The appreciation dinner and annual meeting of the Badger Council of the Boy Scouts of America at the West Bend High school Tuesday evening was attended by a record turnout of 364 Scouts, Scout leaders and officials and other persons interested in Scouting activities. The gathering was presided over by Howard Bauman of West Bend, president of the council, who was re-elected at the meet.

Highlighting the meeting was the presentation of the Silver Beaver award, Scouting's highest honor and recognition, to two men who long have been active in the Badger council. The awards were presented to L. N. Peterson of Kewaskum and Ben Sadoff of Fond du Lac. Both Peterson and Sadoff are past presidents of the Badger Council and received their awards in recognition of their records as volunteer adult leaders.

Dr. Clark G. Kuebler, president of Ripon college and provost-elect of Santa Barbara college, was the principal speaker. The Rev. D. L. Wandschneider, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Methodist church, West Bend, gave the invocation. The program was highlighted by singing and musical entertainment, Bauger Council in Review, report of the nominating committee, elections and an appreciation tribute from the Cub Scouts, Sea Explorers and Air Explorers, and Explorers. A number of Eagle Scouts were given recognition. A pageant tableau closed the program.

97 Diabetes Tests Performed Locally

Observance of Diabetes Week Nov. 14 to 20 resulted in 97 free urinalysis tests being performed by doctors in the West Bend, Allenton, Jackson and Kewaskum areas, Dr. A. T. Grundahl of West Bend, chairman of the local observance, reported during the past week.

Dr. R. G. Edwards reported that the urines tested at Kewaskum in the diabetes detection drive numbered 97 in all. He found ten patients showing traces and all were notified by phone or letter to have re-checks. No new case of diabetes was found here but actually less than ten per cent of the population was tested and the majority of these were on people who do have frequent tests made anyway.

Of the 882 tests conducted in the area, 11 showed positive reactions and all were notified to have re-checks made. Persons who were not called or otherwise notified may rest assured that their tests indicated negative reactions and no cause for suspecting diabetes was found.

Dr. Grundahl and Dr. Edwards wish to express their gratitude and appreciation to all who helped in any way to make this year's observance of Diabetes Week a successful one and expressed the hope that even more successful observances will be achieved in the years ahead.

LAKES, RIVERS TEAMS PLAY AT HORICON SUNDAY NIGHT

The Kewaskum Land o' Lakes and Rivers basketball teams, which drew byes in the schedule last week end, will resume action this Sunday night when both play league games at Horicon. One team has a bye each Sunday because there are seven, an odd number of clubs in the circuit. Sunday's tilts will be the second of the new season. The Lakes cagers downed Cedarburg in the opener a week ago Sunday and the Rivers quint lost to the Cedarburg Rivers five.

In games played last Sunday West Bend and Campbellsport won their second in succession to take over the league lead. West Bend beat Mayville, 84-70, Campbellsport won over Rosendale, 76-61, and in the other contest Cedarburg defeated Horicon, 63-50.

Regal Ware Marks Production of 3,000,000th Cartridge Case

Regal Ware, Inc. of Kewaskum on Wednesday, Dec. 15, marked the successful production of the 3,000,000th 105 MM steel cartridge case which the firm has been manufacturing for the Ordnance Department of the U. S. Army.

In observance of having attained the 3,000,000 production mark, members of the Chicago Ordnance District of the U. S. Army visited the Regal plant. In a brief commemorative ceremony, J. O. Reigle, president of Regal Ware, Inc., presented the 3,000,000th cartridge case to Col. L. F. Stangel, Chicago Ordnance District chief, who accepted it in behalf of the Ordnance Department.

Following this, a tour of inspection of the Regal Cartridge Case Division was made by the following members of the Ordnance Department:

Col. L. F. Stangel, Col. M. L. Ash, Jr., Col. W. A. Schreiber, Major H. J. Egal and Messrs. J. H. Pratt, J. J. Matt, D. H. Siegel, L. W. Tyborski, J. W. Kwasnicki, L. B. Bieschke, S. Wycoczan, C. D. MacArthur and D. S. Skene.

Magazine Sales Campaign Again Planned by Legion

Ed. C. Backhaus, commander of the Washington County Council of the American Legion, announced on Dec. 8 that the council is again sponsoring its annual magazine subscription campaign throughout Washington county. The campaign is being handled by the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co., the same publishing house which made the original arrangement with the Legion in this county ten years ago.

These annual campaigns give the county a safe and guaranteed subscription service, free of high pressure or otherwise unwanted tactics too often employed.

County council officers wish to warn all residents to ask to see and inspect credentials of the representatives in this campaign to eliminate the possibility of unauthorized persons taking advantage of their sponsorship. The credentials of the representatives are signed by several of the past county council commanders, Ed. C. Backhaus, county commander, and the various local post commanders. They urge residents not to purchase subscriptions from strangers unless they carry a letter of authorization from the American Legion County Council. All subscriptions placed through this campaign are guaranteed and thus give residents a valuable service. The representatives are bonded and registered at the sheriff's office.

As a result of the annual campaigns, the county council obtains necessary funds for carrying on their county-wide service work, which includes the establishment and maintaining of a loan cabinet, which is available to all residents through the American Legion or the county nurse, in previous years an emergency resuscitator, polo equipment, pneophore type portable lung, fracture beds, wheel chairs, portable hospital beds and orthopedic equipment were obtained for the loan cabinet. From this year's campaign the county council will obtain additional orthopedic equipment, to extend this valuable service when needed.

The County Council of the American Legion hopes that the residents will again wholeheartedly support this worthwhile project.

Youth Shot as Gun Discharges

Hugo Straub, Jr., 19, of near St. Killian, R. 3, Campbellsport, is recovering at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where he was removed late Sunday afternoon after suffering a gun wound in a mishap near St. Killian.

The young man had been hunting rabbits during the day with a companion, Robert Melzer, 18, St. Killian. They hunted in fields one mile south of St. Killian. The pair had a .22 caliber revolver which they kept in a duffel bag. Shortly after 4 p. m., the youths decided to return home. Straub reached into the bag to get a glove and apparently hit the revolver, it was stated.

The gun discharged and the bullet entered Straub's lower abdomen. The pellet was deflected upward, finally coming to a stop in the youth's back just below his shoulder blade. It was reported by Straub's father that the missile perforated his son's intestines in eight places as well as going through his kidney.

Melzer took Straub to his home where the wounded youth's older brother Neal, put him into the family car for an emergency trip to St. Agnes hospital. When Neal reached Hwy. 41 and 67, a Dodge county traffic officer who was parked at the intersection learned of the accident. The police escorted the Straub car to the city of Fond du Lac where police led the way to the hospital.

Physicians said that they had no immediate plans of removing the bullet from his son's back at this time because it will not bother him in its present position.

He was born March 5, 1878 and was married to Christine Heinicke. Following their marriage, the couple resided in Allenton. Later they moved to farms at St. Lawrence and Kohlsville. Five years ago they returned to Allenton and made their home in that village since.

Indians Tip Rosendale, 67-51; Tie for Second

The Kewaskum High school team moved into a second place tie with Oakfield in the Tri-County conference by defeating a highly regarded Rosendale five here Friday night, 67-51. The victory was the Indians' second in three starts. League leading Brandon trimmed North Fondy for its third in a row without a setback.

Kewaskum had surprisingly little trouble in downing Rosendale by a 14-point margin. The Indians held a small 22-27 lead at the half but bounced back strong in the second half to outscore the Dalers, 35-23, and win going away. The score at the end of the first period was 14-12, Kewaskum, and going into the final stanza the winners were on top, 52-38. Coach Mitchell's boys had a big third quarter, in which they outscored the visitors, 20-11.

Don Bradtke was the big gun in scoring with 27 points for high honors. Mark Rosenheimer was next in line with 17 for the winners. Hill was the top point maker for the losers with 15, while Mossberg garnered 10. Harold Klein tallied 13 for the Indians.

On Friday night of this week Kewaskum played at Oakfield to settle the second place tie.

Warden Lake Speaks at Sportsmen's Meet Here

The regular meeting of the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's Association of Kewaskum was held at Heisler's tavern Tuesday evening with a good attendance on hand. Guest speakers were Game Warden Bob Lake of Washington county and Armin Schwengel of the Wisconsin Conservation Department stationed at Mautne lake.

Warden Lake spoke on ice fishing regulations and answered questions relating to conservation, fishing and hunting. Schwengel spoke on the pheasant raising program in this area and displayed a chart showing the number of birds "planted" during the past year. Lake, who was honored at a dinner at the Linden Inn Monday evening by county sportsmen on his 25th anniversary as a game warden in this area, was presented with a gift from the local sportsmen's group. It was a gift of shells for the new Browning super-imposed shotgun given to him at the anniversary dinner.

Following the meeting lunch was served.

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this method of thanking our neighbors, relatives and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in our bereavement, the demise of our beloved son and brother, Elroy H. Glass. These expressions have been deeply appreciated. We are especially grateful to Rev. Friesenborg, the organist, choir, pallbearers, drivers, donors of floral pieces and memorial tributes, ushers, Miller's, all who helped in any way and all who showed respect.

Mrs. Edna Glass and Family of Kewaskum, who died at his home on Thursday, Dec. 2, the Revs. Kraus, Schweizer and Skalkitzky officiated and burial was in the church cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Raymond, Harold and Frank, all of Nenno; six daughters, Hildgard (Mrs. Gilbert Brodzeller) of Allenton, Alice (Mrs. Herman) of Kewaskum, Teresa (Mrs. John Hembel) of West Bend, Rita (Mrs. Harvey Strupp) of Allenton, Mildred (Mrs. Norbert Weiland) of St. Killian, and Rosemary (Mrs. Marvin Bonlander) of West Bend. He also leaves a brother, five sisters and 27 grandchildren.

$800 Fire at Village Garage; First in Months

The village garage on West Water street was threatened with destruction by fire last Friday afternoon. The blaze resulted when a gas tank on a village owned tractor with front end lift which was being repaired, exploded and set the building on fire.

Village workers had removed the gas tank and were putting it back on the tractor when the gasoline apparently came in contact with a spark from the battery cable, causing the explosion and resulting fire. The tractor was on the basement floor of the two story garage. The flames shot to the ceiling and were burning through the first floor when the local firemen reached the scene. Thick smoke was pouring out of the building and made it difficult for firemen to reach the source of the flames. The tractor and garage were doused with water and the fire was put out in a short time.

Loss in the fire was estimated at approximately $800 but it may reach a higher figure. The loss is covered by insurance. The men working on the tractor had to scramble in a hurry to escape the flames.

This fire call was the first one for the Kewaskum department in four months and spoiled a fine record. The last time the firemen were called out was last Aug. 6, when the barn on the Jerome Herriges farm in the town of Kewaskum was destroyed by fire. This should establish a record for the department for length of time between calls.

BETTER HURRY YOUR ORDER FOR FORESTRY TRANSPLANTS

Those wanting forestry seedlings or transplants are urged to order them at once. Already two of the more popular varieties are sold out and no longer available. Soon more varieties will be sold out.

Tree order forms will be sent to those desiring 500 or more trees. Merely fill out the form and send direct to the Wisconsin Conservation Department. Those who desire only a small number of trees should send their request direct to the Extension Service office, Post Office Building, West Bend.

KEWASKUM IS FREE OF ACCIDENTS ON S-D DAY

The village of Kewaskum and community had an accident-free record on Safe Driving day Wednesday, Dec. 15, throughout the nation. Not a single accident of any nature was reported. So our residents did their part in making the day a success.

It was reported that there were no accidents throughout Washington county to mar the SD day record—a job well done.

PRIN. ROSE ATTENDS MEET TO HEAR EVACUATION PLAN

Washington county school officials attended an evacuation program at Girls' Technical High school in Milwaukee Monday, Dec. 13, to familiarize themselves with the evacuation plan to be followed in the event of an attack on the Milwaukee area. Among county school officials who attended was Clifford Rose, principal of Kewaskum schools.

Its action features a revolving cylinder similar to that in the old Army Colt being sighted by Ordnance Inspector Ann Barnett at Pontiac, Mich. But while Ann can fire about 12 shots in one minute, reloading once, the 20-mm M-39 spits out 1200 rounds of high explosive shells in the same amount of time. Combat tested in Korea, it is electrically fired and gas operated.

TOM'S REDUCING PROGRAM — Children visiting the Nevele Falls, N. Y., Country Club think they're having all the fun at the annual pre-Thanksgiving turkey chase, but they couldn't be more wrong. Old Tom, flying high and handsome, is doing his best to get toughened up and provide a stringy mouthful for whoever catches him. Tom doesn't know it yet, but he's going to undergo a drastic reducing program after he's caught. About a week after Thanksgiving, he'll be nothing but feathers and bones.

Find Insurance Ads Misleading

The Federal Trade Commission recently accused seventeen companies selling health insurance of "false and misleading" advertising. This is a serious indictment of these companies, and others which were not named, since such advertising often leads to the purchase of a policy by an individual who assumes he has more coverage than he really has.

The Commission has allowed a fixed time for the companies to reply to the government agency's charges. After that, if they cannot show that the charges are unjustified, the Commission will issue an order forbidding a continuance of such advertising.

The Commission objected to several current practices followed by many health insurance companies. Claims that there are no policy termination provisions in policies was one of the objections. The Commission says many of the policies so advertised were written to allow the company the right to decide whether to renew the policies or not.

The Commission also charges that there are many exaggerated claims about the amount of payments in emergency cases. Claims of payments "up to $500 for one sickness" for instance, were found to be available only in one or two most rare diseases.

Claims that payments are made for disability "for life" were also found to be misleading, in that many of the companies limited their obligations in this respect to a very small fraction of disability cases. The Commission warns that often the fine prints in these health insurance contracts is not exactly in line with what purchasers are led to believe in the larger print.

The Commission's action is the first against insurance companies in many years and has been long awaited by those who have been unfortunate enough to encounter difficulties because of a mistaken conception about their policies.

The Two Prayers

Rev. Andrew Gillies
Last night my boy confessed to me
Some childish wrong;
And, kneeling at my knee,
He prayed with tears:
"Dear God, make me a man,
Like Daddy—wise and strong;
I know you can."

Then, while he slept,
I knelt beside his bed,
Confessed my sins,
And prayed with low-bowed head,
"O God, make me a child
Like my child here—
Pure, guileless,
Trusting Thee with faith sincere."

British Solve Comet Crashes

Nine months of exhaustive investigation into the dramatic crashes of several British-built Comet jet airlines have finally produced results. The study group in London which has been looking into the crashes reported recently—in a volume four inches thick—that the cause was "metal fatigue."

The search to find the cause of recent accidents has been deliberate and detailed. In the nine months it has been in progress all Comets have been grounded and several of them have been used as guinea pigs. One of them was torn to pieces in tests to determine where the structure first failed.

There were tests with Comets in pressure chambers, in water, and in varying conditions of all kinds. After all this study, and the results gleaned from the reconstructed jet airliner which went down in Ligurian Sea, the inquiry group felt convinced that metal fatigue—an unrecognizable danger — was to blame for the crashes.

The report of the inquiry group is a major step forward and its work seems to have been outstanding. As far as we know, no other inquiry has come up with a job as thorough, or convincing, in the field of air crashes. The inquiry finding also means that reconstructed Comets will probably be flying again soon.

PROGRESS

A hundred years ago it took the combined labor of five U. S. farm families to produce the food and fiber needs of one city family. Today, thanks to farm mechanization and the development of time and labor saving equipment, one farm family supplies the needs of five city families.

Tips On Living In Garages

Many people who are building their own homes are faced with the problem of living in their garages this winter and providing their own heat. Great care should be used, that the stove or circulator heater is installed safely, without danger of fire or suffocation. This Reader has some questions.

QUERY: I have a wood and coal-burning circulator heater which I wish to install in my frame garage. How far from the wall must it set? I wish to run the smoke pipe out through the wall instead of through the roof. How do I do this?

Will it be necessary for me to build a masonry chimney, or can I use a regular metal smoke pipe?

ANSWER: A wood or coal-burning stove should be set at least 3 feet from a wood or plastered wall. It may be set closer if a metal-covered shield is used. When the stove sets on a wood floor, there should also be a shield under the stove.

The smoke pipe may be run directly through the wall, and up the outside of the garage. But do not try this with ordinary metal smoke pipe.

Use one of the insulated smoke pipes bearing the approval stamp of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. There are several types available and are made of cement and asbestos, and porcelain enamel. They can be installed in sections, and are joined together with sleeves. They are fastened to the wall with brackets. This is not the ordinary flue lining for masonry chimneys.

It will not be necessary to build a masonry chimney unless you insist on using metal smoke pipe. If you do use metal smoke pipe, it will also be necessary to use a special insulated thimble where you take the pipe through the side of the garage. Otherwise, the fire hazard at this point would be too great.

New British Jet

A leading aircraft manufacturer in Great Britain has announced the development of a vertical take-off engine which is situated beneath the pilot, not in front of him.

Already the engine and a pilot, sitting on top of it, have lifted themselves off the ground, without the help of wings or rotors of any kind. It is said that the pilot and the engine circled around the field for ten minutes under what was described as "complete" control.

This is a major step forward, in aero-nautical design, and is said to be one of the goals now being eagerly pursued by at least one U. S. aircraft company. The main difference between the British vertical take-off and the U. S. Navy plane which recently took off from a tail-erect position is that the British aircraft uses downward facing jet streams for its lift.

The American plane uses two propellers, counter-rotating, and the pilot—if he is to be looking out of the front of the aircraft—must be on his back at take-off. On the other hand, the British plane lifts from a conventional position, the jet streams being used to control the angle of climb and direction.

'Hot Flashes Stopped' or strikingly relieved

In 63-80% of cases in doctors' tests • If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life" you may be suffering unnecessarily!

For... in tests by doctors... Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering to 63% and 80% (respectively) of the women tested! Complete or striking relief!

Yes! Research has proved these medicines thoroughly modern in action... has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"! So... get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—or new, improved Tablets with added iron! (Wonderful, too, for the functional pains of menstrual periods.)

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "heat waves"!

Most Dental Decay Found in Teenagers

A short while after a man bruises his finger with a hammer, healing takes place, and the injured area is repaired, usually without a scar.

Not so with teeth. They cannot repair themselves. What's more, unless they are cared for, the tiny "bruise" or infection tends to become larger and larger until the tooth can no longer be saved, says the Wisconsin State Dental Society.

Studies show a direct relationship between visits to the dentist and the number of sound teeth in a person's mouth.

The Bureau of Economic Research Statistics of the American Dental Association finds that individuals who have not seen their dentist in more than three years are far more likely to require complete artificial dentures than those who make periodic visits.

B. Duane Moen, Bureau director, said the study indicates that women are more conscientious about dental treatment than men.

Decay can start soon after the first or "baby" teeth appear. The peak in decay activity is usually reached in the teens. Mr. Moen has found that teenagers between the ages of 15 and 19 were most in need of dental work. There was an average of five decayed teeth each in this group.

Up to age 34 for men and 39 for women, dental decay is the chief reason for the loss of teeth. Thereafter, the periodontal diseases (ailments of the gums and other supporting structures) are mainly responsible.

A study of 5,014 patients at the Veterans Administration by three University of Illinois scientists has shown that by age 45, one out of every two men either has lost all his teeth as a result of periodontal disease or is afflicted with it.

A Study of Mars

An International Mars Committee, organized last fall, co-ordinates the observations being made by cooperating institutions and scientists. Not only astronomers, but also physicists, meteorologists, biologists, and chemists are taking part in the program. Together they may find proof or disproof of actual vegetable life on Mars, as well as new knowledge of the physical makeup of the planet and its atmosphere.

This extensive study under the Mars Committee's guidance will continue through 1956, when the next near approach of Mars will bring it even closer than in 1954. Then there will not be another opportunity for such close study until 1971.

Just as a basketball, for example, seems larger to the eye the nearer it is, so the size or "apparent diameter" of Mars increases during a near approach. On July 2, Mars' apparent diameter will be 21.9 seconds of arc. This is roughly the same angle of width that a basketball would make to the naked eye at a distance of a mile and a half—National Geographic Society.

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Cheese Bread Boxes for the Buffet Supper

These are Parmesan Bread Boxes which do more than house the creamed meat, fish or fowl. By their very nature they add richness, flavor and character to an often bland filling.

Do look at the recipe, which provides you with a more-than-speaking acquaintance with a less familiar cheese—Parmesan.

This cheese of Italian descent is used as a seasoning for countless good things to eat. Never a dull dish in the menu when Parmesan cheese is around to add the final fillup of flavor to crust of bread on French onion soup, the unusual or fried or scrambled eggs, the crusty-topped counterpane to many a creamed fish or vegetable dish, the enticing appeal to spaghetti with meat balls.

PARMESAN BREAD BOXES

Cut unsliced bread into 2 inch slices. Cut off crusts or cut with large round or heart-shaped cookie cutter. Hollow out each with a knife (a grapefruit knife does a neat job), leaving sides and bottom about 1/4 inch thick.

From sliced bread cut 4 rounds for each bread box. From 3 of the rounds, using a smaller cutter remove a circle from center of each. Place the resulting rings on top of the fourth round to form a bread box.

Brush all surfaces generously with melted butter, then dip into and sprinkle on lots of grated Parmesan cheese. Place on a cookie sheet. These may be prepared in the morning.

To serve—bake in a moderately hot oven (400°) until the cheese and crust are lightly browned (10 to 12 minutes).

Fill the hot bread boxes with creamed chicken and mushrooms or turkey, ham, sea food or fish in a rich cream sauce. Many of the condensed cream soups are excellent cream sauce bases.

Are you one of the people who think hot breads are too big a project to tackle? If you are, you will change your mind after trying these recipes and put hot breads on your must list.

Prune Muffins

1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg beaten
7/8 cup milk
1 cup chopped, cooked prunes
Sift dry ingredients in a bowl. Add milk, egg and shortening. Stir in prunes. Turn into greased muffin pans. Put half a prune in the center of each muffin. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 375 degrees.

Corn Cheese Muffins

1 cup yellow corn meal
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 cup sugar
2/3 cup grated American cheese
1 cup milk
1 well beaten egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening
Sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar; add corn meal and cheese. Mix. Combine milk, egg and shortening. Add all at once to dry ingredients. Stir just until dry ingredients are moistened but not smooth. The batter will be lumpy. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 400 degrees.

Celery Horns

3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons shortening
1 package granular yeast
2 cups flour
Melted butter
1 teaspoon celery seeds
Combine milk, sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and shortening. Heat until shortening melts. Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Add to milk mixture. Add 1 cup flour and beat smooth with a spoon. Add remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Beat smooth. Brush top of dough and inside bowl with salad oil. Cover and let rise about 30 minutes. Toss onto floured board and roll out into circular shapes about 1/4 inch thick. Cut into 12 pie-shaped wedges, brush each with melted butter, and roll up from wide end. Place on greased baking sheet with pointed side down. Brush with melted butter. Combine 1/2 teaspoon salt with celery seeds and sprinkle over horns. Let rise until double in bulk—about 15 minutes. Bake in an oven 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

Bran Rolls

1 cup boiling water
1 cup all-bran
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
2 cakes yeast or 2 packages granular yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup water
3 well beaten eggs
1/2 cup melted shortening
1 tablespoon salt
6 1/4 cups flour
Pour 1 cup boiling water over bran; cool to lukewarm. Combine 2 tablespoons lukewarm water, yeast and sugar. Blend. Add eggs, shortening, salt, 1 cup water and the bran mixture to the yeast mixture. Beat thoroughly. Cover. Let rest 15 minutes. Knead on a lightly floured surface. Place in a greased bowl. Let rise in a warm place until double in size. Punch down. Form balls. Arrange balls in greased muffin pans. Cover. Let rise until double. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 425 degrees.

Sally Lunn Ring

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 1/2 cups flour
1 package granular yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
2 eggs beaten
Heat milk to scalding. Pour over sugar, salt and shortening. Stir until sugar is dissolved and shortening melted. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and add to cooled milk mixture. Stir in eggs. Add flour, beat until smooth. Cover. Let rise in warm place, until light, about 1 hour. Grease well a ring mold. Spoon the batter into mold to about half full. Cover, let rise about 1/2 hour or until double in bulk. Bake in an oven 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve hot with butter.

The reason many husbands lose interest in their wives a few years after marriage is obvious when you look at the wives. The blame for this is another matter.

COLLAPSIBLE WORLD—Folded for storage, this inexpensive globe of the world is exhibited by Washington, D. C., cartographer Charles E. Riddiford, who developed what he hopes will be the low-cost answer to the problem of supplying an up-to-date world map for the average man. The National Geographic Society employe says that mass production could make it available for one dollar or less.

"I DIDN'T WALK A MILE TO FEED YOU"—Francoise Touranton, 2, isn't quite sure that muzzle is enough to discourage a camel looking for a date for lunch. It was a long walk to the Vincennes Zoo in Paris, France, and Francoise needs every bite for herself.

ARTIST AT FOOTBALL—Hefty Dick MacDonell smears 'em artistically on the gridiron for the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota, but there's nothing smearable about his work as an art major. When he puts down the pigskin and picks up the pallet, the 230-pound double-threat man paints prize winners, one of which was recently exhibited at the Duluth Art Institute.

WHISPERS SOUND LIKE SHOUTS in the Army Signal Corps' anechoic chamber at Fort Monmouth, N. J., where Private Edward D. Reynolds (left) of Belrose, N. Y., and Corporal William J. Lyons of New Haven, Conn., align radio equipment for tests. The chamber is so quiet no one can remain inside it more than one-half hour.

TAKE CARE OF THAT COLD IS WARNING

Colds are more prevalent than usual this year. Don't consider them lightly. If not watched carefully, a seemingly mild cold progresses into influenza, pneumonia, infection of the ears, sinuses and other organs.

To aid in the prevention of colds, keep your feet and neck warm especially next to the hair line. Do not deviate from your routine of diet, rest and everyday habits.

The cause of colds has been said to be lowered resistance. The science of Chiropractic goes further and determines the cause of lowered resistance. If you are subject to colds, have one that you can't get rid of, or have any of the after effects, a Chiropractic analysis will reveal the true cause. When the cause is removed by Chiropractic methods, nature will be able to build you back to a normal state of health.

TEACUP TOPICS

By BETTY ANN
Editor The Milwaukee Journal Women's Page

With the fall comes ease, a new comfortable look that is no less elegant, but that fits more expertly into modern living, says Betty Ann. There are jerseys and wools, autumn smoke colors, tree bark browns, maple reds and smoky greens. There is a touch of fur, the middy look that can be worn belted or unbelted, a new long look because of closely pleated skirts.

Dresses answer a demand. There are dresses for lunch, for the afternoon. There are the dresses women in America have asked for, for their important charity luncheons, for their before five dates. Not to be confused with the cocktail dress, they are invested with a daytime elegance, are in rich fabrics, fine wools, pure silks, silk crepes, tafetas and peau de soie. They are shown in slender silhouettes as well as the gently full. They are shown in slender silhouettes as well as the gently full. They are covered up simple, most often the background for one lovely jewel, are dark enough to lend variety to accessories. They are an important new note in the collection for fall.

This is news, this is excitement. The rake's jacket is as gay as the name reveals. There is a new ease in the design, they are relaxed and they are casual, they are brief and they are worn over the new shirtwaist dress or the long looking sheath. Noteworthy is a black wool rake jacket with all the tailored elegance of an English mess jacket.

News in the late day clothes are the "elegantes." In fine wools, polished fabrics, and pure silks, they are carved close to the figure, cling to the hips. Skirts pouf out above the knee or sometimes below into an opening flower line. At times, it is caught beneath the knees with a band finished with a large bow or with a twist and a flow of fabric.

Wools, too, are in this group, are also body conscious and highlight the idea of the costume, with their own jackets or stoles. Jackets of costumes are so easy that they fit under coats or small winter furs.

While the daytime look may be narrow and sinuous, with the appearance of the first star, skirts are again full, lined and for the most part swept over their own petticoats. Leisure separates also make their bow. Laces, silk tafetas and silk peau de soie, velvets, are added to the slimmer crepes and fallies. Candle lit colors, the revealing boat neck bodices, the revealing reign of the princess silhouette as well as the long line are in this group. Black assumes even newer importance, and it is shown with a streak of color or the polished touch of bead embroidery. Separates in this group are dramatically wide skirted, embroidered and swirled over their own petticoats. They are shown in high colored satins, velvets, wools and silks. They are teamed with dramatic off one shoulder tops of mat jersey, embroidered silk.

Raisin Coconut Coffee Cake

¾ cup seedless raisins; 1-1/3 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 2/3 cup brown sugar (packed); 1/3 cup shortening (part butter or margarine); ½ teaspoon baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ teaspoon soda; 1 egg; 1/3 cup buttermilk or sour milk; 2/3 cup shredded coconut.

Rinse raisins and drain thoroughly. Combine flour, sugar and shortening and blend until crumbly. Set aside one-half cup of this mixture. To remainder, add baking powder, salt, cinnamon and soda. Stir in raisins. Beat egg lightly and add buttermilk. Stir into dry mixture and blend well. Turn into greased eight inch cake pan. Sprinkle reserved crumbly mixture evenly over batter and top with coconut. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 30 to 40 minutes. Cut in wedges and serve warm. Serves six.

New Plastic Kitchen Cabinets Are Colorful and Mar-proof

A new line of kitchen cabinets, combining the utmost in colorful beauty and complete practicality was recently introduced at the "1954 Building Your Home Show" in New York.

Completely surfaced inside, as well as outside with melamine laminated plastics, these cabinets are available in a variety of colors and patterns. The wide range of high-style pastels, authentic wood grain reproductions, and novelty figures give any housewife generous material for imaginative planning, for the color line has been carefully planned to allow for soft harmony or bright contrast. Carefree as well as colorful, these melamine surfaced cabinets minimize everyday kitchen chores. Cleaning is reduced to an occasional wipe of a damp cloth. Because the attractive colors are built-in, painting or refinishing is never necessary. They will stay glisteningly new over years of service for the rugged durability of melamine plastic is present on all surfaces.

Kitchen planners may specify a custom arrangement from a complete line designed to fit any floor plan. A wide range of sizes in upper and base cabinets, sink bases, and corner "Lazy-Susans" with revolving shelves are available. The entire line features adjustable shelves, flush type doors, doors suspended on nylon bearings, and semi-concealed hinges.

What The World Needs Most

A father was being disturbed by his little daughter and having trouble in reading his paper. To quiet her he took a map of the world out of one of the papers, then tore the map into pieces and asked her to go into another room and put the map together. Very soon she returned with delight—and the task completed. The father said: "How is it that you have done this so quickly when you do not know geography?" The little girl's reply was: "Well, Daddy, you see in Sunday School I learned about Jesus. His picture was on the other side of the page you gave me to put together. WHEN I GOT JESUS IN PLACE, THE WORLD CAME OUT ALL RIGHT."

CLEVER TEA TOWELS

Stuff Bird With Two Dressings for Double Taste Treat

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

JUST to make life more interesting, why not use two different kinds of stuffing for your holiday turkey? Use one for the chest cavity; another, more exotic one, for the neck cavity.

If your family goes in for stuffing, eating lots of it, bake extra amounts in greased individual molds. That's much better than trying to cram too much into the turkey, because turkeys should be loosely stuffed.

Some stuffings are simple and straightforward; others are fairly complex. Here are three recipes using enriched, yeast-raised bread as a base—each more than enough to fill the neck cavity of a 15-pound turkey, with enough left over for the casserole dish.

Toasted Almond Stuffing

Eight cups soft bread crumbs, ½ cup melted butter or margarine, 2 cups chopped toasted almonds, 1 ¼ cups green celery tops, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 2 eggs, 2 ½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup grated onion.

Combine all ingredients thoroughly and use to stuff cavities of turkey.

Sausage Stuffing

Eight cups stale bread cubes, ½ cup melted butter or margarine, 1 cup finely chopped onions, 1 ½ cups chopped celery stalks and leaves, ¾ pound bulk sausage, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 3 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1 cup chicken stock or milk.

Cook sausage. Combine with remaining ingredients and use to stuff turkey cavities.

We used to have oyster stuffing every Thanksgiving when I was a small girl, and this one reminds me of the way my grandmother's used to taste.

Oyster Stuffing

(Yield: about 10 cups; enough for a 12-pound turkey)
One half cup butter or margarine, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup diced celery, ¾ teaspoon Tabasco, 8 cups soft bread crumbs, 2

Style Changes Keep Clothing Budget Slim

The latest from Paris, we are told, is wasp waists, which are described as cinched with belts. These are the hot-stuff creations of one Christian Dior, the wire services report, and his latest "lily of the valley" line shown recently has plunged the style world into a tizzy.

We have nothing against Dior, or other designers cashing in on a good thing—the tendency of women to bow to every style change that is supposedly the latest thing. We do, however, pity the women of America, and other countries, for their subservience to the designers, although their hardship is caused by their own weakness.

Foreigners are often amazed at the number of good clothes not used by the average American female. Whereas in England or Germany, or other countries, the average female never lets a perfectly good garment go to waste hanging in the closet—simply because a style has changed—that is standard procedure in this country.

For the few rich the cost of that new wardrobe may be insignificant, but for many American females, the cost of keeping Daisy in the fashion swim is often enough to sink Willie in the financial swim while the designers and the clothing trade march happily ahead.

How To Succeed In Business

The Young President's Organization, all of whose members became executives of major corporations by the time they reached the age of 39, recently discussed the qualities which make for success in executive positions. The group came to several conclusions, which might be interesting if you are planning on being a successful business executive:

The first principal agreed upon by the group is an ability to get along with people. This seemed to be the most important prerequisite of successful executive, and was followed, in the opinion of the young executives, by a talent for analyzing, organizing and delegating work.

Another quality found to be of almost vital importance was that which is included in the words enthusiasm, honesty and sincerity. The young executives' organization also agreed that an ability to influence people was highly important.

These opinions were the result of a survey made among the 700 members of the Y. D. O. An interesting item, revealed by Chas. E. Zimmerman, president of Consultants and Designers, Inc., of New York, was the fact that many of the young executives felt that they themselves were personally "lazy."

They also feel that they sometimes lack ability in their ventures, and take on more activities than they can properly handle. Another general comment of many of the young executives was their belief that they were personally responsible for their business, and were personally responsible when things went badly.

The survey showed that many of the young executives were quick to praise others when things went well, but that when the business went downhill, they themselves took the blame and quickly went into action.

These are the major results of the survey, which you might heed, if you have plans to become a successful business executive.

Distances and Speeds Change As Aviation Adopts Sea Mile

On September 30 New York and San Francisco stood 2,600 air miles apart. This month the straight-line flying distance is only 2,260 miles.

East and west coasts have not suddenly moved closer together, nor have the airlines found a shortcut. The difference lies in the word "miles."

After five years of preparation, civil aviation in the United States has officially switched from statute or "land" miles to nautical miles and knots in reporting distances and speeds. Pilots, tower operators and weathermen now use sea language, as military airmen of all branches have done since 1947.

Sea Mile Longer

The nautical mile, 800 feet longer than the familiar legal mile of 5,280 feet, is also the geographical mile of the mapmaker, the National Geographic Society says. By definition it is the length of one minute of arc, 1/60th of a degree, measured on a great-circle girth of the earth. The world around is thus exactly 60 times 360 degrees, or 21,600 nautical miles.

Long taken in the United States to be 6,080.20 feet, the nautical mile itself has changed recently. The National Bureau of Standards announced in August that this country had adopted the international nautical mile, some four feet shorter, or 6,076.10 feet in all.

A knot, a measure of speed rather than distance, is simply one nautical mile per hour. The term comes from sailing ship days, from knots actually tied in a vessel's log line by which speed was gauged.

Since nautical miles are longer than land miles, both distances and speeds in the new terminology seem less than in the old figures. A 300 miles-per-hour airliner, for example, goes only about 270 knots. Breaking the sea level sound barrier of 760 mph (land miles) means a nautical speed of only 670 knots.

Before Maps

The changeover illustrates how dependent the world is on the basic means and units for measuring distances.

It took thousands of years for man to take accurate measure of distance on great sweeps of the earth's surface. The ability required precise maps and charts, navigating instruments, and exploration itself.

Even the earliest peoples, however, used measurements that have come down to modern terminology. They took their cue from the human body: the length of a foot, the width of a hand, the distance spanned by outstretched arms, so many paces in a day's travel.

The "mile" originated in Roman times, from the term "mille passuum," or 1,000 paces. Since the Roman pace was two steps, or approximately five feet, the land mile even then was about 5,000 feet. It is no means uniform today: The Danish "mil" is 4.68 United States miles, for example, while most of Europe uses the kilometer, which is only 0.621 of a mile.

Both Romans and Greeks used the "stadium"—about 600 feet—as a measure of travel. The Mathematician Eratosthenes won immortality by measuring the sun's angle from two points in Egypt and computing the circumference of the earth as 25,200 stadia—approximately 24,300 nautical miles, off by less than 3,000 miles.

Royal Cubit

Earth's earliest "standard measure" probably was the Egyptian cubit, 20.62 inches. Supposedly it represented the distance from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger. In multiples of 100 and 1000, this ancient measuring rod built the great pyramids of the pharaohs.

The arms-outstretched distance became for the early Saxons of Europe and England, as the "faethm" or fathom, the basic measurement on both land and water. One fathom, even today, equals six feet. It divides into two yards, originally a clothmaker's measure. The rod, chain, furlong, and mile all were related to the old Saxon fathom. The mariners "cable length" is still 120 fathoms or 720 feet in the United States Navy.

The furlong is short for "one furrow long," supposedly the distance oxen could plow without stopping rest. It's now officially 220 yards. The inch was defined in King Edward II's time as equal to three grains of barley laid end to end. Even today shoe sizes vary by barleycorns, or thirds of an inch.

Kenning and Kos

Many odd measures of distance came and went. In 16th century England, seamen used the term "kenning"—the distance a voyager could see on a clear day. It usually meant 20 miles. In India, a "kos" or "kros" was the distance a runner could travel with a branch broken from a bush before the leaves wilted—anywhere from one to three miles.

Modern measurement is a science of unbelievable accuracy and of vast scope.

Uses for Sawdust

Remember the sawdust strewn floor of turn-of-the-century "butcher shops," now tile-floored meat markets? There is a tradition that other floors, too, were protected with sawdust. Now, according to University Farm School, sawdust, chips, and shavings have taken profitably to the woods and fields—as an excellent source of humus, mulch, and compost; they make excellent livestock bedding, too. Value of these wood products in orchards, gardens, and berry patches is that they are not attractive to mice and injurious insects. Sawdust, so widespread in Minnesota, is also credited with conserving moisture and retarding weed growth.

Bible Comment:

Paul Saw Christianity as War Against Evil

"STAND, therefore." This was Saint Paul's exhortation to the Christians at Ephesus after he had urged them to "put on the whole armor of God," so that they might "withstand in the evil day, and having done all, stand."

That Paul should have seen the Christian life as warfare is not to be wondered at. His whole course was beset with enemies and persecutions.

To the Christians, to whom Paul wrote, life was also a warfare. They may have been free from the most serious persecutions that beset Paul, but they were subject to persecution.

There were hazards in being a Christian. The days, as Paul says, were evil. The pagan environment was hostile and full of temptations of the flesh and of the spirit.

Paul was insistent upon the Christian warfare, and, like a great military leader, he was deeply concerned about preparation, equipment, indoctrination and rousing words of inspiration and encouragement.

And in all this his own example is never lacking. That is a quality of great leaders.

Is the Christian life still a warfare today? It is a significant and important question.

Hostile forces and temptations are no less real, though they may seem less evident and more subtle.

It may be said that we do not think of the Christian warfare as precisely, and as much, as it is set forth in New Testament days.

But this may be because we lack something of the vision that inspired Paul and the early disciples; that we do not see, as they did, the need of warfare, with the call of duty and the call to greatness.

To protect your family from trichinosis, cook all pork thoroughly and never serve roasts and chops while they are still pink.

"It usually doesn't take too long for the man with push to pass the man with pull."

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A GUN RACK

For the sportsman's den a gun rack can be an attractive and handy piece of furniture. The rack is made of ¾-inch lumber, selected to match other wood furnishings. All joints are made with finishing nails and glue, using 3-penny nails where two ¾-inch faces are joined, and 4-penny nails for the other joints. Nail heads should be set for filling. The rack shown in the drawing will accommodate five guns. Add 4 inches to the length of the cross members for each additional gun space required.

Round all sharp edges and sand the completed rack before applying a fine varnished finish.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Sportsmen in every state of the Union have been demanding to know what has happened to the $35 million collected since the origin of the Duck Stamp in 1934. So Sports Afield asked Cleveland van Dresser to find out.

He reports that the Fish and Wildlife Service has never spent Duck Stamp funds in any way that was not legal. The Act clearly states that funds collected by the Duck Stamp tax are to be used for acquisition, development and maintenance of waterfowl refuge areas. The Fish and Wildlife Service did just that—but did considerably more development and maintenance than was acquired. Never has the Service spent Duck Stamp money on acquiring and developing any refuge areas other than those directly concerned with waterfowl.

(As a matter of fact, through land transfers and other types of purchases, the Service has obtained a total of 2,167,926 acres of land suitable for waterfowl management without spending a single cent of Duck Stamp money.)

But the Service is in a difficult situation. Whenever an administration goes economy minded, the first agencies to receive cuts are those dealing with our natural resources. The present administration is certainly no exception.

This year the Bureau of the Budget made cuts in refuge maintenance, law enforcement and wildlife research; Congress made more cuts. The Post Office department got into the act by raising the price of printing Duck Stamps from $32,000 to more than $155,000.

Every time a slash is handed down to the Fish and Wildlife Service, comes the recommendation, "Take it out of Duck Stamp money." These recommendations are endorsed by the Secretary of the Interior, and amount to direct orders.

Sportsmen thought that Duck Stamp money would be used as an extra fund to buy and maintain more refuge areas. But this money had to be used to finance activities that previously had been paid for by Congressional appropriations from the general tax fund.

It is absolutely impossible for the Fish and Wildlife Service to limit Duck Stamp money to refuge programs alone and still do the other things it is supposed to do.

The Fish and Wildlife Service, on Duck Stamp money alone, simply can't follow the directives of the present administration and at the same time pursue a decent waterfowl refuge program. The blame—and the cure—for the situation is in the laps of Congress, the Bureau of the Budget and the Secretary of the Interior.

Splinter-Free Stretcher
A SPLINTER-FREE, very smooth material makes an ideal stretcher for sweaters and socks. Such a material, known as Masonite Duolux, a hardboard that's smooth on both sides, may be obtained at lumber yards. Get the 1/4" thickness.

Before washing a sweater, lay it on a piece of the Duolux, marking its outline with a piece of chalk. Then cut around the outline with a jig saw or coping saw. Now lightly level the edges with sandblock or file.

Before putting the stretcher in service, prime and paint it. Stretchers of this material will last for years.

Health & Beauty

Many adults fail to understand why teen-agers tire easily. When you take into consideration the tremendous physical growth taking place and the emotional strain of this period, it is easy to understand.

A girl or boy often grows six to eight inches in one year. The heart doubles in weight and muscles grow more rapidly than bones, stomach and lungs. Remember this when you see a teen-ager moping about. It is nature's way of slowing down a body under the strain of excessive growth.

Nine to ten hours of sleep each night is essential for a growing child. Make sure your teen-ager has enough of the right kind of food each day.

A quart of milk, a serving of meat or fish, at least one egg, two green vegetables and one yellow vegetable, fruit, including the all-important citrus fruits, whole grain or enriched bread or cereal make up a balanced diet for young people.

Your doctor may advise extra calcium and vitamins be added to the diet. If a growing child's appetite is very poor, be sure a doctor is consulted. Sometimes a teen-ager is very much overweight. This in itself can cause fatigue.

However, never attempt to put your child on any kind of a diet without first paying a visit to your doctor. Let him tell you how much, if any, weight the child should lose and prescribe the diet.

Pallor often accompanies teenage fatigue. This is not always a sign of anemia. Have a blood count and hemoglobin test made to help determine the cause. This condition can usually be corrected by a diet that includes plenty of milk, eggs, liver and green vegetables. Iron supplements may prove necessary.

Instruct your child in proper eating habits. Tell him or her why it is important for them to eat a balanced diet and get enough rest during this important growing period of their lives. If teen-agers are made to understand the lasting effects of incorrect eating and insufficient sleep can have on their lives, chances are they will go along with you.

Here is a bird beloved by sportsmen, bird watchers, farmers, artists and musicians and probably disliked by no one. It has been coddled, persecuted, neglected, studied, protected by law and by popular opinion, fed, starved, helped and hindered. It has vanished from much of its original range, increased in numbers in some areas, established itself and been introduced in others. It stays by its home territory the year round and survives fire, heat, storm, flood, snow and ice. It needs to be better understood and the National Wildlife Federation in part through this sort of article hopes to help toward that end.

The bob-white quail is about 11 inches long with a wing-spread of about the same amount. It may weigh up to 9 ounces but commonly has about a six-ounce weight. It has a short tail, a generally mottled brown appearance with light underparts and rather conspicuously contrasting light and dark areas on the head and throat. Where the male is black on the head the hen is brown.

The range of four subspecies covers most of the United States, these subspecies including the Florida, the Key West, the Texas and the Eastern. Its enemies are man, foxes, birds of prey and disease but its greatest numbers may be reached in areas where its enemies are abundant if ample cover is available for the needed protection. Under intelligent management and strict following of known rules providing survival, it may maintain itself with suitable harvestable surpluses. Its value as a destroyer of insects and weed seeds, as an inspiring songster and as a friendly neighbor must not be overlooked in any evaluation of its qualities.

A pair of bob-white may remain as mates for over a year even though the cock may find it necessary to win his bride each year. The cock bird builds the nest on the ground though several birds may use a common nest. The hen lays from 7 to 28 eggs just over an inch long and these are incubated by both birds for 23 to 24 days. The average hatch is about 86 per cent of the eggs laid.

If a nest is broken up or the young are killed early a second brood may be established. Both parents take part in the rearing of the family. Survival in winter is possible largely through the cooperation of the members of a flock, it being rather essential that the size of the coveys do not drop below 10 birds. The family usually remains together through the first winter with the breakup coming with the spring breeding season. The individual range of a bob-white is usually about one square mile for its lifetime.

Game managers have evolved many ingenious methods of getting information on the abundance of these splendid birds and if their recommendations are usually followed there is an excellent chance that the birds may remain to please all of their many admirers. It is doubtful if there are many forms of wildlife that rank so high in popularity with so many persons of different interests. Long may we hear bob-white over a generous portion of its suitable range.—E. Laurence Palmer.

Factual News About The Eyes

HOW TO SEE IN A PINCH
The middle-aged person, who needs more and more light to see clearly, may find a certain trick helpful occasionally, says the Better Vision Institute. When he's caught without his glasses and has to look up a phone number in dim light, he can usually distinguish the numbers by cupping his hand into a tiny pinhole and looking through it.

The reason for this is fairly simple. Under low illumination the pupil expands, so that larger diffusion circles fall upon the retina—that is, the rays of light are spread out and produce blurred images by imperfect reflection. The cupped hand clears vision by eliminating these diffusion circles, and the same effect is accomplished as when stronger light makes the pupil contract.

But this is only a makeshift emergency measure, the Institute

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Government agencies are cautiously edging toward the position that this country has more farmers than it needs. This could reinforce the purely budgetary pressure for reducing farm subsidies.

Farm spokesmen have long stressed the figures that 2 percent of farms produce 26 percent of all farm products marketed, with a mere 484,000 farms—out of the nation's total of 5.3 million—accounting for half of gross farm sales. They use this chiefly as a jumping-off place for warnings that the nation will collapse when the family-type farm is no longer the principal provider of food and fibers.

A more resigned outlook is evident in statements like those of Earl Butz, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, in observing that the long-term trend is toward fewer and bigger farms and a smaller total farm income.

When 1954 returns are all in, farm income will have fallen about 6 percent from 1953. Farm prices fell more than that, but sales volume—aided by a late comeback of the cotton crop—rose enough to partly offset the price cuts.

SAFETY RECORDS—For the second time, Hughes Aircraft Company at Culver City, Calif., has broken the all-time world's record for safety among all industries associated with the manufacture of aircraft. From February to July this year there was not a single lost-time accident in the company, for a total of 10,202,574 man-hours.

The previous safety record, set by Hughes Aircraft Company in 1953, was a total of 8,755,340 man-hours without a lost-time accident.

Hughes officials attribute the success of the safety program to a high degree of safety consciousness among all employees and to ten special safety committees, with more than 300 members in all, who are constantly alert to any plant hazards.

THINGS TO COME — Babies and mothers are new-products targets: A new thermometer refuses to let the baby start to drink anything that's too hot or too cold. A grocery co-operative plans a one-stop shopping section where the busy mother can get all the baby's needs. . . . Motorists will welcome a gadget that conveys the exhaust fumes outside the garage, allowing a winter warmup inside. . . . New plastic toy musical instruments for Christmas will include a three-foot tuba with a real tuba tone. . . . A container-board blanket container, holding four, stimulates sales and provides a permanent storage facility.

AUTO-CLAIM SPEEDUP—The best way an insurance company can cement customer relations to assure repeat business is to settle claims as swiftly as possible. Most companies strive continually to speed settlements.

One firm does this by relying almost completely on its own large staff of adjusters. Each of these men can accurately estimate the most extensive car damage in a few hours, and some member of the staff is never far away from almost any point in the country.

For the first six months of 1954, this company group, the Service Insurance Companies—which covers about a million cars at any given time against fire and other physical damage—made claim payments within an average interval of less than 12 days from the date the claim was filed. That record represents a reduction of a half-day in elapsed time as compared to first-half of 1953.

"Due to the training and experience of our own adjusters," said Emil Chervenak, Service president, "there is no need to spend time obtaining competitive bids. Working largely through factory-authorized car dealers, they quickly reach a repair figure that is satisfactory to the insured, the repairer and the insurance company."

BITS O' BUSINESS — More than a billion dollars' worth of state and municipal bonds were authorized in the November 2 election. New York State will spend a third of this huge sum. . . . U. S. exports in September of this year were $975 million. September, 1953, was a billion-plus month. . . . Auto makers' schedules of 1,080,000 cars to be assembled this month and next mean an all-time production record if they are carried out. Business inventories in September turned up less than seasonally, after a four-month decline.
