Supt. Lists Reasons for High 1955 School Taxes

Several people have approached the members of the county school committee and the county superintendent's office in regard to the unusually high rate of school taxes in areas that have recently been attached to high school districts.

The county school committee had endeavored to explain this very situation at the time of the public hearings before orders for attachment were issued. However, because of these questions having been asked again of the committee, this news release was made in order that everyone may have an explanation of the reason for this tax increase.

The county high school tuition and transportation tax is paid each year for the previous year's service. In other words, the tax bills in 1955 include a payment for the school term which ended in June of 1954. The school administrators make the tuition accountings after the close of school, the reports are then sent to the state for approval, and later approved by the county school committee. After the local committee's approval, the county clerk does the accounting for the county area involved. Each such area that becomes attached to a high school district must pay this county tuition and transportation tax as well as the direct tax which the district levies during the present school term. After this first year, only the direct tax is paid as through the attachment of the area ceases to be a tuition area.

The committee wishes to repeat that this so-called double tax is had only during the first year, and does not continue as some parties had thought that it would.

Miss Zautner, Don Hansen Store Goes Out of Business

St. John's Lutheran church, West Bend, was the scene of a wedding ceremony Saturday, Jan. 29, in which Miss Janet Betty Zautner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Immanuel H. Zautner, West Bend, became the bride of Donald Roger Meisenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meisenheimer, Kewaskum. The Rev. W. P. Sauer presided at the 4:00 o'clock ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of pale pink Caresso faille with pale blue accessories and carried white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Joan Zautner, as maid of honor. She was attired in a frock of pale blue Caresso faille with pale pink accessories and pink and white carnations.

The bride attended West Bend High school. Her husband graduated from Kewaskum High school where he was active in athletics. He now is a member of the Kewaskum Land o' Lakes basketball and baseball teams. He is employed at the Cooley Mfg. Co. in West Bend.

HERRIGES-BUTT

In a 7 o'clock ceremony performed in Immanuel L. church in the town of Scott, the Rev. E. R. Enrekling on Saturday evening, Jan. 22, Miss Joyce E. Butt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Butt, R. 2, Kewaskum, became the bride of Donald J. Herriges, R. 2, Kewaskum, son of J. and Mrs. Math. Herriges.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon net fashioned with a very full skirt of tiny ruffles and was full length. The fitted bodice had puffed sleeves and a flowered sequin neckline.

She was attended by Mrs. Audrey Filter as matron of honor, wearing a blue lace, waltz length gown with a pleated nylon skirt. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of white and shrimp colored flowers. The bridesmaids, Shirley Moegenburg and Marilyn Hafmann, wore identical gowns in shrimp lace. White and blue flowers formed their heart shaped bouquets. Little Linda Herriges, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl.

Vern Schacht was best man for the bridegroom and Andrew Herriges, a brother, and Allen Kempf ushered. Serving as ring bearer was Thomas Boesch, the bride's cousin. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Ernisse's hall. After returning from their wedding trip, the couple will make their home with the bride's parents. The bridegroom is an employee of the West Bend Aluminum Co. His bride, a graduate from Cedarburg High school is employed as a bookkeeper at the Cedarburg State Bank.

Indians Beat Oakfield, Campbellsport Again

The Kewaskum High school Indians clinched at least a tie for second place by winning two more games the past week. They are now two full games ahead of thirdplace Rosendale with only two more tilts left to play. Last Friday night at home they soundly trounced Oakfield, 58-55, for the second time this season and on Tuesday evening at Campbellsport they also beat the Bells for the second time, 54-36, playing without regular guard Mark Rosenheimer. Campbellsport now is in fourth place and Oakfield fifth.

The Indians took a commanding lead over Oakfield in the first period and were well ahead all through the contest. At the end of the quarter, the Mitchelmen were on top 25-8, and increased their advantage to 47-24 at the intermission. They were still ahead by 23 points at the close of the third stanza, 66-41, and gained more ground in the final period to win by 30 points.

Harry Klein and Tom Peterson had a big night in scoring and set the pace with 23 and 22 points respectively. Guard Bloom was the main point getter for the losers with 20 points. The Indians still have a chance for the title, being a game and a half behind undefeated local leading Brandon, but it doesn't appear that anyone will knock them off before the campaign ends.

In the game at Campbellsport Tuesday, Forward Klein again was the big run for Kewaskum with 19 points. Peterson was next with 11 and Bradtke had 10. Center Felix led the Bells' scoring with 12 points. The Indians outscored Campbellsport from the free throw line, 12-9.

It was a closely contested tilt until the third quarter when the Indians held the Bells without a single point while swishing in 11 themselves. In the opening stanza the Indians were ahead by only one point, 14-13, and only gained one more button in the second quarter to bring it to 27-25 at the intermission. Then came the Bells' fatal scoreless third period which ended 33-25. Kewaskum again outscored their opponents by four points in the final quarter.

On Friday night of this week the Indians traveled to Lomira to meet the tail end Lions and next Friday North Fondy closes the conference here.

TRI-COUNTY STANDINGS

FIRST AID CLASS OPEN

Anyone interested in joining a class in first aid is asked to kindly contact William Martin at the Kewaskum Municipal building. The first class of instruction will be given by Marvin Martin next Thursday evening, Feb. 10, at 7:30 p. m. in the municipal building. The classes will continue for a period of ten weeks.

Chevs Tie for 1st Half Lakes Title

The first half of play in the Land o' Lakes league finally ended up in a three way tie for first place. Kewaskum and Campbellsport both won make up games with Horicon, during the past week to gain a first place deadlock with West Bend, which had finished the schedule earlier.

The Chevrolets made up their game at Horicon last Thursday night and easily defeated that team, 96-74. Campbellsport's game against Horicon was run off Saturday night and the Bells also won although they had a much tougher time of it and had to come from behind to win. The score was a close 93-85. A playoff will now be staged between the three teams to decide the winner. A meeting was held this week to arrange for the playoff.

After a tight first half, Kewaskum pulled away from Horicon and had no trouble in romping to victory. The tussle was real close in the first period and the Chevs possessed a narrow 25-24 advantage when it ended. Kewaskum gained a little ground in the second stanza and held a 5-point lead at halftime, 41-36. Then, while checking Horicon with 10 points, the winners swished in 28 points in the third period and were able to take things easier. The count stood at 69-46 going into the final quarter.

Lean George Hanrahan was by far the scoring ace of the tilt and dropped in 30 points for the Chevs. He had 14 field goals and 2 free throws. The rest of the scoring on the Kewaskum team was pretty evenly divided with Augie Hilgo and LeRoy Keller each getting 15 and Don Meisenheimer and Frank Krueger adding 12 apiece. R. Wrucke and C. Spettel, two veterans, set the pace for Horicon with 21 points each. The winners outscored Horicon on free throws, 18 to 12.

This Sunday night Kewaskum meets Horicon again. But this time it is on the home floor and counts in the second half standings.

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Second Half)

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Rows: West Bend, Campbellsport, Kewaskum, Horicon, Rosendale, Cedarburg, Mayville.

Results Sunday—West Bend 84, Mayville 70; Campbellsport 65, Rosendale 54; Horicon 65, Cedarburg 56.

Games this Sunday—Horicon at Kewaskum, Campbellsport at West Bend, Rosendale at Mayville.

RIVERS FIVE LOSES TO HORICON, THIENSVILLE

The local Rivers cagers had a bad week end, losing two contests. Last Thursday at Horicon they were defeated, 83-67, and Sunday night on the home court they tasted defeat again when Thiensville turned the trick, 76-69. The Horicon tilt was a make up from the first half.

Against Horicon Kewaskum trailed throughout the encounter, 21-14 at the quarter, 47-51 at halftime and 61-47 at the end of the third period. Kilmpel and Seichert of Horicon, with 29 points apiece, were top scorers. Hawig led Kewaskum with 19.

The contest with Thiensville was much closer. The teams were neck and neck all the way. Kewaskum was ahead, 18-17, at the quarter but dropped behind, 34-31 at the intermission. The third stanza ended at 56-52, Thiensville, which team gained its largest lead in the final period, winning by 7 points, 76-69. Jim O'Connor starred for the winners with 31 points. Seefeldt, with 25 points, Hawig with 18 and P. Dreher with 17 were the best for Kewaskum.

LAND O' RIVERS STANDINGS

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Rows: Hartford, Cedarburg, Slinger, Horicon, Thiensville, Fillmore, Kewaskum, Hustisford.

Results last week end—Thiensville 76, Kewaskum 69; Hartford 59, Fillmore 58; Slinger 87, Hustisford 69; Cedarburg 45, Horicon 41.

On Monday night, Jan. 31, the local Kiwanians took their son and guests to a program including Fred Cone, fullback for the Green Bay Packers, and the latest color film of the Milwaukee Braves baseball story. Those fathers who did not have a son brought their neighbor or his son. Bill Meredith, operator of the Republican Hotel, had to knock out the walls in his dining room to provide room for the 75 persons attending this event.

Fred Cone was provided by the Miller Brewing Co. of Milwaukee which uses this means of sports promotion to advertise their product. The sons as well as the fathers enjoyed the stories of Fred Cone about his home town in Pineapple, Alabama, and about interesting experiences as a pro football player.

The event was a huge success and Bill Bartolt, who planned the program, wants to thank all the members for their co-operation.

Dr. Edwards Asks for Heart Fund Donations

All during the month of February, 1955, R. G. Edwards, M. D., Kewaskum Heart Fund Drive chairman, is asking for contributions for the fight against heart disease.

This year, as in past years, the largest share of the money will be used for research and physician education programs on heart and blood vessel disease. The rest of the funds will be used for lay education and community service projects.

This fight against the nation's greatest killer is brightened by the fact that past Heart Fund Drives have paid off—research is helping heart disease victims. For example:

Deaths from an infection of the heart lining have been reduced from 100 percent (before World War II) to less than 20 percent today.

A drug called diuremar, which was discovered in Wisconsin in 1933 and which was first used on patients in 1942, has saved the lives of one third of all heart attack victims, according to some experts. Operations on hearts (particularly for children's heart diseases) are common today, chiefly because of a method of "looking into" heart which was developed in 1941, it consists of pushing a thin tube through a vein in the arm and into the heart. Through this tube, blood samples, passages and blood pressures are studied.

Plastic valves are now being used in hearts where disease has destroyed natural valves; blood vessels from one person are transferred to another in one type of operation; machines have been developed in the last few years which do the work of the heart while it is being operated on; and new refrigeration is being used to lower body temperatures and the need for blood in the body when heart surgery is being performed.

These developments show that heart research is saving lives. Last year, $63,000 was invested in heart research at the University of Wisconsin and Marquette medical schools. The generosity of Wisconsin citizens will determine how much more research will be supported next year. You are helping your heart when you help your Heart Fund. Contributions should be sent either to Doctor R. G. Edwards, or to HEART, % Postmaster.

LOCAL CHILDREN APPEAR ON TELEVISION PROGRAM

Mary and Jack Stelplflug, children of the John Stelplflug, and Tommy and Danny Stoffel, children of the Gerald Stoffels, Kewaskum, together with their cousins Joanne and Diane DuPont of Milwaukee, were guests on the "Little Amateurs" television program over WTMJ-TV, Milwaukee, last Thursday afternoon.

Games Sunday—Horicon at Kewaskum, Slinger at Thiensville, Cedarburg at Hartford, Hustisford at Fillmore.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

This picture will bring back two kinds of memories for the student who took it—one of the play for which all the making-up took place and another of the prize it won in the National High School Photographic Awards.

School Days Are for Remembering

SCHOOL days are filled with the wonderful things that give us all some of our fondest memories in later years.

That's why we're so firmly convinced that every high school student should have a flash camera of his own—or be encouraged to use the family camera. We know from experience what pictures of school activities can mean—because we can look back and think of the pictures we wish we'd taken. We treasure our school yearbooks—but they reflect general interest. The things the high school student snaps with his or her own camera are the things that are personally important.

When the best girl or boy friend stars in the class play—that's a time for pictures... the big game of the season ought to be covered from your point of view, even if your only contribution is selling candy bars.

While we're talking about school picture taking, there's another aspect of teen-age photography we shouldn't neglect.

THERE'S PRIZE MONEY IN IT! The National High School Photographic Awards—an annual contest for students in grades 9 through 12—opened January 1 and will continue until March 31, 1955.

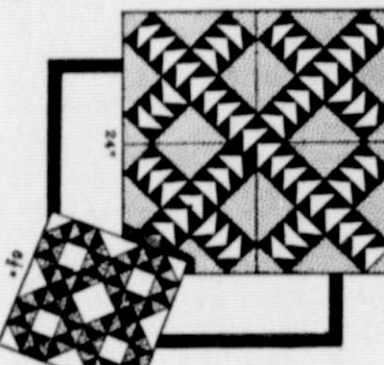

This isn't limited to school activities pictures. In one of its four classes there's a place for any picture you snap—or have since last April 15. Top prize in each class is $300. Altogether the prizes add up to $5,000.

Most schools have rules folders telling all about this contest. But if yours doesn't—you can get one by sending a post card to National High School Photographic Awards—343 State Street—Rochester, New York.

Buggy Makers Still Make Buggies

Buggy making, though not exactly booming, still is a business in the United States.

At least two companies maintain their listing as buggy manufacturers in farm equipment directories. Here and there work a few other lingering craftsmen—Roman Schrock of Walnut Creek, Ohio, for example, who by law has to put headlights, taillights and parking lights on highway buggies he builds to order.

The biggest buggy factory—Standard Vehicle Company of Lawrenceburg, Indiana—makes about 800 passenger vehicles each year. Its catalogue lists nearly 50 different models, from surreys and phaetons to sulkeys and horse-show pony carts. From it can be bought "Our Mail Route Buggy," or the "Blue Grass Special."

Amish and Acadians
For steady transportation, says the National Geographic Society, only two groups of Americans still buy buggies in any numbers: Amishmen, the devoted Ammanite farmers whose somber garb and German idiom may be found from Pennsylvania to the Midwest; and the French-speaking Acadians of Louisiana's southern "Cajun country."

Though the Amish valleys of Pennsylvania, square canvas-topped family buggies and open bachelor's runabouts roll along behind clip-clopping horses as if automobiles had never been invented. Although their numbers are decreasing, Old Order Amish stick steadfastly to horse and buggy travel wherever it will do the job.

Probably half the buggies built in the United States go to Louisiana. New buggies are seen as often as new cars in some small bayou towns. Buggy dealers support showrooms, blacksmiths repair iron-rimmed wooden wheels, and stores and doctors' offices keep hitching posts outside. Long-maned Creole ponies pull high-wheeled family buggies into town on roads that often would mire more modern conveyances.

Carriage and Coach

While plain buggies are still fairly common in some rural areas, the day of fancier carriages seems dead. The victoria, brougham, barouche, rockaway, landau, cabriolet and sociable are among the vanishing models.

What happened to all the countless old coaches and carriages of a short half-century ago? Who has ever seen a buggy dump comparable to auto graveyards?

A few stagecoaches stand in museums, a few buckboards bounce around estates and dude ranches. Recently, a refurbished Conestoga wagon rumbled into Wheeling, West Va., following the path of the old National Road and commemorating the forerunner of the covered wagon.

How to Cement Loose Linoleum

You can add many years to the life of your linoleum by keeping the loose edges cemented down. If the edges are loose, they become broken or chipped. Before long, large pieces become broken out, and the linoleum must be patched or replaced.

QUERY: My kitchen linoleum has been on for ten years. It is in good condition except for a few places where the border keeps coming unglued. I have tried gluing it several times but it does not hold. What should I do to make it stick? —Mrs. H. S. R.

ANSWER: Turn up the edge or corner of loose linoleum as illustrated, and clean the underneath side. If household glue has been used, remove as much as possible without breaking the linoleum, or tearing more of it loose.

Do not let the cement dry on the surface.

Apply weights to the cemented area while the cement dries. It might be a good idea to remove the weights after they have been on for a few minutes, to make sure no more cement has oozed. If it has, remove it, place a new paper on the bottom and replace the weights.

Animal-Grown Human Tissue To Be Tested

The Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research announced recently they had accomplished a successful growing of human lung tissues in laboratory animals. The significance of this announcement lies in the fact that the Institute is seeking to test the reaction of chemicals present in cigarettes on human lung tissue.

The animal-grown human lung tissue is to be subjected to extensive tests with components of cigarette smoke and the results may go a long way toward identifying the exact chemicals in cigarettes which cause irritations and which many research groups say cause cancer.

Heretofore, research was limited to tests of chemicals on the skin of mice, and this skin does not necessarily react in identical fashion to human skin. Now that human lung tissue has been transplanted to laboratory animals, and successfully grown, a new avenue for research is at once opened.

If the components which cause irritations on lung skin are identified in cigarettes, they could be removed from the cigarettes and the danger in smoking greatly lessened. Filters could also be designed to trap that particular chemical, a process which is now difficult in view of the lack of knowledge as to specific irritants which cause trouble.

Adult Can Lend Heart And Lungs To Save Life of Blue Babies

Dr. G. Walton Lillehi, of the University of Minnesota, recently told the story of a new type of operation to save the lives of babies suffering from a heart ailment which prevents full purification of its blood with its lungs. Dr. Lillehi headed a medical team which has pioneered the operation. The operation requires the loan of some adult's heart and lungs. The borrowed heart and lungs are connected to the chest of the ailing infant and purify the child's blood.

The adult's heart pumps purified blood back into the child's body for something like a half hour. If the borrowed heart and lungs are not available, the child's heart could be opened for repair of the defects, which threaten its life. The opening of the heart for repair would normally cause death.

In most of the operations performed in this series, a parent or a member of the family, has volunteered the use of heart and lungs for the operation. Doctors say the adult undergoes some risk in lending his heart and lungs to babies in such operations.

The cross-circulation method of operation has made possible four different types of operations within the living heart, and this opens up many possibilities of saving lives not heretofore possible.

The Subject of Money

A seven-years collection of pennies will make a nice little present for the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rollofson, Sandstone, Minn., a cereal box weighing 30 pounds yielded $43.87 which it took two persons an hour and a half to count out in 4,387 pennies. . . A $2,000 ferris wheel ride would be quite an expedition—and that is what Pat Schemel nearly paid for one when his name was called as a prize winner at the Renville fair in Minnesota while he was atop the ride; but he got down in time to claim his prize. . . When W. F. Meyer was seven an uncle gave him a 50¢ piece; pretty soon he didn't have it; when the family home was recently remodeled in Worthington, Minn., Mr. Meyer, now a 37-year-old grocer, found his birthday present behind the wainscoting.

CHIPPED BEEF AND CORN CASSEROLE

Casseroles—those wonderful one-dish meals—probably receive more votes of thanks from homemakers than any other dish served.

Because of a casserole's ease of preparation and appetite appeal, it's no wonder that every homemaker worth her salt is always on the lookout for a new and different version.

Chipped beef and corn casserole is a perfect new one-dish luncheon. The nonfat dry milk solids ingredient featured in the recipe makes this casserole economical, nutritious, and easy to prepare.

Nonfat dry milk is simply milk from which only the fat and water have been removed. It contains all the important protein, calcium, and phosphorus of whole milk.

The convenience of nonfat dry milk is a factor in its increasing popularity. It does not take up refrigerator space, as it can be stored conveniently on the cupboard shelf along with other staples used in cooking.

CHIPPED BEEF AND CORN CASSEROLE

2 quart casserole
4-6 servings
350 degree oven, 30 min.
1/4 cup butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
3/4 pound dried beef
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup Nonfat Dry Milk Solids
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups water
1 egg, beaten
2 cups whole kernel corn
1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
Melt butter in saucepan. Sauté chopped onion and green pepper. Add dried beef and cook for about 5 minutes. Blend in flour, Nonfat Dry Milk Solids, and pepper. Slowly add water and cook until thickened. Blend in egg by first adding small amount of hot mixture to egg; then mix into the hot dried beef. Add corn (frozen corn need not be precooked). Pour into buttered 2 quart casserole and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

An attractive dish piques the imagination and stimulates the appetites. The next time you invite guests for dessert, serve torte and coffee.

Almond Macaroon Torte

1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 cup finely chopped almonds
5 egg whites
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
Sift together 1/2 cup sugar and the flour into a mixing bowl. Add chopped almonds. Beat egg whites with the salt until soft mounds are formed when beater is raised. Gradually add vanilla and 1/2 cup sugar. Fold in the dry ingredients gradually a few tablespoons at a time. Turn into 2 well greased and lightly floured 8 inch round layer cake pans. Bake in an oven 350 degrees 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Spread mocha butter cream between layers and on top and sides. Sprinkle with toasted slivered almonds. Chill at least 4 hours before serving.

Mocha Butter Cream

5 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cream
Toasted slivered almonds
1/2 cup strong black coffee
1 tablespoon cocoa
1/2 cup creamed butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Beat together in a saucepan the egg yolks, sugar, flour and salt until light and fluffy. Blend in 1/2 cup cream and coffee. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Remove from heat. Add cocoa, blend well. Cook to lukewarm. Add creamed butter and vanilla.

Coconut Torte

1 cup flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
3/4 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups fresh grated coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/4 cups milk
4 egg whites well beaten
1 1/2 cups heavy cream whipped
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add crumbs. Thoroughly cream shortening and sugar. Stir in coconut and vanilla. Add dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Fold in egg whites. Pour into two 8x8x2 inch pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes in an oven 375 degrees. Cool. Spread whipped cream between layers and on top and sides. Sprinkle with grated coconut.

Mocha Torte

4 eggs
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon powdered coffee
1/4 cup cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar. Sift together coffee, flour, and baking powder. Add to the yolks. Beat whites until stiff and fold into the egg yolk mixture. Spread in 2 greased 9 inch layer cake pans. Bake 25 minutes in an oven 325 degrees.

Filling

3/4 pint heavy cream whipped
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1/3 teaspoon powdered coffee
3/4 teaspoon vanilla
Add sugar to whipped cream, add powdered coffee and vanilla. Spread between layers, on top and sides. Chill about 4 hours.

Chocolate Torte

1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
5 egg whites beaten stiff
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/3 cup flour
5 egg yolks
1 pint cream whipped
1 teaspoon vanilla
Beat sugar into whites a tablespoon at a time. Mix cocoa and flour. Add to egg white mixture. Spread in a greased floured pan, about 10x14 inches. Bake 20 minutes in an oven 350 degrees. Turn on a floured board. Cool. Cut cake in 4 even pieces. Spread 3 with whipped cream, which has been sweetened and flavored with vanilla. Stack evenly. Spread the entire cake with the following:
2 squares chocolate melted
1/2 cup confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon hot water
1 egg
3 tablespoons butter
Add sugar to melted chocolate in a double boiler. Add hot water, blend well. Add egg, beat until smooth, add butter. Spread over entire cake.

Officers Named by ADA Board of This District

Officers were named and programs reviewed at the first meeting of the new board of directors in District 5 of the Wisconsin American Dairy Association at Fond du Lac recently.

Elected were Sam Stanchfield, Fond du Lac, president; Elmer Berg, Brownsville, vice president; and Herman Schreiber, Sheboygan secretary-treasurer. Nominations to represent the district on the state ADA board were Robert E. Cook, field, producer, and George Gould, Waupun, industry member. Other members of the board are Winbur Bohnhoff, Plymouth, and Paul Bucher, Allenton.

District 5 is made up of dairy farmers and industry representatives of Dodge, Fond du Lac, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties.

The delegate voting system, proposed for action at the state ADA annual meeting in Madison Feb. 23-24, was discussed and, by resolution of the directors, recommended for adoption. A review of the recent state board meeting, held at Fond du Lac Jan. 13, was given by Bird and Dwayne Dickinson, area fieldman.

W. L. Phillipsen, state membership director, outlined activities of the state and national ADA organizations, including a progress report, national promotions for early 1955, June Dairy Month, the Dairy Caravan, food page publicity and merchandising ideas.

It was suggested that the district board meet again early in April at Fond du Lac.

Brucellosis meetings were held in all townships of Washington county during the past week. These meetings were conducted by E. E. Skallakey, county agent. He was assisted by Arthur Kurtz, formerly agricultural instructor, West Bend High school, and Dr. Shippman, both of the State Department of Agriculture, Madison; also by Dr. J. T. Kennedy of Hartford, state veterinarian supervisor of Hartford.

At each township meeting personnel was appointed to circulate petitions in favor of the Plan A

RHEUMATISM

Much intense pain and suffering has been caused by rheumatism; at this time of year with its chill and dampness, it is more noticeable. Rheumatism is a general term applied to pain regardless of its location in the body, and is often named according to its location. It is called lumbago if it affects the lower part of the spine, sciatica if affecting the nerve in the leg, neuralgia if it affects the nerve of the skin and so forth.

Nerve irritation accompanied by an over abundance of toxins in the body merely aggravates an already irritated nerve and causes more pain. The primary cause of nerve irritation is usually found in the spine and must be removed to get permanent relief.

'Lungs' Meant Life or Death For 6,000 Stricken by Polio

Life or death for more than 6,000 of the 40,000 polio victims stricken in 1954 depended on iron lungs and other breathing aids, according to a preliminary report from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The report showed that approximately 15 per cent of all polio victims needed mechanical breathing aids to stay alive in 1954. The National Foundation said it had been able to move almost 2,000 March of Dimes respirators into epidemic areas to save lives in 1954. In addition, over 600 rocking beds were supplied to patients.

Every effort is made to get patients out of their iron lungs as soon as possible, the National Foundation said. But about 900 of those stricken in 1954 still are in tank respirators all or part of the time. They have joined another 1,000 patients from previous years whose horizons still are limited to the mirrors at the head of their machines.

More Need Help Today
 "The March of Dimes goal is to free as many as possible," declares Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation. "Recent increases in the percentage of patients with severe paralysis, who depend on breathing aids to stay alive, make it imperative that more facilities for weaning such patients from iron lungs be provided."

"Fortunately, improved treatment techniques have been developed—largely through March of Dimes grants to 13 regional respirator centers—that offer real hope of freeing the majority of such patients."

Patients Help Each Other
 In 1950, the March of Dimes provided initial funds for two pioneer respirator centers to bring small groups of iron lung patients together for treatment. New equipment had to be devised and special personnel trained. Results began to be seen almost at once. A few patients freed from iron lungs and able to go home encouraged others. By the end of 1954, twelve of these centers were in operation, with a 13th about to open.

Total capacity of all centers is 400 respirator patients and 160 using no mechanical breathing aids. For the latter, improved physical and occupational therapy enable them to gain self respect and the chance to become self supporting.

Since the first center opened, over 1,000 respirator patients have been admitted, with almost 750 liberated from their regulating iron lungs. This is a program that pays off in human as well as economic values," said Dr. Van Riper, "but March of Dimes funds are vital for its operation." The 1955 March of Dimes is now going on

Germantown High School District to Be Created

At a meeting held in the Germantown Legion hall, Thursday, Jan. 27, the Washington County School committee was requested to create a Union Free High School district in the town and village of Germantown.

Members of the school boards of the elementary districts in the town and village and officials of the two municipalities attended the meeting called by the County School committee.

The request came when the meeting unanimously adopted a resolution asking the county committee to "take whatever steps necessary" to create a high school district for all of the town of Germantown and for the village of Germantown as well. In addition to become part of the new district. Adoption of the resolution followed a thorough and complete discussion by the school committee of the high school problem as it affects the southeastern portion of the county and an explanation of estimated costs and related tax information if the area should form its own high school district.

In leading the discussion on the problem, Atty. Deane R. Bascom, chairman of the County School committee, emphasized that this was a high school plan only and that it would not effect in any way the independence or local control of the elementary districts in the area. This plan, he said, is in contrast to the so called integrated plan where the local district is abolished and becomes part of a large urban school system.

Atty. Bascom assured the meeting that the committee would immediately undertake the task of are prepared the committee will order hearings to be held in the area and will, if the plan receives support from the electors, order its creation by July 1 of this year.

YOUNG OR OLD, you never outgrow your need for milk. Remember this—milk is one of nature's most complete foods and the only practical source of the calcium you need for teeth, bones and body functioning. Drink at least three glasses of milk every day. Then you'll be sure you are getting enough for your daily calcium requirement. And say... milk tastes good, too, doesn't it?

TEACUP TOPICS

By BETTY ANN

Your best foot forward is your right foot, and it became so thru years of superstition. Back in ancient times, the right side of the body symbolized your positive, successful or masculine side. Because the heart beat on the left side, the ancients became fearful of such feelings, and so it became the mysterious, negative or feminine side. Haven't you ever wondered why men's clothing buttons to the right and women's clothing to the left?

Whether your best foot forward is your right or not, you still have to stand on both feet! American women have 10 times more foot trouble than men. If you don't believe this, check under the bridge table or in the theater! Fashion says to change your shoes three or four times a day, and rest the body by getting into different heel heights. The shoe industry is trying to give you the same freedom in shoes that your feet have when you're barefoot. One of the ways to do this is to wear soft, featherweight shoes.

Take a good look at your feet. Are they red, angry and sore? You hear so much about "dishpan" hands—it's about time we paid some attention to our feet.

Instead of using two large traverse draperies across your window wall, try hanging your window dressing in six or eight small sections. Slipstitch the sections together along the side hems.

Then when a soil spot shows up, you can simply remove that one section for quick suctioning—with no need to remove all those yards of fabric.

It's a good idea, too, to have two spare sections on hand, just in case. Replacing one small panel saves time and money.

Avoid furrows between the eyes from reading. There should be no glare on the paper, the book should be 14 to 20 inches from the nose. Don't bend over the book, but bring it up to the correct distance.

The posture of your feet is as important as that of your hands. Look at an old snapshot of yourself and note the uncomfortable look of your "uncomfortable" stance.

Not being able to find time for a haircut or manicure, if you have them in beauty parlors, is nonsense. Each time you go, make your appointment for the next cut. Then mark it in your appointment book. There'll be time that way.

Butterhorns

One cup shortening; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 cup less 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 cup boiling water; 2 1-ounce yeast cakes; 1 cup lukewarm water; 2 eggs, beaten; about 7½ cups all-purpose flour.

Dissolve shortening, salt and sugar in boiling water. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in one cup lukewarm water. Combine liquid mixtures. Add eggs. Add two and one-half cups flour. Beat well. Add remaining flour, or enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly on floured surface. Place in greased bowl. Cover. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Divide dough into fourths. Roll each piece of dough on floured canvas into a circle about 12 inches in diameter. Cut into 12 equal pie shaped wedges. Start rolling from wide end of wedge. Place on greased cookie sheet with pointed end of roll down. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake at 400 degrees about 15 minutes. Makes four dozen.

Chocolate Drop Cookies

One cup butter; 2 cups sugar; 4 egg yolks; ¼ cup sweet or sour milk or top milk; ¾ cups flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon soda; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 squares or ounces melted chocolate; 1 teaspoon mace or 1 teaspoon vanilla; ½ cup nuts if desired. Almond or rose extract may be used instead of mace or vanilla.

Cream butter, add sugar and cream again. Add melted chocolate; unbeaten egg yolks and beat all together. Add cream or milk and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Add flavoring. Put in refrigerator to chill overnight or for a few hours. If desired to bake immediately drop from spoon onto cookie sheet far enough apart to allow dough to spread. They also may be rolled into small balls between palms of hands. If rolled, slice about one-third inch thick, cut with cookie cutter and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees. This recipe makes eight dozen cookies.

About Your Home

By FRANCES DELL

Vegetables, cooked in a tightly-covered saucepan with half their weight in water, have been found to be superior in appearance, flavor and color to those prepared in a waterless cooker.

Larger amounts of ascorbic acid can be retained in such vegetables as broccoli, peas, snap beans, asparagus, Brussels sprouts, cabbage and cauliflower when the correct amount of water and a tightly sealed saucepan is used. This method is very important because ascorbic acid, or vitamin C, is highly sensitive to heat.

Veal shoulder roast is a good buy now at about thirty-three cents a pound. The shoulder cut is very meaty, with very little bone or fat.

Have your butcher bone a four-to-five-pound square-cut shoulder. Cream two tablespoons fat with one crushed clove garlic, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon sage and pepper to taste. Rub over boned areas of meat and the roast into shape.

Cook covered in a moderate oven for about two hours. Turn meat often in the fat to baste it. It may be necessary to add a little water during cooking.

Remove roast to a hot platter. Strain broth, skim off excess fat. Add water to make two cups of liquid. Thicken with a tablespoon of corn starch, mixed with three tablespoons of sherry.

Heat in the gravy, turning often to glaze surface. Remove the strings.

COUNTRY PLAYERS

LES CARROLL

WHEN "Let Me Go, Devil," was released a year or so ago, it did not create much of a stir. However, with a change in lyrics and as "Let Me Go, Lover," it is now very popular. There are two excellent recordings of it in the country field, with a male version by Hank Snow (RCA) and a female version by June Carter (Columbia).

The Davis Sisters also do an oldie, "Tomorrow's Just Another Day to Cry," that should popularize it. And Grandpa Jones sings an old folk song, "Some Little Bug Is Going to Find You," that is very well suited to his humorous style (both RCA).

Carl Smith has come up with another pretty ballad, "Kisses Don't Lie," that is tops. Another fine ballad is "Over an Ocean of Dreams," by Vin Bruce. And little Jimmy Dickens deserts comedy for a sweet song, "Conscience" (all Columbia).

Song writer Mitchel Torok's latest, "Roulette," is a catchy novelty song, and his recording of it rivals his famous "Caribbean." Red Foley does a fine job singing the blues in "Walkin' in the Cold Cold Rain," while Justin Tubb & Goldie Hill offer a double feature in "Fleekie Heart," a pretty ballad, and "Sure-Fire Kisses," a tilting novelty number (all Decca).

For MGM Jesse Rogers (Ranger Joe) sings a rollicking number, "I Gotta Love Just Like I Live," while Bob Wills, who does so well with San Antonio numbers, has another good one, "Waltzing in Old San Antonio."

Rose Maddox sings very appealingly the beautiful "There's No Right Way to Do Me Wrong" (Columbia). And Joan Hager's "I Feel Like Cryin'" features echo chamber answer effects that enhance the song (Mercury).

Some fine sacred numbers are: "Working in God's Factory," by the Smith Brothers (Capitol); "Reno & Smiley's 'Springtime in Heaven'" (King), and "I've a Precious Friend," by the Chuck Wagon Gang (Columbia).

New Cheese Bread Bubbles Over With Tasty Nutrition

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

HERE'S a big value in home baking—cheese bubble loaf. The extra milk solids and the cheese that go into it add lots of extra nutrition while making it taste better, too.

Cheese Bubble Loaf (Makes 2 loaves)

Three-quarter cup milk, ¼ cup sugar, 2½ teaspoons salt, 4½ tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup warm (not hot) water (lukewarm for compressed yeast), 1 package or cake of yeast, active dry or compressed; 4½ cups sifted, enriched flour; 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine; ½ pound Cheddar cheese, grated.

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large mixing bowl (warm, but not hot, for active dry yeast, lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm mixture. Add half the flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl; brush top with shortening. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, about 1 hour or until doubled in bulk. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half.

Form each half into a roll about 12 inches long. Cut each roll into 24 equal pieces. Form into balls.

In 2 well-greased loaf pans about 9x5x3 inches, place a layer of balls about ½-inch apart. Brush lightly with the melted butter. Sprinkle with half the grated cheese. Arrange a second layer of balls on top first. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Cover.

Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, about 1 hour or until top of dough is slightly higher than edge of pans. Brush with more butter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Here's a delicious vegetable dish for your winter menus:

tomatoes, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper, ½ teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons boiling water.

Wash beans. Remove tips and cut into 1-inch pieces (set aside for later use). Broil bacon until brown and crisp in a heavy skillet. Remove bacon, drain and set aside for later use. Add snap beans, tomatoes, seasonings and water. Cover. Cook slowly until beans are tender (15 to 20 minutes).

Remove to serving dish. Crumble bacon over top before serving.

Wasted? Not Always

More than half the average log-ged-off trees wind up as waste. Which seems to conservation-minded folks unnecessarily wasteful, hence research constantly seeks new uses for wood waste.

Some of their findings: Sawdust, shavings, chips are excellent for soil conditioning and humus; five tons plowed into an acre will do wonders; in manures or plain, splendid hay and pastureland mulch; in orchard, among berry bushes and vines, in gardens and flower beds, repellent to rodents and insects. As chicken litter and barn bedding absorbs moisture without matting. Good aggregate in mixing insulating concrete, excellent insulation in natural state. Sawdust can be used in place of sand as a non-skid; dampened, makes a fine sweeping compound.

Forgotten States on Undrawn Maps

States named Franklin, Jefferson, Deseret, New Connecticut, Kanawha, and Susquehanna might exist today, had history taken different turns.

These were all once would-be states or territories, the National Geographic Society says. Today they lie buried on forgotten maps of America's early years.

The State of Franklin, for one, had a governor, constitution, courts, and capital in the mountains of what is now northeast Tennessee. Set up at Jonesboro in 1784 when North Carolina gave over her western land to Federal protection, Franklin for five years knocked vainly at the Nation's door for admission.

Coonskin Republic

Even earlier, settlers along the Watauga, Nolichucky, Holston, and French Broad Rivers had formed a homespun government called the Watauga Association. Neither Watauga nor Franklin was destined to survive. Franklin, the coonskin republic, was officially superseded by the "Territory South of the Ohio." John Sevier—"Nolichucky Jack"—Franklin's first and only governor, a decade later became the first governor of the state of Tennessee.

In 1859, miners around Pikes Peak formed a "Territory of Jefferson" and sent a delegate to Congress. During the next two years Jefferson incorporated the city of Denver and set many land titles. Then Congress gave it a new name: Colorado.

Deseret lasted longest of all. Organized in 1849 by the Mormons at Salt Lake City, the proposed territory embraced a vast area extending from the Rockies to the Sierra Nevada—plus even a strip of Pacific coast near San Diego.

Congress rejected the name chosen by Latter-day Saints and established a smaller Territory of Utah in 1850. Again in 1861, however, the Mormons founded a "State of Deseret." Its ghost government met and passed laws for nine years while waiting in vain for recognition. A stone tablet bearing Deseret's name in the Washington Monument is one of its few physical reminders today.

New Connecticut was the first name proposed for their state by the settlers of Vermont. A dele-

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A FIREPLACE BELLOWS

A bellows adds useful antique charm to the home fireplace.

Using ½-inch lumber, first draw a pattern and cut out two bellows boards. Clamp them together, and drill a ½-inch hole in the end so that half the hole is in each piece. The hole is 3 inches deep. Cut off 1½ inches of the tip of one piece and glue it to the other, forming a tube. The 1-inch intake holes are drilled in only one board.

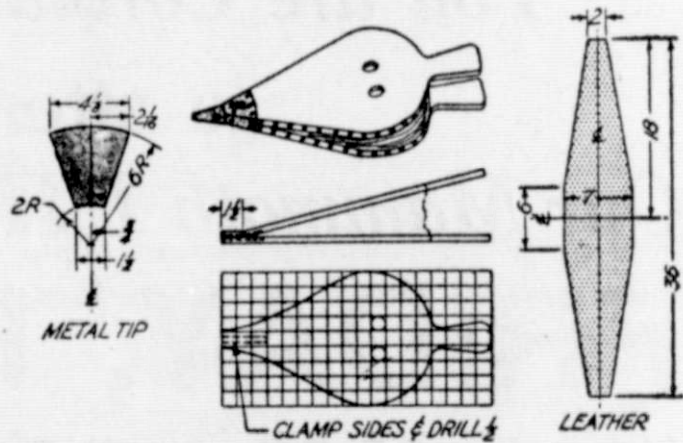

For the metal tip, make a pattern on .030 metal. Cut out the metal and roll it into a cone, lapping the edges ¼ inch before soldering. Shape the large end of the cone into a square, and shape the end of the bellows with a knife to fit the square. Fasten the tip into the square with glue and ¼-inch brads.

A leather web is cut from soft hide. From the scrap cut two flapper valves, 2 by 2 inches. These are stretched under the intake holes and fastened with a tack at each corner.

Fold the edge of the web to produce ½-inch double thickness, and fasten to the boards with ornamental tacks.

Another piece of scrap leather is glued over the metal tip, and studded with ornamental tacks.

In FASHION now

Spring clothes are being shown to buyers all over the country. It seems prints will be very much in vogue. Printed shoes, bags and hats will be very smart.

Sandals are once again the top choice for Spring and Summer footwear. There are all kinds of color combination here. Clear plastic combined with leather and fabric will be popular.

Hat designers seem to think short hair is here for another season. Judging from their designs, they definitely call for a tailored hairline.

Jewelry will be cool and comfortable. White on black still a fashion-note.

There will be several new fabrics on the market. They are less transparent than nylon but have many of its easy-to-care-for traits.

Straws are the predominating favorite in the collection of Spring hats at a recent fashion showing. White is frequently seen but the new bright colors were outstanding.

It seems that almost any shape will be seen this Spring. Some hats were larger and highly decorated while just as many were small and head-hugging.

Some hats featured accessories to complement them. There were plain sweaters elaborately embroidered and skirts that were fancifully fashioned of straw lace.

There are two important trends in beach-wear for the resort season. They are the covered-up look and the lowered waistline.

The covered-up look swim suits feature neck lines that reach to the throat in front and drop low to the waist in back.

Long-sleeved shirts in gossamer organdy and beach jackets which cover the majority of the figure are often seen.

The new lowered waistline, so popular now, is the newest line for bathing suits. Some suits have the old-fashioned middy look.

By Ted Kesting

Tarpon fishing in many sections of the world has been overshadowed in recent years by catches of giant-sized tuna, marlin and other enormous fish. But the fact still remains that when these silvery fish of the tropics are taken on correct tackle, the thrill and excitement is difficult to equal.

It is widely distributed in all tropical seas, and on rare occasion has been found as far north as Nova Scotia. During the mid-summer season of 1953 two tarpon, one of 80 pounds and one a few pounds over 100, were caught by commercial fishermen from the harbor of Halifax. Tarpon have been taken from the surf at Cape Hatteras by sportsmen fishing for channel bass. All along the shores of the states that border on the Gulf of Mexico, tarpon may be fairly plentiful during the spring and summer months.

There is very little positive knowledge about just where tarpon spawn. While many very small tarpon are found in the upper parts of brackish-water streams, it is believed by some anglers that tarpon may spawn at sea and the small fish seek the protective waters of the stream for several years.

Tarpon are so hard to hook because their mouth is as hard as stone. Robert D. Hall, salt-water angling editor of Sports Afield magazine, says that if you let the fish get the bait well in the rear of its mouth, chances are good that your hook will penetrate the fleshy portion of the mouth, instead of glancing off the flint-like front portion.

They will strike at a wide assortment of artificial lures. Metal spoons are excellent for trolling for big fish. Fly-rod anglers are taking many fair-sized fish on streamer flies and small spoons. Bait-casting rods have accounted for a great number of tarpon from Florida's drainage ditches, and many of the fresh-water bass plugs are attractive to them.

What tackle you use depends much upon your ability. The tarpon should be classed as a light-tackle fish, since its method of fighting is mostly by surface exhibitions of leaps and bounds. A rod of light action will cushion the shock of such jerks like a flexible steel spring between you and the fish. A heavy, stiff rod puts you at a disadvantage since it does not absorb the sudden jerks caused by a jumping fish.

U. S. Husbands Are Home Bodies

Hazen G. Werner, chairman of the National Council of Churches Department of Family Life, recently said studies into the family life of American families show that husbands are becoming home-bodies. He said it was obvious that the process of domesticating husbands was picking up speed.

More and more, Werner said, husbands are helping with the shopping in the super market, and piddling around the house with hobbies and doing chores.

The Rev. Raymond R. Peters, executive secretary of the Dayton, Ohio, Council of Churches, says there is much greater interest today in sound home life than there was even ten years ago. Peters says young people are especially serious about their home life and home life problems.

He noted also that U. S. families are growing in size and said larger families gave children more security and better development toward maturity than smaller ones.

These words come from men who are familiar with efforts of the National Council of Churches' Department of Family Life to look into American households. They reflect a healthy and progressive condition, a trend toward larger families and an upsurge of interest in family life among the nation's youth—all of which is encouraging.

Factual News About The Eyes

LOOK OUT FOR THESE DANGER SIGNALS

Everyone should have a visual examination once a year, says the Better Vision Institute, and that of course people with certain troubles need more frequent attention, according to the directions of their specialists. In between routine visits, better make a date with your eye man promptly if you have any of the following symptoms:

Dark areas when one eye is closed, haziness as in looking through fog, or colored rings around lights; oversensitivity to bright light; difficulty seeing in dim light; tendency to hold material too close or too far away in doing near-point tasks such as reading or sewing; discomfort, blurring, or double vision; pain in or around the eyes; headaches associated with use of the eyes.

Also inflamed eyes, swollen, red, or crusted lids, itching, smarting, or burning sensations, or excessive watering of eyes; inability to obtain a definite depth effect in 3-D movies; deviation of either eye in any direction at any time; unequal size of the two pupils; failure of the pupils to contract in bright light; and tilting of the head or persistent turning in one direction while observing objects.

Bob Grim Named Rookie of 1954

Bob Grim, a rookie pitcher for the New York Yankees this year, was recently selected by baseball writers as the American League rookie of the year. Grim won twenty games for the Bombers during the 1954 season.

Grim's record is impressive, but what is more impressive is the way he broke in with the Yankees. It proves that a player with talent—even though he hasn't spent the usual number of years jumping from one minor league to another—can make the grade.

Grim came back this year after two years of service in the Marines. The highest he had ever been in professional baseball had been with a Class A team—Binghamton. Even so, he showed so much promise in the Yankee's spring training camp that Manager Casey Stengel finally made him a regular Yankee—shortly before the season opened.

With this incentive, Grim worked in thirty-seven games during the year, and pitched 199 innings. In that time he allowed only nine homers, struck out 108 and walked 85.

It is good to watch a success story unfold in this manner, an unheralded star turn into one of the game's great performers. Grim's achievement will encourage all those youngsters who think they have the goods to deliver, but who are told they're not ready, to shoot for the moon. It can be reached.

Days Now Getting Longer & Colder

The sun passed its winter solstice just before Christmas and the shortest day of the winter season, December 22, is now past history. Therefore, from now on, the days will be getting longer and longer until June, in which month the longest day of the year will arrive.

Although the days will be getting longer from now until June, a long winter is just setting in. It might be wondered why—with the days getting longer and the sun shining an increasingly longer number of minutes and hours the earth continues to grow cooler, and cold weather reaches its height.

The answer lies, to a great extent, in the fact that the earth stores up much heat during the warm months, and the days of long periods of sunshine. This warmth carries over from summer, and the long days of spring and summer, well into fall, and even into early winter. The shortest days of the year, which we have been experiencing recently, have their effect, however, and the earth has lost much of its heat and will only slowly regain it, as the longer days return. This explains why winter is just beginning even after the shortest day of the year has been reached.

Use Right Words

There is a great difference between the right word and the word that is almost right. For instance, you can call a woman a kitten, but not a cat; a mouse, but not a rat; a chicken, but not a hen; a duck, not a goose; a vision, but not a sight.

HACKBERRY
© 1954 National Wildlife Federation
Celtis occidentalis

Here is a tree that is probably mistaken for an elm by many. In general shape it resembles an elm though this may vary considerably. It is frequently grown as a street tree being planted alternately with elms. At a distance the amateur might notice little difference.

Hackberries grow to a height of 120 feet but are usually shorter than this. The trunk may be to 4 feet in diameter. It is the bark that usually gives the tree away as not being an elm. As the name implies the bark seems to be hacked into small warty ridges without the graceful long grooves characteristic of the American elm. The bark is usually light gray in color.

The leaves of hackberry are placed alternately on the twigs. As in the elms their bases are uneven with the lobe back from the tip of the twig being the fuller of the two. The margins of hackberry leaves are finely toothed, being much more so than in the elms. The leaves are to 4 inches long and to 2 inches wide.

Hackberry twigs are reddish brown and usually more slender than are those of elms. They tend to be zigzag rather than straight and in winter bear buds whose tips are pressed closely to the twig. When split lengthwise the twigs show a pith with a series of crosswalls in it.

Hackberries bear their flowers in early spring. They may bear either stamens or pistils or both stamens and pistils. If they bear one or the other, flowers of each kind will be found on the same tree. The fruits are cherry-like in appearance and may not be borne in abundance each year. The flesh is less abundant than one would ordinarily find in a cherry and the pit is unusually large. The fruits are edible, orange brown to purple and sweet tasting. They become ripe in September but may remain on the tree through the winter unless they are harvested by birds. The fruits are borne singly in the axils of the leaves. Where found in numbers they were eaten and relished by the Indians.

Hackberries range through most of the United States except for eastern New England and the Southwest. They seem to be most common east of the Dakota-Kansas area. The presence of hackberries in much of their present range is due to their being planted for use as shade trees.

The wood is of little value when compared with that of elms or oaks. The leaves are often covered with powdery mildew in late season and the twigs often form clusters of "witches brooms" due to a fungus infection. However their neat close bark and straight trunks makes hackberries popular as street trees.—E. Laurence Palmer.

Health & Beauty

Medical science makes new discoveries every day. Many new types of treatment and medications are developed so rapidly it is hard to keep up with them.

Serpasi is a new preparation derived from a plant. It is used in cases of hypertension and nervous disorders. It is especially effective to relieve persons in anxiety.

Chlorpromazine is related to the antihistamines and aids in relaxing muscles, relieving itching and lowering body temperature. It acts as a sedative but does not confuse or depress the patient.

Trevald is a boon to ulcer patients but is still somewhat in the experimental stage.

Hydrocortisone is a modification of cortisone. It brings relief to arthritis victims and can be injected directly into painful joints.

All these new drugs are administered only by a doctor and, when using them, your doctor's directions must be followed to the letter.

Behind The Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK—This is the time of year when business and industrial leaders come out "in front of the scenes" and give their views on the state of the Union's economy. Here are some of the expert observations:

Total consumption of new rubber in the United States during 1955 should approximate 1,280,000 long tons, an increase of about five per cent over 1954, says the president of a leading company.

He suggests that the anticipated upturn of production and sales in the rubber industry during 1955 may be slightly greater than the increase predicted for general business. Mounting automobile registrations and expected high production levels for new cars and trucks account for this optimism.

Tire sales for replacement and original equipment will probably exceed 1954 totals by 4,000,000 units. Over-all industry tire sales amounted to about 95,000,000 in 1954. Sales of replacement passenger car tires may be about 2,000,000 more than the 47,500,000 sold during 1954, and total passenger car tire sales, replacement plus original equipment, may increase to 79,300,000 from 1954's sales of about 76,250,000.

Adoption of tubeless tires by automobile manufacturers for use on 1955 models is considered to be one of the most significant developments of the year in the rubber industry.

PACKAGING GAINS—One of the oldest of the nation's packaging mediums, the collapsible metal tube, is looking ahead to one of its most successful years.

"The improved demand for this type of container during the second half of 1954 is expected to continue," an executive secretary of a Collapsible Tube Manufacturers Council, reports, "and 1955 should find the industry operating at another high level of production."

While final figures are not yet available, the industry's 1954 output will approach and may possibly equal or exceed 1953 production of 6,682,405 gross or nearly a billion tubes.

The industry, comprising 16 manufacturers and 20 plants throughout the U. S., produces various sizes and types of tubes for the packaging of toothpaste, medicinals and pharmaceuticals, shaving creams, cosmetics, household and industrial items and food products.

Increasing recognition of the collapsible metal tube is reflected in expanded use by producers of dentifrices, cosmetics and household and industrial products.

Another factor contributing to the industry's favorable outlook is a smoother flow of orders due to a decrease in packagers' inventories.

Although tube production has almost doubled since 1939, the industry has manufacturing facilities on hand to substantially increase volume if the demand warrants.

GAS APPLIANCES—Three factors expected to give the gas appliance industry its busiest year since 1950 are: the construction of 1,300,000 new homes; record expenditure of $6,250,000,000 on home modernization, and continued expansion of the nation's natural gas pipeline system during 1955.

"By the end of 1955 at least three major gas appliances will be used in the average home where only one was employed in 1945," a managing director says.

To meet this demand manufacturers, distributors and dealers are replenishing inventories which have dropped to a near low for the postwar period.

The house-heating division of the gas industry is confident. Comparative records show that sales of gas central heating equipment (boilers, furnaces and conversion burners) this year are running 14 per cent ahead of last year, while the sales of oil burners, their nearest competitor, have fallen 13 per cent behind 1953 figures.

Schowalter on Assembly Committees; Sends Letter

Elmer Schowalter of Jackson, Washington county's representative in the state legislature, succeeding K. Wm. Haebig of Kewaskum, has been named to serve on two committees of the legislature, this office was informed the past week. Schowalter has been appointed to serve on the Committee of Agriculture and on the Committee of Enrolled Bills.

In a letter to the Statesman, Schowalter writes in part as follows:

"We are active for the third week, Tuesday, Jan. 25, the different committees were announced." Schowalter listed the committees and number of members in his letter.

"I have been named to the Committee on Agriculture with Dr. Ora R. Rice from Walworth county, chairman. I also am on the Committee on Enrolled Bills with Raymond Peabody from Burnett and "I can say I have found the assembly work interesting and educational, and also find I will not be a 'cure-all' in today's times and demands. However, my plans are to try and be a good assemblyman for Washington county. I can be reached by mail addressed E. J. Schowalter, Assemblyman, State Capitol, Box 53, Madison, Wis. or by phone during session days at the Assembly Room, State Capitol.

"I wish for county people to be free with comments, questions to help me or to visit me while at Madison or at my home. Am now staying at the Loraine Hotel.

"I must say thank you to K. Wm. Haebig, former county assemblyman, for the nice letters of introduction. He put out to most assemblymen, including our sergeant-at-arms, Norris Kellman. All appreciated, Bill.

"I find there is considerably more time involved in being assemblyman than to just be there for the hours the assembly is in session. I already note there is much mail received from individuals and groups or companies, also personal visits and phone calls, which are expected, appreciated and wished for."
