Tickets are now available at Valley Bank and Kewaskum Savings.

Participating merchants (see advertisement on page 5) are each giving away two free tickets to the game. All you have to do is stop in and register or bring or send in the coupons in the ad to any of the merchants. Drawings will be held on May 14.

York Yankees is $5.00 for lower grandstand seat, or $6.50 with bus transportation. The Glacier Inn, Jordans' and Amerahn are chartering their own buses and also have tickets.

Let's Make this an even bigger "Kewaskum Night" than last year when approximately 385 area residents attended. Everyone come for a family fun night!

Patrolman Alerted by Smoke at Store Prevents Possible Fire

A serious fire at the L. Rosenheimer General Store at 1277 Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum may have been prevented as a result of quick action by a Kewaskum patrolman early Monday morning.

Police Officer Robert Buddenhagen was making his regular rounds at 4:40 a.m. when he noticed much smoke. He alerted the Kewaskum Fire Department, which discovered that the smoke was caused by a furnace malfunction.

Firemen used smoke ejectors and opened doors and windows to allow the smoke to escape. Damage was trivial and the store opened its door as usual at 8 a.m. for business.

On May 12 at 9:00 a.m., children will bring their bikes to the Middle School parking lot where they take a road test and receive a certificate if they have passed both tests. At this time, they may purchase a license for their bike for fifty cents.

All children in grades two and up are welcome.

Preliminary Plans for Shopping Center Presented

By TAMI EDGAR
 Statesman Staff Writer

No decision was made by the Plan Commission on the proposed shopping center plans at Tuesday night's meeting held in the Municipal Building.

Charles Falk from Livesey Enterprises discussed the preliminary plans presented to the Commission. The Henry Timblins, landowners, had not decided where to subdivide the plots as of yet.

The plans presented weren't completely what the Commission was looking for due to the fact that the planners hadn't seen any ordinances or rezoning procedures to follow properly.

The main concern of the Commission was that they wanted the streets plotted on the plans. Falk obtained the proper ordinances to follow when making moderations on the plans. Once the preliminary plat is satisfactory, starting of a rezoning petition can be done. The changing from a R-1 to a B-2 zone shows the intentions of the proposed development of the land. The list of landowners within 200 feet of the property was submitted by Carole Timblin at this time.

Businesses to be included in the shopping center are not all known. Two showing interest were Behring's Market and Kennelly Pharmacy. The proper store space and parking spaces were adequate according to the ordinance.

The Commission then briefly went over the ordinance to settle any questions for proper changes to be made.

Falk informed the Commission that the plans would be finished within ten days. These plans could then be submitted to the Commissioner and the plans would be reviewed at the next meeting.

Senior Citizen ID Cards to Be Issued

The senior citizen ID cards will again be issued on Monday, April 30, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Legion Clubhouse, Kewaskum.

Phone 626-4079 for any further information. Those who received cards at an earlier time need not apply again.

To the Editor:

National Volunteer week is April 22-28 and we, the volunteer coordinators of O.P.E.N. (the Organization for Professional Take this Opportunity), would like to thank our volunteers who have donated countless hours of service helping other people. Being a volunteer offers few over thank yous. If it were not for the dedication of the volunteer to offer his or her time to help support our agencies, we would not be able to offer the services we do in Washington County.

Once again, we extend our gratitude to you, the volunteer, who we recognize as an important part of our agencies.

Sincerely,

MPTI to Hold Dinner Seminar In Kewaskum

How have the changing roles of women and men in today's world affected you? Are you forming unrealistic expectations of yourself and others close to you? Or do you truly feel liberated by the greater equality and choices which women are experiencing today?

If you have some thoughts and questions about the impact of changing roles on women's mental health, consider attending "Issues Facing Today's Women," a dinner seminar offered by MPTI's Women's Center, May 8 in Kewaskum. Gail Johnson, Psychiatric Social Worker at the Washington County Mental Health Center, will lead a workshop on this topic.

The dinner seminar promises to touch on vital issues for today's woman and for any man who cares about the status of women on our society. Participants will hear opening remarks by Kay Stellflug, Coordinator of MPTI's Women's Center. She will paint a portrait of "the new woman" and raise questions about its implications for men.

Following dinner, Gene Boyer, Beaver Dam businesswoman and cofounder of the National Organization for Women, will lead a workshop for everyone titled, "Prescription for Marriage," in which she will answer true-false questions such as: True or False? 1) A home-making wife has the legal right to rely on her husband to pay if she needs eyeglasses or dental work; 2) A woman who works side by side with her husband on the family farm or in a small business is recognized by the Wisconsin Revenue Department as part of a marital partnership and as making an equal contribution to the enterprise; or 3) Under current Wisconsin law, a married woman has more rights than if she were to get a divorce. Ms. Boyer will examine Wisconsin law with participants, and provide insight into new legislation which seeks to change these laws.

After a break, participants will have a choice of attending "The Impact of Changing Roles on Women's Mental Health," or a workshop led by Shirley Wirtz, Assistant Vice President, Heritage Bank, titled, "Money is the Root of All Evil and a Woman Needs Roots." Ms. Wirtz will discuss how to obtain credit and what to do if it is refused you.

The dinner seminar runs from 5:00 - 10:00 p.m. at the Wigwam in Kewaskum, on May 8. Cost for the evening is $8.00 and includes dinner, workshops and handouts. Registration deadline is no later than May 1. The Wigwam must know by this date the number of people who plan to attend. To register, send your name, address, telephone number and a check for $8.00 payable to MPTI, to Roy Esser, Kewaskum High School, 1510 Bilgo Lane, Kewaskum. For information, call 626-2166 or Mary Thompson at 334-3413.

MPTI's Women's Center is a program of the Community Service Division of Moraine Park Technical Institute, and is coordinated by Kay Stellflug, Beaver Dam.

Permit Is Required for Outdoor Burning of Materials

While outdoor burning of trash and brush resulting from your annual spring cleanup may seem an effective and efficient way to dispose of these unwanted materials, the threat of wildfire and dirtier air are compelling reasons why there are controls over open burning in Wisconsin.

In many incorporated areas, cities and villages, local ordinances forbid any outdoor burning. In unincorporated areas, while it is permissible to burn common springtime debris such as dry combustible plant clippings or brush to clear farmland, or trees, limbs, stumps and brush or weeds to clear and maintain rights-of-way along roads, a burning permit is usually required before any outdoor burning of these materials is done.

Special approval from the Department of Natural Resources is required to burn demolition material, gasoline or liquid waste and explosive or dangerous materials, according to Jon Heinrich, air pollution specialist in the DNR's southern district.

"State laws also prohibit open burning of garbage, oily substances, wet combustible rubbish, asphalt, and plastic or rubber products," Heinrich said. These substances can be highly flammable or emit heavy, black smoke when burned. "In either case," he continued, "there is a danger of uncontrolled fire, or smoke thick enough to limit visibility and deposit polluting materials in the area."

Before doing any outdoor burning, Gordon Landphier, DNR Fire Control Section Chief, recommends that you check with the proper fire authorities in your area first, local government officials or the nearest DNR office, to find out what restrictions exist in your area on outdoor burning.

"In organized fire protection areas of the state, areas where the DNR has the primary responsibility for the prevention and suppression of wildfires, open burning permits are issued by local emergency fire wardens and DNR field stations," Landphier said, "in order to guarantee a high degree of forest fire prevention, detection and suppression." "This is especially critical from March to June each year," he noted, "when over 70 percent of the state's forest fires occur because the snow has melted and last year's vegetation is dead and dry and highly combustible."

For safety reasons, open burning permits may be more restrictive than usual during fire-prone months. "We may reduce the number of days for which a permit is issued and stipulate the time of day you may burn during those periods," Landphier added.

In cooperative fire control areas in Wisconsin, where local governments are given the major responsibility for wildfire protection, town chairmen act as fire wardens and have the authority to issue permits for outdoor burning. If you live in a city or village, check with local officials for information on regulations governing open burning in your community.

"Remember, if an outdoor fire you start gets away and spreads, you are legally liable for the costs of suppression," Landphier advised. "Therefore, before burning outdoors, obtain the proper permit, then follow the conditions of the permit to the letter to lessen the chances of that happening."

WEEKLY Health TIP

from Tom Leitzke, R.P.H.

Thousands of people are dying every year from diseases that medicine has already found cures for. People, and sometimes doctors, are unaware of the treatment that could save lives. For example, drugs to control high blood pressure were discovered in 1950, yet today, one-third of the victims are unaware of this fact. The problem is to get the medical answers we already know over to the public.

“With Chek-Sav you don’t have to sacrifice interest just to keep a checking account.”

Daniel V. Filzen
Assistant Vice President & Branch Manager

The best of both worlds

When you keep a large balance in your bank checking account, you’ve got nothing to show for it. Except deposit slips and a monthly statement.

Put that idle money to work in a West Bend Savings Chek-Sav account — where it earns the highest interest allowed by law — a full 5½ percent. That’s more than any bank’s automatic transfer account.

A simple phone call transfers money from your savings account to checking. Or from checking to savings. For most Washington County banks, your money is transferred the same day. And speedy service is available for virtually any bank in the country.

Control every transaction

With Chek-Sav you’re in charge. You’ll be given a personal identification number. Use it when you call to transfer funds. You can also transfer money to or from your account at our automatic teller.

Most bank automatic transfer accounts require a substantial minimum balance — or soon will. Only $100 will keep your Chek-Sav account working free of service charges.

Available at all seven offices

Stop in or call about Chek-Sav service at any of our seven Washington County locations: Slinger; Jackson; Kewaskum; Germantown; and three West Bend locations.

Rice Announces for State Senate

Joe Rice

Joe Rice, a Policy Aide to Governor Lee Dreyfus, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination in the Second State Senate District, which includes Kewaskum. The seat is vacant due to the election of Thomas Petri to the U.S. Congress.

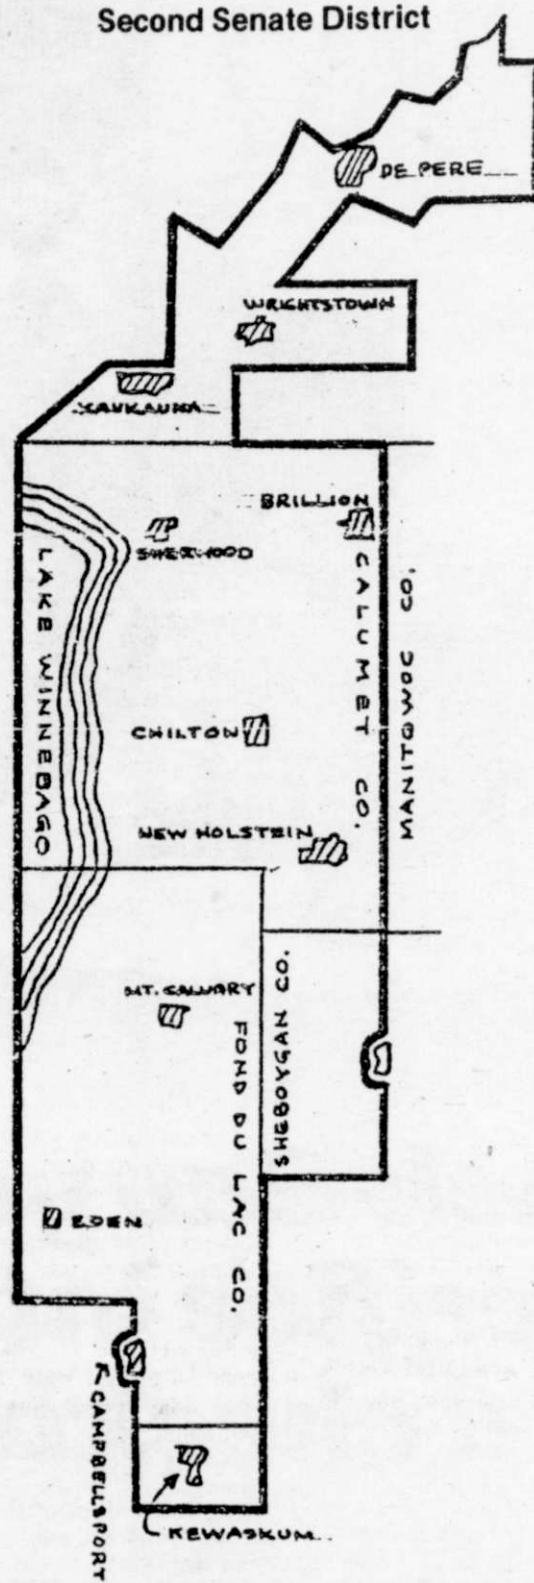

Rice, a Green Bay native, was formerly employed as Administrative Assistant to Petri in the State Senate. He is the first Republican to declare his candidacy in the special election.

In announcing his candidacy, rice pledged to wage a strong grassroots campaign. "If we are to have a fiscally fit, effective state government," Rice said, "lawmakers must be in tune with the needs of the taxpayers who elect them. The only way I know to find out what the people of the Second District expect from their legislators is to talk with them on a one-to-one basis," Rice noted in explaining his plan to campaign door to door in the communities throughout the district.

A 1973 graduate of Abbot Pennings High School in De Pere, Rice resides at 140 East Fairview in the Town of Alouez. He attended Boston College, where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Rice indicated that if elected, he planned to work closely with county, city and town officials in solving area problems.

Census Bureau Begins Address Listing Operations for 1980 Census in Wisconsin

Census Bureau address compiling operations for the 1980 census have begun in Wisconsin from an office located in Racine, said Donald Wishowski, office manager.

Temporary workers are being hired now to begin putting together lists of addresses from which mailing labels will be prepared for use on the 1980 census questionnaires. They will be mailed to each of some 80 million households nationwide in late March 1980. Census Day is April 1, 1980.

Wishowski said the address-collection phase of the census operation will take several months to complete. Also involved are checks of the lists to make sure all area dwelling addresses are included.

Census workers will drive or walk thousands of miles of streets and roads asking at each household for a correct mailing address. These address lists play a vital role in taking an accurate census since they are used to record completed questionnaires returned by mail. Households which do not mail back a completed census form within several weeks after Census Day in 1980 will receive a visit from a census taker who will interview householders for the information required on the questionnaire.

The 1979 address collection activity in Wisconsin is part of a Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide to compile lists containing approximately 30 million addresses. Another 50 million addresses have been purchased from commercial mailing list companies.

Persons interested in applying for temporary census jobs should contact their nearest state employment agency office or the census office responsible for address listing operations in Wisconsin located at 603 Main Street, Room 217, Racine, Wis. 53403. Telephone (414) 637-9944.

Temporary workers usually will work three to four weeks each and will be paid on a per-address basis. For an eight hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30. Applicants for the jobs must pass a written examination.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

MPTI Offers Clinic To Help Smokers Quit

"We do not want a thing because we have found a reason for it; we find reasons for it because we want it." This quotation by Will Durant aptly describes the habit of smoking cigarettes. However, if smoking is a habit you can learn, then not smoking can also be learned. Not smoking is not a void. It is a way of life that must be practiced, learned and mastered.

Moraine Park Technical Institute, in cooperation with the American Cancer Society, Washington County Unit, is offering a five session, Helping Smokers Quit Clinic for area residents trying to stop smoking. Sessions begin May 14 at the meeting room of St. Joseph's Hospital. Participants will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings at the hospital. Tuition for "Kick the Smoking Habit" is $5.15, payable in advance at MPTI. Class size is limited, so register early to avoid disappointment. All registrations are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

Most people know something of the risks associated with the habit and are concerned. If you're a smoker, express that concern by meeting with instructor Dan Hummel May 14 and "Kick the Habit."

50 Years Ago

Seven members of this year's basketball squad at Kewaskum High School were presented with the official school "K" on Tuesday, April 23. Those receiving the letter were: Henry Rosenheimer, Ralph Kohn, Jacob Schlosser, Carl Meilahn, John Schaefer, Lyle Bartelt, and Rolland Heberer. For participating and being victorious in the Tri-County debate, letters were presented to Retha Jane Rosenheimer, William Hopkins, Elizabeth Martin, Pearl Schaefer and Margaret Miller. Andrew O'Connell was awarded a "K" for his work in oratory. These letters have been adopted as a standard award and will remain the same for many years to come.

K.A. Honeck, local stock buyer, has with him, Mr. John G. Grau, buyer for George W. White of Park, Maryland, and for the past three weeks have been buying high grade stock. Up to date they have shipped 208 head of Holstein and Guernsey cattle during that period of time. We are reliably informed that at least part of each of the last two carloads shipped go to the new summer home and farm of President Hoover, situated in Maryland and Virginia. This new estate of Mr. Hoover, comprises between two and three thousand acres, and is a sportsman's and huntsman's paradise, having plenty of game such as deer, pheasants, etc., and some of the finest trout streams in America. He will conduct a part of the property as a Guernsey dairy farm.

Compost—Good For Soil, Helps Keep Waters Clean

By Dan A. Wilson, Resource Agent, UW-Extension West Bend, WI

If you are looking for a cheap, easy, effective method for conditioning your garden soil this coming growing season, try composting. There's no better way to condition soil, and at the same time to recycle organic material.

Compost is a mixture of decayed organic material which acts as a fertilizer when worked into the soil. It also makes an excellent mulch when applied to the soil surface. Using compost as mulch has many benefits. For example, compost mulch applied at least 4-6 inches thick prevents weeds from growing. In addition, it protects the surface from raindrop impact which may wash away the valuable soil and nutrients.

Mulch also conserves soil moisture. The organic layer slows down evaporation by the sun and wind. Mulch also helps keep the soil warm in winter and cool in summer.

Compost can be made in a variety of ways. One method is called sheet composting. In this method, the organic material is spread out on the surface of the soil. Another method is called trench composting. Trenches are dug, filled with the organic material and covered with soil. Composting proceeds in the ground. The filled trenches make excellent garden paths until the compost is ready to be used.

The most conventional compost method is pile composting—the compost heap. Here you pile the material in a bin or within a fenced area. The pile should be 4-6 feet high and 3-5 feet wide to do its work.

If you're a homeowner, you have easy access to good compost material. Deciduous leaves, grass clippings, straw, hay and crop residue from your garden all are excellent for composting. You can even use vegetable scraps from your kitchen. But there is one warning—use only vegetable scraps, not animal wastes, when composting by the pile or sheet methods. Meat, bones, cheese, eggs and other animal wastes, will attract flies and rodents, and may cause a disagreeable odor.

Adding compost to your soil conditions it both physically and chemically.

The physical conditioning process of compost improves both sandy and clayey soils.

The mechanism differs between these soils, however. With "light" sandy soils, the organic material allows the soil to hold more water and nutrients. With "heavy" clay soils, compost prevents compaction by getting in between the soil particles. In this way, compost "loosens up" tight clayey soils.

Compost chemically conditions your soil by making more of the needed nutrients available to the plants. The compost releases the nutrients gradually over a period of time like the slow-release nutrients in more expensive commercial fertilizers.

Composting is "as natural as breathing." It is going on continuously in nature. If you do nothing to your compost pile, you will have "finished" compost in about three years.

For those who want faster results, there are some hints for speeding up the process. The most important technique is turning your compost pile frequently—once a week in the beginning—to bring the necessary oxygen in contact with the organic matter. Also, grinding up the organic matter will increase the surface area, causing the compost to decompose faster. Another very important step to hasten decay is to keep the compost moist, but not wet.

Adding a small amount of soil to your compost will also speed up the process. The soil provides the microorganisms necessary for decomposition. Only a sprinkling of soil is needed; in every gram of soil there are millions of soil organisms. You can substitute some freshly prepared finished compost for the soil.

Adding a little complete fertilizer speeds up decay. It can be either a commercial type like 10-10-10 or a natural fertilizer such as grass clippings or manure. If you use grass clippings, make sure to let them dry out on the lawn for a couple of days first. If your soil is acidic, you may also want to add ground limestone (½ cup per bushel of organic material) or fresh wood ashes (1½ cups per bushel). If you are growing acid-loving plants like azaleas, rhododendros or any member of their berry family, you don't need limestone.

Start your composting in the spring so it will be completed and ready to use in the fall. If you apply mulch to your garden in the fall, make sure to remove it in early spring so the sun can warm the soil. This is important for the young, tender plants that will be starting to grow.

There is one additional benefit of composting. By picking up your leaves and grass clippings and putting them back into the soil, you are actually decreasing water pollution. If these are simply raked up and not taken away, they will be washed away and eventually end up in local streams and lakes. The lakes become overloaded with organic material. Composting can decrease this organic load.

So by composting, you are not only conditioning your garden soil and getting rid of waste material, but you are helping the environment as well.

Program on Proposed Marital Property Reforms Planned

An informational program on proposed marital property reforms is being sponsored by seven area organizations. Gene Boyer, a member of the Wisconsin Governor's Commission on the Status of Women, will speak on "Prescription for Marriage Partnership" Thursday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grafton Civic Center, 1230 11th Avenue, Grafton. The program is open to the public.

Did you know that under present Wisconsin law the woman who is divorcing has more rights than the woman who stays married? Property division at divorce begins at 50-50 but if a husband dies without a will, the wife may be entitled to only one-third of the estate. And during the ongoing marriage, a non-wage earning wife is presumed to own none of the couple's marital assets - even if she has worked unpaid, side by side with her husband on a family farm or business.

Also under current Wisconsin law, a full-time homemaker who is not independently wealthy cannot get credit unless her husband agrees to let her use his. And there is still no recognition by tax authorities of equal ownership of joint checking and savings accounts.

These and many other inequalities impelled the Commission on the Status of Women, along with attorneys and professors, to research the separate property system in Wisconsin and alternative systems. The result is a proposed marriage partnership system which will be introduced as a bill in the Wisconsin Legislature this year. The proposed reforms will reflect the basic partnership nature of marriage, recognize the contributions made by a non-wage earning spouse, and equalize the ownership and control of earnings and assets accumulated during a marriage.

The reforms will not complicate the lives of happily married couples. The proposed law will only reflect the partnership under which most couples actually operate. They work together to maintain the family. When one of them dies, the proposed law will presume that what they have accumulated between them is "theirs" and not tax the survivor.

Gene Boyer, a Beaver Dam wife, mother, grandmother, and vice-president of Matlin's Furniture Stores, Inc., has studied the marital property laws and proposed reforms and has spoken on the subject many times. She is a member of the Wisconsin Equal Employment Opportunity Association and also of the State Manpower Planning Council. Ms. Boyer was a founder of the National Organization for Women (NOW) in 1966, and also held several national positions in that organization. She was recently named Wisconsin's Woman of the Year by the state NOW. She was also named the 1976 Outstanding Community Leader (Beaver Dam Kiwanis Club) and 1976 Woman of the Year in Business (Wisconsin State Journal, Madison). Her name is listed in "Who's Who in the United States" and in a dozen other such publications.

Sponsors of the May 3 event are the Cedarburg Junior woman's Club, Mequon-Thiensville Junior Woman's Club, North Shore League of Women Voters, North Suburban National Organization for Women, Ozaukee County League of Women Voters, Washington County League of Women Voters, and the Washington County Extension Homemakers. Fencers can cause Fires for Farmers

A recent Administrative Code enacted in the State of Wisconsin after statewide hearings and legislative approval, regulates the use and operation of electric fence controllers that do not bear the Underwriters Laboratory Seal of Approval.

Past experience shows that unapproved fence controllers have been responsible for numerous forest and farm fires. The new code prohibits the use of these unapproved fence controllers in the State of Wisconsin except when the ground is snow covered or within the limits of incorporated cities and villages.

Any persons or corporation that violates this code shall be subject to penalties not to exceed $100. Additional information can be obtained from any Department of Natural Resources field office.

The unsafe controller commonly called the "Weed Burner" is dangerous and had caused fire losses. Approximately 750 forest fires have been caused by electric fencers in recent years.

Many fence controllers operate near farm buildings. Some insurance companies restrict or deny policy issuance because of use of unapproved electric fence controllers.

Forest fires caused by the operation of an electric fence subjects you to payment of fire suppression costs, damages and penalties.

Hints on Proper Fence Installation

1. Use only UL approved controllers and follow all manufacturers' instructions.

2. Make sure controller is well grounded.
3. Use good clean wire.
4. Use good clean insulators.
5. Keep fence free of brush, weeds and grass.

If these common sense rules are followed, and an approved controller is used your electric fence can be effective and safe.

Para-Professional Workshop May 10-11 At Cedar Lake Home

The Cedar Lake Home Campus Learning Center, West Bend, is offering an overnight, "live-in" workshop designed for para-professionals in the health care facilities.

"A Para-Professional Discovery" will help staff members better understand the total health care team concept, receive insight into the aging process and exchange ideas of care for the aging and handicapped.

According to Mrs. Hedwig Gumm, R.N., the Campus' Director of Nursing, this is one of the few workshops geared to the educational needs of assistants and housekeeping, dietary, therapy laundry aides. Mrs. Gumm is the coordinator of this two day experience.

The workshop, May 10-11, is open to health care personnel from hospitals and extended care facilities. Participants receive CEU credit.

3 Environmental Seminars for Teachers Set

Wisconsin elementary and secondary school teachers will be able to participate in a series of three environmental seminars to be held in northern Wisconsin this summer.

The seminars are called the 1979 Environmental Seminars for Teachers and are sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Extension. They will be conducted at the Trees for Tomorrow Environmental Center in Eagle River.

Teachers may participate in any one or a combination of the three seminars. Each is a week long and earns one university undergraduate or graduate credit. The seminars also meet the legislative requirements in conservation for secondary teachers of natural and social sciences.

The first workshop will emphasize land use decisions and will be held July 15-20. The second, on science and ecology will be July 22-27; and the third, on man and the environment, is August 5-10.

William R. Lawrence, UW-Extension Department of Community Affairs, will be in charge of program administration and registration. Lawrence says the major objective of the seminars will be "to provide relevant outdoor instruction in environmental education and to interpret those learning experiences for use in the classroom and in the immediate vicinity of a school." He added that the instruction for the seminars is "top-flight" as it includes a diverse group of technicians, businessmen and educators in the environmental field. "Because of the instruction, field trips and laboratory experiences, we feel this program should be distinguished from other programs with similar titles," he said.

Activities will include numerous field trips in the forest of the environmental center, instruction on a floating classroom on the Eagle River chain of lakes, visits from field representatives of private industry and government, and lectures and lab demonstrations from the university faculty.

One scholarship to cover the $80 room and board fee for the seminars is provided by the Washington County Soil and Water Conservation District. Teachers interested in applying for the scholarship should contact Dan A. Wilson, Resource Agent, P.O. Box 537, West Bend, Wis. 53095.

Don't Fall For Roofing Racket

"Did your roof leak this past winter?"

"If it did, don't panic and allow an itinerant roofing crew to repair your roof," warns Mary K. Ryan, consumer protection division administrator with the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection.

She points out that most winter roof leaks were caused by ice dams along eaves and gutters which allowed water to back up under shingles and seep into the house. "These leaks usually stop in the spring when shingles reseal themselves and if your roof does not leak the second rain after the last freeze — repairs may not be needed."

According to Ms. Ryan, reliable building contractors will advise homeowners to wait a while to determine if the leak was a temporary condition caused by ice holding up shingles.

Itinerant and unscrupulous roofing crews are a problem every spring and this year many will try to take advantage of homeowners who think they have a bad roof due to problems experienced this past winter. Senior citizens and persons who have little knowledge of home repairs are especially vulnerable to a fast-talking salesman.

Itinerant home repair crews have also been known to climb on a roof and deliberately damage shingles and chimneys and then tell the homeowner that an expensive repair job is necessary.

Ms. Ryan suggests that homeowners deal only with firms which have an established place of business. "Check the reputation of the contractor with your local chamber of commerce or better business bureau, and then obtain several bids from other established contractors before you pay any money or sign anything," Ms. Ryan warns.

Homeowners who experience problems with unscrupulous repair crews are urged to contact the department's consumer toll-free hot line by calling 800-362-3020.

Immunization Clinics Offered

Immunization clinics offered by the Washington County Community Health Nursing Service continue to be held twice monthly in West Bend. On the first Tuesday of each month the clinic hours will be 2:00 to 6:00 p.m., and on the fourth Tuesday of each month the clinic hours will be 9:00 to 12:00 noon.

All recommended immunizations are available to children and adults and are provided free of charge. There is a $1.00 charge for the Y.B. skin test for those age 16 and over.

Spring Bake Sale At Cedar Lake Home

The staff at the Cedar Lake Home Campus, West Bend, will be holding their annual spring Bake Sale, Saturday, May 5.

The public is cordially invited to the sale from 9 a.m. to noon.

It will be held in the Fellowship House General Activity Room.

Sponsored by the employee Safety and Suggestion Committee, the bake sale raises funds for staff projects.

Delicious home-made bakery goods, sliced baked ham, potato salad, and home-made bread are a sampling of what will be available. The staff cookbook, "Cedar Lake Home Cookin'" will also be on sale at $3.50 a copy.

ASCS Reports Signup Activity

As of now, 95 Washington County farms were enrolled in the 1979 wheat and feed grain set-aside program at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"We are pleased with the activity," Ira A. Oelhafen, Chairperson of the ASC committee said. "It shows that farmers want to take advantage of the benefits and the price protection of the program."

The incentive to participate in the feed grain program totals $2.30 a bushel for corn and $2.40 a bushel for barley. Wheat farmers participating in the program will be eligible for wheat loans of $2.35 a bushel and a target price of $3.40 per bushel. Program provisions for corn include a 10 percent set-aside and a 10 percent diversion. Wheat and barley provisions call for a 20 percent set-aside.

Program participation is voluntary. Producers must, however, file their intentions to participate during the signup period to be eligible for program benefits. "Farmers who sign up for the program will help increase farm prices and help prevent an excessive build-up of wheat and feed grain stocks," Oelhafen said.

According to Oelhafen, farmers are permitted to sign up for voluntary diversion payments on corn. However, no advance voluntary diversion payments will be made for 1979 crops.

Applications will be accepted for the 1979 set-aside program until April 30.

SENSENBRENNER TO ADDRESS ROTARY

Ninth District Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner (R-Shorewood) will be the guest speaker at a noon luncheon sponsored by the West Bend Rotary Club on Monday, April 30. The luncheon will be held at the Washington House Restaurant, which is located at 228 N. 6th Avenue, West Bend.

Sensenbrenner will be addressing the group on the progress of Congress since January on issues of interest to the business community.

Tornado Alert

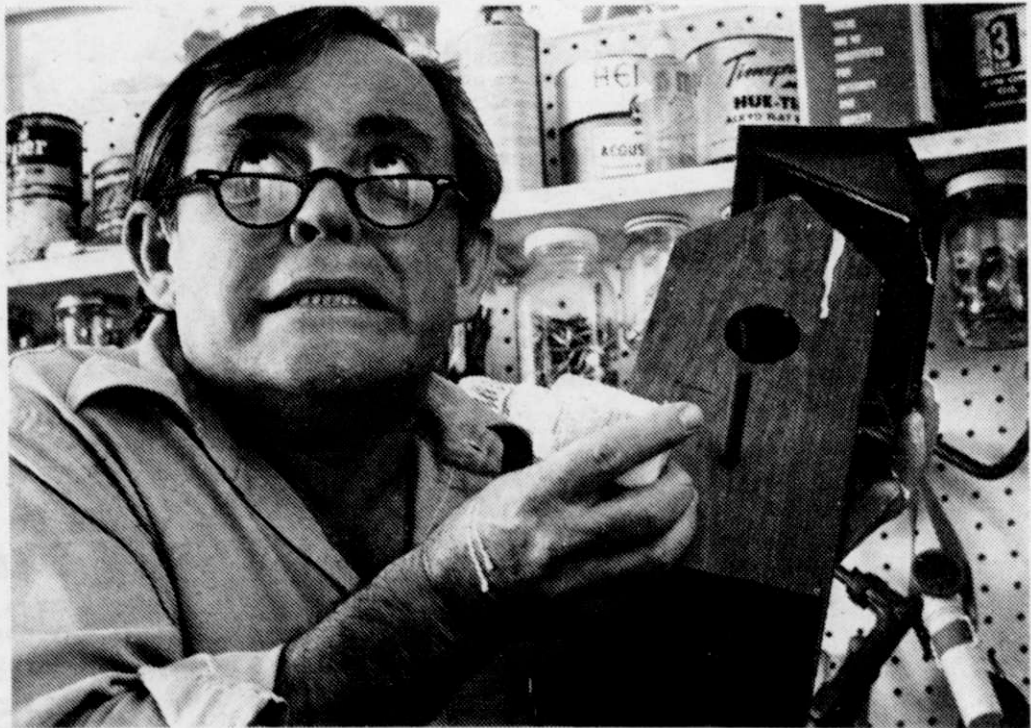

The fire siren will be sounded on Thursday, May 3, at 10 a.m. to acquaint residents with the tornado or other disaster signal. It will be sounded at a steady pitch for three to five minutes.

In the event of a tornado or other impending disaster, take precautionary measures. Check last week's issue of the Kewaskum Statesman for helpful tips and safety rules.

The alerts will be held on the first Thursday of each month during the tornado season.

State Department of Transportation
Mails $27.5 Million in Highway Aids

The state department of transportation has mailed checks totaling $27.5 million to every town, village, city and county in Wisconsin to help pay the cost of improving and maintaining local highways and bridges.

The payment includes $7.3 million to towns, $1.6 million to villages and $8.6 million to cities. The 72 Wisconsin counties will share a total of $9 million. The payment also included $1.1 million to municipalities to pay for maintenance work performed on urban portions of state trunk highways.

The payment to Washington County is $282,278.90. Payments to municipalities in the county include: County of Washington, $89,241.56; cities of Hartford, $14,058.59; West Bend $47,087.91; villages of Germantown, $46,390.81; Jackson, $2,369.52; Slinger $3,502.10; and 13 towns, $79,628.41.

The department said the April payment is the third of four highway aids payments local governments will receive in fiscal 1979. It is some $1 million ahead of the third quarter payments made in April, 1978 for fiscal 1978.

Transportation aids are distributed on the basis of the mileage and types of traffic different roads serve within the jurisdiction; the responsibility of the various units of government for their construction and maintenance, based, on the type of traffic served, and the per-mile costs borne by local governments.

The department annually returns about 44 per cent of net state motor vehicle revenues to local units of government. In addition, local governments receive state and federal aids for qualified construction projects, state reimbursement to counties for maintenance work performed on state highways, plus state and federal participation in constructing airports and other transportation programs.

We are now in the spring wildfire season. Remember to check with your local officials or the nearest DNR office about the need for a permit before you do any outside burning. Wall-eyes, where it is legal to take them at this time of the year, and panfish are biting in several areas in the state.

Southeast District

Ice has left the inland lakes in the District. However, inland water fishing is generally slow because of high water levels and muddy water conditions. Crappie fishing can be expected to pick up in the very near future. A few crappies are being taken in the Muskego-Wind Lake Canal and below the White River Dam at Burlington in Racine County.

Lake Michigan shore fishing is producing some browns and rainbows and a few brook trout in Sheboygan County, at the Port Washington Harbor and the lake front in Milwaukee. Brown trout in the 2 to 4 pound class are being taken in Lake Michigan off the Oak Creek power plant.

A few rainbow trout are being taken on the Sheboygan River and its tributaries. Also, some suckers are being dip netted on the Sheboygan River. Rainbows are being taken from Oak Creek in Milwaukee and the Root River in Racine County. Spawn sacks seem to be the best bait for trout fishing. Smelt activity is generally slow with some fish being taken on the lake front at Kenosha and Racine.

A few walleyes and northerns are being taken below dams on the Illinois Fox River from the Waterford Dam downstream to the Illinois line.

Fish anglers who normally fish opening day for game fish on Nemahbin and Nashotah Lakes in Waukesha County should be warned that boat access may be severely limited by sewer construction projects at the main boat launching sites. Many migrating ducks are to be seen on District lakes, rivers and marshes.

Horicon Area

Fond du Lac County — Anglers are catching northern pike at the mouth of the Fond du Lac River. Sucker spawning is going strong. Anglers are catching large numbers of suckers in the Fond du Lac River.

Apr. 30 Last Day for Set-Aside Program

April 30 is the last day of the sign-up period for the 1979 Set-Aside Program. Ira A. Oelhafen, Chairperson of the Washington County ASC Committee reminds farmers that unless they are participants in the 1979 Set-Aside they will not be eligible for the commodity loans for the 1979 crop. Oelhafen said farmers are reminded that with a wet, cold spring, they will be eligible for prevented planting and other disaster payments only if they are participants in the 1979 Set-Aside Program.

Oelhafen said the farm-stored grain reserve is filled. The only assurance they have for a stable price next fall is participation in the 1979 Set-Aside Program.

Life Work Planning Course Set at MPTI's Women's Center

Many people who are interested in entering the job market or changing jobs may not realize that only about 20% of the jobs in this country are filled through the want ads. So how do people find out about and land the remaining 80% of the jobs? How can you crack the hidden job market and hope to compete with everyone else for that perfect position, particularly if you are a homemaker with no recent paid work experience?

The answer to these and other questions will be answered in a four week course offered by MPTI's Women's Center called Life Work Planning. It will begin May 3 from 7-9:40 p.m. and will be taught by Dottie Ceglieski.

The class will help participants identify their skills and strengths, interview for information, write resumes and learn interviewing techniques. It will provide information about job options and most important, how to uncover those 80% of unadvertised jobs which are filled each year.

One of the benefits of the classroom settings is the variety of ideas people can exchange about ways in which skills can transfer to various job possibilities and the contacts participants make.

If you are thinking about entering the job market or changing jobs or careers, this class will provide you with an effective process which can help you immediately or whenever it is relevant to your situation.

Register as soon as possible in person at MPTI, 2151 N. Main Street, West Bend. For more information call 334-3413.

Health and Safety Tip

Exercise Important To Weight Control

Health Surveys indicate that many people are gaining weight or staying overweight on relatively moderate calorie intakes. Although overeating is probably the major cause of overweight, physical inactivity contributes greatly to the problem.

There are a few encouraging signs that desire for fitness, or health-consciousness, is replacing simple weight-consciousness in the minds of many Americans.

There is growing awareness that a sedentary way of life can contribute to degenerative disease of the arteries and to obesity and its potential complications, most notably, diabetes, says a new pamphlet from the American Medical Association.

There also is a growing preference among Americans for a healthy, physically fit appearance. Emphasis is on condition. Body, skin and hair that are in good condition are widely regarded as necessary for good looks.

You may feel too lazy to get started on a physical fitness program, but it's probably the lack of exercise that makes you feel that way. On the other hand, you may think of yourself as active or energetic because you are always busy—too busy to take time out for vigorous exercise. Some of the busiest people in the world have found time for jogging, tennis or morning calisthenics.

There are all sorts of guides to simple home exercise programs. Or there is jogging or other such activities. Or regular participation in active sports and games, such as handball or tennis. If you are over age 30 or are unaccustomed to vigorous exercise, consult with your physician before starting a program.

But, if you want to maintain good health and to keep the excess pounds off, a regular, vigorous exercise program is a must. For the rest of your life.

Curbs on Foreign Speculators Needed

Sales of American farmland to foreign investors represent a small portion of all sales of such land, but that portion is steadily increasing. Last year aliens bought $1 billion of such land, some in tracts as large as 23,000 acres. This is not a healthy trend and, surprisingly, it has been encouraged by our own federal tax laws.

Currently a loophole exempts foreigners from capital gains taxes on the sale of that farmland. By getting such a big tax break, the foreign investors not only escape taxes but also can pay inflated prices on land that American farmers cannot compete with. These inflated prices also drive up the value of American-held land and, unfortunately, the property taxes our farmers must pay on it.

Fueling the foreign speculation have been two other factors. First, the weakening of the dollar has increased the purchasing power of foreigners in this country. Secondly, our farmland is underpriced compared to that in other countries. Add these to the tax break and the result is more and more

County Open Door to Sponsor Pizza Sale

The Open Door of Washington County, Inc., West Bend, announces the beginning of a fund raising pizza sale to continue through May 5.

The Open Door will be offering for sale a 12 inch cheese and sausage pizza at a cost of $2.00 each or three for $5.75. Orders for these Mr. Z's pizzas are currently being taken with a planned delivery date of May 12.

Persons interested in purchasing pizza and supporting the Open Door in their work to prevent drug abuse in Washington County, can place their order by calling the Open Door at 334-9797, or by contacting the Open Door staff, hotline volunteers, or Board of Directors.

The Open Door, a private non-profit social service agency, is supported through State and County monies, United Way grants, and private donations. The proceeds from the pizza sale will be utilized in the development of summer youth programs in Hartford and West Bend.

I have composed legislation to close the capital gains tax loophole for foreigners. That loophole has promoted foreign speculation at the expense of the American farmer and has taken much land from production.

The question is why should we give foreign investors an advantage denied American farmers? The answer is, we shouldn't, and the measure I have cosponsored with 130 other Congressmen provides that answer and protects the American farmer from this inequity.

Trampoline Trauma

By Victor S. Falk, Jr., M.D.

To any of you not familiar with the term trampoline, it is defined as a "net of strong canvas stretched tightly on a frame and used by acrobats for performing various feats of tumbling." Jumping or performing on a trampoline is still required as part of the physical education program in many Wisconsin schools.

Recently a midwest orthopedic surgeon (bone and joint specialist) called trampolining one of the most dangerous sports in the world. This specialist reported thirty-four cases of paralysis and three deaths as a result of trampoline accidents. He said he was successful in banning competitive trampoline events in thirty-five high schools in Indiana.

In another report from Heidelberg, West Germany, more than 7,000 school children were reportedly injured annually in trampolining. Many of these were fractures and dislocations and are relatively harmless injuries. However, frequency of severe injuries leading to total and permanent paralysis of all four extremities has been increasing. There is nothing more pathetic than a young person paralyzed from the neck down.

School administrators and physical education teachers should be aware of the potential hazard of this type of gymnastics and improvement of safety measures is urged. The so-called mini-trampoline should be abolished from school programs according to knowledgeable authorities.

Use Elm Firewood By May 1 to Slow Beetles' Spread

If you have firewood left this spring, you'll probably want to keep it for burning next winter. But if any of it is elm, you—and your community—may lose more than you'll save by keeping it.

"Dead elm wood, whether in a tree or cut and stacked in a woodpile, may contain elm bark beetles," says University of Wisconsin-Extension Dutch elm disease coordinator Charles Kostichka. "Elm bark beetles, the main carriers of Dutch elm disease, breed and overwinter in dead elm wood. Storing elm wood during the beetles' active season defeats efforts to stop the spread of Dutch elm disease."

The fungus-caused disease has killed millions of elms during its 49-year cross-country spread.

The main line of defense against the disease is meticulous sanitation—removing and destroying dead and diseased elms to deprive the beetles of nesting sites, Kostichka says.

Elm bark beetles begin to emerge in May from their overwintering sites under the bark of dead elms, so Kostichka recommends burning elm stored for firewood by May 1.

One average-sized fireplace log could contain up to 1800 beetles, so it wouldn't take a very large pile of infested logs to flood a neighborhood with hundreds of thousands of beetles.

After emerging, the beetles feed on living elms, spreading Dutch elm disease spores they happen to pick up in diseased trees. Then they return to dead elm wood to breed.

Elm wood stored through summer and fall provides breeding sites for a new generation of beetles, even if it contained no overwintering beetles from last year.

Many municipalities have ordinances restricting the storage of elm wood because of its role in Dutch elm disease spread. Homeowners who use elm for firewood should find out what their local ordinances are, Kostichka says.

Elm bark beetles cannot breed in bark-free elm wood, so there is no need to get rid of elm firewood if it has been carefully debarked. Some cities debark elm wood collected in their sanitation programs and make it available to citizens for firewood.

Unless you have access to such carefully debarked elm, Kostichka advises against storing elm for firewood in the first place. There's always the chance that you'll neglect to burn it before bark beetles emerge and breed. Besides, elm is not very good as a firewood. It's difficult to split and, when burned, deposits lots of creosote in the chimney.

If you will be unable to burn stockpiled elm wood before May 1, or if you're not certain you can recognize it, Kostichka recommends contacting a local tree care specialist or your UW-Extension agent for assistance.

By removing elm from your woodpile, you will help your community in its efforts to stop the spread of Dutch elm disease.

'Weight Control, A New Perspective' Class at MPTI

If you feel the need to "shape up" before summer, Moraine Park Technical Institute's new approach to weight loss can show you how. Instructor Roxanne Piller will offer four weeks of instruction beginning May 14 at the Decorah Annex in the Decorah Shopping Center, West Bend.

Students will discuss some of the facts and fallacies of weight control, learn to do a weight analysis and take notes on their own habits and life styles, find out about flattering clothing styles, local summer foods and other topics pertinent to weight loss.

"Weight Control, A New Perspective" runs for four Monday evenings beginning May 14. There is no class May 28. Classes meet from 7-9:40 p.m. Tuition is $4.70, payable in advance at MPTI, 2151 N. Main Street, West Bend.

Registration is limited, so register early to avoid disappointment. All registrations are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

Wisconsin State Park and Forest Attendance in 1978 Second Highest on Record

Wisconsin state park and southern forest attendance in 1978 was the second highest on record, according to figures released recently by the Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Parks and Recreation.

Last year's visitations totalling 10,732,048 were exceeded only by the record-breaking attendance of 10,967,331 set in 1976. Attendance in 1978 increased by 3.3 percent over the previous year's (1977) total.

State park officials attribute part of the 1978 increase to the increased popularity of cross-country skiing in Wisconsin. One of the more popular spots for this rapidly growing winter activity is the Kettle Moraine State Forest-Southern Unit which offers nearly 75 miles of cross-country ski trails. That facility recorded an increase of more than 150,000 visits in 1978 over 1977 attendance figures.

Camping use in state parks showed a decrease in 1978. A total of 1,360,060 camper days were recorded in 1978, about 1.1 percent below the 1,375,850 figure for 1977.

Advance Campsite Reservations at State Parks Up 62%

MADISON, — Advance campsite reservations already made at Wisconsin state parks this year for the period May 1 through September 30 are up about 62 percent over the number made through March a year ago, according to Loren Thorson, chief of the state parks' recreation programs section in the DNR.

The heaviest advance reservation activity in parks continues to be at Peninsula, Devil's Lake and Governor Dodge state parks, while the Northern Unit of the Kettle Moraine and Northern Highland-American Legion state forests lead the way in the number of advance campsite reservations being made in state forests.

As has been the case in the past, Wisconsin residents continue to be the major users of the reservation service with slightly over 80 percent of the confirmed reservations coming from Wisconsin campers.

Requests for advance campsite reservations in Wisconsin state parks and forests must be made on DNR advance reservation forms which are available at the Madison DNR office, DNR District offices located in Green Bay, Rhinelander, Milwaukee, Madison, Spooner, and Eau Claire. They are also available at state parks and forests. Wisconsin residents are urged to make advance reservations as soon as practical.

WIAA Approves Realignment; Kewaskum in Eastern Wisconsin

The realignment of four southeastern Wisconsin high school athletic conferences was approved 5-1 last Thursday by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association Board of Control.

John Roberts, WIAA executive director, said the realignment will take effect for the 1979-80 school year. The conferences will schedule eight football games and 16 basketball for each of the public schools, Roberts said.

The realignment disbands the South Shore and Scenic Moraine conferences and redistributes the schools in the Milwaukee City, Parkland, Braveland and Milwaukee Suburban conferences.

The three smallest schools in the Milwaukee City Conference were placed in the Suburban Conference.

"We will review the progress in scheduling sometime in the near future," Roberts said.

Milwaukee School Board President Anthony Busalacci said another realignment plan may have to be developed in a few years because of the energy shortage and decreasing school enrollments. Busalacci was a member of a task force that developed a compromise plan for realignment.

"Our intention was to have the schools have a better opportunity to have competition with schools of equal size," he said. "It's worth a try."

The eight schools formerly in the dissolved Scenic Moraine Conference will be divided as follows:

Hartland Arrowhead, Germantown and Grafton will join the Braveland Conference, together with Nicolet, Menomonee Falls East, Menomonee Falls North, Brookfield East, Brookfield Central, Brown Deer, Homestead, Cedarburg, Sussex Hamilton, Port Washington and Kenosha Bradford.

Slinger, Kettle Moraine and Pewaukee will join the Parkland Conference together with St.

Francis, Oak Creek, Greenfield, Muskego, New Berlin West, Whitnall, Greendale, Franklin, New Berlin Eisenhower, Mukwonago and Racine Case.

Mayville joins the Flyway Conference, together with Horicon, Campbellsport, Markesan, Dodgeford, North Fond du Lac, Lomira, Laconia and Oakfield.

Kewaskum joins the Packeland Conference (which will be changed to Eastern Wisconsin Conference next year), together with Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls, Kiel, New Holstein, Chilton, Two Rivers and Valders.

Kewaskum to Host Regional Golf Tournament

The top teams and individuals from the Kewaskum meet will head to Fond du Lac for sectional play. The Kewaskum regional will be played on Monday, May 21, with the following day set as a rain date.

Hon-E-Kor Club Opened Friday

The golf season at Hon-E-Kor Country Club opened last Friday on the front nine and the back nine was expected to be ready by the middle of this week.

This year's heavy snows and recent rains delayed the opening but owner Bud Korth reports that the course is in good shape.

Joe Harlow is beginning his tenth year as golf pro.

The opening dinner-dance at the club was held Saturday night.

The Ladies Association will kick off their season with a dinner and meeting Wednesday, May 2.

Indian Track Girls Lose to New Holstein

It doesn't happen very often but the Kewaskum girls track team took one on the chin last Wednesday when a strong New Holstein squad beat them, 73-45, there.

The Indians really missed Katie Lightner, who was injured in practice Monday. Her loss meant a probable difference of 20 points. Another thing, the Indian hurdlers didn't have a chance to practice outside because the new track in Kewaskum has not been marked.

The winners took eight of the 12 individual events and slammed the 100 yard dash and discus with some good efforts. Diane Bremser took second in the 440 and Julann Zemlicka third. Zemlicka was previously undefeated in the event. But Julann still anchored both the 880 and mile relays and placed second in the long jump for a good day.

Barb Wilson was a double individual winner in the 880 and mile and ran a leg of the mile relay, won by Kewaskum.

Coach Mary Lawson said there is a big transition from indoor to outdoor track and not much time to make the change.

Indian Golfers Tip Germantown; 4 Letterman Back

The Kewaskum Indians opened their 1979 golf season Monday at Hon-E-Kor with an easy win over Germantown, 168-187.

Senior Scott Rohlinger and junior Bob Nigh led the way with a pair of four-over-par 39's. Each had six pars and three bogeys and barely missed a couple of birdies.

Other Kewaskum scores were Jim Rohlinger's 43 and freshman Brian Larsen's 47. Al Domingues' 48 was not counted. Low for Germantown were Steve Gebert and Kyle Schuppie with 44's.

The Warhawks won the JV meet, 196-205, but Mike Ciha of the Indians took medalist honors with a 40.

Coach Joe Harlow has four returning lettermen, including junior Bob Nigh, who qualified for the sectional last year. Nigh and Scott Rohlinger, the only senior letterman, fought it out for team medal honors a year ago with Nigh winning out by a few strokes. Both boys averaged around 41. The other two returning lettermen are Jim Rohlinger, Scott's younger brother, who moved in as a freshman last year, and junior Mike Ciha.

The Indians were scheduled to play at Kettle Moraine Wednesday.
