

Death Crash Mars Dedication of Hwy. 41; Romaine Talks

Just two hours before the Slinger-to-Fond du Lac segment of new Highway 41 was dedicated Wednesday afternoon, death stalked the roadway. Frank Hetzel, 35, a garage owner at Nemo, Washington county, was killed about 1 p. m. when he drove his car from a town road intersecting with new 41 about 1 1/4 miles north of Allenton and hit a loaded lumber truck broadside.

The tragedy sounded a serious call for highway safety at dedication ceremonies held at the intersection of new 41 and State Trunk 60, just outside Slinger, E. M. Romaine, Kewaskum, chairman of the Washington county board, sounded the most serious note.

"Twenty years ago," he said, "the cry was 'let's pull Wisconsin out of the mud.' Today we might say 'let's pull Wisconsin out of the blood.'" Romaine continued: "Let us dedicate this highway today to service and safety, instead of destruction and death." Romaine's talk hailed President Eisenhower's highway program and called for support of Gov. Kohler's highway safety program.

Washington county deputies who investigated Hetzel's death said Calvin Martin, 31, of Neopit, driver of the lumber truck going south on new 41, was hospitalized at West Bend in serious condition. Deputies said Hetzel apparently went through a stop sign.

Harold L. Plummer, chairman of the state highway commission, said the opening of the 36-mile portion completes all but one link of the super highway running from Allwaukee to Green Bay. He described the Lake Butte des Morts bridge, to be completed next spring, as the final link of the road which long has been a dream of the highway department. The bridge is north of the Fond du Lac-Oshkosh segment dedicated last fall.

State Sen. Frank Panzer, chairman of the Dodge County Board, told the crowd that we are here on a "non-partisan basis." But State Sen. Walter R. Bussewitz (Democrat-13th Dist.) and Russell Johnson of Eldorado, Fond du Lac county, Democratic candidate for assemblyman in the 6th district, brought up the politics question. Johnson lamented what he called the "lack of invitations" for Democrats to the dedication. "And they call this affair nonpartisan?" he asked. Bussewitz said: "We're not mad at anybody, but we are here to see what's going on."

Besides the politicians, about 300 persons attended the ceremonies, including Slinger school pupils, Alice in Dairyland, Mary Ellen McCabe, cut the ribbon across the highway to open it officially. A picture of Miss McCabe cutting the ribbon with Romaine and other officials next to her, appeared in the Milwaukee papers Thursday.

Later the caravan of officials proceeded north to the highway interchange south of Fond du Lac to repeat the ceremony. There Gov. Kohler took part in the program. This was followed by a banquet at Fond du Lac dedicating the new highway.

Miss Harth Wed to Harold Boettcher

Miss Mary Ann Harth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Harth, Sr., R. 1, Jackson, and Harold A. Boettcher of Kohlsville, R. 3, Kewaskum, were married on Saturday, Oct. 16, at 2 p. m. in a ceremony performed in St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church, Kewaskum, by the Rev. Gerhard Kanies. Mr. Boettcher is a son of the Elmer Boettchers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white lace and net was chapel length and was highlighted with a sequin studded, off-the-shoulder neckline. Her finger tip veil was caught to a pearl and sequin studded lace pillbox. The bride carried a prayer book to which a cascade of white carnations and an orchid were fastened.

Miss Lois Jane Harth was her sister's maid of honor while Mrs. James Hagen, another sister, and Mrs. Kenneth Herman, a friend, served as bridal aides. Lace capes covered the strapless bodices of the periwinkle blue gowns of net over taffeta worn by the attendants. Matching gauntlets and beaded tiaras headpieces with brief veils completed their attire. All carried bouquets of pink and white carnations arranged on white lace fans. Little Miss Mary Beth Lehner was her aunt's flower girl in a miniature copy of the bride's gown. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of pink roses and carnations, with streamers.

The bridegroom was attended by a brother, Earl Boettcher, as best man, while James Bartelt, a friend, and Ralph Harth, the bride's brother-attended as groomsmen. Ushers were Miles Harth, Jr. and Bernard Hafeman. Master Donald Boettcher, the bridegroom's nephew, was the ring bearer.

An afternoon reception was held at the bride's home. In the evening the young couple received congratulations at a wedding-dance held at Goring's resort, Big Cedar Lake.

A graduate of Kewaskum High school, the bridegroom is engaged as a food broker in Kewaskum. The bride is a West Bend High school graduate and is employed at the office of Amity Leather Products company in West Bend.

When they return from a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, Mr. and Mrs. Boettcher will make their home in Kewaskum.

Girl Rider Hurt in Motorcycle Mishap

A motorcyclist from Kenosha and his girl companion were removed to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, late Monday afternoon after their cyclist lost control of his vehicle, throwing the two from the motorcycle. The mishap occurred on Highway S, about two miles north of New Fane on the Gross curve, better known as "Dead Man's Curve." It was the eighth traffic accident on the extremely hazardous curve within the past summer and fall.

The girl, Miss Marion Carney, 18, of 915 N. 13th st., Milwaukee, suffered a possible skull fracture in the mishap. She was rushed to the hospital in the Kewaskum firemen's ambulance. The driver, Kenneth Sepanski, 22, suffered a head cut and bruises. He followed the ambulance to the hospital on his motorcycle.

Sepanski said that he "ditched" or laid down his cycle on the curve to avoid going through a barbed wire fence. The two had been on a motorcycle trip through the K. Little Moraine forest area when the mishap occurred.

The right front end of a Ford convertible driven by Keith Merideth, Kewaskum, was badly damaged in an accident at the intersection of Highways V and 45 at the overhead bridge just north of the village Wednesday night. Authorities reported that the driver was traveling south on V and lost control of his car as he attempted to slow down for the intersection. The auto left the road on the right side and clipped off heavy guard rails. Merideth was not injured.

Indians Spoil Bell Homecoming, 38-25

The Kewaskum Indians were opponents of Campbellsport at the Bell's homecoming last Friday afternoon and the Mitchellmen put a crimp in their celebration by dumping them, 38-25, on the football field. The setback dropped the Bells from the ranks of the undefeated and placed them in a tie for the second spot with Kewaskum. Both have won two and lost one.

Brandon took sole possession of first place in the Tri-County conference by posting a 25-6 win over North Fond du Lac Friday. The unbeaten Redmen have won three straight. In the other game of the day Lomira edged Oakfield for its first win, 12-7.

In downing Campbellsport the Kewaskum lineup all but knocked the defending champions from the pennant race. It was the first time in several years that the Indians downed the Bells. Kewaskum held a 19-13 lead at the end of the first half. At the end of the third period the Indians led by a 26-19 margin. Kewaskum put the game on ice in the fourth period, scoring two touchdowns to Campbellsport's one.

The Bells scoring included two touchdowns by Norbert Serwe, one by Art Thelen, one by Bob Fleischman, and an extra point by Ken Felix. Mark Rosenheimer, Kewaskum's leading scorer, scored one TD while Jerry Nigh, Doug Wierman, Gilbert Hammer, Tom Tessar and Don Bradke also each had one touchdown. Bradke kicked three extra points.

On Friday of this week Kewaskum faced North Fond du Lac under the lights in the Indians' homecoming game Friday night.

Next Friday night Oakfield comes here to round out the season.

Home Air Raid Warnings Studied

Civilian Defense Administrator, Val Peterson, appearing before Congress in an effort to get Civilian Defense funds, told members of Congress recently that the Government is considering a device which would sound a warning within the home of each citizen in a target area, in case of air attack. The warning system would be used to evacuate highly industrialized centers and to limit casualties from atomic attack.

Peterson said one device under study consisted of a small device which could be installed in any room in a house and which would set off an alarm when a change in the electric current occurred. In other words, an electric company could lower its current, and warn all of its users in the same few minutes.

By such methods, and other methods of mass warning and evacuation, and by early detection of enemy air raiders, Mr. Peterson hopes to save as many as 35 percent of those who would ordinarily be killed in an atomic attack. Peterson predicts that an efficient radar warning network would be in operation around the borders of the United States within two years and he thinks this would give the country's large industrial areas several hours of warning before an atomic attack would occur. This should be ample time to carry out a hurried evacuation.

Although Mr. Peterson did not get the money he requested from Congress, he is much likely working in the right direction. It is obvious that a home warning device is the only possible way to give all citizens an equal start toward evacuation in case of an emergency.

We can't help but wonder, however, what would happen if an electric company's power was suddenly decreased by an accident or failure. Conceivably thousands of people might start evacuating the city in haste, accidents might occur and heart attacks might result in considerable numbers. No doubt a way could be found to avert such a comedy, and, indeed, the subject is not one to be treated lightly. In fact, maybe most Americans treat the threat of atomic attack too lightly and that the nation's industry should be dispersed, and the nation's citizens be given adequate evacuation and warning plans and programs as soon as possible.

In FASHION now

The evening ensemble is being seen more and more in the lush fashion shows all over the world. Italian designers have created some beautiful ensembles and seem to be responsible for the revival of this delightful costume.

One such creation, by James Galanos, is a strapless gown in black satin with a molded torso and an interesting harem skirt. The satin was repeated in the lining of a silver gray and black coat of Italian Brocatello. This ensemble was seen at the Exposition Collections of Neiman—Marcus in Dallas, Texas.

Charles James designed a beautiful theater coat of champagne slipper satin. The coat featured a dramatic profile collar and cuffs faced with matching silk velvet. One outstandingly lovely evening ensemble was a black velvet great coat lined with blush pink satin. Beneath it was a short evening gown in blush pink satin, shaped and contoured for the soft, molded look.

Evening hats and shoes were shown with some of the evening ensembles. They were often fashioned of matching fabric and traced with rhinestones.

Easy, casual, sports clothes are a favorite with Texas women. Several handsome, lightweight tweed and wool dresses were seen at the Exposition Collections showing.

Use These Versatile Apple Treats Often In Lunch Pails

"An apple in the lunch pail" is a good motto to remember this fall, now the younger members of your family have started school again. And a Cortland is a good apple to put in that lunch pail!

For the many busy mothers who will be packing lunches for their youngsters, here's a new trick with that perennial old favorite—peanut butter sandwiches. There's a new way to prepare peanut butter sandwiches that adds extra food value and a wee bit of tang and makes the sandwich more moist.

The secret? Add chopped apple to the peanut butter. Children love it, and so will adults. Here's all you do: to 10 tablespoons of pared, cored, finely chopped (or ground) eating apple, add quickly 1 teaspoon lemon juice, and mix with softened peanut butter, using about 4 tablespoons or more, mixed with a little mayonnaise.

A big, red, juicy apple in the lunch pail is always welcome, but a surprise treat for lunch is a stuffed baked Cortland apple wrapped in aluminum foil. Imaginations go to work to plan a pleasing taste treat for your family. Press two marshmallows into the cavity of a ready-to-bake apple. The melting marshmallow adds sweetness and a decorative note, as some of it will melt in a white stream down the side. Top it with nutmeats or a cherry—an appealing dessert!

Cortlands are especially good for salads, since they don't turn dark on standing after being cut like other apples do. The flesh of this apple always looks appealingly white. You can fix your favorite raw apple salad, put it in a cupcake paper wrapped in wax paper, and send it along to school. Or try Apple Star Salad: cut apples in sixths to within 1/2 inch of the bottom. Stuff with a mixture of cream cheese, nuts, celery, and mayonnaise. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

REPAIR SPOTS ON WAX FINISHED FLOOR

One of the advantages of penetrating oil or wax floor finishes have over varnish is that spots may be refinished easily. Most manufacturers of finishes of this type have a cleaner which they recommend, and which should be used. In many cases, stains and general dullness may be removed by simply using the cleaner as directed.

If, however, the stain or scratches are too deep to be removed with the cleaner, the following procedure is recommended:

1. Sand out the stain or spot with No. 1 sandpaper. Sand with the grain of the wood. Some recommend that the cleaner be used while sanding. But I have found that the cleaner tends to gum up the sandpaper, and I prefer to sand without cleaner until the spot or scratch is removed.
2. The secret of getting a good finish is to get a good polish on the wood before the finish is applied. Therefore, finish sanding with a finer sandpaper or with steel wool. Blend in the edges of the sanded area with the surrounding area as neatly as possible.

You will notice that the sanded area is much lighter in color than the surrounding area. Do not be alarmed by this, because it will darken to match the rest of the floor after the application of the finish and a few days wear.

3. Apply the finish with a brush or cloth. Use as much as the floor will absorb. Keep traffic off the floor until the finish has been absorbed, or until you wipe off the surplus with a cloth.
4. Apply finish wax with a floor waxer, or with a cloth, and rub to a finish. Some recommend waxing with fine steel wool. But when I try this, I seem to get a stain on the floor from the steel wool.

Put Poisons Under Lock in Homes With Small Tots

With fall housecleaning being done, it's a good time for a reminder concerning household poisons. Most people realize the potential danger of a sharp knife or a box of matches left within reach of little hands, but in the case of poisons this is tragically not always so.

Too many individuals apparently regard as not harmful materials which are not specifically known to be harmful. This is partly due to inadequate labeling of the containers or insufficient directions for safe use and emergency treatment in case of misuse. However, too large a part is due to carelessness in following directions for safe use when they are on the label.

When a label reads, "Do not inhale fumes" or, "Avoid contact with skin" or, "Do not take internally," you can rest assured that the manufacturer is not merely filling up space. A long series of tragic accidents led to the enforced labeling of certain poisonous materials. The law does not yet completely cover the entire list of such substances, but where a label does give directions for safe use, they should be followed.

The number of poisonous materials has increased tremendously in the past 10-20 years due to the great advances in chemistry and the use of chemical products. Their number is legion and they range from aspirin to rat poison, from permanent wave preparation to deadly benzol or carbon tetrachloride dry cleaning preparations.

In addition to following directions on the labels, it's a good idea, especially in homes with small children, to keep under lock all poisonous substances and medications. It is also wise to store poisonous substances away from food. Also, teach children not to taste or eat substances found outside the kitchen or dining area unless given to them by an adult.

Medicines should be destroyed as soon as they are no longer needed. Many drugs when stored for a period of time change in structure, and what was once a life saving medicine can turn into a deadly poison. Naturally, be sure all poisons in your medicine cabinet are clearly labeled.

Why not put down, "check on all household poisons" as number one on your list of fall housecleaning tasks?

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS
MOLASSES CRISPET RING

For visiting royalty, make this regal dessert in no time at all, and emerge from the kitchen unruined as a queen yourself. A canny combination of coldness and crispness, crowned with bittersweet garnet-red sauce, it is calculated to produce ohs and ahs from your guests, and a we-didn't-know-the-old-girl-had-it-in-her look on the faces of your nearest and dearest.

MOLASSES CRISPET RING
1/2 cup New Orleans molasses
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons margarine or butter
6 cups corn flakes
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Molasses Fruit Sauce

Combine molasses, sugar and salt in a saucepan; cook slowly, stirring occasionally to a 250° F. (a small quantity of syrup dropped into a cup of cold water forms a firm ball). Remove from heat; stir in margarine or butter. Pour over corn flakes and toss lightly with a fork. Press lightly into a buttered 8-inch ring mold. Chill. Unmold and fill center with vanilla ice cream. Serve with Molasses Fruit Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Molasses fruit sauce: Heat 1 cup currant jelly until melted and smooth. Remove from heat and stir in juice of 1/2 orange and 2 tablespoons New Orleans molasses. Serve chilled.

To those who know molasses there comes memories of the cookie jar, gingerbread fragrance, baked beans, or steamed brown bread. Today, molasses has been streamlined by modern cooking methods and is truly a pantry shelf staple.

Baked Beans
1/4 cup molasses
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 1-lb. cans baked beans
1 tomato sliced
1 onion sliced
Mix together molasses, mustard, and vinegar. Stir into beans in a skillet. Top with tomato and onion slices. Heat to serving temperature.

Molasses Barbecue
1/4 cup molasses
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Boil one minute.

Barbecued Chicken
One 2 to 3 lb. fryer halved
Melted butter
Salt and pepper
Molasses, barbecue sauce
Place halves of fryers in a shallow pan, skin side up. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in an oven 350 degrees 1 to 1 1/2 hours, turn twice during baking, basting with molasses barbecue sauce each time. When ready to serve, pour sauce over chicken.

Dark Gingerbread
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 1/2 cups flour
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup dark molasses
1 cup hot water
Melt shortening over low heat. Cool. Add sugar and egg, beat thoroughly. Sift together dry ingredients. Combine molasses and hot water. Add alternately with dry ingredients to butter and sugar mixture. Pour into a greased 9x9x2 inch pan. Bake in an oven 350 degrees 45 to 50 minutes.

Molasses Cookies
1/2 cup shortening (butter and lard)
1/3 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup molasses
1/4 cup coffee
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, molasses, and liquid. Add remaining ingredients sifted together. Beat well. Add more flour if needed. For crisp cookies, keep the mixture as thin as possible. Arrange by spoonfuls on a buttered cookie sheet. Bake about 10 minutes at 375 degrees.

AMERICA'S BEAUTY—Lee Ann Meriweather, 19, joyfully hugs the trophy which is hers along with the title of "Miss America," shortly after the San Francisco, Calif., beauty was chosen for the honor at the annual Atlantic City, N. J., nationwide beauty contest.

HARVEST QUEEN—All these vegetables and Loretta Kaiser, 19, of Monrovia, Calif., go to make up a luscious dish, served up for the Los Angeles County Fair. Loretta reigned as the "Vegetable Princess" of the annual event, held this year at Pomona.

UNDERWATER TRAFFIC HAZARD—Chicago Park District Patrolman Edward Wagner draws attention of motorists to the fact that a submarine is "cruising" across Lake Shore Drive. The Nazi sub, captured by a U. S. Navy prize crew during World War II, was being moved to its permanent home at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

NO FISH STORY—Little Edgar and Sherry Lynn Styron didn't catch these huge Blue Marlin at Hatteras, N. C., but the photographer caught the record catch. Weighing, from left: 236, 320 and 176 pounds, it is believed that this is the first time three game fish of this size were ever landed in one day off any part of the United States coast.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday, or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

TEACUP TOPICS

By BETTY ANN
Editor The Milwaukee Journal Women's Page

A life of ease is a life of fashion this fall in clothes that go everywhere, says Betty Ann. Ease of fit plays a big role in the fashion picture, in bloused silhouettes or in middy silhouettes, both of Paris origin. These are fashions which are easy to get in and out of, with their casual look (studied though it may actually be), demanding a minimum of fuss and care.

Always an American specialty, the shirt waist has stepped further into a fashion of paramount importance. This season there is an infinitely varied pattern of detailing that is strictly feminine and often quite formal.

Co-ordination is most fall lines means a specific number of styles, perhaps four or five skirts, the same number of blouses, but in a great variety of fabrics and colors that can be mixed or matched. There are blouses which stem from a shirt yet have big collars, softened details and the designer's approach to fabrics, using elegant materials with nonchalance.

Feminine bow jabots, ruffled jabots, and belle bows add a little girl look, a new role for the classic shirt. In keeping with today's fashion that demands practicality as well as beauty, these shirts are doubly welcome. Many bows and jabots are detachable, transforming a basic tailored shirt that is a perfect match for lounge wear, bermuda shorts or slacks, into the correct fashion for office and dress wear.

The story of printing designs on fabric is an old one, but the technique of printing on corduroy is new—and exciting, to the fashion minded.

It has only been in recent years that the fabric manufacturers have developed the technique which has turned corduroy from a dull workaday fabric into one of the most versatile of fabrics.

This season's collection of corduroy prints is the largest yet. There are delicate florals, quaint prints, old-fashioned florals, gay stripes, modern geometrics, and tweed prints. All the colors you're used to finding in cottons are there—from delicate pastels to deep, rich shades of black and brown.

Most corduroy prints can be washed just as plain corduroy, although manufacturers recommend dry cleaning for prints with a very dark background.

The chemistry of your own skin affects the bouquet of the perfume you wear, making it personally yours. What may be lovely on you may not suit your best friends at all, and vice versa. So try perfume on your own skin before wearing it. And never try more than three at any one time.

Sewing a button on correctly has a lot to do with the way it stays on and how it looks.

First, mark the position of the button. Take a small stitch where the button will be sewn. Knot on the right side. Bring thread through the cloth and through one hole of the button; place a pin over the button and draw the needle down through another hole.

Take several stitches this way. Pull pin out, holding the button away from fabric. This allows extra "play" of thread under the button. Wind thread tightly around these threads, forming a shank. Fasten securely.

For a longer shank (on coats and suits), insert a toothpick or matchstick instead of pin. Sew small buttons inside the garment, opposite the large buttons, for added support.

DATE NUT BREAD

½ cup margarine; 2 cups boiling water; 2 teaspoons soda; 1 cup chopped nuts; 1 cup chopped pitted dates; 1 cup brown sugar, packed; 1 cup granulated sugar; 2 eggs; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 4 cups sifted flour. Combine water, soda, nuts and dates. Cook, stirring constantly, about four minutes. Cool. Cream together margarine and sugars. Add eggs and vanilla and beat until fluffy. Add flour and date mixture. Mix well. Pour batter into two 8x5 by 3 inch loaf pans (bottoms rubbed with shortening). Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, one and one-fourth to one and one-half hours or until cake tester comes out clean. Remove from pans and cool. Slice and spread with butter. May be made early, then sliced and toasted at service time. Storage: Wrap in foil or waxed paper and keep in a cool place. Yield: Two loaves, 9 by 5 by 3 inches.

The tarpon is known in some places by the name of silver king, sabalo, savanilla and grande ecaillie.—Sports Afield.

Your Family Will Cluck With Pleasure Over Chicken Chili

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

WE'VE found a new and really delicious version of chili con carne. This one is made with chicken instead of beef. Leftover chicken can be used. As chicken is in abundant supply now, this is a budget recipe.

Chicken Chili Con Carne (Yield: 6 servings)

Two tablespoons margarine or butter, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper, 2 cups chicken broth, 6-ounce can tomato paste, 3 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, 4 teaspoons chili powder, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, ¼ teaspoon garlic powder, 1-pound can red kidney beans, 2 cups cooked, shredded chicken or leftover chicken, 4 teaspoons cooked rice.

Place margarine or butter in a saucepan with onion and green pepper, saute until limp (about 10 minutes). Add chicken broth, tomato paste and seasonings. Cover. Simmer until thickened (30 to 40 minutes). Add kidney beans and shredded chicken. Heat. Serve over cooked rice. For a party of 12, double this recipe.

Pork is down in price, too. So try these chili pork chops. Really different and very tasty.

Chili Pork Chops (Yield: 6 servings)

Six pork chops, cut 1-inch thick; 2 small onions, sliced; 1 medium green pepper, sliced; 4 potatoes, sliced; 4 carrots, sliced; 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, 1 teaspoon chili powder, 1 cup tomato juice.

Brown pork chops on both sides in own fat. Place in a Dutch oven or pressure cooker. Cover with sliced vegetables. Sprinkle with seasonings. Add tomato juice. Cover. Bake one hour in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.). If a pressure cooker is used, cook according to the directions given in the instruction book of your cooker.

Leftover chicken flies back to the table as a real taste treat when it's used as the meat base for this delicious chili.

Health and Beauty

There are few disorders which bring as much anxiety to both the sufferer and the observer as the wheezing and breathlessness brought on by an attack of asthma. Asthma is said to be a symptom, not a disease. There are a number of social factors which combine to influence the severity of the attack. These factors may be environmental, psychological or social.

Bronchial asthma is the commonest variety. In this type of asthma, the wheezing and breathlessness are brought on by the narrowing of the smaller bronchial passages. At the same time, there is a sudden increase in secretions poured out by the glands of the bronchial air passages.

Bronchial asthma is often caused by pollen, dust or respiratory infections. Some doctors believe that an asthma attack can be caused by emotional disorders.

The first step in treatment of any asthma case is to determine the cause of the seizures. In allergic type cases, there is almost always a family history of allergic disorders. These disorders may range from hayfever and eczema histories to asthma.

Allergens that cause bronchial asthma may enter the body in several ways: through the respiratory tract by inhalants; through the mouth by eating, taking drugs, etc., through the skin, by injection of such items as penicillin and anti-tetanus serum.

Ragweed and grass pollens seem to be the most common inhalant materials which bring on bronchial asthma. House dust and mold are also high on the list of causes.

Food allergens bring on attacks, particularly in infants and children. The venoms of insect and snake bites also cause allergic attacks.

Never try to treat an asthma sufferer without the help of your family doctor. In many cases his skills alone are not sufficient and a specialist must be consulted.

Factual News About The Eyes

It's estimated that about 1.5 per cent of all the people in the world have crossed eyes, according to the Better Vision Institute. This condition requires the prompt attention of a vision specialist.

Many of the headaches that children suffer are caused by eyestrain, says the Better Vision Institute. A child may experience temporary blurring of vision and a tired, hot, gritty feeling in his eyes, followed by a dull ache all over his head. It's best not to overtax those young eyes and to get the advice of a professional specialist about their care.

The word sty, or styne, comes from the Anglo-Saxon stigan, meaning to climb or rise, according to the Better Vision Institute. So it is applied to an inflamed rising or swelling on the eyelid. Anyone who has frequent styes should consult a vision specialist.

Lumber can be kept clean, dry, neat and convenient to the home craftsman if he makes a handy storage rack in his workshop or basement.

While the rack may be of any length desired by the craftsman, the one shown below is 12 feet long.

If the floor is concrete, the 2 by 4 plate, or base, should be fastened with case-hardened, blunt-pointed, cut nails or special grooved nails made for the purpose.

Depending upon the construction of the room in which the rack is to be placed, the studs, also 2 by 4's, may be fastened to the joists, to a ceiling plate,

'Mighty Mo' Put Into Mothballs

The 50,000-ton battleship Missouri recently left her home port at Norfolk, Virginia, and headed for the West Coast. It was the last assignment for the great fighting ship for some time to come. The Missouri is being mothballed.

The great ship has been stationed at Norfolk since 1946, and on her decks the Japanese surrendered to overwhelming allied power in August, 1945—just nine years ago.

The Missouri, however, is a battleship and the trend today is toward carriers. Thus the Navy is de-commissioning the giant battlewagon. Today on active duty, among twenty battleships operating during World War II, are the Iowa, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

The inactivation of the Missouri was described by naval officials as necessary because of budget limitations. It is ironic that the Missouri—named for former President Truman's home state—is being sent to mothballs under a Republican administration, though there is probably no connection.

As battleships go, the Missouri is a young ship and it is regretted that the tremendous investment involved might not be of much further use to the American people. However, this ship was a bargain at any price in World War II and her demobilization stresses the modernization of naval theory and the rapidly changing picture of modern warfare.

The crawfish—or crayfish, crawdads or mudbugs—is almost strictly a fresh-water crustacean and shouldn't be confused with the salt-water crawfish or rock lobster.—Sports Afield.

Bible Comment:

Christianity Must Spread Outside Home

ONE of the greatest problems of present-day life and society is that of the home.

It is constantly emphasized that at the root of juvenile delinquency is poor homelife, with lack of parental guidance and control, and often serious delinquencies in the parents themselves. Nor are such parental delinquencies confined to the poor, illiterate and underprivileged.

Careless, self-indulgent and undisciplined parents, rich and poor alike, must bear their share of responsibility, but there is an all-too-common tendency to blame parents for everything.

The finest home has to contend with forces and influences outside of the home that tend to offset all that it can do, and these outside influences have youth for longer periods than the home itself.

A more serious factor, however, is the low standards of conduct that are so widely prevalent today. We live in a so-called Christian land, and all our religious institutions try to typify wholesome ideals, evidenced in character and conduct.

Unfortunately, without being pessimistic about it, or disregarding wholesome influence of these institutions, we must face the fact that a widespread secularism, materialism and low morality is all too evident. And this debasement of ideals seems to have increased in recent years.

If youth could be surrounded by the Christian standards and ideals outside, as well as inside the home, our problems would not be nearly so acute.

Long before Tin Pan Alley discovered "Chattanooga Choo Choo" and the "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., was famous for its outstanding mountain scenery and a Civil War battlefield that compares with Gettysburg.

Now throngs of visitors from all parts of the country are stopping off here to view these highlights of the Mid-South for themselves.

They spend their time in touring the surrounding mountains, including the famed Lookout Mountain, and in capturing the flavor of Civil War history at Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park. This, the oldest and largest of national military parks, was established in commemoration of two battles fought for control of Chattanooga.

The battle zone was rugged terrain—no open field, nor even level woods, but the high peaks of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. It is a striking sight, in driving up the mountain to view the gun emplacements exactly as they were many years ago: there are cannons resting on shaded lawns, and one even points directly into the front door of a recently built private home!

The battlefield tour leads to some of the finest military monuments and memorials in America, and those who stop at park headquarters are treated to an excellent introductory lecture illustrated with an electric map.

Besides its history, Chattanooga offers a full quota of scenery. Lookout Mountain is the best known of its natural points of interest. An experience, not soon forgotten, is a trip to the top of the mountain by the most direct route—aboard the incline tramway. The incline track ascends straight up the face of the mountain for a distance of nine-tenths of a mile, reaching an altitude of 2,450 feet above sea level. At one point the grade is almost 73 degrees, the steepest passenger incline in the world.

The sight by dark: one galaxy of stars in the heavens and another in the valley below. If the incline looks too steep, motoring is just as sure a way to reach the top. The mountain is rich in floral growth from Spring through Fall, from the blooms of white and pink dogwood, through the season of mountain laurel and rhododendron, to scarlet and gold of changing foliage. There are other attractions too—such as

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Smoked picnic shoulder.
Q. Where does it come from?
A. It is the arm and shank sections of the pork shoulder which have been smoked.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting or cooking in liquid. For roasting, the shoulder is placed fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. It is cooked without a cover or water in a 300° F. oven for 35 minutes per pound. For cooking in liquid it is placed in a heavy utensil and completely covered with water. The utensil is tightly covered and the meat allowed to simmer until tender, approximately 45 minutes per pound.

Ruby Falls; the original Tom Thumb golf course, and Rock City Gardens.

Chattanooga, besides all this, is in the geographic center of the great Tennessee valley; nearby is 39-million-dollar Chickamauga Dam, a marvel in modern engineering. And it is the southern gateway to Great Smoky Mountains, and their storehouse of scenic adventure. With all its attractions, Chattanooga is the kind of friendly place that adds up to plenty of travel enjoyment.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

After making a 14,000-mile tour of waterfowl areas from coast to coast and border to border, and practically living and breathing ducks and geese for weeks—as Cleveland van Dresser did during his survey for Sports Afield magazine—it is virtually impossible not to form conclusions about the present and future of America's migratory waterfowl.

The over-all picture has good and bad aspects—with situations ranging from encouraging in Florida to downright alarming in California. In many places, something has been done to foster waterfowl. But a great deal more must—and can—be done to assure their future abundance.

The ills of our nation's migratory waterfowl can be blanketed under one all-inclusive cause—loss of habitat. This situation isn't helped by our system of federal price support and farm subsidy.

Ten Word INTELLIGRAM

Check the correct word:

- Russia (has) (has not) a skyscraper height of the Empire State Building.
- Gov. Thomas E. Dewey (is) (is not) retiring from politics.
- Desegregation of public schools (is) (is not) proceeding rapidly.
- (New York) (Chicago) will be permanent home of National Council of Churches of Christ.
- (Coral) (chrome) is the 35th wedding anniversary gift.
- Utah is the (Sea Gull) (Beehive) state.
- There are (three) (four) time zones in the U. S.
- (Two) (three) American citizens were recently released by Red China.
- Deer meat is called (benison) (venison).
- Vegetables (can) (cannot) be raised without soil.

Score yourself 10 points for each correct answer. A score of 0-20 is poor; 30-60, average; 70-80, superior, and 90-100, very superior.

After studying the nationwide waterfowl picture, van Dresser believes the following aims should be adopted by sportsmen:

1.) A sensible balance must be struck between agriculture and wildlife interests. As things stand now, waterfowl almost always gets the short end when the two clash.

2.) The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service should acquire more management areas, with the understanding that a portion of them be set aside for public hunting.

3.) Divorce state game commissions from politics.

4.) Seek and obtain co-operation of industry as well as all state and federal land administration agencies. The day of "multiple land use" is dawning, and it is high time everyone concerned with administration of natural resources realized it.

We strongly urge all sportsmen to keep abreast of all proposed legislation in Washington that affects conservation. If something is brewing in the way of a dam, drainage or irrigation project that affects your area, let Congress hear from you.

Today the aims of conservation are better understood by more people than ever before. But this does not mean you can relax and take it for granted that your wants will be automatically considered. You must speak up in a loud, firm voice.

ALASKA FLEABANE
© 1953 National Wildlife Federation

Erigeron Salsuginosus

Possibly the Alaska Fleabane is better known to amateur botanists as the Large Mountain Fleabane. At any rate it is so listed in that most popular amateur botanist's handbook Armstrong's "Western Wildflowers." Its reported range is from Alaska south to the high alpine valleys of California and New Mexico and while it is reported to be particularly conspicuous in the Canadian Rockies it is not listed in the National Parks Service's "Plants of Rocky Mountain National Park." While it is reported as being abundant, growing in moist places in the higher mountains as far as Colorado, it is not listed as an important plant or even as existing in the Forest Service's "Range Plant Handbook." Jepson's "Flora of Western Middle California" does not list it at all.

The Alaska Fleabane, if we may call it by that name, grows to a height of two feet. The leaves have bristle points and are either smooth or somewhat hairy. The upper leaves at least have somewhat clasping bases and leaf margins that are free from notching. The leaves are placed alternately along the stems which are definitely covered with a down.

The flower clusters are more or less daisy-like and composed of discs of bright yellow tubular flowers surrounded by the ray flowers which are a clear bright lilac color and not so narrow as one might expect of the usual fleabane. To most persons, the fleabanes are daisy-like slender plants with the white ray flowers that are more or less uniformly wide throughout their length. The average Eastern farmer or Midwesterner who knows "White-weed" or "Daisy Fleabane" or "Whiteweed" knows a relative of the Alaska Fleabane, though the name "White-weed" may be also appropriately applied to a member of the mustard family of plants. The "Daisy Fleabane" or "Whiteweed" may under some circumstances cause an irritation on the skins of some persons but it is not ordinarily dangerous. Wallace's Farmer once listed the Fleabane as the "worst enemy of meadows."

Our Alaska Fleabane apparently will never win a reputation as being a serious pest. It is in fact popular with many who like to range through the highlands of Western America seeking beauty and not thinking too seriously of pasture management. Horses will eat Alaska Fleabane readily but why this is so I am afraid we will have to leave to the horses whose preferences are not always easily explainable. The period of flowering is the summer time when vacationists are most likely to hit the trail to the high spots. Those fortunate to come into the range of the Alaska Fleabane will probably long remember the flower tops of this plant which may measure to over an inch and a half across and whose lilac rays and brilliant yellow centers are a welcome opportunity to most attractive.

The National Wildlife Federation invite you to the mountain tops of our West to meet this plant.—E. Laurence Palmer.

Good News For Coffee Drinkers

Coffee drinkers, who have seen prices moving upward steadily for some months now, are in for some good news. The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange has experienced a heavy decline in coffee prices for some days now, and on a recent day the price of coffee dropped five and a half cents.

The price of green coffee dropped eight cents on one day in late August, and such reductions in stock market prices are sure to be reflected in retail prices in the future. Meanwhile, coffee-trading on the Exchange in New York came to a standstill in late August.

No one is exactly sure of the reason for the drop in coffee prices, although not to be discounted is the fact that the higher-and-higher coffee prices have begun to increase the consumption of other beverages in the country, notably tea. As the price of coffee rose recently to well over the dollar-per-pound mark, consumption of tea showed an increase, and the consumption of coffee showed a corresponding decrease.

Now that coffee prices are declining, consumption may again rise, although some permanent damage to the coffee market may have been done in the recent

About Your Home

Dog lovers will tell you that no home is complete without one of "Mans best friends." Whether you fall into this group or not, chances are good that for one reason or another you do have a dog.

If you give your dog reasonable good care, you will be rewarded by having a healthy animal. In the long run the proper care will be much less trouble and expense.

A puppy requires more attention than a grown dog. He should have a clean bed, raised off the floor and placed where it will be free from drafts or excessive heat. He should have access, at all times to clean water. Place his bed away from household traffic so he can catch up on his sleep and grow. Be sure his bed is large enough.

Fill his bed with a good type of litter. There are several kinds in general use — shredded newspaper, some types of straw and cedar shavings. Cedar shavings are considered best.

If he sleeps in the house, you will want to keep his litter in a clean bag so that it won't get caught in his coat and be dragged all over the house. Be very sure that all his bedding is clean.

Have your dog checked for worms about once every two months. This will prevent any worms from getting a hold in his system. Also, by checking his stool, you will know what kind of worms he has and can give him the proper treatment for that particular type.

It may be that your pup may not be as clean as you would like for him to be. However, bathing a young dog can have serious consequences. Use one of the deodorizer-type shampoos on him, along with a good brushing. Make sure he does not become chilled.

An older dog can be bathed once a month but no more often than this. If necessary, use a deodorizer in between times.

Nail clipping should always be done by a veterinarian. Dogs' nails have blood vessels running into them. It is possible to cause a dog to have a hemorrhage if clipping is not done correctly.

Larger dogs need exercise to maintain health and body tone. Small dogs, like the Pekingese and Chihuahuas, need no more exercise than they get from running around the house.

Keep up your dog's distemper and rabies vaccinations.

Give your dog enough wholesome food to keep him well nourished but not fat. It is necessary to give a puppy additional vitamins sometimes and always give him additional calcium to ensure proper growth.

Needless to say, dogs need love and attention to grow into attractive happy animals.

price spiral. One of the main results of the lowering coffee prices should be to keep the price of a cup of coffee in most restaurants at current levels, and in some cases, to drop them back to a nickel.

Do you buy your shoes in the morning? Perhaps that's why they're so uncomfortable. Buy shoes at the end of the shopping expedition so that they are comfortable for tired feet, not just daisy fresh ones.

Drunkometer Test Behind The Scenes in American Business

After an experiment which has extended over a period of six months, the New York Police Department has begun a city-wide use of what the New York Times calls "drunkometer tests." The tests are scientific tests to determine the sobriety of drivers accused of violations.

In the past, the New York Police Department—like most other police departments—has relied on visual tests, and unscientific means. For the past six months, a pilot project has been conducted in Manhattan, and the results show that convictions for drunken driving there have increased considerably, and that very few drunken drivers are released because of a lack of proof, as was heretofore the case.

A State law was reinforced by the State Legislature in Albany management areas, with the un- of violations refusing to take the chemical test for intoxication became liable to license revocation. Before July, 1953, drivers could not be required to take the test under any penalty and had to do so voluntarily.

The success of this scientific method of determining the sobriety of drivers should encourage police departments in every other section of the country to adopt similar methods. The drunken driver is not only a menace to society, and to life, but is one who had not been made to pay for his crimes and slaughter in the past. Too often there was no conclusive proof, and drunken drivers—guilty of the worst crimes imaginable—were allowed to go unpunished.

This situation can be quickly remedied if the State Legislatures in more of the forty-eight states will allow license revocation if a driver refuses an intoxication test, and if local police departments will secure scientific testing equipment and make its use standard procedure.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

NEW YORK—Hurricane Edna, unwelcome visitor to the Northeastern states ten days ago, got the blame for failure of the fall upturn in retail sales to put in its expected appearance. New York got nearly five inches of rain on the first post-Labor-Day Saturday, September 11, and Philadelphia had a day of rain squalls.

The week's record was 13 percent under the like week of 1953. The September 12 week last year was one of pleasant weather following a two-week heat wave. The change brought out shoppers in swarms.

Despite the slow pace of retail selling, merchants and out-of-town buyers in New York last week were almost universally optimistic. Where a few months ago they all belittled hopeful signs, now they try to explain away unfavorable ones. Store inventories are down, and the big city is full of buyers eager to replenish them.

Paper and paperboard forward orders—an early index of a rise in general business—were up in first-half of September.

Return of a seasonal pattern in automobile production, with most companies now having finished their 1954-model runs, is cited as one thing that kept production down in August, but will help the last quarter as auto makers rush to get 155 models on dealers' floors.

MAGNET COMMUNITY—Sales of 442 homes in a single day at Coral City, new community of 10,000 homes to be constructed in the Miami area, aroused public interest all over the country. As a result, a wave of 1,500 out-of-town inquiries (by telegram, long-distance phone and mail) has poured back on Gaines Construction Company, builder of the homes.

Most enthusiastic response was from an Indiana man who said he would take any one of the three-bedroom models—there are two-and-four-bedroom models as well—and enclosed his down payment, a check for $3,000! Thirty other smaller checks were received.

While 60 percent of the inquiries were from men, this percentage was reversed in the case of one state, Pennsylvania. One of every six letters referred to retirement plans, and many older couples said they would like to visit Coral City during their winter vacations and pick out homes they might occupy in a year or so.

New York led in number of inquiries, with Michigan—principally the Detroit area—second. In all, inquiries came from 36 states and the District of Columbia.

THINGS TO COME—Do-it-yourselfers can get kits of tape, cords, and plastic tassels to spruce up their venetian blinds; 14 colors . . . A new toaster toasts three slices at a time, for big families who can't wait . . . You can put your lipstick on in the dark better with a new compact. When you snap up the mirror you turn on a tiny light . . . A new vinyl cigarette case, leather-grained, holds a magnet which secures it to the dashboard of an automobile . . . You can soon buy a hat with six interchangeable bands, for your changes in mood.

RIGHT AS RAIN—You can't depend to move waterproof footwear, the people who make and sell boots have learned from the sad experience of the last few seasons. But over a 12-month period, there's plenty of rainfall in almost every section of the country. So, with one eye on U. S. Weather Bureau statistics and the other on their lasts, a leading manufacturer, is concentrating on the production of lighter, more fashionable boots that women can wear the year around—in Phoenix, Ariz., where a scant 7.72 inches is the average rainfall for the year; to Portland, Ore., which gets an average 41.89 inches. And this lighter footwear—made of materials such as Koroseal, latex and water-repellent poplin—appeals to women because several pairs for different wardrobes can be purchased for less than the price of the heavy, stadium-type boots that were popular when we had rougher winters than we do now.

BITS OF BUSINESS—Butter-buying for price support fell from 10 million pounds a week in July to 1.5 million a week in September . . . Low egg prices threaten curtailment in replacement of flocks in 1955 . . . Auto dealers say they earned 1.9 percent on sales in first-half of 1954. Margin in 1953 was 4.4 percent . . . Two million bushels of apples were lost in New England due to the two recent hurricanes . . . Return of many West Coast sawmill workers to their jobs brought price cuts in both lumber and plywood.
