Luxury Liner Sinks

Local Couple on Vacation Cruise Interrupted by Fire

A local couple, Gerald and Martha Stoffel, former residents John and Harriet Stellpflug of New Holstein, and Robert and Dolores DuPont of Greenfield, the latter a native of Kewaskum, were passengers aboard the luxury liner Angelina Lauro, when it burned while docked at Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. The three couples were on a week's Caribbean pleasure cruise.

The point of embarkation was San Juan, Puerto Rico. The 24,000 ton tourist ship had gone through an exotic schedule to St. Martin, Guadeloupe, Grenada, La Guaria, Caracas, Venezuela in South America and to St. Thomas, the last stop before the voyage back to San Juan.

On the day of the incident, Friday, March 30, the ship was docked in St. Thomas harbor. The Stoffels and DuPonts were off the ship, taking a tour of the Island of St. Thomas. The Stellpflugs were aboard ship when they decided to go out on the deck area. When going past the lounge area they noticed wisps of smoke. As they reached the stairwell descending to the main deck for disembarking, they noticed rolling smoke. John and Harriet proceeded to the gangplank and just as they reached it two firemen came running up and Harriet saw a fire engine on the dock. Both left the ship at this point going onto the dock to continue on to the shops in the area.

About three-quarters of an hour later the Stellpflugs decided to return and by this time they could see huge billows of smoke pouring from the ship and fire fighting equipment in service. There was fear of fire reaching the fuel supply and exploding. The US Navy destroyer Cory and the US Coast Guard cutter Point White Horn were just outside the bay. The Cory and the Coast Guard vessel were ordered into the harbor to start hosing down the burning ship. With the water being poured on to her, the ship gained immense water weight and sank.

All of the three couples had some anxious moments. John and Harriet did not know whether the Stoffels and DuPonts had returned to the ship and they in turn did not know whether the Stellpflugs were still on board. They lost just about everything they had along.

Authorities said all 1,100 passengers and crew had escaped. About 65 passengers were from Wisconsin. Most of the passengers were put aboard two other ships and sailed for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

When they arrived in San Juan each passenger was given $100 in cash for their immediate needs. They left San Juan by plane and landed at Mitchell Field in Milwaukee in 35 degree weather. Most passengers came back from the cruise with only their tans and bathing suits or shirts and shorts.

Stellpflug said he hates to think of what would have happened if the fire had occurred one day earlier while the ship was at sea in 50 mile an hour winds while many passengers were seasick and confined to their cabins.

Gerald Stoffel, Harriet Stellpflug and Dolores DuPont are the children of the Nic Stoffels of Kewaskum.

Mrs. Ken Becker Chairperson for Bike-A-Thon Here

Mrs. Kenneth Becker, 8493 Highway B, Kewaskum, has been appointed to lead local volunteers in organizing a Bike-A-Thon to be held in May in Kewaskum, according to Edward J. Downey, President of the Wisconsin Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

In accepting the chairpersonship of the event, Mrs. Becker said, "We hope many residents of this city will volunteer their time and talent to this worthwhile project. There are literally millions of children in this country who need our help because their lives are threatened by lung-damaging diseases."

Cystic Fibrosis (CF), the most serious lung-damaging disease, is incurable. One in every 1,600 Americans inherit this devastating disease when they receive a gene for CF from each of their parents. It is estimated that 10 million and unknown carriers of the gene which can cause CF in their child. Through research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, a test to identify carriers is being sought and scientists are pursuing a cure or control for cystic fibrosis.

The Bike-A-Thon will help support research programs and medical care to lengthen the lives of all lung-damaged children through over 110 Cystic Fibrosis Centers in the United States. These CF Centers specialize in the diagnosis and care of children with cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases like chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, severe asthma and recurrent pneumonia.

"Naturally, we know more today than we ever have before, but we still have a long way to go before we've conquered CF," said Mrs. Becker. "Every

Story Hour Starts April 19

The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club will again sponsor "Story Hour" this spring, beginning Thursday, April 19, at the Kewaskum Public Library.

Two morning sessions will be held every Thursday for six weeks from 9:15 to 10:00 a.m. and 10:30 to 11:15 a.m.

Please call 626-2424 to register your child. Children ages three to five are welcome.

They say money talks, but to me it goes without saying.

His phone is ringing. Unfortunately it's ringing in the living room.

And he's got to put down the birdhouse, the hammer, and climb a flight of stairs to answer it. Too bad! If he had an extension in his work room, he wouldn't have to walk so hard to get it.

If it always seems that the phone is ringing in a room you're not in, maybe you should be thinking about getting an extension. General Telephone offers them in a wide range of styles and colors. And each and every phone is backed by all our years of experience.

Extension phones are a convenience you deserve and they're not expensive. For as little as $50 per month and think of all the leg work they'll save you.

No rushing. No running. No sprinting up a flight of stairs.

You can't be in two places at once. But your phone can.

24 KHS Students Advance To State in Music Contest

The solo and ensemble contest which was partially postponed due to the snowstorm two weeks ago was completed last Saturday at Kewaskum High School. The KHS music department had 108 out of 112 band students participating in one of the three awards areas.

Each year students may participate in either the solo competition or with ensembles. The contest is governed by the Wisconsin School Music Association (WSMA), which makes the list of music for each instrument and each ensemble. In both solos and ensembles, there are three graded levels in each contest: Class C for the young or average ability student, Class B for the more advanced, and Class A for the most advanced. Each entry usually begins preparation 6-8 weeks in advance, working for the coveted first award. Each entry is judged in five categories - tone, intonation, rhythmic accuracy, interpretations and articulation. There are five award divisions. Stoffel, Local FFA Team Winners in State Contest

An estimated 2,100 Wisconsin high school Future Farmers of America (FFA) members took part in the annual State Agricultural Judging Contest on the University of Wisconsin-Madison campus on April 7.

Teams represented 204 high schools with agricultural curricula, according to contest manager Maurice White, assistant dean in the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALs).

The competition helps FFA members develop and demonstrate abilities in selecting good breeding stock for meat, milk, wool and egg production, and selecting and managing better crops.

In the UW-Extension and CALs sponsored event, teams competed in 10 divisions—dairy cattle, dairy products, meat animals, dairy showmanship, meat, poultry and eggs, farm crops, farm management, farm mechanics and nursery. Trophies are awarded to the top school and runner-up and top individual and runner-up in each division.

Winning teams in several divisions will represent Wisconsin in national competition, White says.

Chris Stoffel, Kewaskum FFA, took sixth place in the Farm Mechanics Division. The Kewaskum team placed third out of 51 teams in that division. Dave Rizzardi is the FFA advisor and ag instructor. Gordon Darmody is also an ag instructor and assistant FFA advisor.

Park Plans for Summer Made by Village Board

The Kewaskum Village Board began making plans for summer at its meeting on Monday evening, April 2.

After several recent Park Committee meetings, tentative rules and fee schedules have been set for board approval this month or early May.

The Park Committee has reviewed policies of neighboring municipalities having public pools to determine fees to be charged and rules.

The board is now advertising for senior life guards, life guards and attendants. They will also be advertising for a summer recreation director this year as Thomas Larsen will not be returning, as stated by Trustee David Nigh of the Park Committee.

Sealed bids for a tractor-loader plus attachments were opened by the board. The bids were submitted to the Equipment Committee for further consideration.

No decision was reached by the board to amend its present subdivision ordinance to include the installation of sidewalks when new areas are ready for development.

“Having seven offices is really less important than having a reason to visit just one.”

Richard A. Larson
President

More than dollars and cents

A recent survey told us most people pick a bank or savings and loan because it's convenient — and because its employees are friendly and competent. That's not news to us. In fact we've known it — and practiced it — for over fifty years.

We know that saving and borrowing are emotional as well as financial considerations. So we do our best to provide the kind of service you'd expect from a friend and neighbor.

County wide convenience

Seven offices cover Washington County's financial needs. Germantown, Jackson, Slinger, Kewaskum. Plus three locations in West Bend. All local offices. Yet all united to draw on the association's strength.

When you visit an office, you'll see that “banker's hours” don't apply at West Bend Savings. Chances are you're only minutes away from a West Bend office that's open 61 hours a week.

All locations, except the Mall office, offer drive-in service. And with our Prestige Card you have 24-hour automatic teller service.

Savings plans for the whole family

Start your kids off right with a Homer's Club account. A minimum deposit of $10.00 will make them eligible for gifts and parties — and start them on the road to responsible savings.

We offer a number of savings plans — from daily interest accounts to eight year Investment Certificates. All at higher than bank rate interest. For savers wishing to invest larger sums, West Bend Six Month Money Market Certificates earn the highest rate allowed by law.

Mortgage loans with a distinct advantage

West Bend Savings is one of the few financial institutions in the country that pays interest on tax escrow money. Plus we offer some of the most attractive interest rates in the area. With several loan plans and consumer loan packages available.

Nice little extras

Chek-Sav is a system that lets you earn higher than bank rate interest on money that would otherwise lay idle in your checking account. One call to our teller transfers that money to your bank checking account only when you need it. Or transfer money from checking to savings.

Our customers like the idea of free money orders. And free traveler's checks. Plus the security of our Prestige Card for emergency cash at many savings and loans in the United States.

Grow with us

Convenience and friendly service are two very important reasons why West Bend Savings is Washington County's largest financial institution. Stop in any of our seven county wide offices and see what we mean. You really do get more Money for Living from West Bend.

During the past week heavy losses were incurred by fires destroying barns, there being three in all, in the immediate vicinity. The first to occur was on Saturday evening, April 6, when during an electrical storm, the Wendt Bros.' barn about two and one-half miles east of Kewaskum, was struck by lightning and totally destroyed by fire. The second fire to take place was on Monday evening, April 8, when the barn on the former Jake Berres farm located about 2½ miles southeast of Forest Lake, burned to the ground. The tenant, Clarence Peters, who was at work in the barn, accidentally knocked over a gasoline lantern, which was the cause of the conflagration. The third fire, one which entails a very heavy loss, occurred early Wednesday morning, April 10, on the Herman Bruhn farm, located about one-half mile east of Wayne Center, better known as the former Andrew Knoebel farm. The origin of the fire is not known. Besides the barn, a frame building 36x80 feet, a garage with two Chevrolet cars, hog pen, chicken house, granary, tool shed, corn crib, pump house and silo with all their contents, together with 18 head of Holstein cows, five calves, four horses, two colts, fifteen ton of hay, 600 bushels of grain, and all farm machinery went up in smoke.

Final Petri Index Shows Increase

State Senator Thomas E. Petri (R-2nd District) announced recently that the number of employees increased by 398 during March 1979.

"The Petri Index charts a seasonal increase at this time of year," Petri commented. "The total number of state employees is now 55,309 which marks an annual jump of 1958 over last April's employment level."

"55,309 is a record high for the number of people employed by the State of Wisconsin," Petri said. "I am looking forward to at least a leveling off, if not a drop in this growth pattern. Under Governor Dreyfus' administration, an absolute ceiling has been placed on state revenues which should translate into a definitive limit on state expenditures."

Petri's figures are based on the number of employees covered by the state's group health insurance plans. Because some employees are not covered by these plans, the actual number of state employees is considerably higher than those charted by the Petri Index. However in the past, the Index has been an accurate reflection of state employment trends.

Petri has been keeping the Index since January 1971. He is presently congressman from the Sixth District.

"I have enjoyed serving the people of the Second District in the Wisconsin State Senate and am looking forward to being the congressman from the Sixth District," said Petri.

"I trust that someone will continue to keep an eye on state employment rolls. It is extremely important that growth trends be curbed so as to limit the burden of state government on Wisconsin taxpayers," Petri concluded.

Easter - A Time for Families

By Genevieve Millet Landau
 Director, Hasbro Center for Child Development and Education

The celebrations of Easter and Passover, like those of Christmas and Hanukkah, are among the few remaining traditions in our society which has so largely abandoned rituals and symbols. So it is more important than ever that this season be made a family time, a time when parents and children do things together, a time to share in a variety of ways — the joys and the deeper meanings — of the season.

Springtime is the true beginning of the year. Nature is reborn in the spring. For children especially, the lengthening days, the warming spring sunshine, heralds a welcome new world of active outdoor play. Youngsters can get out of the house to do all the active things they have been missing while winter weather limited their activities, and often kept them indoors. Bicycles, tricycles, wagons, roller skates come out of storage sheds, basements and garages. New games are learned. New territories explored.

Some of these new interests can be beneficially — and painlessly — channeled into programs of regular physical activity. In fact, this is a good time for the whole family to join in a fitness program. Grownups can get into shape by brisk walking and hiking, jogging, playing tennis, exercising. Youngsters seeing their parents shaping up for spring and summer will be encouraged to follow suit, doing things geared to their own ages and interests. According to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, children should get at least one hour of vigorous physical activity every day. And research shows that children who see their parents exercising are more likely to want to be physically fit themselves.

Now is the time to start. Most of the outdoor games that kids like increase their coordination and strengthen their muscles without making a pressured, organized thing of it.

Easter marks more, of course, than the beginning of a new season of sports and outdoor play. The religious celebrations of Easter and Passover symbolize and reaffirm the values of community life and growth. This is why we give presents, dress in new and cheerful clothing, prepare festive meals to share with friends and family. Of equal importance are the tasks and responsibilities we share with our children at this time. For children learn their parents' values by doing, as well as by watching. By doing such simple chores as helping to rake the lawn, planting seeds, taking part in traditional spring cleaning chores, children develop a sense of responsibility and obligation towards property and the natural world. Taking part in such tasks not only teaches values but it's great fun if everyone pitches in.

There are also lots of lovely, special things for and children to share during the Easter season. Simple things such as dyeing eggs, searching for new leaves and flowers, spying bird nests all take on new meaning when parents and children do them together.

To young children, Easter means presents, new clothes, chocolate bunnies, Easter eggs and baskets. But the season can be given its deepest meaning by teaching our children and reminding ourselves of the joys of helping others.

You might wish, for example, to have a collection party so your children and perhaps some of the neighbors' kids can donate to others, toys or clothing which are no longer needed. Clothes can be gathered and given to agencies which refurbish and distribute them to families who are less fortunate; toys and other possessions can be freshened up and repaired for other youngsters to enjoy. The Easter season is a time for new beginnings — in physical and emotional fitness and, above all, in caring and sharing.

Homer the Lion

Helps Children

Learn Savings Habit

Homer, the West Bend Savings' Lion, is "no ordinary lion." He's a little cross-eyed. His mane is a bit on the frizzy side. But more importantly, according to Richard A. Larson, president of West Bend Savings and Loan Association, Homer is loved — by all children, and children at heart.

Homer is the official mascot for West Bend Savings' "Homer's Club" — a special savings program for junior savers, under age thirteen, and is designed to provide fun, educational experience that teaches children the importance of saving money.

The program, first introduced in May, 1978, is offered in Washington County, exclusively by the West Bend Savings and Loan Association. To date, West Bend Savings has over 1,600 Homer's Club members.

"Homer's Club has been an ideal way to enhance community relations for our association," Larson said, "special promotions have included a Fire Promotion Poster Contest and Homer's Club days at selected branch offices.

When a Homer's Club account is opened, each member receives a special savings passbook, t-shirt, membership certificate and identification card — each imprinted with an illustration of Homer the Lion. As an added incentive club members receive a different "free" specialty item each month when they deposit $1 or more into their account. According to Larson, items such as special stocking caps, calendars, kites and frisbees have been used to promote thrift and encourage members to regularly add to their accounts.

"Homer has been warmly received by the youngsters and their parents," Larson said, "now, there's something for the entire family at West Bend Savings."

US Trade Concessions Costly to Dairy Producers

Losses attributable to dairy imports for each dairy farmer in the United States could be as high as $2,852 per year — 47 cents per hundredweight (cwt.) — if Congress approves Administration recommendations for increased cheese import quotas in the international trade talks now being completed in Geneva, Switzerland.

That's the assessment of Truman Graf, University of Wisconsin-Extension dairy economist.

The reductions in dairy income result from losses of $2,111 on current dairy imports plus $741 on increases in cheese imports to this country, which U.S. negotiators are recommending trading off for increased U.S. exports of several other products, including many farm products.

Graf says that, overall, the negotiations should be advantageous to U.S. agriculture, which exported $29.4 billion in 1978 and had a trade surplus of $14.6 billion. U.S. agricultural exports in making a major contribution to paying for over $40 billion in oil imports, were therefore very beneficial to the U.S. economy. But, he adds, "the trade negotiations will likely be negative for the U.S. dairy industry."

One reason dairy products have become a major bargaining chip in the trade talks is that the European Economic Community (Common Market) produces large milk surpluses — now 15 percent higher than their needs. About 20 percent of the farm value of their milk is paid in subsidies.

By contrast, the U.S. milk surplus last year was only 2.4 percent, and price supports cost just 1.9 percent of farm cash receipts. Thus, the EEC views the U.S. as a good place in which to dispose of some of their dairy surpluses.

Without protection for U.S. dairy products in the form of quotas on imports, the U.S. price support program could be in deep trouble, Graf believes. The uninhibited dumping of foreign dairy surpluses here would force our support program to hold up the world dairy market. When the full cost is realized by U.S. taxpayers and consumers, their political pressure could bring about the collapse of the system.

The recommended increases coming out of the Geneva talks are for an additional 67 million pounds of cheese import quotas over the 1977 imports of 209 million pounds. Graf says the cost per year of these increased cheese imports for the average dairyman in the Midwest would be $741—12¼ cents per cwt. based on 1977 imports, and $402—6¼ cents per cwt. based on 1978 imports.

U.S. dairymen lost 35 cents per cwt. in 1978 when 1.94 billion more net pounds of milk were imported than were exported. That cost farmers an average $2,111, notes Graf.

If increasing imports leads to higher price support purchases, the present 80 percent of parity support price could be threatened. A drop to 75 percent of parity would mean a loss of 67 cents per cwt. in the support base, or $4,055 annually per dairyman.

Altogether, losses to each dairy farmer from concessions on cheese import concessions on cheese and potential consequences to the U.S. dairy support program could total as much as $6,907 annually.

Graf bases his estimates on a recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study which concluded that for every 500 million pounds of milk equivalent imported farm milk prices fall about 9 cents per cwt.

Another concession made by U.S. negotiators will make it harder to control imports causing harm to U.S. dairymen. Our negotiators have agreed to add a "proof of injury" clause requiring demonstrable harm to be shown before duties could be applied to subsidized imports up to the amount of the subsidy.

To prove injury, dairymen would likely have to go through long proceedings, and even then they might not be successful. Besides, notes Graf, the harm would already be done.

Graf says that if subsidized dairy imports can't be dumped on the U.S., and if quality standards on foreign dairy imports are as rigid as on our own, the U.S. dairy industry can compete with dairy imports from other countries. However, if an increase in U.S. cheese import quotas is not tied in with a cessation of dumping, import protection, and subsidization of dairy products by other countries, a permanent minimum price support level that will enable U.S. dairy farmers to survive will be needed.

The Question of Nuclear Safety

The recent accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant in Pennsylvania has created an emotionally charged exchange of claims and counter-claims about the safety of nuclear power. Fueling that controversy are the recent shutdown of 5 nuclear plants believed vulnerable to earthquakes and the release of a popular movie about a nuclear plant disaster, "The China Syndrome." Let's examine the arguments about nuclear safety.

On the one hand, nuclear advocates and utility officials claim nuclear plants are absolutely safe and further construction of them should proceed as quickly as possible to meet our energy needs. That attitude is wrong.

The past record of nuclear power safety is commendable, but the Pennsylvania accident proved that accidents can happen and that they can be extremely serious in terms of endangering human life. It also proved that we may have much to learn about nuclear safety.

On the other hand, opponents of nuclear power claim it poses such a serious threat to us that all nuclear power plants should be shut down immediately. That attitude is also wrong.

Nuclear power's safety record has been exceptional. It now takes ten years to build a nuclear plant because of the intensive review and rigid safety standards required by law. By 1985 nuclear power will provide one-fourth of our electricity. To scrap that now would ruin the American economy. Why? Because we have nothing to replace it with. We are dependent on foreign oil far too much now, new energy sources such as solar are not perfected yet, and we have done nothing to tap the vast reserves of oil, gas and coal we could use.

Neither extreme position should prevail. Nuclear power has been good for us, but it has problems. Let's take a balanced approach, instead:

- Investigate the Three Mile Island accident and its impact on the nuclear safety program;
- Proceed with research to "clean up" the nuclear power process and improve safety;
- Proceed to develop a program of nuclear waste disposal, to minimize long-term effects of nuclear power; and
- Proceed to develop other forms of energy, such as solar, as quickly as possible to lessen dependence on nuclear power if its problems cannot be solved.

I hope reason prevails in this controversial issue, rather than the emotion that now distorts it.

Unauthorized Towing Vehicles Can Cause Serious Problems

During a recent meeting of the Washington County Highway Safety Commission, the towing of disabled or stuck motor vehicles on or along the highway was discussed. A serious problem may result if unauthorized 4 x 4s, pick up trucks or farm tractors become involved in a towing situation. Normally, these unauthorized towing vehicles are not properly equipped or insured. Extensive damage may result to the vehicles being removed or towed. Damage to bumpers, frames and suspensions can be very costly. Lack of proper lighting equipment may render the towing operation hazardous to other vehicles using the highway. An additional area to consider is the possibility of personal injuries that may occur to the occupants of the stuck vehicle or bystanders during the unauthorized towing operation.

Chapter 194 of the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle law governs licensing, authority, regulation, and insurance for the authorized tow truck. Chapter 347 governs equipment specifications for the authorized towing operation.

Towing clauses in most insurance policies will cover only operations conducted by an authorized tow truck. These tow truck operators possess the knowledge, equipment, and the required insurance for the operation.

Before you decide to let an unauthorized vehicle remove your stuck vehicle, consider the consequences - damage to your vehicle, possible personal injury - who pays for the damage to your vehicle or your injury? The Commission suggests that in order to avoid any possible problems, a properly authorized tow truck be requested.

DNR Issues Precautionary Measures For Early Boaters and Canoeists

The Supervisor of Boating Safety in the Department of Natural Resources, Dale Morey, today had a word of caution for canoeists and other early boaters during this period of high water conditions in Wisconsin.

"This is not a good time of the year for those who are unskilled in controlling a canoe or kayak to gain experience," Morey said, "as the high water and faster current make these kinds of watercraft more difficult to control." "Before canoeing under these kinds of conditions," Morey continued, "the novice canoeist should have considerable experience and training in canoeing on small lakes, or streams with a minimum amount of current and few or no obstructions in the water."

He also reminded boaters about the requirements to have personal flotation devices on all boats used on Wisconsin waters, and urged that those who are determined to use boats at this time of the year exercise this extra measure of safety, "when afloat, wear your personal flotation device. If you should overturn or be swamped, it will greatly increase your chances of surviving."

"Water and air temperatures at this time of the year are cold and anyone planning on doing any boating should dress warmly including the wearing of boots and mittens," Morey noted.

Looking ahead to the warm weather boating season this year, Morey said it is important to make certain preparations in advance of the initial outing.

Outboard motors should be properly tuned both to ensure smooth running and gasoline efficiency. Make a point of cleaning the spark plugs and be sure they are properly gapped. Clean the bottom of the boat to avoid unnecessary drag, and check to see that the propeller is free of nicks and dents.

Boats shorter than 16 feet in length and canoes must be equipped with one personal flotation device (PFD) (of any type) for each passenger. Boats 16 feet and longer must carry one wearable Type I, II, or III PFD in good condition for each passenger plus a throwable Type IV PFD on board. Examples of these PFD's are illustrated in the Boating Regulations pamphlet available at DNR offices.

The DNR and U.S. Coast Guard both suggest that boaters should purchase wearable PFD's according to the size of the wearer. They must fit the individual without any major adjustments in order to provide the proper buoyancy for the wearer.

Other precautionary measures are:

1. Make sure the boat registration certificate is on board.
2. Distribute the weight evenly within the boat and do not overload it.
3. It is not safe to stand up in a small boat, and be sure only one person moves at a time.
4. One close to the craft if it should capsize, no matter how tempting the shoreline looks.
5. Take extra gasoline along and store it in a safe container.
6. Include adequate first aid and tool kits, a radio for weather reports, a compass, an extra line for towing, and a whistle or horn.
7. Check the oars to be sure they are in good condition in case the motor fails.
8. Inspect the running lights on the boat, plus the wheel bearings and lights on the trailer, as well as all auxiliary equipment.
9. Familiarize yourself with the water you will be on, since it may be different in April than in August.

A little foresight and planning in advance can contribute to a happy and safe boating season for you in 1979.

Mini-Bus Presented to Cedar Lake Home Campus

A new 14 passenger mini-bus was recently presented to the Cedar Lake Home Campus, West Bend, by members of the Home's Enthusiast Club.

The Resident Council named it the Cedar Bus. It is complete with an automatic wheelchair lift. The bus can accommodate two wheelchair passengers.

The Cedar Bus will be used to take residents shopping, to movies, concerts, tea parties, excursions on the Cedar Bee pontoon boat, and for scenic rides.

New 4-H Leaders Workshop April 19

A workshop for 4-H leaders will be held Thursday, April 19, from 7:30 to 9:55 p.m. at the 4-H and 515 East Extension meeting room, 515 East Washington Street in West Bend. It is especially for those who will be leaders for the first time this year, but parents or other leaders who had not attended a session like this before are also welcome.

The session will focus on the purpose of 4-H and Youth Programs. They will look at how kids act and react and how youth grow up and learn. Planning interesting project meetings and experiences will be part of the program.

As leaders work with 4-H members, or as parents work with their children, it is important they understand some of the needs and characteristics of youth. For example, younger members want to do things rather than listen to someone telling them things. This means that if we want to make a learning experience interesting for these members, we need to give them plenty of opportunity to be actively doing things. They may lose interest if we just have them sit and listen.

Younger members also want to explore things. They are very curious and want to see how things are made and put together and how they work. We can expect that they will want to explore and look at things that we may not have intended to be teaching them. It is important that a parent or leader understands this and provides the time and the opportunity for the members to explore.

Younger members need short term goals. They need to be able to accomplish something in a short time so that they can feel good about themselves and their ability to do something. It is important that parents and leaders provide experiences that are easy enough and short enough that the member has success. As they grow older, they can set longer term goals and be involved in more difficult activities. If they are too difficult activities, they may become discouraged and feel that they are incapable. We do not want youth to feel incapable. We want to help them feel that they are capable. In that way, they will feel good about themselves and will continue to keep trying because they think they can do something.

Parents and leaders will be discussing these and other needs of youth at the April 19 workshop. For more details, call the 4-H office at 334-3491, 644-5204 or 342-2929.

Hephner Seeks

Petri Post

State Representative Gervase Hephner (D-Chilton) has announced his candidacy for the 2nd Senate District seat in the Wisconsin Legislature.

The district includes all of Calumet County and portions of Brown, Outagamie, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan and Washington Counties.

The seat was recently vacated with the election of State Senator Thomas Petri (R-Fond du Lac) to the 6th Congressional District seat during last week's spring general election. Governor Dreyfus is expected to call a special election for the vacant State Senate seat.

Hephner, who resides in the center of the district north of Calumet, is serving his seventh term in the State Assembly. Active in veterans affairs, agriculture, elderly and small business issues, Hephner has a keen interest in the district.

The Chilton lawmaker formerly resided in DePere where he attended St. Norbert's College prior to his election to the Assembly.

State Representative Hephner has also been active in community affairs in his area, serving as a member of the board of directors of a local operation. Hephner also owns and operates a dairy and beef farm operation which was owned previously by his great grandfather. His agricultural experience gives him a firm first hand knowledge of farm and small business problems.

Apples Stronger, Produce Better With Early Pruning

By Dan A. Wilson
Resource Agent, UW-Extension
West Bend, WI

Apple trees will produce fruit without pruning. But pruned apple trees produce more fruit of higher quality more often. Pruning increases light penetration to the tree and strengthens its structure.

Pruning requirements aren't the same for all apple varieties. Some varieties such as Red Delicious and Jonathan need a lot of attention. Others, such as McIntosh and Cortland, need less.

Pruning should be limited to the weak and unproductive branches and those that are thin and bending close to the ground.

Well-structured trees have well-spaced scaffold limbs. These are the side branches from the trunk that form the main framework of the tree. Such limbs will keep the tree sturdy, upright and much stronger than narrowly-spaced ones.

Most pruning can be done with a pruning saw and shears, either manual or power operated. The tools should be specifically made for pruning and be kept sharp and clean. They should cut clean and close with a minimum of effort and damage to the tree.

The best time to prune the trees is now, during the dormant period—late winter or early spring. On varieties that bear heaviest on alternative years, do the most pruning just prior to the bearing season.

The pruner should cut off water sprouts growing on the trunk and scaffold limbs. These are the rapidly growing shoots arising from a latent bud.

Cut the weakest of crossing or closely parallel growing branches. If there are branches growing toward the center of the tree, they should also be removed. These typically originate on scaffold limbs.

If more branch thinning is needed, remove the weak and spindly ones which are usually found in the lower and outer part of the tree beneath the more dense growth. Remember, a well pruned apple tree will help provide you with the quality apples you wish to produce.

Kewaskum Wins 5 Trophies in South Central Chess League Tournament

The South Central Chess League held its annual conference tournament on Saturday, April 7. Seven of the nine teams competed in the conference tournament with Oconomowoc and Homestead electing not to come to the tournament.

The tournament turned into the Kewaskum show as the Indians walked off with 5 of the 8 trophies. The Indians had two of the trophies won before the tournament started as did Hartford. Hartford had won the conference season trophy with a perfect 8-0 mark and Kewaskum won the runner-up season trophy with a 7-1 mark.

Dusti Howell of Kewaskum had won the season scoring trophy with 70 points and Hartford's Jerry Kosey won the season runner-up trophy with 62, one point ahead of Kewaskum's Sheldon Langhoff. It was a see-saw battle between the two teams in the tournament with Kewaskum holding a 3-1-30 lead at the end of round one, Hartford leading 65 1/2 to 52 at the end of round two and at the end of the third and final round it was Kewaskum 88 1/2 to Hartford 84 1/2. Steve Enders of Watertown won the scoring title for the tournament with a perfect 30.

Final varsity team standings for the tournaments was:

1. Kewaskum 88 1/2
2. Hartford 84 1/2
3. Germantown 73 1/2
4. St. John's Mil. Aca. 59
5. Watertown 58 1/2
6. West Bend West 51
7. Hamilton Sussex 47

In the J.V. Section it was all Kewaskum. Four teams—Kewaskum, Hartford, St. John's, and an All Star team consisting of one member from each of the remaining schools competed in a round robin tournament. At the end of round 2, Kewaskum was a perfect 80, needing only one draw in the final round to win the trophy. Final standings were:

1. Kewaskum 102
2. Hartford 60
3. All-Stars 42
4. St. John's 28

Tom Rosenberger of Kewaskum won the J.V. tournament scoring trophy with a perfect 30 points.

For the first year, there was also a novice section with 11 individuals competing. Although no trophies were awarded, certificates of merit were handed out to the top three individuals. Kewaskum had four individuals entered and all finished in the top 5. John Rimmel finished first with a perfect 5-0, Ken Bauer 2nd at 4-1, and Tim Krahn 3rd at 3-2. Andy Rosenberger tied for 5th at 2-3.

Indians also receiving certificates of merit for best player at their boards were Sheldon Langhoff, board 2, varsity; Chuck Strancke, board 3, varsity; Rick Howell, board 2, J.V., and Rob Slegler, board 5, J.V.

As everyone waits for winter to make its final exit and the arrival of spring, the main outdoor activities around the state include some fishing and bird watching as migratory fowl move through Wisconsin and song birds arrive in our state.

Southeast District

The ice on all inland waters in the district should be considered unsafe for ice travel or ice fishing. Some steelheads are being taken in the Sheboygan River, Sheboygan County and Oak Creek in Milwaukee County. Fishing on Lake Michigan tributary streams is generally difficult because of the high water conditions. Brown and rainbow trout are being taken at warmwater discharges along the Lake Michigan shoreline.

A sizable migration of whistling swans has stopped in the district with some concentration in the Fox River bottomland in Racine, Kenosha and Waukesha Counties.

Ducks and geese are moving through the district with concentrations mainly in flooded fields adjacent to the larger rivers and streams.

Kewaskum Girls County Indoor Track Champions

After winning the Scenic Moraine indoor the week before the young Kewaskum girls also "walked off" with the Washington County Indoor Track championship at West Bend Thursday. The Indians took the title with 86 points to beat out second place West Bend West with 77.

Kewaskum was favored to win the meet, in which five records were broken. Becoming accustomed to winning, the Indian girls scored in nearly all events with a strong finish.

The Indians led West by only three points going into the last event but their strong mile relay unit was expected to come through. And they did in their heat with Diane Bremser, Barb Wilson, Carrie Dreher and Julann Zemlicka winning in 3:05.6

The Kewaskum girls, who are getting to be veterans at picking up titles, take their track seriously and their mental attitude is right on.

Sophomore Katie Lightner was involved in all three Kewaskum first places. She won the 50 yard dash, the 50 low hurdles and ran the anchor leg of the winning four lap relay.

Julann Zemlicka won the 440 with a 64.2, .1 off the record, after holding off a strong challenge by Hartford's Linda Wiedmeyer. Julann also was on the winning four lap team.

Barb Wilson, Kewaskum's third "super soph," had three seconds in the 880, mile and 8 lap relay. Kewaskum did not have a senior running.

Slinger's Cathy Branta set records in the mile with 5:27.6 and the 880 with 2:29.8. The fourth record was in the two mile, where Kate Somers of Germantown won in 11:56.7. The eight-lap provided the other record, in which Hartford's quarter hit a 3:05.2.
