Matthew Urban at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Nov. 20, in St. Michael's church, St. Michaels.

A Queen Anne collar detailed the sequin embroidered lace bodice of the bride's gown. The long sleeved bodice was gathered to a full skirt of tiers of tulle and net over satin trimmed with sequin and lace applique. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a crown. Stephanotis and pom poms in a shower arrangement were centered about an orchid to form her bouquet.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Adeline Hergiges, who wore a peacock blue dress with a full skirt of ruffles of net over taffeta. The gown was worn with a velvet jacket and her crown headpiece was also made of net and velvet. She carried white carnations and rose colored pom poms. Mrs. Bill Koenings, Miss Audrey Uelmen and Miss Carol Lang, the bridesmaids, wore American Beauty gowns like that of the maid of honor. They carried white carnations and blue pom poms. Cedarburg Cagers Open Lakes, Rivers Play Here Sunday

With but little practice under their belts, the Kewaskum Land of Lakes and Rivers basketball teams will open the league seasons this Sunday night, Dec. 5, on the home floor. The Cedarburg teams will come here to supply the opening opposition. The first game will start at 7:15 p. m.

Other first contests Sunday will find West Bend at Rosendale and Campbellsport at Mayville in the afternoon. Horicon is idle. Rivers tilts besides Cedarburg's game here include Hustisford at Hartford and Fillmore at Slinger in the afternoon and Horicon at Thiensville in an evening game.

Little is known about the strength of the Cedarburg Lakes team but the information has come out that they will be bolstered by some of Grafton's players of last year. Grafton did not enter the league this season. Port Washington and its star, Doug Ritchie, also dropped out. An eighth team is still being sought for the Lakes northern division.

West Bend's defending champions have lost some players but the team should be strong. Campbellsport is composed of most of last year's Tri-County championship squad and with the addition of others should be strong with a young team. Mayville boasts Art Finkle, one of the top scorers in the Little Ten conference two years ago. Horicon is also expected to be a contender.

And that brings us to Kewaskum's outlook. The Chevcolets should rank with the strongest if all expected players turn out. It is hoped to have Johnny Tassar back this year. Always one of the top scorers and stars of the loop, he would greatly bolster the lineup. With Ritchie of Port and Giombetti of West Bend missing this season, Tassar should be one of the top men. Other fine players who will definitely play include veteran Augie Bilgo, another all-around ace, Frank Krueger and Eddon Ramthun, back from last year, big George Hanrahan, big Don Meisenheimer, big LeRoy Keller and little Bobby Dreher, up from last year's Rivers team. The other member of the squad is John Kougil, a newcomer out of the service.

The Rivers lineup will include Danny Rodenkirch, Syl Hawig, "Fuzzy" and "Patty" Dreher, Dick Schultz, Frank Kougil, Don Del and Merin Seefeldt. The team may be strengthened later by one or two Lakes players. Others may also be added.

Myron "Cisco" Backhaus will be the new manager of the Lakes team this year. This will be his first attempt at becoming another Durocher with his players. "Cisco" had been a faithful fan and follower of Kewaskum teams for a number of years. Only this season he can't say what 'should have been done.' He'll be in the driver's seat, Leroy Bier will serve as manager of the Rivers aggregation.

Two men suffered serious injuries Tuesday night when their auto and a Central Wisconsin transport truck collided on the north end of the new section of Hwy. 41 west of Wayne. According to authorities the mishap happened when the truck, which was northbound, skidded down the highway and collided with a car driven by Jack Millsap, 45, of Harvey, Ill.

Hurt in the accident were Millsap, who suffered cuts and a skull fracture and brain injury, and Robert Millsap, 14, his nephew, who sustained a fractured arm and internal injuries and multiple rib fractures. They were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, in the Kewaskum ambulance. The older Millsap was still unconscious Wednesday.

The truck driver, Donald H. Garatz, 35 of Wisconsin Rapids, was not injured. The collision occurred southeast of the Dodge county line at the Mike Darmody farm in Washington county.

Village Board Postpones Reappraisal of Property

Adjourned Meeting
November 15, 1954

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin met in adjourned session with President C. Miller and all board members present except Trustee Carl Schaefer.

In the absence of the Commissioner, Trustee Reigle was appointed acting secretary.

It was moved by James D. Reigle, seconded by Charles Sparks, that we accept the bid of the Doane Appraisal Co. for reassessing all taxable Real and Personal Property within the village at a cost of $3,550.00; said job to be completed in time for the Board of Review meeting in July, 1955. On roll call, there being three "aye" and three "no," the vote was tied and the motion was declared dead.

After some discussion John Stellpflug made the following motion which was seconded by Marvin Schaefer. "That we postpone the reappraisal until the new plat map of the village is completed about next June by the McMahon Engineering Co. and that at that time we will obtain new bids from the various appraisal firms to complete this project. Motion carried.

The Village Commissioner is to notify all firms who bid on the reappraisal job of this decision and inform them that we will be ready for new bids in June, 1955.

Since there have been numerous complaints from different citizens, it was decided that the Commissioner should write to the principal of the Public School and the head of the Catholic School asking that they try to impress upon the students the importance of keeping their lunch wrappings, etc. in waste containers and not strewn on village streets. In addition, the Commissioner is instructed to insert in the local paper an article asking the co-operation of parents and children in this matter.

Upon motion made, seconded and carried, the Board adjourned until 7:30 p. m. November 22, 1954.

Indians Defeated by Oostburg, Cedar Grove

The Kewaskum High school team played two non-conference games the past week and was defeated in both of them. Both tilts were played on the home floor against strong teams.

Last week the Indians lost to a classy Oostburg squad which came from behind in the third quarter to post a 36-48 victory. On Tuesday night of this week Kewaskum was nosed out by Cedar Grove, 51-60.

In the Oostburg contest, Bob Hill, sophomore center was the outstanding performer for the visitors, making good use of his jump shot. He dropped in 10 field goals and seven free throws for a total of 27 points.

Mark Rosenheimer and Don Bracke paced the Indians with 10 points each. Tom Tassar collected eight points, Tom Peterson made seven and Barney Skrentny six. After a good start, Rosenheimer was held scoreless in the second half.

Oostburg was behind, 32-29, at halftime. They went ahead midway in the third quarter and possessed a 41-38 advantage at the end of the period.

In their second defeat, administered by Cedar Grove Tuesday, Hulbregtse, Grove forward, went on a scoring spree, netting a grand total of 37 points, one of the best individual performances in high school play in a long time. Harry Klein paced the indian attack with 17 markers.

More Reports in from Deer Hunters

Washington county's first season on deer in almost 50 years which closed last Friday proved successful. Game Warden Bob Lake reported that eight deer were taken legally during the seven day "shot-gun slug or ball" season in the county. Many others were shot in neighboring counties.

One hunter, who with a party of eight, failed to get a buck in the north woods, returned home to kill a fine buck in his "own back yard" on the final day of the season. He is Alfred Lenz of R. 2, Campbellsport. Earlier in the week Lenz and his group of eight hunted up north and only one in the party, Merle Enright of Kewaskum got a deer on the trip—a fourpoint buck. Returning home Wednesday night, Lenz decided to try his luck around home. Friday morning he bagged a fine 12 point buck in the Mather lake area. Others in the party of 4 hunters, 4 dancers and 1 dishwasher, included Ed Leitheiser, Art Kleffer, Don Gilford and Harry, Joe and Clarence Lenz.

Lloyd Etta of R. 1, Kewaskum, with a party of seven other hunters from the Wallace lake area, returned home with six deer and a wolf from their hunting trip on Stockton island in the Apostle island group off of Bayfield, Wis. Besides Etta the group included Donald Yochem, Melroy Juech, Orville Tackes, Stewart Rochwite, Allen and Willard Tackes and Lloyd Schultz. Etta bagged the wolf in addition to his deer. He collected a $20 bounty on the wolf. The group shot five does and one buck. The season was open on all deer on the Apostle islands. Yochem and Schultz were the unsuccessful hunters.

It is reported that Wallace Gaidel and son John also hunted in the Apostle island group with a party. They reported that the islands are a dense wilderness and many hunters became lost, also that the deer are underfed there and of a small size.

Ray de Temple of Kewaskum and nephew from Fond du Lac hunted in Marinette county and returned with a 5-point buck.

Among other hunters who reported coming home with a deer are Rudolph Schultz, R. 3, Kewaskum, who bagged his in Forest county and Roger Groeschel, R. 1, Kewaskum, who downed a buck in Oconto county.

Another buck was also shot in the vicinity of Dundee before the close of the season.

More Facts About The Common Cold

About fifteen million people in the United States are having their first early winter colds, according to a bulletin issued recently, and a good many of them seem to be in Minnesota.

Because colds are a universal plague and those who don't have them now are almost certain to have one or two, or even more, before the year is over, the doctors today line up the meager facts, known for sure about common colds, as follows:

1. Colds are caused by a virus which is an infective agent so small that ordinary microscopes and microbe traps never catch it at all. Lately the powerful electron microscopes appear to have revealed some round particles that scientists believe may be viruses.

2. Viruses are harder to kill than ordinary disease germs. Sulfa and most antibiotics are powerless against them so shots and pills are mostly useless, except for a few severe infections. At the same time, virus pneumonias seem to yield to one or two of the antibiotics, such as aureomycin. Other drugs have little or no effect.

3. Colds, like most other virus infections, are spread through direct contact aided by open-face coughing, sneezing and conversational spray. Investigators believe, also, that most virus infections can be airborne.

4. The cheapest and best treatment for common colds is still rest at home for a day or two, plus a little aspirin for relief, and old-fashioned steam inhalations to ease breathing, soothe an irritated throat and control coughing.

5. For the cold victim to remain in circulation, especially during the early stages of a fresh cold, could be called an aggravated form of treachery to friends and associates. Belated retreat after the infection is full-blown is usually too little and too late, the doctors say.

DRILL HOLE IN BOTTLE FOR LAMP

Many attractive household furnishings may be made of articles that are normally thrown away. A bottle of unusual shape or color can be made into an attractive lamp. Drill a hole through the side and wire it for electricity with lamp cord and a socket.

Lay the bottle on its side, on a cushion of foam rubber, or on your knees if you prefer. Do not lay the bottle on a solid surface. If it is not cushioned from the shock of the punch, it is apt to break.

Get a center punch which has been hardened, and which has a sharp point.

Hold the center punch as illustrated. Note that the punch is held above the surface of the bottle about 1/8 of an inch.

Your hand acts as a spring. When you strike the punch a sharp blow with a hammer, the point of the punch chips out a tiny piece of glass. Then your hand raises the punch ready for the next blow with the hammer. Patient chipping away in a small area will soon wear a hole through the bottle.

At the point when the hole is through, and you are enlarging the hole for the lamp cord, is perhaps the most dangerous time as far as breaking the bottle is concerned. Tap the punch very lightly.

The inside of the hole may be smoothed with a rat-tail file to prevent cutting the lamp cord.

When buying the socket, be sure to get one that screws on a piece of metal pipe. You will need a piece of the pipe about one inch long to fasten the socket to the top of the bottle. It may be necessary to use a cork or a piece of wood with a hole in it to fit the pipe.

Instead of drilling a hole in the bottle, which you may prize very highly, it might be a good idea to try your luck on some old bottle. People sometimes do break them.

Have You Immunized Your Pre-School Tot?

Is your child protected against diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and other preventable communicable diseases? If not, this should be done because our chief defense against these diseases is still the protection gained through immunization and vaccination.

Since young children haven't had time to develop an immunity against these diseases they need the protection afforded by immunization. Too many parents put off immunization of their children until they are ready for school, yet these communicable diseases once caused most complications and deaths in the pre-school age group.

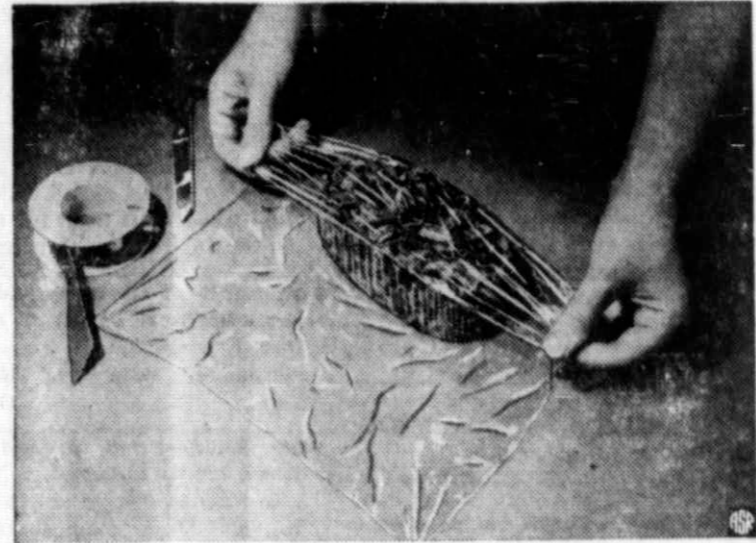

Your doctor will want immunizations started by the time your baby is three months old. He may want to use a triple vaccine to protect your baby against three diseases: whooping cough, tetanus, and diphtheria. This triple vaccine is given once a month for three months and will prevent most cases of these diseases or make them much milder. Smallpox vaccination should then be completed at six months of age.

If your baby was immunized before six months of age, a booster may be recommended when he is 18 months old and every three years thereafter. Before five years of age he should also be re-vaccinated against smallpox. If your child was immunized later than six months, or has not been immunized at all, your family doctor may recommend a slightly revised schedule.

These childhood diseases are not the "killers" they once were, but if we are to continue to keep them in check we must give each of our children the continuous protection which immunization helps to afford.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Merry Christmas

Too early? Not at all; now is exactly the time to be baking the individual fruit cakes you love to make for those special holiday gifts. Wise homemakers know fruit cake improves with age and always allow at least a month for the cakes to "ripen." However, keeping cakes as fresh and moist as when they came from the oven can be troublesome. Now you can solve this problem by using a new saran plastic food wrap. This sparkling clear moisture-proof film provides perfect protection; cakes can be wrapped for storage in a jiffy because the film clings to itself, needs no rubber bands or string. If cake must be handled considerably, a transparent tape will insure a neat package.

When minutes are precious during the holiday rush, simply bring out the cakes, add a gay satin ribbon, and your glamorous gift is ready. See how easy? Just use your own favorite recipe or try this one which makes five one-pound cakes or, if you prefer, one large ring mold:

- Christmas Fruit Cake
- 6 ounces butter (1 1/2 sticks)
 - 1 cup light brown sugar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 3 large eggs (3/4 cup)
 - 2 1/2 cups cake flour
 - 1 tsp. baking powder
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1 tsp. cinnamon
 - 1 tsp. mace
 - 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
 - 1/2 tsp. allspice
 - 1 lb. raisins
 - 1 lb. candied pineapple, cubed
 - 1 lb. candied cherries, whole
 - 6 ounces pecan halves

Cream together the butter, sugar and vanilla. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating after each. Sift together the dry ingredients. Sift about half over the fruit in a large bowl and stir to coat well. Add remainder to creamed mixture. Combine the two, stirring to blend evenly. Bake in moderate oven (300° F.) two hours for small cakes or 3 hours for large. Cool; decorate with Christmas motif; wrap in saran, leaving top clear to show decoration; and store in freezer or cool place until time for giving. For best flavor allow at least one month for "ripening."

You'll find these little fruit cakes in their glamorous holiday costumes perfect for all those extra remembrances on your gift list.

The sweet potato, one of the most typically southern foods, offers a wide variety in the menu. It is not only indispensable as a vegetable but can be made into many delicious desserts.

- Sweet Potato Biscuit
- 2 cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes
 - 2 1/2 cups flour
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 4 tablespoons shortening
 - 1/2 cup buttermilk
 - 1/4 teaspoon soda
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- Add the shortening to the hot mashed potatoes. Mix well. Add buttermilk and mix until smooth. Sift and measure flour, add sugar, spices and soda. Sift again. Add to sweet potato mixture. Make into a soft dough. Roll and cut into biscuits. Bake in an oven 400 degrees for about 25 minutes.

- Glazed Sweet Potatoes
- 4 large sweet potatoes
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - Salt
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/4 cup hot water
- Boil potatoes until partially done. Peel and cut in quarters lengthwise. Place in a buttered baking dish. Make a syrup of the sugar, butter, water and salt. Pour over the potatoes. Bake in an oven 350 degrees until potatoes are brown, basting frequently with the syrup. If desired, when ready to serve sprinkle with chopped pecans.

- Sweet Potatoes with Pork Roast
- Place raw, peeled sweet potatoes around pork roast in the roasting pan, during last hour of cooking roast. Baste them once in awhile with the meat drippings.

- Sweet Potato Souffle
- 2 cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes
 - 1 cup hot milk
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/2 cup raisins
 - 1/2 cup chopped pecans
 - Marshmallows
- Add sugar, salt and butter to the hot milk, stirring until melted. Add to the mashed sweet potatoes. Beat until light and fluffy. Beat egg yolks and add to mixture. Add nutmeg, raisins, and nuts. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold into potato mixture. Pour into a buttered baking dish. Arrange the marshmallows on top. Bake in an oven 350 degrees until the souffle is set and the marshmallows toasted a delicate brown. Serve at once.

- Sweet Potato Pie
- 2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 3 tablespoons melted butter

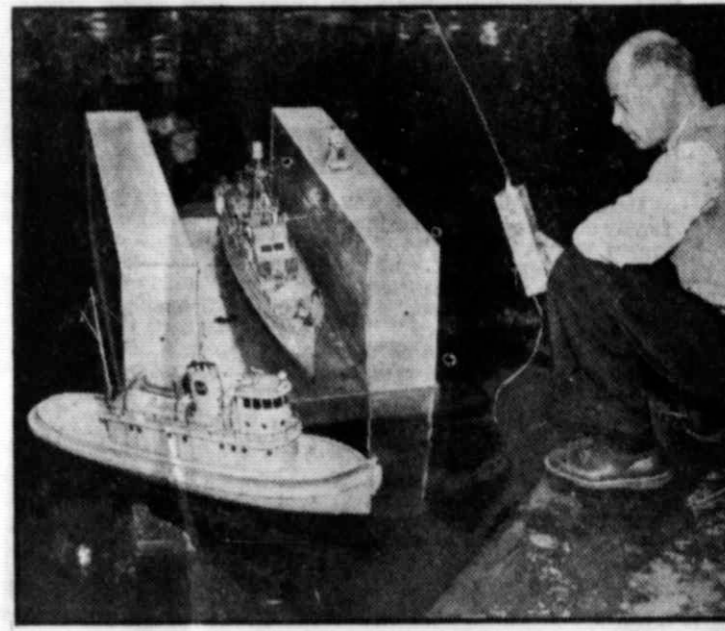

- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - Salt
 - Pastry
- Line pie plate with pastry. To the hot cooked mashed potatoes add butter, sugar, milk, salt, well beaten eggs, and lemon juice. Mix well. Pour into unbaked crust. Bake in an oven 425 degrees until brown, about 30 minutes.

- Candied Sweet Potatoes
- 6 medium sweet potatoes
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup water
 - 1/3 cup melted butter
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1 orange
 - 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- Cook potatoes until tender. Drain, peel and cut in halves lengthwise and arrange in a shallow greased pan. Sprinkle the juice from 1/2 orange over the potatoes. Sprinkle with chopped pecans. Cut the other 1/2 of the orange into thin slices and arrange around the potatoes. Make a syrup of the brown sugar and water by cooking 5 minutes. Add melted butter and pour over the potatoes. Sprinkle with salt. Bake in an oven 300 degrees until potatoes are transparent. Baste frequently.

- Golden Sticks
- Peel and cut the sweet potatoes in sticks 1/2 inch thick. Drop sticks into hot smoking fat a half-inch in depth. When brown, lower the heat and cook until done. Testing with a fork.

Holiday Fruit Cake Dessert

Here is a delicious new way to serve popular fruit cake slices on family and guest occasions during the holiday months—fruit cake slices, topped with a layer of your favorite candied fruit, and sauced with a velvety combination of sour cream and cream cheese.

Start with fruit cake slices of cook book quality from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Cover each with chunks of candied citron, orange, pineapple or cherry; also from your food store, and then add the sour cream—cream cheese sauce to your liking. You'll enjoy the rich flavor and appetizing texture of this new, attractive and easy dessert, and choose it often during the fruit cake season.

Sour Cream—Cream Cheese Sauce
1 three ounce package cream cheese 1 cup sour cream

THE GALL BLADDER, AN IMPORTANT ORGAN

The gall bladder is a small, but highly important organ. Bile is manufactured continuously by the liver and emptied into the gall bladder which acts as a reservoir. Here water and certain valuable materials found in the bile are absorbed by the blood to be used again by the body, and the bile becomes highly concentrated. During digestion the bile is forced into the intestine and aids in the digestion of fats, also it has a bactericidal action and lubricates the intestine.

The gall bladder has a chemical and nervous control both under the central nervous system. Pressure on the nerve by certain vertebrae can cause it to function abnormally, cause the formation of gall stones, or predispose it to infection. Adjustments by a Chiropractor will restore normal function and under ordinary circumstances will expell the debris into the intestine.

By BETTY ANN
Editor The Milwaukee Journal Women's Page

Cotton steps out in new guises for fall and winter this year, says Betty Ann, for fabric designers have dreamed up a variety of versatile textures, weaves, prints and colors, all with great style significance.

Leading American designers reveal a gifted hand for fashioning new and exciting clothes in cotton. Coats, suits, dresses and separates are all the smarter for their new and impressive use of cotton. Sportswear designers have taken corduroy and printed and plain velveteens and used them for groups of separates. Down to earth army cloth in olive drab is mixed with turquoise cotton faille; gray army cloth is combined with pink faille in shirts, camisoles, jackets and skirts that mix and match to a fashionable heart's content.

For the career girl, whether her career is college or office, there are quilted cottons. Quilted cotton flannel skirts in checks and bright plaids and quilted broadcloth skirts are featured, to be worn with matching or contrasting blouses. Quilted jumpers are gay and bright in plaid gingham, and they lead a double life. They do daytime service when teamed up with a blouse, daytime service minus the blouse.

A touch of quilting even shows up as the dicker of a tailored shirt. Cotton's gayest, brightest mood is revealed in the colors of vivid flannels and ginghams. These are colors that are smart complements to winter's cold mood for they add a bit of warmth all their own to the fashion scene.

Designers have evidently been intrigued by the stay at home propensities of today's fashionable for they have styled glamorous outfits for lounging, TV viewing or plain studying on the part of the college girl. A sensational costume for these activities is good in plain colored and shadow striped velveteen with a choice of orange and green hitting a clashing modern note.

A luxurious at home costume might be of lustrous white broadcloth blouse with enormously full ruffled sleeves worn with tapered black velveteen pants.

The ensemble is top news for wear now and into the months to come. And they're made in cotton, too.

When wrinkle resistant, cotton suiting is the perfect traveler. The dress for college or business careers is a cotton tweed with a homespun look and unusual texture interest. This is the type of winter weight cotton, introduced several seasons back, that is gaining increasing acceptance with women who approve the winter warmth in comfortable cotton.

Cotton velveteens and corduroys in the talented hands of today's designers gain new importance in the daytime field. Designers select black velveteen for evening separates, then embroider it all over with gold colored embroidery in herringbone pattern. It's the Midas touch for sure.

Other designers select wide wale corduroy, printed, for date frocks.

Roast Wild Duck

Singe, clean, draw. Stuff with apple and celery and freeze for several days. Discard stuffing. Rub well with salt and pepper. Brush with butter. Place in 375 degree oven for 50 minutes. Baste frequently with melted butter to which one cup red wine has been added.

Gravy

Three tablespoons bacon drippings; 2 tablespoons flour; 2 cups potato water; salt and pepper; chopped heart, liver and gizzard.

Heat bacon drippings. Stir in flour. Gradually add two cups of boiling water, water in which potatoes were boiled. Season with salt and pepper. Chop heart, liver and gizzard and add to gravy. Simmer 30 minutes. Add the roast drippings. The gravy is ideal to saturated wild rice.

Named for the hunter and the rest of the nimrods who come home with a limit of game, hunter's sauce is wonderfully good with venison and wild duck. It's just as delicious with baked ham or ham loaf, so don't disregard the recipe just because wild game won't be on your menus this fall. Only five ingredients, currant jelly, port wine, catsup, worcestershire sauce and butter, blend in this piquant sauce with its rich flavor.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Getting ready for Christmas is half the fun. Be sure to picture the preparations so your holiday snapshots will tell a complete story.

Make a Christmas Album

In many households, taking pictures for a special family Christmas album has become a tradition, taking its place alongside such time-honored customs as hanging up stockings and kisses under the mistletoe.

Christmas is a gay and sentimental time of the year. . . and the idea of a family picture book devoted to the season seems to fit right in with the Yuletide spirit. You may think we're jumping the gun a little bit, to be talking about Christmas pictures today, but we want to be sure you don't wait until Christmas day—or even Christmas week—to start taking your pictures. If you do, you'll miss many of the things that make the holiday season something to which we look forward, and something to remember.

After all, Christmas isn't just a day, is it? I think most of you will agree with me that it's a series of sparkling days, each one brimming full of exciting plans, intriguing secrets, and top-notch picture opportunities.

These opportunities are as bright and numerous as the lights and ornaments on the Christmas tree which will be a focal point for many of the snapshots. All through the house, people, if not mice, are stirring. . . work becomes play. . . and a gay mood prevails, putting your favorite people in the very best frame of mind for being photographed.

As soon as the first Santas appear and the carollers are practicing "Silent Night" is the time to start the picture record. To make this record just as interesting as possible, it is a good idea to jot down some of the things you want to include in advance. This will do away with the forgetting that affects all of us from time to time.

Of course, you'll do much of the shooting on the spur-of-the-moment. So, be sure to have plenty of film and flash bulbs in the house throughout the holiday season. I don't believe there is anything much more disappointing than to see a picture you want and find that the camera supply shelf is just as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Intelligence Agencies Under Investigation

The Central Intelligence Agency, which is the secret spy system of the United States Government, among other things, is now under intense investigation by at least two groups. This is not surprising when one considers that the United States for many years did not maintain such an organization, despite the fact that nearly every other government in the world did so, and that the C. I. A. is, in a sense, almost an experiment.

However, shortly after World War II began, provision was made by Congress for the United States to maintain an elaborate secret organization, known as the Central Intelligence Agency. Congress has expressed some concern over the effectiveness of this organization recently, and General Mark W. Clark, U. S. A. (retired), has been instructed to conduct an extensive investigation of all intelligence agencies of the United States Government, including the C. I. A.

Only recently it was revealed that Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, U. S. A. F. (retired), had also been instructed by the executive branch to conduct his investigation of the C. I. A. Both groups are now in the process of conducting their investigations.

Far from being disillusioned at the necessity of these investigations, the average citizen should be pleased that such distinguished men are attempting to improve the efficiency of this organization. In the atomic age, when secrets and the latest scientific devices and knowledge play such a large role in determining the fate of the United States it is absolutely essential that the United States have the most effective secret intelligence organization in the world.

About Your Home

There are many beautiful paintings—originals—by good young artists that sell for one hundred to three hundred dollars. To be beautiful, attractive, in good taste for your home a painting need not cost a fabulous amount. Reproductions are fine things to have, also. They will add a colorful decorative note to any room.

Do not shy away from a reproduction of a good painting any more than you would shy away from owning a reproduction of a fine antique.

It is never wise to choose a picture for a particular spot in your home without trying it there first. Even the swankiest galleries will gladly send several pictures to a prospective buyer's home and let him try them for effect. This same courtesy rule applies to reliable art stores, department stores and furniture stores.

Many artists will bring their pictures to your home and help you choose the one which looks the best. There are many galleries and artists who will let you pay as little as ten dollars a month toward the cost of a picture.

It is a funny thing that people will buy a fur coat and not feel they must have only a silver mink or buy a diamond and take less than the Koh-i-noor, but feel that, since they can't afford an old masterpiece, they will settle for a cheap print with about as much charm as a faded windowshade. Don't fall into this trap.

You can have a beautiful picture for your home at a reasonable price. Choose what you can afford—by all means. This may be a good copy or an original. If you choose it with care, making sure it is just right for you and your home, it can give you endless pleasure.

Protect Car For Winter Driving

Ice snow and freezing temperatures should hold no terrors for you when you drive this winter—thanks to the superior engineering of modern automobiles. But you yourself can help beat the cold weather by a little commonsense attention to maintenance, equipment and driving technique, says Joe H. Wherry in Bluebook Magazine. He takes you through a quick run-down of points to check in preparing for winter driving:

"The first step is to get your car in the best possible condition: Cooling system—It's wise to flush the radiator and block, then add combined water-pump lubricant and rust inhibitor plus antifreeze." A coolant with a permanent "glycol" base is most satisfactory in cold weather at varying altitudes.

"Battery—Have your ignition system thoroughly checked. If the battery has trouble holding a full charge, you'd better replace it. Otherwise, it will freeze in extreme temperatures. Ignition—If your car must sit out in the weather at night, make certain the ignition is moisture-proofed. Ignition proofing liquid is brushed on all wiring after you've cleaned it."

"Chassis—Undercoating is worth its weight in metal—it prevents rust and corrosion—especially on salted icy roads. Carburetor—If the mixture was 'leaned out' for warm weather, be sure to have it readjusted for winter; the same goes for the accelerator pump."

"Fuel filter—If you suspect water in the gas tank, drain it and empty fuel filter bowl. A frozen fuel bowl will prevent passage of fuel through the lines. Oil—Change to lighter oil of the grade

New Weather Forecaster

Trans-World Airlines announced recently that its Meteorology department had worked out a new method of predicting weather conditions. A TWA official said the new method allowed the airline to predict weather conditions five to seven days in advance.

E. D. Farthing, assistant manager of meteorology for TWA, recently presented a paper to the Kansas City Seminar of the American Meteorological Society on the new weather forecasting system. He said it had been found that rays emitted by the sun's corona gave many clues as to the weather, and weather in immediate days to come. The system is supposed to have been developed after several years of study and involves the color of rays from the sun's corona.

It has been found that when intense green emissions are visible from the sun's corona, heavy rains often occur. On the other hand, when red emissions are visible, dry weather is more likely, and when there is a lack of color, the weather is usually normal for the time of year.

TWA officials report that, by using the new system, they have been able to gain valuable information for flight scheduling and cite examples of their various runs to prove the significance of this aid. The evidence appears most conclusive, and it seems that a new and significant development in the ageless art of weather forecasting has been uncovered.

Costly

Mrs. Bragg—I've just come back from the beauty parlor.

Mrs. Ghastly—Too bad you couldn't get waited on.

specified by your car's maker. Exhaust—Check the exhaust system. A leaky one can cause death by carbon monoxide poisoning.

"Windshield wipers—Vacuum-operated windshield-wiper motors depend on a rubber-hose connection to the bottom of the fuel pump or to the intake manifold. Replacing it, if it is old, and cracked, takes only a few minutes, costs only two-bits or so, and can save you much grief. If your car is fitted with a windshield washer, add anti-freeze. Alcohol's O.K. here. Weather stripping—You can make the car doors completely airtight for two or three dollars with a stripping of foam rubber cemented in place with rubber cement.

"Tires—According to the National Safety Council there are three types of winter tires.

Mud and Snow Tires, thick treads with heavy ribs, knobs or studs.

Winterized Tires, conventional design with small particles of sawdust or cork imbedded in the tread, or with thousands of tiny holes made by a tack machine.

Winterized Mud and Snow Tires, most effective of special winter tires. They are mud and snow tires that have been additionally fortified by perforating on a tack machine.

Soft-Hearted Toward Animals? So Are A Few Million Others

Americans, soft-hearted toward most animals, are treating their pets better today than ever before.

Affection centers on hamsters, skunks, monkeys, parakeets, tropical fish, guinea pigs, rabbits, screech owls, even lions, snakes, flying squirrels and in cases on a wolf and an ant-eater.

But no animals satisfy the American craving for household companionship like dogs and cats, be they purebred or common breed, says the National Geographic Society.

More Cats Than Dogs
Curiously, almost half the dogs but only 26 percent of the cats inhabit cities.

The growing food business indicates how abundant is the canine and feline life today. More than twenty companies turn out canned meat and dried meal, biscuits and pellets. Frozen pet food is now on the market. Last year sales of dog food alone mounted to $200,000,000, double 1947.

Americans lavish love and money not only on the faithful dog and the comfort-seeking cat but on many other creatures.

Not long ago the country was swept by a craze for hamsters, the small, Syrian rodents that reproduce the rabbit. For some time scientists had used them for experiments. Then the public discovered how soft was their golden brown fur, how soulful their eyes.

A Lion and A Lamb
For years canaries were the darlings of the caged bird world. But recently Americans learned parakeets could be taught to jabber a few words. Parakeets became the fashion.

African lions have enjoyed little mass appeal except behind zoo bars. But an Illinois couple keeps a 325-pound, 4-year-old male lion in their home.

In Garden City, N. Y., 5-year-old twins own Snow White, a lamb. They wanted to take it to kindergarten. But the bus driver refused to haul dogs, cats, canaries, ducks—and lambs. So the twins' mother drove the pet to school. And sure enough, "it made the children laugh and play to see a lamb at school." Snow White even became popular with the teacher.

Not so enduring was the popu-

Christmas Cookie Bin

HERE'S a Christmas cookie bin which keeps the various kinds on separate sliding trays, quickly accessible and unbroken from mass piling. Make it a foot wide, 13 inches deep and 14 to 16 inches high, depending on available space.

Sides should be dressed lumber, white pine or poplar. Slides for the trays may be cut with a dado saw, spacing the $\frac{1}{4}$ " slots about 2 1/2" apart. To form the rest of the cookie bin, nail or screw Masonite $\frac{1}{4}$ " Tempered Presdwood to the top, bottom and back. The slides are made of the same smooth, long-wearing material, which does not retain odors and is easily kept clean.

At the front of each slide attach a piece of half-inch wood, on edge, with screws. Have each "lip" extend to the extreme on either side and fit snugly against the bottom of the slide immediately above. This provides a practically air-tight cover for each slide. Attach a pull to each. Attach a similar piece of wood to the opposite end of each slide to prevent cookies from spilling out.

To assure a first-rate joint where the top and back meet, place a length of wood one inch square inside and fasten the Tempered Presdwood to it.

How About Home-made Rolls and Butter?

Piping hot home-made rolls and plenty of butter—is there anything better? And how this combination dresses up and extends any meal.

These days it's really no trick at all to have this good yeast bread, even if you've never tried your hand at "raised rolls." The hot roll mixes are never-fail and so easy-to-do. But you'll have no trouble at all if you "start from scratch." For recipes are so carefully worked out with standardized measurements and ingredients that the making goes along like clockwork.

GRANDMOTHER'S DINNER ROLLS
3 dozen rolls
425° oven, 12-15 min.
2 cups scalded milk
1 stick (1/2 cup) butter
2 tablespoons sugar

2 teaspoons salt
1 cake compressed yeast dissolved in
1/4 cup lukewarm water
5 1/2 cups sifted enriched all-purpose flour

1. Add butter, sugar and salt to scalded milk. When lukewarm, add dissolved yeast cake and 3 cups of flour.
2. Beat well, cover. Let rise in a warm place till light and bubbly, about 1 hour.
3. Stir down, add 2 1/2 cups more of flour and turn out on floured board or cloth. Knead until smooth and satiny, but not sticky. It will take 1/4 to 1/2 cup of flour to form this soft dough. Round up into a ball.
4. Place smooth side down in large bowl brushed with melted butter, turning once to bring buttered side up. Cover with waxed paper and a damp cloth. Let rise in a warm draft-free place 1 1/2 hours or until double in bulk.

5. Turn onto lightly floured cloth. Knead and shape as desired. Place in well-buttered pans near together. Brush between with melted butter so that biscuits will separate easily after baking and brush tops for flavor and browning.

6. Cover with waxed paper and a cloth. Let rise again until almost doubled in bulk. Bake in a hot oven of 425° for 12 to 15 minutes. Brush tops of rolls at once with melted butter. Serve piping hot.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

A real campfire appeals to our primitive instincts and is perhaps the chief urge that sends us into the open. In fact, a camp without a wood fire doesn't seem like a camp. As Col. Townsend Whelen, camping editor of Sports Afield magazine, puts it:

"With the wood campfire there is romance, the delicious smell of the smoke, the cheerfulness, and the glow of embers in the evening. Food roasted, broiled or baked over wood coals has a special allure. And the campfire also shows its superiority when it comes to toasting yourself or drying wet clothes. Such a fire costs nothing, and there is nothing to transport but your ax."

But in spite of all that can be said for an open fire, there are times when a stove is necessary. You cannot heat a closed tent adequately with an open fire—you need one of the lean-to or open-front type. Yet even with an open tent, in cold weather, you would be chopping wood all day and hugging the blaze to keep warm.

At many public and roadside campgrounds no firewood may be available. Cooking in the rain is sometimes impossible over an open fire. So there are advantages to the camp stove.

Today the most popular camp stove is one that uses gasoline for fuel, with two or three burners. Some of the new models burn white and leaded gasoline. This type of stove is ideal, and offers a must for public camping grounds and certain states where non-residents are prohibited from lighting a wood fire.

For any territory where firewood is available the sheet-iron, wood-burning stove has decided advantages. The standard A-wall tent seems best adapted to a wood-burning stove. The stove should not be closer than 18 inches to the wall of the tent, which should not have a sewed-in floor.

The telescoping stovepipe had best go straight up through the roof and it should extend at least six inches above the peak of your tent outside so the wind won't blow sparks directly on the canvas. There should be a fire guard where the pipe goes through the roof, and an asbestos guard is better than a tin one because it does not rattle on windy days.

POPEYED WITH INTEREST—These three Parisian lads are bodily in the Bois de Boulogne, famous park in Paris, France, but in their minds they're miles at sea, standing on the bridge of the French battle cruiser Richelieu. Bible Comment:

Lord's Prayer Outlines Ideal World for Us

WHEN we make that petition which is the Lord's Prayer, what do we mean by it, and what should it mean to us? One thing is certain. When we make that prayer in sincerity and truth the Kingdom has already arrived in our hearts and lives. The Rule of Christ, His law of love, and the following of His example, give evidence of our place in the Kingdom which is above all kingdoms, and whose King is supreme.

If that rule is firmly established in ourselves it becomes a yearning, a passion, and a prayer that it might be established in all hearts, and in all the affairs of men.

It is this yearning and prayer that is so well expressed in the interpreting petition, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

There was a time not long ago when allegiance to the Kingdom of God conflicted with the allegiance to most of the kingdoms of earth. In too many countries that conflict still continues, or has been reasserted, under cruel dictatorships in which godless philosophies and attitudes are manifest in suppression and persecution.

But today, in such democracies as Canada, the United States and Great Britain the evidence of almost revolutionary progress is seen in the fact that such conflicts of allegiance have almost completely disappeared.

If it were not for all the evil that democracy has not yet conquered, we might well say: "Would that all nations and peoples were as we are." However, evil carries within itself the seeds of destruction, and so in faith and hope we must pray that some day we may realize the Kingdom of God in full, in our every act and deed.

The style in woman's clothes is as changeable as the seasons. In recent times, a major change occurs each year. Dresses are long or short, full or slim, trim is ornate or simple. It often seems obvious these changes are nothing more than tricks to make women spend a little more money on their clothes.

Women accept these tricks of the clothing industry; indeed, often welcome them. The reasons are somewhat dim, but as long as the main harm is a lop-sided bank account, the situation can be accepted in a tongue-in-cheek manner.

However, when designers or manufacturers begin adjusting the body contour to meet the demands of style, and when this adjustment is not a healthful one, women must have the good sense to disregard the fad.

American women are too smart today to go along with the new French "flat look." They have long ago, learned that men prefer the "natural look." They are more health-conscious than ever before and know that too tight garments interfere with circulation. All the tissues of the body depend upon free and unrestricted circulation of the blood for their proper nourishment.

Be in style and dress becomingly with your health in mind. Let the French designers design for their own country women unless they have the good sense to create a line that is at one time both becoming and healthful.

Here's the Answer

LONG-EARED SUNFISH
© 1954 National Wildlife Federation

Lepomis megalotis
Practically all sunfish are popular with those who do not take their fishing too seriously. They have all the gameness one could ask of any fish of similar size. They bite readily, are good to eat and reproduce abundantly. They are hardy where many other fishes could not survive.

There are a number of subspecies of the longear sunfish. In this species the back fin is lower than in the bluegill sunfish or the pumpkin seed with which they might be confused. Possibly the most effective character used in identification is the long black ear flap. In the Great Lakes longear sunfish, this flap is conspicuous because of broad red margin at the rear. In the Mississippi longear sunfish, the flap has a pale blue border. The former seldom grows to a length of 4 inches while the latter may reach twice that length.

The Great Lakes subspecies ranges from Minnesota through the Great Lakes area to Quebec. The Mississippi longear is found in the Alabama, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee rivers and their tributaries. Other subspecies range to the southwest of these areas.

These sunfish favor quieter streams and lakes where there is an abundance of vegetation in which they can find shelter and from which they may collect the insects and other small animals that make up the bulk of their food. They particularly favor insect larvae, worms and small fishes. They may feed abundantly on leeches.

In May or June the male longear sunfish, like all good sunfish, selects a spot in the sun where the water is about 3 feet deep and where the bottom may be of sand or gravel. Here he clears away the vegetation and loose stuff covering the bottom in an area about 2 or 3 times his own length. He drives away an intruding fish and then drives in a female longear. After she has laid her eggs and he has fertilized them he may drive her away and proceed to get another mate to repeat the performance with him. In any case the female assumes little responsibility for the family or the family home while the male takes over every responsibility except that of laying the eggs which he obviously cannot do.

The male stays by the nest fanning silt from them and keeping away marauding minnows and other fish which might eat the eggs or young. Eventually the young fish shift for themselves but they remain in small schools for a considerable time either under the protection of the male or on an independent basis.

All sunfish are interesting either in a pond or stream, in an aquarium or on the end of a line. They take worms for bait most frequently but will take trout flies on occasion. If you happen to be a fisherman who fishes just for the fun of it and not for the purpose of smelling up the frying pan or having a bite to eat, there are few fish that offer more fun than sunfish if they are sought properly. This means fishing for them with artificial baits that are kept moving then hooks from which the barbs have been removed. Light tackle and barbless hooks and a spirit of sportsmanship joining a fisherman to his sunfish practically guarantee an interesting outing.—E. Laurence Palmer.

The Cricket's Song

A cricket's song is produced by the rubbing of one wing against another and only adult males "sing." Some entomologists believe the cricket sound is a mating call. Others regard it as a battle challenge, and still others say the cricket chirps just to express himself. — National Geographic Society.

Health & Beauty

After you reach thirty-five, skin care can't be a sometime thing if you want to keep the illusion of youth as long as possible. There are a number of different preparations created for the mature woman.

Don't let yourself become too busy to form good, womanlike habits. If she is efficient, even a working woman or a busy housewife, can work that necessary fifteen minutes into her schedule.

There are five major steps in caring for your skin. The first is cleansing. If your skin is dry, a scrubbing twice a week with one of the special sudsing preparations or a superfatted soap will be all that is needed. If your skin is not dry, wash your skin first with a superfatted soap and follow with a cream-cleanser.

A skin freshener comes next. This will complete the cleaning job and help prevent the enlarging of pores.

Some skins require a stimulant. This step is very important if your skin has a weathered or unclear look. If your skin is very sensitive, you may well do without a stimulant other than a splash of cold water.

Smooth and lubricating creams will help keep down the formation of lines and tiny wrinkles. Some of the newer preparations contain moisture, hormones, or vitamins.

The latest preparation is a tightening and firming lotion or cream. This is supposed to keep your face from "falling." It can be applied at night or just before your makeup.

Factual News About The Eyes

Psychological factors have a great deal to do with seeing, according to the Better Vision Institute. This stands to reason, because, after your eyes take a picture, your brain must always interpret it to you. So the facts are sometimes distorted by your mental associations.

For example, in studies recently made, coins seemed larger to poor children than to the children of prosperous parents. A leaf-shaped piece of cloth appeared greener than a donkey-shaped piece of the same material. And a white disk on a board bearing the name "Eisenhower" seemed bigger and higher up to most of the people tested than a disk of the same size and height carrying an unfamiliar name.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Business gains are forecast for next year at the just-ended meeting of the Government's Business Advisory Council, which meets each year about this time to gaze into its collective crystal ball.

There are several signs of industrial stirrings: 1. Pittsburgh has increased steel operations from 71 to 74.3 percent of capacity. This echoed the resumption of auto production after model changeovers.

2. Copper fabricators reported orders involving 23,757 tons of refined copper for September—biggest month since February, 1953.

3. Farm equipment manufacturers have recalled laid-off workers.

4. Textile manufacturers reported rising forward orders from finishers of fabrics.

All these are activities with varying degrees of lag. Autos move off the assembly line fast. Farm implement inventories will be built up looking to next March or even April. Copper, in the ratio of one ton to 15 of steel, goes largely into industrial and commercial buildings which take as long as a year to erect. Forward orders for cloth are mainly an index of confidence; uneasy buyers stick to the spot market. Put together, they point upward.

'LEBENSBRÄU' NEEDED—Unmistakable sign that American families are getting larger is seen in the demand for more living space in today's homes. The number of four-bedroom homes being built this year is double that of a year ago. More and more home builders are making provision for recreation space to supplement the formal living room.

Naturally, this trend toward bigger homes creates more floor areas to be covered. That means unlimited opportunity for those who make and sell floor coverings, particularly the resilient Koroseal, rubber and asphalt tiles that lend themselves to easy installation by the home owner himself.

Residential expansion is only part of the story, a leading authority says. There's an increased demand for more space—in stores, hotels, offices, hospitals. It is estimated that the bill for repair, improvement and alteration of existing U. S. residential and commercial buildings this year will come to $9 billion.

THINGS TO COME — Duck hunters can get a phonograph record that teaches duck-calling, from an onboard motor concern. . . . Aluminum siding for buildings has its corrugations in trapezoids rather than the long ridges of conventional sheet-iron. . . . A new saw blade can be sharpened by turning it around on its spindle. One set of teeth gets sharper as the other gets duller. . . . A new vacuum cleaner boasts a papoose bag that holds all the attachments.

IKE'S BEEF STEW—Perhaps President Eisenhower's recent much-publicized feast of beef stew just grew out of a yearning for some old-fashioned simple victuals. . . . or perhaps the fine hand of some livestock-growing group was in the background.

However it was, it provided extremely timely notice for the present most pressing problem of cattlemen. In the beef cattle cycle, now is a year of liquidation. The ranges have been dry, grain and hay are expensive. Cows and heifers are being kept for breeding, but animals good for nothing but eating are being cleaned off the ranges as the fresh grass dies.

With the tremendous upgrading of beef animals which has taken place in the last 20 years, eating beef fresh off the range isn't the test of character and bridgework it was back in the days when Texas restaurants assured customers they served Kansas City beef. But this meat still doesn't run to tender steaks. Unless somebody wants to eat stew, cattle prices will go lower.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Machining tool orders in September, at $5.31 million, were up 45 percent from the year's low in July. . . . John Wanamaker's main New York store, a landmark for three generations, will close January 31. . . . Cigarette use was down 3.6 percent and manufacture 5 percent in July than in the like month of 1953. . . . In August, Secretary Benson reported, the government whittled seven million pounds off its hoard of butter.

The first autoloading shotgun was conceived by John M. Brown. —Sports Afield.

FOERSTER TOP CONTESTANT IN COUNTY CORN CONTEST

Two years ago under the guidance of the College of Agriculture a corn acre contest was carried out in Washington county. The farmer taking part in the contest may either drill, hilldrop, or check row their corn. The main precaution is to plant a high corn population per acre. The farmer is advised as to how much fertility he needs in his field to produce these higher yields. To obtain this information he must have his soil tested and a fertilizer recommendation made based on this test. The remainder of the operation is up to the farmer.

When the corn is ripe the extension service sends someone to the farm to select four 50-foot rows located in different areas of the field. The stalks in these rows are counted and the distance of the width of 10 rows measured to get a dependable average in order to determine
