NUMBER 22

Tessar, Eberle and Wietor Elected Village Trustees

Justice Hallows Retains Seat on Supreme Court

TOWN OF KEWASKUM, WAYNE
RACES ATTRACT VOTERS TO POLLS TUESDAY

With the only opposition on the ballot being for the trustee offices, the vote cast in Tuesday's spring election in the village was comparatively light. A total of 247 votes were cast, which is only about one-third of the number of eligible voters in the village.

Two of the present trustees, Wayland Tessar and Joe Eberle, were re-elected to office for another two year term. The third incumbent, John Stellpflug, was not a candidate for re-election. The third trustee elected is Cyril N. Wietor, a newcomer, who won out over Carl F. Schaefer. Tessar received the largest number of votes among the four trustee candidates with 203. Eberle was given 181, Wietor 152 and Schaefer 135. Wietor defeated Schaefer by only 17 votes.

All of the other village officials were re-elected without opposition. President James D. Reigle received the most votes of any of the candidates with 227. Elwyn M. Romaine, supervisor, was given 218 and Ralph J. Rimmel, assessor, received 221, second most. Eugene Gnacinski received 15 write-in votes for justice of the peace.

Although he failed to carry the village and Washington county, Associate Justice E. Harold Hallows emerged the victor over his opponent, Stewart G. Honeck, former attorney general, to win election to the supreme court for a 10-year term. The vote in the village was 127 for Honeck and 111 for Hallows. In the county Honeck received 3,597 votes to 3,039 for Hallows but in the state, with 3,316 of the 3,428 precincts reported Wednesday, Hallows received 302,126 votes to Honeck's 288,753, a margin of well over 13,000 votes.

Widespread interest created by opposition for township offices attracted voters to the polls in the towns of Kewaskum and Wayne. Results were as follows:

TOWN OF KEWASKUM

In the town of Kewaskum Arnold Amerling defeated Edward Dorn for the office of supervisor No. 1 by a margin of 84 to 67 and John Muckerheide beat out Earl Etta for assessor by the close margin of 6 votes, 76 to 70. Amerling was re-elected while Muckerheide succeeds John Etta, who was not a candidate for re-election as assessor.

Other officials re-elected without opposition were: Ed. J. Campbell, chairman, 124; William Becker, supervisor No. 2, 133; Alfred H. Seefeldt, clerk, 142; Lloyd Schmidt, treasurer, 138.

TOWN OF WAYNE

In the town of Wayne Earl Schulz with 124 votes defeated William Coulter, 117, and Mike Darmody, 89, for the office of chairman. For the two supervisor offices John Oelhafen, 225, and Elmer Boettcher, 129, defeated Leo Zehren, 118; Frederick D. Spangenberg, 49; George E. Krieser, 44, and Arnold Hawig, Sr., 20. For assessor Arnold Hawig, Jr., 185, won over Willard J. Meyer, 125. Life in New Zealand and the views of a foreign exchange student were revealed to members of the Woman's club Saturday, Apr. 4, when Miss Tungia Baker addressed the club. Senior girls from Kewaskum high school and their mothers were invited to hear Miss Baker also.

Miss Baker, who is a senior at West Bend high school this year, has completed her secondary education in New Zealand and plans to be trained for social welfare work upon her return to New Zealand. She remarked that she "lived with snow" for the first time this year.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. Hammen, Mrs. J. Tessar and Mrs. J. Reigle.

At the meeting the present officers were re-elected for the coming year. Officers are Mrs. Marvin Martin, president; Mrs. R. G. Edwards, 1st vice-chairman; Mrs. J. Reigle, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. A. A. Tessar, secretary, and Mrs. D. N. Koerble, treasurer.
