitude is still largely apathetic and ineffective. What the world needs is an immense endowment of God's life-giving purpose, as Jesus expressed it.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

If you are considering getting a closed tent for camping, first be sure of the size, and then worry about the type. For comfort you need a floor space of 3x7 feet for each occupant. And if you are going to use your tent for anything more than a shelter, you need additional room to stand up, turn around, store your duffel and perhaps do some camp work on rainy days.

Now, to help you decide on the type—there are just four main kinds—here is a digest of an article in Sports Afield magazine by Col. Townsend Whelen:

The umbrella tent.—This is the most comfortable for summer camping and for family use. It gives you clearance to stand up almost out to the four walls. It is easy to erect, particularly if you use a center pole. Probably you will want a waterproof floor cloth sewed into the tent; it keeps the tent cleaner and makes it easier to erect.

You can't roll up the walls of an umbrella tent for ventilation, so be sure to pitch it in the shade. It should have a window with mosquito net at the back, and a veranda fly in front adds to the tent's comfort. Ordinarily the umbrella tent cannot be used with a wood-burning stove or heater. It is a fairly expensive tent.

The A-wall tent.—This tent is erected with three long poles.

These can be short metal sections which you carry in the car, or you can cut tent poles at campsite. If you plan to use the tent in hot weather the walls should be arranged so they can be rolled up and tied, or else there should be a window in the rear wall with a mosquito net. For use in cold weather with a wood-burning stove, there should be an asbestos stovepipe hole. The A-wall takes longer to erect than most other tents.

The pyramidal tent.—Some pyramids have walls, others don't. If the tent is to be used with cots it should have walls at least three feet high. This gives you plenty of headroom. A pyramidal tent is fairly convenient for a wood-burning tent stove. It sheds rain and snow well (except right at the door) and stands up well in high winds. It is not well-ventilated for warm weather unless it has walls which can be rolled up and tied.

The explorer's tent.—This is a light-weight tent with sewed-in floor. It is at its best for camps that are moved almost daily, particularly in mosquito country such as you might find on a canoe trip. It is made in several sizes ranging from just big enough for one man to comfortable for three. It is not suited for a stove and can be warmed only indifferently by an open fire in front.

Critics of Pistols Given Severe Jolt By Army

MANNHEIM, Germany—Wild Bill Hickock can move out of the bull's-eye of pistol shooting legend—there's a two-gun sergeant in the Army's Second Armored Division who puts him to shame.

Master Sergeant Hugh G. Hall, of 9888 North Seventh St., Memphis, Tenn., a 45-year-old veteran of 30 years military service, can shoot perfect rapid fire scores on two targets simultaneously—with a pistol in each hand.

Hall, in charge of firing field operations for a combat command, has another unconventional method of demonstrating his skill. He scrambles eggs—complete with shell—in mid-air with a 45 caliber Army pistol.

A marksman who ignores all the rings on the target except the one in the center, the sergeant will accept a "choice of weapons" challenge on anything from a 90-millimeter tank cannon to a .22 caliber target pistol. He has collected more than 250 awards in pistol-shooting competition, including the Army's Distinguished Marksman Medal.

Among the German police shooters against whom he competes in local matches, he is known simply as the "king of marksmen." He bests them consistently by some 30 points in 300-point matches.

Check Pre-School Tot For Health Problems

Those who enter kindergarten free from health handicaps and with good habits will learn more easily and adjust more readily to the new school situation.

It is never too early to start getting the child "ready for school." Many experiences from birth to his school years will influence this readiness. Proper rest and diet during these pre-school years are essential. Love, understanding and acceptance of the child as an individual are the foundation for a happy personality. Participation in family work and play is so essential that the U. S. Children's Bureau has selected this as the theme for Child Health Day. Supervision of a child's health habits and emphasis on safety rules should be begun in early years.

Many parents know their children are ready for school since they have routinely taken them to the family doctor and dentist for health examinations and care since birth, including vaccination and immunization. Many parents have had their children in for an additional examination several months in advance of the opening day of school. This spring examination then allows time for correction of any possible health problems before school opens.

A recent study inquiring into the inclusion of "readiness for school" as a part of community plans showed that a substantial number of city school systems embraced this important service. However, the findings were not nearly so encouraging among town and village or county school systems. Children entering schools concerned with their readiness enjoy benefits that are very worthwhile and that should be available to all.

The P. T. A., and more recently the Cooperative School Health Council, have been active in bringing the advantages of a "readiness for school" program to parents in the interest of the child. School personnel, public health workers and P. T. A.ers will be glad to furnish the recommended examination forms to be filled out by the doctor and the dentist. But the final responsibility is that of the parent.

Now is the time to make an appointment for your preschool child with your family doctor and dentist!

Old Remedies Best For Spring Coughs

New crops of colds with coughs, generally called "spring colds," afflict a good many, now that warm weather is just around the corner. For that reason, some old-fashioned remedies are suggested for people who are otherwise going to greet the spring with a nagging cough.

Coughs can be due to a great many disorders, some serious and some not, according to a bulletin. If they are just the ordinary result of a cold they are likely to clear up automatically, given a chance, when the infection is over. To help things along, the bulletin suggests the standard procedure prescribed by doctors before the days of the wonder drugs. It is still effective and much more sensible than running about looking for somebody to administer antibiotic shots for a throat tickle. The new drugs are invaluable for control of some serious respiratory infections, the doctors note, but are about as sensible for treatment of ordinary colds as using atomic bombs where sling-shots would suffice.

The best treatment is to stay in bed in a moderately warm room in which the air is kept moist by steam or a vaporizer, the bulletin says. Warm, not hot, moist air is soothing to irritated throats and helps to quiet the cough impulse.

Chronic coughs may be due to a wide variety of causes having nothing to do with colds, including heart disease, tuberculosis and cancer of the lungs, the doctors point out. Or they may just be due to smoking. In either case, the cause should be sought promptly. If it is smokers' cough, there is only one way to get rid of it and that is to stop smoking completely. Cutting down on the number of cigarettes smoked in a day, won't make a dent in the coughing. On the other hand, if the cough does not disappear after four or five weeks of no smoking, another cause must be looked for. Neither smokers nor non-smokers should allow themselves to ignore a chronic cough.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—The salaried individual or small businessman may sometimes wonder exactly what the major decisions of fiscal policy have to do with him, as he reads of changing rediscount rates, short-term or long-term borrowing, excess reserves and the like.

Recent high-level fiscal decisions have driven down interest rates. Others have helped raise banks' deposits with the Federal Reserve System to some $400 million more than they are required by law to keep there.

What's the practical effect of this? Well, if you tried to buy a $20,000 house around Christmas time, and couldn't raise the $8,000 downpayment on which the banker insisted, run back now and offer him $4,000 down. Chances are he will see it your way, because if you have a mortgage outstanding, and it is low in proportion to the property's value, some insurance company may refinance it at better terms. "Easy money" does filter down to the citizen; it just takes a little while.

TRAVEL BARGAINS—With vacation time just ahead, 15 Eastern railroads have extended their family fare plan to cover travel in Pullmans and parlor cars. Under the plan travelers can make savings of up to one-third, or even more, on their fares. The plan has been in effect for coach travel in previous years, and this accommodation will continue.

Bargain fares will be available from June 1 to September 30, and for the first time will apply to travel in Western, Southwestern, and Pacific Coast territories, and to Canadian stations west of Winnipeg. Also for the first time, the plan has been broadened so that the second person in a family group travels at a major saving. Up to now a "group" had to consist of three persons before the savings began.

THINGS TO COME—If you are troubled with rawness in the middle of large baked potatoes, you can now buy an aluminum skewer with which to cook them from the inside out. . . A wire fly swatter is embroidered with gay wool yarn to make sure this summer's bugs die esthetically. . . Fabric for draperies comes already pinch-pleated, in a kit with weights, drapery hooks, needles and thread. Just whack it off to length, hem and hang. . . Bolted truss construction, framing a building in arched steel beams with no supports in the middle, can now be had in a 100 foot span. Widest up to now has been 60 feet.

LOW-COST CREDIT AID—Recent studies of credit costs in industry throw new light on that form of commercial financing known as factoring.

They disclose that when an old-line factor buys the accounts receivable of a company—assuming all risks and costs involved in collecting the items—the factor's fee is almost invariably offset by the reduction in the client's book-keeping and collection costs. For this reason the factor's fee, customarily a small percentage of the sales handled, is not charged to credit costs by many manufacturers and distributors who rely on factors for their working capital and expansion funds.

Instead, these companies regard factoring services as an aid to selling, because the funds provided keep working capital on the job, and the factor's marketing counsel helps his clients make more goods that people want.

Return of a buyer's market has accented interest in factoring, both as financing and as a sales tool. Today old-line factoring firms serve hundreds of companies in more than 50 industries, including textiles, furniture, hardware, rubber goods and toys.

PEACEFUL ATOMS—Industry spokesmen, encouraged by recent loosening of government restrictions on production of electricity from atomic materials, have been asking the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy to let them own the potent by-products of atomic fission.

Up to now the Atomic Energy Commission has owned all fissionable materials and products of atomic combustion. Proposals for licensing private enterprises to produce power have all specified that ownership remain with the government.

Walker D. Cisler of Detroit Edison pointed out that huge sums of capital would have to be raised from private investors for any substantial program of peaceful use of atomic energy. These investors, he said, would be reluctant to hazard their funds on the security of government licenses which carried no assurance that the materials would remain in the company's hands.

COUNTRY PLAYERS

The girl singers are becoming more and more popular in the country-music field. They not only look nice on personal appearances with the bands, but sound good on records, too.

Jimmie Rodgers' "Mama, Don't Cry at My Wedding" (MGM) is a beautifully done ballad, in which she even duets with herself. And Capitol's Jean Shepard has an excellent heart-ballad in "Why Did You Wait?"

On Columbia, Anita Carter and her sisters give a very smooth and soothing interpretation of a sad love-ballad, "Faithless Johnny Lee."

And Maxine and Jim Brown's "Looking Back to See" is an unusually "catchy," fast-moving, novelty song that's a real toe-tapper (Fabor).

Another unusual number is Stuart Hamblen's "This Ole House" (Victor). It is a rousing-type song that grows on you, and is somewhat different from his usual style.

In the sacred vein, Alana McGill, with choral backing, does "I'll Live for Jesus" in the old-time camp-meeting style. And Lois Irwin injects a wealth of feeling into "Let Me Be Worthy" (Sarc).

"I Think I'm Going to Cry," by George Morgan (Columbia), is a fine, melodic ballad and one of his best. And Mercury's Chuck Reed answers with "Don't Be Ashamed if You Cry," while Rusty Gabbard (MGM) sings "It Hurts Too Much to Cry."

In a happier and peppier vein are Terry Fell's "Don't Drop It" (X), and "Shake-a-Leg" by the Carlises (Mercury). Both are very rhythmic numbers.

OTHER GOOD RELEASES are "The Best Man Must Smile" (Wade Ray, Victor); "Weeds of Hate" (Ace Ball, Okeh); "You Never Grow Too Old to Learn" (Sam Nichols, MGM); "My New Love Affair" (Red Sovine, Decca); "Dark Streets" (Bill Dudley, Capitol); "You're Right" (Faron Young, Capitol); "My Heart and I" (Jimmy Collie, Hickory); "Haunted Hungry Heart" (Jimmy Heap, Imperial).

HERE'S HOW . . .

TO USE NAILS

The nail is too often taken for granted. There are many different kinds of nails, developed for special purposes. The home craftsman will find common wire nails and finishing nails will suit most of his purposes. Shown half-size in the drawing are the sizes of common nails most used.

Finishing nails have less holding power, but have the advantage of having an extremely small head that may be countersunk by using a nail set.

Most trouble with nailing is encountered in getting started. To start a nail, grasp the middle of the hammer handle (A), and tap lightly until the nail is set. Then grasp the handle at its end, to obtain full leverage (B). Use the other hand to hold the board, not the nail.

Common nails have sharp points and tend to force the wood fibers apart as does a wedge. For woods that split easily, a blunt point is best; it breaks through the wood fibers.

Tips for Those Who Plan to Be Married

The county clerk has a bit of advice for those who plan to be married. Don't wait until the last minute to get the marriage license.

Too many couples do not have the proper information before they come to the courthouse for a license. As a result, there may be delays or interference with the wedding dates.

To help couples planning marriage, Starnal did outline the steps that a couple must take in getting a license. Here they are:

Set the date of the wedding. Determine the date of applying for a license. This can be not less than six days, (at least seven is recommended) nor more than 25 days before the marriage date.

Obtain medical certificates from a physician not more than 15 days before applying for a license, since the certificates are good only that long. Both the man and the woman must have a blood test certificate. In addition, the bridegroom must have a certificate stating that he is free of venereal disease.

Bring the medical certificates to the county clerk's office when application is made for the license.

Wait 5 days. Pick up the license on the sixth day of thereafter. One reason that it is advisable to apply at least seven days before the marriage date is to avoid having to rush down to the county clerk's office on the wedding day. Present the license to the officiating minister or judge.

The minimum marriageable age for women is 15 and for men 15. Women between 15 and 18, and men between 15 and 21 must have the consent of both parents, except when one parent is deceased or custody has been granted to one parent. The parents must sign the consent. Legal guardians must present guardianship papers when providing consent.

Office hours for the county clerk's office are 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on weekdays. Courthouse is closed on Saturdays during the summer.
