November Kiwanis Students of the Month

Jeanne Becker

Jeanne Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Becker, and Patrick Hanrahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hanrahan, both of rural Kewaskum, have been chosen as Kiwanis students for the month of November.

Jeanne served as a student council representative for three years and last year was elected secretary. She was inducted into the National Honor Society in her junior year and this year serves as president.

Jeanne participated in Girls Chorus, Mixed Chorus and Swing Choir for two years each and helped with make-up and backstage for the "Sound of Music" and "My Fair Lady." She was M.C. for the Junior Prom. She was a member of the

Patrick Hanrahan

Spanish club and the Ski club. Jeanne is active in FHA and FTA. She was on the volleyball team in her junior year.

Pat has been very active in the FFA for the past four years, having served on or as chairman of various committees, including Banquet, Building our American Communities, Safety, Food for America, Fruit Sales, Ear Tag Sales and the Concession Stand. During his sophomore year, Pat was the FFA reporter. He received awards and certificates for Food for America, Safety and Swine Production. "The Wisconsin State Journal" presented Pat with the Young Achievers Award, recognizing him as a top achiever in the state. Pat received three of the four degrees of membership, Greenhand, Chapter Farmer and State Farmer. He also received the Star Greenhand and Star Chapter Farmer. Pat was a delegate to the State FFA Convention for two years. He attended the National Convention in 1977. Next June, he plans to run for office at the state convention.

School Board OK's Proceeding With Title I Needs Assessment Project

By TAMI EDGAR
Statesman Staff Writer

After presentation was given by George Allmann, Reading Specialist, at Monday night's School Board meeting, the board approved proceeding with the Title I Needs Assessment Project.

This assessment was based on students having the greatest difficulties. Teachers were asked to evaluate each student on available test data as well as classroom observations. Test data was collected from the Iowa Test of Basic Skills and various other tests given over the years.

On the completion of this evaluation, staff members found that students needed additional help in the language arts and reading areas. Allmann felt that an improvement of skills in listening and following directions was needed. Weaknesses in these areas include punctuation, capitalization and basic reading skills.

Information acquired from these evaluations are only rough estimates. Title I funding is also based on the number of free lunches which are served in the district.

The Needs Assessment Committee, after reviewing the assessments, recommended to the board that they should appoint a Title I Director, submit a formal application by December 15, 1978 to the Department of Public Instruction in Madison, and to initiate the Title I program on January 6, 1979. The board then approved the project.

The math curriculum which was tabled from last meeting was brought up again at this meeting. Several members felt that implementation should be run second semester on a trial basis. A 5-2 vote passed showing that implementation in the second semester should be prepared but held off until the board votes to proceed. Goeden and Secor were opposed.

The packet for parents was approved. If there are any complaints, the suggested procedure was to contact the person or source of the problem. If not satisfied it would go through Building Principal, Business Manager, Superintendent, and finally the Board of Education.

The board then approved the addition of a Health Instructor for the high school. All freshmen must take 1/2 semester of this health course. This change would not eliminate the Middle School health programs.

Eighth grade graduation was discussed and it was decided to continue holding their band and choir performances on the last day of school.

The town official statement at the budget hearing concerning Kewaskum students was tabled until the person is able to attend a board meeting.

There may be only a few minor changes in the remaining high school curriculum proposals. The last major change was in the addition of a credit in U.S. History. It was felt there wasn't enough exposure to this type of history.

A question was asked on why the Middle School wrestling and basketball teams didn't meet on Wednesdays and Fridays. Fridays there aren't any late buses and on Wednesday the coach has to attend night classes. They felt Wednesday practices were vital for conditioning if followed by a game the next day. The board asked if a substitute could take over for Wednesday practices.

A meeting for schools was scheduled for Wednesday, November 29, to discuss the possibility of changing to the Braveland Conference as suggested by the WIAA.

Fire Call to Krueger Home

Kewaskum firemen answered a call to the farm home of Walter and Edna Krueger at 1505 Old Bridge Road, Route 2, Campbellsport, at 8:10 a.m. Wednesday, November 22.

The fire was in a kitchen woodbox, which was smoldering. It possibly started from a spark from an old fashioned kitchen range. Some woodwork and the wall next to the stove were damaged as was a jacket which was hanging on a nearby chair.

The Kruegers were in the barn milking at the time. Edna was in the barn about an hour when she returned to the house and discovered the fire. The Kruegers had the blaze out with a fire extinguisher when the fire department arrived.

Winnebago Lutheran Chorale in Christmas Concert at St. Lucas

St. Lucas Lutheran Church will be the scene of a Sacred Christmas Concert on Sunday, December 10. The concert will be presented at 7:30 p.m. by the Winnebago Lutheran Chorale, a choir of 43 selected singers from Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod Congregations in the Fond du Lac-Oshkosh area.

Director of the Winnebago Chorale is the Rev. William Stuebs, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Dundee. Prior to receiving his Bachelor of Divin-

Freight Train Is Delayed In Area

A Chicago and North Western Transportation Co. freight train was delayed for several hours Saturday when a bolster on one of the railroad cars broke at Rustic Road, about 1 1/2 miles north of Kewaskum.

C & N W officials at Milwaukee said the train did not derail, but repair crews had to be called in to replace a set of wheels on the freight car, which was loaded with stone. The mishap occurred about 4:15 a.m. Saturday.

While the train was forced to stop for several hours, it did not cause any problems for vehicular traffic, officials said. Damage was described as minor.

ity degree from Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary of Mequon, Pastor Stuebs received a Bachelor's degree in vocal and choral technique from the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee. He organized the Winnebago Chorale two years ago.

Composers whose works will be sung in this concert include Handel, J.S. Bach, Mozart, Paul and F. Melius Christiansen and Paul Manz. The choir will be accompanied in certain selections by trumpets, trombones, percussion instruments and piano and organ. There will also be several organ-piano duets.

St. Lucas Congregation invites you to come and hear this concert presenting some of the church's heritage of Christmas and Advent music. A free-will offering will be received.

Girl Scout News

Kewaskum and Farmington Girl Scouts have enjoyed many activities this fall.

Junior Troop No. 17 went horseback riding at the Green Horn Riding Stables. Even though the temperature was in the low 40's and the wind very cold, the girls still managed to have a fun time.

On Saturday, October 21, the Kewaskum and Farmington girls went on a hike at Mauthe Lake. After the hike, the girls and adults enjoyed roasting hot dogs and marshmallows.

The girls enjoyed going through the Haunted House on October 26. Thank you to the Kewaskum Jaycees for making this possible for us again this year.

Girls and adults from the Kewaskum and Farmington area attended the show at the Pabst Theater in Milwaukee on November 11. More than 300 girls and adults (64 from our area) attended this fall event from the Kettle Moraine Association of Girl Scouts.

Cadette Troop No. 72 has nearly completed the Good Grooming badge.

Junior Troop No. 17 again gave a basket for Thanksgiving to a family that is less fortunate. The girls have always given a complete dinner.

If you would like to be a Junior Girl Scout and be a part of the fun and you are in the fourth, fifth or sixth grades please contact Gary Moody at 626-2495 for more information. WE NEED YOU!

Four UWEX Seminars Set on Milking Management; One in County

Two-day milking management seminars will be held in four eastern Wisconsin locations in early December, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Extension (UWEX).

The program has been designed for dairymen, dairy farm wives, dairy plant veterinarians, who are asked to contact UWEX agents in the host counties if they plan to attend.

Sites and dates of the seminars:

--Alpine Acres, at the junction of U.S. Highway 141 and state highway 64, on December 5 and 7, for persons in Marinette and Oconto Counties. Contact UWEX agricultural agent Tom Drendel in Marinette County and UWEX agricultural agent Hallie Newlun in Oconto County to make arrangements.

--Trenton Town Hall, on state highway 33 six miles east of West Bend, on December 5 and 7. Washington County participants should contact UWEX agricultural agent Jack Trzebiatowski, and those from Ozaukee County should contact UWEX agricultural agent Don Tripp.

--Columbus Club, Appleton, on December 6 and 8, with Outagamie County UWEX agricultural agent Russ Luckow handling arrangements.

--Starlight Bowl, Clintonville, for Shawano and Waupaca County participants, on December 6 and 8. Make arrangements with Shawano County UWEX agricultural agent Marilyn Blonde or with Waupaca County UWEX agricultural agent Joe Walker.

UWEX dairy scientist Allan N. Bringe, along with UWEX dairy foods specialist Mike Dean, agricultural engineer Lynn Brooks, veterinarian John Andersen will be conducting the two part seminar. Milking equipment and sanitation products representatives will also be on hand.

One session, Bringe says, will concentrate on milk cow physiology--milk secretion and how it affects milking practices, basic concepts of udder infection, procedures for most efficient milk removal, and diagnostic and screening tests dairymen can use to determine udder health.

The other session will deal with milking equipment. Specialists will make recommendations on installation, operation, maintenance and sanitation of equipment. They will discuss new milking systems and designs and will outline considerations for dairymen choosing new equipment.

At each seminar daily programs begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 3:15 p.m.

WEEKLY Health TIP

Osteoporosis is a gradual weakening of bones, usually among the elderly. The bones lose their calcium content, become porous and are more likely to fracture. The need is both for more calcium, and for certain hormones to help regenerate the bones. The best preventive measure is a reasonably high calcium intake throughout life. Physicians often emphasize milk (or skim milk) and cheese, shellfish, sardines and canned salmon [with bones]. Adequate calcium plus regular exercise should avoid loss of mineral from bones due to lack of activity.

Snowmobile Trails Closed To Non-Members

The snowmobile season has started again for the winter! This statement may startle many people reading the article. It may even startle some snowmobilers reading this article. The statement is true, however. Yes, long before the cold winds blow and the winter snow falls most snowmobile club members in this area are busy constructing bridges, clearing and marking trails and getting their grooming equipment ready to go.

Again this season the Northern Kettle Moraine Snowmobile Association would like to explain to all snowmobilers in the area a "closed trail" policy which has been adopted by many of its 26 clubs. This policy is simply this: If you do not belong to a snowmobile club, you are not welcome on their club trails.

The reason for this action is simply this: most clubs spend hundreds of dollars each year plus countless manhours on their trail systems. Past statistics on arrests for snowmobile law violations, accidents, and even accident deaths dramatically show they involve non-club members almost entirely. Third, but not least, is the fact the club in your area needs and wants your support and the support of each snowmobiler in your area.

Now that we know some of the reasoning behind the limited use program, let's look at how and where it will be enforced.

1. This program can only be enforced on trails built and maintained solely by club monies. Trails supported thru snowmobile registration funds are public, and are not included.

2. Each of the 26 member clubs has the option to adopt and enforce this program.

3. Where enforced, the term "club member" will be defined as any member of any established snowmobile club anywhere.

4. Enforcement is usually done with the cooperation of the landowner whose land the trail crosses. Wisconsin snowmobile law states you must have the permission of each landowner whose land you snowmobile on.

Kewaskum Statesman, Friday, Dec. 1, 1978, Page 11

All clubs have been urged to use discretion in enforcing this program. It is hoped criminal charges will be few, if any. An all-out attempt is to be made to make people aware of the law and their responsibility to do their fair share to support their sport. This is a local program the snowmobile club in your area may be undertaking. Your club will decide to what degree it will be enforced. Your local club is prepared to answer all questions you may have regarding this limited use program.

This program is sponsored by the Northern Kettle Moraine Snowmobile Association and its 26 member clubs.

Double Venting Adds Wood Heat Fire Peril

By Dan A. Wilson
Resource Agent
UW-Extension, Box 537
West Bend, WI 53095

People installing wood burning stoves often ask whether they can run the stove's exhaust into the chimney used for their gas or oil furnace. The answer is no, says Bill Seybold, University of Wisconsin-Extension wood heat specialist.

"Double venting," connecting the two systems to the same chimney, may sometimes work, says Seybold, but it is unsafe and often illegal. Madison, Sun Prairie and many other Wisconsin municipalities have building codes outlawing double venting.

Double venting increases the fire hazard associated with wood burning stoves. First, the existing chimney from the gas or oil furnace may not be designed to withstand the intense heat of wood burners. All wood stoves require Class A chimneys; gas or oil furnace chimneys may be only Class B and are less durable. Class B chimneys can't stand up to the extreme heat of accidental chimney fires.

Connecting both your furnace exhaust and wood stove into the same system also limits your ability to control accidental chimney fires. The best way to help stop a chimney fire is to close the damper and stop the air flow feeding the fire. But oil and gas furnaces have open draft systems which can't be closed off, meaning you can't control the air flow even if your wood burner is air-tight.

The open draft system also allows more cool air into the chimney, causing more severe creosote problems, Seybold says.

Using one chimney for both your furnace and wood burner can also cause severe harm should the chimney ever become plugged up. If your oil or gas furnace kicks in when the chimney is blocked, the fumes will back up into your home. This is most likely to happen at night when the fire in your wood burning stove has died down. Noxious smoke and carbon monoxide fumes from the stove can add to the problem.

Carelessly used wood burning stoves pose greater fire risks than other forms of heating, Seybold says. Double venting only increases the danger.

Offer Free Ration Balancing Program

Wisconsin farmers have an opportunity to take advantage of a free ration balancing program before December 31, 1978.

The Badger Ration Balancer, a ration balancing program that provides balanced rations for feeding livestock is available through the County UW-Extension Office. This ration balancing program will formulate a ration based on the feeding value of home grown feeds and purchased feeds available.

The Badger Ration Balancer program has been available in Wisconsin for quite some time. A recent survey of 175 farmers who used the ration balancer program indicated that the average milk production increased over 1,000 pounds per cow. In fact, 11 dairymen reported increases of over 2,000 pounds per cow. Some farmers also indicated increase in fat test. Along with increased milk production, many farmers also reported reduced feed costs as a result of more efficient use of farm grown feeds and forages.

The 1978-79 winter feeding season is just getting started.

The Badger Ration Balancer program offers dairymen an opportunity to plan their feeding program early in the season and take advantage of the free computerized ration balancing program.

Additional information about the Badger Ration Balancer program is available from the Washington County UW-Extension Office, Court House Annex No. 2, P.O. Box 537, West Bend, Wis. 53095; phone 334-3491, 644-5204 or 342-2929, Ext. 263, or your local County Extension Office.

GREAT LEGENDS, HOAXES AND OTHER FUN

At the grassroots of America lie the ingredients from which have come literature, poetry, and the stuff on which the arts have flourished. From the legends and tales told by the people have come some of our great literary heritage. Longfellow wrote Hiawatha from the Iroquois and Chippewa legends. Washington Irving used the Dutch legends in New York to create Ichabod Crane and the stories about Sleepy Hollow. However, most of the folk memories die because they fail to find a creative writer.

Here are a few legends and hoaxes that have long been a part of the oral tradition in Wisconsin.

The Brave Thirteen

In the long struggle between the Chippewa and the Dakotas for northern Wisconsin and Minnesota, the bands living distant from the Dakotas participated much less than those further to the west. A little band living on Grand Island in the eastern part of Lake Superior was accused of dragging its feet. Thirteen young men took this to heart and decided to avenge the honor of their band. They went forth by canoe into the Minnesota country and found there a large encampment of the enemy, 500 lodges according to one "rememberer," too many from which they might expect to escape.

The boys dug small pits with their hands and knives, threw up a brush breastwork, and decided to sell their lives as dearly as possible. Knowing their fate was sealed they sent their youngest member beyond where he could observe the battle from a hill, and, when they had given their lives, could report to the Grand Island band that their honor had been avenged.

The young Dakotas attacked one at a time to demonstrate their own courage and bravery against the Chippewa boys. One by one they fell, pierced by arrows until nearly 70 of them had been killed or wounded. Observing this senseless sacrifice by the young men, a Dakota chief called for a general attack. Within minutes the Chippewa boys fell before the superior numbers. The youngest boy on the distant hill then quietly left his observation post and made his long trek back to Grand Island. There he sang his message of how his friends died.

When Henry Schoolcraft visited this band in 1820, he saw this young man and said he had "never felt, for any individual, such a mingled feeling of interest and admiration."

Maiden Rock

There is a village on the Mississippi in Northwestern Wisconsin by the name of Maiden Rock. Near it is a high bluff that breaks precipitously to the river. According to Indian legend, this is the place where a Dakota maiden named Winona gave her life and in so doing gave the name to the bluff and to the village.

Early travelers up the Mississippi often heard stories from the Indians along the river that one of Wabasha's daughters had been betrothed in marriage by her parents to an older warrior who already had several wives and wanted a young one to carry on the work and warm his bed. But the maiden would have none of it. She had a lover her own age. He may have been a young man from the Chippewa, the long-time enemy of the Dakota Sioux. Parents threatened and promised, but to no avail.

One day when the Dakota band was camped on the Wisconsin side of the river, or Lake Pepin as it is called there, the maiden disappeared and was next seen high on the bluff where she sang her death dirge. The parents entreated her to come down, that all was forgiven, and that she could marry the lover of her choice. But she had no faith in their promises. After finishing her song she hurled herself to her death.

Lincoln's Horse Stolen ---and Returned!

It is not well known that Lincoln had his horse stolen in Wisconsin at the end of the Blackhawk War in 1832. A historical marker has been erected on this spot at Cold Spring in Jefferson County. However, there is no record to show that Wisconsin has ever rectified this wrong done to Lincoln.

A special committee was created at Whitewater in 1964 to pursue the matter. Research showed that Lincoln had filed a claim against the U.S. Government for payment for the horse, but no evidence was ever found that the government paid him. Therefore, the committee decided to return a horse to the State of Illinois expecting that it might be placed in the Salem Restoration of Lincoln's home and allowed to graze forever there.

It was also thought that relations between the two states might be improved further if a presidential pardon were sought for the culprit, presumably an Indian ward of the government. President Johnson was asked to pardon one John Doe, for having stolen Lincoln's horse, but he refused. No Texan believes that a horse thief should be pardoned. If the president had been asked to hang the thief in effigy, (ir. absentia), he might well have done it himself. "A pardon for an unknown thief," wrote the President, "would be condoning an unlawful act." He refused to accept the committee's argument that the Cold Spring theft in 1832 was responsible for Lincoln's decision at the end of the Civil War to allow Confederate soldiers to take their horses home with them.

Undaunted, the committee proceeded with the plan. The Illinois governor sent an emissary to Whitewater to receive the horse and the belated apologies of Wisconsin for the original theft. Unfortunately, even this horse was stolen before it reached the Illinois border.

The Battle Over Limburger Cheese

Wisconsin has long been proud of its cheese industry and Monroe has long been the center of the marketing system. In the early days Monroe residents often held their noses as the wagons rolled by loaded with Limburger cheese. It was a package of Limburger cheese that produced an unusual incident in 1936.

The Badger-Brodhead Cheese Company had shipped a package of Limburger cheese through the mail to Independence, Iowa. There it was held up by Postmaster Miller and returned to Monroe. He said that it smelled too bad to keep in the postoffice and it had made one of the rural carriers so sick he had been laid up for several days.

Monroe's Postmaster Burkhard, loyal to the cheese reputation of Wisconsin, was incensed. Limburger had fragrance, of course, but that is what gave it character and made it King of Cheeses. He ordered the package of Limburger returned immediately. In due time, the package was again returned with the notation that it was unfit for delivery.

Monroe's postmaster shouted that this was almost treason. He fired out a letter to the Iowa postmaster saying that Limburger cheese had a constitutional right to travel through the U.S. mails.

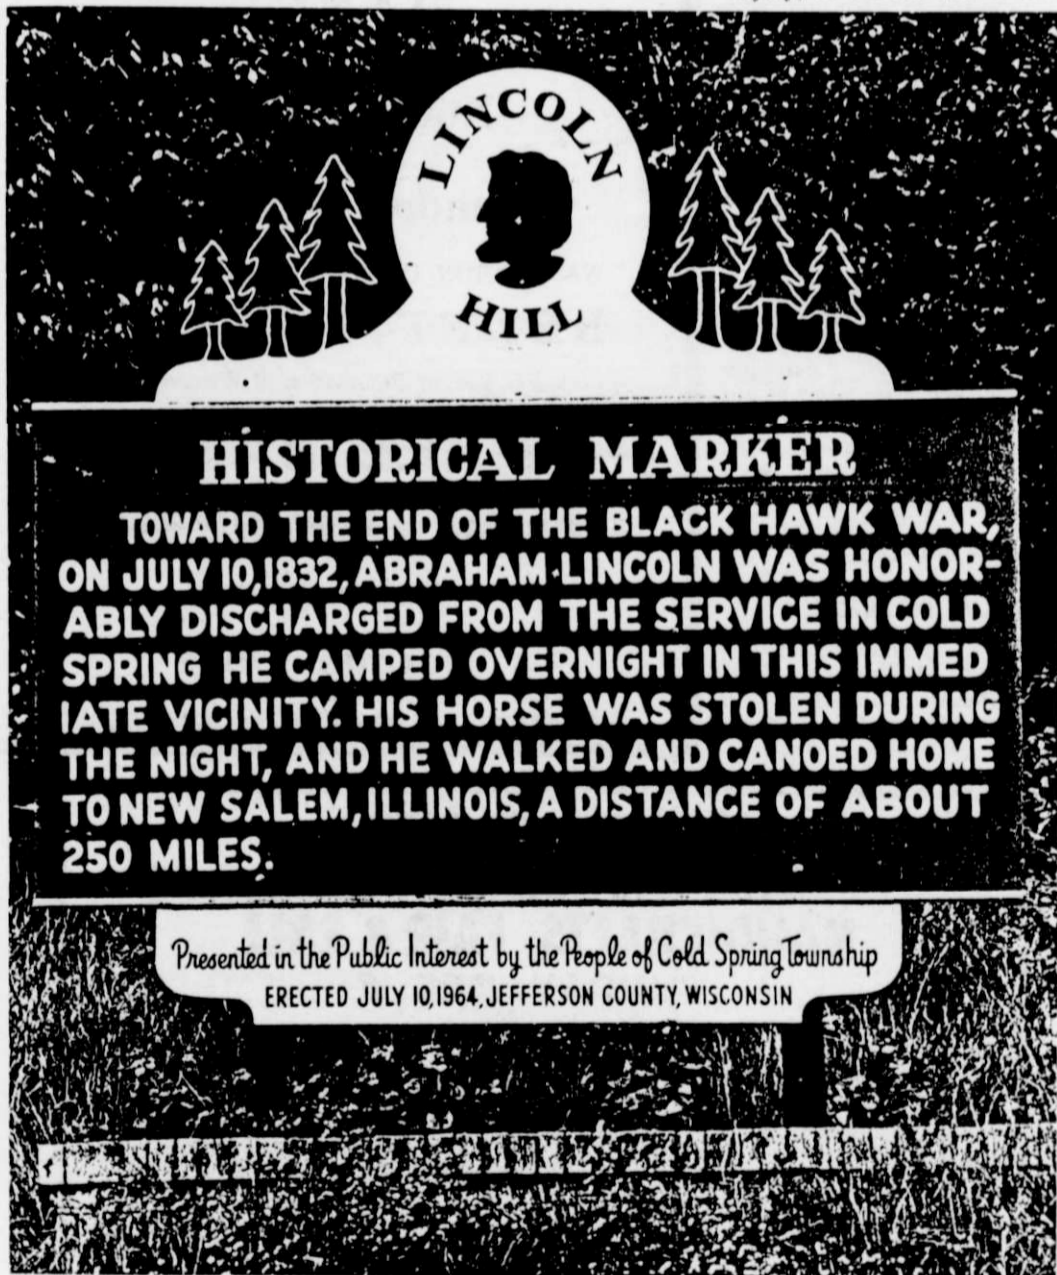

Burkhard decided to take the issue to Washington, D.C. He dictated a letter to Postmaster

An Indian maiden's leap named a rock and a town.

General James Farley and accompanied it by a well-wrapped package of Limburger cheese. One newspaper said that Farley was not presented with a "strong issue." In time the second assistant postmaster general replied, saying that there was no offensive odor to the package of Limburger received there and reported there had been no objections by other postmasters. It seemed that the honor of Wisconsin and Limburger cheese had been restored.

Postmaster Burkhard decided to take one more step. He challenged the Iowa postmaster to a duel, a cheese-sniffing duel. Miller accepted the challenge, and the place was chosen half-way between Monroe and Independence--the St. Julian Hotel in Dubuque, Iowa. There the antagonists met, with their seconds, and after shaking hands the duel began. Burkhard drew his knife, cut a thick slice of Limburger cheese, placed it upon a slice of rye bread, and thrust it into Miller's hand. When he had eaten it without injury, a second and a third Limburger sandwich were handed to him. After eating them, the Independence postmaster held up his hands in surrender, moved to the table where the liquid refreshments were waiting, and proposed a toast to his conquerer and to Limburger cheese.

Wisconsin's Great Trickster

The old lumberjack, Gene Shepard, was a North Woods humorist in the tall-tale, practical joker tradition, and was widely known in his region around 1900. He may have been one of the creatures of Paul Bunyan, as well as the one who captured a mythical creature, the Hodag.

Shepard had one of the early resorts where unusual things happened. When the fishing was poor and the guests were talking about going home, there would be heard just as darkness came over the lake the gigantic splash of a big fish. Guests would get excited and forgot about leaving. The monstrous fish was a large rubber pike which Shepard manipulated from the shore.

About this time the wives would discover some highly scented moss along the trails, and would dig up samples to take home. Shepard bought a cheap perfume called Dactylis which he sprayed along the paths. Scented moss kept them happy.

One time when Shepard was introducing two Eastern young men to the joys of hiking at dusk along a woods trail, a hoot owl called. "What's that?" asked one of the greenhorns. Shepard tightened up and shouted that a pack of wolves was closing in on them. "Run for your lives." All hands survived.

Dates Set for 1979 State Fair

New dates have been set for the 1979 Wisconsin State Fair. Action to approve the new Fair dates was taken by the State Fair Park Board in a meeting held early in November. The 1979 Wisconsin State Fair will be held August 2 - 12, one week earlier than initially planned.

State Fair Director Billy Greiner explained that the original State Fair timetable would have placed Wisconsin's Fair in direct competition with six other Midwestern State Fairs. The early August dates were selected to alleviate this problem.

Greiner also said the new dates should help stabilize the Wisconsin State Fair labor force and increase operational efficiency. The early August dates will eliminate schedule conflicts for teachers and students who wish to serve as State Fair employees, but must return to their respective schools in mid-August.

SENATOR PETRI CAPITOL REPORTS

Home Care, Transportation — Two Basic Needs

Each year, a greater percentage of Wisconsin's population enters the "retirement era." Senior citizens have made their contribution to the state's work force. As their income decreases, the rest of society has a responsibility to help the elderly maintain a dignified standard of living.

As we grow older, we become susceptible to various illnesses and lose some of the physical strength necessary to perform routine chores. Many senior citizens are entirely capable of living independent lives with a little extra help around the house.

The federal government is encouraging communities to support home care services through a social security act program known as Title XX. Wisconsin ranked 48th among the 50 states in the percent of Title XX recipients who were 65 or older in 1977. In fact, only 6.2% of Wisconsin's Title XX funds were spent on services to the elderly that year.

The Coalition of Wisconsin Aging Groups, a statewide organization of senior citizens, points out that Title XX funds provide an alternative to nursing home care. The state must pay only 25% of the cost of Title XX home services (the remainder is covered by the federal government), while the state's burden of nursing home costs is 40%. Clearly, 25% of a smaller cost is significantly less than 40% of a larger cost.

The fiscal advantages of home services aside, the quality of life in one's own home is preferable to that in a nursing home.

The Wisconsin Board on Aging is calling for strengthened statewide local mechanisms to ensure senior citizen's access to home care services. They recommend that the legislature consider home care a priority when they figure out the budget for the next two years.

Transportation is another pressing need for senior citizens. We have few bus lines in Wisconsin that can provide the service many elderly people need to keep a doctor's appointment or to go shopping. Last year, Wisconsin allocated $2 million for specialized transportation services for the elderly and handicapped. The Board on Aging recommends this be increased to $3 million in the upcoming biennium.

Every county in Wisconsin is eligible to participate in these programs.

West Bend East Tips Indians As Shooting Woes Continue

Kewaskum's shooting woes continued at West Bend East last Tuesday night where the crippled Indians dropped their third straight non-conference game, 67-49, to the Suns. The Indians, with a weak 25% shooting, also missed 11 free throws in the first half alone.

It was a free throw shooting contest between the two aggressive teams as a total of 57 fouls were called. The Suns connected on eight more free throws and shot better from the floor.

Kewaskum had three players and West Bend had two out with illness or injuries. The Indians' starting center, Tom Kern, was home with illness and Scott Reif and Ray Dominguez had sprained ankles. Kurt Meinberg is still out for East and Don Kern sprained his ankle in the first quarter.

Led by Tom Wenzlaff, the Suns took an early 7-2 lead. Both teams were in the bonus by the second quarter and a barrage of free throws were missed. Wenzlaff was the only player on both teams who could find the range. He led West Bend to a 31-21 halftime lead. The Indians hit on only six of 29 shots in the first half for a poor 20%.

Kevin Lyons helped East increase its lead in the third quarter. The Indians came within six points at one stage but then the Suns went to work again to take a 47-33 advantage at the end of the third period. The winners outpointed Kewaskum in every quarter.

Kern's replacement, Todd Schultz, rebounded well for the losers and Bob Nigh also did well with 14. But to win you've

Girls Lose to Powerful New Holstein Team

The Kewaskum girls hosted a veteran New Holstein team in their non-conference opener last Tuesday night and lost 60-45. The Huskies, who had an outstanding 17-2 record a year ago, floored a team of all seniors.

At one stage in the game, New Holstein moved to a 20 point lead but the Indians went to a press and cut down the margin to 13 before Janet Matenaer fouled out. Diane Bremer and Jill Yearling also went out on fouls and this really hurt. Senior Yvonne Schacht scored 20 points for the losers and Yearling, only a freshman, came off the bench to tally 10 points and grab 10 rebounds. Mary Keyes paced the Huskies with 20.

Coach Mike Theiler has installed a new offense and press and it is going to take some time for it to gel.

The Kewaskum and New Holstein JV's played a real thriller. A basket by Debbie Schlice in the closing seconds gave the Indians a 27-26 win.

Kewaskum opens the conference season at Mayville Thursday.

got to put the ball in the basket. Henry Schilter led the Indians with 15 points. Scott Brendemuhl wound up with 11 and Nigh with 10. Lyons was tops for West Bend with 14 points, followed by Wenzlaff with 13 and Liebetrau with 13.

This Friday the Indians travel to Mayville for their first Scenic Moraine action. The Cardinals, led by 6-10 Dave Green and 6-5 Terry Mueller, copped second place last year and are one of the favorites in the conference this time out.

SUN SOPHOMORES ALSO WIN, 56-40

The West Bend East sophomores also won over Kewaskum, 56-40.

Kewaskum led 10-3, but then faded as the Suns got red hot in their shooting in the second half with 70%. Indian coach Neil Denniston was disappointed with the defense and number of turnovers.

Jim Rohlinger's 21 point performance again was the highlight for Kewaskum and Perry Kempf played well. Jim Rees and Bill Kern paced West Bend with 10 points apiece.

435 Deer Killed in Washington County

According to Armin Schwengel, wildlife manager at the Pike Lake office, Washington County had the best deer season in over a dozen years, resulting in a kill of 435 "total registered" animals. The deer season closed Sunday.

This total may vary slightly, Schwengel said because some deer bagged near the border of the county could have been registered in a neighboring county, or vice versa.

There may have been a greater number bagged about 15 years ago, Schwengel said, but that was an any-deer season all the way. This year it was a combination doe-buck and buck-only 9-day season.

The 435 deer total compares with 352 during last year's season.

Deer registered in the county: Sheriff's office 238, Fries Lake 43, Denny's Arco (Hwy. 28 and 41) 66, Frank's Tavern, Jackson 84.

Ozaukee County's total also rose from 131 last year to 173.

Outlook Not Good Wrestlers Lose Opener to St. Mary's Springs

Although the outlook for the season is not too bright due to the lack of experience and depth, the Kewaskum wrestlers looked pretty good in their opener here Tuesday against St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac. The Indians lost, 29-20, but won 5 of 11 matches and gained one draw.

With only 30 boys out for the sport, the Indians have only 4 letter winners back. Returnees include senior Kerry Klein, juniors Jeff Gundrum and Tom O'Reilly and sophomore Scott Klein. The latter, at 98 lbs., should do well.

Two good prospects up from the JV's are Junior Steve Beck at 138 lbs. and 155 lb. Mike Pettit. The team is also bolstered by two good transfer students: Jeff Bastian, who moved in from West Bend, at 138 lbs., and Rich Waldkirch, who came from Campbellsport at 185 lbs.

Lost from last year are Steve Schneider, conference 155 champ, Dan Schmidt and Cliff Wilson, plus several other regulars who did not report this year.

St. Mary's built up an early 23-2 lead. Only Scott Klein managed a draw in the first six matches. However, in the upper weights Kewaskum won five of six matches.

Steve Beck won a decision over Don Adelmeyer at 138, 13-12. Transfer Jeff Bastian won 7-2 at 145 and Tom Fischer won his 155 lb. bout, 6-2. Mike Pettit was a 9-5 victor over Dale Jenkins and transfer Rick Waldkirch won on a quick first period pin.

Thursday the Indians host powerful Campbellsport.
