School Board Approves $2.6 Million Loan to Be Submitted at Referendum

LIVELY DISCUSSIONS
TRANSPIRE AT MEETING

By Ruth Held

of the Kewaskum Statesman
By a vote of 6 to 1, a resolution that authorizes the borrowing of $2,605,000 to build and equip a new elementary school in Kewaskum and to build and equip additions to the Kewaskum High School, the Farmington and Wayne Elementary Schools and the Kewaskum Junior High building was approved by the Board of Education Monday night. Richard Theusch cast the dissenting vote. The motion was made by Gerald Zimmer and seconded by Allen Tessar.

The matter will be submitted to district electors in a Sept. 13 referendum. Voting hours will be from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. at the high school here.

Theusch, who said he has "bones to pick" with the building proposal, stated he feels "we're not going about this in the right way," adding that it is the board's duty to operate as efficiently as possible.

He said the proposed building plan could be brought down to about $1.8 million from the proposed $2.6 million. Instead of putting on a $210,000 addition at Wayne and a $200,000 addition at Farmington, he proposed renting the St. Michael's School which has a 100-student capacity; moving the three portable classrooms to Wayne; and eliminating a $150,000 large group instructional area from the addition at the Kewaskum High School.

He said voters would find it "easier to swallow a $1.8 million building program than one for $2.6 million." He also commented "we can get by cheaper if we build a little larger in Kewaskum and not build at Wayne or Farmington."

In view of the accepted fact that 25 students is an ideal class size, Theusch asked, "what are you going to do if you have 35 in a class in an outlying school?" "Will you divide them into two classes and hire another teacher?" he asked.

He felt that by keeping classes at outlying schools at about 25 and bussing left-over partial classes to Kewaskum, "we can get by with fewer teachers." He cited an instance at the Wayne School last year where there were 33 kindergarten students, too large for one class, so a half dozen or so were bused into Kewaskum, to balance out a smaller group.

Supt. of Schools Floyd Brenholt reminded Theusch that "in the open concept, non-graded type of education we are headed for, the number of students in each grade is not important because we no longer talk of grade levels. Teachers work together."

James Plzak, a Town of Farmington resident, said, "Talk of renting the St. Michael's School has been going on for three years. Can one board member give me an honest answer or a good reason why it hasn't been looked into?"

"We never got a formal commitment," said board member Gerald Secor. Plzak's retort was that Richard Zarling (director of elementary education) wanted a firm commitment from the church board "and three people from the church, including myself, formed a committee and we were waiting to sit down and talk it over with the school board but it never happened."

"You gave us all sorts of excuses why it couldn't be rented including the one that the school is too close to a tavern," Plzak said, to which Secor responded, "It is too close." "It is not," Plzak retorted. "You go by the outside frontage."

Plzak was asked by a board member what grades did he think could be put into the St. Michael's School since there are no hot lunch facilities and he indicated kindergarten. "It was even mentioned one time to bus Kewaskum kindergarten out there," Plzak said.

Mrs. Joe Harlow, a Kewaskum resident, reminded him that when one lives in the rural area, you have to expect your children will be bused. "I live in Kewaskum and even though we pay for busing, I want my child to walk to school," she said.

Plzak contended that moving Kewaskum kindergarten to St. Michael's would open up classrooms in Kewaskum Elementary. Thomas Gundrum, a new board member, also spoke for eliminating the additions by renting St. Michael's and shifting the portable classrooms. "The building program is only good for eight years anyway," he said, "and you'll have to build again." But in the roll call vote, Gundrum voted in favor of the proposed $2.6 million plan.

Brenholt said eliminating additions at Farmington and Wayne would eliminate a central library which he feels is the focal point of an education. "We would be short-changing the kids," he observed.

A comment from the board was that "we went to K-12 to equalize education and by using portable classrooms, we are taking away the open concept type of education."

"I can appreciate some thoughts behind some of the arguments but they are only stop-gap measures," said Board Chairman Richard L. Edwards. Tessar stated "It is the board's duty to be the policy maker — the decision may not be palatable to all board members but this (the package plan) appears to be best for the district."

To which Theusch responded, "If I cannot see my way clear on my tax bill, how can I support it?"

The board approved a resolution to return the money borrowed for the swimming pool. This is to be done on Sept. 29, the anniversary date of the loan.

For informational purposes, John Underwood of the First Wisconsin National Bank, Milwaukee, gave projections on the tax impact if the Sept. 13 referendum is successful. He was asked to make a computation of the impact as it will affect each municipality in the district. That information will be ready for the forthcoming

Beach to Close Sunday; 130 Take Swim Lessons

The village beach will officially close on Sunday, Aug. 22, at 6 p. m. Weather permitting, lifeguards will be on duty until that date. After that date no lifeguards will be at the beach.

The lesson program which ended on Aug. 13 had approximately 130 youngsters as a final total of those who had signed up and participated in swimming instruction during one or more of the four scheduled two-week sessions.

Six of these 130 youngsters passed specific tests as determined by the Red Cross and therefore become eligible to receive proper recognition by receiving a card from the Red Cross, stating their accomplishments. They are as follows:

Senior Lifesaving—Richard Butz, 1325 Parkview Dr.

Junior Lifesaving—Orin Acker, 139 Forest St., and Scott Albers, 340 Clinton St.

Advanced Beginner—Stephanie Matenaer, R. 1, Kewaskum, and Robert Nigh, R. 2, Campbellsport.

Beginner—Joseph Matenaer, R. 1, Kewaskum.

It should be noted that the swim program is not offered as merely a means of earning a card; the instruction offered is designed to present to all those enrolled the basic principles of safe swimming. As outlined by the Red Cross, this includes both the mechanical movements, such as floating, breathing, leg movements, arm movements, etc. as well as the reasoning phase stressing the use of common sense when swimming so as to avoid dangerous situations and accidents by obeying necessary safety rules. Therefore, the fact that a youngster participates in the program (whether he receives a card or not) he has been exposed to the ideas connected with safe swimming and he has been provided a chance to practice these ideas. This exposure and subsequent practice has provided a meaningful learning experience for the youngster, so that his swimming experiences will be both enjoyable and safe—wherever and whenever he swims.

SHEDS ALSO LOST; OTHER BUILDINGS, STOCK SAVED

A large barn and all its contents were destroyed by fire shortly after the noon hour Thursday on the Marvin Tackes farm one mile east of Kewaskum and about one-quarter mile north of Hwy. 28.

Contents of the barn also lost in the blaze included hay, straw, grain, some farm machinery and a pile of lumber stored in the building. An adjoining milkhouse, nearby shed and another grain storage shed were also lost, as was an old automobile standing near the barn. Three other nearby sheds were scorched but were soaked and saved by firemen. Members of the family succeeded in removing and saving some livestock in the barn.

Kewaskum firemen were called at 12:35 p. m. and rushed to the scene with most of their equipment, including the fire truck, equipment truck, tanker and new "brush buggy." Black smoke billowing into the sky was plainly visible from the village at the time. When firemen arrived, the barn was enveloped in flames and already mostly destroyed. One shed was also burned and others had caught fire but were saved. The milkhouse roof was ablaze and the grain storage bin and old car were also on fire.

The heat was so intense firemen had difficulty staying near the barn to save the remaining buildings. The barn burned so rapidly that even the large beams collapsed in less than an hour. Fortunately the house is some distance from the barn and the wind was in the right direction to prevent it from catching fire. Firemen remained at the scene and fought the blaze about two hours.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tackes were gone to work at the time. Cause of the fire is not known but Mrs. Tackes reported that one of her sons was blowing straw through an opening into the barn when suddenly the straw burst into flames.

Further details were not available immediately and the loss was not determined.

Trooper Daniel J. Lutzke of District No. 2 in Kewaskum received the National Safety Council award for 5 years of safe driving.

SCHOOL MEETING

 informational meetings. Underwood said he set up his projections based on an interest rate that would have been current had the bond issue been sold last week. He said the bond buyer index last week was an average of 6.03 per cent over a 20-year debt retirement schedule.

In his report the 1970 actual tax rate per $1,000 of 1969 equalized valuation was $3.13. The total tax of existing debt and the new bond issue is projected to raise that figure to $4.66 in the first year and would reach its highest rate — $5.09 — in the third year. The figures however are projections.

Some of the present indebtedness would have to be re-funded, Underwood said. A school district may go into debt up to 10 per cent of its equalized value. If the referendum passes, the district would be at about one-half of its debt limit. The bond issue would be spread over a 17-year span.

Schaetzel Oil was awarded the fuel oil contract on a bid of 12.25 cents per gallon. Approved was hiring of James Muench as a custodian and Mrs. Elvira Nigh for guidance department teacher aide.

Annual Report By Woman's Club

During the 1970-71 season, the Kewaskum Woman's Club held eight regular monthly meetings, a fall and spring luncheon, a Founder's Day banquet, and a field trip which included a luncheon and a tour of the Galloway House.

The membership stood at 40 at the first meeting in September. One new member was added and the club had two resignations so that the membership at the end of the season was 39. Average attendance per meeting was 22.

The club increased its 1971-72 scholarships to $150. The recipients were Janet Marx and Linda Bullette.

The club raised its funds by having "Luncheon Is Served" for their fall luncheon. It was very well received. They also had their annual cookie sale.

The club continued its support of the following: Kewaskum Public Library, Girl Scouts, local AFS chapter (to which was added an additional $50), Children's Service Society and to the Charity of the Month.

Members donated $25 for food boxes for needy families during the Christmas holidays and provided the Christmas tree in the public library.

The Helen Mears Art Award was presented to the following students: 1st place, Mary Lynne McNamara; 2nd place, Lonnie Miske; 3rd place, Daniel Wanke.

During the season the program committee entertained members with a variety of programs. R. Ryan of the St. Mary's Burn Center showed slides and talked to the club on burn prevention. Sue Behnke related her experiences as an exchange student in Germany. At the Christmas meeting the 8th grade choral group sang for the club under the direction of Mr. Gerhartz. Ivon Andrade Apunte informed members of his country, Equador, through talk and slides. Members and their husbands at the Founder's Day banquet heard Mrs. Conrad Dallenbach speak. Senior girls of Kewaskum High School were guests at the annual senior girls tea. All enjoyed Mrs. Carol Miller of "Housewives Exchange." The Girl Scouts showed the club slides on the Waubun Council. The club invited as their guests the Kewaskum Jr. Woman's Club and Campbellsport Woman's Club to hear Mrs. Anne Griffin's lecture on "Drama in Dress." Mrs. Dorothy Otto informed members on Milwaukee's program of Head Start and Day Care.

The club also signed petitions and wrote letters for our POW's and MIA's. They assisted the Girl Scouts in a fund drive, collected funds for the Heart Drive, put greens in the flower boxes at Christmas and had them planted with flowers for the spring. Some members also helped in the Hunger March.

The club's new season starts Sept. 11. All members are to bring a guest or potential new member. The club's hope is to increase its membership so that they might continue to grow and contribute to the community. Anyone wishing to attend the meeting please contact any Woman's Club member or call 626-2817.

A "400" passenger train of the Chicago & North Western road demolished a farm tractor and stoneboat stalled on a private crossing a mile northwest of Campbellsport. None of the nearly 600 passengers were injured. The tractor was owned by Paul Halfmann of R. 1, Campbellsport, son-in-law of Mrs. Jennie Schlosser of this village.

In a severe storm shortly before midnight Saturday, terrific winds, driving rain and ferocious lightning and thunder caused widespread damage. In areas harder hit barns were blown down, streets were flooded, trees were uprooted and thousands of phones and lights were out of order. Kewaskum was without electric service only a brief time. Some trees were uprooted and many branches torn down. A large advertising sign on the front of the Kewaskum Chief hotel was torn loose from its rigging and blown into the street. On the Albert Uelmen farm near St. Michaels 11 cows were killed by a bolt of lightning. Lightning also struck the Jac. Staehler residence at St. Michaels with family members extinguishing the resulting fire.

The annual Kettle Moraine Baseball League field day will be held at Cascade Sunday when the all-stars of the northern and southern divisions of the league will meet. Giles Wierman, manager of the league leading Kewaskum Utensils, will manage the southern stars and "Soup" Finke, manager of Plymouth's northern leaders, will manage the northern stars. Manager Stan Hodge of the Campbellsport Belles and Manager Pete Jesky of Sheboygan will coach. Joe Badura, Kohler, and Irv Ninnemann, Campbellsport, will umpire. Kewaskum players selected on the southern division team are Harold Marx, pitcher; Paul Kral, catcher; Wayland Tesar and Barney Prost, infielders.

Schedule Meetings On School District Building Proposal

To give everyone ample opportunity to hear about the new building proposal and to get their questions answered, a series of meetings will be held at the various school buildings throughout the Kewaskum School District. Floyd A. Brenholt, new district superintendent, will conduct the meetings. He is also available to speak to any club, group or organization which may wish to make a request. Call the school district office at 626-2160 to make arrangements for club meetings.

A series of four morning "coffee hours" will be held, as well as a series of four evening meetings. The "coffee hours" will be scheduled as follows, all at 10 a. m.: Wayne School—Wednesday, Aug. 18; Kewaskum Community High School Cafeteria—Thursday, Aug. 19; Farmington School—Monday, Aug. 23; Beechwood School—Tuesday, Aug. 24. The evening meetings, all at 8 p. m., will be as follows: Wayne—Tuesday, Aug. 31; KCHS Cafeteria—Wednesday, Sept. 1; Farmington—Thursday, Sept. 2; Beechwood—Tuesday, Sept. 7.

The meetings will all follow the same basic program. There will be a brief presentation and then a period for questions and answers. It would be necessary to attend only one meeting. There is a series of meetings scheduled for the reason to give all district residents a choice of dates. It is hoped that everyone will find enough free time to attend one of the programs.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear husband and father, Louis Butzke, who passed away one year ago. August 18, 1970.

Only God knows how much we miss him.
As this year has gone by.
There's still an ache within our hearts,
And tears still fill our eyes.
We know he dwells with Jesus In Heaven's garden fair,
He watches over him for us
Until we meet him there.
Sadly missed by his wife and children.

THANK YOU

It gave me a great deal of pleasure and comfort to have so many people remember me with cards, gifts, flowers, visits and extra prayers during my recent stay at the hospital. These kind deeds will long be remembered.

Mrs. Gregor Nigh

Lakes Team Upsets Saukville Again, Trounced by Sheboygan, West Bend

The Kewaskum Lakes team upset Saukville there Sunday for the second time this season, 2-1. Saukville had led the league much of the season. But in two other games the past week they were snowed under. In a make-up contest here Thursday night they were beaten by Sheboygan, 9-4, and at West Bend Wednesday night they were humiliated by the loop leaders, 16-2.

Thursday's game was a free-hitting tussle with Sheboygan garnering 13 hits and Kewaskum 11. But the visitors had 5 more runs cross the plate. Jim Klahn connected for 3 hits in 4 trips for Kewaskum, while Clem Jacak and Ron Theusch each went 2 for 4. Rasmussen starred for Sheboygan with 3 for 3, including 2 triples and a double. Winner was A. Dombrock and the loser was Mark Heise who worked 8 innings. Tom Theusch finished up. Kewaskum led, 4-3, after 4 innings but Sheboygan bounced back with 6 runs in the last 3 innings.

Bob Fellenz and Bill McGaw hooked up in a tight pitching duel at Saukville Sunday which Kewaskum won, 2-1. Both pitched 5-innings. McGaw had the edge in strikeouts with 10, while Fellenz had 4, but Bob was the winner. Tom Bartelt paced the winners with 3 for 4, while McGaw also led his team in hitting with 2 for 3. Kewaskum scored in the 1st inning on Bartelt's hit, an error and Terry Melius' hit with Bartelt scoring when the ball got past the centerfielder. Kewaskum was also lucky in scoring the winning run in the 7th. LeFleur walked, went all the way to third on a sacrifice and scored on an overthrow.

Kewaskum would rather forget about the game at West Bend Wednesday night when they were buried by the Lithias, 16-2, in the annual benefit game for the retarded and handicapped children and adults of Washington County. Worst of all Kewaskum was victimized and absorbed their worst beating of the season before a packed grandstand of about 800 people. The win was the leading Lithias' 4th in a row and left Kewaskum with a 6-9 record.

Three big innings wrecked Kewaskum as the Lithias tanned the leather for 16 hits, while the losers got 8. Not only did the losers fail in the pinch but played loosely defensively. Willie Mueller went the route for West Bend. Mark Heise started for Kewaskum, was pounded hard, and Randy Koth came in in the 5th with the score 9-0 to finish up. West Bend made a run-away of it with four-run first and third innings and a six run 7th off Koth, who struck out 8. Dick Burkhardt rapped a triple and homer for the Lithias, Tom Fischer got a homer and single, and Chuck Schroeder collected 3 hits in 4 trips. Two others got 2 hits. Mueller held Kewaskum scoreless for 7 innings, fanning 8, until the losers scored their 2 in the 8th on a single, Terry Melius' triple and an infield out.

Kewaskum winds up the season with Grafton here Sunday.

When calling, the bowler should sign up for either the Saturday morning (bowls at 10:30 a. m.) or afternoon (1:30 p. m.). The meetings will be held at a later date.

RECYCLING TRASH BEGINS IN THE KITCHEN

Did you know that fully one-third of all your garbage may be recycled and reused — thanks to new scientific techniques? Evidence supporting this hopeful statistic comes from a recent Trash Analysis conducted in San Francisco.

Results of the study show that far from being worthless, "trash is cash" and at least 33% of your garbage — particularly bottles, cans and newspapers can be salvaged, processed and reused. In other words, they can be "recycled" — if disposal at home is properly prepared.

The first step in these revolutionary new trash salvage processes begins with the stashing of garbage in your own kitchen. Everyone talks about ecology and the need to protect our environment from pollution and littering. And, basically, all of us — especially the woman of the house — can perform the key role in trash disposal and recycling by our garbage preparation in the kitchen.

Even if no recycling program exists in your community, the following suggestions for handling garbage will make collection much easier for you and for your sanitation department:

- 1) If possible — use 2 garbage cans: one for "wet garbage" and another for trash and recyclable items like cans and bottles.
- 2) Rinse all bottles and jars before discarding.
- 3) Flatten all cans.
- 4) Line all garbage cans with plastic trash disposer bags — to seal in odors and for easier, safer, more sanitary disposal.
- 5) Do not overload bags and when they are full, tie the tops with twist ties and place outside for collection.
- 6) Newspapers should be well tied in 12 inch high bundles and stacked next to your bags.

The next step beyond helping your community with sanitary and efficient trash disposal is taking part in collection of recyclable refuse like cans, bottles and newspapers. To find out more about recycling and how women in the home can help get things rolling, "Consumer Corner" decided to do some research. We asked the Environmental Action Coalition some questions about waste problems, the importance of recycling and how to initiate a neighborhood collection program for recycling.

Here are the facts: the most important reason for recycling is that unless we begin reusing our metals, papers, etc. we will exhaust the nation's resources and soon the world's resources. If that happens, the future generations will live in a depleted, bankrupt, mineral-starved husk of a world where life as we know it will be impossible. Other nations are already catching on to the need for salvaging and reusing materials.

Consider these statistics on materials salvaged for reuse through recycling, called "secondary materials":

A) 25% of all U.S. paper products are made from recycled fibers.

— In Europe, over 50% of paper production is from recycled fibers.

— Each ton of secondary paper stock saves 17 full grown trees.

B) Metals must be reused — according to the Paley Report: "The recovery of scrap in the secondary metals market is essential for the operation of the metal industry." Presented here are the shares (or percentages) of total U.S. metal production which comes from recycled metals:

Metal	Percent of production from Used Materials
Nickel	31.7%
Aluminum	30
Copper & Brasses	45
Lead	52
Zinc	20

From these figures, you can better understand why the U.S. Senate Public Works Committee recently declared "It is now evident that the industrial economy of the U.S. must undergo a shift from a use-and-discard approach to a closed cycle of use-and-salvage, reprocess, and reuse — or else face the alternative of a congested planet that has turned into a polluted trash heap, devoid of plant and animal life, depleted of minerals, and with a climate intolerable to man."

More and more people are now realizing the need for recycling our trash whenever possible. The Environmental Action Coalition has started a "trash is cash" program directed toward aiding community groups in carrying out recycling efforts in their own neighborhoods. Each group establishes and maintains its own collection site in the neighborhood for receiving bottles, cans and newspapers, separating them and preparing them for pickup. The pickup is usually by a local "scrap" dealer who then ships the materials on for processing into secondary materials.

Here are some basic tips to help you organize a community program:

1) First and foremost, locate a nearby market for scrap — a processor who accepts and reduces scrap and trash to secondary materials.

2) Know what materials can be recycled — or, what materials the local scrap dealer will accept.

3) Locate a suitable collection site. It should be large enough to hold up to 3 tons of materials.

4) Find out how to carry or transport collected trash to the collection site.

5) Make arrangements for pickup of materials from the collection site to the recycling station.

6) Know how to prepare trash for recycling: for example, separate colored glass from clear glass and also separate aluminum cans from steel-plate cans and store in clearly marked containers. A label saying "clear glass" or "aluminum cans" would be best.

7) The best container for the permanent separation, storage and shipment of material is the 55-gallon, open-end steel drum.

8) A perfectly adequate means of temporary storage is the plastic disposer bag. Use double bags for safety in handling sharp glass or flattened metal cans.

9) Don't overload bags — each bag will hold up to 40 pounds.

To support this recycling program, a supplementary program should be started to make sure that recycled fibers, metals, glass, etc. are actually being used. It will serve no purpose to collect if packagers and manufacturers don't increase their use of recycled materials — which are often cheaper and which serve as well if not better than products made from primary raw materials.

The concerned consumer can lead the campaign for using recycled materials, and can become a force for change. A housewife, for example, making regular requests becomes a one-woman pressure group. She can request that the supermarket manager order goods packed in recycled paper. This has proven to be a successful tactic. As described by the National Association of Secondary Materials Industry: "Industry always meets the needs and the desires of its customers. If housewives inform the local supermarket that they want only products packaged in paper made from recycled fibers, the message will soon get through to the manufacturers of supermarket products."

"The packaging manager of the manufacturer will then demand from his suppliers, packaging materials made from recycled fibers."

Such quietly effective and persuasive tactics are working on the neighborhood level to insure that recycled materials are being used. Furthermore, housewives are informing supermarkets that some products are "over-packaged" or over-wrapped — and that too much packaging is producing waste paper garbage and is not an efficient use of our natural resources.

As a result of these citizen efforts, several large banks have recently announced that all checks and bank stationery will be specifically ordered from manufacturers who use recycled fibers. The federal government is taking a large part in this new pressure. The White House has instructed the General Services Administration (GSA) that henceforth no less than 50% of all its paper supplies are to be ordered from stocks of reclaimed paper. New York City's municipal purchasing policy has also been updated to help with this problem — and whenever possible, stationery and other papers are to be ordered from recycled paper. One example in industry: boxes and cartons for "Glad" plastic products are made of recycled pulp.

If anyone is in doubt about which paper manufacturers are actually using recycled fibers in their paper products, he may write to the National Association of Secondary Materials Industries, Inc., 300 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10017. He will receive a list of paper companies that manufacture these newspapers — which are just as attractive and as durable as those made from more costly raw wood pulp.

Remember that basically all of these citizen efforts to help with environmental protection and conservation of resources begin in the home, often in the kitchen when you are disposing of your garbage.
