Historic 120-Year-Old Petri Store Business in Wayne Sold

The original Petri Store building which was destroyed by fire in 1948.

The present building which was completed in the spring of 1949.

After being in the family over 120 years, the Petri General Store business in Wayne has been sold by the present operator, Paula Petri, to Ken Merz of Butler, Wisconsin. The new owner will take possession on October 15.

The new business will be operated as Warehouse Supplies for Merz' arts and crafts business and will be known as KLM Sales.

The original owner of the store was Wendell Petri II, son of Wendel and Maria, who was born in 1835 in Hesse Darmstadt, Germany. He came to America with the family in 1848. They settled first in the Town of Polk and then came to the Town of Wayne in 1857, opening the store some years later.

Wendel II married Maria Klumb, who had come from Rhein-Pruesen, Germany, on June 5, 1857.

Other brothers of his settled in the area, too—Jacob, George and Johann (his families in the area include Alfred Seefeldt, Byron Klein, Calvin and Ludwig Schaub).

Wendel II and Maria had a lovely family—George (Lena Lenhardt), grandparents of Paula, Betty Jane (Koepeke) and Ralph George Petri; Katerina (H.J. Lay); Elizabeth (Adolph Rosenheimer); Henry (Matilda Juneau); Lena (Rev. Franz); John (Lydia Hangartner), grandparents of Bruce Petri, Ione Honeck, Doris Kluever, Earl and John Petri and the late Myron Petri; Louis (Mary Hosp); William (Minnie Kirchner), and Rosina (Dr. Wm. Hausmann II).

The family farmed and had a country general merchandise store and cheese factory.

Wayne was a busy area at the time with the Foerster Feed Mill and Garage, Kippenhan's Blacksmith Shop and George Kippenhan's Wagon Shop, Abel Harness and Shoe Shop and Martin's Barbershop and Post Office.

Harvey Kippenhan, now of Campbellsport, a son of George, told Paula Petri they had a saw mill with their wagon shop. The Model T's came to Kewaskum disassembled and they stored them in Wietor's dance hall in the winter until a customer bought one. The cars came in one color—black. (People didn't drive their cars in the wintertime).

John Petri took over the farm in Wayne and the cheese factory, Louis the farm south of Wayne and George the store at the time of the death of their father. George bought and sold seed, bought wool, produce (chickens and eggs) and slaughtered calves. It was a thriving business that employed Rose Hawig, Emma Nessius (Mrs. John Werner) and Nora and Ralph Petri.

When George died in 1921, Ralph and Alma (Hembel) took over the business. The original store building burned down in 1948 and the present building was completed by spring of 1949. Paula came to help her mother in 1944 and she continued after her mother's death in January of 1970.

Cheese Shop Opens Here

Owners Bob and Kathy Kougl have opened a business under the name of Kougl's Cheese Mongere in the former Ours Laundromat building at 411 E. Main Street in Kewaskum.

The store stocks 49 kinds of cheese, sausage, lunch meats, bulk spices, party trays, gift boxes, bulk popcorn, crackers, baklava, pocket bread and snack breads. Additional stock will be added in the future.

Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and Friday nights until 9:00.

The Kougl's have been working toward opening a cheese shop for several years, picking up a piece of equipment here and there as they came across them. This year at the Washington County Fair the opportunity presented itself to open a shop and they took it.

The Kougl's have been in the

Hwy. 45 Closed at Overhead

U.S. Highway 45 just north of Kewaskum at the site of construction of a new overpass at the railroad crossing is now closed since Tuesday, according to Robert Hubing of the State Division of Highways, project engineer.

Hubing said Monday the highway will be closed four to six weeks, depending on the weather, for tearing down the old bridge located 120 feet east of the new structure.

Hubing said work on the new bridge is about two weeks behind, but should be completed in four to six weeks. Pouring of the deck for the bridge was completed Monday. Grading and sodding will be done next spring.

The detour route, he said, is Hwy. 28 to County Trunk S, to County Trunk G, to Auburn-Ashford Road, then back to Hwy. 45. For area residents the shortest route is to take S (River Road) out of Kewaskum north 2 miles to G, continue north on G 1/2 mile to Old Bridge Road, turn left to Hwy. 45.

Highway 28 will remain open during the entire project.

Kiwanis Installs New Officers

The Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum held installation ceremonies of their new officers at their regular Monday night meeting, October 2, at the Wigwam. Wives of the members were guests.

The outgoing and incoming Lt. Governors took part in the installation. The following are the new officers:

President - Floyd Brenholt, who succeeds Dick La Fleur; Vice President - Dr. Dennis Connor, succeeding Brenholt; Treasurer - Clark Pearson, who replaces Ken Rademacher; Secretary - Robert Getter, who succeeds Rev. Darrell Joiner. Ken Rademacher has moved out of the area.

The new Lt. Governor of District 7 S is Arnold Gink of West Bend.

wholesale distributing business, operating as JK Distributors, for the past three years.

The word Mongere is an Irish word meaning a person who sells. Therefore a cheese mongere is a person who sells cheese.

The Kougl's plan on having an Irish theme and dress accordingly.

WHAT IS IN A NAME
Most canned, frozen or dry packaged foods have labels from the food company or food processor, or food distributor. These are called Brand labels. Your supermarket has its own brand labels, too. These have names like "Our Family," and "Pleasant." Another type of product label that is appearing in some stores is a "generic label." This label states only the name of the product found in the can or package. The only thing the consumer can be sure of is that some of the product that is named on the label is in the can or container. The price for the generic labeled product is generally less than the national brand label or the private store label product. The quality may be as good or poorer than the Brand name product. There will be variation in the quality from one pack to another in the generic label product because they do not require a grade specification. Some canned fruits and vegetables may have more liquid than products and some of the product may be substandard. There is also a possibility that the quality and quantity of the pack will be good.

Generic labeled products do cost less. The savings may be from 10% to 40% compared to a Brand name. There is little difference in the nutritional value of the different labels, if the product drained weight is the same.

The consumer must decide if the savings in cost of a can or container is worth the chance.

Bed wetting a problem in your household? Here is a probable solution. Suggest to the child that, while urinating, he or she stop the urination, then release, then stop, then release--3 or 4 times during the process. This will strengthen the sphincter valve and build up better subconscious control. After several weeks of this exercise, bed wetting may very well cease.

Rusch to Hold Citizens Forums

Pat Rusch, candidate for the Sixth District Assembly Seat, has announced that she will be holding a series of Citizens Forums on farm and small business problems.

The Forums are a novel approach in that Pat will not be giving a speech, but rather listening to concerned citizens talk about their problems and what they think should be done.

Explaining the programs, Pat said, "I think we've had enough of politicians who talk on and on. It's time for the people to do the talking, so that the politicians might learn something for a change."

The Forums will be held during the weeks of October 8 and October 22, and will be held in Brillion, New Holstein, and Campbellsport.

Pat said that she added the Forums to her campaign as part of her continuing effort to learn what the voters think is important. She said, "I really think that a candidate should not only take his or her messages to the voters, but also try to learn what the people think is important."

DAR Quilting Demonstration

Mrs. Thomas Miklas, an expert in quilting, will demonstrate various techniques and teach the members of Joseph Marest Chapter, DAR, to quilt at the next meeting on Thursday, October 19, at 1:15 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Miklas, 8960 Townline Road, Kewaskum.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Richard E. Myers and Mrs. Charles Cecil.

Members should bring a variety of prints and solid materials, scissors, needle and thread and thimble. Muslin and filler will be furnished for a small fee by the chairman.

All members planning to attend should call one of the hostesses.

The November 16 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A.C. Kieckhafer. At that meeting Professor Dorothy Dwelle, UWWC, will talk about "Colonial Women."

All prospective DAR members and new DAR members in the area are urged to contact one of the local DAR members to make arrangements for attending one of the chapter meetings.

Susan Engeleiter Withdraws Recount

Early Monday afternoon Susan Engeleiter filed a request with the Wisconsin State Elections Board in Madison asking that the "Petition for Recount" of the ballots cast in the Ninth District September 12 Primary, which she filed on September 27, be withdrawn and that a Republican nominee for Congress be certified.

As of Monday, the recount had been completed in Dodge, Washington, Jefferson, Milwaukee and Ozaukee counties.

While she had a net gain in vote margin in all of these counties, the gains were not substantial in the sense of significantly reducing her total margin of loss (originally 585 of a little less than 70,000 votes cast). All the votes cast on machines in Waukesha County had been recounted. While she picked up some votes, the gains were small.

In her release, Engeleiter said it would have taken until November 1, the week before the general election, for the completion of the entire recount process.

Engeleiter said she would give Sensenbrenner "Whatever support he feels I might be able to provide" against his Democratic opponent Matthew Flynn.

Another Reason Why Insured Savings Accounts Make Good Sense!

Today . . . more than ever before Senior Citizens want safety and the best return you can get on your money.

Safety is vital because your savings are for your future security. You can't afford market losses, depreciation of principal or lower earnings. Insured Savings Accounts are the "Common Sense" answer to your investment needs.

Now . . . new government rules on Long Term Insured Savings Certificates make these Savings Accounts and even better investment for you.

Whether you have individual accounts or joint accounts you can invest in the longer term certificates that pay you more interest . . . either monthly or quarterly.

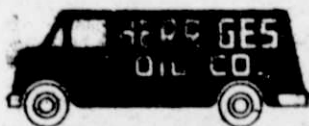

You can do this safely because in case of death of an account holder your estate or the survivor can immediately withdraw all or part of the savings certificate with No Penalty and No Reduction in Interest.

Stocks, Bonds and most other investments do not give you this flexibility. This is just another reason why high rate, Insured Savings Certificates from West Bend Savings make good common sense.

County Project Plans Field Day

The Washington County Project, an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) financed study of sediment and other nonpoint pollutants, is planning a field day to be held on the Howard Proeber farm in the Town of Wayne.

The Washington County Project has been working with local, state and federal agencies in studying pollution caused by chemicals and nutrients from both agricultural and urban areas. These nonpoint pollutants are washed by rainfall and snow melt into local waterways. The pollutants are then carried into surface waters where they can promote over fertilization of water plants and create high chemical levels in bottom sediments, water plants and fish.

The Washington County Project Field Day is being planned for Thursday, October 19, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. The afternoon program will include no till, minimum till and conventional tillage demonstrations and yield data, water quality monitoring equipment and data, a rain simulator exhibit, conservation practices, cost-sharing programs and minimum tillage field machine demonstrations.

Tour groups will be able to view a rain simulator in use. This machine simulates rain storms of various sizes and collects surface runoff of water which is sampled for suspended solids (soil), nutrients and chemicals. The simulator had been used to collect data from a corn field which was prepared by conventional, no till and minimal till methods. Water quality, yield and management cost information will be compared between the three management methods.

Equipment used in the various tillage methods will be on hand for field demonstrations. Also, a water quality monitoring station with its specialized equipment is to be open for public view.

The Field Day is only part of a two day Washington County Project final report. The State Board of Soil and Water Conservation Districts (SWCD) and Washington County's SWCD are co-sponsoring programs to be held on Wednesday, October 18 and Thursday, October 19. The agenda includes Washington County Project monitoring, institutional and educational findings and recommendations from 1:00 - 5:00 p.m. on October 18. A formal State Board meeting will be held that evening. Both of these sessions are at the West Bend Holiday Inn.

The Howard Proeber farm is located at 5036 Hwy. D, West Bend, Wisconsin. For further information, contact Dan Wilson or Jack Trzebiatowski at UW-Extension, 515 E. Washington Street, P.O. Box 537, West Bend, WI 53095 (Phone: 414-334-3491).

Scout-O-Ree to Be Largest Scouting Event in Bay Lakes Council History

Area scouts from Washington, Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Calumet counties will join over 3000 scouts and 1000 adult volunteer leaders during the Bay Lakes Council Scout-O-Ree Mini-Jamboree to be held October 13-15 at Wittman Field, Oshkosh. A wide variety of activities are planned for the three day event, including antique and experimental aircraft flyovers, sky diving, air force displays and hot air balloon demonstrations.

Scouts will participate in scoutcraft skill competition and will conduct a Merit Badge Midway where specific scout activities will be demonstrated. On Saturday evening, the Scout-O-Ree Friendship Campfire and Scouting Pageant will feature the nationally known U.S. Navy Rock Band "Life Boat" and the Pennsylvania Blue Grass Band called "Buffalo Chip Kickers." The campfire activities, which are open to the public, will also include an aerial skyrocket display, multimedia slide show, and candlelight scouting pledge ceremony.

Local scout troops attending the Scout-O-Ree will be putting on demonstrations of scouting skills such as rope bridge building, first aid, nature lore, fire building and outdoor cookery, plus varied scout games.

Wittman Field, site of recent Experimental Aircraft Association fly-ins, will provide scouts with a unique jamboree atmosphere and camping experience.

Budget Revisions on School Board Agenda

Monday, October 16, is the date for the next meeting of the Kewaskum Board of Education. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. and will be held in the central administrative offices.

Budget revisions will be the major topic on the agenda. The budget changes being proposed will cut the tax levy some $30,000 from that which was indicated at the July Annual Meeting. Other carry-over business will include action on policies on full-time students as well as one on check signatures. Purchase of a tune-up tester for the auto shop, a report by the transportation committee on a busing question and action on a long term disability plan will also be items carried over from previous meetings.

New business will include payroll and vouchers payable, approval for short-term borrowing, purchase of musical instruments, setting procedures for the rest of the curriculum studies, two questions of salary schedule placement, long-term disability insurance for the administrative staff, procedures for parents who have questions or problems, purchase of copiers, parent transportation contracts and recognition of the girls golf team for winning the conference championship. Miscellaneous items which come up will also be considered.

Local Students

Attend Annual Ag Careers Conference

A group of students from Kewaskum High School attended the 13th annual Agricultural Careers Conference on September 28 at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. The students heard about a great future in store for those who choose careers related to agriculture and natural resources, but were told there were some "ifs" they should consider.

College of Agricultural and Life Sciences Associate Dean George W. Sledge, in welcoming remarks, said the future for students who accept the challenges of food production and resource management is bright "if you plan ahead, if you take advantage of opportunities open to you, if you prepare to become a true professional and if you take responsibility for educating yourself." A professional, he explained, is one who knows what his profession is, can recognize success and prepares for it.

He added that one key to success is learning how to make a good first impression, because "you never get a second chance to make a good first impression."

The 1,300 students at the conference, accompanied by parents, teachers and advisors, viewed exhibits and attended workshops put on by the college's 22 departments.

Young people from 106 Wisconsin high schools attended.

Sponsors, in addition to the college, included the Ag-Life Sciences Student Council and the Wisconsin Federation of Cooperatives.

Early Harvest Best Step When Corn Has Stalk Rot

By Jack Trzebiatowski
Washington County
Agricultural Agent

Corn stalk rot is a big problem this year. And the wet weather is the main cause.

Stalk rot is caused by fungi that grow in the corn stalks and can so weaken them that lodging becomes a serious problem.

Lodging means harvest losses. But besides that, stalk rot fungi can lower yields by weakening plants and causing early death.

An abundance of soil moisture in the Upper Midwest in June and July kept corn plants from sending their roots deep into the soil. At the same time, the moisture made the plants easy prey to root infection by stalk rot fungi. When the soil dried out later, mainly on knolls and slopes, the shallow-rooted plants were weakened further, and the fungi spread up into the stalks.

Eye spot and rust, two fungal diseases of corn that primarily affect the leaves, also flourished because of this year's high rainfall. Their damage, too, led to early plant death, giving stalk rot fungi more time to grow before corn harvest.

Once stalk rot is in your corn, there's not much you can do, except harvest as soon as you can to keep losses to a minimum. The only way to avoid stalk rot is to prevent it.

You can take steps to avoid problems in the future.

Some hybrids are much more resistant to stalk rot and lodging than others. If you have stalk rot this year, next year plant a hybrid noted for strong stalks and roots — high "standability" in other words.

Also make sure your corn has enough potassium. Generally, if you follow the recommendations of a soil test report, there should be enough potassium. But if you add excess nitrogen to boost your yields, you should add potassium too. Corn is a heavy potassium feeder, and if the ratio of nitrogen to potassium is too high, it becomes subject to stalk rot and other diseases.

Reduced tillage seems to increase the incidence of stalk rot. Crop residues, which harbor the fungi, decompose more slowly under reduced tillage. Following corn with corn also permits a buildup of the fungus. And since corn residues are rich in potassium, their slower breakdown may make a potassium shortage even worse. Even if you add potassium to your fields, reduced tillage might not mix it deep enough in the soil to give immediate benefit.

Since stalk rot is so widespread this year, if you're not certain of your crop's condition, go look at it. If you find lots of stalks weak just above the soil level — you can tell by their soft and flimsy feel when you squeeze them — you might want to consider selective harvesting to cut down on losses due to lodging.

You'll certainly want to harvest your worst fields first. Keep in mind that some late maturing hybrids may be more prone to stalk rot and need harvesting before more resistant, early maturing ones.

You may even want to harvest hardest hit sections of fields first. Many fields with corn on hills and knolls badly lodged already, but with little lodging in lower, flatter sections.

WATER-WITCHING

There used to be a sign in a small Pennsylvania town saying "Water-witching Done Here." To a believer in water-witching, the sign simply said that a person who had the "gift" of locating water by using a forked stick or other device was offering his services to anyone wanting a new well. To a non-believer, the sign indicated ignorance.

Despite the disagreement, it is doubtful if there were many wells dug in Wisconsin, indeed in most of the nation in the pioneer days, without first witching the well. It is estimated that there are at least 25,000 water-witches still operating in the nation today, and Wisconsin has its share of those who believe they have the "gift." They are found largely in rural areas, not in cities where people believe that water comes only from a faucet. It is one of the most persistent beliefs that has survived in the age of science.

Nature of the Belief

Known as witching, dowsing, or divining, this ancient belief is called the "Seventh Sense" by believers. Only one in seven to ten people are supposed to have the "gift" which is inherited from the mother. Scientists call it self-deception and say that there are no known scientific principles that would cause a stick to turn down over water. Geologists say there is water everywhere so that locating it is no mystery and requires no "gift."

Instruments used by Dowsers

There are three principal instruments used—the forked twig of hazelbrush, peach, or willow; the L-shaped rods that presumably cross over water and minerals; and the pendulum, a bottle or wooden container containing water, oil, or minerals (whatever you are looking for) suspended on a chain or a string. But there are a host of other devices used by dowsers.

Forked sticks are cut from trees. One wife complained that her husband killed their peach tree by cutting too many forked twigs from it. Salesmen have been reported in Wisconsin and Montana in recent years offering the L-shaped rods at prices between $12.50 and $15. I have made a pair from the brazing rods sold by welders at a cost of 50 cents. A coat hanger would serve the same way.

History of the Belief

The origin of the belief is obscure, as are most folk beliefs. Among the ancient Greeks and Romans there are frequent references to divining rods, though not for locating water. The Bible (Numbers XX, 9-11) furnishes this evidence: "Hear now, ye rebels, shall we bring you forth water out of this well?"

And Moses lifted his hand, and smote the rock with his rod twice; and water came forth abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their cattle.

Marco Polo reported the use of rods or arrows in the Orient and the ancient Germans used the branches of fruit trees according to Tacitus. However, it was not until Georgius Agricola published De Metallica (1553), a book on German mining, that the use of the forked stick for locating veins of ore was clearly reported. He said:

"There are many great contentions between miners concerning the forked twig, for some say that it is of greatest use in discovering veins..."

The belief and practice spread throughout Europe, and from the British Isles came to the American colonies. After the American Revolution stories of water-witching appear in newspapers. The belief seems most common in the English speaking world.

Since all wells are laboriously dug by hand, it is understandable why any settler might turn to a person with the "gift" to tell him where to dig. We know that the dug well was the common one of the pioneer Wisconsin farms and in the villages, and may assume that the beliefs brought from the eastern states and Europe including water-witching. The belief still flourishes in the 20th century.

Regional Dowsers And How They Work

A few years ago well-driller R.J. Shafer of Fremont had a reputation in that region for water-witching. Water is not easily found in that area, and so the cost of drilling was of special concern. When a farmer wanted a new well, Shafer would go to the place with his forked stick, and when it turned down, would then sit on his haunches holding a straight stick over the spot. It would soon begin to bob up and down. He would count the dips and if there were 50, he would tell the farmer that the well would not cost him more than drilling for 50 feet. A former student, Bob Miller, who worked for this well-driller in the summers, said that the "wagging of the stick really convinced me of the effectiveness of the method."

When the citizens of Burnett County set aside a county park, they failed to find water on three attempts. Then they engaged William Beckmark of Siren who used his forked stick to select a spot, and water was found there.

William Bosak, a dowser in Burnett County, said he can locate water because of the magnetism in his body which is affected by underground water. His greatest triumph, he said, was experienced when he located a well for a farmer in the traprock area. For 50 years this man had carried water from a spring three miles away. Well-drillers had dug dry wells several times, going down through shale and rock. Bosak witched a spot and water was found at 180 feet.

Contemporary Dowsers In Wisconsin

It is not known how many practicing dowsers ply their "gift" in Wisconsin today. It is obviously a considerable number—probably several in every county. My records show 67 names of people who have the "gift," but the number is far greater. After a speech on dowsing in Red Wing, Minnesota, six dowsers wrote me. Here are locate Minnesota ore by walking barefoot over the land.

Proper position for the rods.

"Folk geologists," seers, smellers, and dowsers also followed the discoveries of oil across the continent. Wisconsin water-witches claimed in late 1977 that they had located oil along the Mississippi above La Crosse. This announcement has not produced an oil boom.

L-Shaped Rods

My first experience with the L-shaped rods was on the U.W.-River Falls campus. One day I observed a man with the rods along the edge of the campus. He said he was looking for the water pipe that came over to one of the buildings. When the rods crossed sharply at one place, he told the water department crew to dig there. They found the pipe.

Back in the 1950's I visited nearly every water and sewer department in Northwestern Wisconsin, and asked the question: Do you have any staff member who used the rods for locating underground pipes? At the time there was only one village that did not have a least one person using the rods. On the wall at Barron were five pairs. Crew members said that in the villages there were few maps of underground pipes, so the rods were the only practical means of locating them. The utility and water departments across the nation often use the L-shaped rods. One civil engineer said to me that many of his colleagues carried rods in their

Witching for Minerals and Oil

The belief in witching has never been limited to water alone, though that has been its principal application in American history. When the coal, iron, gold, and silver mines opened up in the United States, it was an easy transition for water-witches to turn to these metals.

The miners who came into Wisconsin's lead regions and the copper and iron ore mines of Michigan and Minnesota, had no science for locating veins except "folk geology." They looked for "signs" of color, terrain, and vegetation, and then confirmed observations with the forked stick. One Cornish miner claimed he could kits but would not admit it publicly.

Summary

The belief that some people have the "gift" to locate underground water, oil, pipes, or precious minerals is an ancient one, but was first recorded in 1556 as being practiced by the miners in Germany. The belief spread throughout Europe and America, where it found wide acceptance locating wells, ore, oil and in recent times, underground pipes. Rejected by geologists and physicists, it has found only limited acceptance among professional people. As one of the encyclopedias says, "the subject needs further investigation."

Legion to Hold Lamb Barbecue

For those interested in finding out what quality lamb tastes like, the Robert J. Romaine American Legion Post 384 is sponsoring a Lamb Barbeque, Sunday, October 22.

Kewaskum's American Legion purchased the third place lamb at last July's Washington County Fair - Junior Livestock Sales. This lamb was raised by Mary Lutz of West Bend. After the lamb was sold at the Washington County Fair, the Legion released the lamb so it could be shown at Wisconsin's State Fair.

Merv Thompson stated that lamb sandwiches would be available for a $1.00 charge at the Kewaskum Legion Hall starting at 3:30 p.m. on October 22. Elmer Yoost will be chief chef for this event.

Sensenbrenner Speaks Here

State Senator Jim Sensenbrenner Wednesday night called for the appointment of a special prosecutor to investigate the massive fraud recently uncovered in the federal government's General Services Administration (GSA). Sensenbrenner, the Republican candidate for the 9th Congressional District, made his proposal in remarks to the Kewaskum Chapter of the Republican Party of Washington County at the Valley Bank in Kewaskum.

"House Speaker O'Neill should appoint an independent prosecutor to sort out the mess in the GSA," Sensenbrenner proposed. He suggested 'Watergate' and 'Koreagate' prosecutor Leon Jaworski as one possibility.

The GSA is responsible for purchasing supplies and services for federal government agencies. Justice Department and grand jury investigations have uncovered many cases of GSA employees accepting bribes and favors for awarding contracts to favored suppliers.

"The taxpayer is tired of hearing of corruption in government," Sensenbrenner continued. "It's about time we turn loose a special prosecutor to clean up the bureaucracy, not just the escapades of wayward Congressmen," he concluded.

Tuesday, October 13, 1953, was just another workday at Regal Ware, Inc., Kewaskum, with one notable exception—the 2,000,000th 105mm steel cartridge case being manufactured by the firm rolled off the production line. Regal Ware made valuable contributions to the development of production techniques for manufacturing cartridge cases from steel, instead of scarce and more costly brass. It is one of the few firms in the USA that has been able to produce the 105 mm steel case successfully. J. O. Reigle, president of the company, presented the 2,000,000th cartridge case to the Chicago Ordnance District of the U.S. Army.

On Thursday, October 22, and Friday, October 23, Kewaskum High School will hold its annual homecoming celebration. Kewaskum will meet its old rival, the Campbellsport Belles, on the football field Friday afternoon. The homecoming dance will be held Friday evening. Members of the queen's court and their escorts are: Kathleen Staehler and Delmar Gatzke, Ramona Coulter and Thomas Peterson, Shirley Staehler and Norbert Rosbeck, Mary Hron and Thomas Tessar, Adeline Ketter and Douglas Wiermann, and Charlene Vetter and Ralph Buchel.

The Kewaskum Indians outbattled Lomira 18-6 in last Friday afternoon's football game for the second straight TriCounty conference victory. The team is now tied with Campbellsport for the loop lead.

An elaborate dedication ceremony was held Thursday, October 15, to mark the official opening of U.S. Highway 41 extending for 20 miles from Milwaukee to Slinger.

Walter Giese, who operates a 90-acre farm about four and one-half miles northwest of Kewaskum, belonging to his father, Otto Giese, had triplet bull calves born to one of his Holstein cows on October 3.

A second daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frederic J. Miller on October 9. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Volm, Route 3, Kewaskum, October 6; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jacak, Campbellsport, October 7; Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Butzke, Kewaskum, October 10, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Habeck, Route 2, Kewaskum, October 11.

The work of constructing the new concrete bridge on East Main Street is nearing completion. Last Monday the east half of the road bed was poured and on Tuesday the east end of the sidewalks. The work that now remains to be done is to construct the concrete railings, standard light posts and two retaining walls on the east end.

The work of laying the water mains is also going along nicely. Pipes have been laid and hydrants put in place along the entire Main Street and North Fond du Lac Avenue, and Midland Avenue in the Rosenheimer addition.

At the regular monthly meeting held by the Kewaskum post of the American Legion, it was decided by the members of the post to sponsor a city basketball team for the coming season. All local games will be played in the high school gym. Arthur Schaefer was appointed manager of the team.

Betty, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, residing near Campbellsport, had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible death last Saturday afternoon when she was run over by a tractor on the Hoffman farm.

Frank Martin, 74, a well-known farmer who resides about a mile north of Kewaskum on Highway V is confined to the home of his son-in-law, William Meyer, with injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile.

Chicken thieves are making large hauls in the Town of Ashford near the Washington County Line. A gang believed to be marketing the loot in Milwaukee is sought by officers.

Patrick Mc Laughlin, a highly esteemed and well known pioneer citizen of Kewaskum passed away on Monday, October 8.

Walter Schaefer, part owner of the American Eagle airplane, experienced a "wash out" on Tuesday afternoon, when he attempted to land with the plane on their landing field just west of the Peace Evangelical cemetery, three quarters of a mile west of here. The plane tore the roof off the out building on the cemetery. The propeller and landing gear of the machine were broken. Walter escaped injury.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Schmidbauer was christened Sunday, receiving the name Mildred Elenora.

Slinger Spoils Indians' Homecoming Friday, 19-12

The Kewaskum Indians are getting closer each week but went down to their fourth straight defeat as Slinger put the damper on their homecoming festivities Friday night, 19-12.

The Slinger combination of quarterback Jerry Lofy and 6 foot 4 tight end Brian Jonas were the spoilers as they teamed up for touchdown passes of 39 and 85 yards. Lofy totaled 188 yards through the air. Junior Mike Pettit was Kewaskum's bright spot as he romped for 134 yards in 21 carries. Soph Dave Nowicki also did some timely running for the Owls.

As the result of three long scoring plays, Slinger broke its five-game losing streak to move ahead and leave the Indians all alone in the cellar.

Twice in the first half Lofy hit Jonas for long scoring plays. The first for 39 yards came on Slinger's fourth offensive play after Kewaskum went ahead 6-0 on Pettit's 40 yard run. Brad Mezera's kick put the Owls ahead, 7-6, and the Indians never led again.

Late in the second quarter Lofy hit Jonas again on a short pass and he outraced all defenders to the goal line on an 85 yard play. The score gave the Owls a 13-6 lead at the intermission. Then the Kewaskum band and students put on an excellent halftime show.

Both teams had other opportunities to score in the first half but fumbles, an interception and a missed field goal attempt by the Owls nullified the chances.

A mistake set up the Indians' second TD in the third quarter when the Owl punter couldn't handle a high snap from center and was snowed under on his own nine yard line. After three plays Joel Herriges found Rod Schultz open for a three yard touchdown pass.

This made it 13-12 and it appeared this might be the final score. But with less than four minutes left another interception by Slinger set up their last score. Nowicki made the sideline interception on Kewaskum's 25 yard line. A little later on a fourth and eight, Nowicki took a pitch around the left side and ran into the end zone to make the finale 19-12.

The Indians got one final chance when Schultz returned the kickoff to near midfield but a penalty put the ball back on Kewaskum's 25. The Indians went into the shotgun offense but on high snaps to Herriges he lost 12 yards on one play and on another was forced to throw the ball away and was cited for intentional grounding. The Owls took over and let the time run out.

Kewaskum coach Fran Charland felt that turnovers hurt his team the most. Two-way starter Tim Peterson suffered a possible concussion and could not play the second half. Schultz stood out with an interception, several good kickoff returns and caught four passes, including one touchdown.

This Friday night the Indians play their last home game, when they host Hartland Arrowhead. Hartland is 1-3. If Kewaskum is going to win a game this should be the one as they close out the season at Pewaukee (4-0) and Mayville (3-1).

Volleyball Girls

Suffer First Loss

The Kewaskum girls lost a close volleyball match at Hartland last Wednesday. It was their first loss in Scenic Moraine action.

The Indians had 15 points in each of the three games and still lost two of them. The first game went to Hartland, 18-16, and Kewaskum won the second, 15-11, leaving the third match to decide the winner.

The Indian girls took a commanding 7-1 lead but Arrowhead bounced back to tie it up. Kewaskum went ahead again, 12-9, but for the second time their opponents came back to tie it. It was 14-14 and finally Hartland moved ahead 15-16. Kewaskum got the serve back a couple of times and could not score before Arrowhead scored the winning point.

Kewaskum got good serving from Tami Edgar and Janet Matenaer and the entire attack was impressive.

Kewaskum Girls First in Grafton, Second in Slinger Invitationals

The Slinger girls won the championship trophy among 7 teams in their own Owl Invitational Friday with 27 points, while Kewaskum placed second with 46. Lodi captured the boys' run out of 12 teams with 66 points and Kewaskum wound up 7th with 172.

Paced by their soph ace, Cathy Branta, whose 1:33 set a course record, the Owls bested runnerup Kewaskum by 19 points. But the Indians were without their No. 2 runner, Lauri Wilson, who would have made it a lot closer.

In the boys' cross country meet, Dave Munson of Lodi was the winner in 16:02, followed by Slinger's Steve Emmer and Random Lake's Brooke White. Kewaskum's best effort was by Dick Kleinmann, 9th.

Campbellsport took the JV race and Slinger ran away with the girls JV run, mainly because other teams could not field complete units.

Back at near full strength Saturday, the Kewaskum girls' cross country team won the Blackhawk Invitational at Grafton.

Soph Barb Wilson, who was ill Friday, led the way as the young Indians had five runners finish in the top 13 to easily win the Division II title. Waukesha South won in Division I.

Kewaskum scored 45 points and Wisconsin Lutheran was second with 59 in the 7-team run.

Wilson won in 12:20, with Grafton's Debbie Jansen second, some 28 seconds behind. Another Kewaskum sophomore, Julann Zemlicka came in 8th, followed by Laurie Wilson 11th, Mary Kougl 12th and Sherry Squier 13.

This was the second invitational championship for Coach Dave Drexler's girls.

Sportsmen's Club Releases Pheasants

The Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's Association of Kewaskum released approximately 600 pheasants in the latter part of September.

Members of the club picked up their birds and released them in various places in the surrounding area.

This year, compared to other years, the club received fewer birds from the state (Poynette State Hatchery) because of incubation problems.

As in past years it is the club's objective to rear these birds and release them for a hopefully better hunting season this fall.
