Kewaskum Shopping Center Plans Discussed at Meeting

A special Plan Commission meeting was held in the Municipal Building on Tuesday night at 8:15 to discuss the proposed Kewaskum shopping center.

The shopping center would be located on the Henry and Carole Timblin property just north of the Bonne Belle Motel. The purpose of this special meeting was to inform the Timblins on how to set up the plans for the land on which the shopping center will be built.

The procedure for making plans is to follow the Division of Land Procedures of Land Ordinance. In order to get the zoning changed from a R-1 to a B-2 zone they must know the types of businesses to be in the center in order to make appropriate parking areas stated in section 12 on rezoning.

They must also acquire the names and addresses of all property owners within 200 feet of the property so that they are properly notified if they would have any questions on rezoning.

One problem on where the access road would be was also discussed. One road leads onto Hwy. 45 and unless a reduced speed limit is approved this road would be too dangerous. The exit would lie on the crest of a hill and is currently at 45 mph., which could cause danger for drivers unable to see to the north because of the hill. State or county approval will have to be obtained for the access on Hwy. 45. The commission is looking for other alternatives such as Bonne Lane Road or adjoining streets. They will discuss this situation again at the April 24 meeting.

Administrator, Teacher Contracts Approved; To Dismiss Classes June 8

By TAMI EDGAR
Statesman Staff Writer

Administrator contracts were approved at Monday night's School Board meeting.

The salaries include: Superintendent of Schools, $28,647; Middle School Principal, $21,337; Elementary School Principal, $22,578; Assistant High School Principal, $24,297 with a 6.1% increase; Farmington Elementary Principal (including teaching salary) $20,142, a 6.4% increase; High School Principal, $25,073, which was a 4.6% increase. This is for a 235 day contract compared to a 240 contract in 1978-79. This was at the request of Clark Pearson. Business Manager, $19,674, and Reading Specialist, $18,365, which was a 9.3% increase. All fringe benefits remain as in previous years except that disability insurance will be paid in 1979-80 by the school district.

The board accepted the resignation of Susan Schreier, the high school English teacher, to continue her college education. Dr. Ogi asked if an exceptional teacher wants to leave for this reason why couldn't they take a year leave of absence and if they would desire to come back they could do so. The other resignation was from Barbara

Seek Candidates For Village Trustee

Due to the results of the recent election, there is a vacancy on the Village Board. Anyone interested in the position of Village Trustee, man or woman, should write a brief letter stating their reason for wanting the position and any special qualifications they feel they have that would help the Village Board.

The position would be appointed for a one year period, until April of 1980. At that time the person appointed would have to run for election if he or she so desired. All letters should be submitted to Village Commissioner William Martin no later than 5 p.m. Friday, April 27.

Nutrition Site For Elderly To Open Here

"Community requests and support" led to approval April 5 of an elderly nutrition program in Kewaskum.

Katherine E. Rath, program director for the Washington-Ozaukee-Waukesha county nutrition program for the elderly, said the W-O-W project council approved the program April 5.

The site is due to open this spring, probably in May, at the American Legion Hall, which has given its approval, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

It will be the fifth site in Washington County and the 21st in the W-O-W area, said Rath. The meals at sites are financed by Older American Act funds, U.S. Department of Agriculture meal reimbursements and donations.

CHIMNEY FIRE AT THULL HOME

Retiring Pres. Miller Presides At His Final Board Meeting

By TAMI EDGAR
Statesman Staff Writer

The utilities agreement between the Village of Kewaskum, Laubenstein and Butschlick was discussed at Monday night's Village Board meeting.

There was a question about whether or not the sewer and water runs into the property. All that is needed is a lateral hook-up to fix the situation. The utility agreement is not completely set. Since Laubenstein has 2/3 of the frontage and Butschlick 1/3 the board felt there should be two separate agreements made. The board decided that since President Miller started these proceedings, he should be allowed to finish them even though his presidency has ended.

U.S. Steel has requested its desire for its money from the fencing contract. The fencing agreement was tabled for a future meeting because it also included the installation of insulation. The board will consider where they want the insulation installed.

An amendment to Platting and Subdivision Ordinance which includes the installation of a sidewalk by the subdivider was approved.

The board approved the purchasing of a tractor-loader-mower from West Bend Implement with the total cost being $15,374.

The proposed ambulance ordinance was not ready at this time but the board felt it should be brought up due to the insurance coverage. It will be checked to see if the billage insurance will fully cover the ambulance.

Town Officials'

Pay Raised at

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Town of Kewaskum was held Wednesday, April 4, at the Town Garage on Hwy. 45 north of the village limits. Twenty voters were in attendance.

The final Farmland Preservation Map was presented for review. Chairman George Allmann explained that the land had been classified as either exclusive agriculture or transitional, and that each property owner was allowed to recommend to the committee how he wanted his property classified. Exclusive agriculture zones would mean the farm is used solely for agriculture purposes, that there is only one residency (a family member) per 35 acres, and that the farmer would be eligible to file for a special tax credit.

Transitional classification is land presently being used for agriculture purposes or residential, but may be developed in subdivision or other residential areas at a later time. Farmers in the transitional zone are not eligible for the farmland preservation tax credit. The Farmland Preservation resolution will be passed at the April 25 Town Board meeting.

Town officers' salaries were reviewed. A formula set up by the Wisconsin Towns Association using a base pay, population of the township, equalized assessment, and number of miles the town roads was used to determine suggested salaries. The voters raised salaries of the Chairman and Supervisors to $20 per meeting, and milage was raised to 17c per mile for the Chairman, Supervisors, Assessor, Clerk and Treasurer. The treasurer's salary was raised to $1,490, plus $15 per meeting attended out of the township. The Clerk's salary was increased to $2,670, plus $300 for office rental, and $15 per meeting attended out of the township. All salaries were effective immediately.

The Town Board briefly discussed road maintenance plans for the summer.

After the close of the annual meeting, the officers took oaths for another 2-year term. All were reelected in the April 3 election: George Allmann, Chairman; Daniel Stoffel and Jerome Herriges, Supervisors; Barbara Hinz, Clerk; and Dolores Prost, Treasurer.

Parents Should Keep Children From Area Of New Bath House

Recently our men have found that children have been entering the bath house in the new Kiwanis Park although it is locked and incomplete. These children have been hampering the work of the men trying to ready the bath house for summer by doing minor acts of vandalism.

Anyone caught inside the building will be subject to an appearance in Juvenile Court and the parents will be liable for any damage done by their children. If all parents take the time to explain this problem to their children the bath house can be completed on time and be made available to us in time for the upcoming summer season. Remember we ALL pay for the damage done by your children.

Village Board

President Miller declared May the recycling month for the Lions Club and Junior Woman's Club's efforts in recycling paper, glass, tin, aluminum and beer bottles.

Commissioner William Martin was authorized to send a letter to Regal Ware requesting their donation of $27,700 since the ball diamonds are completed at this time.

Two building permits were granted to Leroy Zipperer for a one family residence at 801 Bel-Ric Drive and to Tom Piwoni for new siding, windows and a front portion of a building at 137 Main Street.

A report of vandalism to the new bathhouse was also discussed. Suggestions were made to place a fence on top so the vandals can't jump over it. The rules for the park still have to be drafted. The board authorized the placing of "No Trespassing" signs on the building.

A petition from the people of Kewaskum was brought up for the blocking off of Hwy. 28 just west of the railroad tracks to Fond du Lac Avenue on Crazy Daze. They thought the safety factor would be better and the detour would be for one day only. The board approved this petition under the condition that it be approved by the state.

At the close of the meeting retiring Village President Charles Miller did not have a prepared statement but stated his pleasure of working with the board and serving the village these past years. He also said "it takes everyone working together to make it successful." Newly elected President Robert Danielsen took office on Tuesday.

Dan Schmidt read the following message: "At this time with regret I would like to thank everyone who worked with and for me while serving on the Village Board the past six years."

"I found those six years educational, enjoyable and rewarding. I feel I have helped in many small ways to improve our fine community. It takes the majority of seven to lead and rule effectively and efficiently. I wish to congratulate our new Village Board members, Mr. Stollenwerk and Mr. Blumer, along with our new Village President, Mr. Danielsen. I wish you, along with the current board members, success and luck in the future. Thank you all very much."

math curriculum had gone through so fast but none of the others came through. Floyd Brenholt said that the math was written during the summer while the rest were being written during the year. The curriculums for Social Studies, Reading and the Language Arts should be coming up soon.

The board approved dismissing classes on June 8 at 12:00 noon for high school and middle school students and the elementary at 1:30.

The board received notification that the custodians at Wayne have requested to leave after 15 years of service. The Herriges' stated their desire to devote more time to their farm.

A parent transportation contract was approved for Amy Chesak for a fee of $40. It will be a one way transport from St. John's School.

A question was asked as to why the FFA Club was having its banquet at Amerahn instead of at the high school. Advisors say it would be less work and other clubs have done the same, so they would like to try it. It is a big club and they have already gotten permission from Principal Clark Pearson to go ahead with their plans.

The last report shows that Kewaskum is still heading for the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. John Tessar expressed that four schools in our conference got what they wanted but the other four haven't gotten into the conference which they desired to enter.

The board then adjourned into closed session.

'Issues Facing Today's Women,' Dinner/Seminar Scheduled Here

Gene Boyer, cofounder of the National Organization for Women, and member of the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, will be the featured workshop leader at "Issues Facing Today's Women," a dinner/seminar sponsored by MPTI's Women's Center, May 8 from 5-10:00 p.m. in Kewaskum.

Ms. Boyer will deal with the legal status of today's homemaker in her presentation titled "Prescription for Marriage." According to Ms. Boyer, the only people who will not be interested in this issue are those women who are single and never plan to marry, women who earn more than their husbands, and women who do not care about other women. The issue concerns men, as well, particularly those who believe that their wife's contribution to their marriage and family is as valuable as their own. The Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, in its pamphlet, "The Old American Dream and the Reality, or Why We Need Marital Property Reform," states that "most people, when they marry believe that they are entering into a cooperative venture....(but) a woman finds out how undervalued her contributions are (in the eyes of the law) when her marriage is in trouble, when her husband dies, or when she wants to make a will. Usually she learns that she is not an equal partner in the marriage only after years of effort expended on family concerns." "Prescription for Marriage" will deal with the implications of Wisconsin law on the status of homemakers as well as women who work outside the home, and inform participants of legislation which will be introduced this fall to change the law.

The dinner seminar will be held at the Wigwam Restaurant in Kewaskum and cost $8.00. Registration will be from 5:00-5:30. At 5:30, Kay Stellpflug will kick off the evening with "Profile of the Woman." After dinner and following the large group presentation by Gene Boyer, participants can attend one of two workshops. Shirley Wirtz, Assistant Vice President of Heritage Bank, West Bend, will lead "Money is the Root of All Evil and a Woman Needs Roots," which will focus on how to obtain credit and what to do if it is refused you. Gail Johnson, Psychiatric Social Worker, Washington County Mental Health Center, will look at the "Impact of Changing Roles on Women's Mental Health."

Registration deadline is May 1, as the Wigwam must know by that date how many have paid for the dinner. Send your name, address and telephone number and a check for $8.00 to Roy Esser, Kewaskum High School, 1510 Bilgo Lane, Kewaskum, Wisconsin.

MPTI's Women's Center is a program of the Community Services Division of Moraine Park Technical Institute and is coordinated by Kay Stellpflug, Beaver Dam. For information about the dinner seminar call 626-2166.

A tug-of-war contest will be held on the Milwaukee River and the carnival will be highlighted by a pie throwing contest where volunteer teachers are usually the recipients.

Junior Women List Accomplishments

April is FEDERATION month. April 24 is FEDERATION DAY. The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club is a member of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs. As a federated club, the Kewaskum Juniors are active in many areas and are proud to join thousands of women across the country in working for their own community as well as the nation.

On the local level, the Home Life Committee of the Kewaskum Juniors has decorated Halloween pumpkins for the Children's Ward in St. Joseph's Hospital as well as taking Mr. and Mrs. Easter Bunny for an Easter visit. They also visit Beechwood Rest Home once each month, provide a basket for a needy family at Thanksgiving and have just recently introduced a poison prevention puppet show to the youngsters grades K-2 in the Kewaskum School System.

Everyone in the area knows of the recycling program of the Conservation Department of Kewaskum Juniors. This department also promotes Trees for Tomorrow, the new nature hike trail in the Kiwanis Park, Smokey the Bear, and River-edge Nature tours. Club members yearly take the Woodsy the Owl to visit the area schools so he can present tips to the children about how they can help improve and protect the environment. Winners of the Woodsy Poster contest attend the May meeting and receive their awards, compliments of the Kewaskum Juniors.

Story Hour has been handled by the Juniors in Kewaskum for over seven years. This committee—the Arts—also arranges for craft nights for all club members, the answering of letters to Santa and the Helen Mears Art Contest for area 8th graders. They also donate theater tickets to Senior Citizens.

The Kewaskum Juniors have been giving scholarships for twelve years. Over $3,000.00 has been given in this time to area students. The Education Committee also arranges for book reviews, presents many new books to the public library, sponsors a block parent program, donated $25.00 to RIF and publicly thanks all area teachers during National Education Week.

Without a Public Affairs Department in the club, Kewaskum youngsters would not have a bicycle safety program. This department hosts an appreciation lunch for village employees each fall, helps the firemen judge posters during Fire Prevention Week and promotes flag awareness. Meals on Wheels and the use of fire extinguishers and smoke alarms.

The International Affairs Committee works on the national and local level. A reception is held each year for local AFS students and each is given a telephone call home at Christmas. United Nations materials are made available to the schools as well as monetary support given to the Special Olympics for the Handicapped and the US Olympics. Each year a child is supported through the Christian Children's Fund and this year the International Year of the Child is being discussed and studied.

All of the Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club members are proud to be Juniors and proud to let everyone in the area know the many and varied activities the club participates in.

Campus Notes

The University of Wisconsin-River Falls Winter Quarter Dean's List, honoring 586 students, was announced recently by Registrar Melvin Germanson.

To be named to the UW-River Falls Dean's List, a student must earn a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, or midway between an "A" and "B" average. A total of 150 students earned a grade point of 4.0, or straight "A" average, this winter.

Dennis Bremser, 8489 Hwy. HH, Kewaskum, was named to the Dean's List.

Bridge Inspection Program Poised To Start in State

The state department of transportation said field work will begin "very soon" to inspect some 50 "off-system" bridges in Washington County, 83 in Fond du Lac County, 94 in Sheboygan County and 92 in Dodge County.

Secretary Lowell B. Jackson said contracts have been executed with nine engineering consultant firms to inspect approximately 6,300 bridges on local roads that are not on the federal-aid highway system.

By the end of the summer, Jackson said, the state will have for the first time a complete inventory of the physical characteristics and limitations of every bridge in the state over 20 feet in length.

The inspection program was made possible by legislation enacted by the 1979 state legislature, and now signed into law by Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus.

The inspection program to establish "sufficiency ratings" for all bridges is a requirement of the 1978 federal surface transportation act, which made federal funds available for replacing bridges on all public roads. Formerly, federal funds could be used only on bridges on the federal-aid system, which included all state bridges and those on major county routes. About 6,600 federal-aid bridges were inspected in 1977 and surveillance has continued.

Jackson said the "sufficiency rating" assigns a numerical code to each structure. The higher the quality, the higher the rating score. A bridge perfect in all respects would be rated 100.

Under the 1-to-100 scale, the new Sturgeon Bay bridge, for example, would rate nearly perfect. At the other end of the scale, the Arrowhead bridge at Superior, rates a 6.0 and the nearby Belknap street viaduct, rates at 2.0. Each is slated for replacement.

Consultants will make field inspections to assign "values" to such structural components as abutments, piers, spans, lane numbers and widths, bridge railings, bridge decks, substructure and superstructure condition, as well as the approach roadways.

Six-page reports on each structure will be analyzed by DOT computers, pre-programmed to convert the data into an overall sufficiency rating.

Once the rankings have been established, the county boards will establish a priority list for repairs or replacement.

Jackson said a bridge would have to have a sufficiency rating of less than 50 to qualify for replacement, and less than 80 to qualify for rehabilitation funds.

Wisconsin's apportionment of bridge replacement and rehabilitation funds is about $14.8 million for the current fiscal year. It could be as much as $20 million in fiscal 1980.

The department pointed out that although the federal program has been increased about five times, the amount of available funds is still far short of actual need.

Because Wisconsin and other states have so many bridges that are structurally inadequate or functionally obsolete, it will be a matter of the worst bridges competing with others in equally poor conditions to be considered for repair or replacement.

The sufficiency rating program is being financed by state transportation funds, a grant obtained through the Governor's office of highway safety, and federal-aid highway funds.

More than dollars and cents

A recent survey told us most people pick a bank or savings and loan because it's convenient — and because its employees are friendly and competent. That's not news to us. In fact we've known it — and practiced it — for over fifty years.

We know that saving and borrowing are emotional as well as financial considerations. So we do our best to provide the kind of service you'd expect from a friend and neighbor.

County wide convenience

Seven offices cover Washington County's financial needs. Germantown, Jackson, Slinger, Kewaskum. Plus three locations in West Bend. All local offices. Yet all united to draw on the association's strength.

When you visit an office, you'll see that “banker's hours” don't apply at West Bend Savings. Chances are you're only minutes away from a West Bend office that's open 61 hours a week.

All locations, except the Mall office, offer drive-in service. And with our Prestige Card you have 24-hour automatic teller service.

Savings plans for the whole family

Start your kids off right with a Homer's Club account. A minimum deposit of $10.00 will make them eligible for gifts and parties — and start them on the road to responsible savings.

We offer a number of savings plans — from daily interest accounts to long year Investment Certificates. All at higher than bank rate interest. For savers wishing to invest larger sums, West Bend Six Month Money Market Certificates earn the highest rate allowed by law.

Mortgage loans with a distinct advantage

West Bend Savings is one of the few financial institutions in the country that pays interest on tax escrow money. Plus we offer some of the most attractive interest rates in the area. With several loan plans and consumer loan packages available.

Nice little extras

Chek-Sav is a system that lets you earn higher than bank rate interest on money that would otherwise lay idle in your checking account. One call to our teller transfers that money to your bank checking account only when you need it. Or transfer money from checking to savings.

Our customers like the idea of free money orders. And free traveler's checks. Plus the security of our Prestige Card for emergency cash at many savings and loans in the United States.

Grow with us

Convenience and friendly service are two very important reasons why West Bend Savings is Washington County's largest financial institution. Stop in any of our seven county wide offices and see what we mean. You really do get more Money for Living from West Bend.

Have Your Garden, Soil Samples Tested to Tell What Plants Need

By Dan A. Wilson
Resource Agent, UW Extension
West Bend

If you want to be certain your garden soil has the proper nutrients to produce healthy plants this season, it's a good idea to have your soil tested.

University of Wisconsin-Extension provides a soil testing service for any Wisconsin resident. You can mail or deliver your soil samples, and within two weeks you will receive a soil test report.

The report will tell you the amount of already available plant nutrients in your soil. It will tell you how much more fertility you need to raise your production and will suggest several grades of fertilizer. A garden soil test every other year will help you get maximum production.

The total soil sample you send in for analysis should contain about two cups of soil. Make sure to collect soil from at least five different locations in the sampling area and combine into one sample. If you think your garden has large areas with different fertility, it is a good idea to divide the area into two or more parts and take a composite sample from each.

When sampling your soil, push a hollow probe down about 5-7" to the depth of tillage. (The shaft of a broken golf club makes a good sampling tool). Place your soil in the plastic liner of the sample bag provided by the Washington County UW-Extension office. Label the bag with your name and sample identification.

Mail or deliver your sample to either of the UW testing labs—the State Soil and Forage Laboratory, Route 2, Marshfield 54449, OR the State Soil and Plant Analysis Lab, 806 Park Street, Madison 53715. The testing fee is $3.00 for garden samples and $2.00 for field samples.

For detailed information on how to take soil samples, ask the Extension Office for publication A-2166, "Sampling Lawn and Garden Soils." The publication contains a form which you should complete and enclose with your soil sample.

Once your sample reaches the lab, it is heated to remove all moisture. Then the clumps of soil are ground into fine particles.

By looking at color and texture, the laboratory technician can determine the soil type. Soil types vary according to particle size and organic matter content.

Each sample is tested for pH (acidity), organic matter, lime requirement, available phosphorus, available potassium and soluble salts. The sample is divided up and a small portion is used to test for each material. A portion is placed in a machine specifically designed to test for one of the nutrients. The results are recorded and sent to a computer which then recommends what fertilizer is needed.

Testing often indicates a soil contains too much fertility rather than not enough. If this is your case, you should try to reduce the nutrients.

If your soil is sandy, you can reduce nutrients by watering the soil every week before planting or after harvest to leach the nutrients. Water passing easily through the sandy soil will carry excess potassium and other salts down into the lower layers.

With loamy or clayey soils, water drains slowly. You may have to dispose of the top three inches of soil and replace it with new topsoil. This new soil should also be tested for over-fertilization.

For more information on fertilizers for your garden ask the Washington County UW-Extension Office for publications A-2305 "Organic Soil Conditions" and A-2304 "Garden Fertilizers."

Three Landscaping Classes Scheduled

For those who are interested in incorporating native plant communities into their home landscape, a "Natural Landscaping Short Course" is being offered by the Washington County UW-Extension Office in April and May.

A series of three classes will emphasize the plant types native to Washington County, natural landscape design, plant selection, soil preparation and planting techniques. Short course sessions will be held on Thursdays, April 26, May 3 and May 10 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County Campus, Room: Main 201.

The first session will detail natural landscaping as an alternative, describe the process of fitting the natural landscape into the overall neighborhood and discuss design ideas. The second class will cover planning, selecting and planting prairie species. Finally, the last session will discuss woodland plant communities and how to restore them in the home landscape.

A registration fee of $2.00 is required for each packet of course materials. Pre-registration is also needed by April 23. For further information, contact Dan Wilson, Resource Agent, UW-Extension, P.O. Box 537, West Bend, WI 53095. Phone 334-3491 (West Bend), 644-5204 (Hartford) or 342-2929 (Germantown).

'Talent Show' at UWWC Friday

Students and faculty at the University of Wisconsin Center-Washington County will gather their talents together for the yearly "Talent Show" on Friday, April 20, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Theatre. A donation at the door of $1 for adults, 50 cents for children will be used for scholarships. Children under five are free.

Sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa, the national honorary society at the campus, the talent show generated funds to be used in special scholarships for UWWC students. Students that will be participating include Coral Fauster, Beth Bruni, Sheila Moore and Louise Polenski as well as some UWWC faculty members.

A free mini talent show was performed Wednesday noon for UWWC students, faculty and staff.

Her phone is ringing. Unfortunately it's ringing in the kitchen.

And she's got to get out of that nice comfy bed to answer it. Too bad! If she had an extension phone in the bedroom, she not only wouldn't have to get out of bed, she wouldn't even have to open her eyes.

If it always seems that the phone is ringing in a room you're not in, maybe you should be thinking about adding extensions. General Telephone offers them in a wide range of styles and colors.

And each and every phone is backed by all our years of experience.

Extension phones are a convenience you deserve and they're not expensive. For as little as 85¢ per month and think of all the legwork they'll save you. No rushing. No running. No jumping out of bed.

A Dealer You Can Trust

At 87, Nicholas Stoffel holds his tractor time to 12 hours a day

If you ask 87-year-old Nicholas Stoffel how many hours a day he spends on a tractor, he'll tell you he doesn't "put in long hours any more."

"I usually try to hold it to about 12 hours a day," he'll explain if you press him a little. "Sometimes it's more than that, but I quit when I get tired."

Nicholas represents the eldest of three generations of the Stoffel family who are actively engaged in a 900-acre dairy farming operation near Kewaskum.

His sons, Alan and Gerald, are the second generation. And his grandsons are the third. "He's quite a man," says Alan Stoffel of his father. "Every year, he's out there day after day plowing up a few more Wisconsin rocks that have never seen the sunshine."

"I expect he'd get pretty upset if someone invited him to play cards with the senior citizens in town."

Nicholas, who was born on the Stoffel home farm in 1892, bought his first tractor in 1924, more than half a century ago. Since then, tractors have always played an important role in the Stoffel farming operation.

Their current inventory of tractors includes 11 Masseys—an MF 1155, two 1100s, three 90s, two 65s, two 44 Specials, and an MH 44-6 that was purchased in 1948.

"The 44-6 was our first Massey," says grandson Lee Stoffel, 26. "It's got a few hours on it . . . probably 10,000 or more . . . but we still use it for jobs like raking hay."

"We usually don't trade our old tractors in," explains Lee. "It's almost impossible to have too many tractors on a dairy farm. It's convenient to be able to leave a tractor attached to a loader or a wagon so you aren't always hooking and unhooking."

The 1155, which is equipped with an air-conditioned cab, is a favorite with the elder Stoffel. "That big tractor is a wonderful rider, especially when we have duals or triples on the rear," says the 87-year-old farmer.

In early spring, Nicholas starts plowing with the 1155, then moves on to final tillage jobs when the plowing is finished.

When he's plowing, he doesn't take time to come home for lunch. Instead, he takes a lunch—prepared by his wife, Dela, 89—and eats in the field.

After corn planting, Nicholas spends equally long days on an MF 36 self-propelled swather cutting alfalfa hay and cutting oats ahead of the combine. Late in August, he gets back on the 1155 and plows until about Thanksgiving.

Gerald's son, Lee, is the Stoffel family's acknowledged expert when it comes to machinery service and repairs.

"We handle most of the repair work right here on the farm," Lee says. "I do a lot of it because I've always been interested in mechanics. If we can't handle it here, we take it to Lester Kohn (Kohn Brothers Farm Service, the MF dealership in Kewaskum)."

Of the 900 acres the Stoffels farm, they own about 500 acres and lease the remainder. Crops include corn, most of which is harvested as silage, alfalfa for hay and haylage, and seed oats. Most of the land is farmed on the contour to control erosion.

With three generations involved, there is no shortage of family labor. "Everyone pitches in to help during the really busy times," says Alan.

Alan and his wife, Peggy, have eight sons and daughters ranging in age from 16 to 25. Gerald has eleven ranging from 11 to 29.

The farming operation revolves around the 180-cow Holstein milking herd. The cows are milked in a double-10 herringbone milking parlor that was built almost entirely with family labor a few years ago.

Milking is usually done by Gerald and his son, Dan, 27. The efficient milking setup enables them to run 90 cows an hour through the parlor.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock, shortly after the morning milking is finished, the three generations of the family (the men at least) get together for coffee. It's their time for discussing problems and making decisions.

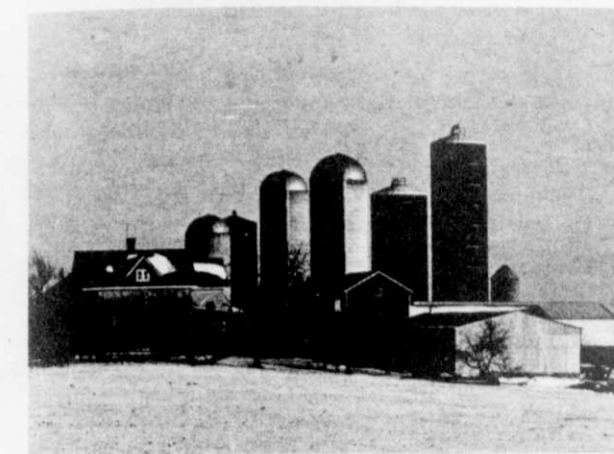

And if Dan's two daughters, Erin, three, and Carrie, one, happen to be up and around, a fourth generation of Stoffels sometimes take part in the family discussions. ■

'Living Alone' Course to Begin Monday at MPTI

"Survival Skills for Living Alone," an 8-week course geared to women and men who are separated, divorced or widowed will begin April 23, from 7-9:40 p.m.

Offered through MPTI's Women's Center, for $7.40, the course helps participants learn practical and personal skills for living on their own in a very couple-oriented society. This is the second time the class has been offered this spring.

"The class more than met my expectations," stated one woman from the first class. "I was very excited with this class and eager to share it with my friend who might benefit from it also." One of the most valuable things another woman found about the class was the knowledge that she wasn't alone in her feelings and stages of coping. The class

"helped me get in touch with myself and look at loneliness and problems from different perspectives. It gave me a wealth of information." One of the men stated that the class provided him with good information in new areas and insight into other's feelings.

Gail Johnson, instructor for the class, who is also a Psychiatric Social Worker at the Washington County Mental Health Center, stresses the value in recognizing that people who experience divorce like those who experience the death of a spouse, move through different stages over about a year's time. If one is aware of these stages, he or she has an easier time dealing with the adjustment to dramatic change in her life. Adjustments to divorce, like a death of a spouse, is a process, not a single event. Many people who initiate the divorce rake themselves over the coals and wonder why, if this is what they wanted, they aren't feeling better about the separation. Ms. Johnson looks at the roles of the dumper and the dumpee and discusses what happens when the roles switch and the dumper becomes the dumpee. Later in the course, the group turns its attention to special parenting concerns felt by divorced and widowed parents, as well as, the practical issues of home and care maintenance, legal and financial concerns and career planning. One of the most important goals of the course, according to Ms. Johnson is to help people rediscover their unique qualities so that they can feel comfortable with their "singleness."

If you are interested in taking the course, call MPTI at 334-3413, as soon as possible to register. Class size is limited to 25. The last time it was offered, 15 people had to be put on a waiting list, so don't wait until it's too late!

TELL SOMEONE YOU LOVE ABOUT POWER LINES.

Children get into lots of things. And that's to be expected.

But sometimes they get too close to power lines. And that's to be prevented.

Talk about it. Take the time to tell someone you love about power lines.

Explain how careful they have to be. That they should never climb trees that are near power lines. Or climb poles or towers that hold power lines. And that those wood "telephone" poles carry electricity, too.

Warn about flying kites near power lines. And make sure they know that if the kite should get caught on power lines, they should not try to get it down. Explain that they should never fly model airplanes near power lines, especially when a metal wire is used to fly them.

And be sure to say that if they ever see a power line down to get away from it immediately and come and tell you so you can report it.

Give someone you love this short course in self-defense:

When it comes to power lines, keep your distance.

The Park Committee also reported that they would be advertising for a Recreation Director and other summer help and that other recreation rules and fees are in the process of being drafted.

Motion was made by Trustee Nigh, seconded by Trustee Mlodzik that the fencing being held in storage by U.S. Steel Supply (for the Kewaskum Kiwanis Community Park Project) be purchased. Voice vote was 5 "Aye" and 1 "Nay" (Trustee Dan Schmidt).

Sewage Dept. Fund 6,582.25

Payment of these claims, as recorded in the official record, was so ordered upon motion by Trustee Mlodzik, seconded by Trustee Nigh. Voice vote was unanimous.

The Stripping of the 'Golden Fleeces'

Thanks to Wisconsin Senator Bill Proxmire's frequent "Golden Fleece" awards, we have been made painfully aware of wasteful federal spending, much of it in research projects funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF). Fortunately, reason won out last week when the House cut $14 million from that part of the NSF budget which has supported the worst "Golden Fleecers."

Of the NSF's $1 billion budget, $172 million was to be earmarked this year for "biological, behavioral, and social sciences." It was startling to learn that in the past this special appropriation has been used to provide:

- $43,000 for a study of the taste preferences of sheep;
- $31,000 for a study of the hearing ability of parakeets;
- $88,000 for a study of homosexual couples;
- $90,000 for a study of facial expressions;
- $68,000 for a study of differences between men and women;
- $84,000 for a study of lawyers and their social activities. There is a legitimate, necessary role for government support of scientific research to develop solutions for some of our most serious problems. Some NSF funds, for example, have been used for valuable solar power research and development of oil reserves until now too expensive to tap. That kind of research deserves support.

But there is no reason for public tax dollars to be used for programs like those above which have little or no value except to employ unemployed social scientists. The dollar amount the House cut last week may seem small, but it served notice on the NSF that the public and Congress won't tolerate programs that "fleece" the public any more.

When a speech is boiled down, it isn't dry.

Campbellsport Hearing to Form Pastoral Council

The first in a series of four hearings on the formation of an Archdiocesan Pastoral Council will be held Tuesday, April 24, at St. Matthew parish, 128 W. Helena Street, Campbellsport.

Members of the Pastoral Council Formation Committee have prepared a number of assertions upon which future guidelines could be based. The committee wishes to share these proposals and hear suggestions from persons throughout the archdiocese.

Districts invited to the Campbellsport hearing are districts 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10, which are in Dodge, Fond du Lac, Ozaukee, Sheboygan and Washington counties. The meetings are open to everyone: clergy, religious and laity.

The hearing will begin promptly at 8 p.m. and close sharply at 10 p.m. according to an announcement from the members of the Pastoral Council Formation Committee.

Members of the committee, which is directly responsible to Archbishop Rembert G. Weakland, include Sister Mary Roy McDonald, Gerald M. Schaefer, Fr. Dennis C. Klemme and Fr. George Rebatzki.

Plan Thorough Clean Up Before Starting Garden

Stalks, leaves and roots of last year's garden plants, chunks of wood and other debris left in the garden last fall after harvest could be giving pests a good wintering over place. Too, this winter's deep snow cover has provided further protection for plant-eating insects.

The first step towards preparing your 1979 garden should be to remove this debris before pests cause problems later in the gardening season.

This old material may be infested with plant diseases or insect eggs. That's why it's a good idea not to add the rubbish to compost piles. Put the debris in garbage containers and keep it isolated until it can be taken away.

Two of the most common insect pests that infect garden rubbish are the European corn borer and the common stalk borer. The European corn borer attacks sweet corn, tomatoes, green beans and peppers. It winters over in plant stubble and forms a cocoon in the spring. A moth emerges in late June or early July, laying eggs on new plants which the hatching borers penetrate. A second generation appears in August. The eggs of the common stalk borer live over the winter in grasses and plant debris. In May they hatch into small caterpillars which grow to about 1 1/2 inches long. These pests penetrate any garden plant with a thick stalk.

Slugs, snails, sow bugs and millipedes are other pests that will feed on garden plants during the growing season and are likely to spend the winter in garden debris. They thrive in moist conditions under stones and scraps of wood.

Fall is perhaps the best time to remove the "remains" of the past season's garden, but spring is the second best time. Cleaning the garden out is a step that the wise gardener takes before beginning to prepare the garden soil for planting.

The Atlantic seaboard sinks about a foot a century.

Dreyfus Declares Tornado Awareness Week

MADISON--Governor Dreyfus has proclaimed April 16 through 22 as Tornado Awareness Week in Wisconsin.

April marks the beginning of the tornado season in Wisconsin. The Division of Emergency Government has been directed to alert the public on how to protect themselves from tornadoes.

The tornado season extends through the summer months in Wisconsin bringing funnel clouds that can devastate large areas. Tornadoes usually arrive with heavy thunderstorms. The first warning is a radio alert called a TORNADO WATCH. A TORNADO WARNING is broadcast when a tornado has actually been sighted or touched down. The emergency government warning system has worked well in the past to warn people and save lives.

As part of Tornado Awareness Week, a 30-minute television special "Day of the Killer Tornadoes," will be broadcast by the Wisconsin Educational Television Network and affiliated stations. The film, prepared by the Wisconsin Division of Emergency Government in cooperation with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Wisconsin Educational Communications Board, will be shown on the following stations on Saturday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. and on Thursday, April 26, at 9:30 p.m.

Channel 38 Green Bay WPNE-TV

Channel 36 Park Falls WLEF-TV

Channel 31 LaCrosse WHLA-TV

Channel 20 Wausau WHRM-TV

Channel 28 Menomonie WHWC-TV

Channel 10 Milwaukee, WMVS will show the program at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 22. Madison, Channel 21, WHA-TV will broadcast the program on Saturday, April 21, at 5:30 p.m.

Wisconsin citizens are urged to take the following steps during a tornado warning:

*Stay indoors, away from windows. Seek refuge in the lowest part of the house, under sturdy furniture if possible.

*Keep track of children and keep a battery powered radio handy.

*Know how to shut off electricity and natural gas supply to your home.

*When you hear warning sirens, tune your radio to stations broadcasting emergency weather information.

*In an office building, school or commercial building go to the designated shelter area, lowest floor or interior hallway.

*In your car, drive away from the storm at a right angle. If the storm appears unavoidable, leave the car and seek shelter on low, dry ground.

Ice-cream has been enjoyed since Roman times. One obsessive eater, Emperor Nero, kept his slaves busy running for snow for confections from Rome to nearest white-capped mountains... One day a royal shipment of snow arrived in a state of slush on a blistering summer day and the angry emperor reputedly executed the general in charge...

Tornado Characteristics And Survival Steps

April through September are the major tornado months in Wisconsin. Sherman C. Carr, Courthouse, West Bend, of Washington County Emergency Government, suggests that people remain particularly alert to changing weather conditions and make a practice of listening to weather forecasts.

Tornadoes are usually associated with severe thunderstorms. High winds can range upwards of 150 to 200 miles per hour. Large hail often accompanies tornado-bearing storms. In a darkening sky, the approaching thunderstorm clouds often look greenish-black in color as the afternoon sun shines through from behind the storm into the ice-filled clouds. The base of the cloud may start to dip down towards the ground to form the familiar funnel shape.

Sometimes there is no visible funnel cloud, or darkness hides it. Frequent "flickering" lightning is another reliable sign of severe thunderstorm or tornado.

Early and late season storms nearly all move from the southwest to the northeast with rapid forward speeds of 35 to 50 miles per hour. In July and August, tornadoes often move from northwest to southeast. About 85 per cent of all Wisconsin tornadoes move in from the west and south directions.

TORNADO CHARACTERISTICS

The twister is the most powerful weather machine known. Most move in behind the wind, rain and hail of the larger thunderstorms which spawn them. Most occur in the late afternoon or early evening. Most come in from the southwest or west. They move along at speeds varying from 20 to 60 miles per hour, though faster moving ones have been recorded. The vast damage comes from the 200-300 mph circling winds which make up the funnel, the upward corkscrew or lift these give, and the 10-15% lower atmospheric pressure within the funnel which causes structures to burst outward. Twisters can demolish frame, brick or even cinder block buildings and do considerable damage even to far stronger reinforced structures.

Small tornadoes can destroy property and kill people. The larger the twister the greater the chance for vast death and destruction. Equally important, the larger the tornado, the better the chance of adequate warning to save countless lives along its generally long path.

There are 13 steps to take to insure your survival in the event of a tornado. Sherman C. Carr, Emergency Government Coordinator of West Bend has been alerting Washington County citizens to the survival steps.

The 13 steps, outlined by Carr, are:

1. Listen to your radio for official tornado watches and warnings, and take them seriously. You usually will first hear that a tornado "Watch" is in effect. This means tornadoes may occur. A tornado "Warning" is broadcast when a tornado has actually been sighted or indicated by weather radar.

2. Stay indoors. Wind-driven objects are your greatest danger outdoors.

3. In your home, go to a storm cellar or a basement under sturdy furniture. In home with no basement, take cover in the center part of the house, on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. If there is time, open the windows on the side of the home away from the approaching storm to reduce air pressure inside. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!

4. In office building, plan to go to an interior hallway or the lowest floor or to the designated shelter area.

5. In shopping centers, go to the designated shelter area (not to your parked car).

6. In schools, follow advanced plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums and large open rooms with poorly supported roofs.

7. In your car, drive away from the path of the tornado at a right angle. If tornado is unavoidable, leave your car and go to low, dry ground for shelter from wind-driven objects. Avoid overhead wires.

8. If caught outdoors, lie down flat on the ground. A dry roadside ditch or plow furrow gives you some protection.

9. Parents, stay calm! Know where the kids are during a tornado watch. Be sure they know your plans for emergency action. Keep the path to the basement uncluttered. Decide which part of the basement is best to use. Keep your battery powered radio handy.

10. Know where and how to shut off your electrical power and gas. Do not touch broken wires.

11. Know the names of counties, towns and the numbers of main highways around you, especially if you're traveling. This will help you interpret weather information.

12. Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds are forecast. Damage can be minimized by securing mobile homes with cables anchored in concrete footing. Mobile home parks should have a community storm shelter and a warden to monitor broadcasts throughout the severe storm emergency. If there is no shelter nearby, leave the mobile home park and take cover on low, protected ground.

13. When you hear fire or other warning sirens, turn on your radio for official Tornado "Watch" and "Warning" information.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, natural disasters are caused by tornadoes in the State of Wisconsin; and

WHEREAS, such tornadoes create emergencies of concern to the State of Wisconsin; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of the State of Wisconsin are adversely affected by tornadoes and it is vital that we further an awareness of the danger of such natural disasters and the protective measures citizens can take on the event of such threats;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LEE SHERMAN DREYFUS, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby proclaim the week of April 16 through 22, 1979,

TORNADO AWARENESS WEEK

in the State of Wisconsin, and direct the Division of Emergency Government to utilize all means at its disposal to make the citizens of Wisconsin aware of this threat and the actions the public can take to protect themselves from tornadoes.

Kewaskum Returns To Land o' Lakes Baseball League

The Land o' Lakes Northern Division baseball league will be increased from eight to nine clubs this season with the return of Kewaskum, which took a leave of absence last year. The Lakes North will be playing a 20-game schedule, starting on Tuesday, May 1.

Meeting Monday, April 2, in the Saukville Legion Hall, the managers ironed out final details with Commissioner Jake Oelhafen and the schedule will soon be released.

All of the same managers will be back this year, in the Northern Division, including Fred Dickmann Jr. at Saukville, Roger Behling at Cedarburg, Ray Mertzig at Barton, Don Pruefer at Port Washington, John Rozek at West Bend, Greg Ebbert at Thiensville-Mequon, Ed Tillman at Grafton and Danie Wester at Belgium. ## Larson, Fehlhaber Are Judo Winners

The West Bend Judo Club co-sponsored a judo tournament with Judo, Inc., Milwaukee, and the North Central, Illinois, Judo Association at the Judo, Inc. Dojo (Judo School) this past weekend. There was also a demonstration given on the sport of Sambo. Sambo is a Russian sport which combines judo and wrestling.

Judo competition proceeded with seven weight divisions. Bred Randall won 2nd place in division 7 with a 3 win, 1 loss record. His only loss came from an Illinois Black Belt who was a 1978 National Juniors Champion. Troy Randall ended with a 1 win, 3 loss record in the same division.

Division 6 saw Julie Larson (Kewaskum) win first place with Nancy Fehlhaber (Kewaskum) winning 2nd place.

Scott Schalk won 2nd place in division 5 with a 2 win, 1 loss record.

In division 4 Jason Randall won 3rd place. He was tied with Mark Sworske and David Schlieter (Kewaskum) but because each boy had the same record they had to weight off for the 3rd place award. Jason was the lightest which gave him the award.

Division 3 saw Mike BoHo and Mike Yealing compete. Paul Sworske and Pam Steilen fought in division 2 and Aaron Randall was in division 1.

Conservation

Hearings Monday

The annual Spring Conservation Hearings will be held by the Department of Natural Resources on Monday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. in all eight counties of the Southeast District.

For this area the conservation hearings are scheduled as follows: Washington County — County Courthouse, West Bend (William Mitchell); Fond du Lac County — Lakeside Park Pavilion, Fond du Lac (Gary Homuth); Sheboygan County — City Hall, 375 Buffalo, Sheboygan Falls (Gustave Ernst, Jr.); Dodge County — Horicon City Hall Auditorium, Horicon (Michael Dresen).

DNR field personnel will conduct the meetings and will forward the results of the public voting to the Natural Resources Board. The public will have a chance to vote on a variety of changes in the hunting, fishing and trapping rules.

Some of the proposed DNR fishing rule changes include: 1.) fishing in Lake Michigan with two lines and no more than two hooks, 2.) opening all of Lake Michigan to snagging for 24-hour fishing except in Kenosha County, and 3.) prohibiting snagging in Sucker Creek in Ozaukee County.

Some of the proposed game rule changes for the Southeast District include expanding the ruffed grouse season in all or portions of 23 counties to January 31. The present ruffed grouse season only includes 17 counties.

Other proposals of interest to southeastern Wisconsin will include changes in the East Central Goose Management Zone on Horicon Marsh. This will also include proposed boundary changes on the "Central Zone" of the marsh.

Several other statewide questions will include the extension of the cottontail rabbit season, establishment of a new beaver trapping season framework, providing for a six week beaver dog training period, modifications of the road hunting rule and the 1979 deer quotas.

There will also be a full slate of Conservation Congress advisory questions which will be considered.

Also, two delegates and one alternate will be elected to the Conservation Congress from each county. The Conservation Congress advises the Natural Resources Board on hunting, fishing and trapping issues.

Migrating fowl are providing a bonanza for bird watchers around the state at this time of the year, and fishing is not improving as rapidly as usual because of the reluctance of spring to make its arrival.

Rough-legged and other hawks are migrating through the Park Falls area where at midweek there was still about 15-inches of snow on the ground.

Ducks, geese and swans arrived in good numbers in the Eau Claire area last week.

Good numbers of ducks, geese and swans are being spotted in the Petenwell Flow-age area.

In the southern and southwestern counties, the Rock River in Jefferson County is producing good catches of northerns and walleyes and migratory waterfowl, especially swans, are abundant in that area.

The dogs chasing deer problems remains in several areas of the state and the cooperation of all dog owners is sought in keeping their pets restrained and under control. This winter has been a difficult one for the deer herd, and the animals need a period of time to recover without harassment from dogs

Southeast District

Some steelhead trout are being taken in the Sheboygan River in Sheboygan County and in Oak Creek in Milwaukee County. Fishing on Lake Michigan tributary streams is generally difficult because of high water. Brown and rainbow trout are being taken at the Port Washington harbor, at the power plant in Sheboygan and the Lakeside power plant in Milwaukee. The smelt run has not started in the District.

The ice on all inland waters in the District should be considered unsafe for travel or fishing.

Most of the white swans that have stopped in the District have apparently moved on. There are fair numbers of them at the Theresa Marsh in Dodge and Washington counties. There are also geese to be observed at the Theresa Marsh and ducks can be seen throughout the District.
