Indians Rout N. Fondy at Homecoming, 57-7

Celebrating their annual homecoming, the Kewaskum Indians made the affair a complete success by going on a scoring rampage that couldn't be tamed down and trampling North Fond du Lac under the lights here Friday night, 57 to 7. It was Kewaskum's first homecoming tilt played at night.

Coach Mitchell's boys easily played their best game of the season and North Fondy was helpless under their vicious attack. Had the team played the same kind of football against league leading Brandon a couple of weeks before, they would have downed that team and would now be in first place. Brandon handed the locals their only setback, 13-6. The largest crowd ever to see a football contest here attended Friday night's homecoming tussle.

At the end of the half the Indians led the Orioles, 25-0. They continued to set that pace in the third and final periods. Sparking the Kewaskum scoring show was Tom Tessar who scored three touchdowns for a total of 18 points. Gil Hammer, Don Bradke, Norb Rosbeck, Chuck Dreher, Dave Higgins and Jerry Nigh each had a TD to their credit and Bob Stenman scored three points after touchdown. North Fondy's seven points were contributed by Harold Hintz.

In rolling over the Orioles, the Indians set a season's scoring mark to keep their hopes alive for a share of the title.

In other games Friday undefeated Brandon trampled Lomira, 30-0, and Campbellsport took care of Oakfield, 31-12. Kewaskum closed its season on Friday night of this week with Oakfield here for a tilt under the lights.

Deer Fight Death Duel at Mauthe Lake; Kill Others

Two large buck deer fought a death duel in the road at the entrance to Mauthe Lake in the town of Auburn early last Friday. According to Conservation Warden Charles A. Schlumpf of Fond du Lac county, the bucks apparently tangled horns sometime during the night in the Kettle Moraine state park, for a large area of ground was trampled at the fight scene.

Witnesses first saw the locked animals at about 7:30 a. m. One of the deer was dead, and the survivor was dragging it around in a vain effort to unlock its antlers. An archer heard of the survivor and rushed to the scene, killing it with an arrow and affixing his deer tag to claim it. The bow and arrow season on deer is now open in this area.

Schlumpf took custody of the carcass of the dead animal. Dressed, the deer weighed 250 pounds. The other animal was of approximately the same size. The two deer had antlers carrying between 10 and 12 points. The dead buck probably died of a fractured neck. To pry apart the deer men had to use a baseball bat. The deer was the first one killed by a bow and arrow hunter in Fond du Lac county this season.

In Washington county, new Highway 41 claimed its first death in a traffic mishap Thursday night. A large buck was killed at 9:30 p. m. when struck by an auto driven by Joseph Seidl, Hartford, two miles north of Allenton. The animal darted onto the highway and was caught by the rear bumper of Seidl's car.

Because deer are now in the "rutting" or mating season, Sheriff George Brugger issued a warning to motorists to be on the lookout for the animals when they drive, especially at night.

A man who was hunting in the area found the carcass of a doe deer in the Kewaskum swamp Sunday about a block west of Highway 45 and reported it to the county's sheriff's department, which investigated along with Conservation Warden Bob Lake.

The deer is reported to have been shot several days before it was found. Apparently the doe was slain with a high powered .22 caliber rifle and ran for a considerable distance before falling.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? — FIRE PREVENTION

Q. Although I try to keep my broiling pan scrupulously clean, quite often grease from a chop or steak bursts into flames. Once I threw water on the flaming meat — the grease splattered and fire spread. What do you recommend for putting out kitchen grease fires?

A. The National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends baking soda as a fire extinguishing agent. Baking soda, which is another name for sodium bicarbonate is especially effective in smothering kitchen grease fires. When heated by a fire, soda creates carbon dioxide which is heavier than air and settles around a fire cutting off the supply of oxygen necessary for combustion. And baking soda is an "edible" fire extinguisher — will not harm food.

British Bobbies Not Found To Be 'Pistol Packers'

Sir John Nott-Bower, metropolitan London police commissioner, revealed recently that the crime rate in London is on the decline. Contrary to the trend in the United States, and in our largest city, New York, the crime rate in London is now at a record low since World War II.

This is an interesting development in view of the arguments of some Americans that British bobbies should carry guns. The fact that they still do not carry pistols and that the crime rate is going down in London—whereas it is going up in America—creates hearty doubts whether arming the bobbies is necessary.

One of the most surprising developments in England, as shown in Sir John's annual report, is the fact that a decrease has been registered in the number of arrests of persons under twenty-one years of age. This news from England points up the seriousness of the increase in crime in the United States.

In his last report, for instance, Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, of New York, reported that in almost every crime, the six-months figures for this year are up over the six-months figures for 1953. The rise in crimes among teen-agers has been especially discouraging, and should get every citizen's sincere attention.

Bullfighting Not A "SAFE" Sport

Patricia McCormick, 24-year-old art student and bullfighter from Big Spring, Texas, was recently the victim of a 1,350-pound black bull. The young girl bullfighter was gored by the monster, when she turned her back on him in the traditional matador's strut of bravery.

The accident occurred just across the river from Del Rio, Texas, in Ciudad Acuna, Mexico. Twice before, Patricia has been gored by bulls, but both times she came back to kill them. However, in this accident she was the victim.

While a crowd of 3,000 looked on in horror, the bull caught the young girl from behind, as he charged with his horns down and low, and lifted her high into the air on his horns. Her bullfighting teacher, Alejandro L. Hierro, a retired matador, jumped into the ring to get her off the bull's horns, and another bullfighter rushed in with a cape and killed the bull. Patricia was rushed to the Del Rio hospital.

It was only three years ago that Patricia received considerable publicity when she quit Texas Western College, at El Paso, to become a bullfighter. This was considered, by some, to be exotic or even brave, and Patricia was not unsuccessful at her newly-chosen profession. The young American girl, however, was certainly engaged in a medieval and outmoded practice. Some do not call bullfighting a sport and it should have been abandoned long ago by the so-called civilized nations in which it is still practiced.

We hope no more American youngsters will take up the practice of bullfighting south of the border.

BUILD LADDER TO ENTER ATTIC

Attics which have only a trap door approach are difficult to enter. Disappearing stairways are difficult to build, and expensive to buy.

Furthermore, it often is impossible to use them, particularly if the trap door happens to be in a closet.

Build a ladder which will fit into the space you have for it. If your trap door is in a closet, you will have to build a ladder which will fit into the space you have to set it when you want to use it.

The steps in the ladder should be flat boards, and level with the floor.

If you nail three cornered braces under both ends of each step, the ladder will be much more rigid.

Get two pieces of strap iron long enough to form into hooks to fit over the top of the frame to the trapdoor. Fasten the hooks to the ladder with wood screws.

If your attic is high enough, you can suspend the ladder from the rafters with a rope and pulley. It can be suspended directly over the trap door.

The rope may be run down through the ceiling and fastened to a hook on the wall.

If the attic is not high enough that the ladder can be suspended, it may be pushed back on the attic floor and laid flat.

It would be necessary to stand on a stool or chair to reach the ladder.

Are Competitive Sports Good For School Children?

With the start of another school year interest and pride in our local athletic teams swells anew. "Hope springs eternal—" that this will be "our" year, that our team will capture the championship.

Local pride is a great thing, and nothing develops it more than a successful football or basketball team. But sometimes local pride gets out of hand and then it may become dangerous—especially for our youngsters.

If properly conducted organized sports on the high school level have much to offer our children. But highly organized inter school athletic leagues among grade and junior high school youngsters have caused much concern among parents as well as school personnel. Serious questions have been raised as to how beneficial such activities may be.

Leaders among our school administrators, physical education instructors, and physicians generally agree that highly organized competition athletic leagues are not desirable for children of elementary and junior high school years. Physical education at this level should stress a well rounded program of instruction for all children and an extensive intramural program should be provided by each school.

The kind of physical activity planned for children in the elementary and junior high school should be based on what is best for the growth and development of children at this level of maturity. The fact that during these years youngsters grow at variable rates and that at the same age there are many differences in maturity should also be taken into account.

This does not mean that we should rule out the element of competition completely. Competition provides much enjoyment for children, and under good leadership, leads to desirable social as well as physical growth. Well supervised intramural games and contests with others who are of corresponding maturity and ability, and play or sports day programs with other nearby schools will usually satisfy the competitive needs and desires of grade school youngsters.

Physical education and athletic activities are an integral part of today's total school program. But the basis of these activities should be, "What is best for the child?" not, "What is best for the school or community?"

"Mrs. Windrip used to wonder where her hubby spent his evenings. Then she came home early one night—and there he was!"

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

BAKED ACORN SQUASH

Great oaks from little acorns grow—and great hostesses reputations grow from dishes like the stuffed acorn squash pictured above. It's a dish that will stick to your ribs as well as please your palate, made as it is with enriched yeast-raised bread crumbs, onion, and lots of butter to keep the squash moist and succulent. Serve it as the main dish for a hot luncheon this brisk fall weather, with slices of crisp Canadian bacon on the side. It's easy to prepare, and requires no further watching or basting once the squash is in the oven. The stuffing imparts its own subtle flavor to the squash itself, and the net result is sure to win delighted exclamations from hungry guests.

BAKED ACORN SQUASH

- 2 large acorn squash
- 3 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1 small onion, minced
- 3 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Dash of nutmeg

Wash squash and cut in half. Scoop out seeds and stringy fibers. Turn squash upside down in greased baking pan. Bake at 375° F. (moderate oven) 15 minutes. Meanwhile, melt margarine or butter in a saucepan. Add onion and cook until onion is soft. Stir in bread crumbs. Season with salt and pepper. Remove squash from oven, turn right side up and fill with stuffing. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Return to oven and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer or until squash is tender. Makes 4 servings.

Two vegetables (other than potatoes) and two fruits each day are urged by the nutritionist. One of those daily vegetables should be a green or yellow one for vitamin A. One of the fruits should be citrus or tomatoes for vitamin C. All other fruits and vegetables help by contributing various amounts of vitamins and minerals.

has a price tag!

We're all proud of the progress and growth of our home communities in Wisconsin. More people, schools, hospitals... better roads, police and fire protection... expanding business and industry.

But progress is a challenge. Expansion must be paid for. Your community must meet this challenge, regardless of cost.

Your telephone company has expansion problems, too. We've grown fast... added nearly 50,000 telephones since 1947... almost tripled plant investment. But today the difficulties of providing good telephone service are greatly intensified. Keeping up with the demand for more telephones is taxing our facilities to the utmost.

But we—like you—are meeting this challenge of progress.

This year we're spending $3,342,000 for improvement and expansion ...with more to come. But we can't keep pace with your expansion unless we earn enough to pay for it. And today we're caught in a squeeze... between rising costs and regulated income. That's why we must reprice our service.

The increase we need, however, is only a few cents a day for the average telephone. Consider it in terms of maintaining modern, efficient telephone service and we think you'll agree it's a community bargain.

TEACUP TOPICS

By BETTY ANN
Editor The Milwaukee Journal Women's Page

The simplicity, subtle colors, amusing detail and charm of the folk arts of many countries are combined in scarves and scarf accessories, says Betty Ann.

Sources, so widely assorted, include old weather vanes and buttons, doll clothes and ancient paintings, butter molds and quilts, the old-time fabrics of cottage weavers, the clothes Italian fishermen wear, museum flower and fruit prints, the tea chest papers sea captains brought from the orient, American Indian textiles and pottery, decoy birds, colonial calico, persian shawls, as well as many animals, flowers, and other motifs from modern life.

Many of the colors in plaids and geometrical designs are Grand Canyon colors. Scarves are designed to go with the tweeds, velvets, corduroys, cottons and silks in autumn clothes. They are useful for suits and coats, for school and college costumes, and for sports wear as well as dress-up times.

Many small ties of different shapes and lengths, amusing colors with attached tie, and a selection of delicate and beautiful screen printed chiffons are featured.

Blazer stripe and plaid hand woven woolen mufflers in varied color choices, and jumbo sizes are outstanding. Scotch and Hebrides plaids, in matching head scarves and mufflers are amusingly old worldly in a new, smart fashion.

Wool jersey in a wide range of colors, is used in matching caps and mufflers, sometimes sprinkled with tiny plastic jewel like dots.

Knit stocking caps and pixie hoods in bright solid color wool jersey, in capri stripes, in dots and other patterns are youthful and gay for dozens of autumn and winter uses, from campus to travel to cold weather city wear.

Heavy tweed wool jersey styles and mufflers, double ribbed jersey with tasseled ends, striped two tone jersey bound with fringe, are other wool novelties in colorful possibilities.

The richness of velvet and satin, important this season, are combined in carefree little accessories—caps, capelets and jackets as evening covers.

Vivid hues such as turquoise, shocking scarlet and gold make colorful neckwear news. Scarf prints reflect both the fresh look of eastern influence in colorful paisley prints that appear in both silks and wool challis, as well as the clear, crisp standbys of geometrics, diminutive abstracts and borderline prints.

Tweed printed scarves are a colorful accessory accent to team with monotone sweaters and wools. The tone on tone theme is represented by beautiful small prints of heavenly hues. Florals blossom with colorful abundance in bright and warm hued tones, and novelty prints in the Currier and Ives manner are conversation making scarves.

Lemon Pie

One and one-fourth cups sugar; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/3 cup cornstarch; 1 1/2 cups boiling water; 4 eggs; 2 tablespoons butter; grated rind of 1 lemon; 1/3 cup lemon juice; 8 or 9 inch baked pie shell.

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt in top of double boiler; add boiling water and cook over direct heat until thick and transparent. Remove from heat. Add beaten egg yolks, and return to stove to cook mixture for two minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add butter, lemon juice and rind and stir thoroughly. When cool pour into baked eight or nine inch pie shell. Top with meringue made with four egg whites and one-fourth cup sugar added. Place in 325 degree oven until golden brown.

Even in Indian summer, the family occasionally gets a yen for a good old-fashioned pot roast or Swiss steak dinner. Then's the time to use your pressure cooker to prepare these favorites in jig time.

For pressure cooking, choose cuts which you ordinarily would prepare by braising (pot roasting) or stewing. Rib roasts and T-bone steaks do not belong in the pressure cooker!

To cook meats by pressure, first brown them slowly on all sides in a little hot fat so that the brown color will last throughout the pressure cooking period. Use only a small amount of liquid—only a quarter cup for meats cooked up to 10 minutes, one-half cup for those cooked 20 minutes or longer.

When grated, one-fourth pound process or natural cheddar cheese will make one cup.

Survey shows there are four times as many radios in use in U. S. as TV sets; that 134 million radios were made last year, 7 million TVs.

Now is a fine time to start preparing strawberry beds for October and November planting. Add fertilizer and manure to enrich the soil.

Peach-tree borer control is most efficient when applied during September and October. Use the standard paradichlorobenzene preparations in liquid or crystal form, or ethylene dichloride.

House plants that have been in the garden for the summer must be dug, potted and conditioned for bringing indoors.

It is a good idea to prune most plants before repotting them. Don't be afraid to prune most plants before repotting them. Don't be afraid to prune the roots as well as the foliage.

Soda For Burns

Ouch! A nasty burn and it hurts! Don't wait, apply soothing baking soda in a thin paste to relieve the pain. Best of all, soda helps heal a burn by promoting natural tissue repair. And if that burn pops up into a blister, just mix as much baking soda as possible for a saturated solution. Keep the blister well moistened with gauze dipped in the solution and soon all the fluid will drain out without puncturing. Blisters should never be opened except by a doctor so that infection has no chance to set in.

Hunting Season

Once more, with the hunting season already here, we ask that hunters in this community observe the sporting and humane rules of game hunting. Although there was a time when disregard of the bag limit did not obviously affect the supply of game the next year, that day has long passed in most areas.

In fact, disregard of bag limits in many areas and in this area, has reduced the supply of game to a point where it is obviously in the best of interest of preservation to stay within the limit. Despite the fact that this is obvious, some hunters exhibit too much enthusiasm on good hunting days and often liberally exceed the bag limit, especially with birds.

This is an appeal to all good sportsmen to preserve the game supply in this area for future years and future hunters. The advantages in obeying the law in this respect grow greater and greater with each passing year.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Chances are, the witches that ride forth from your house will want to stage a dress rehearsal before the big night. That'll give you an opportunity for extra pictures, perhaps some of them posed in particularly appropriate settings like this one.

Hints on Goblin Shooting

Don't let the goblins get you this year—you get the goblins instead. It's Hallowe'en and time to get something in return for the candy and fruit you hand out. Namely, snapshots of the visiting little demons.

The kids will love to pose in their outlandish costumes and you'll get some pictures that will bring many a laugh. Besides, if you can manage to identify your subjects, their parents will be eternally grateful for copies.

When you go out to buy supplies to satisfy your trick-or-treaters' sweet tooth, load up on film and flashbulbs for your camera. You might even experiment with your own children first. Pose them against a plain background for best results. A blank wall or a solid color blanket will do nicely.

Of all the traditional goodies served during the Christmas season, the cookies seen only at Yuletide seem to bring a special flavor of Holiday to almost everyone.

Inasmuch as many varieties are "keepers" that improve with age, it's not too early to start baking your supply in the near future.

Here's a cookie that you can make up about three weeks ahead of time.

Lyle's Favorite Raisin-Nut Drops

One cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sour milk or cream, 1 1/2 cups bread flour, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1/2 cup chopped raisins, 1/4 cup chopped nut meats.

Cream butter and sugar. Beat egg and add to the mixture. Add flour slowly, while stirring. Then add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly.

Drop batter from teaspoon on well-greased cookie sheet, and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 15 minutes.

Start baking early, if you'd enjoy the cookies that are traditional with the Christmas season. Many varieties are long-keeping.

America's new robot telephone exchanges for long-distance use a tape-punching machine that goes into action as soon as the call is dialed. It takes down the number of the caller, the number being called, and how long the conversation lasts. If there is a busy signal or no response, the tape records that fact. Later the tape is fed through other machines to figure the monthly bill.

Toothbrush Puts Run On Tartar

In civilized man, the toothbrush does for the teeth what raw, coarse and detergent foods did for the teeth of primitive man, says the State Dental Society.

It washes away the soil in which the little acid-producing bacteria of the mouth thrive.

It stimulates the gums into a more rapid blood flow, thus removing waste products and enhancing the resistance to infection.

The toothbrush helps promote clean, healthy teeth, dentists emphasize.

They point out there are three conditions that must come together in the mouth before decay is produced. These include bacteria, easily fermentable foods like sugars and starches, and a hideout for the bacteria to work on the food and build up acid of sufficient strength to attack the tooth enamel.

The duty of the toothbrush is to interrupt these conditions by interrupting acid formation so that there is never a sufficient buildup for an attack.

Another function of the toothbrush is to prevent deposits of debris, known as tartar or calculus. For some 24 hours, the deposits remain soft enough to be removed by the brush. But afterward, they become hardened to the extent that a dentist's steel instrument is necessary to scrape them off.

If tartar is left to accumulate, the gum tissue becomes irritated. This can lead to disturbances in the gums and supporting tooth structure.

The toothbrush also helps to keep the teeth clean and the gums in a healthy condition.

Sometimes gums will bleed because of the brushing. Dentists say there is no harm if it continues only a few days. The tissue cells covering the gums become toughened, like a hand doing hard labor.

Health & Beauty

Pale, dull skin can be caused by a number of things, but it always indicates a below-par physical condition. This is a common complaint even among teen-age groups. The best step is to have your doctor give you a complete physical examination.

In addition to a complete physical get plenty of fresh air, outdoor exercise, sleep and rest. Choose your food with care and include items rich in iron. Several good sources of iron are: liver, shellfish, leafy greens, whole grain cereal and dried fruits.

While you are building up your health, there is no law against using a powder base with a rosy glow and artfully applied rouge.

If you bruise easily, it could be you lack the proper amount of vitamin C. You must make sure you eat lots of citrus fruits and leafy green vegetables.

There is a possibility that the cause may be glandular. If so—it is a matter for your doctor to deal with.

It has been established that cold sores are caused by a virus. It is not the same virus which causes colds, but it is very close.

The best treatment seems to be hot compresses applied to the sores. Then dab them gently with camphor. Cover the sores with one percent yellow oxide of mercury.

Recurrent cold sores are now being treated with small pox vaccinations.

"Brule Country"

It isn't unusual for an editor to write. Editors even turn out frequent books. But this editor, this book, and this subject are special. They're "local" to Minnesota. The book is "Brule Country." The subject is the shortest natural waterway between Lake Superior and the upper Mississippi. The publisher is a St. Paul Company. The author is a Minnesota editor and businessman, Albert M. Marshall of the Red Wing Republican-Eagle. The colorful history of the scenic waterway is traced from discovery by Daniel Du Lhut in mid-1600 to present-day resorters, including chapters on Indians along the river and other early explorers. The announcement that "Brule Country" is Mr. Marshall's first book implies that there may be others.

In FASHION now

Color and fabric have definitely emerged as the big fashion news of the fall and winter. The clothes shown at the important fashion shows over the country prove this. Even the European imports are more colorful than they have been in years.

An outstanding clothing house Washington, D. C., recently had a showing of magnificent fashions from Italy, Spain, France and England.

Most of the fashions shown were evening gowns. One French creation by Dior featured the controversial "flat look." The gown was lovely despite this, as it was of red starched chiffon, with a short full skirt.

There was no doubt that color and fabric were the big style note of the twenty-eight fashions shown. Paton's yellow satin gown, with a matching stole was almost breath-taking. Other evening colors included dark chateau, pink gray and sapphire.

This is the year to choose your most becoming color, whatever it may be, and to wear lots of it.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Some people think a compass will point the way back home. It will do no such thing. All a compass will do is tell you in what direction north lies—and of course, east, south and west. But if you use your bean along with your compass, you can keep from getting turned around and bewildered.

No man, not even an Indian, has any sense of direction. So claims Col. Townsend Whelen in an article in Sports Afield magazine. Set any man down in country that is strange to him, on a day when he can't see the stars or sun or previously identified landmarks, and he quickly gets hopelessly lost unless he has a magnetic compass in his pocket.

Your compass need not be an expensive one, but choose one in which the north end of the needle is unmistakably marked. Some have one end of the needle bright and the other black, and when you're mixed up you can't remember which is which.

The best maps for any part of the United States are the standard topographic maps of the U. S. Geological Survey. They are published in quadrangle sheets covering about 15 minutes latitude and longitude and the scale is half an inch or an inch to the mile. Each quadrangle is designated by the name of some city, town or prominent feature in it.

You can get these maps from the Geological Survey, Washington 25, D. C., for areas east of the Mississippi. And for states west of that river, including Louisiana and Minnesota, you can get maps from the Geological Survey, Denver Federal Center, Denver 15, Colorado.

Write first for a free index sheet of the state you're concerned with. This shows the quadrangles, their names and locations. Then you order the maps you need, enclosing 20 cents for each by money order or check payable to the Director of the Geological Survey. Stamps are not accepted.

These maps are extremely accurate, but some were made 50 years ago and may not show recent roads, trails and new small towns. So you'd better get an ordinary auto road map to use with them.

New Face on Old Dresser

JUST about any decrepit, old-style dresser can be modernized—say, for a teen-age girl's room. It'll be mighty smart finished in black and white, black and yellow, or black and Chinese red.

First, trim the joints. Take off the door handles and then remove the old finish or cover it with a clear sealer in which color in oil has been added. Instead of just painting the top black and thereby failing to cover up any scratches or surface gouges, use a piece of Masonite black Tempered Presdwood, 1/4" thick, cut to size and beveled around the front and side edges. Fasten it securely with wallboard cement and weight it heavily with books until it has set firmly.

This extremely smooth black hardboard, dyed during its manufacture, won't show cigarette burns. To give it an attractive gloss, use a black penetrating sealer. This all-wood hardboard is virtually indestructible.

To further modernize the piece, remove the mirror and hang it, or its successor, on the wall. Also remove the legs and build a recessed base of lumber, covered with some of the black Tempered Presdwood. Replace the old-fashioned drawer pulls with square blocks of wood to which some of the black hardboard is fastened with screws. Leave a small overhang to permit a fingerhold.

Virginia Site Of War on Moonshiners

Internal Revenue agents are now conducting a widespread campaign against the financiers of the moonshining industry. It is understood that Virginia is the test area for the current drive.

The idea behind the Internal Revenue offensive is to nab those who usually realize most of the profits from moonshining but who take a few risks in the actual operations. The State of Virginia was chosen because it is one of fourteen Southern states in which Internal Revenue agents estimate ninety percent of Federal alcohol tax violations occur.

If successful, the current drive will be extended throughout the South, and into New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey—where the biggest illegal stills on record have cropped up in recent years. Internal Revenue agents are tackling the job as a "conspiracy" in which financiers are operating quietly, but very profitably, behind the scenes to keep the moonshining industry going.

We applaud the effort—the first major effort of its kind we know of—in view of the obvious fact that the financiers have gotten off too lightly in their moonshining deals in past years. This should be a warning to all those engaged in the moonshining business.

"Maybe money can't make you happy—but it can make you more comfortable when you're not!"

Football Weekend Sometimes Tragic

The brisk autumn and late fall has now arrived and the time of the year for football weekends has also arrived. At the beginning of this football season, it is also time to warn local citizens about the dangers to be encountered on football trips.

Not only does fall bring the first winter weather, but the nights are continually growing longer from now on until December 21st, and, therefore, two factors which work against the automobile driver are entering the picture increasingly as the football season wears on.

Moreover, the gay crowds, and huge crowds, which often travel to football games constitute a menace of their own peculiar variety. Some are too prone to celebrate and this will take a number of lives this year, and others are in too much of a hurry to get to the game for the opening kickoff—having started late.

Still others, who have enjoyed the fruits of victory too much, will lose their lives returning from the game, in darkness, in bad weather, or at the hands of someone else, who may be suffering from any one of the conditions fatal to so many drivers each year.

This is a request for mature behavior by all readers this football season. While there are some perennial college playboys, who never seem to grow up and who take every football game as an occasion to celebrate as if they were eighteen years old, we hope that this example will not be followed by many of our citizens.

Too often it is these high school "Charlies" who are involved in accidents and killings, instead of the students whom one might expect to possess immature judgment. Some of those who read this will not be alive at the end of this football season to check up on their behavior. Each year football trips take their toll. Be sure you are able to reflect upon your behavior at the end of the football season.

UPRIGHT BINDWEED
© 1953 National Wildlife Federation

Even the most lowly things on earth can be upright. This is true of the Upright Bindweed which is frequently and correctly also known as the Low Bindweed. Just as a cougar is a mountain lion, a falcon a duckhawk and a punkie a no-see-um, so is the Upright Bindweed a Low Bindweed. Both of course bear the scientific name Convolvulus Spithameus. They both, since they are the same thing, resemble the common bindweeds, but do not twine around neighboring plants as do most bindweeds. Instead they rest against or lean against neighboring plants. In spite of the name Low Bindweed this plant can grow to a height of 20 inches so here we have a plant that is low but to 20 inches high, is called a bindweed but does not bind and is both low and upright. If that confusion does not make you cuss, just remember that most bindweeds make farmers and gardeners cuss because of the difficulty experienced in keeping them in control.

Some of the worst bindweeds have underground parts which are easily broken into pieces during plowing or cultivation. Instead of leading to destruction this merely leads to multiplication since each fragment may grow into a new plant that disturbs the farmer even more.

In spite of this villainous record the white, funnel-shaped flowers are nearly 2 inches long and have a most innocent appearance. They flower from June through August.

There are some 200 species of bindweeds in the world. This species ranges from Nova Scotia to Florida and west to Manitoba and Kentucky. It is not such a bad weed as its close relatives, the small bindweed C. arvensis or the great bindweed C. sepium. In some agricultural areas these species offer serious competition to valuable farm crops. While all of these bindweeds resemble morning glories superficially, they are not considered to be morning glories by the botanists.

Grasshoppers, bees, butterflies, wasps and beetles are known to assist in the pollination of this species. Some kinds of bindweed are able to effect this process without the assistance of insects at all.

The fleshy underground portions of many bindweeds may be most extensive. Some may reach as much as 15 feet underground making it practically impossible for one to dig them out. Chemical weed killers may be the most effective controls. Some use heavy paper or straw mulches to kill the plants by cutting them off from light.

The National Wildlife Federation, committed to a rational understanding of all forms of wild plants and animals by all, presents this plant for your consideration assuring you that it has historic, economic and aesthetic importance.—E. Laurence Palmer.

When the lens of the human eye is at rest, it is flat and focused on objects 20 feet or more away, the Better Vision Institute points out. For viewing nearby objects, the ciliary muscles make the lens rounder and thicker so that it permits clear seeing at close range. This is called "accommodation."

But, unfortunately, this focusing system doesn't work perfectly throughout life. Accommodation is best at the age of ten, and declines from then on out. Around the age of 45 most people have blurred vision at the normal reading distance, although they may still see clearly at the far point. Eyeglasses are needed then, even by many who have always had excellent vision.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—The National Industrial Conference Board had a special meeting that marked a triumph for this business research organization. It was the Third Annual Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy.

Two years ago the first conference of this series met and proposed that atomic energy be freed from the shackles of the McMahon Act. That law was passed when nuclear fission was thought of almost entirely in terms of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. It assumed that the secret of the atom bomb was safely ours, and made atomic energy a tight government monopoly.

Industrial leaders, research executives, and persons formerly high in the Atomic Energy Commission pleaded for the new impetus private industry could give to further advances in atomic science and use. All of them, however, doubted that Congress could be persuaded to ignore the so-called liberals who would assail any change in the McMahon Act as "giving away" the $12 billion which had been spent on atomic energy.

As this year's conference met, most of the barriers to private atomic development have been swept away. Where Walker Cislter, president of Detroit Edison, was pointing out two years ago that atom steam installations would cost three times as much as coal per kilowatt of capacity, Admiral Lewis Strauss, A. E. C. chairman, today looks forward to atom-generated electricity so cheap that it won't be worth metering.

WORK LIGHTENER—When a new floor polisher and scrubber was test-marketed in two Eastern areas recently, half the purchasers were men. They wanted the device as gifts to lighten the floor maintenance labors of their wives—work which consumes 102 hours a year in the average home.

The emancipating device is a new electric machine for the home which is equipped to care for all types of floors. It is marketed by a leading wax company, which has been selling floor polishers for 30 of its 68 years in the wax business.

The appliance has a single flat circular brush similar to that of the big industrial machine used for floor maintenance, yet is so light and manageable it can be guided by the fingertips. Both polishing and scrubbing can be done ten times as fast as by hand, with a fraction of the effort. A simple spring mechanism permits changing of the polishing and scrubbing brushes in a matter of seconds.

The scrubbing brush is designed to prevent splashing on walls or baseboards. A fluffy chenille pad which clings to the rotary polishing brush gives an extra high luster to the waxed floor. The machine is now available in the Northeast for $69.50. It will be sold nationally around the first of the year.

THINGS TO COME—"Stroll-O-Chair" is a new piece of baby furniture designed to grow with the small user by various adjustments. . . . An indoor clothes dryer with 40 linear feet of clothesline space folds up to tuck into an apartment closet. . . . The fortunate child who gets a Florida winter vacation can take along a doll capable of developing a sun tan.

FLEXIBLE COOKING—Trends in home equipment come and go. One that's passing right now is the tendency of householders to fill valuable kitchen storage space with griddles, deep-fat fryers, rotisseries, broilers and other auxiliary cooking devices.

Thanks to modernization of the gas range, it is now possible to handle practically any cooking operation on the facilities built right into the range. Moreover, manufacturers in growing numbers produce recessed oven, broiler and top-burner units—the sectional ranges which are not only highly functional but also allow greater flexibility in kitchen design. For limited kitchen space there's a new 30-inch gas range with the over-size oven, which performs so many functions there is no need for bulky special equipment.

Success of the all-purpose fully automatic gas range in new, as well as remodeled kitchens is indicated, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, by the fact that it constitutes a great majority of the nearly 1,300,000 gas ranges sold in the United States during the first eight months of 1954.

Low... and behold!

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

Chevrolet and General Motors took a whole new look at the low-cost car—and just look what happened!

NOW BEING SHOWN!

The Bel Air Sport Coupe—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series.

The valve-in-head V-8
 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!

8

Now Chevrolet, the leading builder of valve-in-head engines, introduces the "Turbo-Fire V8." It carries the V8 design to a new high in efficiency with its high horsepower (162), high-compression (8 to 1), high performance and surprisingly high gas mileage. Available with standard transmission, or with the extra-cost options of Overdrive or Powerglide.

6

You can choose from two new sixes, too!

Chevrolet also offers the last word in six-cylinder performance and economy! There's a new "Blue-Flame 136" teamed with Powerglide and a new "Blue-Flame 123" with either standard transmission or Overdrive.

Can't you tell just by looking that Chevrolet and General Motors have come up with a completely new idea about the low-priced car?
 The idea is this: to build a car that offers the very newest thing in styling, the most modern features, the finest kind of performance and the highest quality of manufacture—all at a modest price. It's something that took a lot of doing and that only the world's leading car builders could do. Everything's new in this Motoramic Chevrolet from its lower top right down to its tubeless tires. Come in for the most fascinating visit you ever made to an automobile showroom!
