Village Employees Get Pay Hike Averaging 10%

By DAN MEILAHN
Statesman Staff Writer

On Monday, December 17, the Kewaskum Village Board approved the salary and wage schedule for village personnel and the Police Association contract. The purchase of a snow scoop and new police car was discussed.

Generally, the wage schedule reflects a 10% pay increase across the board and particularly as it relates to supervisory personnel. The five main supervisory positions - Village Administrator, Village Commissioner (technically Clerk and Treasurer), Superintendent of Wastewater Treatment, Chief of Police, and Superintendent of Public Works - will split a total of $94,900 between them. The adjusted salaries range from $17,500 to $21,350. Increments in wages for each supervisor range from 8% to 12% depending upon the village board's evaluation of their performance. Some items considered for the evaluation were: job knowledge, public relations skills, dependability, motivation, the ability to direct people and take criticism, personal appearance, personality, attitude, and overall ability to do the job. Experience and the type of position were also factors in determining final salaries.

The Police Association's contract was approved and also reflected the 10% average raise. In addition, it was agreed that accumulated sick leave pay could apply to retirement benefits.

Chief of Police Don Hlavaty was authorized to advertise for bids on a new police car. The bids would have two sets of specifications - one for a dealer's regular police car package and another for a smaller V-8 engine. The board felt that the cost of either alternative would be similar and that there was the possibility of saving gas with the less powerful engine.

The board authorized the Declarations of candidacy for two positions on the Kewaskum Board of Education up for election in April must be filed with Board Clerk Richard Theusch by January 2. Candidates for village board trustees must also file nomination papers at the village clerk's office by 5 p.m. January 2.

The three-year terms of Richard Theusch and John Tassar on the school board will expire in April. To be eligible candidates must be a qualified elector of the Kewaskum School District. Declaration forms also may be obtained from Theusch.

Kewaskum residents will select three village board members in the April spring election. Two veteran trustees and a relative newcomer currently hold the seats that will be up for election. They are Raynor Hergiges, who has served 12 years; Donald Mlodzik, a six-year veteran; and Carl Spoeth Jr., who was appointed to fill out a term last year. Terms are for two years. The three remaining trustees and the village president hold over in office for another year.

Mark Smucker Killed in Crash Christmas Night

Mark D. Smucker

Two persons were killed and another injured at about 11 p.m. Tuesday when an auto and a pickup truck collided at the intersection of Fond du Lac County Trunks B and W in the Town of Osceola.

Dead are Mark D. Smucker, 21, of Route 4, Plymouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smucker, 712 Pleasantwood Drive, Kewaskum, who was driving the pickup truck, and Sandra Danielson of West Bend, who was alone in her auto. Both died of head and internal injuries, according to Fond du Lac County Coroner Frank Decker.

Smucker's wife, Colleen, 22, (nee Ten-Pas) a passenger in his truck, was reported to be in guarded condition Wednesday morning at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, where she was taken following the accident.

The accident remained under investigation late Wednesday morning, according to Fond du Lac County Traffic Police. The two deaths raised Fond du Lac County's 1980 traffic fatality toll to 26.

Smucker's father told the Statesman Wednesday morning that his son and wife were on their way home after visiting Mrs. Smucker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ten-Pas at Burnett for Christmas.

Mark was a senior at Lakeland College near Plymouth and would have graduated in spring. He was a 1976 graduate of Kewaskum High School. Smucker compiled and was author of the Bicentennial Book, "Kewaskum - Then and Now" a history of Kewaskum published in 1976. He was formerly a part-time news staff writer for the Statesman.

Mark was born September 15, 1958, in Erie, Pa. and moved to Kewaskum with his family in 1967. He married Colleen Ten-Pas in June of 1979 in Waupun.

Survivors include his wife; his parents, Richard and Carolyn Smucker of Kewaskum; two brothers, James and David, both at home; one sister, Patricia, at home; and other relatives and friends.

Funeral services are pending at the Werner-Hermes Funeral Home, 201 E. Jefferson, Waupun. For further information please call the funeral home.

purchase of a new snow scoop for the Caterpillar front-end loader for $3500 from Nagle-Hart Inc. Supt. of Public Works, Augie Bilgo said this bucket would be identical to the old one and parts would be interchangeable.

Administrator Dan Schmidt reported that topographical maps for portions of Section 15 and all of Section 16 on the south side of the village would cost from $4,550 to $5,650. Alster, Ayers, and Associates of Madison would most likely do this mapping of land elevations.

The fire contract with the Town of Kewaskum was laid over until the next meeting as the town had not yet acted upon it. A letter was received from the Chamber of Commerce thanking the village for its speedy resolution to the traffic problems at the Second Street and Hi-way 45 intersection.

Elderly Discount Service

As those of you over 60 are well aware the Red Umbrella logo displayed in a store window means a discount to you.

The Department of Senior Services has spent the last two months updating the booklet and increasing participating businesses throughout Fond du Lac County. Residents of Brandon, Campbellsport, Oakfield and Mt. Calvary will be pleased to see that their communities are also listed in the booklet which previously contained just the cities of Fond du Lac, Ripon and Waupun.

The Fond du Lac County Elderly Discount Program was the second one in the United States and the first in the State of Wisconsin. Started six years ago and modelled after a project in New York, it has become one of the most popular services offered to the elderly of Fond du Lac County. Each participating business handles the service somewhat differently. Each business sets their own discount. It may be on certain items or on certain days or it may be across the board. The percentage also varies from 3% to 20%. The cooperation of the business people and merchants throughout Fond du Lac County has been gratifying. Of course the success of this service depends upon their generosity and concern for the elderly citizenry.

This program is strictly for those people 60 years of age or older. The procedure for obtaining a card is simple. Upon proving their age, the red umbrella discount cards are issued by the Department of Senior Services at 19 West First Street in Fond du Lac or at any of the participating senior centers in Fond du Lac County. It is stressed that these cards be used by and for only the individuals to whom they are issued.

Abuse of this privilege is not fair to the businesses who have so generously offered assistance to the elderly population and could cause the program to terminate. Sometimes there is a misunderstanding or misinterpretation. For example, if an eating establishment offers a 10% discount it is intended for the card holder only, not everyone who is eating with them. Observance of this rather obvious rule will ensure continuation of a service which has been most beneficial to elderly persons.

How can services like the discount program be advantageous to the community as a whole? Perhaps it can best be explained this way: Since the start of services to the elderly such as senior centers, nutrition, transportation, discount, blood pressure clinics, elder jobs, low income housing, counseling and assistance in the areas of homestead tax credit, emergency fuel, legal aid, insurance, and telephone reimbursement, the elderly have been able to remain in their own homes or a community environment for a longer period of time.

A recent meeting held between Department of Senior Services and nursing home personnel has revealed that a different type of patient is now being admitted to their nursing homes. Six years ago many people were being admitted because they could not provide a meal for themselves, needed transportation, had no one to assist them with routine maintenance etc. and, therefore, although they did not require the skilled care provided by the nursing home, it was the only place they could go. However, the person now entering the nursing home is indeed a patient requiring the skilled nursing care necessary to maintain his or her existence.

The individual benefits by remaining independent of premature institutionalization, and the local taxpayer benefits because it is less costly to maintain people in their own homes than in a nursing home.

Making the community aware that agencies, businesses and people working together for improving the well being of our elderly citizens is part of the job of the Department of Senior Services.

Therefore, we appreciate the consideration given to the elderly by the county's merchants, and business people in one of these services, the Elderly Discount Service.

At this time of high prices and high costs most merchants and business people have a difficult time making a marginal profit. However, they are aware of how very difficult it is for those on a fixed income to manage marginally, as well. We cannot praise the participating businesses enough who have shown their interest by cooperating whole-heartedly with this worthwhile service.

All people must avail themselves of the opportunity to save money, including the elderly. Therefore, a red umbrella logo displayed on a window, door or cash register will indicate to them that these places give discounts to their elderly customers.

Cards and new booklets containing the names of the county's participating businesses may be obtained from the Department of Senior Services at 19 West First Street, Fond du Lac, for a local Senior Center after January 1980.

passenger train, due in Kewaskum at 3:45 a.m., at the railroad crossing one mile south of Kewaskum, better known as Jacob Bruessel crossing. The car was driven by Theo. Krueger of West Bend. Mr. Krueger was driving along Highway 55, and when he approached the cross road, turned east and in so doing did not round the corner very good, as the car slid into a ditch with the rear wheels just when it approached the tracks. The front wheels were on the tracks. Not being able to get the car out of the ditch, he went to the farm home of Conrad Bier to get help. It is while he was there that the machine was struck and badly damaged.

Chicken thieves visited the farm home of George Schleif, about a mile and a half north of Kewaskum, on State Highway 55, but were unsuccessful in their attempt of stealing any of the chickens.

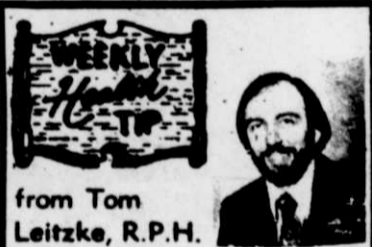

A picture of Miss Miriam Schaefer appeared in the January number of the Good Housekeeping magazine. Miss Schaefer is a member of the Rainbow Club, sponsored by the Good Housekeeping Co., a branch of the International Company, the members of which are solicitors of the magazine. Miriam made good as a saleslady and therefore is one of the prize winners.

Michael Siekner, aged about 80 years, living alone in a dwelling one and one-half miles south of St. Michaels, was aroused from his sleep late last Monday night by two unknown men who demanded his money. The old man insisted that he had no money in the house whereupon they tied his hands and feet to a chair and gagged him by stuffing a handkerchief in his mouth. After ransacking the house and finding only forty cents in change they left, leaving the man bound and gagged. He managed to release himself after suffering several hours. He made no efforts to find the Use soft water for washing, but use hard water for drinking and cooking. Hard water has a lot of calcium and magnesium in it--bad for washing, but most essential for a healthy heart. A Ph.D. study in Ontario shows a strong correlation between the rate of heart attacks and the degree of calcium, and especially magnesium, in the drinking water. A household water softener should be used only for washing water--not drinking water.

Michael Darmody, a former well known resident of the Town of Wayne, but of late years has lived with his daughter, Mrs. James Dwyer at Vernon, Wisconsin, was found Monday morning, December 26, frozen in the ice of the river near McGovern's ice houses near Waukesha. The funeral was held at St. Kilian December 30.

One of the worst blizzards in years prevailed here December 27. A blinding snow storm lasting all night drifted the roads so badly that traffic was impossible. The telegraph and telephone wires were broken and torn down by the furious gale.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Meilinger of St. Michaels on December 21. A baby boy recently made his appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Duncan of Boltonville.

club officers and campus delegates stayed overnight at the Campus Learning Center for a relaxing, informal experience. The facility's design helps to bring people closer together as they share their ideas and perspectives.

It was at last year's resident planning session that the unique "Share with Youth Happenings" was born. The successful "Happenings" have helped to close the generation gap between the young and the old by having both age groups stay overnight at the Learning Center for a sharing experience in studying the aging process.

Twenty-three residents from Fellowship House, Kettle

Heights Retirement Village and Moraine Hills Retirement Village participated in the sessions which covered topics such as Creative Campus Living and on-campus mini education courses for 1980. In between the hard work of planning was recreational as well as doing the "Hokey-Pokey" dance together.

"We worked hard but it was definitely worth it," said one of the residents. "1980 should be a banner year for anyone wishing to learn and desire to stay young on our Campus."

Common Cold Defies Medical Researchers

This is the season of the year when the American Medical Association reminds once again that we still cannot cure a cold.

And if anyone tries to sell you on the latest version of a so-called "cold cure," you can laugh it off and save your money.

As the years go by more and more is being learned about colds and their causes. A number of viruses produced the symptoms that most of us call a cold, probably more than a hundred. The true cold is an infection with one or more viruses. Bacteria probably are purely secondary infections.

Current research indicates that colds are harder to spread than had been thought. Fresh colds appear to be more contagious than older ones. Children's colds probably are more contagious than those of adults. There still is much discussion among experts as to the relationship of chilling or exposure to dampness to "catching" a cold.

What can you do for a cold?

No specific treatment, so far available, is effective. Treatment is directed toward relief of the discomfort of runny nose, watering eyes, sore throat, fever and other symptoms of the cold. Penicillin does not stop the virus, but may be prescribed by your physician for secondary bacterial infections.

Your doctor will prescribe bed rest, or at least reduced physical activity. Medications to relieve headache and aching joints and to reduce fever can help. Antihistamines will curb runny nose. And after a couple of weeks, you'll be cured.

Cold vaccines have yet to be proved of much value. There is no evidence that any particular foods, special clothing or exposure to sunlight or fresh air will have any effect on colds. There has been some research which indicated that Vitamin C might help prevent or lessen colds, but the preponderance of research evidence is that this product is of doubtful value.

MPTI Offers Radio, TV Speaking Course

Moraine Park Technical Institute will offer a new communications course in January for those interested in perfecting their speaking skills. Described as an introduction to writing and presenting news, special features and general information through radio and TV, this is a practical course for those who must appear before a microphone or camera. Instructor Michael Wittig will assist students in organizing information, making it interesting, perfecting voice, body and facial techniques, gaining poise and looking and sounding competent and professional.

Wittig received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Marquette University in Speech and English and his Master of Arts, also from Marquette, in Interpersonal and Organizational Communication. He taught various communication courses and was involved in university/community programs while studying for his M.A. and went on to teach English and speech and coach debate and forensics at the secondary level.

For the past three years he has been employed by B. C. Ziegler and Company, where he is currently Manager of Customer Relations and Supervisor of Customer Records Management. He joined the MPTI staff in adult education and outreach programs in August 1979. Wittig's ongoing involvement in communications in both the academic and business sectors makes him ideally suited for delivering programs in various facets of communications and management development. His enthusiasm and sound teaching skills ensure a profitable learning experience.

Can History, Math and Cooking Teach Kids Better Nutrition?

George Harris, a student at the Central Park East elementary school in New York City, measures ingredients to prepare food in his classroom. The school's teaching staff feels nutrition education is important to tie it in with math, history and other standard courses.

NEW YORK, N.Y.—When students at Central Park East school here studied American colonial history, they researched food eaten back then and cooked and ate johnnycake in their classrooms.

When the King Tut treasures were exhibited in New York, the elementary students' curiosity about Egypt led them to try some Middle Eastern recipes, including dishes made with yogurt, and humus, a dish made with chick peas.

While learning about the Middle Ages, they cooked a soup King Arthur might have eaten. The students' research showed them people ate a variety of food to get the nutrition they needed.

These lessons are part of Central Park East's effort to teach students good nutrition by letting them help plan menus and prepare their lunches.

The idea was the brainchild of a committee of parents, teachers and lunchroom administrative staff who worked with Ann Cook, a nutrition consultant with Community Resources Institute of New York.

"I feel the school lunch program can't be effective unless we teach children good eating habits that will see them through life," Cook said.

"Cooking should be part of the students' learning experience. Cooking can be integrated with math, science, social studies, reading and other studies."

Cook helped tie nutrition in with other subjects and let students prepare and eat sample dishes cooked on table-top stoves in their classrooms. The children reworked the recipes so each child could prepare an entire dish single handedly.

Central Park East participates in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's school lunch program, which helps feed children nationwide. Last year the department's Food and Nutrition Service, which administers the lunch program nationally, helped schools serve lunches to over 26 million schoolchildren.

The school's meal planners consult a panel of "experts" to decide what to serve for lunch. The experts are eight children, in kindergarten through sixth grade, who sample prospective lunches and offer their verdicts on what their classmates will and won't eat.

"The panel is turning up evidence that it's frequently not the food children dislike but the way it's prepared," Cook said. "Or that it's food they aren't used to and therefore aren't even taste. For example, they didn't like the looks of the pimento in the tuna salad. 'What's this red stuff?' they asked. So the cafeteria staff made the salad without it."

Students on the panel are happy to be "tasters" when their suggestions for improvements are tried out. The panel reinforced Cook's belief that children like raw vegetables.

The Central Park East staff is trying other things, too. They replaced cafeteria lines with family style service. Now the children sit at tables in groups of six to eight and serve themselves from bowls placed on the tables. Collecting the dirty dishes from the tables makes it easier for the cafeteria staff to see what foods are unpopular. And the children have become more concerned about food left on plates, said Cook.

"No matter how nutritious a meal is," said Cook, "it's no good if it's not eaten."

Special Driver Education Program At The Threshold

Independence: Relying on oneself or one's own ability. This is a word used freely without ever giving it much thought, but at The Threshold in West Bend this word takes on a special meaning to those individuals who are, or who have been involved in the Driver Education Program.

The program has been in operation since 1967. It was the first one of its kind in the State of Wisconsin in a sheltered workshop.

It is administered in cooperation with the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. Bruce Wilk, a Work Adjustment Counselor at Threshold coordinates the program and handles the classroom instruction. In this area focus is on gaining knowledge of the rules of the road in order to pass the test for the temporary instruction permit. Student instruction is provided at The Threshold two days per week.

Dave Gritt, a teacher at Custer High School in Milwaukee, is responsible for the behind-the-wheel phase. He has been an instructor for The Threshold during the past 13 years. The objective is for the person to obtain their operator's license. Behind-the-wheel is taught on Saturday's throughout the year and two days per week during the summer.

The Threshold is thankful and appreciative to the Russ Darrow Chrysler-Plymouth dealership in West Bend. They have graciously donated the use of a new car for the past five years. A 1980 Gran Fury is presently in use for over the road instruction. This allows those individuals in the program to be trained in the best possible equipment.

Since 1976, 46 individuals were authorized to begin driver education. Of those who began classroom instruction, 79% obtained a temporary instruction permit. 28% did not complete the course. This was due to school conflicts, parental influence, loss of interest, or transportation difficulty. 42% of the individuals who entered the program, completed it and received their license.

Bruce Wilk related that, "Past success and results indicate a continued need to provide this type of training." The individuals in the program derive much benefit and move another step closer towards independence.

Wilk also remarked, "When an individual receives his license, it can serve as a confidence builder, increase independence, and allow a wider choice of job possibilities."

The Threshold Driver Education Program serves handicapped/disabled adults in the Washington County area.

More than 300,000 Wisconsin children 14 and under are not protected from the 7 vaccine-preventable diseases — measles, rubella, polio, mumps, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), and tetanus.

These diseases can lead to deafness, blindness, paralysis, mental retardation, and even death.

Have your kids had all their immunizations? Before you answer, it's a good idea to check your records.

Many parents believe their children were fully immunized until a childhood disease struck and proved them wrong. Your local public health agency will help you to be sure your child is fully protected.

New Look at Elderly Services Needed

With each passing decade, the "graying" of America becomes more and more noticeable. There are now 24 million Americans 65 years of age or older — 11 percent of the population. Fifty years from now, that will increase to 45 million, a full 21 percent of the population. And with that increase will come new problems and challenges.

Thanks to medical advances and lifestyle changes, life expectancy in the U.S. is now 75 years, up from 48 years in 1900. Fifty years from now, it will be up to 85 years. Recent declines in birthrates have also reduced the proportion of the population represented by younger people.

Our programs for the elderly are important, and the accelerating "graying" of America demands that we stop and take a hard look at them.

Right now, the children of the post-World War II "baby boom" form the bulk of the workforce and are contributing to programs for the elderly and for their own retirements through the Social Security system. Now there are four retired people for every retiree under the system, but by the year 2000, that will be cut in half, presenting a greater burden on active workers to support those retirees.

We presently spend $129 billion a year for the needs of the elderly — $96 billion in Social Security benefits and $33 billion in health care. More tens of billions come from private pensions and state and local governments. Looking ahead, those costs are likely to increase dramatically.

Considering the numerous financial problems the Social Security system has had in recent years, it is time to take a hard look at how those can be avoided in the future. The prospect for severe financial problems is, unfortunately, severe, especially when taking into the account the decline in the ratio of workers to retirees in the system.

But beyond a fundamental look at our Social Security system, we should also fully review all our assistance programs for the elderly and make them as efficient as possible. That way we can provide better care for them now, and fill some of the present gaps, and revise the system as needed to assure an adequate level of high quality services to the elderly in the future.

4-H Animal Projects In The City?

Some people, when they think of 4-H, picture a boy leading a calf or feeding a pig out on the farm. They cannot see how anyone in the city could be a 4-H member. The truth of it is, though, that in Washington County, more than 2/3 of the 4-H members do not live on the farm. They live in the cities of West Bend and Hartford as well as the villages and subdivisions all over the county.

But what can a boy or girl in the city do as a 4-H project? Well, there are many things like photography, woodworking, other mechanical projects as well as animal projects.

Years ago, people looked upon 4-H livestock projects as a way of learning to make a better living raising livestock. This is still important today, but also many youth are interested from the stand point of the enjoyment or learning for the fun of it. No longer is a 4-H member that lives on a farm, the only one that can carry a livestock project.

We still have the beef, dairy, pork, sheep and poultry projects. In these projects the members learn about the selection, feeding, management, breeding, evaluation and marketing of the animals and their products. Most beginners will begin with the calf or one animal or a small flock of chickens and eventually work their way up being a real partner with dad in a business enterprise.

More and more members, however, are enrolling in such projects as the horse and pony, rabbits, cats or dog projects or other smaller animals and caged birds. Here the emphasis usually is on the recreational aspect of the project. Members want to learn how to ride and enjoy their horse, or they may want to have a dog or cat for a pet. They are not concerned that they make money on the project. Rather they are concerned that they can train the animal and keep him healthy so that he becomes a well trained and enjoyable animal to have. There needs to be a lot of know how in raising a good, healthy animal. This can be learned with a pet as well as in a project that is a livelihood. Other things about animals such as genetics can also be learned. Sometimes these kind of lessons can be learned more quickly with small animals because of the shorter life cycle and greater number of offsprings than larger animals have.

A project very closely related to animals is the Veterinary Science project. Here the members learn about normal animals and their behavior and they learn about animal diseases. So, whether a boy or girl lives on a farm or in town, if he has the interest, he can learn a lot to learn in a 4-H livestock project.

This is the time of year that 4-H members are re-enrolling and new families are joining 4-H clubs. If you're interested in animals and learning about them, maybe the 4-H club is for you. Contact a local 4-H club in your neighborhood or contact the County 4-H Office at the Washington County Courthouse.

"I suppose you were thankful for the heavy rain."
"Oh, yes," replied Farmer Corntossel "though I don't see why them weather folks couldn't provide to keep it in the fields instead of letting it stray around muddin' up the roads."

'Dairy Facts' Now Available

Everything you wanted to know about Wisconsin's vast dairy industry can be found in "Wisconsin Dairy Facts - 1979," just released by the Wisconsin Agriculture Reporting Service.

According to Carrol D. Spencer, state-federal statistician with the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, the bulletin has been expanded to 56 pages this year. It is designed to provide comprehensive data for the interpretation of current trends and an analytical appraisal of future prospects for the state's dairy industry.

Some of the topics covered in the bulletin are: milk cows and milk production, dairy herd improvement data, dairy farm income, disposition and utilization of milk, dairy product production and miscellaneous dairy data.

The bulletin's foreword contains this interesting report: "Following a phenomenal year in 1977, Wisconsin dairymen continued to establish new production highs during 1978. Total milk production of 21.3 billion pounds, 17.4% of the nation's total, exceeded 1977 production by nearly one percent. Total cash receipts from the sale of milk by producers amounted to over 2.1 billion dollars, 12 per cent above receipts from milk sales during 1977."

Single copies of the bulletin are available free upon request from the Wisconsin Agriculture Reporting Service, P.O. Box 9160, Madison, WI. 53715.

Safe Holiday Drinking

Alcohol, America's number one drug problem, ranks right behind heart disease and cancer in reducing physical fitness and shortening one's life. The Holidays are heavy drinking periods each year.

By strict definition alcohol is classified as a food because it contains calories. However, its nutrition value is zero. Alcohol is a drug; affects the central nervous system, especially the brain.

Judgement, memory and learning ability all are affected as intoxication increases. Coordination is impaired, as reflected by unsteady gait, speech disturbances and reduced manual skill. The drinker becomes less aware of things and people around him, not feeling pain and being unconcerned about his safety. High concentrations of alcohol can lead to shock and death.

When does a "social drinker" become a "problem drinker" or an alcoholic? Definitions vary, however, all who consume alcoholic beverages can be a "problem" once they're behind the wheel of a car. Many persons consider themselves "social drinkers" although they may drink to the point of drunkenness or intoxication at their home or at the homes of friends.

"Social" drinkers who may become potential problems are those who consume drinks faster than other guests; who have a few drinks prior to arrival at a party; who gulp drinks; who demand immediate refills; or who manage to stay close to the source of supply.

Alcohol is absorbed directly and fairly rapidly into the blood from the stomach and the intestines. It is carried to the liver, then to the heart and distributed throughout the body's tissues. The rate of absorption varies among individuals, however, the process usually takes about one hour per average drink. This depends on the amount of alcohol in the drink; how fast you drink it; whether your stomach is empty or full; how much you weigh; and if you are relaxed or emotionally upset.

If you plan to be a party host or hostess this holiday season, have fun while showing concern for the health and safety of your guests:

- offer an assortment of non-alcoholic beverages in addition to the alcoholic drinks;

- serve food with the beverages;

- deemphasize alcoholic beverages well before the end of the party.

Watch Houseplants Transferred to Indoors Closely

By Robert A. Stodola
County 4-H & Youth Agent

Houseplants that spent the summer and fall outdoors need special care to grow well indoors. That's the advice of Louis Berninger, University of Wisconsin-Extension floriculturist.

Some leaves will probably turn yellow and fall off. That's because it takes time for the plant to adjust to a new environment with different temperatures and lighting. Move the plant around until you find a location it does well in. South windows are especially good during the winter.

Plants grow less indoors than outdoors. Because of this you should water and fertilize less often. Exceptions are plants placed under fluorescent "grow lights" — these need fairly large amounts of water.

Insect pests can be a real problem when plants are moved indoors. Warmer indoor temperatures encourage some to multiply and damage the plant. Four to six weeks after the plant comes indoors, watch for insects like red spider, mealy bug, aphids and scale.

Plants that vine need special attention during the winter. New, weak growth should be cut back. A vining plant is most attractive when it's compact.

The 4-H Houseplant project has more information on care of houseplants.

Seeing IS Believing

On the front of every Volcano is an inspection port with a swing away cover, through which the observer sees a sheet of bright orange & blue flame sweeping over and around wide, flat steel surfaces of hollow crossflow baffles. He sees the heart of the Volcano, and the significant difference that makes it the most sophisticated wood burner in the world.

This sheet of flame (gases burning in the secondary combustion chamber) superheats room-heating, fan-forced air ducted around the firebox and through the hollow baffles.

- 1 A precisely controlled volume of combustion air is pre-heated and ducted evenly through the primary firebox.
- 2 Subject fresh air is introduced to the secondary firebox to ignite escaping gases in a super hot flame.
- 3 preventing some fuel loss out the chimney.
- 4 Cool air near the floor is fan-forced through hot air jacket & noise baffles and exhausted into room or into hot air system.

This intense secondary burn, observable and fascinating to watch on every Volcano, demonstrates Volcano's lead in woodfiring technology.

When hooked to forced air or hot water systems (hydronic models available), the Volcano literally provides all the heat a homeowner needs with measurably less wood consumption than even the most modern of competitor stoves. Inside, the Volcano is as new as tomorrow, with the outward appearance of the Quaker Box Stove of yesteryear.

Kewaskum's Indians evened their Scenic Moraine record at 2-2 with a one-sided 78-59 victory over the last place Pirates at Pewaukee Friday. The Indians are now 5-2 overall.

Kewaskum dominated the boards and outscored the Pirates, 60-32, in cruising to an easy win.

With 6-4 Bob Nigh leading all scorers with 23 points on 11 field goals and 1 free throw, most of them from the inside, the Indians outscored Pewaukee heavily in every quarter but the last, in which reserves finished the game for the Indians. Guard Henry Schilter added 16 points. Pewaukee (0-4) was led by Ackley's 13 points and Stan Johnson's 12.

The convincing win followed back-to-back losses to Grafton and Germantown, after shading Slinger in the conference opener. In pre-season play the Indians won over West Bend East, Plymouth and St. Mary's Springs.

Kewaskum was way ahead, 41-30, at halftime and 63-44 at the end of the third stanza. This allowed the reserves to have a lot of playing time for the first time this season.

In hitting 11 out of 20 shots, Nigh did a bangup job inside and played his best game of the season. Although scoring only 6 points, Scott Brendemihl played a strong rebounding game. Second high scorer, Henry Schilter, had 16 points and some excellent assists. Among the reserves, Brian Larsen and Al Dominguez played well.

The Indians will now be idle until after the holidays. Their next game will be Friday, January 4, when they host unbeaten, conference leading Hartland (4-0).

The Kewaskum JV's also took an easy victory over Pewaukee before the varsity game, 44-26. Jim Krahn had his best offensive effort with 15 points for the Indians and he did a fine job on the boards.

Girls Team Tips Germantown and Pewaukee, Now 3-1

The Kewaskum girls' basketball team won two more games last week to bring their record to 3-1 in the Scenic Moraine and 4-1 overall.

Hosting Germantown last Tuesday evening, the girls won by a 41-31 margin. The JV's and freshmen both won big and a sweep of it. The JV's took their game, 45-25, and the frosh won by a whopping 50-16 score.

The varsity girls jumped off to a 10-point lead and never were headed, although Germantown came within 7 points in the third quarter. Two baskets by Diane Bremser put the game out of reach.

Hard working Jill Yearling again led both teams with 16 points on 8 of 12 from the floor. She also snared 18 rebounds. Bremser scored 6 points and did a fine defensive job on Amy Nickel, checking her with 10 points. She is the Warhawks' top scorer.

Although playing only about half the game, freshman Linda Larsen grabbed a dozen rebounds and is a help to the team since being brought up from the JV's.

Playing Pewaukee here Thursday night, the Indian girls were involved in a real thriller before finally eking out a 46-45 victory.

Kewaskum led most of the way in the first half but had to stave off a last quarter Pirate rally to pick up the win. In the last 20 seconds Bobbi Schmidt missed 2 free throws that could have salted the game away. As a result Pewaukee almost gained their fourth straight conference victory. The Pirates couldn't get a shot away and after a violation the Indians ran the clock out. Bremser paced Kewaskum in scoring with 14 points, while the Pirates held high scoring Yearling to just 4 points. Reserve Larsen also contributed a big 9 points. All-conference forward Lisa Hansen led the Pirates in scoring with 14.

Even with the high winter temperatures which have prevailed over most of the state this month, ice fishing is picking up in many areas of Wisconsin. And, a reminder that campsite reservations for next year in state parks and forests will be accepted beginning January 2.

Southeast District

Ice fishing is generally good for northern pike and panfish in most district waters. Extreme caution is advised for ice travel because of variable ice conditions. Some brown and rainbow trout are being taken in the harbor at Port Washington. Rabbit hunting has been generally good throughout the district. However, at midweek there was a lack of snow for snowmobiling and cross-country skiing in the southeastern counties.

Winnebago County — Lake Winnebago has finally frozen over, but ice fishing is at a standstill. There isn't enough ice to go onto the main lake as yet.

SNO-CHIEFS AWARD PINS FOR SAFETY COURSE

The Kewaskum Sno-Chiefs are proud of two members who received pins for passing 250 kids through the Sno-Chief Safety Course. They are John (Tiny) Martin and Bob Staehler.

Indian Wrestlers Lose to St. Mary's, Kettle Moraine

St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac defeated the Kewaskum wrestlers last Tuesday night, 33-21.

Scott Klein at 98 pounds and Don Goeden at 119 did not make their weight. The Indians lost 6 points at Klein's weight because the Ledgers did not have a competitor there. Goeden's replacement, freshman Dave Jones, was pinned by Eugene Newton.

Kewaskum had 4 winners, which included 1 pin. Mike Pettit at 167 took his fourth win, 10-6. Wayne Boudreau got a first period pin. Vance Reif took his first win of the season, 6-4, and Jeff Gundrum gave undefeated (now 10-0) Don Adelmeier a fight before losing 7-5.

The Indian matmen traveled to Wales Thursday night to take on Kettle Moraine and suffered their fifth straight loss, 38-12. The tough Lasers won 9 of 12 matches.

Although the team lost there were two bright spots. One was by 98 pound Scott Klein, who had trouble making his weight but shut out Scott Erickson, 6-0. And Andy Strigenz, who weighs only 167 pounds, won in the 185 pound class. Strigenz picked up some points in the last minute to decision Craig Ruehs 7-0. Mike Pettit won by forfeit.
