Kewaskum Area Man Killed in Collision

Larre-L. Howell, 39, of Route 1, Kewaskum, was killed Tuesday evening in a near head-on collision on County Trunk M, just north of the intersection with County Trunk A.

Howell was pronounced dead of massive head and chest injuries on arrival at St. Joseph's Community Hospital, West Bend, according to Coroner Robert Boltz. The Washington County Sheriff's report stated the accident occurred just before 7 p.m.

The driver of the other car, Lola C. Weinreich, 52, of 8223 County M, Fredonia, was listed in satisfactory condition at the hospital Wednesday morning. She reportedly suffered facial lacerations and bruised ribs in the mishap.

The injured were removed to the hospital by the Newburg Rescue Squad and Schmidt ambulance of West Bend.

According to the sheriff's report, Howell's compact car was northbound when it collided with the southbound station wagon near head-on. The point of impact or circumstances leading to the crash could not be determined. Unplowed snow was noted as a highway factor.

Funeral arrangements for Howell were pending at the Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend, Wednesday.

The fatality was the county's 28th in 1978.

If driving is like playing poker, Jill Petermann should be a winner. Jill is the 2222nd driver to complete behind-thewheel training at Kewaskum High School. The event also marked the completion of 15 years of behind-the-wheel training in Kewaskum.

Driver education started in the United States in 1938 with two cars. Today there are thousands of cars used to train millions of Americans annually.

At Kewaskum High School, training started in Eugene La-Marche's biology classes during the 1950's. The current program of 30 hours classroom training, six hours of driving and six hours of observation was started by Earl Buswell and Howard Zemlicka in October of 1963 with two 1964 Bel Air Chevrolets furnished by Honeck Chevrolet. The first students were a group of juniors from the class of 1965. Since that time Honeck Chevrolet has furnished 55 new cars. A check of the area showed that Kewaskum's program is unique. All drivers are Rodenkirch, [left], Manager of Honeck Chevrolet, and Jill Petermann, the 2222nd driver.

required to drive both automatic and standard transmission cars.

Buswell, the classroom teacher, said, "We had great help from past and present driver ed. instructors, Howard Zemlicka, Dave Stradtman, John Thalacker, Guy Pruefert, and currently Roy Peterson, K.H.S. mathematics teacher." He also added, "Thanks for your patience as we parallel parked over 30,000 times on the village streets and drove about 300,000 miles on the area roads.

Town of Wayne Tax Rate Up

The Town of Wayne local tax levy for 1978 increased from $44,927 to $57,390. A reduction in state revenues and the increasing prices of highway maintenance were the main reasons for the increased levy.

The total tax rate less credits for 1978 will be $52.09 per thousand compared to $49.76 per thousand in 1977.

Federal revenue sharing funds will be used for highway maintenance purposes.

There was a real live, thrilling "buffalo hunt" in the Kettle Moraine hills around Round Lake near Dundee. 40 persons and an airplane pilot took part in a hunt of two buffalo which had most everyone in the area as well as throughout the state interested. It all started when Joseph Fahn, the new proprietor of Round Lake Resort returned home from Independence, Kansas, on Wednesday, December 23, with a pair of buffalo, a bull and a female, which averaged around 400 or 500 pounds. Fahn decided it would be a good idea to buy the buffalo and keep them at his resort as an attraction for visitors. Shortly after he arrived home with the animals on a truck and loaded them into their pen the two animals broke through the barb wire fence. Thus began one of Wisconsin's greatest buffalo hunts in history. Don Narges, Dundee, piloted his plane over the area and signaled to the pursuers on the ground the whereabouts of the bison by tipping the plane's wings. With the aid of trucks, the bull was finally cornered late Thursday morning. Walter Jandre and Vilas Ludwig received the credit for getting a rope on the fence breaker. The female was cornered in a field near New Prospect after a long chase. Young 19-year-old Dick Mielke is credited by bringing the animal to earth by bulldogging it, rodeo style, after jumping on the buffalo from a truck and wrestling it to the ground. That ended the exciting roundup and the buffalo were again penned up by Fahn - in a stronger pen.

Salt Spray Harms Plants and Soil

By Dan A. Wilson County Resource Agent UW-Extension, West Bend

Care and planning to prevent injury to landscape plants from salt spray and salt accumulation in the soil are recommended.

Plants located near highways are particularly susceptible to salt spray kicked up by fast moving traffic on wet, salted roads. In the city where traffic is slower, salt runoff and salt plowed or shoveled onto the soil pose serious problems to landscape trees and shrubs.

With deciduous plants, salt spray injury results in twig dieback and bud death at the branch tips. This becomes evident in spring when new shoot growth is concentrated at the branch base, and clusters of twigs, called brooms," form. "witches"

Symptoms of salt spray injury in conifers include browning or yellowing, spotting of needles and twig dieback. The symptoms begin to appear in late February or early March.

It may take several years for injury from salt in the soil to appear. Signs include: an initial blue green cast to foliage; marginal leaf burn or needle tipburn; reduction in leaf, flower, and fruit size; premature fall coloration and dropping of leaves; stunting and general lack of vigor.

These symptoms usually become evident in late summer or during periods of hot dry wea-

Besides injuring plants, salt in excessive amounts can damage the soil to such an extent that nothing will grow in it.

The best way to prevent salt injury is to reduce the amount used. Here are some suggestions to cut down the risk of Always apply salt in a mixture with an abrasive such as sand, cinders or ash. The grittiness of the abrasive combined with the melting power of the salt combine to reduce the amount of salt needed.

You may prefer to use commercial de-icing products containing calcium chloride. Though these products can injure plants, they won't damage the soil.

Apply salt after plowing or shoveling and the threat of more snow has passed.

Limit applications to high risk areas such as hills, steps and walkways, and avoid spilling or applying in heaps.

Do not apply salt to recently laid concrete. Concrete must

Petri Index Reveals Yet Another Rise in Number of State Employees

Figures released this week by State Senator Thomas E. Petri (R-Fond du Lac) indicate that the number of state employees has risen again in the month of November

The Petri Index is calculated to show trends in the size of the state's workforce. It showed that the number of persons on the state's permanent payroll was at 54,589 as of December 1, 1978. This represents an increase of 488 employees over the previous month.

The Petri Index is based on an independent yardstick: the number of state employees covered by state group health insurance contracts. It does not represent the total number of individuals on the state's payroll. However, in past years, increases in Petri's figures have been mirrored in actual increases reported by the state.

"Governor-elect Dreyfus has pledged that his administration will work to curb the trends of increased hiring," Petri added. "I hope to watch state employment trends in the coming four years every bit as carefully as I did during the Democratic

The latest figures represent an increase of 2,070 employees since December 1, 1977 when Petri's calculations showed 52,519 employees on the permanent state payroll.

BIRTH, DEATH AND TOMBSTONE LORE

In the rhythm of life from birth to death, there are many beliefs that express themselves in legends, tall tales, superstitions, and humor. There is also probably more fakelore, especially about tombstones, than in any other aspect of folklore. But the great folk belief that Wisconsin is a land of milk and honey where the clear, cold air promised health to afflicted immigrants. A Maine boy who came out of a Confederate prison with TB was advised by his doctor to go to Wisconsin where the pinescented air might cure him. Unfortunately, he soon died, but the belief lingered on.

How to Live Long

People who have survived to an advanced age often divulge what made it possible. Some say it was due to eating vegetables, drinking a quart of bourbon a day, or of "having only one woman at a time." One man said his longevity was due to the fact he "hadn't died yet." Heavy drinkers say that alcohol kills the germs in their bloodstream.

One old timer said that old age has come when a woman smiles in your direction and you turn around to see who is behind you.

Lore About Births

The sex of a child can be determined during pregnancy by noting whether the child is carried low or high. If low, it will be a girl; high a boy. If the mother longs for sweet foods, it will be a girl; if sour foods, a boy. If the mother has nausea in early pregnancy, it will be a boy. Experienced mothers say that "boys always make me sicker."

Boy babies increase in times of war when God replenishes the men destroyed on the battlefield, or possibly to keep the world from being such a dreary place without men.

Birthmarks are caused by fright during pregnancy. Being chased by a bull may mark a child. Among some of the Indians it was believed that birthmarks could be removed by applying the afterbirth as a poultice.

Up in Burnett County the stork did not bring babies. Little children were told that "they were dropped off by the Indians by some old stump or tree."

If a mother touched her newborn c he face first, it would be very smart; if on the arms, it would be strong; if on the feet, a very fast runner.

Beliefs About Sterility and Potency

There are probably more beliefs at variance with scientific knowledge in the lore about birth and death than in any other. One of the oldest among man is that sex potency is stimulated by red meat, raw eggs, oysters, even lettuce. Salt peter is believed to be an antiaphrodisiac and women are infertile while nursing a child.

Many women have believed that the moon controls menstruation and a child conceived in that period will be feebleminded. Some have believed that even bathing in the same tub of water that a man has used will result in pregnancy, or that a child conceived when the father is drunk will be mentally retarded. Some still believe Shakespeare's play King Lear where it is said that illegitimate children are brighter than other children since they are con-ceived with "keener lust." Others believe that greater leaders were conceived in times of sunspot turbulence.

Sayings About Death

There are many superstitions about death, many of them concerned with omens that signify death is near. Here are a few:

Death comes in threes; a crowing rooster means death; a howling dog means death in the family; clocks stop when death occurs; if you sneeze three times on the Sabbath death will come to the family that day; planting a weeping willow tree brings death; a bird flying into the house is a sign of death; if three people look into the mirror at once, one will die within a year; the call of the whippoorwill means death.

Superstitions about death include: Hair and fingernails grow after death; drowned women float face downward and men face upward; rigor mortis freezes soldiers in the position in which they were killed; there are no atheists in foxholes; when a star shoots across the sky a soul is on the way to heaven; persons who have wronged someone in life will not rest in their graves; wrongdoing children cause parents to turn over in their graves; if rain falls in an open grave, trouble is ahead; headstones should be to the west with the feet of the corpse to the east; drowning men have their entire life stretched out before them when they are going down for the third time.

Death and Burial Humor

A weekly newspaper reader stormed into a Pierce County editor's office with tears in his voice and rocks in his hand. The newspaper had reported his death and he demanded a retraction. The editor said he could not do that since his paper had a reputation for accurate reporting, and he would print the man's name in the birth notices in the next issue.

Robert Gard quotes an undertaker in the Kickapoo Valley about burying a corpse in an unusual way. The body lay in the casket and the undertaker was ready to close it for eternity. The daughter of the deceased entered the mortuary with a suit of clothes draped over her arm, and asked if she could place it in the casket with the body of her father. She said that he had bought the suit over 60 years ago and the family thought it proper for the suit to be buried with him.

The undertaker saw no objection to the request, so he placed the suit in with the body, and closed the lid. He said that it was the first time he had ever sent along a change of clothes with a corpse.

Burying a Rosary

When the old man died, the family went to the small town clothing store to buy a new suit for the deceased. The clothier had a good suit that would fit the corpse, but said that it had been worn once. A local man had bought the suit, wore it to church and returned it on Monday because it did not exactly fit.

A few days later this man came into the store and asked if a rosary had been found in the pocket of the returned suit. No, said the clothier, but if he would go down to the undertaking parlor, maybe they would know something about it.

He said to the shopkeeper: "Well, I ain't worried none, not a damn bit about the rosary, but I'd just like to know how Mister Nicksee is gonna explain to St. Peter why he ain't a Catholic!"

Tombstone for Horses Near Fond du Lac

"Uncle Joe" Kinsman, a pioneer settler near Fond du Lac, buried four horses between the years 1849 and 1869, and over them erected a marker with this epitaph showing his love for horses that served him well as a farmer:

Here Lies
Tom and Bill
They done their duty
With a will Also Doll and Kate
As true and faithful
As their mates

At the left of the inscription is a weeping willow tree, a sign of mourning in that day. A new gravestone has been erected by the Wisconsin Humane Society to replace the crumbling one erected by Uncle Joe.

Skippy, the Dog's Tombstone

In the village of Van Dyne there was a little black dog that belonged to nobody but was a friend of all. He had been found at the side of the road in 1955, half-starved, and was nursed back to health by a friend of dogs. When Skippy died, a simple marker was placed over his grave, reading: SKIPPY 1963.

Old Abe, the Eagle

The famous eagle that went through the Civil War with the 8th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry does not have a grave marker, but there is a roadside stone at Jim Falls indicating the place where it was hatched.

The Boy Who Would Not Tell a Lie

In the little Greenwood Cemetery south of Montello, Wisconsin, stands a monument to an orphan boy whose parents had emigrated to Wisconsin in 1843. The inscription simply says: "Emanuel Dannan 1843-1851, The Boy Who Would Not Tell a Lie."

The boy was left an orphan when his father died two years after their arrival from England and his mother died a year later. His uncle gave him a home until his death, and then the boy was sent to the poorhouse. Soon after Samuel Norton and his wife settled in Marquette County, they adopted the orphan. Legend has it that the Nortons murdered a traveling peddler and told the boy not to tell the authorities about what had happened. The parents bound his arms, suspended him from the rafters of the cabin. and beat him to death. The parents were convicted of murder and sent to prison for life. The child had died, said the judge, with "the truth in his heart and a martyr to it.

Unusual Epitaphs

In the Oconto cemetery there is a marker over the grave of Gussie, an unwanted orphan girl. It reads simply and eloquently:

Here lies the body of a girl who died.

Nobody mourned and nobody cried.

How she lived and how she fared,

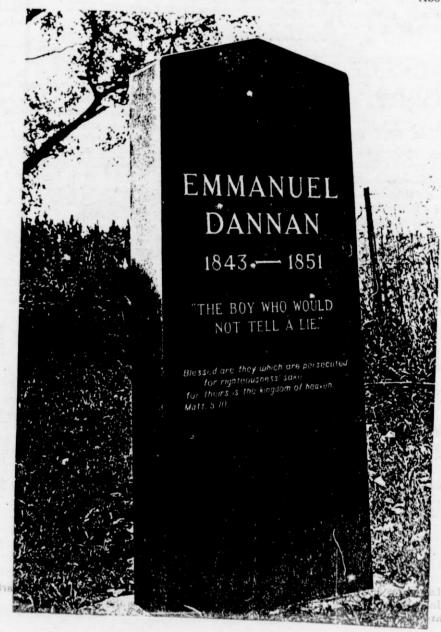

Nobody knew and nobody cared.

In the Brooklyn Cemetery (Green County) there is a large marble marker on one grave, at the base of which are these words: "An Honest Lawyer." A wag has asked "Why bury two men in the same grave?"

Minnesota has a most unusual epitaph. Over a grave in the Elgin cemetery is this declaration of virtue: "None of us ever voted for Roosevelt or Truman."

There are several collections of epitaphs, many of which are probably fakelore rather than honest record of tombstones. The authenticity of this one is doubtful:

Our Little Jacob Has Been Taken Away From the Earthly Garden To Bloom In a Superior Flower Pot Above.

Since so much of folklore is concerned with explaining a prescientific world, it is not surprising that birth and death have nurtured many superstitions, legends, even tall tales. Any physician or clergyman can cite folk beliefs in this field and any cemetery, especially those of the 19th century, has markers showing the bedrock beliefs of the people about birth and

Baby Record Book Given By Business People

Thanks to the group of business people in West Bend and Kewaskum who are responsible for the renewal of the Blessed Event Program, mothers of babies born at St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend will continue to receive the clinically compiled, medically approved record book, Our Baby's First Seven Years. This standard of all baby record books provides the opportunity for scientific as well as sentimental record.

However, besides recording these moments, the recording of every important statistic is possible with this baby record book. It will provide a complete medical history of the infant from birth through seven years.

Records of baby's growth and development are of real importance to parents and to the child. It is during the first seven years that the baby's personality adjusts to the miracle of growing up. The wonders of baby's growth and development are valuable facts now and will be needed later for school, camp, college, marriage and parenthood.

Information on all inoculations, what they were for, by whom and when given, is essential. In proper sequence mother can record abilities, tendencies, social, emotional and educational manifestations of her child.

Each entry then becomes a valuable health and development history.

"The hospital joins all parents of babies born here in again thanking the business people who have made possible the presentation of this important record book and the Blessed Event Program," states Fred J. Bury, Hospital Administrator. "It is a gift that is vital to every child and will be used for a lifetime.'

Miss Gertrude Buczek, R.N., Director of Nursing Service [r] and Mrs. Rita Gantenbein, R.N., OB Head Nurse, are shown presenting a copy of Our Baby's First Seven Years Record Book to Mrs. Mary Falkowski. This book is being given to mothers of babies born at the hospital before they go home, under the Blessed Event Program through the cooperation and participation of a group of businessmen in the area.

Petri Announces for Sixth District Seat

State Senator Thomas E. Petri (R-Fond du Lac) today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District.

In a series of press conferences held throughout the district the Fond du Lac native listed areas he said were of concern to the people of the Sixth District: Halting the growth of the governmental bureaucracy, "Pocketbook" issues of inflation and unemployment, and restoring public faith in government.

A six-year veteran of the state senate, Petri said, "People have a right to expect and demand more work from their elected representatives. If elected, I make one promise, and that is to work as hard as I can to honestly represent the best interests of the people of the Sixth District."

In making his announcement, the Fond du Lac native noted, 'I do not pretend to have all of the answers to all of our nation's problems. I am certain, however, that the solution to those problems does not lie with hiring more bureaucrats to write more laws and more rules and regulations. We are slowly drowning in a sea of red tape, of petty rules put forth by our government.

In concluding his announcement, the congressional candidate said that he believed the primary concern of voters in the Sixth Congressional District was the quality of their lives. " can assure you of one thing,' he said. "I have the will, the interest, the know-how, and the energy to work to increase citizen freedom so that we can. if we are willing to work, enjoy a

Indians Lose by 8 to Grafton, Only 1 to Leading Hartland

Showing improvement, the the winners with 17. Kewaskum Indians lost two close games the past week. Friday night at Grafton they were defeated by 8 points, 63-55, and against unbeaten Hartland, which shares the lead with Mayville, they lost a heartbreaker by just 1 point, 66-65.

Despite Bob Nigh's 18 points, Kewaskum saw its record fall to 0-6 as the Indians lost to Grafton. Trailing by two points going into the fourth quarter, the Indians hit on just 2 of 13 field goal attempts and free throws in the period. Chris Heller scored 22 for Grafton, including 6 of 9 from the line.

Grafton made 13 free throws including its last 6 points, in gaining its first Scenic victory, even though Kewaskum came up with its best game of the year.

The Indians outplayed Grafton in the first quarter to take a 22-16 lead. They stayed ahead until about half of the second period when the Blackhawks took command. Paced by Heller's 15 points in the first half they outscored Kewaskum 17-8 to go ahead at halftime, 33-30.

After an even third quarter, Grafton made good on 8 free throws in the final period to sew up the game. Cold shooting hurt the Indians in the last quarter, in which they made only 2 of 7

With Tom Kern, the team's leading scoring who has been out with an ankle injury, back in the lineup Tuesday, the Indians gave unbeaten Hartland the battle of their lives before finally succumbing, 66-65, as the Warhawks won another one point game.

Kewaskum got off to a slow start as they were outscored 14-8 in the first quarter and 21-10 in the second, to trail at the intermission, 35-18. But the Indians came back in the second half like gangbusters to outpoint Arrowhead 25-13 and 22-18 in the final two periods.

In fact it took some last second heroics to pull the game out for Hartland. It appeared like Kewaskum had victory sewed up with a 65-64 lead and only 13 seconds left. Kern drove in for what would have been a clincher but missed. Hartland got the rebound with 8 seconds remaining, moved the ball up quickly and John Kaiser drove in for the winning layup with 3 seconds left.

The Indians hit on just 7 of 29 shots in the first half. But in the second half Hartland got cold, making only 4 of 16, as the Indians came back.

It was good to have Kern back as he led the Indians with 16 points. Scott Brendemihl was next with 12 and Ray Dominguez added 11. Kaiser paced

The Indians are now 0-7 overall and 0-4 in conference.

Kewaskum's next game will be a non-conference affair at Campbellsport January 2.

Girls Finally Win But Also Lose Two More

A bad start and poor shooting cost the Kewaskum girls another loss in a non-conference game at Sheboygan Falls last Tuesday, 56-25.

The Falcons jumped off to an 18-0 lead. Kewaskum shot only 22% from the floor and missed numerous layups.

Falls' Tami Dassow copped scoring honors with 23 points. Yvonne Schacht led Kewaskum with eight.

It brought the Indians' record to 0-5 for the season.

The JVs also lost, 29-27. In conference action against Grafton here Friday the girls finally ended their losing streak with a 57-44 victory

Schacht, freshman Jill Yearling and Sharon Wagner led the way as the Indians, after trailing 19-16 at the quarter, outscored Grafton in each of the three remaining periods.

Schacht had 16 points and Yearling, who also had 12 rebounds, scored 15. Wagner, who has played well, had 10 points and rebounds.

On Tuesday the girls traveled to Hartland to take on the highscoring, powerful Arrowhead team and were buried, 96-24.

Hartland raced to an unbelievable 52-10 lead at halftime. No team has stayed within 30 points of Hartland yet this year. The Warhawks are averaging 90 points per game (for a girls' team). They are on top in the Scenic Moraine with 4-0.

Arrowhead had three players who hit the 20 point mark - Teri Spade, Lisa Moon and Linda Aumann. Kewaskum's best was 10 by Yearling, while Schacht was off form.

Hartland extended its winning streak to 38 straight during the regular season. The last time they were beaten was by Kewaskum back in 1976.

Legends Surround Custom Of Trimming The Christmas Tree

The Christmas tree and the ornaments we hang on it are German in origin and legend dates them back many centuries. St. Boniface, an English missionary who Christianized the German Druids in the 7th century, supposedly toppled a holy oak of the pagans with a single blow on Christmas night. Behind the oak was a small evergreen, which the missionary explained was a holy tree, and a symbol of endless life. St. Boniface decreed that the fir was to be recognized as the tree of the Christ child.

Another legend tells that Martin Luther improvised a Christmas tree in an effort to explain to his wife and children, the impression the night sky made on him. He placed lighted candles on the branches of a fir and saw myriad stars in them!

German settlers brought the Christmas tree custom to America where it became popular in the early 1800's. The custom was so unique that for some years churches and private businesses often set up decorated trees and charged admission to view them.

Craftsmen in the Thuringian Mountains in Germany started production of delicate glass ornaments to decorate their evergreens in the mid-1870's.

By the turn of the century, the Yule tree moved from the church auditorium into the home and tree trimming became a family tradition. Electric lights and tinsel replaced candles, but many traditional trims, like popcorn and cranberry garlands, still grace fragrant trees

Today our tree trims are as varied and personal as our people. Corn husk dolls and ornaments have been "rediscovered", and quilted, patchwork stars, animals and figures are gay and popular. Trees are hung with frosted pine cones, yarn figures, miniature toys and glazed cookie dough ornaments. In this land of endless creative talents there's no end to the imaginative directions tree trimming takes.

The wonder of Christmas is enhanced by this lovely custom and we share the special beauty it brings to a bewitching, festive savory stuffing.

Now, there is no doubt that stuffing makes the bird. And herb-seasoned stuffing gets it off to a perfect start. Bread with flakes of herbs and spices already baked in gives this stuffing its flavor accent. Simply follow the package directions for adding melted butter and water. To give it a personal touch use the recipe below.

SAUSAGE-MUSHROOM STUFFING

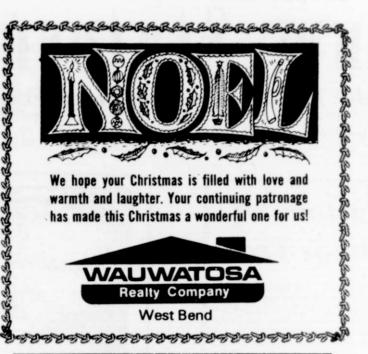

1 (16 ounce) package Pepperidge Farm herb- seasoned stuffing 3 tablespoons butter 1 cup sliced celery

1 pound sausage meat 1/4 cup snipped parsley

Prepare stuffing according to package directions. In skillet melt butter, and saute celery and mushroom slices until tender. Remove from skillet and saute sausage meat, breaking into small pieces with fork, until brown and crisp. Add sausage, celery, mushrooms and parsley to stuffing. Toss together lightly. Stuff turkey. Fills a 16 to 20 pound turkey.

The Epiphany Has Special Meaning

Many of who have long heard the phrase "On the twelfth day of Christmas..." do not know what it means. Twelfth Night. or Epiphany. means "appearance" and the holiday commemorates three "proofs" of Christ's divinity. each occuring on that date—six days after Christmas. These were the visit of the Magi. the baptism of Christ, and the first miracle at Cana where water was changed to wine.

Traditions have grown up around the Ephiphany in various parts of the world. For latin Americans, it is a solemn festival as well as beginning of the pre-Lenten carnival season. Mexicans celebrate with feasting, candlelight processions and fireworks. In the United States, Christmas greenery is burned on Ephiphany.

CHECK CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTS AND DECORATIONS

Decorative lights on a Christmas tree add a great deal of warmth to a family setting. But those same decorations can bring tragedy.

Fire Chief Augie Bilgo and Underwriters Laboratories warn that before you put up your lights this year, check for frayed insulation and cracked sockets. Use lights marked indoors, only indoors. Do a thorough check of all decorative lighting; it could prevent a fire in your home.

UL, this newspaper, and your local fire department wish you a safe and happy holiday.

Christmas Trees That Keep Memories Alive

When it comes to making Christmas memories that last for years and years, there's nothing quite like a living Christmas tree indoors for the holidays, then outdoors afterwards. The beauty and fragrance of the live evergreen in the home adds a special dimension to the holidays, then moved outside it lives on as

Some suggestions from the "Green Survival" peo-ple in the American Association of Nurserymen can help assure your pleasure from this year's living Christmas tree.

Plan to keep the tree inside about a week or ten days. Any longer than that and the evergreen begins to think it's spring and starts to make changes that will be harmful when it goes out in the yard.

Keep the root ball quite moist during the indoor time. About a quart of water every couple of days should do it.

Plant the tree as soon as you take it outside. In fact, it's smart to prepare the hole ahead of time to avoid any planting problems the weather might create when the holiday is over. Cover the hole, of course, so nobody will stumble into it in the meantime. The nursery where you select your tree can give you planting advice if you

THE STORY OF THE CHRISTMAS STOCKING

While making his yearly rooftop visits in Holland, this kindly gent dropped his purse down a chimney. Much to the good fortune of those below, the purse fell into a techine. purse fell into a stocking left on the hearth to dry. As word spread of the family's good luck, the tradition of hanging Christmas stockings became popular and widespread.

Pipe cleaners in colors are a boon when trimming a tree. They're great for attaching lights and cords to branches, can be bent to use as ornament hangers, fasten reinforcing sticks to limp branches and when curled in a spiral make an attractive trim themselves. Some enterprising folk shape them into little figures to hang as original ornaments!

Store your lovely Christmas ornaments in clean cartons from the liquor store. The dividers separate and protect them when they are tucked away. A little tissue around each will keep it whole until next year.

This year's Christmas Seals are created by youngsters. Christmas Seal contributions also help fight lung disease in children.

I'm tickled to be working with the lung association, says Shari Lewis. "Not because I'm a chest nut - but because we care about the same things. The American Lung Association's punch is directed to children - helping them to understand and respect their bodies - to save them from damage caused by air pollution and illness - to prevent their exposure to substances that might induce choking - and to help them avoid developing the cigarette habit.

The cigarette habit is one for which Shari Lewis has great disdain. "I have never smoked," she says. "And neither has Lamb Chop (after all, she's a lamb, not a camel), but more and more kids are picking up the smoking habit. It's going to take all of our efforts to help them to love themselves enough to avoid being trapped into a lifetime of poor breath.

Holiday films have bowed to TV shows

Motion pictures with a Christmas theme may be a thing of the past but fans of St. Nick and Rudolph can expect to receive heavy doses of the yuletide spirit on television, probably for years to come.

That's the opinion of Professor Russell Merritt, a film historian in the communication arts department at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

"Back in the 1940s and 50s new movies were on the market every week," said Merritt. "Movie makers had a chance to respond to the change of the seasons.

But today producers are making most of their money on year-around reruns of their movies, TV releases and nontheatrical remakes, according to Merritt. It used to be that most of the money was made from the first-run of a movie, he said.

"You cripple yourself if you make a movie just about Christmas because chances are it won't be rerun nearly as often as a film with a general theme.

Merritt estimated that years ago, some 800 movies a year were produced. Today, he said, he would be surprised if more than 200 films were being

"When you put so much money into a small number of films, you can't afford the luxury of a seasonal film," he

Merritt contended that every TV series can afford a Christmas show because of the great number of shows produced each year.

"TV shows have a specific time slot when viewers know they can tune in," said Merritt. TV viewers expect to see a Christmas show because many of them closely follow the TV lives of their favorite stars. When it's Christmas time, they expect to see something about Christmas, Merritt said

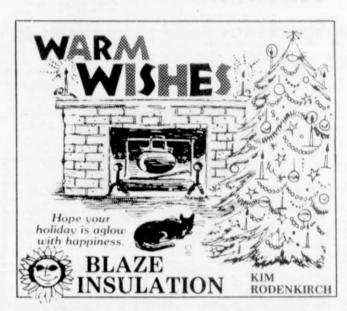

Babysitters Alert!

Inhaling of foreign objects can be a serious danger to young lungs. The American Lung Association reminds mothers that they should warn brothers, sisters, grandparents and babysitters to keep such things as small buttons, coins and peanuts away from toddlers.

If you're dreaming of a White Christmas, Wisconsin is a pretty good place to be, according to figures from State Climatologist Val L. Mitchell

In nine of the past 10 years even southern Wisconsin residents have had some snow when they woke up Christmas morning. And the odds were better farther north, although not as good along Lake Michigan.

Excited Madison children awoke to bare ground only once in the past decade, in 1971, said Mitchell's office. They saw nine inches on the ground in 1969 and 1970, five inches in 1972, four last year, and two in 1974 and 1968. There was just a dusting in the other three years, not quite enough to support a Christmas sled.

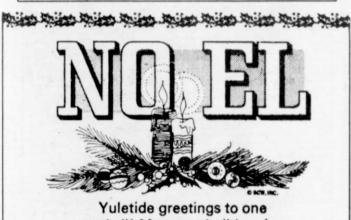

In all, the snow averaged 3.1 inches on Christmas morning over the past 10 years.

There's also hope for those who don't get into the holiday mood unless it snows on Christmas Eve. In seven of the past 10 years there was at least a trace of precipitation on Dec. 24 in Madison, including last year when a statewide snowstorm dumped 5.1 inches at LaCrosse and 5.6 inches on Green Bay.

Five years ago, however, 1973 was a lost cause for lovers of a wintry Christmas. It was rainy and foggy Christmas Eve day, with a high of 35 degrees and an icy glaze. On Christmas it was 39 degrees with a heavy fog.

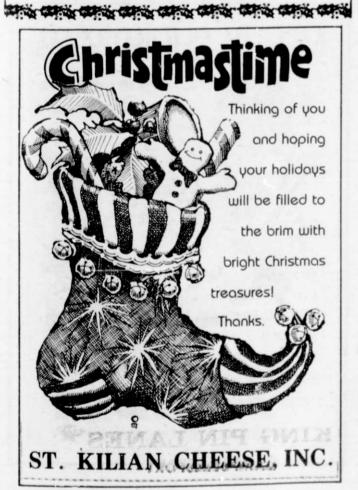

The State Meteorologist's office is in the Meteorology and Space Science Building at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where Mitchell is a professor of meteorology.

Best gifts are of self

"The most meaningful gifts are those which involve the giver in a personal way as opposed to the purely material gift," says Agatha Norton, professor of family resources and consumer sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She advises gift-givers to ask themselves what talents and services they have to share that might be appreciated.

"Maybe it's sitting with an older person," Norton said, or providing transportation for someone who doesn't usually get around.

"I have a friend who has developed a skill at making chocolate-dipped cherries," she said. "People are just drooling to get that gift."

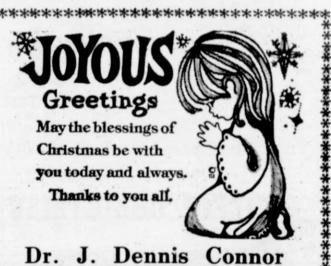

Other possibilities might be help with sewing or other household activities, free music lessons, or even something as simple as snow shoveling.

Norton warns, however, that the giver should be specific, so the recipient does not pass the gift off as simply a polite, meaningless offer. "I think there needs to be something tangible or limiting," she said, such as setting a specific date for a proposed shopping trip or a certain number of days of services.

HOLIDAY ENTERTAINING

Warm reveries and family togetherness make the Yuletide a very special time of year. If it's your turn to entertain relatives and friends this holiday season, don't let accidental spots and stains spoil the fun and festivity of the occasion. With a little spot removal know-how, clean-ups of both washable and drycleanable items can be quick and easy.

The most important rule to remember is that a spot is easiest to remove if it's treated immediately. Before laundering any items, be sure to read the manufacturers' washing instructions. Most common spots will respond to a treatment of Spray 'n Wash® laundry soil and stain remover. Just spray the pretreat directly on the spot, wait 60 seconds, and launder normally. For extra-tough spots, try a second application.

Many spots and stains on dry-cleanable items—including upholstery, drapery, and rugs—can be removed with K2r® Spot-lifter. Just apply it to the spotted areas, let dry to a fine white powder, and then brush the powder and the soil away. (Check the effect of any spot remover in an inconspicuous place before attempting to remove a spot from a fabric.)

For a free copy of a convenient and easy-to-use stain removal guide, providing information on treating more than 50 common stains on dry-cleanable fabrics and home furnishings, write to: K2r Stain Dial, Consumer Relations Dept., Box N, Texize, P.O. Box 368, Greenville, SC 29602.

Bethlehem Star: One or Many?

The Star of Bethlehem: was it really a star?

Through the centuries, there have been many explanations of the bright sign in the sky which led the Three Wise Men to the stable in Bethlehem where the Christ Child was born.

Some have called it an exploding star. Others have called it a meteor.

Some scholars have expressed the belief that it was not a star at all, that when the Wise Men said they followed a star, they were making reference to the guiding light of a spiritual experience.

Among the more popular explanations is that the Wise Men did not see one star, but several that appeared to come together in the heavens. Possibly they are now seen as the planets Jupiter, Saturn, Mars and Venus. Astronomers say that in 6 B.C. there was an apparent grouping of planets that happens only every 805 years—and this may have resulted in the brilliant "star" which started the Magi on their famous journey.

HOLY MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

The English word for Christmas comes from Cristes Maesse, which means "the Mass of Christ." Most nations derive their term for Christmas from the lengthy Latin name Festum Nativitatis Domini Nostri Jesu Christi (The Feast of the Nativity of Our Lord Jesus Christ) or the shorter form Dies Natalis Domini (The Birthday of Our Lord). In Spain Christmas is called La Navidad. in Portugal, Natal, and in Italy, Il Natale. Christmas is called Rozhdestvo Khrista in Russia, and the German word for Christmas, Weinachten stands for Holy Night or Blessed Night, referring to the Nativity only by implication.

Make Christmas A Safe Holiday

Mary K. Ryan, consumer protection division administrator with the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, says that each year thousands of Americans suffer needless injuries, loss of life and destruction of property due to accidents involving holiday decorations. She adds, "it is estimated that this year, 3,500 persons will be treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with holiday decorations."

"However, accidents need not happen if common sense precautions are taken," Ms. Ryan points out. She offers these few tips for a safe and happy Christmas holiday:

TREES — If you use a natural tree, make sure it is fresh and keep it in water. Keep it a safe distance from any heat source and dispose of it when the needles begin to fall off in large quantities. If you use a metal tree do not attach electric lights to it—use spotlights instead. If you use a plastic tree, it should be of fire-resistant material. Keep away from heat sources.

LIGHTING — Purchase lights which have been checked for safety and look for the UL label. If you use older lights, check for frayed wires, loose connections, broken or cracked sockets and spots where bare wire is exposed. Make sure outdoor lights are weatherproof and designed for outdoor use. When you leave home, or retire for the evening, unplug lights from the wall outlet.

ORNAMENTS OR TRIMS
MING — Avoid placing breakable ornaments on lower branches where small children can reach them or knock them off. Trimmings on trees and around the home should be noncombustible or flame-resistant.

FIREPLACES — Before starting any fire, remove all decorations from the area and make sure the flue is open. Always use a screen and do not use the fireplace as an incinerator for burning wrappings or evergreen boughs.

She concludes, "Don't consider yourself as old-fashioned for insisting on safety. The use of common sense will assure a safe Christmas for you and your

Symbols Adorn Greeting Cards

Christmas card artists have a wealth of symbols from which to draw when preparing illustrations. Holly is symbolic of chastity, flying birds symbolize spiritual life and a peacock stands for eternal life. Lambs call attention to the sacrifice on the cross; beasts of burden often stand for humility. And a white rose recalls the little shepherd girl whose tears were turned to white roses by an angel. The child had burst into tears at the manger because she had no gift. Christmas lights symbolize the Glory of God and holly berries the drops of blood caused by Christ's crown of thorns.

Kids Help Parents Give Up Smoking

More and more parents are quitting smoking these days. Because their children care so much.

"Youngsters are often bewildered and afraid when their parents smoke," says Lewis B. Clayton, M.D., medical affairs director of the American Lung Association. "Children, unlike their parents at the same age, know that smoking causes sickness and death. Naturally, they want — and need — their parents alive and well."

Dr. Clayton says a reversal of roles has taken place in the smoking issue. "It's children who are assuming the parental role and urging parents to take their own health seriously."

The Christmas Seal people receive urgent letters throughout the year from children requesting information to help their parents stop smoking. Quitting smoking for someone you love is one of the most powerful motivations to kick the habit, says the lung association.

A case in point is 9-year-old Teresa Koska of Wilmington, North Carolina. When her parents discovered that her painting had been chosen to be one of the 1978 Christmas Seals, they gave her a gift—they vowed to quit smoking. Both parents attended every session of a five-day smoking clinic sponsored by their local lung association.

Teresa's painting of eight, smiling faces on Christmas tree ornaments is one of 54 Seals designed by children in kindergarten through third grade in every state and U.S. territory.

Christmas Seals are the chief support of lung associations across the country. If today's children grow up to be nonsmokers, says the lung association, that single fact would drastically reduce the problem of lung disease.

Children and adults who want to help someone they love to stop smoking can contact their lung association. Everyone who contributes to Christmas Seals joins in the campaign for healthier lungs for everyone.

May Christmas bring to all our friends and neighbors a world of joy and peace.
